Lack Of Income May Close Ruidoso Hospital

The Ruidoso-Hondo Valley Hospital appears to be in imminent danger of closing for lack of operating funds. The News-Outlook learned this week several members of the hospital board have submitted their resignations, effective April 15, unless sufficient operating capital is forthcoming.

A letter of resignation from C. C. Chase Jr., Ruidoso, chairman of the hospital board; Orland Bonaguidi, Ruidoso, secretary and vice chairman, and Ben Sanchez, San Patricio, member, is reported as having been sent to the Lincoln County commissioners, the Ruidoso City Council, the mayor of Ruidoso, the finance committee and residents of Ruidoso and the Hondo Valley. The effective date of their resignations is given as April 15.

The resigning members said unless sufficient money is forthcoming with which to operate the hospital, they could no longer continue in their present capacities.

They explained the total indebtedness of the hospital now stands at $4,300, with accounts receivable of $4,830 due it. Cash on hand amounts to $250. The board members are not optimistic concerning collection of these accounts. Also, immediately due and payable, they report, is a sum of about $300 covering insurance, overdue withholding tax and utilities.

Doyle Kline, new manager, in an interview with the News-Outlook, said it was his opinion a monthly income of $300 from an outside source would assure the hospital of sufficient funds for continued operation.

He pointed out a bond issue of approximately $144,000 was voted and sold in order to build the hospital, and, in addition, $25,000 in cash was raised and donated to the building fund. As a result of the sale of bonds, a direct tax was assessed upon property of residents of the county. Kline stated that in the event it should be necessary to close the hospital for lack of operating funds, those property owners would find themselves in the position of paying for a commodity which they could not obtain. Property owners would also find themselves with a building they could not readily convert to other use without incurring the expenditure of a considerable sum of money.

Construction of the Ruidoso-Hondo Valley Hospital was authorized at the same time as the Lincoln County Municipal Hospital in Carrizozo.

The Ruidoso hospital has been in operation approximately one year and has experienced considerable financial difficulty almost since its inception, as well as numerous changes in personnel.

Norton Pepper Post Of VFW Elects Officers

By L. D. FISH
The Norton Pepper Post No. 7688, Veterans of Foreign Wars, elected new officers for the coming year last Wednesday night, March 14.

Rayford (Red) Burnett was elected commander; Lorenzo Adaz, senior vice commander; Robert Trujillo, junior vice commander; James Thompson, quartermaster; Ismael Salas, post advocate; William McKenzie, surgeon; "Micky" Mulvihill, chaplain; Virgil Hall, trustee.

Nineteen members were present at the elections and decided for themselves in a democratic manner exactly who they wanted for their new officers. Some of these men had held office previously and did a good job. Red Burnett was the first commander and I am sure, that from what we saw while he was in office before, we can expect some mighty good things for him. Actually, a commander has his hands tied but he has a lot to do with post policies within the jurisdiction of the rules and regulations. Having been the commander this past year I earnestly hope that VFW activities will continue on an even greater scale than they have in the past.

Hondo High Students Start Subscription Drive

The subscription campaign sponsored by the Hondo PTA and the students of Hondo High School for the Lincoln County News-Outlook is now in full swing, according to J. A. Hamilton, high school teacher who is directing the drive.

Several subscriptions have been received by the students, said the teacher, and they are hard at work to bring in others. Everybody benefits in this drive. The Hondo PTA will receive one dollar for each new subscription sold. The class selling the most subscriptions will receive a $5 prize, and the News-Outlook will also donate a prize to the class sending in the most subscriptions.

And here is what the subscriber will get: For $2 per year within the county ($2.50 elsewhere) one will receive the Lincoln County News-Outlook with its countywide news coverage each week for 52 weeks. In addition, one will also receive a feature section each week which includes a weekly "Sunday school lesson"; nine different comic strips; a weekly news analysis; Drew Pearson's column, world-wide news pictures, fiction by Kathleen Norris, crossword puzzle, clothing and furniture patterns, together with other features too numerous to mention, but which have great appeal for both men and women as well as the youngsters.

If no one has contacted you as yet regarding a subscription to the Lincoln County News-Outlook—the paper with many of the features offered by the large dailies of the nation—get in touch with Mr. Hamilton, a member of the Hondo PTA or any student at the Hondo High School who will be glad to make arrangements to secure your subscription.

Don't delay—arrange now to subscribe to the News-Outlook, your county paper and the only one printed in Lincoln County.

A copy of this paper each week will keep you informed of local, state and national matters, as well as the everyday doings of your friends and neighbors.

The News-Outlook strives constantly for the best interests of Lincoln County and its citizens.

Legion Auxiliary Host At Birthday Party

Members of the auxiliary to the Carrizozo American Legion were hostesses at a birthday party Friday night, given in honor of the latter organization's birthday anniversary. About 25 members attended.

Mrs. Vernon Petty headed the committee for entertainment and the evening's fun started with a stunt initiated by George L. Zimmerman, local attorney. Involving a sequence of counting and clapping of hands, the luckless received a lot of laughs as well as a penny fine when they gave wrong response.

After a few minutes devoted to this stunt, tables of bridge and canasta were started and the card playing continued until the guests were called to the buffet table for refreshments. The long table covered with a white cloth and centered with a huge bouquet of mums held a luscious array of cakes of every kind and description, including the white birthday cake decorated in pastel icing and topped with a number of candles which Mrs. John Littleton and Rev. Ray Miller, as heads of the two groups, were required to extinguish with one puff. In addition, coffee, punch and candy were served.

To Conduct Survey
A statewide survey of school construction needs will be made, according to Tom Wiley, state superintendent. The study will be under the direction of Assistant Superintendent Floyd Santistevan.

Dental Clinic Topic Of Hondo P-TA

The Hondo High School PTA held its regular meeting on March 13 with its president, Roman Nunez, officiating. After completion of routine business, the meeting was given over to a discussion of a PTA sponsored dental clinic. The motion, was made and approved that each of the school districts will bear its own financial expenses in regard to, underprivileged children and their dental care.

The plan is to apply for the trailer at once so that by the first week in October the dentist can begin.

The PTA also agreed to serve refreshments at the dance on March 24 to be sponsored by the seniors.

Superintendent Fermin Montes announced plans for taking the fiesta dancers to the Festival of Arts in Tucson on April 6, and a resolution was adopted favoring the trip.

The nominating committee for next year's officers was announced and other routine matters taken up. At the conclusion of the business session, Robert Lane, high school music teacher, sang two numbers, and the group adjourned to the home economics room where hostesses Mesdames Robert Lane and J. A. Hamilton served cake and coffee.

The following program to be featured at the Tucson Festival of Arts has been announced:

The spirit of thousands of years of living will rub-shoulders with today during the long weekend of Friday, Saturday and Sunday, April 6, 7 and 8.

First of the three nights is folk-love festival night, Thursday, April 6. Ancient Indian rituals and dances, Spanish and Mexican indigenous folkways, handed down from uncounted generations will be king.

Saturday night, April 7, brings grand music in the form of the festival's own presentation of Robert Lawrence conducting the Phoenix Symphony Orchestra. Dances from DeFalla's "Three Corners Hat" and Aaron Copland's "Billy the Kid" suite are program features.

And, for the festival's own toast to grand music, there is Bido Sayao, brilliant Brazilian born lyric soprano of the Metropolitan Opera. Miss Sayao will sing the works of Turina, Obrador, Ponce Sandoval and her countryman, Villa-Lobos.

Sunday night, April 8, is the festival finale—the epic dance drama "The White Shell Cross," created and produced for the festival by Oliver LaFarge and Letitia Evans, with musical score by Robert Parria.

This epic of the Tucson country will provide a new and thrilling theatrical adventure for festival audiences. "The White Shell Cross" is a combination miracle play and melodrama. It includes a cast of over 60 dancers and a musical score that wraps up the barbaric chants of the Indian, the beautiful religious music of the early Spaniards, and the thrilling music of the invaders who brought tragedy, and their brand of civilization to the Southwest in the late 1600's. Indians, pioneers, padres, settlers and hunters, outlaws and adventurers—the whole picturesque procession of sword and cross, banner and trumpet, lance, rifle and cannon will pass in spectacular parade before those who witness this world premiere of "The White Shell Cross."

From Easter Sunday to April 8, it will be open house everywhere in the old ancient pueblo of Tucson and Tucson's friends from all over the country are invited to come and make festival.

Capitan Games End BB Season

By FRANK F. TAYLOR

In a hotly contested series of games that matched teams from Capitán, Carrizozo, Corona, Hondo, Lincoln, La Luz and San Patricio, first place winners in the Capitán Invitational Grade School basketball tournament for the fifth and sixth grades class, and Capitán for the seventh and eighth grades class. San Patricio defeated Hondo, 24-7, while Capitán clipped Santa Rita of Carrizozo, 26-15. Second place awards went to Hondo and Santa Rita, while the sportsmanship trophies were claimed by La Luz for the fifth and sixth graders and Corona for the seventh and eighth grades teams. The tourney marked the end of the basketball season for the Capitán teams.

There were separate divisions within the tournament—one for fifth and sixth graders and one for the seventh and eighth grades. The winners and runners-up in each division were awarded trophies by L. W. Clark, superintendent of schools of Capitán, and Curtie Clement, head coach of Capitán High School. In addition to these trophies, sportsmanship awards were made in each division to the team judged to have shown the best sportsmanship both on and off the basketball court.

First place winners received bronze figurines of a basketball player mounted on a bronze base. Runners-up received identical figurines, but smaller in size. Bronze loving cups were awarded as sportsmanship trophies.

With a fast breaking, tall team, the Hondo seventh and eighth graders took an early lead over the Capitán youngsters. The first half ended with the Hondo lads seven points ahead on a 17 to 10 score. The little Tigers of Capitán staged a strong comeback in the second half, sparked by high point man Joe Gallegos, to close the last quarter with a 24-24 tie. In the ensuing overtime period of two minutes, "Lencho" Petalita of Capitán made good his chance for a foul shot to give his team a one-point lead. This slim edge was increased a few seconds later when Cayetano Chavez of the Tigercettes sank a short basket tied to him by hard driving Joe Gallegos.

The first game for the little Tigers proved to be their hardest, as they went on through the tournament to win over La Luz 27 to 24, and over Santa Rita (of Carrizozo) 26 to 15 in the Saturday night finale.

All eight of the Capitán lads who suited out for the final game saw some action. The three boys who scored the most for Capitán in the three games played in the tournament were Joe Gallegos, Eddie Womack and "Lencho" Petalita, but all the boys contributed to the winning of the game. Sonny Herrera, one of the shortest of the Capitán quintet, played some of the best defensive ball of the tournament, while Cayetano Chavez and Tom Guck traded off in the smooth working zone defense used by Capitán. Rudy Chavez and Kandy

Couple In Stolen Car Apprehended Here

A car reported as belonging to Wesley Sharts, Long Beach, Calif., and stolen from there March 12, was recovered by Sheriff S. M. Ortiz about one and a half miles west of town on Highway 330 when he answered a call from San Antonio, N. M., Friday morning and intercepted Mr. and Mrs. Frank James Green, Long Beach.

The young couple were driving a car, the occupants of which had been reported from San Antonio as purchasing 16 gallons of gas and driving off without paying for it. Mrs. Green told Ortiz the car belonged to her father, but a check revealed the car belonged to Sharts. The Long Beach owner said the lock of his garage had been broken and the car taken from it. It was alleged the car had been wired around the ignition to start it.

Burns Hospitalize Glencoe Woman

Mrs. Elzy Perry Sr., Glencoe, is hospitalized at the Ruidoso-Hondo Valley Hospital with first and second degree burns as the result of a fire which completely destroyed the home about 8 P. M. March 17.

The fire is believed to have been caused by clothes, which a daughter-in-law, Mrs. L. L. Perry, had washed, being ignited from a nearby water heater.

Lloyd Perry rescued his wife from the burning building, and another member of the family guided the elder Mrs. Perry to safety after she had re-entered the burning building in an attempt to retrieve some valued possessions. She is convalescing satisfactorily.

The upper Hondo Valley was plagued with several other fires last weekend.

Emmet Reese, owner of the Wagon Wheel Motor Company, at Ruidoso, was roused about 4:30 A. M. March 18, when he smelled smoke and discovered the cabinets in the kitchen of his new home at Green Tree were ablaze. Fortunately, he was able to douse the flames with a fire extinguisher he had on hand, thereby confining the damage to the cabinets.

Investigation disclosed a mouse had built his nest back of the water heater. The presence of a charred match led investigators to believe the mouse had chewed on a match which ignited the nest, and caused the fire to spread.

Mr. Reese, whose home is not as yet fully completed, said the cabinets had been installed only two weeks ago. The damage is covered by insurance.

Another conflagration that could have caused serious damage was a grass fire in the Gateway Addition on the north side of the river at Ruidoso on March 16. Fanned by high winds, the danger was quickly minimized when the flames attracted a number of high school students who doused gunny sacks from the Forest Service cache in the river and used them to smother the blaze.

Members of the Ruidoso Volunteer Fire Department made a quick run to the scene with their big truck to add their efforts to those of the students. The forest ranger on duty in that area was also on hand to help extinguish the blaze.

Although no damage was sustained, the fire, for a time, threatened several summer homes in the vicinity.

Approximately 100 persons were attracted to the site.

Keep Agriculture Sound Is Theme Of Banker

"Keep Agriculture in New Mexico Financially Sound" was the watchword offered by A. E. Huntsinger, Vaughn and Carrizozo banker, in his talk before approximately 45 bankers and farmers at the annual meeting of the New Mexico Bankers Association in Carlsbad March 19. Huntsinger, chairman of the association's agriculture committee, told the gathering that goal is the objective of his group.

Banks should do everything possible, he said, to keep the youth of rural communities interested in farming as a career. He urged farmers to "pay cash—its cheapest that way; use credit sparingly."

Other speakers at the one-day meeting included Roy Forehand, Carlsbad, president of the New Mexico Cattle Growers Association; G. I. Boykin, associate director of New Mexico Extension Service; E. O. Moore, Dexter, president of New Mexico's board of soil conservation districts, and J. Z. Rowe, state extension service economist.

Well Known Salesman Confined To Hospital

Harry Oberman, El Paso, salesman for Lincoln County territory and well known in this area, is convalescing from a serious illness.

Council To Seek Bids For Water Test Drilling

Sales Meet Attended By Local Ford Dealer

At the district sales meeting held March 12 in the Century Room of the Shirley-Savoy Hotel, Denver, Marvin Roberts, local Ford dealer, heard the announcement Ford, Lincoln and Mercury cars had placed first in their classes in the Grand Canyon Mobilgas 840-mile economy run. The Ford V-8 with overdrive averaged 25.994 miles per gallon to win first place in Class "A."

The Denver district includes the state of New Mexico and parts of Texas, Nebraska, Wyoming and Colorado.

Arthur Hatch, Richmond, Calif., who has been with the Ford company for approximately 42 years, was made an honorary citizen of the Mile-High City. That honor, said Roberts, is conferred upon only a few individuals. Nicknamed "Hard Rock Hatch," he is western regional manager.

The dealers were served a custom de luxe menu which included Dixiecat cocktail, ravigotte sauce, colossal rice olives, queen pimiento olives, Colorado Pascal celery, northwestern cross, Mongolian ring neck pheasant, carnish New Haven (a cross between a Mongolian ring neck pheasant and a chicken), chicken a la Maryland, a la Walton potatoes, asparagus Hollandaise, hearts of lettuce Roquefort cheese dressing, clover leaf rolls, Shirley bisque and coffee.

Of special interest to Carrizozoans is the March-April issue of the Lincoln-Mercury Times, copies of which were distributed at the meeting.

An article by Quentin Reynolds, famed writer who has spent much time in Lincoln County, relates the history for the construction of the Carrizozo Country Club and the golf course. The late Dr. Frank Johnson is given credit for the survival of many ranchers in the area during the years of the drought; about 20 years ago. It was the worst one the Southwest had ever faced, and the golf course, born out of the despair of that period, is said to have been the greatest medicine ever prescribed by a physician. The late "Doc" Johnson of Carrizozo was the man who did the prescribing.

The story is that of a man who evidently knew a lot about human nature and that there is more than one kind of medicine. The article describes Will Ed Harris, Roy Shafer, Truman Spencer Sr., and others setting out for a round of golf on a rattlesnake infested course.

Roberts said he had one copy of the magazine available for anyone who wants to read this heart warming story. He expects to receive additional copies shortly.

The magazine story is illustrated by Lincoln County's own Peter Hurd, who has achieved such realism that one who is familiar with the scenes is instantly attracted by the naturalness of the illustrations.

Dale Benesch Honored At Farewell Party

Members of Coolora Lodge No. 15, Daughters of Rebekah, Carrizozo, honored Dale Benesch Friday night with a farewell party at the Odd Fellows Hall prior to his leaving for the armed services. The guest of honor was presented with a traveling kit, after which refreshments were served. Dancing was enjoyed by the 20 guests who gathered to say au revoir to their fellow lodge member.

Measames Fred Schlarb, Fay Harley, Ernest Roberts, and Miss Era Berry were in charge of the arrangements.

Benesch, who shortly will be inducted into the Army at Denver, left Saturday for his home in Salda, Colo., where he will vacation for a few weeks prior to his entry into the armed forces. He was a member of the staff of the Lincoln County News here, and plans to return to his former position when his tour of duty is completed.

At a special meeting of City Council called Monday night by Mayor Vernon Petty, the trustees authorized the Ashley G. Classen & Associates engineering firm of El Paso to draw up a contract and specifications preparatory to advertising for bids on test-hole drilling.

The Country Club offer to sell the village water at 5 cents per 1,000 gallons in the well was vetoed by the councilmen as unsatisfactory financially both to the club and the town. Previously Classen had told the group the preliminary test of the Country Club water showed a total hardness of about 43 grains as compared with the 48 grains of hardness shown in a test of water from Coyote Springs several years ago. The test of the latter well also indicated a flow of only 100 gallons per minute. The El Paso engineer termed the hardness of the Country Club water "sulphate hardness" or "permanent hardness" which will not damage pipes, etc., as do some other forms of hardness.

The El Paso man stated the Country Club water was comparable to that used in Roswell and Carlsbad and could be used without softening. The town, he said, could use this water or develop wells in a nearby section. Classen cautioned the group a feasibility report on any proposed bond issue cannot be prepared until it is determined whether there is a sufficient water supply to meet the necessary requirements.

In order to determine this question, a 48-hour test of continuous pumping will be necessary. On a proposed water system such as a town the size of Carrizozo would require, it would be necessary to have two wells capable of producing 200 gallons per minute. Each well, the engineer said, would necessitate a turbine pump electrically driven. Turbine pumps are not stock items, he said, and it takes a week or two for repairs if one breaks down. Therefore, he added, it is extremely important for the town to have two wells in case of a breakdown of one or in the event of other emergency.

Classen several times emphasized the fact nothing further can be done until it is determined whether there is sufficient water supply to meet the demand. To do this, the 48-hour test must be made and an accurate record kept including the draw down. Classen said he would want to be present when the test is made to take recordings for engineering factors.

In reply to a question regarding a bonding company's attitude on the sale of bonds where the water supply is owned by someone other than the city, the El

Three Youths Injured In Automobile Accident

Three local youths, James Barnett, 17; Bobby Hicks, 17, and Jerry Kennedy, 14, suffered cuts and bruises March 14 about 8:45 P. M. when a car driven by Barnett failed to make a curve near the top of Indian Divide as the boys were returning from Capitán.

The car hit the rock bluff there head on and turned over on its side. The occupants were brought to the local hospital by Joe Phillips, Roswell, who was driving behind them. Barnett was confined to the hospital overnight, but the other two youths were released after treatment.

The car, which was badly damaged, was towed into town by Donald Means of the Bob Means Body and Fender Shop.

Letter to Editor
 Carrizozo, New Mexico, March 19, 1951.
 Mr. Leslie Kinnard,
 Lincoln County News-Outlook,
 Carrizozo, New Mexico.

Dear Les:
 I notice that you have written a letter addressed to the Lincoln County Board of Commissioners, said letter being published on the front page of the March 16, 1951, issue of the Lincoln County News-Outlook. I gather from this that you intended that the subscribers of said newspaper should read said letter and that any interested party may get into the act. Now, take me—I subscribe to the local paper, and even read it occasionally. I have a very high regard for the owners and publishers of said newspaper; they have been clients of mine and I have always considered them as my friends, even though we may disagree on occasions. My card is published in the News-Outlook and I have enjoyed the exclusive publication of all my legal notices, and I even purchase some of my supplies there, when they are available.

It's a fine thing, indeed, to trade with our neighbors, but sometimes easier said than done. Many things may be involved, such as price, type, quality and availability of merchandise, supplies and services, desired at a particular time. You know, some of our local citizens seem to prefer to transact much of their legal business through attorneys from Alamogordo, Roswell, Albuquerque, or some other place outside Lincoln County rather than to consult my friend across the street or to come into my office for their legal needs; and, who knows—they may even be using good judgment at that. To tell you the truth, Les, while it is true that I, at times, patronize each of the local bars, I occasionally fetch a jug of rum over from Juarez; I have, in the past, purchased a typewriter in El Paso, some cabinets in Roswell, some legal forms in Albuquerque, and my Dad sends me some of my clothes from Arkansas. The point is, Les, that we can't always get exactly what we want, when we want it, at the price we feel we should pay, from our neighbors. We, in Lincoln County, are fortunate in having three such fine citizens on our board of county commissioners, and we can be assured that the county's best interests will be well protected under their management; the former board of county commissioners was also composed of good men who always had the best concern for the people of Lincoln County at heart, in their official actions as county commissioners. I am sure that these commissioners always look to the best interests of the taxpayers when necessary supplies and services are being purchased, and usually, some citizen of Lincoln County benefits from these purchases, so we should accept any part of this business that is offered to us, and if it is less than the whole, be thankful for small favors. Of course, Les, we must remember that Carrizozo is not the only town in Lincoln County where supplies and services may be had. Many of our Lincoln County residents have property and other interests located in some of the adjoining counties, and as we are all citizens of the grand state of New Mexico, we should glory in the progress and prosperity which is now prevailing in the counties adjacent to ours and should not begrudge them a share of the crumbs which may fall from our abundant table from time to time.

Now, I have been no member of the board of commissioners since reading your letter, and I cannot speak officially for any of them, either as individuals or in their capacity as commissioners of Lincoln County, but having been a personal friend of each member of the board of commissioners during the past 12 years, I hate to see or hear their official actions criticized unjustly or indiscriminately. I do not know exactly why you are offended, Les, as your letter is not very explicit, but I am sorry it happened, because I would also like to be on your side; but some say that it is

You know, Les, it could be just possible that those darned Republican commissioners read Page One of the News-Outlook for November 3, 1950, and took exception to something contained therein.
 Seems to me that these fellows were elected by us to manage the county's business, so I figure that we should at least stand back or all down and give them the necessary time and elbow room to have a try at it. And you know, Les, I'll bet you dollars to doughnuts that you and I each can still make a living, even if we don't get all the business that is to be had in Lincoln County.

Restrictions On GI Schooling Modified

World War I veterans now in active military service, attending school under the GI Bill during their spare time, will be able to resume their courses after the July 25, 1951, training cut-off date, if they are forced to interrupt their studies because of military duties or transfers, according to Veterans Administration. They will be allowed to continue within a reasonable period after their release from active duty—even though they do not get out until after the cut-off date.

Similar post-deadline procedures apply to veterans who started GI Bill studies as civilians, then interrupted to return to military or naval service. VA stated they also may resume training within a reasonable period following their release from service—should they return to civilian life after July 25, 1951, and before July 25, 1956, the wind-up of the program.

By DOROTHY GUCK

To my mind, the most enviable trait a person may possess is a good sense of humor. For years the state has known that Elliott Barker, head of the Department of Game and Fish, was endowed with that characteristic, but now I've learned that good humor is a trait to be found in most of the members of his staff.

The basis of this contention lies in the substance of the following letter I just received:

"Dear Mrs. Guck: I wish to correct the neglect suffered by you and your friends when the department overlooked sending a formula for their catching with the trout we stocked in Nogal Lake. In your column of March 2 in the Lincoln County News, you mention that angle worms, salmon eggs and spinners were tried with little success, so, with the help of several department members who remember you and your husband with friendly affection, here are some formulas:

"Ray Bell, the flying game warden, suggests that you cut some steaks from the hind quarters of one of those old crow baits your husband answers 'smoke' calls on during the summer. You then bury this in the proper place near the barn and, after a few hot summer days, bait the hook by hand.

"Mickey Lang suggests that you climb the mountain behind your house (taking with you proper snake bite medicine), kill some rattlesnakes, put them in a jar, and holding this in your left hand, take a firm hold of a seine with your right . . . and get fish and a fine.

"Mr. Barker's suggestion that probably a waiting period until the weather gets the fish in the mood will prove most practical of all formulas offered, I'm sure.

"I've never had the pleasure of meeting you, but from all reports you're all for a little humor, and, although we may not have solved your dilemma, we hope we've given you a chuckle at least.

Sincerely,
"ROHN HAWKE,

"Director, Public Relations." Few other angling enthusiasts would divulge the secrets of their fish-catching formulas to the general public, but I was born a most generous person. For two reasons I haven't been able to try Ray Bell's suggestion. My husband insists that his crow baits can't spare a steak before July, and it feels like a long time until summer.

Mr. Lang's suggestion was almost impossible. As he knew, we have bagged 90-some rattlesnakes back of our house. (They are far less dangerous than city traffic and always keep a thoughtful warning.) One day our friend Lang visited with our snakes and very inconsiderately exclaimed: "These rattlers are in the wrong zone. This is a mountain area and they are prairie rattlers."

As soon as he had explained the zoning restrictions to the snakes, they vacated the spot. I had a hard time finding any for fish bait. I finally succeeded and they worked beautifully. I missed the fine because our local game warden, Bill Humphries, was too busy with his own fishing in old Mexico.

I have a slight suspicion that Mr. Barker knows just how to produce the biting mood in our finny friends, but tries to put that responsibility on the weather.

There is one thing about the Department of Game and Fish. They probably do as much for the general welfare of New Mexico as any other group. One of our greatest assets is our tourist-drawing attractions, the forests, the game, recreation areas and fishing streams. By protecting and creating more of our natural beauties, the game department is bringing a greater portion of dollars in tourist trade to New Mexico citizens. Besides, where else can we home folks find more of the fun giving outdoor sports than right in our own state?

Despite our recent weekend storms, trash burning days should probably be postponed until the middle of the summer rainy season. Last Friday, the wind carried a blaze through the grass and shrubs of two beautiful yards in Ruidoso, threatening the buildings. The fire department, townspeople, high school boys and ranger succeeded in stopping the fire.

A wedding shower was given Sunday at the Peters ranch at Angus for Paul Jones and the former Arlene Richardson. About 60 people attended. Chloe Peters and Lyda Peebles met, with their husbands, the previous Friday night at the Peebles ranch to prepare the refreshments. They salvaged 300 doughnuts, made on the wood cook stove, after tasting and testing another 100 in the baking process.

TINNIE

By RUBY ALLEN

Visitors in the McLeod home the past few days were Mr. and Mrs. Horace Smith from White Face, Texas. Mrs. Smith is Mrs. McLeod's sister.

Carl Mosteller is now employed by Price's Creamery in Roswell. Carl has been a Tinnie boy for a long time, and we miss him around these parts, though he gets to come out quite often.

James Morris, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Sandfer of Tinnie, is back in school after having been hospitalized with pneumonia.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Bradley are very happy to be able to bring their infant son home this week. The little boy has been residing at the St. Mary's Hospital ever since his birth. We welcome him as a new Tinnie resident.

Wesley Hodges, brother of Johnny Hodges, came by Saturday night to take his mother to see Johnny, who has been sent to an Army hospital in El Paso. Johnny has been making rapid recovery since he was seriously wounded while in Korea, the early part of February. Mrs. W. F. Casey accompanied her mother to El Paso.

Mrs. Byron Britton spent a very pleasant weekend in Roswell.

Walter Allen was in from the job this weekend to visit his parents. He also went to Roswell to visit his sister and returned to Tularosa via Greyhound bus Sunday night.

George Butts and family, with Frank Purcella, were on business in Roswell Monday of this week. George and Opal are getting a well drilled near their new home on the Frank Purcella ranch.

Rev. and Mrs. O. L. Oldham went to Tucumcari Sunday to attend a Baptist conference and business meeting. Alvie Mosteller, the superintendent of the Baptist Church at Tinnie, took charge of the services over Sunday while Rev. Oldham was absent. Robert Lane led the singing. A very good attendance was reported for the church services.

Mr. and Mrs. Kinnard of the Lincoln County News were visitors at the Tinnie School Friday afternoon.

Pre-school children (by quite a few years) who also visited the Tinnie School Friday were little Fernin Trujillo and Linda Susan Franz. Fernin has two brothers and one sister in the school, and Linda has one 12-year-old uncle, a 9-year-old aunt, there, besides the teacher being her grandmother.

School news from the Hondo High School is also news from Tinnie since so many of the Tinnie children go to school there. It was reported that a very interesting program was enjoyed at assembly the past week. Mrs. Ruby Douglas was in charge. The students staged an "Easter Parade," all dressed in their Easter bonnets. Of the many Easter hats on parade, Gloria Nunez' hat was voted the cutest, Kay Taylor's the most original, all topped with a squirrel and green twig to match; Helen Marruffo's hat was the prettiest, and Dianne Montes wore the biggest hat. Mr. Shotts will be in charge of the assembly program this week, and he plans to feature his chemistry class. These assemblies have been quite interesting each week, and talent not previously known has been revealed by many of the students.

Mrs. W. N. Hodges phoned from El Paso Monday night Johnny's condition was worse and that she and Mrs. Casey are remaining with him over the night. After having been in Korea for month after month, then getting to see his mother, the shock might have been a little hard on the wounded boy. Our thoughts are with Johnny and with all the boys who've gone from our fire-sides to face trials of which we can have only the faintest conception.

Maximum production is the goal of America's farms this year. Non-compulsory production guides, have been set up for every county in New Mexico to encourage the production of those crops needed most.

"Miracle" Hormones Not Available Yet

Veterinary medical leaders have reported "expanded research interest" in the use of newer hormone products for treating various ailments of valuable animals.

Authorities believe that widely heralded hormone preparations such as cortisone and ACTH may have a place in treating arthritis and arthritis like conditions in thoroughbreds and dogs, and there is considerable speculation that hormone treatment may provide a new way of dealing with ketosis in dairy cows.

Scarcity and high cost of cortisone, ACTH and similar products will limit their use in veterinary medicine except for treating animals of high monetary or sentimental value. Another problem is that the beneficial effect of some of the so-called miracle hormones lasts only while the patient is under treatment, with illness recurring soon after the hormone is withheld.

Where livestock is concerned, temporary relief usually is not enough. To be worth while, the treatment must return the animal to permanently full productive capacity.

of Service & Progress

Back in 1876, few people dreamed that a mere toy would one day become essential to almost every phase of American life. Yet today there are 35,000,000 Bell telephones in the nation handling 140,000,000 conversations a day. Telephones operated by independent companies increase the total in America to 43,000,000. Seventy-five years of steady progress and increasingly efficient service, at the lowest possible cost, have made your telephone one of today's best values.

FORT STANTON

By L. D. FISH

The best way to find out who reads this column is to make a mistake. Last week I referred to Michigan as the "Land of the Sky Blue Water." Twenty self-appointed teachers have given me a liberal education in United States geography so now I know that the state referred to is Minnesota, not Michigan.

Dr. and Mrs. Rogers, who were here at Fort Stanton about a year and a half ago, are now in Iowa. Don't know the exact address, but they have a new son.

Perry and I received a card from Dr. Whitehead. He went to Manhattan Beach, New York, some time back. He says that there is no place like Fort Stanton. I agree with him. He encouraged us to stay right here as long as we can.

The Fort Stanton Stamp Club members express their sincere appreciation to Saul S. Scher for the many boxes of really high grade material he has sent them so often. Mr. Scher is western co-director of "Stamps for the Wounded" and associated with the MGM studios in Culver City, Calif. He is a very busy man, but he still has time for those who need his help.

In connection with stamps and philately in general, Art Melering of the Roswell Post Office said he would send stamps to the club, too. Mr. Melering is superintendent of malls in the Roswell Post Office.

I see Frank Smith almost every day. He told me to tell all of you hello for him and that he expects to be up and about again soon.

Mrs. Zipyorn is home again. I'm sure she enjoyed her trip very much.

My father and I went to Dr. Zipyorn's home last Sunday night to play chess. Dad and the Doctor played pretty well; I'm not too good at it. Spent most of my time reading a book about Oscar Wilde. Recommended to anyone with a sense of humor.

William Holderman came into my place of business last Sunday afternoon. We talked about the bacteriological analysis of water. Interesting subject and a very important one.

Wednesday, March 14, Mrs. William Gould held a reception for Mrs. Roxie May Davidohn, worthy grand matron, Order of Eastern Star, and Mrs. Roba Young, grand warder. The reception immediately preceded the official visit of these two ladies to the Masonic Temple in Carrizozo. Mary Plah and Shirley Ann McClain served refreshments.

Mrs. Oscar Rainey is expected to return to the Fort sometime this week. We all have missed her a lot. She always has a pleasant smile and good word for everybody. Excellent example for the rest of us.

Joseph Jenkins went to the U. S. Marine Hospital in Memphis.

Haskell Harrison is on his way to the U. S. Marine Hospital in Manhattan Beach, New York. It is believed.

Monday night, March 12, Mrs. Daisy Kall and Mrs. Jack Smith entertained Mrs. Josephine Faunce (St. Lukes Hospital, Denver) and two of her friends. From what was told to me the dinner served must have been "out of this world." Mrs. Faunce was formerly the dietitian in the U. S. Marine Hospital, Naponet, R. I.

Sunday night, March 18, Miss Eileen Reid, Mrs. Lenore Stemer and Mrs. Daisy Kall gave a waffle supper for a party of 14. Dr. Kopping had his projector along and showed "many wonderful shots of Washington, D. C., Boston and New Orleans." If Dr. Kopping is as much of a photographer as he is a doctor his pictures must be truly great.

Mrs. Grace Reid and Mrs. Bill Brown visited Texas last weekend.

It seems that at least some of the nurses here have gone off the deep end with new Easter outfits. From what I know of them no improvement is necessary.

You oldtimers here at the Fort remember Cliff Thornes. We called him "Norfolk." He passed on at the U. S. Marine Hospital, Manhattan Beach, New York.

The Red Cross Roll Call here at Fort Stanton is way over the half way mark on the way to their goal of $200. It seems to me that a place of this kind, as big as it is, should have set a higher goal than that. Perhaps we just take the Red Cross for granted like all other good things such as sunlight, air and water. We don't have to stop at $200, you know.

I called Dr. Kopping's house for news and Mrs. Kopping volunteered the information there is "no comment." Surely there must be something you people do that the rest of us are interested in.

Ed White, chief engineer, is sick in the hospital. Of course, I have no authority to say how he is, but I know he would appreciate hearing from his many friends all over the county. Let's help to cheer him up a bit.

Auto Prices Held To Amount Of Increase

Under an order issued by Director of Price Stabilization Michael Di Salle, automobile dealers will be allowed to pass along only the exact dollars and cents amount of the recent price increase granted manufacturers of new passenger automobiles, according to information released by Roy S. Walker, district director for New Mexico.

Increased wholesale prices can be added only in the case of cars purchased by dealers after March 1, 1951, since the recent increase at the manufacturer's level did not become effective until March 2. Dealers cannot add to the cost of cars purchased before March 2, the order states.

The price changes for four low priced cars gives an increase on the Chevrolet Styleline four-door sedan from $1,450 to $1,500.75; on the Ford de luxe four-door sedan from $1,472 to $1,523.52; on the Plymouth de luxe four-door sedan from $1,551 to $1,605.28 and on the Studebaker custom four-door sedan from $1,519 to $1,572.16.

The OPS extended ceiling price Regulation 1 of December 18, 1950, rolling back new passenger car prices to December 1 levels, but with a provision permitting a 3 1/2 per cent increase in manufacturer's prices to partially offset higher production costs.

Retail sales have been frozen at the manufacturer's suggested list price in effect prior to January 26.

New Order Permits 'DO' Ratings For Business

A new regulation which gives all business establishments, government agencies and institutions the right to apply "DO" ratings to secure maintenance, repair and operating supplies and minor capital additions, is announced by the El Paso district office of the U. S. Department of Commerce.

Under the new order, all establishments in the United States—warehouses, factories, retail and wholesale stores, service shops, farms, hospitals, schools, libraries, churches, federal, state and local governmental agencies—may, when necessary, use a priority rating to procure equipment and supplies for maintenance, repair and operation of their present facilities.

In order to apply the MRO rating, a person merely has to write on his order or a piece of paper attached to his order, these words: "DO-97, Certified under NPA Regulation 4," and sign it.

The regulation permits application of the rating, identified as DO-97, by business concerns and other institutions without individual authorization by NPA. The rating may be used solely to acquire maintenance, repair and operating supplies and may not be used to purchase production material (i.e. material or components to be incorporated in end products) nor to purchase major capital items. The rating is equal to all other DO ratings.

Regulation 4 limits the amount of material which a person can secure on the strength of his MRO priority to specified amounts per calendar quarter, based upon the total MRO supplies and equipment the particular firm or institution used during 1950. Special provisions are made for those that did not operate during all or part of 1950. Under the provisions of the regulation, each person is obligated to determine his own quarterly quota of MRO supplies and must maintain adequate records to substantiate the quota he established for himself.

Complete information on the MRO regulation is available at the El Paso district office of the U. S. Department of Commerce, 209 Chamber of Commerce Building, 310 San Francisco Street.

Price Controls On Soft Goods Start March 29

That all soft goods retail merchants in New Mexico must comply with Ceiling Price Regulation 7 and start immediate preparation of their pricing charts to meet the March 29 deadline, was given special emphasis in a statement issued in Albuquerque by Roy S. Walker, acting district director for the Office of Price Stabilization for the state of New Mexico.

"Inquiries concerning this order are rapidly increasing and we must warn business men that the pricing chart is of utmost importance since it is to serve as his chief guidepost throughout the life of Ceiling Price Regulation 7," Walker stated.

Mailing of the regulation and complete instructions to all retailers covered is in progress from the Denver regional office, and limited additional quantities are being sent from the Albuquerque OPS office to all Chamber of Commerce organizations throughout the state.

"The regulation is now on the federal register and failure to receive a copy will not excuse any retailer from preparing a pricing chart or complying with the law," Walker warned.

Ceiling Price Regulation 7 is not to be confused with the general ceiling price regulation requiring retailers to have ceiling price base period records prepared and available for inspection before March 22.

Avoid Udder Troubles

By Proper Milking

Udder health of cows is closely related to efficiency in handling milking machines. Four common faults leading to udder injury and mastitis are: (1) Not having the cow ready to let down her milk when teat cups are applied, (2) leaving the cups on longer than necessary, (3) failure to clean the cups thoroughly after each use, and (4) failure to keep vacuum gauges and other parts in proper working order.

Washington Newsletter

By JOHN J. DEMPSEY, M. C. WASHINGTON, March 22.—Congress expressed its new determination to exercise more care in handling out power when the House refused to consider the defense housing bill last week.

Principal objection to the measure—H. R. 2988—is that it would open the door to the government going into the housing business on a large scale. And in the opinion of many members of Congress, including myself, the government is already in a lot of businesses where it doesn't belong.

Actually, the question which the House considered last week was on the "rule," that is a resolution simply to take up the bill. By defeating the resolution, 219-170, the House sent the bill back to the banking and currency committee where it will be reconsidered and probably revised.

Unfortunately, I was unable to vote on the matter as I was recovering from an attack of the "flu." I have now recovered, however, so I expect to vote on any revised version of the bill which the House committee may report.

Most of the opposition developed over Title II of the bill which provides that where housing or community services and community facilities "would not otherwise be provided, the government will build them directly." Many of the congressmen felt this would give government housing officials a blank check to build housing when and where they felt like it.

One member pointed out that since a government agency controls distribution of materials for building, it would be simple to direct materials away from any particular private housing project; then, because private enterprise could not do the job, the government would step in and take over.

Supporters of the measure contended the bill is needed to insure that adequate housing will be constructed to house defense workers. They said the measure had the endorsement of Charles E. Wilson and Eric Johnston, defense mobilization heads.

House downed the defense housing bill, it nearly defeated the President's proposed reorganization of the RFC. Under terms of the reorganization act, a change like that proposed for the RFC (i. e. to shift administration from a five-man board to a single administrator) will become effective unless it is rejected by the Congress within 90 days.

The vote then was on a resolution to reject the reorganization of RFC, and the resolution failed to carry, although more than half of those present voted for it. This was because a "constitutional majority" or 218 votes would have been necessary. Only 200 voted for the resolution.

I have become convinced that any effort to clean up the RFC organization will be hopeless as long as the present staff remains, and under civil service regulations, most of the staff would not be disturbed by any reorganization plan.

The unethical, if not actually dishonest, practices that have been revealed in connection with this agency have so shaken the trust of the people that I doubt if RFC can ever again be made to perform the function for which it was intended.

An $3,500 mink coat that Mrs.

E. Merl Young received is only a matter of $3,500. But when we consider that for that or similar considerations, loans were negotiated which put millions of dollars of taxpayers' money in jeopardy, the thought is a bit staggering.

WAR CLAIMS EXTENSION. When the time for filing of claims by prisoners of war of World War II was about to expire March 1, Senator Chavez put through the Senate a joint resolution to extend the time for filing to October 1.

I appeared before the House committee on interstate and foreign commerce to support the measure. Asked if I thought the time extension should be more, I suggested it be continued until April 1, 1952. The committee and House agreed to that time extension.

Back in 1850, men did 15 per cent of the work, animals 79 per cent, and machines 6 per cent. The production of goods per man-hour averaged 27 cents worth. In 1930, men did 4 per cent of the work, animals 12 per cent, machines 84 per cent, and the product amounted to 82 cents an hour.

Council To Seek

Paso engineer said he could not answer that question. Will Ed Harris, as the representative of the Country Club trustees, stated his attorney believes there will be no difficulty about that aspect. Harris added the Country Club is willing to supply water in the well at 5 cents per 1,000 gallons, but the town must be responsible for erecting the necessary equipment, pumping and the necessary maintenance. The well is about 200 feet deep and to date has tested 125 gallons per minute. The Country Club officials are not willing to assume the expense for the special equipment needed in the 48-hour test unless they are assured of selling water to the town. After thorough discussion, the trustees were unanimous in their decision they could not accept the club's offer of 5 cents per 1,000 gallons in the well. Classen had previously pointed out it would be more practical for the city to develop its own water system. Councilmen believe both the city and the Country Club would find the latter's offer unsatisfactory from a financial standpoint.

Classen explained the two wells should not be more than 2,000 to 2,500 feet apart in the event that at a future date it might be decided to install a water softener, and the wells should be sufficiently near each other to permit easy installation.

Leroy Perry, Glencoe, who with his brothers has drilled a number of wells in Lincoln County, told councilmen that the water in this area is better the nearer one gets to the mountains, and that it is unnecessary to drill to a great depth. Perry said the water falls pretty close to the contour of the ground and is softer. The Country Club water is best, he added. The Lincoln County man said their cost for drilling without casing in runs about $4 per foot to a depth of 500 feet.

Mayor Petty asked Classen what immediate steps should be taken by the city in order to determine if it is possible to develop its own water system, and the latter replied his firm would draw up a contract and specifications for the well drilling. It will be necessary to advertise for bids, he said, and after a well drilling firm has been decided upon, council, his firm, and the well drilling firm will decide upon the best location for the test well. Four factors involved in a water system, Classen stated, are debt service; maintenance; depreciation and improvements; and a little profit. Add the figures for these factors, he said, and then add up the amount of water that can be sold for an overall picture. With a "decent water rate," it would not be unusual to average 125 gallons per day per person the year around, according to the El Paso engineer. He suggested council get an opinion upon a suitable piece of ground for the proposed well while his firm is preparing the contract and specifications for its drilling. At least two acres are necessary, he added.

The maximum cost for drilling a well should not be more than $2,500, and should be considerably less; the minimum figure averaging around $1,200. The cost is largely dependent upon the type of tools used. Classen pointed out the town will not owe his firm for any of this preliminary work which he stated will cost them between $300 and $500, and it will be necessary to maintain an engineer here to see that the contract is complied with, and Reyes were two valuable helpers in bringing Capitan High School its first championship trophy of the current basketball season.

Fifth And Sixth Division

In the "small fry" division of the tournament, two teams of the Hondo Valley, both coached by Fred McTelgue of Hondo-San Patricio, met each other in the final championship game Saturday night. The Hondo boys defeated La Luz and Corona to meet the neighbors, while San Patricio won over Santa Rita (of Carrizozo) and a strong Capitan team coached by Lewis Cummins to earn the right to play Hondo.

Suiting out a "Chavez" team (with six Chavez names on the roster), the San Patricio lads completely outclassed their coach's other team when they won by a score of 24 to 7. I. Chavez and P. Chavez were the high scorers for San Patricio while Maes, Ernest Salcido and F. Salcido accounted for most of Hondo's points. Mrs. Pacheco of Hondo "substituted" as coach for McTelgue when he was faced with the somewhat bewildering problem of coaching two of his own teams in the same game.

As Curtis Clement and L. W. Clark of Capitan ably said at the presentation of the trophies at tournament's end, all the teams who competed showed fine spirit and the will to win. Next year's grade tournament at Capitan is already being planned by the coaches involved and looked forward to by the young players of the county.

Frank F. Taylor coached the seventh and eighth grades team from Capitan High School. The names of the teams who played and their scores are listed below:

Friday (5th and 6th grades)—6 P. M., San Patricio 26, Santa Rita 15; 8 P. M., Capitan 36, Carrizozo 12.

Saturday (5th and 6th grades) 9 A. M., Hondo 17, La Luz 9; Corona drew a bye.

Saturday (5th and 6th grades) 11 A. M., San Patricio 18, Capitan 10; 3 P. M., Hondo 27, Corona 9.

Saturday (5th and 6th grades) 7:30 P. M., San Patricio 24, Hondo 17.

Friday (7th and 8th grades)—La Luz drew a bye; 7 P. M., Capitan 27, Hondo 24.

Friday (7th and 8th grades)—Santa Rita 41, Carrizozo 18.

Saturday (7th and 8th grades) 10 A. M., Lincoln 25, Corona 23.

Saturday (7th and 8th grades) 2 P. M., Capitan 27, La Luz 21; 4 P. M., Santa Rita 30, Lincoln 19; 8:30 P. M., Capitan 26, Santa Rita 15.

Youth Night Success

About 50 persons, including teen-agers and adults, attended the Youth Night sponsored by members of the Carrizozo Odd Fellows Lodge and its auxiliary, the Rebekahs, at their new lodge hall March 17. The event is planned to be held the third Saturday of each month.

B. G. Barnum provided his record playing machine for dancing and Bill Brown, Capitan, was an able caller for the several square dances. At midnight coffee and cookies were served in the hall's dining section off the kitchen.

The teen-agers and adults enjoyed both round and square dancing.

The two lodges hope to increase local and county interest in their project to create pleasure for the youth of the community, so that the monthly gatherings will draw a good attendance.

Bookie Straley brought his calf to school Tuesday. We tried to get close enough to see if he had any teeth and how many but the calf had other ideas. We finally let the spoiled thing have his own way—so we still don't know about the calf's teeth.

John Allen and Vernelle Hightower went to El Paso last week. The two boys stayed with their grandparents and it is hard to tell who was happier.

The Ladies Auxiliary held its regular meeting Thursday. Mrs. Kate Straley led the devotional service. Mrs. Rebecca Wedell had charge of the program, which concerned national missions. At the close of the meeting Mrs. Rose Harkey, the hostess, served delicious pumpkin pie and coffee (orange juice for the youngsters). There were only seven members present due to illness among others.

Mrs. Risinger came home from the hospital Thursday afternoon and was on the job again Sunday. She is feeling very well, she reports.

The P. A. Stidhams came home Sunday. They had been called away by the illness of their daughter. They report she is much improved.

By MRS. S. W. STOUT

Jim Ayres, our local deputy sheriff, has been on the sick list for several days, but is up and about again.

We now have a fire siren, and we heard it being tried out for the first time at 11:30 A. M. Friday. We do not know just how far up and down the canyon it was heard, but know that everyone in Green Tree heard it. We are glad to have it as one has been needed for sometime to arouse everyone in case of fire, or other calamity.

Mrs. Jess Harris made her usual trip to Roswell Friday, and as usual took a carload of ladies who wanted to shop. Our neighborhood really appreciates this generous friend in the many rides she gives all of us.

Jack and Dorothy Parnell were in Carrizozo Thursday on business.

Mrs. Casey Rochell of Holdenville, Okla., has been visiting with the Zeke Scotts this week.

Mrs. Opal Oglesby and daughter, Gloria, are here visiting with another daughter, Mrs. Johnnie Miller and husband. They expect to be here for some time.

Just finding out that Danny Storm has been in Southwest General Hospital for a week and we hope that he will soon be home.

The new speed signs have been erected by the state highway engineers in our locality and up and down the canyon, for which we are thankful.

March Of Dimes Drive
Nets $1,195 In County

The total collection for Lincoln County in the 1951 March of Dimes drive amounted to $195.93 with Ruidoso leading the county except for the card collection which was county wide, according to Mrs. J. P. Turner, general chairman for the county. The card collection was not kept separately since many who sent contributions did not identify themselves. Expenses amounted to $114.45 and covered supplies and postage.

Mrs. Turner stated the Carrizozo Girl Scout troops and the members of the local high school's commercial classes were extremely helpful in their assistance with the mailing of the 1,672 cards that were required to be sent out during the drive. Dan Minter, former Holsum bread truck driver, and T. O. Hayes, Mead bread representative, also assisted by delivering supplies to many communities. Mrs. Lorine Samuelson, county superintendent of schools, saw to it that cards were delivered to the rural schools.

The Iron Curtain

WINSTON CHURCHILL'S well-known phrase "the iron curtain" has now become so universal that some people really believe the Soviet border is encased in iron. Actually, however, the curtain is made of barbed wire—and rusty barbed wire at that.

This writer visited the southernmost segment of the iron curtain today at a spot where democratic Turkey and Communist Bulgaria meet. This border is the start of a long tangled barricade zigzagging north past Hungary, Austria, Czechoslovakia, Germany and Poland. And though the fields of winter barley are just as green on both sides of this barbed-wire barricade, it might just as well have been made of iron as far as free exchange of human intercourse is concerned.

I drove up to the curtain in a jeep with Captain Fethi Seckin and Lieutenant Ali Aksoz of the Turkish army. The latter is in command of a ten-man detachment guarding the Kaprikulu outpost. The road leading to the curtain was paved with centuries-old stone and beside the road were Roman walls built by Emperor Adrian. But the traffic leading to the barbed-wire curtain, aside from an ox team pulling a John Deere disc drill, a tribute to the Marshall plan, was nil.

Suddenly the road ended. Ahead was an iron gate bearing the international English word known to every tongue: "Stop." Beyond it was another gate slightly rusty and delapidated bearing the words "Bulgaria" in both French and Cyrillic. This was the iron curtain and the place which Turks call Serhad, which significantly has two meanings: the frontier and the neckline where one's head is chopped off.

Blockhouses Guard Curtain

Alongside the gate was a series of blockhouses—one on the Bulgarian side, a little shabby with some of its windowpanes missing, and two on the Turkish side, both new and orderly. One Turkish blockhouse set back from the iron gate but connected with it by a series of trench-housed troops.

I climbed stairs inside the thick-walled parapet to the tower on top of which a Turkish soldier scanned the landscape through field-glasses. Through his glasses we could see a Bulgarian guard in the tower on the opposite side of the iron curtain, scrutinizing us. From time to time he would run to the telephone evidently to notify his headquarters about our party. Aside from this, there was almost no movement on the frontier. The sturdy walls, pierced with rifle slots, looked down on nothing more than the winter barley fields and the long, long barricade of barbed wire extending north.

Prisoners Escape

A herd of water buffalo grazed in the distance. They did not know the difference between communism or democracy, between Russified Bulgaria or Turkey—to which the Truman doctrine is supplying arms and Marshall plan aid. They only knew that the grass was just as green on either side.

"Sometimes," remarked Captain Seckin, "sheep or buffalo get under the wire and cross to the Bulgarian side and the Communists shoot them. Our farmers get no chance to herd them back." Sometimes, also, I learned, Bulgarian political prisoners sneak through the barbed wire at night to give themselves up to Turkish authorities. This happens at the rate of two or three times per month and they tell a story of harassment and political suppression in what once was a relatively democratic country.

Climbing down from the watchtower we moved closer to the iron curtain to the second Turkish building. This one was just six feet from the gate separating the two countries.

On rare occasions an official with a properly vised passport is permitted to pass through this gate and customs officials are kept on the Turkish side to handle such traffic. We sat down a few feet from the gate to drink coffee with the customs officials. The weather was cold but the sun was warm, and I pulled my chair out onto a stone platform in the sunshine in full view of the Communist guards peering down through rifle slots in their watchtower fifty feet away.

I don't know and never will know what they thought of the stranger—the civilian dressed in western clothes who sat and drank coffee just below them.

I don't even know whether they recognized me as an American but the Turkish guards, who watched them from the tower with their field glasses, reported that, on the opposite side of the iron curtain, there was more scurrying and more frantic telephoning back to their headquarters.

However, the sun was warm and the coffee delicious and we lingered talking about the days when the army of Sultan Bayezid battled with the armored knights of the Polish king and the grand marshal of France.

ASSAULT ON ENEMY HILL . . . Men and tanks move out on an assault on an enemy-held hill north of Waujeok, Korea. Note soldier (lower left) who has stopped to fix part of his gear. Allied troops were pressing gains all along the front when this assault was made. The first marine division was back in the battle. A new Communist drive was expected, but attacks by the leathernecks near Hoengsang were designed to throw the new Red push off balance. The fighting has been characterized by steady but slow advances by UN forces up to three or four miles a day, no spectacular gains being made recently by any side.

VICTIMS OF AMBUSH . . . Bodies of American soldiers are found by United States troops advancing through the Hoengsang area. These men were trapped in ambush along the Wauje-Hoengsang highway nearly a week before other units found their bodies. The area in which the ambush occurred was being hotly defended by the Chinese Communists who were vanishing like will-o'-the-wisps from other areas it was thought they would try to hold.

ANOTHER CLOSE SHAVE FOR ATTLEE . . . Man under the latter bears a resemblance to Britain's Prime Minister Attlee who has had a few close shaves on votes of confidence challenges, but this man really is an anonymous Austrian, being shaved by Orrville Boehm, lady barber of Vienna who performed a perfect shave in 28 seconds in Austria's annual barber's contest. Orrville is 46 and has been lathering whiskers and moving them for five years.

RESTRAINED FROM COMMITTING SUICIDE . . . His suicide attempt foiled, Arthur Dehn, 22, Milwaukee, Wisc., sobs and struggles as police lead him forcibly from the Michigan Ave. bridge in Milwaukee. The youth, partially disrobed and shoeless, was seized after he had placed one leg over the bridge rail to jump into the icy river. Taken in a patrol wagon to the station, he was booked on a disorderly conduct charge.

IT'S A HOLDUP IN KOREA . . . Men of the eighth engineering battalion are shoring up a collapsed bridge with logs in an attempt to hold up the tank whose weight caused the collapse. Policemen Seen as Symbols

By Lawrence Gould

May a law-abiding person hate policemen?

Answer: Yes. And the less contact he has had with them as human beings, the stronger the hatred may be.

are really envying is the other fellow's appearing to get away with being childish, even though your knowledge that childishness never is to anyone's advantage is what keeps you from acting as he does.

Can music express humor? Answer: Yes, writes Dr. Helen K. Mull, of Sweet Briar College, Va., in the American Journal of Psychology.

Answer: On the surface, it may seem so. If you understand why someone is in a bad humor, you will make allowances for him which you know he would not make for you.

KEEPING HEALTHY Units for Studying Common Cold

By Dr. James W. Barton

WE HAVE ALL HEARD of cancer units—groups of research laboratory workers, practicing physicians and chemists whose entire efforts are devoted to investigating the cause of cancer so that humanity may escape this terrible scourge.

to infect by inoculation any laboratory animal other than the chimpanzee, failed. Notwithstanding the failure of this unit to cultivate the virus and learn more about colds, some important information about colds was obtained by a study of injections into the nose of substances causing infection.

HEALTH NOTES

It is comforting to know that in so many instances nature provides extracts from animals to replace man's needs.

Removal of a clot in a portion of the brain has restored normal movement of the body and restored normal mental behavior.

Careful Washing, Storage Adds Years to Life of Glass

By Eritta Haley

Polish Your Glassware

GLASSWARE ADDS beauty and grace to the table, but I find it needs replacing so often," sighs one homemaker.

A bride, selecting her first goblets of fine American handmade glassware, or a homemaker with a cherished collection of beautiful pieces, can certainly add years of wear to the glass by following a few simple do's and don'ts in caring for it.

Many is the mother who can pass on to her daughter a set of beautiful glassware in perfect condition. Is it the glass, and how made? No, it's simply a matter of care.

Like fine china or even more durable silverware, glassware must have loving care and protection when stored.

If you pile stemware in a glass bowl, stack tumblers or crowd the pieces in a small space, you may expect them to get broken.

You can make adequate space for glassware, if you'll re-organize the storage cupboard.

Sparkle is an inherent quality of fine handmade glass but the improper washing can dim its brilliance. To prevent this, use a mild solution of soap and a detergent and comfortably hot water.

Help bring out luster on decorated glasses. A few drops of ammonia or bluing in the rinse help bring out the luster on glasses, especially those with a lot of cut-out work.

Protect glassware during washing. Many mishaps can occur if all care is not observed during the washing and drying of glassware.

When washing the glassware, place a rubber mat in the sink or a dish towel in the bottom of the washing basin, and also on the drainboard.

Rubber faucet tips are another aid, as they, too, cushion any blows you might give the glassware.

Wash only a few pieces at a time. In fact, if you wash one at a time, you'll hardly ever run into difficulty.

Wash only a few pieces at a time. In fact, if you wash one at a time, you'll hardly ever run into difficulty.

Wash glassware a piece at a time so there is no chance of striking one piece against another.

Store glassware in adequate space. A collection of fine glassware deserves adequate storage space—not only to show it off properly, but to prevent accidents to the glass while it's stored.

Cups, glasses and stemware should be placed on shelves with enough room between them to prevent rubbing together, as this may well scratch the delicate surfaces.

Rubber storage racks are excellent for keeping glass plates and cups in an orderly and safe arrangement on shelves, especially those which are in danger of crowding.

Why Can't Deaf Accept Fact? Why not face the fact that you are deaf, or getting deaf? Why make your affliction a very common one—a blight to your family as well as yourself?

The toothless—also a large army in middle life—smile over their troubles. They smile rather as a piquet fence might be supposed to smile, perhaps, but nevertheless they minimize their misfortune.

CA boy on crutches thanks you as you give him a hand into a bus or train. Perhaps he lost that leg fighting to keep you free and secure, but he doesn't remind you of it—he thanks you.

On drying glassware. One holds that glasses should be dried as quickly as they're rinsed, with a lint-free towel.

Handmade glass vases, bowls and condiment pieces can be kept brilliantly clear by loosening sediment deposits with a solution of ammonia and water.

Decorative glassware such as vases, bowls and candlesticks need not be stored in the kitchen, for there may be more room in living or dining rooms where they can add a note of beauty to the decorative scheme.

Glasses, when in use, however, should not be subjected to extreme temperatures. Before pouring a very hot liquid, such as coffee or tea into a glass, place a silver spoon in the glass or cup.

If cups and plates have hot food on them, keep them away from cold metal, enamel or porcelain surfaces.

Patience Wins

One woman solved this in the case of a small, dainty little mother of 60, who had been a beauty and a belle, and was pretending that a wig, dental replacement, strong glasses and almost total deafness had not descended upon her years before.

The family, her daughter, her son-in-law—a man of 60 who wore a hearing aid—her granddaughter and grandson conspired to bring her to reason.

When the daughter explained that they were all afraid that the effect of shouting and explaining would be bad for the family nerves.

"What shouting and screaming? You don't have to shout and scream at me," she said. "Just stop mumbling the way you've been doing. I'll hear you."

"Then we'll go on that way," said the daughter indignantly. And again they did. And in less than three weeks Grandma was not only wearing a hearing aid, but hearing perfectly, back in the family circle.

First Americans' Bivouac Found

Spearhead Proves Clue To Indians' Ancestors

An early bivouac of ancient man on the trail from the Alaskan coast to the interior of the North American continent was discovered last summer by a United States geological survey worker.

The artifacts—among which is a fragment of a Folsom point, a type of spearhead which is the earliest known human remains on this continent—were found by Mr. Hackman near the northern entrance of Anaktuvuk Pass through the Brooks Range, which runs essentially parallel to the Arctic coast.

All these chipped-stone fragments are quite similar in design to the so-called Cape Denigh flint culture discovered about two years ago by Dr. J. L. Giddings, of the University of Pennsylvania.

DENTAL HYGIENE

Child Dental Hygiene Changed Greatly as Result of School Study

WALPOLE, Mass.—In the schools here, they have added a new element to the traditional three R's, reading, 'riting, and 'rithmetic.

about a major change in child dental hygiene. Every afternoon school session in the past two years has had a period devoted to supervised brushing of the teeth.

The Walpole studies have been carried on by the Tufts College Dental School in Boston. Dr. Helmut A. Zander, professor of dentistry at Tufts, chose the town (population 9,000) because it offered the opportunity to study the dental problems of children in two schools representing similar home environment.

Following three years of laboratory study and experiments, Dr. Zander's research staff had settled on penicillin as an effective control for dental-carries (cavities).

WALPOLE SCHOOL and health authorities cooperated with the Tufts hygienists, dividing 400 youngsters into two groups, one in each elementary school. Their ages ranged from 5-14 years.

One group used a tooth powder containing penicillin, and known as dento-cillin. The other group used the same tooth powder, without the added penicillin.

The children who used the tooth powder with the added penicillin showed a reduction in tooth decay of 55.3 per cent at the end of the first year.

Information on these studies has been requested by school administrators in many areas of the country.

To study the possibility of penicillin sensitivity or induced resistance to the penicillin ingredient, research was conducted by the Tufts dental hygienists on more than 4,000 adults.

THE FICTION CORNER

INSTINCT WINS

By Richard H. Wilkinson

WHEN "SNICKER" Snyder, owner-manager of the Whirlwind baseball club, signed on a new player, he always handed the newcomer a sheet of typewritten papers.

Butch Garrison, Snicker's head scout had found Jock. Butch was enthusiastic: "The kid's a natural," he told Snicker. "He plays by instinct."

Facts, however, are facts. Jock pitched in 10 games that season and won them all. He didn't do him much good. He ain't no pitcher yet.

PERHAPS Snicker was right in his insistence. At any rate, throughout the winter training, Jock steadily improved. He had acquired a more polished, Snicker was almost satisfied.

Such prosperity. During that former lull period, which they expected would continue indefinitely, the farmers went wild in the investment of more land.

THE only thorn in his rosebush was Butch. Butch insisted that Jock's greatness was due to no one but himself.

"You're sore," Snicker told him, "because folks are giving me the credit. Every one knows one knows it's them fundamentals I thought up that put Jock where he is. Instinct! Nuts!"

Death to Life

Lesson for March 23, 1961

THE FLOWERS in the church on Easter morning will not have been there long. Less than 24 hours before, the church was dark and empty. At no time in the year does the church look gloomier than on Easter Eve. In many churches the altar is draped in black. Good Friday commemorates the saddest day in earth's history. Easter the most joyous. Yet they come only 48 hours apart. This reminds all Christians that neither Good Friday nor Easter stands by itself, but each gives meaning to the other.

Cross and Crucifix

THE Protestant churches usually have a cross. That is because Protestants wish to remember that the Cross is empty, that it is not a dead Jesus whom we worship, but a living, risen, reigning Christ. Even in the churches where crucifixes are numerous, there may be pictures or statues representing the risen Christ. Suppose there had been only Good Friday, suppose that had been the end of Jesus? Then there would have been no particular point in the cross. It would have been the mere instrument of one more violent death, another case of justice gone wrong, another tragic failure.

NATURAL MISTAKE

The absent minded professor reported that he'd been the victim of a pickpocket. "But," the police sergeant asked, "didn't you feel anything, say a hand in your pocket?" "To be sure, to be sure," replied the learned gentleman. "But I thought it was my own."

They Sure Do!

A farmer was explaining to a city woman what a menace insects were to farm products—how potato bugs ruin potato crops and corn borers destroy corn. The woman listened attentively, then exclaimed: "And the poor dairy people! How the butterflies must bother them!"

Brew's Woe

The doctor met Mrs. O'Hoolihan at the door. "Did you take your husband's temperature as I told you? And how is he?" "I did that, you know, Doctor. I borrowed a barometer and placed it on his chest. It read Very Dry so I rushed out and bought him a barrel of beer. He's gone back to work today."

SQUEALIN' EEL PEELIN'

An old lady, watching a fisherman skin eels, was worried about the eel's peace of mind. "Don't you realize the pain they must suffer?" she asked. "I suppose I did, 30 years ago when I started skinning eels," replied the fisherman, "but I reckon they're used to it by now."

The origin of the word "incompatibility" is perfectly clear: "When a husband loses his income, you'll notice how promptly his wife loses her patibility."

GOING DOWN!

A passenger in a plane sat relaxed at a window drinking in the spectacle of the heavens. Suddenly a parachutist appeared and drifted by. "Going to join me?" cried the passenger. "Thank you very much," replied the passenger. "I'm very happy just where I am." "Just as you like," called back the parachutist. "I'm the pilot."

Bird Of A Reply

An old man was sitting on the porch of a little village store when a big, shiny car drove up with two strangers in it. "Hey, there," one of them called out. "How long has this town been dead?" The old man looked at them over the rim of his spectacles. "Well, not long, I guess. You're the first buzzards I've seen."
