Miss Kamees Fiesta Queen

Reigning as Hondo's fiesta queen at the Ruidoso-Hondo Valley General Hospital benefit at Ruidoso on April 28 will be Miss Mary Kamees, Picocho, who received the most votes for that honor Friday night at the close of the presentation "A Fiesta in Mexico" by the Hondo Fiesta Danegrs at the Hondo gymnasium. Alfred McTeigue, Hondo, was given the highest number of votes for the honor of escorting the fiesta queen to the Ruidoso celebration.

Miss Kamees and young McTeigue well deserved the honors accorded them by vote of the audience. Their ability to perform the complicated dances, timing and response to their partners provided a display of rhythm and beauty of special delight to devotees of terpsichore, as did the performance of the entire group of dancers.

Friday night's show was the third annual one to be given by the Hondo dancers, and the excellence of their performance is attested by the fact they were invited to present their dances at the recent Tucson Festival of Arts, where they received wide acclaim. The Arizona Star, daily paper at Tucson, was unflattering in its praise of the Lincoln County artists.

Judging from the home performance, Hollywood can look to its laurels—it has competition in these festive dancers whose skillful execution of the graceful dances representative of Spanish, Indian, Mexican and Anglo cultures would make many professionals aware of the ability of these students.

"A Fiesta in Mexico" begins with the natives of a village in old Mexico arriving at the church to attend morning mass to celebrate a Saint's Day. For this scene, the gymnasium was lighted only by candles placed in the windows. As is usually the case, some of the celebrants arrived early while others were depicted in a great rush to reach the church on time. At the tonda, they sing their mananitas and then go about the business of the day—selling their wares, visiting, eating, drinking, singing and dancing. The citizens anticipate with eagerness a high point of the fiesta which is the celebration at a later mass of the marriage of a popular young couple from the village.

The program as presented follows:
Song, "Las Mananitas," Girls' Chorus; dance, "La Indita," "La Camilla," song, "La Paloma Blanca," Girls' Chorus; skit, Ed

Hondo High To Present "Evening Of Songs"

The Hondo High School choruses under direction of Robert Lane will present an "Evening of Songs" Friday, April 27, at the Hondo Gym at 7:30 P. M. Combining the high school girls' chorus, the seventh and eighth grade girls' chorus and the boys' chorus, the group will number 60 voices.

The groups will present a varied program with songs ranging from the late hit song "Harbor Lights" to old Lithuanian, Polish and Spanish folk songs, and from the amusing "Three Little Kittens" to the beautiful "Ave Maria."

This concert will be the last major public performance of the year for the choruses, and will be the last performance for accompanist Marjorie Tittsworth, who is graduating and will complete four years of active musical work in the school.

Admission is 35 cents for adults, 25 cents for high school students and 15 cents for grade school students. The proceeds will go toward the school band instrument fund.

Plays Scheduled

Both the Capitan and the Carrizozo high schools are presenting their senior class plays to night (Friday).

The Capitan seniors will present "The Swamp House," a mystery drama, while the local school's production, a comedy, is "Ever Since Eve."

'54' Conquered By Homebound Sailor

Mrs. Clara Bell, Carrizozo, was happily surprised on her birthday last Sunday by the arrival of her son, Don A. Bell, MC2/c, U. S. Navy. Mr. Bell, who has been in the Navy nine years, had not been home in the past two years. His ship is the USS Missouri.

The Navy man's attempt to reach Carrizozo was complicated after he left the bus at Santa Rosa and caught a ride into Corona. There it was learned he would have several hours wait before the train left for Carrizozo, and young Bell tried to hire someone to take him to Carrizozo, but was turned down for the reason Highway 54 is too rough for driving. One small boy bystander explained further that "nobody drives over 54 unless he gets lost." He was finally compelled to call his uncle, Herman E. Kelt, Carrizozo postmaster, who drove to Corona without informing Mrs. Bell. When he returned with his nephew, Bell walked into Kelt's home where a family dinner was being held and said "Happy Birthday Mother" to Mrs. Bell, who had not been expecting his arrival. Needless to say, she was overjoyed.

The naval man left Tuesday for Wortham, Tex., where he will be joined by his mother later in the month for a reunion with Mrs. Bell's other sons, Jesse and Alban Bell, and their families. At the expiration of his leave, Bell expects to be assigned to duty on the East Coast.

Bell, who has been in the Japanese and Korean areas for the past eight months, landed at Long Beach last week where the officers and crew of the "Mighty Mo" received a roaring welcome. They were entertained by the Long Beach Band; the San Diego Naval Training Center Band; and the El Toro Marine Band. A 15-gun salute from a saluting battery was another expression of welcome, and more than 100 top government and civilian leaders from the West Coast and Washington, D. C., were on hand. Other celebrations and gala affairs were held in Long Beach, Los Angeles and Hollywood in honor of the officers and crew of the ship.

Interesting facts about the USS Missouri indicate it is 633 feet in length; 103 feet wide; has 428,000 square feet of deck space; 300 miles of electric cable; contains over 900 electric motors; 90 miles of piping; six miles of fire hose; has four 53,000 horsepower main engines; eight 1250 KW turbo electric generators; can make 80,000 gallons of fresh water daily; more than 25,000 meals are served each week; 430,000 man days went into plan design; 3,300,000 man days went into construction; has complete hospital and dental facilities; has a uniform shop, tailor shop, barber shop, cobbler shop, bakery, laundry, soda fountain, post office, library, print shop, machine shop, electrical shop, welding shop, carpenter shop and plumbing shop; a complete dial telephone system throughout the entire ship; accommodations for more than 3,000 officers and enlisted personnel; religious services are conducted regularly; participates in various sports and athletic events.

Felipe T. Sedillo First Local War Casualty

The reported death of Pfc. Felipe Sedillo, 21, Tinnie, appears to have been the first fatality from Lincoln County in the Korean theater of action. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Sedillo, Tinnie, have been informed his death occurred on April 11 from wounds received in action while serving with Company E, 35th Infantry, U. S. Army. Sedillo, who had been in Korea for five months, was of the Catholic faith. He enlisted in the U. S. Army at Roswell in November, 1948, and was stationed at Fort Lewis, Wash., prior to being sent overseas.

The young soldier, who was born May 1, 1930, at Picocho, lived the greater part of his life in Tinnie and attended school there. Before entering the Army, he was engaged in farming.

In addition to his parents, the youth is survived by a sister, Nicky Sedillo, and two brothers, Abran and Cruz Sedillo of Tinnie.

Local Lions Host To Blind Students

A vastly different but highly entertaining program was that presented at the regular meeting of the local Lions Club Wednesday night when they were hosts at dinner to several students and three teachers from the Alamo-gordo School for the Blind, Alamo-gordo.

The students in a most natural and matter of fact manner at the close of the dinner hour told the Lions and their guests about the work and studies at the school and how they are helped to overcome the handicap of blindness. Some of the students are not totally blind and these are assisted to perform tasks that come naturally to those with normal sight.

The school stresses physical education, industrial arts and home economics courses, said Mrs. C. L. Bender, a supervisor at the Alamo-gordo institution, but the classical aspect is not overlooked although such studies are conducted along somewhat different lines from those in the public schools. Judging from the talks given by the students, they are enabled to receive a well rounded education since there is every conceivable kind of course offered. Mrs. Bender explained the adult education center at Alamo-gordo gives the students post graduate courses, and from the center they can go on to paid positions or establish their own shops.

Richard Edgar gave an interesting exhibition of Braille writing and reading as well as demonstrated the working of an arithmetic problem on a special device for that purpose. Young Edgar also told how they were taught music and played a series of piano selections ranging from classical to the popular tunes of the day. A number of exhibits showing the various articles produced at the school were on display, and as many of the group inspected the items, the blind pianist was prevailed upon by several individuals gathered around him to give an impromptu concert. Miss Gregorita Archuleta, another student at the school, joined him at the piano and entertained the group with several vocal selections.

Other students here for the occasion were Victor Rodriguez, Clorinda Garcia, Horace Flores as well as Mrs. Lucille Rogers, industrial arts and home economics teacher, and James Bogan, physical education instructor.

Carrizozo Lions and their guests were thunderous in their applause, and are hoping to have the athletic teams of the Alamo-gordo School for the Blind (who have achieved outstanding success) come here for some exhibition matches in the near future.

Dr. Quimby, superintendent of the Alamo-gordo school, arranged for the students' appearance at the local meeting.

Rainmaking Lecture Draws Small Crowd

Truman A. Spencer Jr., Carrizozo, vice president of the Water Resources Development Corporation, Denver, said this week only about 15 ranchers and several wives attended the lecture on increasing precipitation in New Mexico given by Mr. Cox, a representative of the Water Resources Development Corporation, Denver. The company is headed by Irving P. Krick.

Cox showed slides of pictures taken during the course of the company's experiments with ground "generators" and silver iodide and explained the purpose and goal of his organization. He explained his company believes the use of the iodide in ground generators is better than throwing it from an airplane from the viewpoint it presents a better target area.

Spencer said the turnout for the Carrizozo meeting was very disappointing in view of the fact that at the Alamo-gordo and Mountainair lectures, approximately 200 persons attended each one.

No figures have as yet been released on the production of precipitation claimed by the Denver company who at present is working under contract in the area.

FOUR LITTLE BUCKAROOS

Lincoln County Pioneer Succumbs In Roswell

Mrs. John W. Owen, 89, widow of a former Lincoln County sheriff who also served as a deputy sheriff at White Oaks, passed away at the Roswell home of her granddaughter, Mrs. Virgil Phillips, April 2. Mrs. Owen, who had been in ill health for several months, had appeared to be improving at the time of her death.

Funeral services were held April 6 at the Westrum Chapel in Roswell with Rev. J. H. Brister officiating. Members of the Calvary Baptist Church sang several hymns. Interment was at Corona where Mrs. Owen was laid to rest beside her late husband, George Rogers, Corona, who was in charge of the committal services there. Pallbearers were grandsons Roy, Elbert, Pat, Lloyd, Francis and Leroy Owen.

Surviving are three sons, Omer E. Owen, Roswell; Will E. Owen, Turkey Ford, Okla.; Paul R. Owen of Albuquerque, and a daughter, Mrs. G. C. Brown, Corona. In addition, Mrs. Owen is survived by 17 grandchildren, 37 great-grandchildren and 114 great-great-grandchildren.

The deceased, who was born in Madison County, Ky., June 30, 1862, moved with her family to Missouri as a small child. On December 19, 1879, she married John William Owen in Hallsville, Mo., and the young couple came to New Mexico in 1880 where they engaged in ranching near Corona.

The late Mr. Owen served as deputy sheriff at White Oaks and as sheriff of Lincoln County for several years. They sold their ranch in 1931, and established a rooming house in Corona. After the death of Mr. Owen in 1933, Mrs. Owen operated the rooming house by herself until 1933 when she sold it. Since then she had made her home with her daughter, Mrs. G. C. Brown, in Corona, the major portion of the time. Mrs. Owen had also spent part of her time with her sons, Omer E. Owen of Roswell and Paul E. Owen of Albuquerque.

Mrs. Owen was a member of the Baptist Church and was active in church work in White Oaks for years before moving to Corona.

Girl Scouts On Hike

The Carrizozo Intermediate Girl Scout troop with the Brownies hiked to the Bar W ranch near here last Saturday. The intermediates laid trails for the Brownies to follow. Each Scout took a box lunch with her, and, as part of the requirements for obtaining their badges in cookery, everyone explained the details in connection with the preparation of the individual lunch boxes. While at the ranch, both groups cooperated in the painting of the Scout hut which is located there. The Scout colors of green and brown were used in the interior decoration work.

The intermediates supplemented the funds in their treasury by distributing circulars for the local Lions Club.

At this week's regular meeting, the two groups formulated plans for their tea on April 12 at the home of Mrs. George Zimmerman to honor their mothers in a pre-Mother's Day celebration.

National President Flies To Local '54' Conclave

Joe Ross, national president of Highway 54 Association, flew to Carrizozo Tuesday from Meade, Kan., to attend the New Mexico state convention. He was accompanied by his pilot, H. E. Hartshorn, and co-pilot, Ed Nuss, both from the Kansas city. The Carrizozo Country Club was the locale for the meeting which was attended by 59 members and guests.

New officers of the state association for the coming year are Herbert Bays, Alamo-gordo, president; A. J. Zimmerman, vice president; and Dan King, Tulare, secretary-treasurer. Roy Shafer was re-elected vice president for the Carrizozo group.

Ross outlined work done by the national association in behalf of Highway 54 and a general discussion brought out the fact it is strategically located for use as a military highway, and is recognized by several military authorities. It was disclosed General Charles G. Sage, director of the state department of civilian defense, at a meeting early this year of members of the newly appointed highway commission and a group of New Mexico citizens who were requesting prompt completion of Highway 54, told the group the necessity for the use of this road by the military during peace times, as well as its extreme importance in case of attack.

It was also revealed at the local convention a number of New Mexico towns, although not located on Highway 54, are beginning to take cognizance the road plays an important part in their future. Evidently, even the Duke City is at last aware Highway 54 constitutes an integral part in the future progress of the state as, apparently, it has indicated a willingness to go along with those interested in the entire completion of the road. It appears that city now realizes it is daily losing tourists to other states as a result of that unpaved stretch of Highway 54, the major portion of which is located in Lincoln County. It seems many tourists who are directed into other states as a result of this hazardous section of Highway 54 don't take the trouble to eventually reach Albuquerque by other roads, which in turn costs it many thousands of tourist dollars.

Green Tree Votes For Disincorporation

The dispute which arose in Green Tree as an aftermath of a bond issue voted to build a water works system there was apparently settled at Saturday's election when residents of that village voted to disincorporate.

Unofficial returns gave the vote as 69-59 in favor of disincorporation. One faction of the town's population had expressed the opinion the extra taxes involved in the proposed water system, together with the increased property valuations as a result of the Dee Donnell survey, would impose burdensome payments for the taxpayers in Green Tree.

The vote to disincorporate will necessitate that the county commissioners appoint someone to take charge of the city property until it can be liquidated.

Irate Citizens Demand Road Construction

Joint Installation Held By Capitan Veterans

By L. D. FISH, Commander
Norton Pepper Post No. 7688, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and its auxiliary, held a double installation ceremony in an open meeting Sunday afternoon, April 15, in the VFW Home at Capitan. Manuel Armijo, department commander, was the installing officer for the post officers.

Mrs. Omega Erlacoe, department president of the auxiliary, installed the auxiliary officers. The dignified and impressive ceremony took place immediately after a fine dinner provided by the ladies auxiliary of the local post.

The outgoing commander called the meeting to order at 3 P. M., the installing officers took their places at the speakers' stand and proceeded with the ceremony of installing Rayford Burnett as post commander and Mrs. Jackie Burnett as president of the auxiliary. Their subordinate officers were duly sworn in and charged with their duties and obligations as officers in the organization. The entire proceeding went along as if it had been carefully rehearsed for weeks; it had not been rehearsed at all.

Both Commander and Mrs. Burnett have been active in VFW affairs for years. Commander Burnett was one of the first two men who established the local post and later became the department senior vice commander. A record number of visitors was present at the ceremony. Usually there are a few people from outside the immediate jurisdiction of the post who come to watch installations, but this time there were far more than ever before. That fact alone attests to the popularity of the new officers.

The following people who are prominent in veterans' affairs attended: Roger Schenck, Ruidoso, department chairman of the committee on merchant marines; Mr. and Mrs. Sawyer, Carlsbad (Mr. Sawyer is commander of his local DAV post); Judson E. Harris and Mrs. Harris, Alamo-gordo (Harris is quartermaster of Post No. 7688 in Alamo-gordo); Mr. and Mrs. John W. Skaggs, Alamo-gordo (Skaggs is senior vice commander of Post No. 7686 and has been in VFW 17 years. Mrs. Skaggs is president of the ladies auxiliary to Post No. 7686 and has been an active member 15 years); Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Hord, Carlsbad (Hord, a past commander).

Nelda Gay Roberts On Pueblo Radio Program

Miss Nelda Gay Roberts, daughter of Marvin H. Roberts, local Ford dealer, is one of Four Little Buckaroos, a radio program which is being broadcast from Station KGHF in Pueblo, Colo., during the month of April. The program may be heard at 7:30 P. M. each Monday-1950 on your dial. Others in the quartet include Robert and Pauline Vannest and Larry Ellifitt.

Miss Roberts, who attends Pleasant View school in Pueblo, has been singing with the quartet for about eight months. The group specializes in western novelty tunes and has appeared before numerous civic, fraternal and charitable organizations.

Their program on the Pueblo station is reported by Pueblo officials as meeting with considerable success, and they are receiving fan mail. At a rehearsal on March 2, the radio announcer told them "Boy, you kids are really good. I'd like to have 15 per cent of you for the next 20 years." The quartet was scheduled to have an audition but after this rehearsal, the station officials decided it was unnecessary. Each member of the group is paid a small fee by Station KGHF.

A cousin of Miss Roberts, Miss Gwyn Willingham, El Paso, reports she has heard the program there.

Mrs. E. L. (Bill) Mendenhall, a former Carrizozo resident now residing in Pueblo, is Miss Roberts' piano teacher.

An aftermath of the burning of the bridges on the White Oaks road Friday afternoon occurred this week when an irate group of residents of that one-time thriving community descended on the county commissioners at Carrizozo to demand immediate action and ask what had happened to the appropriation which they said had previously been approved for work on the White Oaks road.

Three men were picked up on suspicion last week in connection with the burning of the bridges, but no charges were filed and three men are free on "appearance" bonds. At press time, no charges had been filed.

Residents of White Oaks, charging "politics," insist the road situation caused by the complete destruction of several bridges, is now so dangerous they can no longer brook further delay. They told the commissioners it was necessary to drive the school bus over that road to take the children of the community to the Carrizozo schools. Residents of that village have long been fearful the ramshackle bridges, some of them over culverts six to eight feet deep, might someday collapse and cause a mass funeral.

Commissioner Corbin Heater was asked if it were true he had attended a meeting late last year at which Burton Dwyre, state highway engineer, told a group from Lincoln County a certain portion of a reported sum of $192,000 had been approved for work on the White Oaks road. Heater said it was true, but that at a later meeting in January of this year, Dwyre told the present county commissioner the Federal Bureau of Roads had disappeared the allocation for the White Oaks construction. Further questioning of the commissioner disclosed they had not asked Dwyre the reason for the disappearance by the Federal Bureau of Roads, but, only, in what other part of Lincoln County could the money be used. They revealed a preliminary survey has been completed in connection with a bridge to be built in another section of the county upon which they are waiting for the approval of Dwyre and the Federal Bureau of Roads. They explained the proposed bridge was to be built over a deep culvert that, when filled with water, is especially hazardous for residents of the vicinity, as well as a school bus which carries as many as 40 or more children at one time.

A representative of the News-Outlook made the trip to White Oaks Wednesday afternoon to get first hand information concerning the road and bridges. Several of the bridges are completely destroyed, and others should probably be considered passable at the individual's risk. The road, if it can be dignified by that name, is for the most part an up-hill, down-hill mass of sharp rocks where a front seat passenger in a motor vehicle takes a tight grip and hangs on for dear life to prevent being catapulted through the windshield. Make-shift by-passes have been dug out around the burned out bridges as well as other ramshackle ones for the motorist who does not want to take his life in his own hands by traveling over them. Even a little rainfall or snow would make the negotiation of these by-passes a hazardous task.

No road blocks were erected until Monday morning when residents of White Oaks put up temporary ones to save the unwary motorist from injury or possible death. A number of the more hardy tourists venture over the road every year to view the historical and picturesque old mining town. In fact, so interested are tourists in the village that

ARIZONA VISITORS

Mr. and Mrs. Dee McDaniel visited in Tucson and Phoenix this week. While in Tucson, they were the guests of the V. O. Elkins and their daughter, Mrs. Charles A. Snow Jr. Mrs. Snow is the daughter-in-law of the late A. A. Snow Sr. of Carrizozo, and the Junior Mrs. Snow is making her home with her parents while her husband is stationed in Japan.

WEEKEND GUESTS

Dr. and Mrs. Ollie Fischer, Holbrook, Ariz., and two children were weekend guests of the George Zimmermanns. Mrs. Fischer was Mrs. Zimmermann's roommate when they attended St. Xavier College in Chicago.

TINNIE

By RUBY ALLEN

Nice, sunny weather prevails over the Hondo Valley, with the nip of frosts at night not too much, we hope, for the new fruit crop.

Fermin Trujillo was home visiting his family over the weekend. He is working in Carrizozo.

Herb Hodges and family came by at 4 A. M. Sunday morning and got Mollie Allen to go with them to visit Johnny Hodges. They returned Sunday evening, and reported that Johnny's condition is much improved.

Word has been received from J. C. Tiffin who is in the Navy. He is with the USS Albuquerque and writes from Hong Kong. He is doing fine, and judging from the picture he sent, he is looking as well.

The Hondo Valley Union High School held its regular PTA meeting Tuesday night of last week.

New officers for the coming year were installed with a very beautiful installation service given by Mrs. Carl Badcliff. The officers elected were Mrs. Ruby Allen, president; Mrs. R. C. Nantz, vice president; Mrs. Monroe George, secretary; Mr. Shotts, treasurer, and Mrs. R. R. Douglass, historian. An interesting feature was the showing of Mrs. Douglass' scrapbook which she has kept up-to-date from the very first meeting of the Hondo High school. She has clippings, pictures and has highlighted it with her own artistic illustrations. Mr. Montes has made the statement he didn't know he had an art teacher right there in school.

The Cecil Greens came out Sunday and visited the Purcellas, Allens and Butts.

The Allen family moved (with the help of their neighbor, Tom Rigaby's truck, and the lifting being done by George Butts, Cecil Green and son John Allen) Sunday. Can't get this extra help any other day of the week. We are still in the valley, though, about a quarter of a mile on down the road, where Mrs. Marla Chavez used to live. I hope to get straightened out by the new term of school in the fall.

John Oldham has returned to his station to continue his service in the marines. We enjoyed getting to see him again, and also John Sanderfer who was home a few days from the Air Force. Both boys are doing fine in their work.

Walter Richard Allen writes from Lackland Air Force Base that he eats all the time and can't get enough, and is enjoying getting to go to school, taking courses in mathematics, citizenship, etc., along with some rigid training as well.

Several teachers from the valley attended the district teachers meeting in Socorro last Friday, and report a very interesting meeting.

Mrs. Onoy Hamond and daughter, Virginia, went to White Sands Play Day.

Mrs. O. O. Hopo and son, Theodore, were visitors in Tinnie Sunday.

Ambrose Guest and Will Latham were in Tatum on business Sunday.

OPENS SERVICE STATION

Announcement was made this week that Vincent Reil, Carrizozo, has taken over the ownership of the Texaco Service Station here which has been closed for sometime.

Mr. Reil stated Wayland Hill, Carrizozo, has been appointed as manager of the station which is handling Texaco Company products. He added it will operate as a general service station, including the washing and lubrication of motor vehicles.

Meeting Each Tuesday Night

LINCOLN

By MRS. J. E. PHILLIPS

The Lincoln Girl Scouts presented a Negro minstrel show at the school house Friday evening, April 6. There was a large attendance and everyone enjoyed it immensely. We wish to thank everyone who came and helped make it a success. Mrs. Jeff Dockray and Mrs. Barbara Armstrong did a wonderful job planning and coaching it and our teachers cooperated wonderfully. Inasmuch as it was a great success financially, the girls will soon be wearing new uniforms.

The talent show put on by the FFA club members in Captain had such an array of talent that our girls felt greatly honored to receive first prize for songs and dances presented from their minstrel.

Several from the Lincoln community attended the fiesta at Hondo. Too bad for anyone to miss it. It was great.

The Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts are meeting each Tuesday evening to practice square dancing under the direction of the teachers and Scout leaders.

Helen and Stanley Ramey visited their grandmother, Mrs. Annie Ramey. Also Jon, Alfred and Wilma Whitlock visited with their grandmother, Mrs. A. L. Hulbert.

Other weekend visitors in Lincoln included Ruth Penfield and a friend from El Paso; Orland Sanchez of Fort Bliss and Rose Salas from Roswell.

The Christobal Zamoras went to Roswell Saturday, shopping, I guess.

Mrs. Madama Salas, Padilla and Boyd attended a teachers' convention in Socorro Friday.

Ray Taylor is drilling a number of wells at Espanola.

CAPTAN

By ANN EARLING

Don't forget to attend the senior play tonight (Friday) at the high school at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. Helen Meeks has recently returned from Alamogordo where she attended the wedding of her daughter, Ruth Eleanor Meeks. On March 30 Ruth Eleanor became the bride of Leon Max Lane of Alamogordo.

Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Travis Werner the past weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Werner and children of Albuquerque and Mrs. Rex Werner and children of Carrizozo.

Mrs. Roy Morgan was host to the Thursday Bridge Club on Friday, April 13. High score was held by Mrs. Bill Humphries and low by Mrs. Jack Earling.

Mrs. Fred Bradford and Mrs. Peg Pillingsten attended the wedding of Miss Adeline Painter and W. E. Hugen held in Alamogordo on Sunday, April 15. Miss Painter is a niece of Mrs. Bradford.

The Tuesday Sewing Club held its luncheon and sewing bee at the home of Mrs. LeRoy McKnight. Fourteen ladies were present.

Mrs. Ben Leslie Sr. and her two daughters, Mrs. Kent and Mrs. MacMillan, arrived home on Wednesday of last week from Rochester, Minn.

The senior girls banquet, sponsored by the Captain Woman's Club, will be held on Friday, May 4. Banquet chairman, Mrs. LeRoy McKnight, would appreciate having your reservation early.

The children of the Ancho School visited in Carrizozo recently. They went to the Gila Art Products building to see how the ashtrays, center pieces and bric-a-bac are made. The whole process just fascinated them all. Mr. King was very kind explaining every process and answering all questions.

Next they visited the News-Outlook office where the business of composing and publishing a newspaper was explained to them by Mr. Kinnard.

At the courthouse they saw where the official business of their school is administered. Mrs. Samelson arranged for them to see the courthouse, also, and the jail. Each child decided he had seen enough of the jail on this one visit and was very happy to be able to walk out with his freedom intact.

Charles Hobbs is a patient at the hospital in Fort Stanton. Mrs. Hobbs and little Steve are visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wedell, until Mr. Hobbs is able to be out again.

The Cowboy Supper held recently was a huge success both socially and financially. Mr. and Mrs. Earl and young daughter of the Forest Service at Capitan ate supper with us and Mr. Earl showed us a film, "Gifts of the Forest," and a short on "Smoky the Bear." Everyone enjoyed both.

UNSURPASSED in the 1/2- to 2-ton truck field!

TALK about power! These great new GMC's are unsurpassed in horsepower in the 1/2- to 2-ton field—power to keep hauling years longer! But new engines are only part of the story. From the rims up, these GMC's are truck-engineered to stay young throughout the uncertain years ahead. You get proof in feature after feature from individual models—things like wider Twin-Action hydraulic brakes, heavier axles and longer "pillow-action" springs.

Yet extra quality is standard GMC equipment. You pay no "extras" for such things as easy-turn steering with recirculating ball-bearing action, the Ventipane-controlled ventilation of the Weathersealed "Six-Footer" Cab—Turbo-Top pistons that develop higher power without "knock" even when using standard-grade gasoline!

So come in. Select from the widest range of engine-body-chassis combinations, 9 smart new colors. Drive out in a rugged '51 GMC! You'll know it will take you farther, cost less to run—because it's built to last like the big ones!

Get a real truck!

Dr. and Mrs. Kopping left last weekend for Mexico City and, I have been told, they plan to go on to Acapulco. He is spending a well-earned vacation in an ideal fashion.

Took part of my family to White Sands last Saturday—play day. Gets very warm there around noon. Several from here went, too.

Mrs. Nellie Smith had as her guest Mrs. Edith Mishoe. Mrs. Mishoe has retired from the nursing service and has gone on to Columbia, S. C. Last Sunday several of the nurses here gave her a picnic at White Sands.

Stopped in to see Charlie Reed. He was playing a chess game with Toohey. Usually there are lots of puns passed between Charlie and me, but we couldn't think up anything.

Glenn returned from a few days vacation from "the sack." Jean Sanchez came home for the weekend from Hotel Dieu. I didn't see her—but her mother told me she is still doing well in her training.

Mr. Sanchez (Carolina to all of us) says she is feeling better now than she has for some time. She told me she had a letter from Alred and that he has received another promotion. He is a petty officer second class as a result of a test taken last January. Only a parent can understand the good feeling that comes from such news as that.

Mary Anne Cox was home for the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Bible of Dexter were visitors at Ray Baker's home over the weekend. Mrs. Bible is Ray's sister.

The "Drawbridge Club" met at Adolph Wilson's home last Friday night.

You should see the things Albert Pearl is making out of seashells. He is a recognized artist in the work, but has gone into some new designs. His work is on display at the Craft Shop here and is worth seeing.

Several patients here have told me they greatly appreciate the efforts on the part of the editors to get the papers here.

The absent minded school teacher got Wednesday confused with Thursday, or Thursday with Wednesday—or something and didn't get the news in last week's paper. Moral: Never try to be a reporter and a school teacher.

Thursday evening Mrs. Elbert Brown of Coyote and Carrizozo dined with the Roy Wedells at Luna. A session of canasta and large and small talk completed the very enjoyable evening.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Lightfoot and family spent the weekend visiting in Mosquero. Wayman's mother, Mrs. Carter, visited here with them an evening or two before they left.

Mrs. P. A. Stidham and Theima Lo have gone to Arizona to be with Mrs. Stidham's other daughter who is not well. Let's all remember that Mr. Stidham and Sammy are batching.

Mrs. Jackie Silvers and her sister, Reba, are back from El Paso where Reba was undergoing treatment. Jackie reports that Monkey (Reba to you) seems to be somewhat improved by her stay.

The Square Dance Club held its regular jamboree Saturday night. So far as we know, there was no unusual excitement except a round of fistcuffs between two of the very small fry. Otherwise, the usual concord and enjoyment prevailed.

The bus drivers, Mr. and Mrs. Levene Snodgrass, and the teacher, Mrs. Wedell, attended the district meeting of the NMEA held in Socorro Friday. Mr. Snodgrass had charge of the bus drivers' section of the meeting and did a very commendable job. The meeting as a whole was very apropos and very ably handled by the Socorro group.

I wonder why more townspeople don't attend some of these meetings to get an idea of what goes on in their schools and familiarize themselves with the intricate and dead serious workings in the "innards" of the public school system.

Saturday the Snodgrass family—Levene Katie and Butch—and the Wedell family, Janie, Sam and their guest, Edwin Hobbs of Bayard, combined business with pleasure in a trip to Alamogordo and the White Sands.

Such a mob! Even the expanse of the sands did not succeed in dwarfing the crowd completely.

Charles Hobbs Jr. has been dismissed from Fort Stanton Hospital and has gone home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hobbs of Bayard, for a period of recuperation. We don't mind that so much but they took Steve. Now we rattle around in the house.

Roy Wedell Jr. has reported to Albuquerque for physical examination preparatory to induction into the armed services.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Hobbs and sons, Edwin and Bobby, of Bayard, visited in Ancho the past weekend. Edwin attended the square dance with the Janie and Sam Wedells.

NOGAL MESA

Sonny Luck started work as lookout on Monjeau Sunday, April 15. This is the eleventh fire season he has been employed as lookout for the White Mountain district. Drive up the mountain some nice sunny day and let him identify points of interest in one of the most beautiful views in the world.

Gilbert Snell of Nogal replaced Sonny on the Forest Service trail crew. He and Virgil Jones will continue to clear the horse and foot trails into the high country.

I am grateful to the Highway Department for keeping our dirt roads in such good shape, but it's always a relief to have the blade pass beyond my driving area. I never know on which side of the mound of dirt it pushes up to drive.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Merrill of Fort Stanton visited the Paul Jones Sunday.

Mrs. Henry Peebles' mother, Mrs. Hicks, arrived Saturday to spend the summer on the Mesa. Her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Bert Hicks, drove her up from El Paso.

The William Fergusons are still in California where they have been visiting for two months.

Despite the signs, dozens of cars stop each weekend at the ranger station to inquire the way to Nogal Lake. Sunday the lake was lined with the largest group of anglers this year. I hope they weren't all lucky.

Mrs. Leota Pfingsten won a top honor in the Capitan talent show last week. Her rendition of the song, "The Mocking Bird Hill," was not only good listening, but beautiful to see.

Mrs. Pfingsten accompanied Mrs. Hazel Perry to Socorro Friday, attended Play Day at White Sands Saturday, and the wedding of Miss Adeline Painter to William Huggan.

Peg Pfingsten is at work on the Indian reservation mending windmills. He's been bragging about the good care of his female dog. Every time she has presented him with a litter of pups, he does away with all but one male. This time, Peg claims, she was smart enough to produce just one male pup, and save him lots of trouble.

Legion Auxiliary State President To Visit Here

The official visit in Carrizozo of Mrs. Doris Paton, Artesia, state president of the American Legion Auxiliary, is scheduled for Saturday night, April 21.

Hondo High To Present Band Concert April 23

The first concert by the Hondo High School Band will be presented Monday, April 23, in the Hondo Gym at 7:30 P. M. The band, organized last September under the direction of Robert Lane, gave its first public performance early in December at the PTA meeting at Hondo High School. Since then it has appeared regularly in public. The concert and the commencement exercises next month will be the last performances of an extremely successful year for the band. It has performed at all home basketball games since the first of the year, and made three trips with the basketball team to Hagerman, Lake Arthur and Ruidoso. Besides performing at many school assemblies, the band played at the County Extension Club meeting and the County Teachers Association meeting. With an original enrollment of 10, the band now has grown to 20 members. It is noteworthy that after the first week, no member has dropped out of band except one who moved away. All support of the band concert next Monday will be greatly appreciated. Admission is 35 cents for adults, 25 cents for high school students and 15 cents for grade school students will be charged. Proceeds will go into the band instruments fund. Members of the Hondo High School Band are Mollie Allen, Dorothy Chavez, Effie Fresquez, J. W. Gallagher, Sam Hale, James Kimbrell, Shirley Poindexter, Johnny Montes, Ray Taylor, Freddie Tittsworth, Lucia Hernandez, Marjio Tittsworth, Patricia Salcido, James Talley, Ginger Thomas, Arcilla Sanchez, Sammy Cole, Lila Nunez, Lucia Salcido and Onesimo Pudencio.

Rape Case Transferred To Otero County

The case of Doll Lee Jordan, Ruidoso theater manager charged with statutory rape involving a 14-year-old Ruidoso girl, scheduled for hearing at Carrizozo Friday, was transferred to Otero County April 12 (too late for last week's issue), when it was learned by police the alleged act had transpired in the adjoining county. Jordan waived preliminary hearing, according to reports, and his case was scheduled to be set this week for hearing at a later date in Alamogordo. Always clean all fertilizer out of your drill after using it, to prevent rusting and cementing of certain parts. A high pressure water spray is excellent for this purpose.

Large Crowd Attends Local Music Recital

A large crowd filled the local grade school auditorium Monday night for the annual spring presentation by music students of Mrs. Marby Burns. Attired in a white pique formal and wearing a corsage of red carnations presented by her students, Mrs. Burns received her guests as they entered the auditorium. Assisting in ushering the guests to seats were Misses Alma Eaker and Jo Ann Straley. Baskets and bowls of gladioli, roses and snapdragons artfully arranged on the stage made an attractive background for the colorful spring frocks worn by the feminine participants in the musical.

Probably the youngest student featured in Monday night's recital could barely reach the keys, who could hardly reach the keys, with the others, ranging from grade to high school students. The entire program was well presented with a number of the musicians displaying outstanding ability, and it is well within the realm of possibility that several of them may attain professional rating in the future. One would-be entertainer in the audience was the genial small son of the Cap Straleys of Ancho who wanted to sing with the musicians but was restrained by his parents. Much mirth was created among the audience also by the reaction of some of the male participants to good-natured heckling which apparently came from some small boys in the front rows.

Newcomers on the program from an instrument standpoint were violinist Mary Nickels and accordionist Barbara Jan Hurley who gave excellent performances. The recitals held annually by Mrs. Burns are eagerly anticipated by residents of Carrizozo and vicinity who know they will enjoy a most delightful evening of musical entertainment by talented performers. The following students participated in the recital: Jo Ann Straley, Alma Eaker, Bette Roe Miller, Jorilyn Gray, Joe Patti, Esther Straley, Marilyn Hurley, Verna Ruth Petty, Jonette Harkey, Clinton Duncan, Margaret Duncan, Opal McBrayer, Pat Vjgli, Barbara Jean Mixon, Elmer Shrum, Mary Nickels, Harry Rickerson, Jeff Morris, Carol Queen, Barbara Jan Hurley and Roberta Key and Bobby Rickerson. Accompanists included Mesdames Marby Burns, Winzell Rickerson, W. H. Nickels and Miss Roberta Key.

Junior-Senior Banquet And Prom Saturday

"The Sunbeams," a five-piece Negro orchestra from Hobbs, will play for the annual Carrizozo junior-senior prom Saturday night at the school gymnasium. The grand march and crowning ceremonies for the prom queen will be held at 10:30. Candidates for prom queen are Lou Hyden, freshman; Jo Ann Straley, sophomore; Petra Vallojos, junior, and Norma Compton, senior. The successful candidate will not be announced until time for the crowning ceremonies. Dancing will begin at 9 o'clock and continue until 1 A. M. The banquet will be served at 6 P. M. at the local Odd Fellows Hall by ladies of the Bee-Hive Club. Invitations have been extended to all juniors, seniors, public school faculty members, school board members and their wives, and the local ministers. Included on the program will be the welcome address by the junior class president, Richard Lopez, and a response by Norma Compton, senior class president. Elaine Shultz and Alton Lenard will entertain with a vocal duet. Prom invitations must be presented at the door. Plan for the future with U. S. Savings Bonds.

Apparently, some of them have taken away a number of "souvenirs." Residents report that in recent months a number of out-of-state cars have been in the vicinity, and by peculiar coincidence, several valuable antiques have been missing afterwards. As the News-Outlook representative returned to Carrizozo, a couple of state highway trucks were observed, and it is reported a state crew will erect the necessary road blocks and signals. It is also reported a grader is being sent to the scene. It appears this road has been a controversial subject for a number of years with "on again, off again, Finnegan" type of road fund allocations or a now you have it and now you don't series of statements from the State Highway Department. From remarks addressed to the commissioners by the incensed White Oaks residents it seems they have been told several times in the past 12 years money was available for the road work, but before construction could be started, the allocation would be suddenly removed. No one present at Wednesday's meeting could give a reason for the withdrawal of the funds, but all were in agreement none of it had ever reached Lincoln County.

Manuel Montoya, who underwent surgery in a Roswell hospital for a serious ulcer condition, is reported improving. Aurora Montoya was taken seriously ill last Friday morning, but is now improving. Her children are with her. The two-month old infant of Mr. and Mrs. Elio Gallegos succumbed suddenly early last week and interment was at San Patricio. He asked that all the members go along with him to make the post better than it has ever been before. Everyone knows that it is quite impossible to please everybody, but it is believed that whatever the local VFW post stands for will be made quite clear to everyone in the local community and that the post will make its presence felt during the coming year. FHA Talent Show Held In Capitan High School

By L. D. FISH Members of the Future Homemakers of America, Capitan High School, sponsored a talent show April 12 at the school. People came from all over the county to see the performers present their skills. The show was not limited to the FHA girls alone; several other organizations offered talent to help make the show an outstanding success. The Capitan FHA, under the capable supervision of Mrs. S. M. Cozzens, had been planning for weeks to produce a talent show for the entertainment of any and all who might wish to come to it. They finally came up with a program of 12 numbers and produced a show that would make any producer proud of his efforts. Miss Joy Miller was the emcee and Miss Anneece Yarbrough did the announcing. Two prizes were awarded for the best performances. The Lincoln Girl Scouts won first prize for their "Chattanooga Shoe Shine Boy" and "Oh, Baby." Second prize was won by Dora Peralta, Capitan High School student, who sang to her own accompaniment. Leota Pflingsten won honorable mention for her very clever arrangement of "Mocking Bird Hill."

No Bed of Roses

THERE ARE a few facts not brought out during the crime committee probe of the glamor girl of the underworld, Virginia Hill.

She became a runner for the underworld, carrying money between racketeers in different cities.

The underworld, which lives by a code of its own, knew every time Virginia had a large chunk of cash.

Railroad Strike Impasse

Only one issue has been holding up settlement of the long, bitter railroad strike—namely, the role of Presidential Assistant John Steelman as mediator.

One reason that labor won't accept Steelman is a secret memo that was intercepted from S. H. Fullam to B. B. Bryant, who is handling the strike negotiations for the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad.

Forrestal's Diary

The defense department has recently been urged to release the private diary of the late Secretary of Defense James Forrestal, and to that end an edited version was sent to the joint chiefs of staff for approval.

Some of the hot spots that caused the joint chiefs of staff to keep the diary suppressed are: Forrestal told how he came close to firing then Secretary of the Air Force Symington in the spring of 1948 for an unauthorized, pro-air force speech on the west coast.

Forrestal also complained of his troubles getting the three services to agree on war strategy—and a defense budget. Twice he appealed to General Marshall to support increases in the military budget.

Forrestal also wrote bitterly of his distrust of the French and British. The diary has now gone back to the custody of the President's naval aide, Rear Adm. Robert L. Denison.

Wherry Is Willing

General Senator Wherry of Nebraska secretly tried to launch a Wherry-for-President boom the other day. But it has boomeranged.

Wherry arranged to send a form letter to GOP national committee members recommending himself "as the party's presidential candidate."

The letter also included a copy of a speech, plugging Wherry, which was delivered at the Nebraska GOP convention by delegate George Tunison.

Slow Arms Shipments

Britain's new foreign minister, Herbert Morrison, has complained to the American embassy that U.S. arms are slow in arriving.

Morrison told Ambassador Walter Gifford, former head of American Telephone and Telegraph, that shipments are so far behind it is jeopardizing British plans.

Morrison also apologized that his first official contact since taking over as foreign minister had to do with a complaint.

SCANNING THE WEEK'S NEWS of Main Street and the World

Truman Says He Knows 1952 Plans; Research Group Urges Higher Taxes

CONFIDENT HARRY—Harry S. Truman, appearing "fat and sassy", as the home town folks would put it, was back in Washington after his three-week vacation in Florida for a round of activities which included greeting President Vincent Auriol of France, and a speech before Latin-American foreign ministers, meeting in Washington to discuss topics concerning western hemisphere peace and security.

But it wasn't confident Harry's speech making and social whirl that made the biggest headlines in the nation's press. It was his statement that he knew whether or not he would seek re-election in 1952 that threw Main Street voters into a surge of speculation.

Confident Harry will tell all in due time.

The statement also caused considerable speculation among professional politicians throughout the country, with the majority believing he won't run again.

One government official, however, backed his belief with a public statement. Michael J. Galvin, undersecretary of labor, said Truman will run and will be re-elected by 68 per cent of the popular vote.

CONSUMER SPENDING—If the Committee for Economic Development, a businessmen's private research group, had its way the people of the home towns of the nation would face a $10 billion tax increase next year.

The group recently proposed increasing federal taxes by that amount, including a federal sales tax. The program was frankly tailored to restraining consumer spending by the sales tax and higher excise taxes.

According to the C.E.D. the small town income group must pay because "it is these incomes that provide the largest part of consumption expenditures."

TWO YEARS OF DRIVE—Charles E. Wilson, top man of the administration's mobilization effort, in his first report said with two more years of drive and unity, the U. S. should be strong enough to give "reasonable safety against aggression" and a high-level civilian economy at the same time.

For the average American in the home towns of the nation, Wilson listed these necessary efforts: (1) Virtually every qualified young man, upon reaching a certain age, will have to serve in the armed forces; (2) everyone will have to pay more taxes; (3) people will have to wait for some of the things they want to buy—new housing and automobiles; (4) there will be dislocations in the economy and some production cutbacks and unemployment; (5) the technological and social progress of the nation will be slowed down.

Upon one point he was insistent: Inflation must be stopped and the economy controlled. In this category is farming, on which the Main Street of America directly or indirectly depends. He said careful attention must be given to changing the farm-price provisions of the Defense Production Act "in such a way as to accomplish a greater degree of stability in food prices and at the same time treat farmers equitably in relation to the other elements of the economy."

As for present price controls, he said: "There is no doubt that, if price controls had not been put on, prices would have risen much farther and faster since January than they actually have."

BRANNAN'S PLAN—The people of the great-midwest farm-belt were pondering the abrupt shake-up in the department of agriculture by Secretary Brannan. The speculation began when Brannan suddenly announced the replacement of Ralph S. Trigg and Frank K. Woolley in the powerful production and marketing administration.

The people of America's bread basket were wondering if the shake-up may mark the start of another campaign to sell the nation on the Brannan plan. The average midwest farmer has not been enthusiastic about the secretary's proposed program.

NEW SYSTEM—On April 30 grocery items comprising more than 60 per cent of the $32 billion spent annually for food in this country will go under rigid margin controls at wholesale and retail levels.

Michael V. DiSalle, director of price stabilization, who announced the new controls, reported the immediate "impact of these regulations will be to reduce prices," but he warned the Main Street housewife not to expect big reductions.

Among the major foods covered in the new regulations are butter, packaged cheese, baby foods, cocoa, breakfast cereals, coffee and tea, flour, flour mixes, canned and frozen fruits and vegetables, jams and jellies, lard, mayonnaise and salad dressings, shortenings, canned meats and canned fish.

Items not covered are fresh milk and cream, fresh meats, bread, fresh fruits and vegetables, sugar, ice cream, soft drinks and candy, along with many less important foods and "specialty" items.

JAPANESE TREATY—The 14 nations concerned with a peace treaty with Japan have received the American version worked out by Ambassador John Foster Dulles.

Generally regarded as a liberal document, the treaty appears in for considerable difficulties before being accepted by the 14 nations concerned. The Soviet Union has taken the position that it does not even want to discuss the matter.

Unexpected British opposition has already been encountered with Great Britain wanting a shipping limitation written into the treaty. The U. S. is opposed to any such clause.

As for the Soviet Union the U. S. has indicated it will negotiate a treaty whether the Russians participate or not.

CLAY RESIGNS—The resignation of Gen. Lucius D. Clay as special assistant to Charles E. Wilson, director of the office of defense mobilization, was viewed by many observers as another move on the government's part to bring organized labor back into the mobilization program.

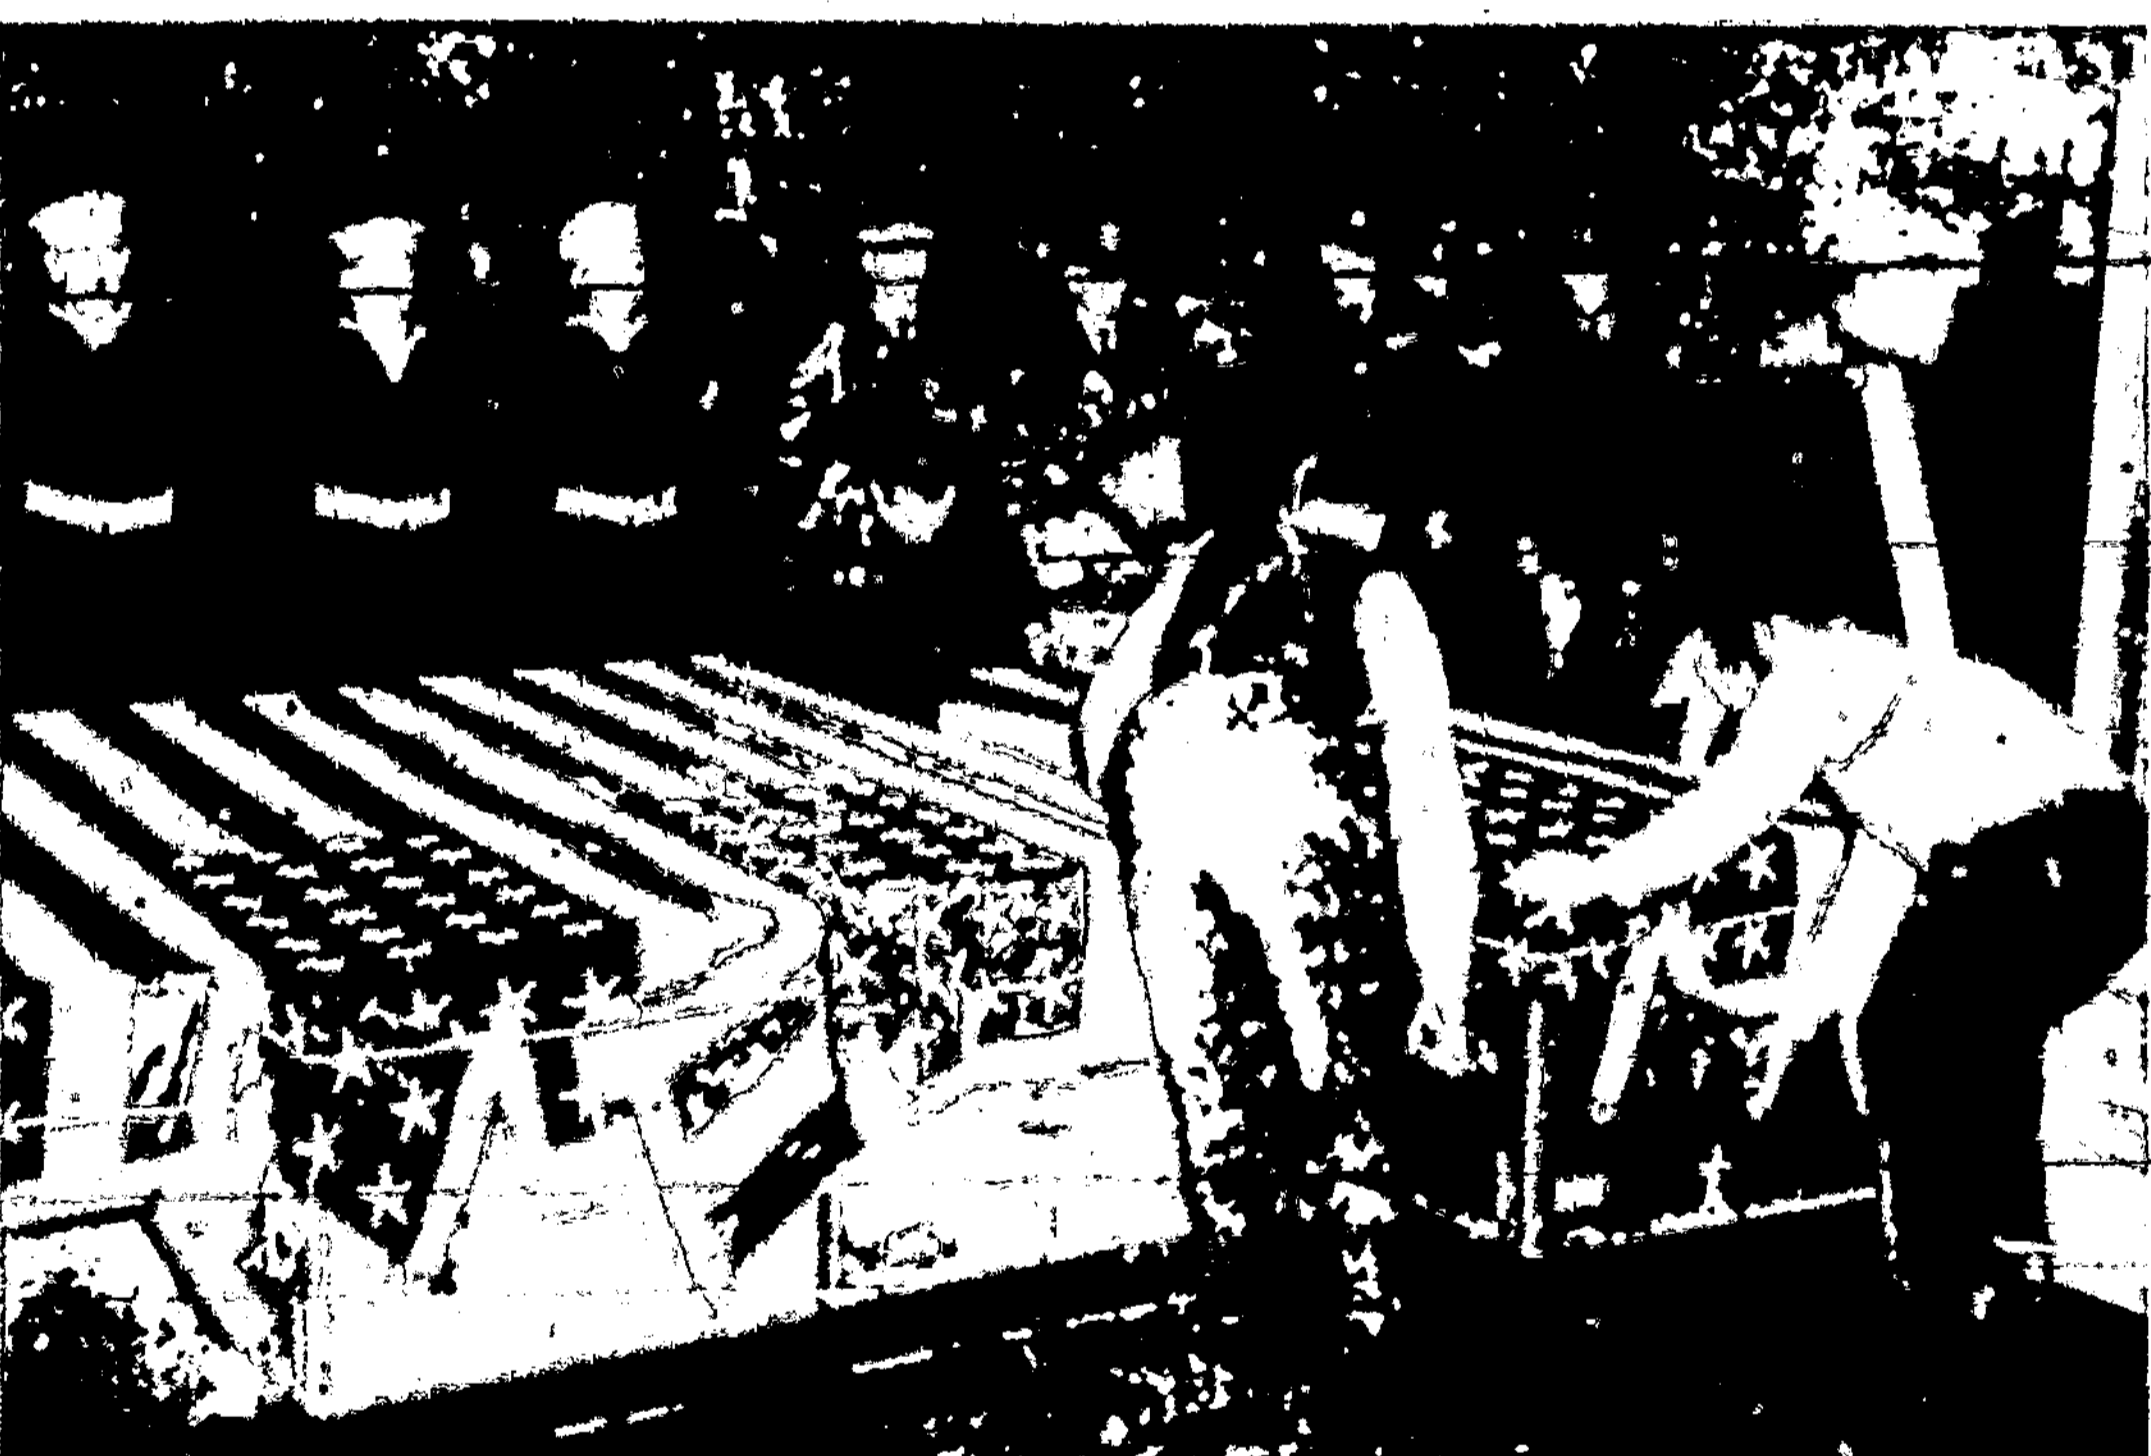

The way is now open for Wilson to name a representative of labor to a post of equal importance with that of the general to act as liaison between the mobilization director's office and organized labor.

THIRSTY LAND
California Canal Project Moves Water 500 Miles to Dry Farms

(This is the first of two articles on California's world-famous Central Valley project.)

A major milestone in civilized man's elemental urge to control and utilize the fresh waters of the earth will be observed in California from August 1 to 10 with the first full, integrated operation of the initial features of the vast Central Valley project.

This great federal reclamation project, first envisioned when the state still was largely wilderness, stores precious water at the northern tip of the state's central valley basin, and transports it to parched farm lands at the southern end, nearly 500 miles away. The great Central Valley is 500 miles long, 100 miles wide and supports 1 1/2 million people in its towns and on its farms.

To each of the communities along the river channels and project canals (towns like Red Bluff, population 7,000; Tracy, 4,000; Mendota, 700; Lindsay, 4,300; Walnut Creek, 1,500) the arrival of Central Valley water has special significance. Each one of them depends directly or indirectly on agriculture and related farm industries as its main source of income.

Of the 220 different crops grown on Central Valley farms, the principal ones are field crops—including alfalfa, irrigated pasture, sugar beets, beans, barley, cotton and rice; truck crops—including asparagus, tomatoes, melons and a variety of other vegetables; fruits and nuts, including grapes, peaches, plums, prunes, apricots, pears, figs, almonds, olives and oranges.

Practically all of these crops are grown under irrigation, except for some barley, almonds and beans. Over 90 per cent of the gross farm income of the valley is from irrigated crops. Although the production of livestock for slaughter and dairy products is very important, their present production is inadequate to meet local requirements.

ONE OF THE FIRST men to advocate a concrete suggestion for the solution of the area's water problem was Col. Robert B. Marshall, chief geographer for the U.S. geological survey. In 1921, when he first toured the inland basin, Colonel Marshall envisioned a great system of dams, canals and other works.

His plan was made public in 1919, and placed before the California legislature in 1921. There followed the "State Water Plan" of 1931, forerunner of the Central Valley project. After the people of California approved the plan, federal assistance was sought. In September, 1933, President Roosevelt allocated funds for the project under the Emergency Relief act.

Construction began October 19, 1937, under the direction of Walker H. Young, later chief engineer for the bureau of reclamation. Individual units of the project have been in partial operation since 1943, but to date the project's initial features have not been operated as an integrated system.

Government May Be Legally Right, Morally Wrong

By Wright A. Patterson
WHAT MAY BE MORALLY wrong may not necessarily be legally wrong. There was nothing illegal in a United States Senator's using his influence to secure a Reconstruction Finance Corporation loan for a client of his attorney son, for which the son received a fee of $21,000, but the senator's action was definitely morally wrong.

No court of law would convict him of legal wrong doing, but the court of public opinion—the voters—should be available of moral wrong. At the next election, when that senator is a candidate for reelection, and all others who have been mixed up in the R.F.C. scandals, regardless of political affiliations, they should be retired to private life.

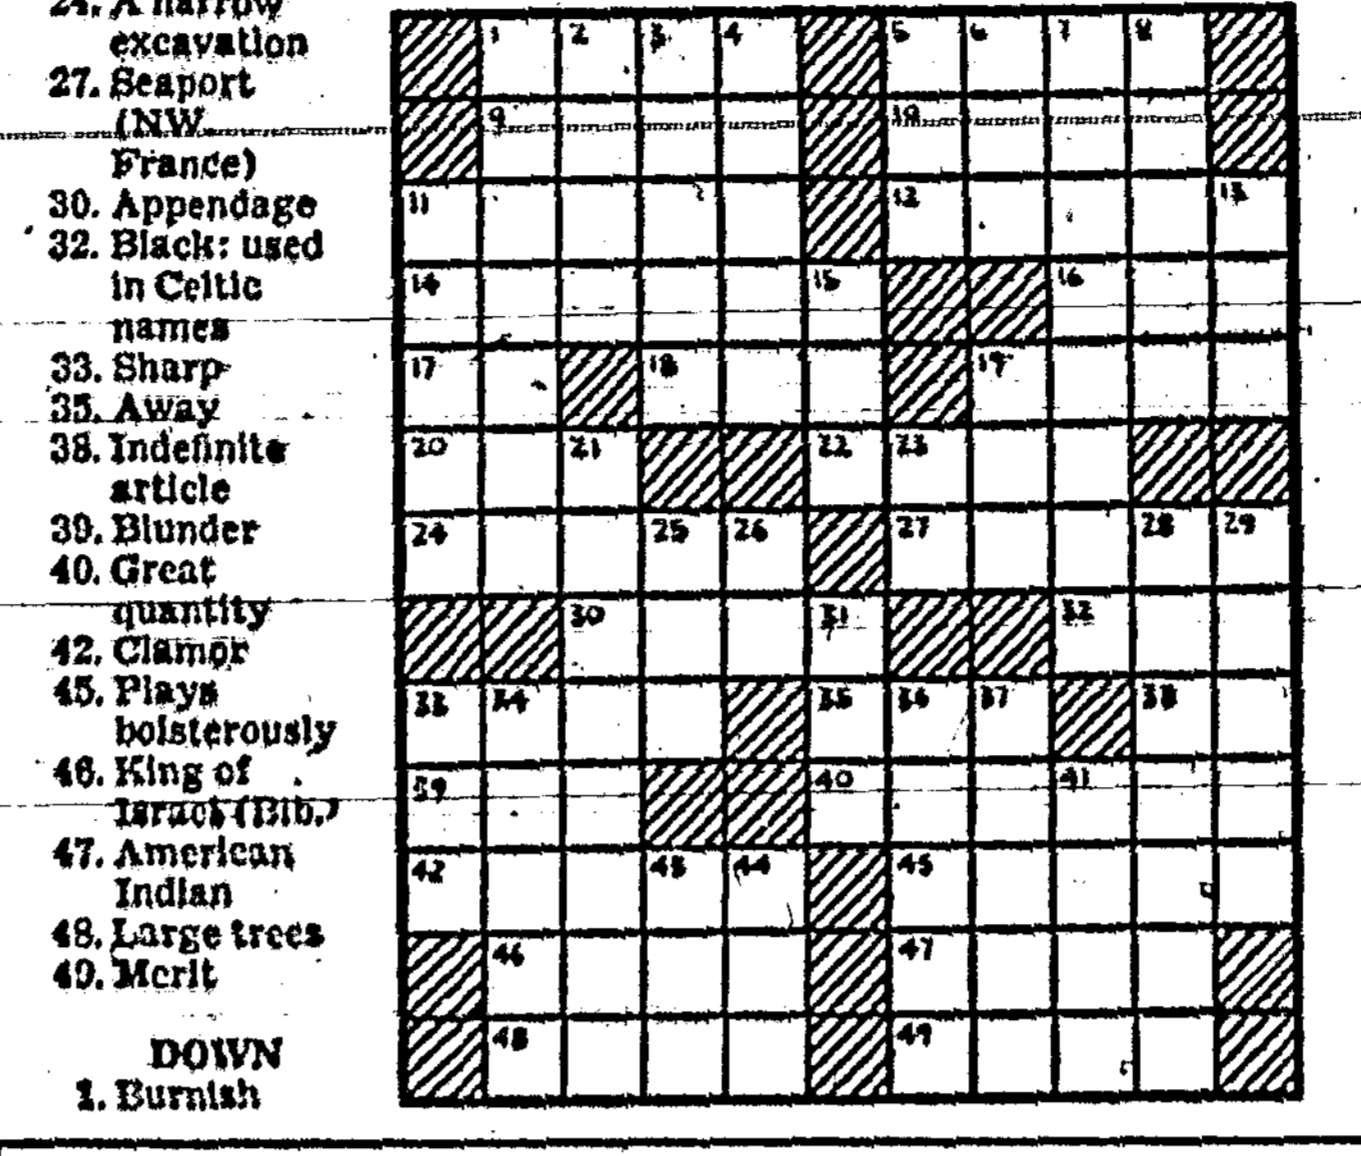

Such men should not be placed in positions of influence. They are not entitled to public confidence. The Fulbright committee brought these men into the limelight, but that committee cannot convict them as can the court of public opinion. Morally they are guilty as were those in the Harding administration, but they were smoother, and avoided legal wrong doing.

So long as they were only morally crooked the President condoned their actions, and sees nothing wrong in the action of those on White House payrolls, and finds no reason for dropping them as public employees. That is the job the voters can do, but to do that it may be necessary to meet

THE FICTION CORNER
A CASE FOR THE KIDS

By O. F. Lathrop

SAM BROMLEY replaced the telephone in its cradle with a clam and reached for his broad-brimmed felt.

"I'm going out on this case myself," he told the office girl. "That's the third call in an hour about those explosions and the deputation don't seem to be doing a thing. The pavement just blew up over a culvert and broke five windows in the Wright Hatchery near Canville."

He stomped out and got into his car. He had an uneasy feeling about these blasts and a very personal reason for investigating them himself. People in little towns all over the county had been calling for the last twenty-four hours. And his son, Tommy, was missing.

"I thought the Reeshians had bombed us," old Ben Grubbs in Claremont had said. "Busted the sidewalk over the creek like eggshells."

Sam drove to all the spots reported and inspected the damage. Sidewalks heaved up, windows shattered, but not a child. At the Sunville Hatchery he met his deputies.

"What do you make of it, Chorley? Could be Red sabotage, eh?" Sam shook his head. "Hoodlums, probably. Not any real damage done." But he didn't say what was in his mind—that it could even be kids' pranks.

He thought Tommy again of his own son, Tommy, and that crazy gang of his. Still, it didn't seem as if kids would go that far.

All day he drove around and at supper-time he went wearily home. Somehow the baked potatoes and ham didn't appeal to him. "Where's Tommy?" he demanded of his wife.

"He'll be coming later," Ida assured him. "He's all excited about those explosions. The fellow has been kidding him about his dad not stopping them. I'm sorry, Sam," she said, as he jumped up.

"Where was he last night?" he perorated. "Out all hours!" "Oh, just around, as he says. Studying at Ted's and they stopped for a hamburger at Joe's place. I've never seen him, Sam."

Tommy in here last night for a hamburger, Joe? he asked. "Yep, he was, Sam," Joe answered. Just then there was another low boom and a third. Sam nudged for the door. He tracked the sound by the crowd. And there he found Tommy and his gang hovering over a hole in the bridge.

As he came into the light, Sam saw dark rings around his son's eyes and smudges among the freckles. "I saw 'em, Dad. We've followed that old jology till we saw them stop by this creek, and we slipped up and watched. It was that wild bunch from Millville High. They had a great stunt—balloons filled with gas. They light the kerosene-soaked string and then beat it. And by the time the string burns up to the balloon they can be miles away."

Hobbyist Grows Pearls; Clams Used in Tests

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — Andrew C. Heckenkamp wouldn't believe that salt water oysters had a monopoly in the pearl growing industry, so he went to work. Now he and some Missouri clams are busy making pearls in big fresh water tanks in his basement.

He started the project back in 1944. He had a little knowledge of pearls and heard that some fresh water mussels had yielded gems of value. After consulting scientists he began his experiment with Missouri clams.

The pearls he has grown have real commercial value, he says, but he won't give details. The first experiments were on the Black River in the Missouri Ozarks. Heckenkamp and associates began the tedious task of agitating the clams—inserting sand-like particles under their shells.

First Tests Fail
This is done with an instrument similar to a hypodermic needle, the rough particle irritates the clam and causes it to emit a milky substance which cloaks the irritant and hardens into mother-of-pearl. He put in long hours on his Black River experiments, but they produced no results.

If the clam is forced open for an inspection it often dies. The problem was how to keep a watch on the pearl growth and keep the clam healthy. At the first Heckenkamp and his helpers coated the irritating particles with a lead type metal which would show up in rays. This proved ineffective. The clams quickly covered the metal or disposed of it.

At this point, Heckenkamp decided to move the clams into tanks in his basement so that he could keep closer watch. New techniques were developed. Heckenkamp finally learned just how and where to insert the irritant so that it wouldn't be expelled.

He says he has produced a number of pearls. Only recently he opened a clam that had lived undisturbed for more than four years in his aquarium. In it were four small pearls.

100 Clams at Work
"Now we know we can produce here," he observed. "The hobbyist of tomorrow will probably concentrate on shell fish. Think of producing a $1,000 or even $10,000 pearl in your parlor goldfish bowl."

Heckenkamp says it isn't the size, but the quality of the pearls which determine its value. He sends his pearls to a New York jeweler. Today Heckenkamp has about 100 clams in his basement and in outdoor tanks. The clams' diet is supplemented with occasional feedings of honey and brewers' yeast.

Heckenkamp likes the idea of clam pearls because they can be grown in shallow water where the harvest can be reaped without diving. Yes, perhaps even in goldfish bowls.

Pay for Shepherding Is Highest in History, Report
WASHINGTON, D.C. — There are plenty of jobs available these days for men who can live alone and like it while chaperoning thousands of strong-minded but misguided females.

For such a job applicants must have plenty of common sense, more than a little knowledge of psychology, and a capacity for endless walking. Their prospective charges are among the most unpredictable of their sex, behaving as they do in the sheep family.

Today the wages offered for shepherding are the highest in the occupation's long and colorful history—about $20 monthly and found (food and sleeping equipment). Yet a shortage of competent herders in the United States is so acute that late reports blame it for an "alarming" decrease in the nation's wool production.

In an attempt to remedy this deficiency, efforts are being made to bring to this country groups of the finest shepherders in the world, the Basques of northern Spain. They are reputed to have not only the necessary experience but even more important—the indispensable temperament for the job.

Vast School Outlay Needed, Citizens' Committee Says
WASHINGTON, D.C. — The Citizens Federal Committee on Education, an advisory group of the Federal Office of Education, estimated recently the nation will need more than $14,000,000,000 in new school construction in the next decade. The committee said there will be needed in the next 10 years:

270,000 more classrooms—with 30 pupils to the room—just to take care of the population increase. Estimated cost: $7,200,000,000. 150,000 more classrooms to replace all those firetraps and other school structures which should be abandoned. Cost: $4,050,000,000. 80,000 more classrooms in the reorganization of school districts. 40,000 more for anticipated 1,300,000 new enrollments in kindergarten and junior-collect programs.

"In other words, over the next 10 years we will need at least 50 per cent more classrooms than we have now," the committee said.

LIVING AND DINING rooms, hallways and kitchens usually have to please any number of individuals. First of all there's the whole family to please, and then the number of guests who will see them which varies from several close friends to any number, depending upon the family's social circle.

Successful bedrooms need please only their occupants. Children, for example, as soon as they have some definite ideas of their own that make sense, should be permitted to have a hand in decorating theirs. At least, if their interest runs to fishing poles or worm collections, you could give them a place for them in their own rooms.

Daughters frequently like wide flounces and ruffles to which mother may object because of the laundering problem. Let them lend a hand when this is necessary, and see whether tastes won't change.

Children frequently change their minds about things more readily if they have to live with their choices. They will grow and mature much more readily if you let them have their way on some aspects of decostrong indications against it. White or light gray shades will go with almost any type of decor.

Inexpensive Furniture Can Be Smart

Old chests, shelves, mattress mounted on box springs, comfortable chairs of uncertain vintage, can all go into today's bedroom and still be smart.

Modern bedrooms are so flexible that they can look hobby or playrooms, and still meet the standards of good taste. That's the reason for the great freedom in choice of furniture.

All manner of space-saving devices have been put in practice so you'll have room in the sleeping quarters for hobby interests. Footboards are disappearing, and so are the matching bedroom sets. You may use any type of bed. An odd mattress mounted on box springs with legs will take any type of headboard which can be decorated to match your taste.

In place of a single bulky chest you may have two chests mounted against the wall with a single large mirror.

You don't have to forego an easy chair in the bedroom. Have a chaise longue decorated to match the drapes or walls, or get an extra chair from the living room with a footstool for sheer comfort. The footstool can double as a seat for the dressing table.

Those who like the strictly old-fashioned bedroom with a tester bed, can make one easily enough by using a pine headboard, two tapered uprights nailed to the wall and a few feet of cornice molding. This makes for a good center of interest, and is an excellent idea for a bedroom where rest is to be the main feature.

Much Freedom Permitted In Choice of Rugs

Wall-to-wall or over-all carpeting is good for a bedroom just as it is in any other type of room, but budgets won't always allow it. In this case, find the largest type of throw rugs possible.

It's essential that sliding rugs be eliminated as much as possible in the bedroom because they're a hazard to safety. Non-skid pads, rings or other devices used with the rugs will cut down this feature.

Floral hooked rugs are popular in bedrooms; so are matching shag rugs. Sometimes you can buy several looped rugs, such as are used in bathrooms, and have them matched. In this case sew several of them together and you have the effect of a nice luxurious large rug.

Floors should be kept covered in winter as much as possible if heating is a problem, as rugs do make the room warmer with their insulation. In summer, however, the room may be practically bare, and it will look cooler, especially if it's on the sunny side of the house.

Here Are Tips On Treating Rooms

Guest rooms must frequently serve a double purpose. In many homes, they are usually the study. In this case, use a double seat sofa that converts into a bed, some low bookcases that will serve as a table when used as a guest room.

When bedrooms are small and must hold two people and serve also as a sitting room, use studio couches with matching covers. They may be placed on opposite walls, or corner to corner against two adjoining walls, depending upon the space available. In place of night or lamp table, use small chests which will give some storage space as well as the table top.

Bed and sitting room combinations for the teen-age set as well as male members of the family take to tailored bedrooms with studio couches.

Chintz, if a print is desired, is good to use in tailored rooms with sturdy cotton tweeds or plaids or the solid colors in herringbone or duck.

KATHLEEN NORRIS

Don't Let Your Campaign Show

SOME GIRLS are born with charm. They attract everyone who reach without much effort. Other girls—well, Olive Russell is one of the others. Olive is 23; she lives in Duluth.

"I'm just not attractive, and I know it," says her letter. "I've known it for about seven years. I'm sick and tired of struggling to make people—and especially men—like me, and yet I can't drop out of the world. I can't die, and sometimes it seems as if I simply couldn't live and be so unpopular, so left out of things."

"There's no use cataloguing what I have or what I haven't in the way of looks; I've got all my features in their usual places; I've got hair, I don't wear glasses, ear-drums, a wig or false teeth. My aunt, by the way, who is 45 and has all these disadvantages has just made a very prosperous second marriage."

"I dress nicely, I smile, I listen attentively to any man who happens to be near me. And without the slightest warning he gets up and walks away to another woman. No man asks me to go to dinner or the theatre, and if I ask a man to dine with my father and mother and me he may come, but he doesn't stay late, and the conversation in general for only about an hour after dinner if I tell a joke it falls flat. If I buy an expensive coat another girl in the office buys one for $20.00 and it looks just as well. If I propose a plan for a week end, everyone in the office has something else to do."

Left Out
"I tell you," continues Olive's letter, "it breaks you down to be always trying to push your way into good lines and normal love affairs and to be always left on the outside. My group—my old college group and present office group—is breaklem, and it isn't an unusual one. In every group of girls, in every school, there are a few who really do not attract young friendships and glide easily into young good times, for no discernable reason. Homelier girls, more stupid girls make their way—girls with spectacles, freckles, too much weight or too much height saunter about the campus with attentive admirers in tow, but girls in Olive's position appear to be under a malignant spell, and their cleverest efforts don't attract to them the beaux and the good times for which they hunger.

Often they try too hard, too obviously. Often that assumed merit, those plans, that careful listening are perfectly recognizable. And nothing—such is the hard cruelty of youth—nothing so isolates a girl as the suspicion that she is angling, strategizing, campaigning determinedly to be popular.

Olive, forget men. Of course you can't. But act exactly as if there were no men about. Don't flaunt your activities and assert that you really are so busy what with Red Cross and Spanish lessons.

Don't say anything at all. Drop out of the picture as you would if you had a delightful husband in the service overseas, and were improving yourself to be even more charming when he comes back.

Or if you don't like that idea, take it the other way. Say to yourself, "I am 23. At 33 I am going to make a really good marriage. I want my husband to have a cultured, gentle, happy busy woman for a wife; a real woman, fragrant and loving and ready for the supreme experiences of wifehood."

Quakers Oppose Loyalty Oath

Call Act Invasion Of Civil Liberties

SAN FRANCISCO — California's loyalty oath law drew criticism from the northern California regional office of the American Friends Service Committee here.

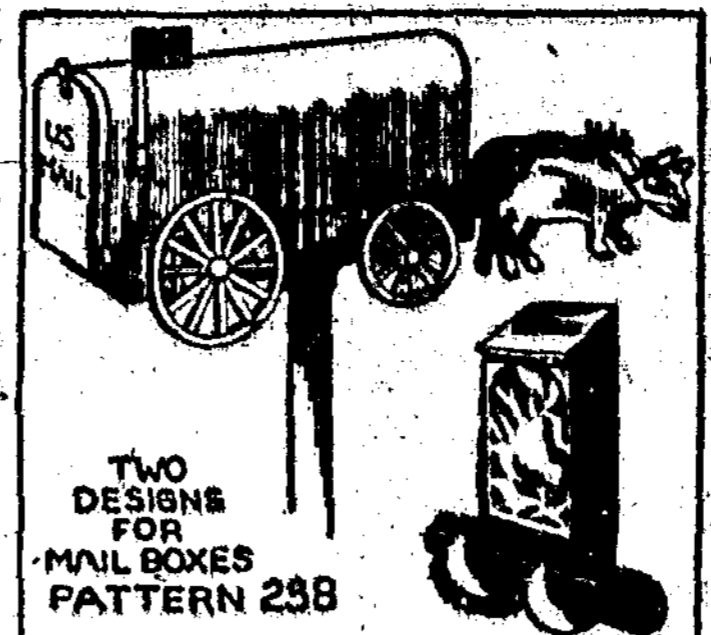

In a communication sent to all members of the California legislature, the Quaker group urged the prompt repeal of the Levering Act, which was passed last fall. The act was described as "a serious invasion by the state of the civil liberties of the individual citizen."

"We consider this invasion real and dangerous," the committee said. "It substitutes association in place of acts as a measure of loyalty; it commits the signer to future obedience to undefined orders without reserving to him the free exercise of his own moral judgment; it establishes a double standard of truth by requiring a special oath in addition to the customary oath of affirmation set forth in our state constitution."

Under the act, state, county and municipal employees must supplement any previous loyalty affirmations with a new oath stating that they do not seek the overthrow of the government, that they belong to no "subversive" groups. The law does not specifically define such groups.

The law also requires public employees to list all "subversive" groups to which they have belonged during the past five years, and it automatically makes all oath signers a part of the civilian defense organization.

Bedrooms can be interesting to you, if no one else, if they reflect your favorite colors, as well as your favorite interests. There really is no limit as to what type of hobbies the bedroom can show; sewing, patchwork quilts, hooked rugs, sketching, china collections, books or music.

Like any other room, if you have a theme around which to decorate, the job will be easier and more satisfactory. The room should hold together so that principles of unity are intact, and the effect should be pleasing, as you will spend much time in the room decorated to suit you.

Lighting Determines Color Scheme

Rooms on the shady side of the house will take lighter colors like the pastels so they can be lightened in their effect. You don't have to be afraid of the darker colors, if they're your preference when the room is on the sunny side of the house.

No matter what the color choice, be certain the color you've chosen is restful. If you have a favorite shade, you can usually obtain it in the lighter and darker shades and thus have both the color desired as well as the shade the room will take best.

Wallpapers for the bedroom are chosen with the same principles in mind. Several things will determine pattern. If the room is small, don't crowd it with a large figured paper. It may even be better to paper just one wall, like that behind the bed, if the room can't take much pattern. Sloping walls in a bedroom can be handled easily by extending

Malik Is Large Raw Exposed Nerve

By H. I. Phillips

("Malik Visits Dentist"—headline.)

Dentist.—Having trouble with your teeth?

Malik.—No.

Dentist.—What do you mean "no"?

Malik.—I never say yes to anything.

Dentist.—Open wider, please.

Malik.—I insist upon my right to be heard on that proposition first.

Dentist (somewhat puzzled).—Very well, go ahead.

Malik.—I wish to submit a resolution condemning you for cruelties in violation of the laws of humanity and I submit affidavits proving my extreme sufferings.

Dentist.—But I haven't touched you yet!

Malik.—That is absurd and false. The whole world knows I am bleeding.

Dentist.—I haven't even looked into your mouth.

Malik.—That amounts to a typical denial of the fact you have had spies and other secret agents looking into my mouth for months.

Dentist.—Look, do you wish dental attention from me or not? I don't have to treat you.

Malik.—Yes you do. It is on the agenda.

Dentist.—It is not on my agenda.

Malik.—It is on my agenda.

and that is all that is necessary, as is well known by all peoples.

Dentist (hopelessly).—Okay, open wider!

Malik.—Very well, but I reserve the right to speak further on that idea later.

Dentist.—Which tooth is aching?

Malik.—I suggest a postponement so I can consult my government.

Dentist.—Ah, I see a cavity. You have been neglecting your teeth.

Malik.—That is an unfriendly statement showing characteristic belligerence of the dental interests. A cavity is not proof of dental neglect. It can be a matter of policy.

Dentist.—Do you wish the tooth extracted or filled?

Malik.—Do do either without a complete statement of my position would constitute flagrant aggression.

Dentist (beside himself).—Listen, you came in here of your own accord for dental attention.

Malik.—That is a complete distortion of facts, as is well known. I came here for a haircut and shave, attracted by the sign on your door which reads "Busy Bee Lunch." I did not know until just now that you were a Wall Street psychiatrist. Now if you will be quiet I will look over your teeth and see what I can do for you.

Dentist.—But I'm the dentist, not you!

Malik.—Warmonger!

"... you sit unnoticed ..."

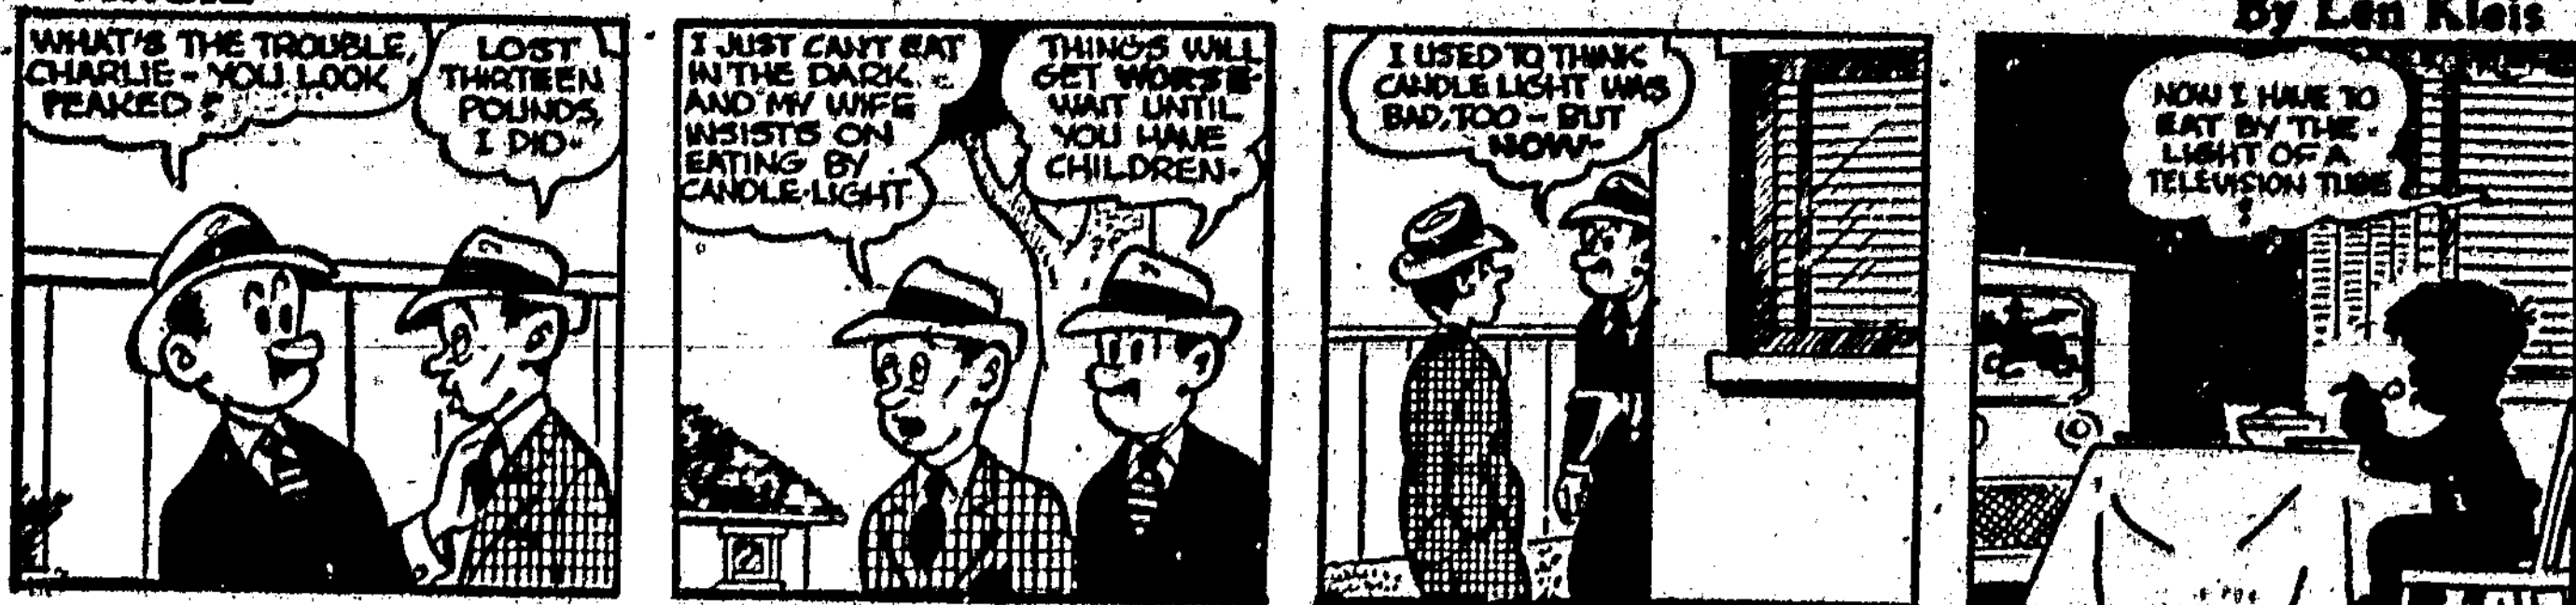

ing up into marriages now; homes and babies have become the interest of the day, and where am I? I know just how much young husbands like to have the dear old girl faked—drop in—and expect to be asked to dinner.

"My mother thinks I'm lovely; she thinks I'm just too fine and intelligent for these ordinary men. She wants me to go to parties and just dance around, dear, with everyone who asks you, and don't think too much about it. Think too much about it! What else can you do when you sit unnoticed, dance after dance, and the music plays and the lights shine, and everyone else is having a glorious time? I don't go to parties any more; my youth is over at 23, and nobody can fool me about it."

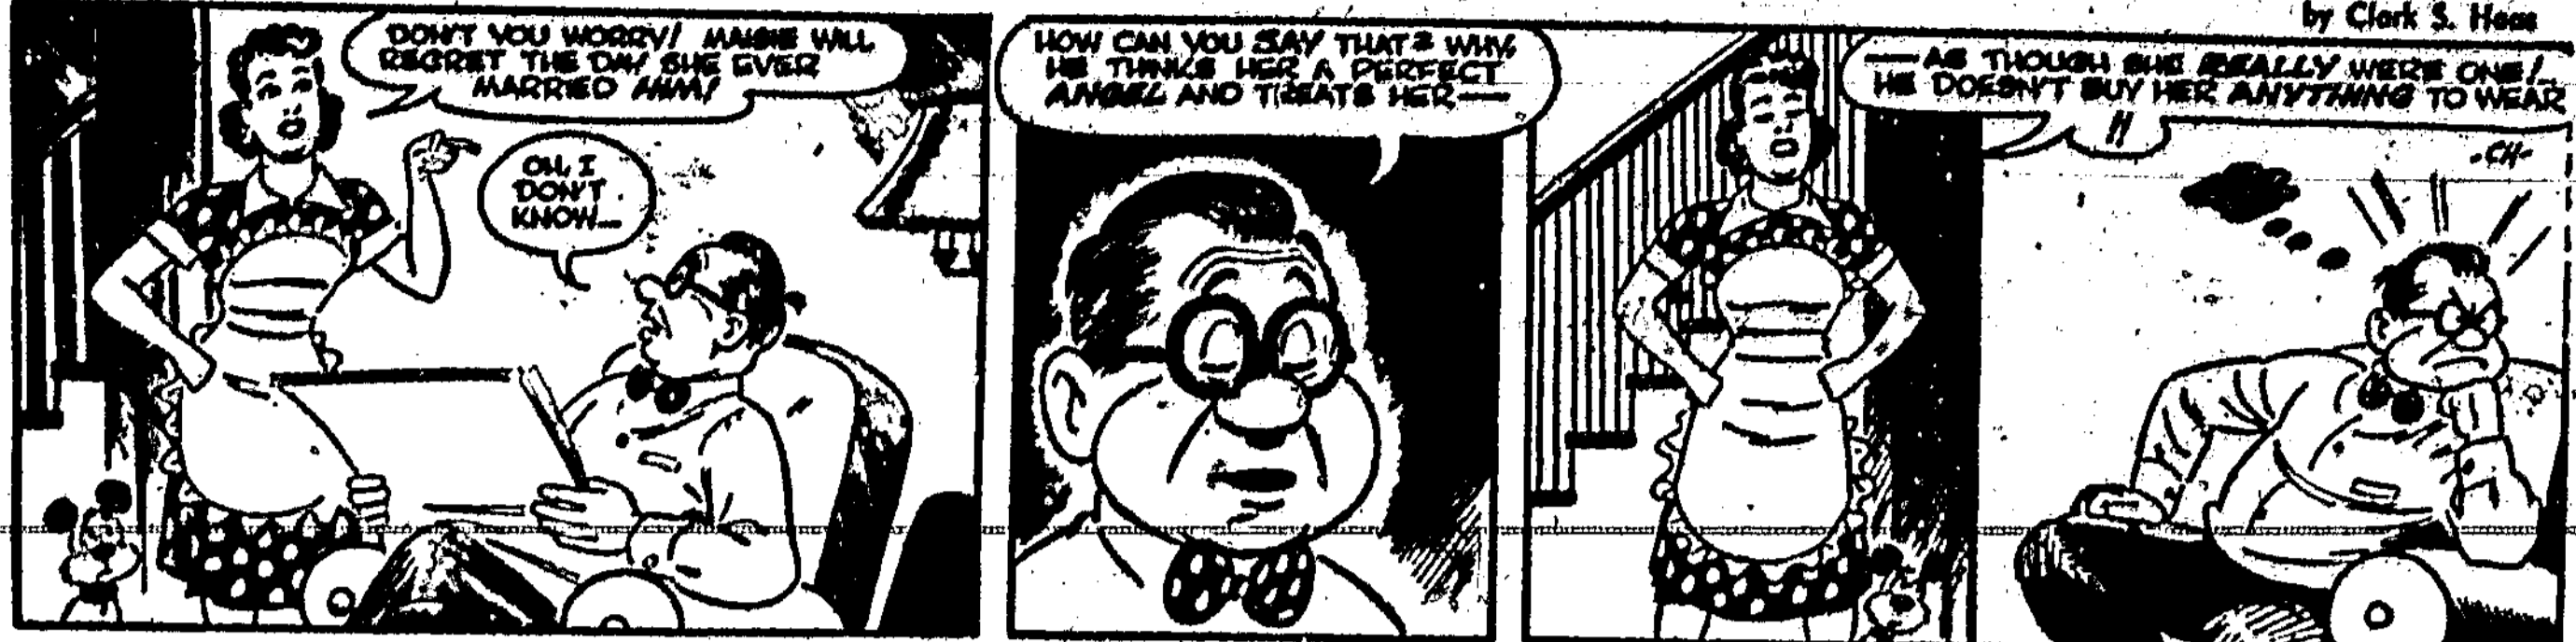

"What I'm asking you," Olive concludes, "is whether it would be any better if I went away? It would break my parents' hearts, and mine, too, but I just can't bear to have the thirdees and forties begin to go by, and never feel that I've lived at all. Shall I leave home for six months or so, and see if it's different when I come back?"

God In a Nation

Lesson for April 22, 1951

WHEN IS GOD IN THE LIFE

W of a nation? It depends on what you mean by the question. God is the Ruler of all nations, and Judge of them all. But some nations have been far more conscious of the true God and obedient to Him than other nations have.

Dr. Foreman

God's Name on Paper

GOD CAN be mentioned often, yet not count for very much in a nation. For instance, His name can be on the money, it can be in the state ceremonies, it can be in the constitution, or if there is no constitution, the monarch may be said to rule "by divine right." But such things may be no better than formal. The money can pass from wicked hand to wicked hand, it can be used for godless purposes by men who do not have God in all their thoughts. The name of God in public ceremonies (such as oaths of office) or in the constitution may mean no more than decorative designs on a letter-head. The king ruling by "divine" right may be a cruel and corrupt man. Religious-sounding songs, such as "God Bless America" or "God Save the King", can be sung by rascals. No, God in a nation's life must be more than a name on paper, green or white.

God in Great Men

GOD BEGINS to get into the life of a nation when He gets into the lives of people. It is not disparaging the common man to point out the plain fact that as between one believer in God who is obscure, and another who is prominent and powerful, the latter means more in the long-run life of a nation. It was so in the era of Moses. That was a time of religious confusion, just as it is today. Doubtless there were many humble persons at that time who had a living faith, but if it had not been for Moses, the nation of Israel would never have been a nation, but would have shrunk back into the ruck of little no-accounts tribes, never to be heard from again. When we hear that even Moses' own brother was so stupid or bad as to lead the people in worshipping a gold-plated calf, we can imagine what the masses of the people were like. If the United States and Canada can be called Christian nations today, it is because we can point to men on both sides of the line who have been not only high-calibre, influential men, but also men not ashamed of their faith in God. An American congressman who is respected by friends and opponents alike, has said it is more important to him to know what God wants than what his constituents want. Most governors of states profess religion; and some of the best of them practice it. What America would have been without such men, one can only guess; certainly far worse than it is.

God in Laws and Lives

GOD CAN also be in a nation's laws. It is true, we cannot run a modern nation or municipality on the laws of Leviticus, and nobody wants to, not even the preachers and rabbis. Still, the laws of a land either reflect the will of God or they do not. So far as the laws of a nation are in line with the teachings and truth of Christ, so far God is in the life of that nation. But the question is not finally: What do the laws prescribe, but do the people respect the laws? God does not get deeply into the life of a nation until He gets into the homes of high and low alike.

If the nation of Israel ever became godly, they had Moses to thank; yet he himself was under no illusions as to the people he left behind him. "I knew that after my death ye will utterly corrupt yourselves and turn aside from the way which I have commanded you." (Deut. 31: 29.) It took centuries of toil and patience on the part of God and His prophets to change Israel from a nation mostly indifferent to God, to a people mostly God-fearing; and the change took place only at home.

Is ours a Christian nation today? The answer is not in our constitution, not in our leading men, not in our history or laws or traditions; the answer is in our homes. When the cry goes up "Back to God!" the place to start back, and the place that counts most, is our homes. AROUND THE HOUSE

Frankfurter scallop is easily made with sliced frankfurters and scalloped potatoes. Add about one tablespoon of prepared mustard to each cup of white sauce used.

Add some finely chopped spinach to pancake batter and make spinach pancakes. Serve with pot roast or as a vegetable. This is guaranteed to make spinach a favorite even amongst those hard to convert.

To clean a parchment shade, rub it with a fresh piece of white bread or an art-gum eraser, or with a cloth dipped in milk. In any case, be sure to brace the inside of the shade with one hand while you rub with the other, or you may poke the rubbing hand right through.

An unforgettable filling for popovers or hot biscuits is creamed ham and a garnish of green asparagus tips. Both may be left-overs from Sunday dinner.

Loose crumbs mixed-in through the frosting spoil the appearance of many a good cake. Let cake cool; then brush crumbs with one hand while holding with the other one.

Crisp, cooked bacon alivers added to your French dressing give a novel flavor to vegetable or citrus fruit salads. You may also add a bit of condensed tomato soup to it if you like the richness.

Chopped liver seasoned and mixed with bread crumbs and egg makes a first rate main dish especially when the patties are wrapped in bacon and cooked with tomato sauce.

Chocolate or butter cakes are lovely when you sprinkle confectioners' sugar immediately after taking them from the oven. If sprinkled over a lace dolly, the sugar leaves a pattern.

IDEAL play clothes for those active youngsters. Dress and panties for sister, short or long overalls for a boy or girl.
