Rate Increase Sought By Telephone Co.

Announcement was made this week by E. C. Phillips, New Mexico-El Paso manager of the Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph Company, that revised tariffs would be filed with the New Mexico Corporation Commission for telephone service in the communities it serves.

Phillips stated that the rates which became effective in June, 1949, are not sufficient to provide a fair and reasonable return on the company's New Mexico property primarily because of rising costs of operation. He explained that the company has been affected by the same economic conditions which have caused prices in general to rise. Labor costs and taxes represent the greater part of the company's operating expenses and he pointed out that the current cost of wage increases granted in the period 1949-50 is twice the revenue gained from the two telephone rate increases during that same period.

He stated that studies of present conditions, and negotiations with the unions representing plant and traffic employees in New Mexico, have indicated that a general wage increase for Mountain States employees is justified in line with the company's policy of paying wages comparable with those paid by other employers in the communities it serves for jobs requiring similar skills and experience. An offer of increases ranging from $3 to $6 per week has been made to employees of the company, including the 1,600 employees in New Mexico.

Increases in prices of essential materials used by the company were cited. Since 1949, a period which includes the start of the Korean war, samples of such price increases reported by the company were: rubber, more than triple; lead up 42 per cent; zinc 79 per cent; copper up 33 per cent; cotton up 37 per cent. Reference also was made to the increase in the federal income tax rate from 38 per cent to 47 per cent since 1949. The company's present tax bill in New Mexico is now over $1,000,000 on an annual basis.

New Mexico's unprecedented growth was commented on by Phillips. Population in the 10-year period 1940-50 jumped 28 per cent—about twice the national average, but the number of telephones increased 207 per cent, the fastest rate of growth of any state in the nation. In the average community, two or three times as many telephones now can be reached without payment of toll charges, enhancing the value of the service. To meet this unusual demand, most of which has occurred since 1945, the company's construction programs in the last five years have involved gross expenditures of $18½ million.

To Attend College

Bob Powelson, who has returned from Cisco, Texas, where he spent the week with Bobby John Huffmyer, White Oaks resident, has enrolled at Cisco State Junior College which he will attend when school takes up again in the fall.

Powelson's college attendance for the next year was made possible by the sportsmanship award which he received upon graduation from Carrizozo High School. A first time award in Carrizozo, it was given to him as a tribute for being adjudged the best all-around athlete for the year.

Powelson, who will study electrical engineering at college, is working at the Lincoln County Motors this summer.

Returns From California

Just returned from a combined business and pleasure trip to Hollywood, Calif., is George L. Zimmerman, local attorney. While there he attended the races at Hollywood Park in which M. R. Frestridge, Alamogordo, had entered his horse, Royal Stride. He also saw the Ray Bolger musical comedy, "Where's Charlie," and watched Art Aragon, former Belen man and now California lightweight champion, perform in a 10-round bout at the Olympic Auditorium.

Joe Moore Entertains On Third Birthday

The third birthday anniversary of Joe Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Moore, Carrizozo, was celebrated Tuesday afternoon, May 29, with a large group of his playmates at the Moore home.

The group which included David Harkey, Donnie Rickerson, Annette Zimmerman, Celia and Susie Haas, Susie Shrum, Buddy Johnny, and Nelda Gay Roberts, Patsy Hurley, Mike Petty, John and Karen Petty, Janice Turner, Dannie Grantham and Toby English played a variety of games on the lawn in the rear of the Moore home. Ginny and Sharon Smith, who were ill and unable to attend, sent gifts. Joe received a large assortment of presents, including a number of toys with which he and his small friends had fun during the afternoon.

Concluding the play period, refreshments were served to the youngsters on the lawn from matched paper accessories with colorful design, and included cake, ice cream and pink lemonade. Small fluted cups filled with candies were used for favors, and cups of vanilla ice cream served the children.

The large three-layer cake, luscious in its white frosting and the pink icing letters which spelled out the wish for a happy birthday for Joe, was made by Mrs. Albert Roberts, Carrizozo, who assisted Mrs. Moore in giving the party. The three lighted candles topping the cake were snuffed out with the first huge breath taken by small Joe.

Several of the mothers stayed for the party and the adults were served their refreshments from a white linen covered table centered with an arrangement of purple and yellow iris, a gift from Mrs. Clyde Brewster, whose garden blooms practically the year around and indicates she has that lucky "green thumb" touch.

Misses Emily Johnson, Alma Eaker, and Betty and Dorothy Moore supervised the youngsters during their play period and assisted with the serving of the refreshments.

Capitan Poppy Day Honors War Dead

Dead of three wars were honored by the memorial poppies which were worn at Capitan on Poppy Day, May 26, according to Mrs. Phil Blaise, poppy chairman of James A. Hipp Post No. 57, unit of the American Legion Auxiliary.

Originally the memorial flower for the World War I dead who gave their lives in the poppy-studded fields of France and Belgium, the poppy has come to symbolize memory of those who have died for America anywhere in the world. Mrs. Blaise explained. It is now the memorial flower for the dead of World War II and for those who have died in the Korean conflict, she said.

Mrs. Blaise directed the work of a large corps of Brownies and Girl Scouts who distributed poppies at Capitan on Poppy Day. The girls were on the streets throughout the day, pinning poppies to lapels and receiving contributions for "American Legion and auxiliary aid to disabled veterans and needy children of veterans.

Ancho Resident Among ENMU Graduates

Edward Wallace Hall, Ancho, was one of 88 candidates who were presented for spring graduation by the faculty of Eastern New Mexico University Thursday, May 31. Baccalaureate services were held Sunday, May 27, at 8 P. M. in the university quadrangle building patio. Commencement exercises were also held in the patio.

Dr. Don H. Morris, president of Abilene Christian College, was the baccalaureate speaker and Dr. C. M. Wiggins, president of Texas Technological College, delivered the commencement address.

Sunlight Deteriorates Silver Iodide Smoke

The deteriorating effect of sunlight upon silver iodide smoke used in cloud seeding programs with the hope of increasing rainfall has been known for almost a year by scientists at New Mexico Institute of Mining and Technology, officials of the college in Socorro announce.

The statement was made in response to queries about a press announcement of supposedly "new" discoveries by the U. S. Air Force Cambridge Research Laboratories. The February, 1951, bulletin of the American Meteorological Society carried an article "The Effect of Sunlight on the Action of Silver Iodide Particles as Sublimation Nuclei." The article was prepared by S. E. Reynolds and William Hume II of NMIMT, Socorro, and by Bernard Vonnegut and Vincent J. Schaefer of General Electric Research Laboratories in Schenectady.

The sunlight studies are important in relation to the widespread use of silver iodide in commercial "rain-making" operations in New Mexico and other states. NMIMT experiments revealed that the effectiveness of 99 per cent of the silver iodide particles was lost within one hour's exposure to bright sunlight. This means that unless silver iodide generators are used under optimum conditions, the chances of their causing rainfall are remote.

It was pointed out, however, that when used under cloudy conditions or at night, the loss of effectiveness is much less. This means that to be useful in seeding operations, the silver iodide must be released in far greater quantities than previously was thought necessary, or else it must be used at night or under cloud cover. Since most New Mexico thunderstorms develop in conditions of bright sunlight because of currents of warm air rising from the earth, it becomes much more difficult to get effective silver iodide into a specific cloud.

To test the effect of sunlight upon silver iodide, in July of last year research scientists at New Mexico Tech filled an air tight tank, 10 feet high and 20 feet in diameter, with air and silver iodide smoke. At periodic intervals samples of the air in the tank were tested in the laboratory for their effectiveness as ice producing nuclei. Marked loss of effectiveness was measured when the tank was exposed to bright sunlight through a transparent cellophane cover. When an opaque cover was placed over the top of the tank, the particles remained effective.

Similar results were recorded by General Electric Company scientists who used a large rubber balloon containing silver iodide smoke. An ultra violet lamp was placed inside the balloon to test the effect of light upon the particles.

Residual ice in the atmosphere—a factor of the weather which has been largely neglected in recent cloud physics—is being studied vigorously by scientists at the institute. Dr. E. J. Workman, physicist-president of the college, discussed the proposed ice studies in a recent lecture before the meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science in El Paso.

The presence of tiny ice fragments at high altitudes is believed to have an important effect upon rainfall, and the research workers at Socorro have designed special instruments to study this phenomena. It is expected that this will be a long term research program, and until more is known about the ice factor, its part in the total weather picture cannot be stated.

The NMIMT scientists emphasized that the mechanisms of rain and snowfall are extremely complex, and only in recent years have scientists begun to understand them. Much more research remains to be done.

Soldier In Accident

Donald Peckman, a soldier stationed in El Paso, escaped injury Sunday afternoon when his car was crowded off the road by an unidentified driver four miles north of Coyote on Highway 54. The driver of the other car did not stop. Peckman's car, which was badly damaged, was towed into Carrizozo.

Double Ceremony Unites 2 Couples

The Carrizozo Trinity Methodist Church was the scene of a double wedding ceremony May 13 when Miss Patsy Wooten became the bride of Willie McMurry, and Miss Mona Lou Jones and Hugh A. Roberts repeated their marital vows. Rev. Ray Miller united the two couples in a double ring ceremony before the altar banked with roses and lilies. The same flowers were used throughout the church in decoration.

Mrs. McMurry's gown was pink and white organza with which she wore white accessories and an orchid corsage. Mrs. Roberts' wedding ensemble was a powder blue suit with white accessories. She wore an orchid corsage.

Miss Norma Young, El Paso, roommate of Mrs. McMurry when the two were in nurses' training, attended the two brides. She wore an aqua ensemble with red accessories and a gardenia-and-rose corsage.

Following their wedding, both couples left for Chihuahua City, Mexico, on a brief honeymoon.

Mrs. McMurry, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Wooten, Carrizozo, graduated from Tularosa High School and Hotel Dieu School of Nursing, El Paso. She is presently employed in the office of Dr. M. R. Baumgartner at Alamogordo. Mr. McMurry, the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. McMurry, Alamogordo, graduated from high school there and attended New Mexico Western College at Silver City. He is now with the City Dairy at Alamogordo.

The new Mrs. Roberts, who is a graduate of the 1951 class at Alamogordo High School, and her bridegroom are residents of Alamogordo, where Roberts has been employed with the Mountain States Telephone Company. Roberts, the son of Mrs. Carroll Bass of Cloudcroft, left last week for San Diego after being called back to active duty as a member of the U. S. naval reserve.

The senior Mrs. McMurry's gown was royal blue gabardine with which she wore a gardenia and rose corsage, while Mrs. Wooten's frock was a brown bemberg sheer and accented with an orchid corsage.

Other out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Tom Beckert, Carlsbad, sister and brother-in-law of the junior Mrs. McMurry; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wooten, Alamogordo, brother and sister-in-law of the junior Mrs. McMurry; and Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Weaver, Alamogordo, sister and brother-in-law of the junior Mr. McMurry.

The new Mrs. Roberts will make her home in Alamogordo while her husband is in the Navy. Mr. and Mrs. Willie McMurry are at home at 1123 Michigan, Alamogordo.

Lincoln County Bond Sales Show Increase

Residents of New Mexico invested $57,712.50 in Defense Bonds during April, 1951, George M. Bloom, acting state chairman, U. S. Defense Bond Advisory Committee, announced recently.

Although seven counties are credited with purchases greater in April, 1951, than in both April 1950 and March 1951 the total for the state was the lowest of any month since 1941. Those counties were: Lincoln, Guadalupe, Mora, Sandoval, San Juan, Torrance and Union.

Contrary to the usually favorable ratio of purchases to "cash-ins" plus maturities, New Mexicans converted twice as many dollars-worth of E-Bonds-to-cash as they bought during April.

Nationally, only 81/100ths of 1 per cent dollar-wise of Savings Bonds outstanding were matured or converted to cash during April. In only one month during the last year, January, were "cash-ins" plus maturities more than 1 per cent of the total that could have been converted to cash any day.

At Pearl Harbor

Don W. Alexander, fireman apprentice, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Alexander of Green Tree, who entered the naval service in August, 1950, is attached to naval base service craft, Pearl Harbor, T. H.

Mrs. Helena Anne Coe Succumbs In San Pat

Last rites for Mrs. Helena Anne Coe, 92, San Patricio, who died May 21, were held at St. Anne's Chapel in Glencoe on May 24 with Rev. O. J. Rainey of Fort Stanton officiating. Interment was at the family cemetery in Glencoe by the side of her husband, the late Frank B. Coe.

Pallbearers were Peter Hurd, Henry Latham, Tom Babers, Ralph McGuire, Milton Mable and Shelton Taylor. Kenneth Nosker and Dan Storm served as ushers.

Surviving are five daughters, Mrs. Bert Bonnell and Mrs. Anne Titsworth of Glencoe; Mrs. Winifred Hunt, Oklahoma City; Mrs. Edith Boyce Rigby and Mrs. Helena Coe Lucas of San Patricio, and a son, Wilbur Coe of Glencoe.

The deceased was born November 9, 1859, in Toronto, Canada, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Tully. When she was 9 years old, her parents moved to Chicago, where the late Mrs. Coe was educated and made her home until after the Chicago fire in 1871, when the family established a new home at Aztec, N. M. After her marriage to the late Frank B. Coe the couple came to Lincoln County and homesteaded in the Ruidoso Valley and planted the first orchard there. Their son, Wilbur Coe, now occupies that homestead.

St. Anne's Chapel at Glencoe, which is named for the deceased's mother, was the inspiration of Mrs. Coe in which she was assisted by the late Bishop Frederick B. Howden, his son, the late F. B. Howden Jr., and members of the Glencoe community.

Large Crowds Attend Local Skating Rink

The Lions sponsored roller skating rink held weekly on Friday night at Miller's Hall has met with outstanding success. Additional skates were provided last week and still the demand exceeded the supply. The Lions are attempting to correct that problem as quickly as possible.

Another roller skating session is scheduled for Friday night starting at 7:30. Adults and youngsters alike have commented on their enjoyment of the weekly roller skating sponsored by the Lions as a civic project for community recreation. Soft drinks and candy bars are available for thirsty and hungry skaters.

In the interests of safety, the local club warns that patrons are not permitted to smoke while skating, and that all soft drinks must be partaken off the rink.

Local Girl Graduates From Loretto Academy

Among the 33 students who graduated from Loretto Academy in El Paso Tuesday was Miss Veda Lou Brantam, Carrizozo. Baccalaureate services were held at 9 A. M. with a holy mass offered by the Rev. James E. Payne in the academy chapel. The sermon was delivered by Rev. Francis Rigney of St. Joseph's parish.

The Loretto choir, under the direction of Sister Mary Sheila and accompanied by the organ by Lester Silberman, sang "Praise Ye the Lord"; "Ave Maria"; "Panis Angelicus"; "Panem Vitem"; and "Exult in the Lord."

Bach's "Air for G String" was chosen for the professional to start commencement exercises at 8 P. M. Two musical selections, "Ecce Sacersos" and "Angelus Domini" preceded the consecration to the Sacred Heart. The Most Rev. Sidney M. Metzger, bishop of El Paso, awarded the diplomas, following which he celebrated the solemn pontifical benediction.

Rev. J. E. Payne served as master of ceremonies. Other musical selections on the program included "Ecce Panis"; "Tantum Ergo"; "Cantate Domino" and Loretto of the Plains.

Handel's "March Solemne" was played for the recessional.

Highway Officials To Meet Commissioners

Local Girl's Picture To Appear In Art Gallery

The Roy Shafers, Carrizozo, have been requested by the Howard Studio, Pecos, Texas, for permission to include a picture of their daughter, Mrs. Don Young, Denver, in an exhibit to be featured at the Lamm Art Galleries, Denver, July 16-20.

The picture in question is one of the former Janet Shafer taken by a representative of the Texas studio in Carrizozo in 1939 just after her graduation from high school. The picture, which is an informal pose of Mrs. Young, was selected for unusual merit and poise.

For showing at the Denver art gallery, the portrait will be placed on artist tapestry 11 by 14 inches and hung on a mat 16 by 20 inches. Known as the Critical Analyses Exhibit, it is sponsored by the Exhibitors Forum and held in the interest of good photography.

At the conclusion of the exhibit, Mr. and Mrs. Shafer will be permitted the first opportunity to purchase their daughter's picture which will then bear the gold seal of acceptance by the forum.

Mrs. Young, who was married in June, 1950, is now living in Denver where her husband is associated with the Harry Herman Electrical Engineering firm.

Mechem, governor of New Mexico and a former student at New Mexico A&M, will deliver the commencement address. Both students will receive a B. S. degree in agriculture.

State Administration Engineer Lawrence D. Wilson, Santa Fe, and Thomas T. Mann, Roswell, state highway commission member, have agreed to attend the regular monthly meeting of the Lincoln County commissioners in Carrizozo on June 4. The purpose of the state highway men in attending this meeting is to answer questions concerning the status of the White Oaks road, a highly controversial issue at the present time.

George L. Zimmerman, local attorney who represents a group of White Oaks residents, and in accordance with the request of Mann, has prepared a list of questions concerning the issue and submitted it to the state men, who are expected to answer these questions at the June 4 meeting. The questions submitted are:

What chance of success do you think the White Oaks project would have if the project were to be resubmitted?

Is the chance for approval of the White Oaks project as good or better than the other projects scheduled for Lincoln County?

Is there any assurance that the Tinnie-Arabella and Hondo projects will be approved if submitted?

When can the White Oaks project be resubmitted?

What additional facts are necessary in order to resubmit the White Oaks project?

If the Lincoln County commissioners were to recommend the White Oaks project then how soon could the project be resubmitted?

On other resubmitted projects, how has the Highway Department fared?

Can both the Tinnie-Arabella and the White Oaks projects be submitted at the same time to the Bureau of Public Roads?

Under what federal statute is the federal secondary road program operative?

How much money is available for the fiscal year 1950-1951; calendar year 1951; fiscal year 1951-1952; calendar year 1952; fiscal year 1952-1953 on federal secondary roads projects in Lincoln County?

What are the present recommendations of the Lincoln County commissioners?

Have any projects been submitted by the Highway Department or the Highway Commission as of this date?

Are any projects expected to be submitted by either one?

Generally, what goes into a report or program which is submitted to the Bureau of Public Roads?

When the White Oaks project was submitted did it bear the approval or disapproval of the Highway Department or the state highway engineer?

If additional reports, facts and action is necessary to resubmit the White Oaks project, will it again bear the recommendation of the Highway Department for approval?

When will a report be made on the Tinnie-Arabella and Hondo projects to the Bureau of Public Roads in the event the White Oaks project is not recommended by the Lincoln County commissioners?

Is it the present policy of the State Highway Commission or the Highway Department or the highway engineer to neither recommend or discourage individual county programs?

Would the Highway Department or the State Highway Commission like to have a final disposition of the recommendations of the county commissioners in order to continue the planning of the Tinnie-Arabella-Hondo projects or to resubmit the White Oaks project to the Bureau of Public Roads?

Who's Responsible For High Prices?

Who says the farmer is responsible for high prices? Listen to this (based on last December's prices):
 If the farmer gave away the wool in a $50 suit of men's clothing, the suit would still cost $40.50.

If he'd give away the wheat in a 16-cent loaf of bread, the loaf would still cost the consumer 13.4 cents.
 If the dairy producer furnished the milk in a 22-cent quart of milk, absolutely free, it would still cost the housewife 11.5 cents.

If the farmer would give away the beans in a 16-cent can of pork and beans, the can would still cost you 14 cents at the grocery store.

You can buy enough of the new rat poison, warfarin, to bait your farm with the $5 a year it costs you to feed one rat.

About 78 million acres of wheat will be grown in the United States this year.

Vegetable Growers Can Aid Defense Efforts

New Mexico farm youths were told recently they can make a direct contribution to the nation's defense program by taking part in this year's production-marketing contest of the National Junior Vegetable Growers Association.

"Secretary of Agriculture Brannan has called for greatly increased vegetable gardening," said Santiago D. Apodaca, assistant state 4-H club leader, New Mexico College of Agriculture, "and I feel this contest, teaching more efficient methods of growing and selling vegetables, will be very helpful in building up adequate reserves of food supplies for emergencies."

In announcing opening of the NJVGA's eleventh annual competition, Apodaca pointed out that it ties in directly with the Department of Agriculture's belief that an expansion of vegetable gardening in all states will contribute material strength to national defense efforts.

"With per capita vegetable consumption now more than 10 per cent above pre-war levels, and our population steadily increasing, it's easy to see the value of such a program," he said.

Apodaca, who serves as the association's chairman in New Mexico, said all Sunshine State farm youths from 12 through 21 are eligible to compete in this contest, for which A & P Food Stores annually provides $4,000 in cash agricultural scholarships. "Actually," he explained, "besides getting fine training in vegetable growing and selling, and an opportunity to win one of more than 200 awards this contest offers, contestants will aid defense efforts in two ways.

"First of all, the crops from the plot each contestant must plant, cultivate, harvest and market in order to compete in this event will add to our supply of healthy, nutritious foods. In addition, adults who learn of the fine results these boys and girls achieve through the use of modern, scientific methods, will be encouraged to adopt similar practices. The result can only be a bigger and better vegetable crop throughout the nation."

Any young gardener may enroll in the NJVGA's production-marketing contest by contacting 4-H club leaders, county agents, instructors in vocational agriculture or numerous other farm youth leaders who are cooperating with the association in en-

(Continued From Page 1) prior to an original submission of the other projects? How soon after a project has been submitted does the bureau approve or disapprove? Do they ever call for additional or supplemental information? What additional information is needed for the White Oaks project? Will you produce for inspection a copy of the White Oaks original submission and the accompanying papers? Were deficiencies pointed out in the White Oaks rejection? Have you ever been asked in writing by the county commissioners to submit additional information regarding the status of the White Oaks project? What official written information reports have been given to the commissioners? Have verbal information reports been given to the commissioners? By whom? When? What was the ultimate recommendation of the reports? Have you ever stated to the commissioners that the White Oaks project will never be approved? Has Mr. Mann so stated? Has Mr. Dwyre so stated? If so, why? Do you believe that the White Oaks project stands a poor, good or excellent chance of being approved? On May 7, 1951, which project had a three-four weeks priority in planning in so far as programing is concerned? How much money has the Highway Department spent on the information for the White Oaks project? How much money will it cost to obtain the Tinnie information? Can the Tinnie-Arabela-Hondo projects still be disapproved upon submission? What happens if all Lincoln County projects are disapproved? Does the money remain for the disposition of the commissioners? Is it possible that roads can be constructed or money received for the Corona project out of the 1952-1953 funds prior to any construction of the White Oaks or Tinnie-Arabela projects out of existing funds? Did a good report accompany the White Oaks submission? How long did it take to prepare? Does the New Mexico Highway Commission believe that the White Oaks project will never be completed? How soon can the White Oaks project be resubmitted? How soon thereafter do you believe an answer could be received? What amount of money was available for Lincoln County on January 1, 1951, under the provisions of the federal secondary roads program? How much money has been previously allocated or available to Lincoln County? During what calendar or fiscal years was this money allocated or available? In what amounts was it allocated or available? State in detail what disposition was made of the funds? To what fund, state or county, did it go? Why was it not used in Lincoln County? Can this money be retrieved? Should it be retrieved? Did the then county commissioners of Lincoln County have anything to do with the disposition of the funds? What is the present recommendation of the Lincoln County commissioners for expenditures of federal secondary road funds? Do you know why the withdrawal of funds took place from the White Oaks project? Do you have the request or program made by the New Mexico Highway Department to the Bureau of Public Roads? Will you submit it to the county commissioners for inspection? Does the report or program contain an approval or disapproval recommendation from the New Mexico Highway Department to the Bureau of Public Roads? Will the present Highway Commission now forward the completed report or program, or will it be forwarded by the present highway engineer? Is planning on all Lincoln County projects at a standstill? What is the current planning status of all Lincoln County projects? Which project is further along in time as far as a completed program is concerned, be it an original or a resubmission? Is Mr. Dwyre awaiting affirmative action by the Lincoln County commissioners before going ahead with the road programs? Do the commissioners of Lincoln County know that Mr. Wilson, Mr. Dwyre or the Highway Commission cannot recommend approval or rejection of a project prior to official action by the local commissioners? Who is responsible for the Lincoln County road building delay? The Highway Commission? The Highway Department? The county commissioners? The Bureau of Public Roads? Anyone or anything else? Has Mr. Dwyre, Mr. Wilson, Governor Mechem or any member of the Highway Commission stated that they, collectively or singularly, desire the completion of one local project over another? Can the deficiencies in the White Oaks project be remedied? What immediate action would the State Highway Department or the Highway Commission take if the Lincoln County commissioners today recommend that the Lincoln County funds be used on the White Oaks project? How soon would the action take place? Is it true that nothing further can be done about the White Oaks project if the Lincoln County commissioners do not request an allotment of existing funds be utilized for the White Oaks project?

The issue of construction of the White Oaks road was brought to a head when several bridges on it were completely destroyed by fire recently, and a group of White Oaks residents demanded the county commissioners take immediate action, and claimed that money allocated for the construction of the road had been withdrawn by the present county commissioners. The commissioners said the Bureau of Federal Roads had disapproved the construction, but L. E. Wilson, administration engineer, and C. O. Erwin, Roswell, district engineer, told a group of White Oaks residents at a recent meeting, additional data had been obtained and was ready for resubmission to the federal bureau when a letter was received from the present county commissioners requesting the money be withdrawn from the White Oaks road and allocated to other construction in the county. This letter, dated February 9, 1951, was published in a recent issue of the News-Outlook. The engineers, at their meeting with the White Oaks residents, pointed out the state could do nothing further about the road until they had the approval of the county commissioners for its construction. They also pointed out the construction of the White Oaks road would not interfere with the construction of the other projects in Lincoln County which were recommended by the commissioners in their February 9 letter, since it would take approximately one year to make the surveys and complete the preliminary engineering work on those roads, before they could be submitted for approval. The June 4 meeting of the county commissioners, as are all public business meetings, is open to the public. Only 16 out of every 100 persons in the United States were farmers last year.

Richardson added Carrizozo is one of the towns in New Mexico that will be least affected if the rate increase is granted. J. D. Richardson, local manager of the Mountain States Telephone Company, said if the rate increase were allowed, the following increases would apply in Carrizozo: One party business line, $1.25 per month increase; two party business line, 25 cents per month; one party residence line, 25 cents per month; two and four party line residence, no change in rate; semi-public pay phone, guarantee unchanged. Richardson added Carrizozo is one of the towns in New Mexico that will be least affected if the rate increase is granted.

Rate Increase Sought—

(Continued From Page 1) with another $5 1/2 million projected for 1951. Because of New Mexico's importance in the nation's economy, the company expects a continuation of civilian demand as well as expansion of defense requirements. It was emphasized that the additional revenue received from any increase in telephone rates is used to meet day-to-day expenses of operation. The money to build more facilities is supplied by people who invest in telephone securities, and to induce these people to put more dollars into the business, earnings must be adequate. It is estimated the proposed rate increase will net the company $53,000 monthly. For residence telephones, the increase will not amount to more than 5 cents a day and for individual line business users not more than 14 cents a day. Phillips pointed out that in many instances the increase would be less. J. D. Richardson, local manager of the Mountain States Telephone Company, said if the rate increase were allowed, the following increases would apply in Carrizozo: One party business line, $1.25 per month increase; two party business line, 25 cents per month; one party residence line, 25 cents per month; two and four party line residence, no change in rate; semi-public pay phone, guarantee unchanged. Richardson added Carrizozo is one of the towns in New Mexico that will be least affected if the rate increase is granted.

IN THE MATTER

Debate Arms Boycott

MOST IMPORTANT diplomatic debate of the Korean war has been going on backstage at the United Nations—namely, an arms boycott of Red China.

So far our U.N. allies haven't got around to voting to ban arms, let alone an economic embargo. However, it remains a fact that this is one of the most important steps to be taken against any aggressor.

Furthermore there is a long history of diplomatic pussyfooting regarding this by our supposedly good friends—pussyfooting that eventually has hindered us in war. Here is some case history:

Pussyfoot No. 1 was when the British undercut us in 1931 when Japan first invaded Manchuria. Issues almost identical to the Korean aggression were involved in Manchuria, and the late Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson saw them clearly. He saw that Japan was sowing the first wild oats of aggression, just as Russia is today, and that if she got away with one aggressive bite there would be more.

But Stimson never could get the British, who had more at stake than we, to cooperate.

When U.S. Ambassador Cameron Forbes would deliver a note of protest, the British ambassador did likewise—then dropped round to the Japanese foreign office an hour or two later to explain that Britain's note was merely to please the Americans and not to be taken seriously.

Pussyfoot No. 2 was when President Roosevelt tried to organize an economic blockade of Japan in 1936 in order to stop further aggression against China. By this time the British realized their 1931 mistake and went along with us.

But Roosevelt could not get the support of other European powers. Hitler and Mussolini were too strong by that time, and he also faced the private opposition of Cordell Hull.

Pussyfoot No. 3 came when Mussolini invaded helpless Ethiopia. This was one of the cruelest cases of aggression the modern world has seen, and the tottering League of Nations conscientiously tried to act. But although an economic blockade was voted for the first time in history, two things made it unsuccessful.

One was the exclusion of oil. The big American and British oil companies pulled backstage wires, managed to scare British and American diplomats into permitting the continued shipments of oil to Mussolini. Without oil, his fleet would have been paralyzed and his trucks could not have moved. But we pussyfooted.

Pussyfoot No. 4 is taking place right now in regard to Red China, an obvious, wanton aggressor in Korea. While the British are the worst pussyfooters, we in the U.S.A., including General MacArthur himself, have pulled our punches.

MacArthur, for instance, has permitted a steady dribble of strategic materials to flow into Red China from Japan. From July to October, 1950, he permitted $3,400,000 in metals, machinery and textiles to leave Japan for China. From October to January, Jap exports to the Communists increased to $11,100,000. Since MacArthur controlled all Jap exports, this could have been stopped.

However, the flow of British goods entering China through Hong Kong is the most shocking scandal of the entire Korean war. While American rivers are being snuffed out, British millionaires are being made overnight.

Yet the state department has taken no tough steps, such as a threat to cut off U.S. economic aid to Britain, as a means of stopping this trade.

Merry-Go-Round

Robert Mack, a senate elevator operator, literally stepped into Senator Kefauver's shoes the other day. The Tennessee crimebuster worked so late that he had to dress for dinner in his office, bolted the door wearing dinner dress, but brown shoes. In the elevator he noticed his mistake, traded shoes with Mack, who had on black shoes, and got to dinner on time. . . . Congratulations to Ira Hirschmann and his radio station WABF in New York for winning the Peabody award for good music.

Chinese Give Up

It didn't get into the press communique, but a small naval task force turned back a Chinese thrust down the Korean east coast recently. The Chinese Communists sent two units to prod for a weak spot in the South Korean line that is defending the east coast.

However, two American cruisers and four destroyers hurled broadsides all day into the attacking Chinese. After 1,000 rounds of devastating ship-to-shore fire, the Chinese gave up.

SCANNING THE WEEK'S NEWS of Main Street and the World

Committee's Proposed Tax Increase Hits Lower Income Groups Hardest

TAXES ON THE LOCAL LEVEL—By July 1, or shortly thereafter, the man on Main Street is going to find himself subject to increased individual income taxes in the "house ways" and means committee's proposals are carried out.

The committee voted to increase income taxes $2,950,000,000 a year. The increase would raise taxes in every bracket by 3 percentage points.

For instance, a single man with a net income of $2,000 a year would pay $324 in taxes instead of $280. This would be an increase from 20 per cent to 23 per cent. In the second bracket ($2,000 to $4,000), the tax would go up from 22 to 25 per cent, and in the third bracket ($4,000 to $6,000), from 26 to 29 per cent.

In general, the increase in each person's tax would be about the same as the jump which took place under the first war-tax bill, passed last year. This proposed taxation is tentative, however, and subject to possible changes by the house, the senate finance committee, and the full senate. But it is an indication of approximately what the small-towner can expect before the summer is over.

In The News

Defense Secretary Marshall (top picture) continued to be of top interest to the nation's press as he told senators the home-towners don't want to expand the war in Korea. . . . Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston (center) was in the news again with demands for extension of economic controls. . . . Donald Davison (lower picture) made front pages by revealing he never used pressure on RFC directors.

Britain, trade and dollar hungry, was possibly the worst offender. It could be that the senate vote to cut off economic aid to any nation which permits its citizens to trade with Communist areas had much to do with the sudden spurge of cooperation.

FOR HUNGRY BEEF EATERS—In an action entirely independent of the recent projected general rollback on beef prices scheduled for October 1, the government unexpectedly slashed approximately 12 cents a pound off ceiling prices of some chuck steaks and pot roasts.

For the hungry beef eaters of the nation it was a welcome surprise. It is not likely to make relations between the administration and the nation's beef producers, packers and distributors any closer, however.

In The News

Dr. Mary T. Martin Sloop (top picture), 77-year-old of Crossmore, N.C., became big news when she was named American Mother of 1951. Dr. Sloop, wife of a country doctor, became nationally known for her work among the underprivileged in the mountains of her state. . . . Always sensational news, glamor princess Rita Hayworth, arrived in Reno to divorce Prince Aly Kahn.

Here again the free world has been blocked in its attempt to ease world tensions and try to make some progress toward real peace.

THE TALKING CONGRESS—At the moment it appears that the 82nd congress will go down in history as the talking congress, with a record of fewer laws enacted than the 80th congress which was termed the "do-nothing congress" by President Truman.

After four full months, the 82nd congress has enacted only 28 public laws, a recent check revealed. None of the major platform planks on which Truman was elected for a second term have been approved. Of 37 specific legislative recommendations by the President, only three have become effective as a result of congressional action since January. And two of them affect only soldiers or veterans of the war in Korea.

WHAT DOES AMERICA THINK?

From the time this nation was founded politicians have tried to keep in close contact with the home towns in an effort to know and understand what the average man is thinking. Very few of them, however, have succeeded.

With this in mind, Secretary of Defense Marshall made a bold statement during his testimony on the MacArthur-Truman controversy when he asserted the American people will stand with the administration on military policy in Korea.

Marshall believes the average home-towner has no desire to expand the war in Asia. He believes the American people "are on the side that the defense department, the joint chiefs of staff, and the civilian authority of the government favor."

This side, Marshall asserted, involved a settled conviction that the present policy of limited commitment of force in Korea must go on.

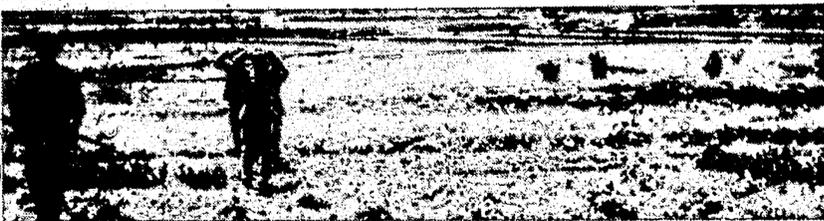

TEAM WORK—The first thing the American youngster learns, whether he is a city boy or a small town, one, is that he has to be a member of the team. To play with the other kids he must cooperate. Americans carry this lesson with them through life.

It was with some relief, therefore, that home-towners heard the news that those free nations who have been trading with Communist China had finally agreed it was time to start playing with the home team and to cut off that trade completely.

United Nations forces were ready and waiting for the new offensive, firmly entrenched and, for the first time in the war, ready with an air raid warning system. UN commanders remained firm in the belief they could beat back anything the Communists could throw against them.

THE PRICE IS STEEP—The weeks of futile talks in Paris by deputies of the big four foreign ministers has reaffirmed in the minds of the average home-towner the fact you can't reason with the Communists. For weeks the deputies have tried to work out an agenda for a meeting of the big four foreign ministers without success.

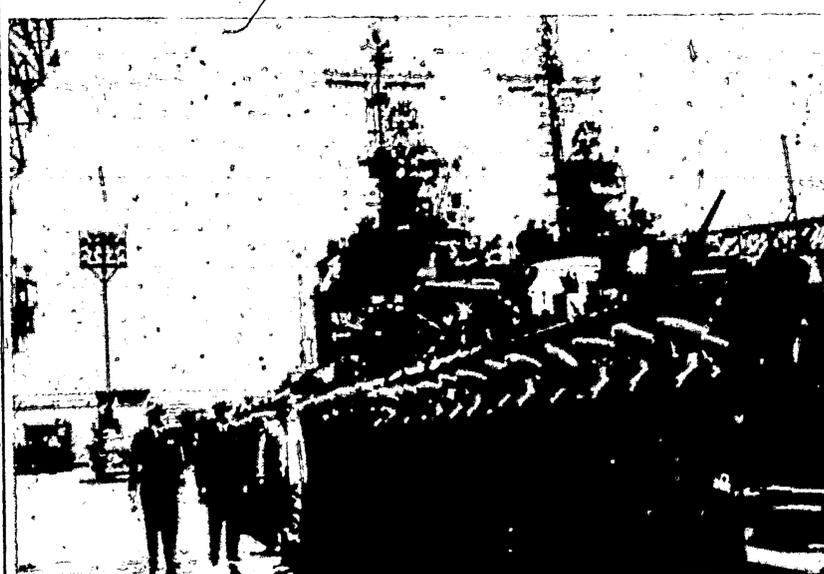

It is apparent that the end of the rope has been reached. The price demanded by the Reds is too high for a God fearing and freedom loving nation. The Russians insist upon an arms-reduction item in the agenda that would mean the suspension of our defense program. The Russians want their own kind of arms-reduction formula. It doesn't include international inspection and control.

SPRING HARVEST . . . UN fillemen lead Red prisoners to rear lines for interrogation.

WHEAT FOR INDIA . . . Students from two St. Paul denominational colleges dramatic support for pending federal bill for aid to India by leading a truck for the "Wheat for India" caravan bound for Washington, D.C. The caravan included several aides of students from Macalester College, a Presbyterian-related school, and Augsburg College, a Lutheran institution. In Washington, the truckload of wheat was delivered to the India embassy. Students who could not go to Washington were urged to bombard their congressmen with mail advocating immediate relief for India's starving.

ISRAELI PRIME MINISTER . . . Israel's prime minister, David Ben-Gurion (left) greets friends upon arrival at Washington's national airport recently to participate in celebrations of Israel's third independence day. Former secretary of the treasury, Henry Morgenthau (right) was on hand to greet the arriving statesman. Ben-Gurion is considered by the citizens of Israel as the "father" of their country and the man who did most for its freedom.

MORMON PRESIDENT . . . David O. McKay was elected ninth president of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints during the church's 121st conference in Salt Lake City. He still works, rides horseback on his farm.

PULITZER WINNER . . . The Pulitzer Prize committee gave its 1951 fiction award to Conrad Richter for his novel, "The Town," a story of the American frontier family during the first half of the 19th century.

American Fabric Rug Patterns Give Underfoot Sparkle

By Erita Haley

HERE'S new color and design afoot when it comes to rugs and floor coverings...

Gone are the days of borrowing designs from other worlds. The new carpet and rug designs capture the spirit of America itself.

It's easy to find handsome interpretations of traditional and well-loved Indian designs translated into practical yet beautiful carpets suitable for the many prevailing types of decor.

For casual, informal American homes, this fresh new rug pattern offers unlimited decorative possibilities.

Carpet rayon, for example, engineered expressly for carpets, is the most significant contribution to floor coverings in a century.

Key rugs to furnishings...

Color selection in new carpeting is as wide and varied as could be desired. The vast choice makes it possible for homemakers to coordinate the rug easily to her other furnishings.

Carpet rayon is pure white prior to dyeing, and since it is a controlled fiber, clearer, fresher colors and a greater range of tones are much easier to obtain than from other materials.

New Weaves, Designs Are Much in Evidence The American look is very much evident in the new all-wool carpets created for this year, too.

Fine, formal texture weaves in two, three and even four levels of pile height are here. Some are constructed with different types of yarn to give added textural interest to the soft finishes of fine furniture.

Cotton fiber coverings are also in evidence, and some are woven on that sets off the blonde finishes of contemporary furniture beautifully. Green can be found in endless variations: limitless as nature's own colors.

The gold family which came to the carpet scene last year is found not only as an accent color but also in solid color floor coverings.

Some of the yarns used have been spun with varied colors, a new departure from the more conservative colors which have different values of one color.

Now it's easy to find deep grays combined with melon pink, brown mixed with citron or pink-beige, olive with natural or cockatoo red, and all give delightful effects.

Inspiration from the great outdoors is responsible for much of the color and design to be found in the new floor coverings.

news, the natural snowy whiteness and uniformity of color makes it possible for cotton rugs to take on hues which are remarkably brilliant when high colors are desired.

If you're interested in red, there's Persian, barn red and a lovely shade the color of ripe tomatoes, in addition to the old reds with which you're already familiar.

Previously, the drapes or all covers have set the decorating trend for the room. With the new color palette in rugs available now, if you like, the carpeting can set the color tones for the room.

The reason for this arises out of the many different effects which are now achieved with carpeting. Some of the yarns used have been spun with varied colors, a new departure from the more conservative colors which have different values of one color.

KEEPING HEALTHY Cortisone Can Relieve All Arthritics

By Dr. James W. Boston

WHEN A DISEASE existed in animals before man appeared on earth, has existed in many ever since, and after all these years may finally disappear, we can readily see why physicians, and patients suffering with arthritis, are watching the almost daily reports on the effectiveness of ACTH and cortisone.

HEALTH NOTES Vitamin tablets should be taken only when there is a proven deficiency of the particular vitamin. Most pain on the left side is completely unrelated to the heart. Your doctor has a simple medical test that will tell you whether you're suffering from constipation or imagination.

ONCE OVER Garbles Give Up to Confusion

By H. I. Phillips

DID you ever see so many investigations, trials, hearings and reports as now? If we don't find out this time how that witness jumped out of the Coney Island hotel when six cops were guarding him to see that the Westmeyer report did not leak out and prove the Joint Chiefs of Staff dropped the Anastasia case, we never will.

"Why should the public be barred from these Washington hearings?" "I can't figure it out. The people have a right to know whether O'Dwyer went into Mexico against the advice of Marshall and Bradley and why the report was suppressed for four years."

"Do you think there really was a stenographic record taken on Wake Island at the time of the Moran case or that Haley and the committee just made it up from notes?" "You've got me. If the racketeers had so much power all over the country why shouldn't their privileged sanctuary be bombed like anywhere else no matter what Costello or Adams thought?"

"The Acheson Committee should have gone into the states where its own members lived. Why did they avoid them?" "I think it looked funny to show up the mobsters in Chicago, San Francisco and New York and not mention Iraq, Mukdooch, Waka Island and Maryland."

"What did you think of the Vogel case?" "Why blame him for not enforcing the gambling laws and naming friends of Erickson to office? He wasn't even in the country at the time."

"Were you surprised at the charges that the Mafia had such a wide influence all over this country?" "Yes, but how can we wipe out the Mafia if Truman and Acheson won't let us bomb his bases, regardless of what Jessup, Sherman and the Mayor of Saratoga think?"

"New York, Missouri and Florida got a terrific lacing from the MacKefauver Board but how can a watchdog committee do much while the U.N. is negotiating for a cease-fire agreement?"

"The trouble is that a lot of what happened were taken down in longhand by the Joint Chiefs of Staff and you have got to remember that one of the witnesses just got out of a Hungarian jail and is in no condition to testify."

"We certainly can't put everything into our fight against the Chinese Reds, the Mafia and corruption in Miami at a time when we may be drawn into a battle to save Europe, Saratoga, Dawson and the Mediterranean."

"Right. The whole thing is global just as MacArthur, Mickey Mantle, Leo Durocher, and Senator Tobey say."

"There's one thing I want to ask. Do you think the Senate Armed Services committee will question Sherman, who was missing since away back before the Formosa issue ever came up?"

"They got Lee's and Grant's stories; why shouldn't they get his?"

KATHLEEN NORRIS

Must Good Girl Be Unpopular?

SOME TIME AGO I wrote an article about decency. Decency, that plain old-fashioned modesty in speech, in the books we read and the clothing we wear and the jokes at which we laugh.

I asked the women who read that article to write me. They wrote me by the hundred. The letters and postcards came in tied in bundles. And they all said one thing: that America's mothers and teachers are sick of nakedness and coarseness in pictures, and radio programs, in drugstore books and shameless jokes.

Because I simply cannot answer all these messages personally, I say thank you for them here. And I ask these mothers and teachers to take up this work of protecting our young people from the contagion of vulgarity, of ugly familiarity with the most degraded aspects of criminal and sexual depravity. Take up this cause with your own children first, with your club, with the parents-teachers group, and with protests to your movies. Keep it up steadily and patiently; talk about it. If this flood of mail is any indication, every responsible woman in the world is with you.

is It Too Late? One woman wrote me that she did truly believe in decency, in self-control, in modesty, in purity. But she asked, how the world any use for them today? Is it too late to start training daughters in the old-fashioned virtues of purity?

"My daughter is 17, and she is lovely, gifted and intelligent," says Henri Paget's letter. "In her younger school days she was the center of a merry, admiring group of girls. But at 15 and 16 all that dropped. The girls became boy-crazy; they began to 'go steady.' They drifted away, making dates in their early teens—that we would not have been allowed to make at 20—Pamela shared none of this. I had long prepared her mind for the fact that she was not to be one of the crowd that flocked about to drugstore counters, night clubs, and sophisticated movies; her father and I saw to it that she had a normal, happy time, but we watched her amusements and her books, and above all, her associates.

"What was the result? Why, that she was regarded as a prude, and gradually dropped from all the plans of her friends. Pamela, they said, was no fun, couldn't do anything, never got away from parental apron-strings; she was actually disliked because she supposedly thought herself superior.

"What encouragement does her story offer to mothers anxious to bring up their girls in the old dignified way? Pam's week ends are empty. If she sees a movie it is with her father or myself. And, yet as I began by telling you, she is an exceptionally lovely and gifted girl. What chances would an ordinary girl have if this is the present attitude toward decency, character and self-control?"

Half the Problem To this mother I say in answer that she has only grasped half the problem. Merely to forbid children dangerous amusements is to leave a big vacuum in their lives. That vacuum must be filled by safer occupations, and if Pamela's mother and father haven't been finding them and developing them, they are almost as much to blame as are the purveyors of the more dangerous sort.

Since childhood Pamela should have been encouraged in friendships that her parents could approve. Not all girls are wild; not all comic strips and paper-covered books are filthy; not all movies stress the impudic and sexy side of life. Most of our American families, living in apartments, in suburbs, in small country towns, have high ideals, and most mothers and fathers are in touch with enough that is going on in civic and social and church and charitable circles to introduce their children to some of life's realities.

WITH BATTALIONS of fighting men from all the corners of the world mustered beneath the U. N. blue-and-white banner, many an odd dish is reported cropping up on the military menus. U. S. army rations are standard fare for most of the U. N. troops. But there are variations.

Disdaining G.I. coffee, British Tommies brew Chinese tea for breakfast, lunch, mid-afternoon "spot" and dinner. Mustachioed Turks and swarthy Greeks take thin, hard loaves of bread with olive oil and no leavening. Thailanders splash whole bottles of Louisiana tobacco hot sauce on the rice and beans U. S. army dished and then call for the pepper. Wounded Americans on the hospital ship "Jullandia" teach Danish chefs how to broil cheeseburgers and mix ice cream for Danish pastry à la mode.

Korea's international army is composed of men from at least 14 nations in addition to the United States, England, France, Australia, Canada, New Zealand, Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxembourg, Greece, Turkey, Thailand, Colombia, South Africa and the Philippine Republic have sent troops.

Great Britain's brigades include killed Scotsmen. Puerto Ricans are numbered among U. S. soldiers. India, Denmark and Sweden have sent medical units. Enroute from Ethiopia are 1,100 crack infantrymen from Emperor Haile Selassie's imperial bodyguard. A company of Cubans is in training for Korea.

The army tries its best to supply foods which will not clash with national eating habits or religious principles. Unless battle pressure makes it impossible, pork-free meats are supplied to Moslem troops, who would be horrified at the gusto with which Filipinos eat young barbecued pigs whenever they can catch them. Quartermasters scratched their heads over a large olive order, until they learned it was requested for Greek mountain fighters.

JET INJECTIONS

Future Draftees May Get Shots By High-Pressure Jet Apparatus

The plight of auto mechanics and others who work near hydraulic oil lines may have led to an invention that will be hailed by a great many United States army soldiers who face enemy gunfire unflinchingly, but who quail at the sight of a hypodermic needle.

This is how future army men may receive their shots. Above an army doctor is testing the experimental multiple dose jet injection apparatus that the army may adopt.

This new device, now in the advanced experimental stages in the U.S. army medical service graduate school in Washington, D. C., is a multiple dose high-pressure injection apparatus which is shaped much like a pistol, and may be used in the future for rapidly inoculating groups of people with shots of vaccines, antibiotics, insulin and others.

Research has not yet revealed who first thought of using a high pressure jet to force medications through the skin, but Dr. Joel Warren, of Washington, D. C., chief of virus research at the army school, believes that automotive lubricants accidentally forced by pressure into mechanics' subcutaneous tissues probably first prompted the inspiration.

It was noted that fine jets of oil at high velocity, as from a leaking hydraulic line, could penetrate human skin and leave little or no mark. If this phenomena could be applied to inoculations, it was reasoned that besides doing away with the pain and psychological hazard of the unpopular hypodermic needle, jet injection would have several other important advantages:

- 1. With a multiple dose apparatus, large numbers of people could be given protective vaccines or medication in a short time. This consideration is particularly applicable to civilian defense efforts

In the event of atomic bombings or other disasters affecting entire communities,

2. In using hypodermic needles to inoculate large cross-sections of any community, there would be some danger of transmitting infections. Because the jet nozzle does not penetrate the tissues as the needle does, this danger is eliminated.

3. No special training is required for giving inoculations by the jet method.

4. When produced in quantity, jet injection apparatus will be relatively inexpensive.

It was some of these considerations, Doctor Warren believes, that prompted a diesel engineer named Lockhart to patent in 1946 the first instrument especially designed for parenteral jet injection.

The R. B. Scherer Corporation of Detroit, Michigan, developed Lockhart's device and arranged for anatomical and other studies with his "gun," the Hypo-Spray, a hand-cocking, single-shot instrument.

This first excursion into the field of jet inoculations was field tested for the United States army by Dr. Herbert Batson and Captain Robert Wall.

They found that the principle of jet injection was feasible for administering bacterial vaccines. The Hypo-Spray, they found, would do all that the hypodermic needle could do in this line, and do it without the possibility of cross-infection and virtually without pain.

While the automatic-loading jet "gun" is not yet ready for general Army use because of several minor engineering details which still remain to be worked out, it is already clear, according to Doctor Warren, that administration of vaccines, such as those for typhoid, typhus, tetanus, and diphtheria, antibiotics, such as penicillin and insulin, and other biologicals, is both feasible and highly desirable.

Those who volunteered for demonstration shots were dubious at first, but as the tests proceeded, eagerly began to ask:

"When can we get all our shots this way?"

There are some disadvantages to the jet method. One of these is the occasional failure of the jet to penetrate the skin when it is particularly thick, or is subcutaneous fat. A control that will enable the operator to vary the pressure within limits according to the individual being inoculated is being worked out.

The jet injection method applies only to subcutaneous and intradermal medication; intravenous injections cannot be given in this way. Nor is the "gun" designed to handle highly viscous material such as oil suspensions.

PREPARING TO LAY ASPHALT TILES

Question: Does a basement floor need any special treatment before laying asphalt tile? Answer: The concrete floor must be dry, clean, and free of paint or other finish. Spread a special mastic cement over the concrete with a paste spreader and then press the tile down into place. You will need a trowel, knife and a blowtorch to soften tile for cutting and trimming. Be careful not to put down too much cement, for it will ooze up between the tiles. Such work is usually done by a floor contractor.

It's Wonderful the Way Chewing-Gum Laxative Acts Chiefly to REMOVE WASTE -NOT GOOD FOOD

Here's the secret millions of folks have discovered about FREN-A-MINT, the modern chewing-gum laxative. You know why FREN-A-MINT's action is so wonderfully different? Doctors say that many other laxatives start their "pushing" action too soon... right in the stomach where food is being digested. Large doses of such laxatives upset digestion, flush away nourishing food you need for health and energy. You feel weak, worn out. But gentle FREN-A-MINT, taken as recommended, works chiefly in the lower bowel where it removes only waste, not good food! You avoid that typical wash-tired, worn-out feeling. Use FREN-A-MINT and feel your "peppy," energetic self! Get FREN-A-MINT! No increase in price—still 25¢, 50¢ or only 10¢.

How Will the Future Decide MacArthur Question?

By Wright A. Patterson

THE AMERICAN PEOPLE have thoroughly demonstrated their appreciation of and belief in the abilities of General of the Army Douglas MacArthur. By their tremendous demonstrations they have expressed their love and gratitude for the services he has rendered their nation. Unofficially, that includes the senators and representatives in congress. They, too, rendered their unqualified homage to a great man and their belief in his announced policies, when the general addressed their joint session.

Now there remains the official congressional verdict. Will that verdict, if and when it is rendered, support the President and his unpopular secretaries of state and defense, or will it support the judgement of the man in whom the people have so enthusiastically expressed their confidence and appreciation? At the time this is written, I need only see guess as to what the result will be.

There will be no definite verdict. Congress will constitute a hung jury, regardless of the wishes of the people. Congress, as such, is a partisan political organization. A bare majority in both houses, senate and house, represents the party of the President, and the decidedly unpopular secretaries of state and defense whom the President appointed, and whom he resigned to fire.

That bare majority of the President's party, controlling both senate and house, cannot afford to repudiate the leader of their party, nor will they censure or vote a lack of confidence in the members of his cabinet whom the people have so definitely denounced.

When it is all over, and Congress has had its official say, we will be right where it all started. Except Douglas MacArthur will know as definitely as wild enthusiasm across the nation can express the attitude of the people of the nation, just where he stands in the hearts of the American people. No action, or lack of action, on the part of congress can take that away from him. The President may, if he wishes, accept such a stalemate as a victory for his policies and those of his secretaries of state, and defense, rather than as a vote of partisan political expediency.

Such is the way of partisan politics in our United States. Such is the way of our republic of the people who are in control of the government at all times. The only way we can express our displeasure with a President, once he is elected, is to impeach him if he does something that goes beyond his constitutional authority.

The people did not question the authority of the President to fire Gen. MacArthur, but they questioned his method of doing it. The extent of such disapproval was evidenced in a radio poll, conducted by Fulton Lewis, Jr., in which he

THE FICTION CORNER

AGGIE

By Richard H. Wilkinson

QUENTIN, north woods guide, told me this story. "It happened shortly after gold was discovered up near Hayden," he began. "It wasn't much of a strike. A settlement, however, sprung up and they named it Leland, after Jim. A year after the first log buildings were erected the settlers decided they ought to have a school teacher, and they sent down to Ottawa for one. Miss Agnes Sheldon volunteered and I was delegated to meet her at the station in Twin Forks. It was a six-day canoe trip, the only practical means of summer transportation.

"One look at Miss Agnes Sheldon when she stepped from that train and I smelled trouble. She wasn't old, but her features bore a mature look. She wore a severe black suit, bone-rimmed glasses, cotton stockings, laced boots.

"When I introduced myself she looked at me as though I were some new kind of insect. That made me mad at the start. I scouted around the town and borrowed some apparel for her to wear that was suitable for the trip. "I offered them to her and she glared at me as though I'd called her a bad name. In no uncertain terms she assured me she was capable of choosing her own costumes.

trip would teach her a much needed lesson. I did, however, endeavor to prevail upon her to rub some mosquito lotion on her skin before we started. She wasn't, she said, going to smear herself up like a savage. "The mosquitoes were pretty bad that year. Before noon of the first day Miss Sheldon was bitten so badly it hurt me to look at her. I offered her the lotion again and she refused it. I could see then that she was stubborn.

"The morning after the first night I crawled out of my tent at dawn and found that Miss Sheldon was up ahead of me. She was down at the river, bathing her face. By the look of her clothes, she'd slept in them.

"The remainder of that trip was something to write home about. With each passing mile Miss Sheldon got more uncomfortable and more obstinate. And I, though I pitied her, got pretty stubborn myself. I decided not to offer her the lotion again until she asked for it. I was sure that sooner or later she'd break down and admit defeat. But she didn't.

"We had a pretty tough time to the Little Falls rapids because the river was high that year. We shipped a lot of water and Miss Sheldon got drenched through to the skin. That night it rained and she slept in wet clothes. The next day she broke her glasses, and because of near sightedness was always tripping over things.

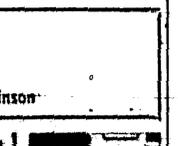

"We reached Leland shortly after noon of the sixth day and there was quite a delegation down to meet us. Jim was there, beaming a welcome and ready to make a speech. But at sight of Miss Sheldon the beam died on his lips.

"Gentlemen," I says, "this here's Miss Agnes Sheldon, our new school teacher. She aims to bring a bit of civilization into our settlement, and I reckon she's done it."

"Well, sir, if Miss Sheldon bated me before, she despised me after that speech. But I'm danged if I could help it. This was my first experience with a female and I tell you I was mad. Any dumbhead who'd let mosquitoes bite the tar out of her like that, deserved to be tad what was thought of her."

"Jim Leland's wife fetched her up to their cabin and put her to bed. She stayed there for almost two weeks. Mosquitoes, sunburn and wet clothes had danged near ruined her.

"Me, after I'd cooled off some, I felt kind of apologetic and decided the best thing I could do was to get out of town for a spell. But I didn't. No, sir I stuck there and found my medicine. There's nothing like being married to a wife who's got a mind of her own—they say.

In no uncertain terms Agnes Sheldon told him she was capable of choosing her own costumes.

Out of Ruins

Lesson for June 2, 1961

A GERMAN who came through a World War II recently said: "At present there is no country in the world where a man can live more like a man than in Germany. This is because yesterday has been reduced to ruins and rubbish..." We can thank God that he has blessed us with ruins more than he has others. This may sound shocking, but it sounds not unlike the Bible. There were Jews in ancient times who lived to thank God for the ruins of Jerusalem.

At Last They Believed
If you had asked a resident of that city, at the hour when the enemy army was burning his beloved home, if God's hand was in the catastrophe, most likely he would have said, "No, not by any means. This is Nebuchadnezzar's work, or the devil's—certainly not God's."

Consider what good came out of it. For one thing, it taught the Jews that God is really a God of justice, after all. The nation that sinned, it shall die; the nation that takes the sword shall perish by the sword. The prophets had been trying to tell them that for many a long year; but no attention had been paid. The sins the prophets had said God would surely punish, went on and on, and there seemed to be no reckoning and no punishment. The little nation was deluded into thinking it could get by with anything for as long as they pleased. But after the crash of 586 B.C., they all knew the prophets had been telling the truth.

Yesterday Is Dead
FOR another thing, the exile cured the Jews, for a long time, of trying to be a political nation like other nations. God had called them to another kind of existence. So long as they had been an independent nation they had kept fooling around with politics, armies, international intrigue. After all that had been swept into Nebuchadnezzar's dustbin, the people's hearts turned more and more to God and his laws.

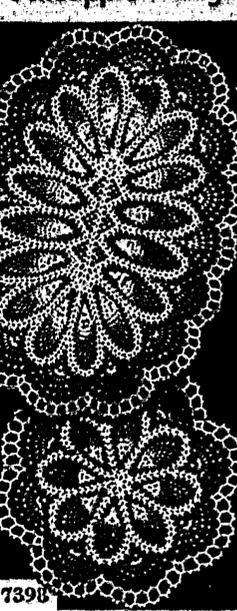

Another way in which that city-wide ruin was a blessing was that it "killed yesterday." Before the fatal year 586, the Hebrew kings and people had more or less looked backward. Every king wanted to be a great conqueror like David, a wealthy potentate like Solomon. But they never would look the cold fact in the face, that these days were gone forever. But when the exiles came back to rebuild the ruins, the younger ones at least looked forward. Yesterday was dead; they built now for tomorrow.

Blessed With Ruins
RUINS can be a blessing in more ways than one. So Chicago and San Francisco and Baltimore were better cities after their big fires; Louisville improved after its great flood; the "New South" of today is blessed as the Old South, for all its glamor, would not have been. Sometimes a man who has been depending on anything but God for hope and happiness—on his money, on his friends, on his health, on his position—finds these things swept out from under him, and then at last comes back to God. After a man's childhood faith has been shattered by manhood's disillusionments, it has often come to pass that out of the ruins of the childish beliefs he rears a tower of faith far stronger than anything he has lost.

Let's Not Make Rules
THIS does not mean, of course, that we ought ever to go out and deliberately make rules. The best way to improve other nations is not to drop bombs on them; the best way to be improved ourselves is not to act in such ways as to tempt other nations to drop bombs on us. The best way to build a better faith is not to scrap all the faith we have. The best way to find God is not to go out and find him in a far-land. The blessings of ruins are not the best God has; but sometimes they are what it takes to bring a man to his senses. And if the crash does come, and the towers fall, and life lies in rubble around us, we must remember what the Hebrews learned: that even in the ruins we may, better than ever, come to know the living God.
