 The Bi-Weekly Bridge Club was entertained at the home of Mrs. Corinne Provine on Wednesday, June 6. Bridge prizes were received by Mrs. Bert Cheney and Mrs. Dean Earl.  Bobbie Peebles flew to Camp Chaffee, Ark., Sunday for two weeks of intensive military training.
 Since striking water last year, Ben Pfingsten has succeeded in making a small Garden of Eden of his ranch. He has a luxurious vegetable garden, several kinds of berries, and flowers of all varieties.
 Sunday night we left the sprinkler going in the yard. Next morning the trees, grass and flowers were a shower of icicles.
 Floy-Skinner has undergone surgery at the S. P. General Hospital in San Francisco and is reported to be doing fine.
 While Mr. Skinner is away, his cattle are being rounded up and branded by Sam and Dick Cox, the Guck boys, Henry Peebles, Eddie Womack, Ted Zumwalt, Wesley Lindsay, Eugene Petree, Gill Peters and a few others. Almost as many cowboys as calves.
 The Lincoln County Game Protective Association by-laws committee met at the Ranger Station to draw up a set of rules to be submitted to the organization. Those on the committee were Joe Ferguson, Heavy Stewart and Ed Guck.
 I might just as well tell the whole county that the Game Department dumped some trout in Nogal Lake last week. I thought I might keep the news for my own benefit, but if we had to depend on my catch for food, we'd all be shadows. Besides, at 5 A. M. Saturday morning there were seven carloads of campers already fishing.
 Pete Vance has arrived at the Peg Pfingsten ranch for the summer. Leota has a packet of hungry boys to feed for a couple months.
 Glen Zumwalt was taken to Roswell Tuesday for medical attention.
 Randall Halladay has almost finished the cutting and milling of the Jones timber at Angus.
 Sonny Luck reported about 150 visitors on Monjeau Sunday.

Cattle Growers Sponsor Three-Way Program
 A three-way program to encourage greater interest in livestock production among ranch and farm youth of New Mexico has been announced by the New Mexico Cattle Growers Association in a statement issued by Roy Forehand, Carlsbad, president. Commercial cattle feeding, improved breeding cattle and livestock loss prevention will be stressed in the 1951 association plan.
 Four breeding heifers will be awarded at the New Mexico State Fair this fall in a jointly sponsored agreement between the cattlemen and fair association. Winners in this event will compete in a breeding heifer contest open to all members of recognized 4-H or FFA clubs in the state.
 A commercial feeding project, also sponsored jointly by the two organizations, will also be judged at the 1951 New Mexico State Fair in Albuquerque. Forehand said. 4-H and FFA youth feeding pens of calves for this event will be eligible for an all expense paid trip to a central market such as Kansas City to market their calves following the fair.
 The livestock loss prevention contest sponsored jointly by the New Mexico Cattle Growers and New Mexico Wool Growers Associations offers an expense paid trip to the National Western Livestock Show in Denver next January to the winners in this event. Last year Nancy Knight and Robert Peebles of Lincoln County won this contest.
 "All junior livestock contests will be under supervision of the State Extension Service and Vocational Agricultural Instructors," Forehand said. "Rules and regulations for each event can be secured from county agents and vocational agricultural instructors throughout the state."
 Parasites, disease and unbalanced rations will retard the growth of pigs so much that they may sell for less than the cost of raising them.

NOTICE OF HEARING ON

Automotive Salute to Detroit's Birthday

The Chevrolet Motor Division salutes the 25th birthday of the design company employees used 179 new passenger cars to form figures each 210 feet deep and 60 feet wide which have made the city world-famous. In laying feet across, covering more than 44,000 square feet.

Timely Tips

With the budding of Spring flowers new life seems to come into our veins, and this gives thought to putting new life into the old homestead. If your budget is limited this year and you can't do all you'd like, try these little-cost decorating tricks.

Slipcover a lamp shade and waste basket with some frilly fabric, such as creole embroidered cotton or organza. This will give a very feminine look to a bedroom for the girls. Little pillows of the same fabric, tossed carelessly on the bed, add the final feminine flip.

If the kitchen is merely having its face washed, enliven it by running a wallpaper border just under the ceiling as a cornice. There are some very gay ones of peasant folks or bright-hued floral patterns. The kitchen will look as though it had its face lifted!

Paint an old chest or table with a spatterdash treatment using a base enamel in some color appropriate for the room in which it is to be used. Black works out very well anywhere, spattered with silver, gold or yellow. Here's how to do it: Let the last undercoat dry to a gluey consistency. Dip the brush in the spatter color, taking only a moderate amount of paint. Then hold a thick, round stick in one hand, and with the other hand tap the spatter brush against the stick so that the color is aimed at the center of the area you want to cover.

Try new mats of wallpaper on some of your pictures. Most suitable are stripes, checks and plaids. This is an excellent way, too, to increase the size of pictures without great expense in new framing.

This is the time of year to guard against cocklebur poisoning in pigs and cattle. Keep animals away from cocklebur containing pastures until these plants pass the two-leaf stage.

Withholding Of Cattle Denied By Forehand

"Western range livestock producers cannot honestly be accused of withholding cattle from the market because of government price ceilings," said Roy Forehand, president of the New Mexico Cattle Growers Association. "The most noticeable effect of the recent price rollback order on the western cattleman is that cattle feeders in the corn belt and wheat states have almost stopped offering to buy western calves for fall delivery."

Cattle produced in New Mexico and other western states are generally unfit for slaughter. Forehand pointed out. "Ninety-five per cent of the cattleman in this state operate on a cow and calf basis," he explained. "This means that cows are maintained on the ranch while calves are sold each year and normally delivered to cattle feeders in the fall months of September, October and November. Calves are generally sold between June and August to order buyers and feeders." Forehand said.

"Cattle feeders who purchased high priced calves last year and this spring with a guarantee from Eric Johnston, director of economic stabilization, that prices would not be rolled back, now find themselves in a squeeze of higher feed costs, higher labor costs and a government ceiling which will not allow them to sell at a profit. These people can hardly be expected to take another chance on cattle feeding this year when they cannot tell which way the government will turn in its price control program," Forehand said.

The livestock industry is not attempting to justify the high price of meat, but rather to show that the "law of supply and demand governs production of livestock from the baby calf to the butcher counter."

"Our association is expected to present a sound program for increased production of beef at our next quarterly meeting, scheduled to be held in Clayton on June 22 and 23," Forehand said. "Government threats that a breakdown in the livestock price rollback will destroy the entire price-wage control program are foolish. We don't have an effective across-the-board program now and we will never have such a program so long as politics govern each move made by the administration," Forehand stated.

-and then some!

THERE are a lot of reasons you can expect a new GMC to keep hauling a lot longer than any other truck you can buy.

First is the fact of horsepower. Whether it's a gasoline-powered $\frac{1}{2}$ - to 2-tonner with horsepower unbeaten in its class, or one of the new heavy-duty Diesels—you can't beat a GMC for "go!"

But the extra value you find in these great trucks doesn't end at the power plant.

There's the smooth GMC Synchro-Mesh Transmission linked to a sharp-shooting drive line, pouring every ounce of power back to the rugged rear axle. And the solid way horsepower becomes wheel-action—you know there's extra depth of truck performance engineered right down through a GMC's broad-shouldered frame!

And standing guard over these long-time trucks are husky brakes with more area than most—the surest, easiest steering ever devised to direct a pay load home—all controlled from a spacious "Six-Footer" Cab that's Weathersealed for a lifetime.

GMC's come in the widest range of engine-body-chassis combinations to fit any trucking need. The prices? No better buy anywhere! Come see for yourself.

Scholarship Memorial To Late Gen. Arnold

Air Force personnel and their dependents can go to college with funds provided by the Air Force Aid Society, thanks to some unthoughtful thinking on the part of the late General Henry (Map) Arnold.

At the time of the death of General of the Air Force Hap Arnold, Mrs. Arnold requested that instead of flowers, those interested, send gifts to the educational fund in which General Arnold had been particularly interested.

More than $20,000 was received. It was proposed that an appropriate memorial honoring General Arnold be established in the form of a scholarship of fellowship. The board of trustees of the Air Force Aid Society titled this scholarship "The General Henry H. Arnold Educational Fund."

The fund is available to children of officers and airmen whose parents might not otherwise be able to send their children to college or vocational school above the high school level. It is the intent to adhere to the following priority in providing funds: Children of Air Force personnel who died as a result of their service; children of Air Force personnel who died subsequent to the ending of hostilities, and children of Air Force personnel, generally.

The cost of tuition may be a grant and an amount not to exceed $300 a year may be loaned a student for other expenses. This requires the student to earn part of the cost by working during school terms or during vacations. The costs of a college education have increased and very few scholarships are available from any source which cover all expenses.

The fund is constantly being increased by donations from women's clubs at many Air Force bases and by donations from individuals in service and in civilian life. The old society desires to increase the educational fund so that in the coming years when the students need help, no approved application will be denied for lack of funds.

USDA Announces Price Supports For Bean Crop

Support prices for the 1951 crop of pinto beans have been announced by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, according to J. Z. Rowe, state extension economist at New Mexico A&M College.

For New Mexico, U. S. No. 1 cleaned 1951 crop beans will be supported at $7.20 per hundredweight in all counties except McKinley, Rio Arriba, San Juan, Taos and Valencia. For McKinley and Valencia counties, the rate will be $7.07 per hundredweight, and in Rio Arriba, San Juan and Taos counties, the rate will be $6.99 per hundredweight. This is 2 cents per hundredweight higher than the 1950 support price.

The prices announced are for beans on a U. S. No. 1 cleaned basis. As a result, the difference between the 1950 and the 1951 support prices reflects not only an increase in the average support price, but also the change in price relationship between classes as well as increased costs of cleaning, bagging, etc., Rowe explains.

LOCAL DELEGATES ATTEND BOYS, GIRLS STATE THIS WEEK

Richard Lopez is the Carrizozo delegate to Boys State at El Rito this week, and Miss Roberta Key is the local representative at Girls State in Fortales. Miss Key plans to go to Enid, Okla., from Fortales to join her mother, Mrs. Janie Key. The latter is attending Phillips University there and studying for her master's degree. Mrs. Key and her daughter will be the guests of relatives in the Oklahoma city during the summer months.

Price support will be available to producers through loans and purchase agreements on warehouse or farm stored beans from the beginning of harvest through January 31, 1952. One restriction is that beans containing more than 16 per cent moisture are not eligible for support, as beans with more moisture than 16 per cent do not store well for long periods.

Grain Sorghums May Be Profitable Crop In '51

Grain sorghums will be a good bet as a crop for New Mexico farmers this year, says J. Z. Rowe, extension economist at New Mexico A&M College. Newly established government price supports for 1951 crop grain sorghums will be about 29 cents higher than the previously announced price support, Rowe explains. At the national price support level of $2.17 a hundredweight, New Mexico farmers would receive about $2.05 a hundredweight for their 1951 grain sorghums.

"Farmers' planting intentions in March indicated that grain supplies, based on average yields, will be about 6 per cent smaller this year than in 1950," the economist says. "If less feed grains are produced to meet the present high rate of feeding, there would be about 10 per cent less feed concentrates per animal unit in 1951-52 than in the past year. Demand for feed is expected to remain strong in the 1951-52 feeding year because of the higher prices being paid for livestock and because of increased livestock numbers on farms.

"Grain sorghums will also be a money-maker for wheat farmers whose crop failed this spring. If growing conditions are favorable on the east side of the state, sorghums will provide an excellent opportunity for a cash crop this year."

FORT STANTON

By L. D. FISH

After being under the weather for a month with too much to worry about I finally have a column again after a lapse of two weeks.

Here is an item that should have been in a week ago, but it is worth mentioning here. At the Memorial Day services in Captain seven Fort Stanton Boy Scouts took places in the parade and carried American flags scaled to their size. Carl Mankinen, Jimmie Armer, Ernest Sanchez, Joe Wilson, Joey Ferguson, Jere White and Jimmie Minter were all dressed up in their uniforms and looked good parading along with the men who preserved their birthright for them. Scoutmaster Ray Baker was with them. Poses for you, Ray, for helping so much to make our boys something to be proud of.

Last week two parties were given here. One for Ed White and his family (they are leaving the Fort soon) and one last Saturday especially for Jere. Every kid on the Fort was invited and I guess they had a wonderful time from what they have told me. They presented Jere with an official Boy Scout canteen and hatchet. People all over this county will miss the Whites when they leave. Ed should draw six pensions, he did the work of six men ever since I've known him. Too bad the administration has no way of acknowledging such complete devotion to duty.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Minter passed their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary on the 9th. Several of the older residents here gave them a party on the 11th. Bert is another of those unsung heroes who have plugged along to keep the high standards of efficiency maintained here at the Fort.

Mrs. Boyd went to Portales this week to attend summer school and took Clare along with her. Tools that are used a lot have to be sharpened don't they, Mrs. Boyd? A teacher's lot is not an easy one.

Robert Peebles is going to Camp Chaffee, Ark., to take training in the organized reserve, U. S. Army.

Speaking of the Army reminds me that the rest camp on the "dither" side of the Bonita "crick" has been opened some time for the men from Walker Air Force Base. We welcome our soldiers. They either send only the best ones out here or the Army has changed a lot since I was in it 20 years ago. Just talking to these men makes the Combies seem a little less important.

Last week my daughter, Mary went with Mr. MacClain and Mrs. Gould to the initiation of the Rainbow Girls in Carrizozo.

Bishop Stoney, Episcopal Church, was here last Sunday. A reception was held in his honor at the Nurses Home.

Guy Tom Howard is home for the summer vacation from New Mexico Military Institute.

Dr. and Mrs. Kopping are on vacation. Didn't say where they were going. More about that next time.

Frank Canoe, George Fogarty and John Davis were discharged within the past 10 days. New admissions are Lucas Caspe, Jack Sprague and Gilbert Ortiz. Hope you men like it here. We don't guarantee anything, but we can give you something to do while you are getting well.

Albert Hall took the vacancy left by John Davis here in the laboratory. Albert is doing O. K. As of this writing, Mrs. Jim Howard is planning to take her mother, Mrs. Lund, to Questa today (Friday). They will visit Mrs. Howard's brother in Questa.

When I called Parkers I found that Mr. and Mrs. Ed Keeney were visiting them. Ed and I were both chief petty officers in the Navy in the last war. He tells me he is planning to come into to hospital here about June 20. That's told so that you folks who knew him before can drop in and see him, if permitted.

A couple of weeks ago I met Henry Sanchez's oldest boy. Looks just like Henry only about twice as big. Sort of the block off the old chip.

On June 7 the Eastern Star held its last meeting for the summer. A pot luck dinner was served. Their next meeting will be in September.

Mrs. MacClain said that Shirley is coming home about June 20.

The VFW is providing another of their dinners Father's Day. You folks who have been there before know that a VFW dinner is well worth the time and money spent. Why not make it a point to go up there to the VFW Home in Capitan and sit in with the boys and girls?

The superintendent of documents, Washington D. C., sent me a circular describing several pamphlets on laws pertaining to veterans. I gave the circular to

New Mexico Naval Reservists To Be Called

Another series of calls to active duty is being made from headquarters, Eighth Naval District, New Orleans, to naval reservists in New Mexico, Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana.

"At least 3,000 naval reserve petty officers will be called from the nation in this continuing buildup of strength," stated Rear Admiral W. K. Phillips, district commandant. "A proportionate number of these will be from the five-state area of this command."

The Navy's policy is to give 30 days minimum advance notice, and in some cases, the notification will be as much as 90 days ahead of the reporting date.

Ratings included in the quota are: Chief, first class, second class and third class petty officers in the rates of fire-control technician, fire controlman, personnel man, ship's serviceman, interior communications electrician and dental technician.

Chief, first class and second class petty officers in the rates of quartermaster, radarman, sonarman and electrician's mate.

First class, second class and third class petty officers in the rate of boilerman.

First class and second class petty officers in the rates of gunner's mate, machinist's mate, pipe fitter and damage controlman.

In recent years, the United States has produced 32 per cent of all meat produced throughout the world.

Is your subscription about to run out? Anyone want to pick up a new subscription? I'll be glad to take care of it for you if you wish. Two dollars (in the county) and a pleasant look will get you 52 consecutive issues of this column. The rest of the paper is thrown in for good measure.

I promised Mrs. Mullins I'd provide a nursery rhyme for her two little youngsters. Here it is: Hickory Dickory dock, the mouse ran up the clock. The clock ran down and so did the mouse but he's still running all over the house. (Didn't think I'd do it, did you?)

Minimum Wage Raises Permitted In Base Pay

Employers who increased wages after January 15, 1950, to comply with the 75 cents minimum of the amended fair labor standards act may incorporate those increases into their base pay period level for the purpose of figuring allowable increases under the 10 per cent formula set up by the National Wage Stabilization Board.

General wage regulation 6 limited allowable pay increases to 10 per cent above the level of January 15, 1950, or to 10 per cent above any other allowable base pay period.

But employers who want to incorporate their fair labor standards act increases into their base pay period level must obtain advance approval of the board before making such a change. Petitions for such approval should be submitted on form WS-6(b) to the wage-hour field office at 413 Federal Building in Albuquerque.

It is unlawful for any employer to pay, and for any employee to receive, any wage, salary or other compensation in violation of the regulations.

Fire Destroys Lincoln Turkey Habitat

The serious fire in the Lincoln National Forest of the Sacramento Mountains, which has burned over about 15,000 acres, according to the Department of Game and Fish, has destroyed a large amount of prime turkey habitat. This area southeast of Cloudercroft has at this time of the year many nests and small turkeys that also would be destroyed.

Ray Bell, chief of law enforcement, was called into fire fighting service with the department plane and worked constantly to help keep various units informed of the overall situation and necessary actions to be taken. Game men Orville Luttrell, Bill Humphries and Marlon Embrey also worked constantly to stem this tide of fire.

Once again State Game Warden Elliott S. Barker wants to warn all fishermen and picnickers of the extreme dryness of the forests and stream banks and to caution them to take extreme precautions to prevent more occurrences similar to the disastrous Sacramento fire.

Fishermen Told How To Avoid Lightning Hazard

Information has been received in the office of the New Mexico Game and Fish Department which tells of the approved method for fishermen caught in the middle of large bodies of water to avoid being struck by bolts of lightning. The data comes from the Texas Game Department.

Professor B. N. Gafford, Texas University mentor, states that the best way to avoid contact with the fared bolts of electricity is to get ashore prior to the time the storm strikes, but if this is not possible, then take the following precautions:

1. Place a metal fishing pole vertically fixing it so that the handle end is in the water and the tip projects into the air above the heads of the boat's occupants.
2. Lie down in the boat, whether the make-shift lightning rod is attached or not, so that the body is below the edges of the craft.

Lightning, states Gafford, is the result of electricity in the clouds being discharged into the earth or the closest object between the cloud and the earth. Therefore, fishermen on a river, where the banks extend above the water might have comparative safety, but anglers on a large area of water, where shore lines are distant, would be endangered.

Summer storms arise in New Mexico with startling suddenness, and it is often not possible to predict foul weather until it has broken. Trollers on the Sunshine State waters can, therefore, indulge in the sport with added safety if apprised of the value of their prize rods as lightning rods.

The university authority said persons on the land, caught outside in storms, might be safest by lying down in a low spot. If in a wooded area, they might well seek the largest open space between trees.

Professor Gafford ridiculed the old fashioned theories about protection from lightning, such as keeping rooms dark. He laughingly added: "When there's a storm, my good wife usually runs around the house snapping off the lights; and I follow closely in her footsteps turning them back on."

Grade Dairy Cattle In State Must Be Branded

All grade dairy cattle in New Mexico must be branded with a hot iron, according to the state brand law amended at the last session of the state legislature.

According to the law, every person owning grade dairy animals shall adopt a brand, which must be secured from and approved by the Cattle Sanitary Board in Albuquerque. The brand must be applied on grade dairy animals before ownership can be legally established. The law excepts registered animals which are identified by a proper tattoo mark and whose owner has been issued a certificate of brand exemption for his herd by the Cattle Sanitary Board.

The law also states that any unbranded cattle, except calves with a branded mother, shall be subject to seizure by any peace officer or authorized cattle inspector. Such cattle may be disposed of as strays.

To comply with the provisions of the law, all owners of grade dairy animals who do not now have a brand will have to make application to the Cattle Sanitary Board for a brand and, when the brand has been recorded, apply it to all grade animals. Owners of registered animals must apply to the board for exemption of their herd.

Purpose of the law is to prevent theft of dairy cattle.

Proof Must Accompany Claim To Deferment

Colonel Russell C. Charlton, New Mexico director of Selective Service, points out the burden of proof for former military service or for any other claim to deferment, be it college students, agricultural, industrial or any other type of deferment is completely upon the registrant himself. The colonel explained that local selective service boards cannot be expected to determine whether an individual's claim for deferment is true unless they have positive proof; consequently all claims for deferment should be accompanied by adequate proof that the claim is an accurate and bona fide one.

Colonel Charlton said, "as an example, claims for former military service may be established by a discharge certificate, or dependency by statements of the dependents and for reservists by presentation of proof from the military service to which they are assigned."

A number of instances in New Mexico were pointed out by the colonel where persons with dependents or other bona fide claims for deferment were included into the armed forces because of the registrant's failure to submit adequate proof of claim for deferment.

All registrants are cautioned that if they have a legitimate claim for deferment it must be presented to their local board in writing and in a creditable form before it can be considered.

Lincoln Co. Republicans Re-elect All Officers

At a recent meeting of Lincoln County Republicans at the courthouse in Carrizozo, which was attended by more than 80 delegates in person, or represented by proxies, all incumbent officers were re-elected for the ensuing year. They are: William W. Gallacher, Carrizozo, county chairman; Mrs. O. W. Samolson, Ruidoso, vice chairman; John E. Wright, treasurer; Mrs. Lloyd Vigil, secretary.

All county chairmen are automatically made members of the Republican State Central Committee. In addition, the Lincoln County Republican Party has four members at large. The following were elected to that committee from this county: L. S. (Heavy) Drake, Ruidoso, state representative for this district; Leon Mayer, Ruidoso; H. Elfred Jones and Nick Vega, both of Carrizozo.

Senior College Plans Approved By NMIMT

Regents' plans for New Mexico Institute of Mining and Technology, Socorro, ultimately to become a senior college offering only advanced studies and higher graduate degrees, came as a climax to the commencement address delivered June 8 by Dr. E. J. Workman, president of the institute.

At a meeting in Socorro on June 7, the NMIMT regents placed their stamp of approval upon a recommendation by the institute faculty that the college eventually devote its energies to advanced work. The document was read in full before the graduating class, student body and visitors at commencement exercises.

The document points out that the Constitution of New Mexico provides for the control and management of New Mexico School of Mines by its regents. An act of the last legislature has renamed the institution "New Mexico Institute of Mining and Technology."

"The institution fulfills its central purpose by providing a staff who are experts on the mineral resources of the state. The law authorizes the essential features of an organization to carry out this purpose," according to the statement.

The organization consists of three divisions—the college, the State Bureau of Mines and Mineral Resources, and the Research and Development Division.

Pointing out that UNMIMT serves as the official agency of the mineral industry, which is the largest industry in New Mexico, contributing more than $30 million annually in state taxes, the faculty stated its obligation to furnish qualified men for the industry's needs, as well as to contribute toward discovery and utilization of the state's resources in this field. To do this most effectively, the document suggested that the institute, both in facilities and staff, was particularly qualified to dedicate its future energies to training young people in advanced mineral technology and the allied sciences.

"The overall economy to the state of this proposed emphasis toward advanced work would depend upon the efficiency with which other institutions would be able to supply qualified students

Government Announces Tungsten Program

The regulation under which the General Services Administration will carry out a five-year domestic tungsten purchasing program to encourage the discovery, development and production of tungsten in the United States has been mailed to miners in New Mexico, Colorado, Utah and Wyoming, who have notified General Services Administration of their intent to participate in the purchase program, according to Otto G. Klein, Denver, General Services Administration regional director.

Klein explained that five miners in New Mexico have informed him of their intention to participate in the federal government's tungsten purchasing program.

"Miners in New Mexico, Colorado, Utah and Wyoming who are interested in the program must advise me of their plan to participate before June 30, 1951," Klein said. "The miner can notify us by letter, telegram or postcard."

Under the regulation, which interprets and implements the authority of General Services Administration to support the price of this critical tungsten trioxide, the guarantee will apply to specification grade tungsten concentrates.

The purchasing program will be carried out by General Services Administration in accordance with policy determinations for transfer to New Mexico School of Mines," the paper stated.

It was observed that NMIMT now has a strong, basic undergraduate program which prepares students for its degrees of bachelor and master of science. The elimination of the freshman and sophomore training is not contemplated for the immediate future—not until such a time as other institutions are able to supply suitable student timber to meet the rigorous academic standards of NMIMT.

The statement noted that the institute had tried with "outstanding success" a program in which graduate students were employed on a part time basis by the Research and Bureau of Mines Divisions.

made by Dr. James Boyd, defense minerals administrator. The concentrate need not be produced from newly discovered or developed ores, but must be produced from domestic ores.

To assist miners and prospectors to dispose of ores, the Defense Minerals Administration will aid private operators in the establishment of milling facilities in tungsten producing areas where such facilities are justified but not now available.

Klein urged miners and prospectors to contact the Defense Minerals Administration or the nearest office of the Bureau of Mines if they find that milling facilities are not available to them.

The regulation provides that "any operator of a concentrating plant by agreeing to participate in this program also agrees to purchase or process suitable tungsten contained ores offered to him by independent miners to the limit of the capacity of his plant, in excess of that required for his own production and own fair equitable terms and conditions. Each operator of a concentrating plant participating in the program shall promptly establish a schedule setting forth his terms and conditions (including prices) for the purchase of crude tungsten ores. Each operator shall promptly submit a copy of such a schedule to the administrator, and shall also submit promptly any changes made in such schedule thereafter."

Pregnancy disease in ewes often can be prevented by balanced rations and daily exercise, and by feeding molasses in the ration for about six weeks before lambs are born.

SCANNING THE WEEK'S NEWS of Main Street and the World

Cost-of-Living Index Stabilized For First Time Since June, 1950

THAT RISING SPIRAL—The government's predictions that prices would level off as a result of its numerous and sometimes confusing price regulations, seemed to be borne out with the announcement that the cost-of-living index has come to a dead stop.

The bureau of labor statistics put out two sets of figures that indicated the upward spiral had stopped for the first time since the outbreak of the Korean War last June.

Price Chief DiSalle. He told that farm bloc his best rollback order was justified.

As for food prices, the average home town housewife couldn't notice any decline, but according to government figures it was there—all .2 of a per cent of it. At the present time food prices are approximately 11.1 per cent above last June.

The confusing beef picture remained about the same with word from the White House that President Truman was "going to stand firm" behind Price Director Michael V. DiSalle on his order for the rollback.

THE PRICE WE PAY—For the first time since the Korean conflict began on June 25 of last year, the price we are paying for victory was made startlingly clear to the home town mothers and fathers of the nation.

Testifying before house and senate committees, Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, reported there have been 72,079 nonbattle casualties in Korea, boosting the total of all U.S. casualties in the war to 141,955.

Bradley told the senators there have been 62,270 battle casualties, including 10,630 dead. Of the nonbattle casualties, 612 died of such causes as pneumonia, automobile accidents, etc. Eighty-five per cent of the rest have returned to duty.

Release of these figures confirms rumors long circulated in the nation that casualties have been more than double those officially announced.

TRUMAN AND THE HOME TOWN—It was evident that President Truman had the home towns of the nation on his mind during his recent news conference. At two points he indicated he had been giving them considerable thought.

For one thing, he told newsmen that a third world war would turn American soil into a battle front. He said he believes that the people have enough intelligence and energy to meet any situation. But he indicated he was unwilling to take a chance on seeing how they would react under the destruction another world struggle would bring to the home towns of the nation.

The President would not say whether he will be a candidate again in 1952, but he did indicate another of his famous cross-country tours to tell the home towners his policies was a possibility.

In the 1948 election campaign the President carried his message to the home towners and made hundreds of speeches to small but enthusiastic audiences. His appeal on the local level is credited with his success in that campaign. It seems likely, therefore, that another cross-country swing is but a matter of time.

APPEAL TO MAIN STREET—Governments may argue and pass regulations, but they are ineffective if Main Street doesn't support them. This outstanding trait of democracy was demonstrated again when the house agriculture committee appealed to housewives and consumer representatives to come forward and defend the beef rollback—aimed at cutting the price of beef 5 to 10 cents at butcher stores by October 1.

Under continued assault from cattlemen, packers and distributors, the committee decided the best counterattack would be from Main Street customers. They wanted to hear from any consumers or consumer groups who think the beef order will benefit them.

Meanwhile the government ordered a cut in the number of cattle that may be slaughtered this month. The quota will be 67 per cent of the weight slaughtered in June, 1950. The purpose is to assure fair distribution of livestock among registered slaughterers and to prevent the rise of black markets.

WHAT CHANCES FOR PEACE?—Ever since the MacArthur incident impressed upon the man on Main Street the awful possibility of years of struggle in Korea, one question has been uppermost in the mind of every American—what are the chances for peace?

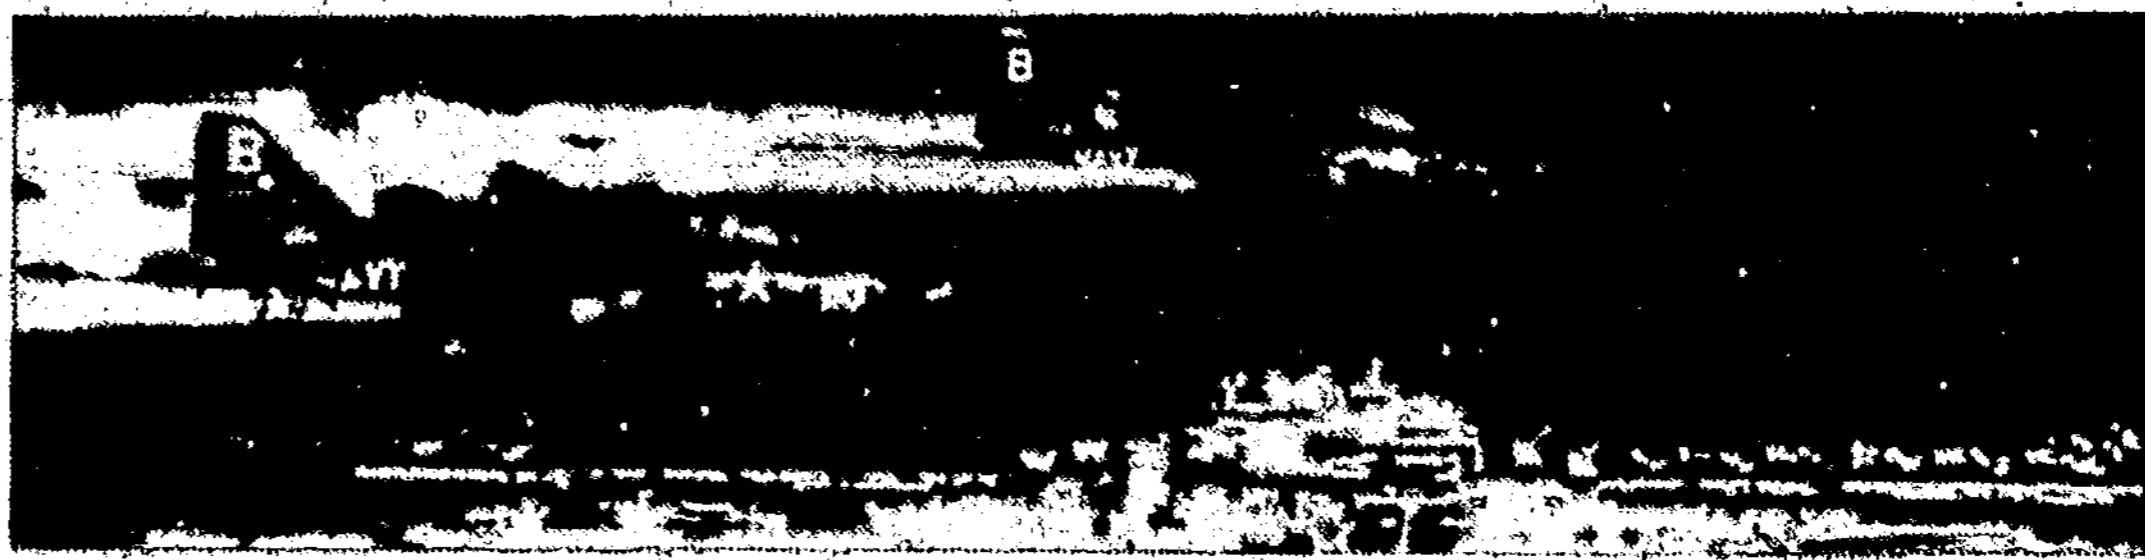

At present there are being circulated rumors of peace proposals. These rumors have grown since United Nations troops broke the back of the second Chinese offensive and then plunged northward to kill and capture thousands of Red troops.

But it would be well for the home towners to remember that talk of peace as circulated now are but rumors—nothing more. It would be futile to pin the hope of peace on a rumor and then have it deflated by another Communist attack. Military leaders in Korea report the killing and capture of thousands of Red soldiers, but still warn they are capable of another offensive. It is well to remember that peace can not be made by one party—there must be two.

RED CROSS IN KOREA—The American Red Cross, to which millions of people in the home towns of the nation have contributed their dollars, this month is launching the operations of 23 clubmobiles for the troops in Korea. The clubmobiles, to be staffed by 60 Red Cross girls, were requested by the military because of their adaptability to the quick-shifting Korean war front.

A popular feature of the Red Cross services to the armed forces in World War II, the clubmobiles will provide armmen and ground troops with free coffee and doughnuts, recorded music and stationary.

They will supplement the one large Red Cross club operating at the port of Pusan. At present approximately 300 Red Cross workers and more than 3,000 volunteers are now serving American troops in Asia.

FRIENDLY AND UNFRIENDLY WITNESSES . . . The military attaches of most foreign countries were among the thousands who watched U.S. armed forces parade in Washington recently. Some of these attaches represented friendly and others represented nations not so friendly. Saluting here are Sir Nell Ritchie (left), chief of staff of the British army, Major Theodor Birgerson, foreign liaison officer of the United States army, and Major General Alexander (right) of the Soviet army. Just what the Soviet officer thought of American military might was not reflected by his polite, but immobile, features.

PERON ATOM EXPERT REPORTED ARRESTED . . . A front page story in a Rio de Janeiro newspaper said recently that President Juan D. Peron, president of Argentina (right), has ordered the arrest of Dr. Ronald Richter (left), the scientist whom President Peron hailed two months ago as discoverer of a new process for releasing atomic energy. The newspaper story said military technicians of Argentina's army had analyzed Dr. Richter's atomic "discovery" and discovered that the whole thing was "a colossal bluff." Motive for the hoax carried out by the scientist is not known.

TIGHTROPE MARATHON . . . Helmut Horlants, 23, set out recently to break the record for tightrope walking of 52 hours, by stretching a rope across the city hall square in Stockerau, Austria. He held out until he had accomplished his goal and didn't come off the wire for 76 hours. He wasn't alone in his marathon. He had a band of well-wishers far below him on the street, while he sat there during a rain, walking along the rope for diversion, and taking his meals on one foot. What reward he received for his new record wasn't learned.

ADONIS ON TRIAL . . . Joe Adonis, named by senate crime group as co-leader with Frank Costello of the underworld in the east, arrived at Hackensack, N.J., court-house to go on trial on charges of operating billion dollar gambling net-up.

SPLITS WITH REDS . . . Gian Carlo Matteotti, Deputy of the Italian Socialist party, has resigned from the party because of its tie-up with the Reds. He is son of the anti-Fascist Socialist, killed by Mussolini's Fascists in 1924 before the Fascists threatened war.

MacArthur Flouts Orders

THE senate's ruling that star witnesses in the MacArthur hearings will not have to testify regarding confidential conversations presumably will hold for confidential conversations between Gen. Omar Bradley and the other members of the joint chiefs of staff.

However, some of their private reactions during the MacArthur discussions are significant. Inside fact is that the joint chiefs were extremely nervous about the idea of ousting MacArthur and took care to avoid the word "recommend" in reporting to the White House that MacArthur be fired.

Instead, and after considerable private debate, they decided to use the words "militarily advisable." Therefore, a report that it was "militarily advisable" to remove MacArthur was signed by all four of the joint chiefs.

Despite this compromise wording there was no question among the joint chiefs that MacArthur should go. There were three general reasons for this view, and it is interesting that none of them really agreed with Truman's reasons—namely, MacArthur's flouting of orders by discussing foreign policy.

Reason No. 1 was the fact that the joint chiefs considered MacArthur too rash as a military commander and likely to let American forces in for more trouble.

Tying MacArthur's Hands

That was why they actually tied his hands with the military directive regarding the bombing of Chinese bases. They decided that he could bomb Chinese bases if—and there were two very big ifs—1. The Communists throw in enough air power to jeopardize our ground troops; or 2. If the Chinese attacked any U.S. ships or installations outside Korea.

But MacArthur was given a further directive that before he could do any bombing in either of the above categories he must first consult the joint chiefs. In other words, what might provoke MacArthur into bombing Manchuria might not be enough to provoke the joint chiefs. They didn't trust his judgment, were afraid he would interpret these conditions far more liberally than they.

Reason No. 2 was the fact that MacArthur was not one to take suggestions or guidance from the joint chiefs. While it is J.C.S. policy not to dictate to the commander in the field, they do reserve the right to give general guidance and make suggestions.

And they were quite provoked during MacArthur's November advance into North Korea that he ignored their warning that there was no battle communication between General Walker's 8th army and General Almond's 10th corps. When the joint chiefs warned MacArthur about this, he replied, rather coldly, that there was sufficient liaison.

However, the joint chiefs, still not satisfied, asked MacArthur a second time why General Almond and his 10th corps were operating independently of the 8th army, leaving a big gap between the two forces. MacArthur replied, unconvincingly, that General Almond and his 10th corps were drawing Chinese pressure away from the 8th army.

Later, when the Chinese struck, they picked the hole that had worried the joint chiefs, and smashed right into the vacuum between the 10th corps and the 8th army.

Reason No. 3 however, what finally got the joint chiefs really sore at MacArthur was the way his statement about using Chiang Kai-Shek's troops in Korea killed the universal military training bill.

For months the joint chiefs had set their hearts on passing universal military training for the first time in the history of the nation. But two days after MacArthur's statement urging that we use Chiang's Formosan troops, the U.M.T. bill was dead. MacArthur had killed it. For congress was under immediate fire from the voters to use Chinese troops instead of expanding the draft.

U. N. Troops

A lot has been published about the failure of our United Nations friends to support us in Korea, but not much about certain unexpected support. Italy, for instance, is not a member of the U.N., but has asked for permission to send units to Korea. So far, nothing definite has been worked out.

Unoriginality in Names

David Zaslavsky, chief editor of Pravda, let off steam at a recent meeting of the pro-Communist international organization of journalists meeting at Budapest.

Among other things, he branded "Drew Pearson" a "warmonger." There's nothing like being versatile. I have now been called a "Communist" by Senator McCarthy, a warmonger by the editor of Pravda, and an S.O.B. by President Truman. It's about time somebody thought up some new names.

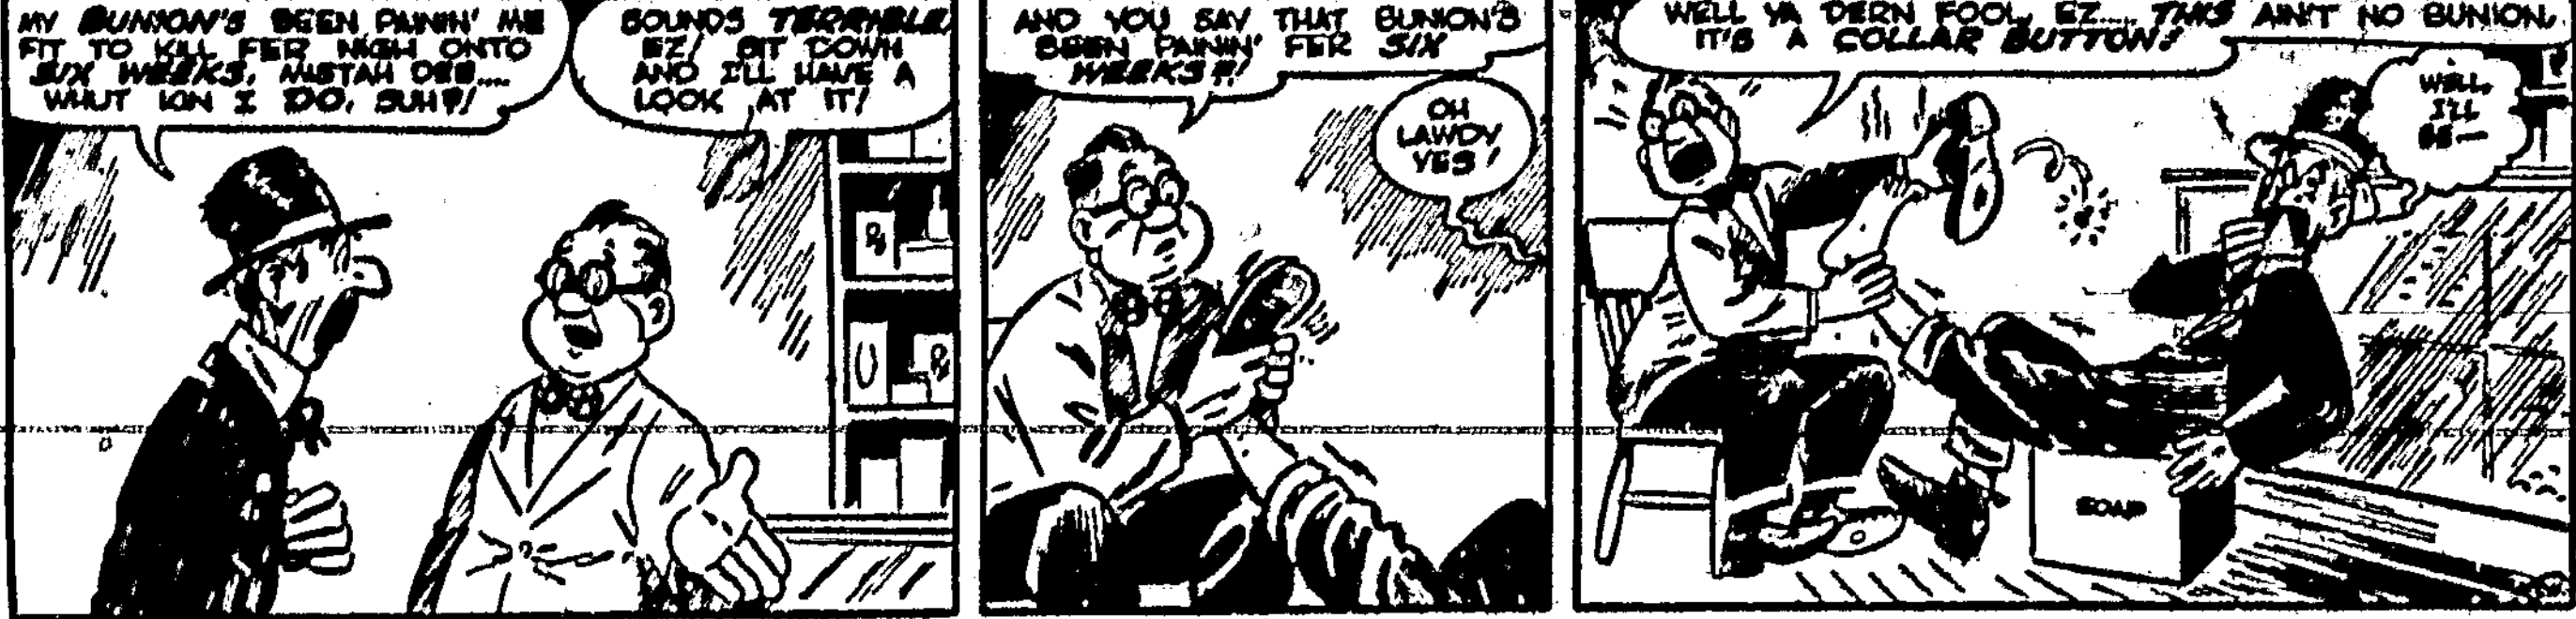

Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, told house and senate committees investigating the MacArthur affair that U.S. casualties in Korea were 141,955. (See story above.)

Tell the Story! Lesson for June 17, 1951

TELL me the old, old story" is a favorite hymn in many places. But the first Christians would have been considerably puzzled by that hymn if you had tried it on them. It was no old, old story for them. It was hot news.

Whatever objections people may have had to Christianity in those days, they never said it was "old stuff." More than that, Christians did not go around telling one another the story of Jesus. When Jesus said, "Be my witnesses," his first hearers did not think he meant "only to those for whom it is an old story."

The early church was by no means an organization devoted to repeating something they knew by heart, like the ritual of a lodge. It was devoted to telling the good news about God to people who did not know that God had any good news.

The Gospel is a Story THE saying has been quoted in this column before: Christianity first came to the world not on the editorial but on the news pages. Christianity is not God's new advice to the world. It is first of all the something God has done for the world.

"Gospel" in Greek means simply good news. It is the story of Jesus, the kind of person he was, the kind of work he did, the death he died. But the story of Jesus is more than the story of a man, uniquely great though he was.

It is, after all, the story of God, God who became man so that in the life of Christ Jesus we can read the unreadable God, see the Invisible, know the Great Unknown. The early Christians were not theologians, and they did not use the language or the formulas that centuries of thought were to hammer out. They never used the word "Incarnation" and seldom used the word "Atonement." But that was what they were driving at.

The Story is a Challenge LOOK through the book of Acts for the story of Jesus as the early Christians told it, and you will see that the Incarnation and the Atonement are there. The Incarnation—that God has lived among us as a man among men, that the glory of God is in the face of Christ. The Atonement—that for Christ's sake God offers forgiveness to all men, that the door to God's love is a wide-open portal.

The early church taught and told this; but not just as a story to entertain or inform, not as a puzzle to be solved, not as something to be believed or not, as we please; but as THE story, not only the "greatest story ever told" but beyond any comparison the most important.

If you cannot see God in Christ, where can you see him? If you will not take God's forgiveness for Christ's sake, then what right have you to look for forgiveness at all?

Christianity is a Life THE readers of the book of Acts will discover that the early Christians were not simply preachers. They lived a new sort of life. The crucial thing was that they lived as a family—the family of God. They so lived that few have fully imitated them since.

The way in which Christians treated one another was so different from what the world was used to, that an almost new word had to be used for it.

When Paul went about preaching, a good deal of what he said was about himself. Was this because he had taken the place of Jesus? No, it was the other way around—Jesus had taken his place. That is, what Paul had to tell was not simply the story of Jesus "from Bethlehem to Calvary," it was not even the story of the Resurrection.

What always aroused Paul's finest eloquence was his story of what Christ had done to him, for him, through him, in him. The Gospel is the power of God, he said to the Romans. And if this were not true, do you suppose the Christian religion could have lasted as long as it has?

But the telling of this story, and the living of it, is not something the church can leave to the women, or to the preachers, or to "missionary societies." Letting the world know the news, the good news, is the business of the whole family of God.

By long established custom, the Korean bridegroom stays with his bride three days in his father-in-law's house before returning with her to his own parents' house. Official manhood begins for the Korean only after marriage. Even if he is 70, a bachelor's opinion has little influence.

The Koreans' traditional habit of wearing many and varied hats is said to have had its origin as a measure against plotting. An ancient ruler, the legend goes, once concluded that men could not conspire if they could not put their heads together. Hence he required his subjects to wear such huge hats that whispered conversations could not be carried on.
