$10,000 In Gas Tax Fund Due Lincoln Co.

State Representative L. S. (Heavy) Drake, Ruidoso, told the Lincoln County commissioners at their regular meeting August 6 that this county's share of unused gasoline tax fund should amount to $10,010.

Drake told the commissioners it was desired to eliminate some of the hazards on Highway 37 both in and outside of Ruidoso, but that it was necessary to obtain their approval. The commissioners said such approval had been granted a long time ago but if such prior action is not sufficient, they will submit approval as necessary.

The state representative said the highway commissioners want one project in each county under construction by December, 1951, and all projects started by the end of 1952. A letter from L. D. Wilson, administrative engineer, dated May 23 states that the survey of seven miles of the Tule-Arabela road is completed and that if everything went well it could be let for bids by "late summer or early fall." The highway commissioners told Drake they expected to let the contract for this project by September, and on Highway 54 (the balance of the unpaid portion north of Corona) in August. It was mentioned during the meeting in Carrizozo that a state highway crew is making a survey for the bridge over Alamo Canyon.

The Lincoln County commissioners appeared dubious of any road construction being done in this county and said they had heard nothing further from the State Highway Department regarding proposed construction which they had approved, although highway officials at a meeting held here a few months ago had promised to let them know about it within a short period of time.

W. H. (Bill) Nickels appeared before the commissioners to request work on the school bus route from Oscura to the I Bar X Ranch. The county officials will have the road improved as much as possible.

Other county business taken up by the commissioners included the following:

Mayor Ike Wingfield of Ruidoso told of the resignation of Orland Bonaguidi and C. C. Chase Jr. as members of the Ruidoso-Hondo Valley Hospital Board, and that the village wished to appoint Mrs. Lloyd Bloodworth and Bill Hart, both of Ruidoso, in their place. The commissioners approved those appointments together with that of H. F. Ellis, Glendale, pending approval of their bonds. Other board members are Lloyd Gibson, Ruidoso, and Ben Sanchez, San Patricio.

Otero REA Meeting Ends In Postponement

The recent meeting at Cloudcroft of members of the Lincoln-Otero County Electric Cooperative ended in discussion and disagreement when it was adjourned until a later date after many were refused permission to vote, apparently because of lack of a legal list of the membership.

A number of reports which have been received on the first annual meeting held since the inception of the REA cooperative about 12 years ago indicate clarification of the status of a large number of its members should be forthcoming. Apparently, the cooperative has been in the throes of confusion and dissension for sometime as it was reported that the last meeting, which was held at Tularosa, was also one of considerable bickering.

At present the cooperative is managed by a board of trustees, six of whom reside in Otero County, and three in Lincoln County, and has a reported membership of about 1,400.

Two representatives of the federal REA were at the Cloudcroft meeting which was adjourned until September 15. No announcement concerning the location for the September meeting has been made.

Starting August 20, the squad will practice twice a day until school commences.

Lettermen who will return to school this year include Eddie Hoiguin, Jerry Kennedy, Claude Wilson, Don Queen, Roy Crumley, Preston Lindsay, Andy Baroz (last year's captain), Bobby Hicks, Lee Straley and Henry Vega.

Local Rainbow Girls Receive Appointments

Misses Shirley Morgan, Captiano, and Norma Compton, Carrizozo, who belong to the local organization of the Order of Rainbow for Girls received grand office appointments at their convocation held at New Mexico Western College in Silver City last weekend. Miss Compton was named as the grand representative to the state of Maine (her duties include the promotion of friendship among the Rainbow Girls in both states), and Miss Morgan, who received the appointment of grand page will perform the duties of that office at the next grand assembly to be held in Las Cruces in June.

The various state assemblies presented a program of drills and musical numbers including vocal and instrumental selections while two of the younger members of the organization gave a skillful exhibition of toe dancing. The group from Anthony conducted the memorial service for all the assemblies.

The grand ball held at the field house on the college's campus Saturday night after the installation of officers for the 1951-52 year concluded the program of entertainment. On the serious side of the calendar were the daily business sessions held for the discussion of Rainbow work by the various groups throughout the state.

All but one assembly in the state of New Mexico were represented with the registration of 666 members of the order at the convention. Members of the local group who attended were Misses Connell Dean, who makes her home at Bingham; Betty Moore, Verza Ruth Petty, Ann Gallacher, Dorothy Withers, all of Carrizozo, and Shirley Morgan, Captain. Miss Katie Snodgrass, Ancho, was unable to attend the assembly.

Mrs. Ernest Roberts accompanied the girls as mother advisor.

School Bus Drivers Meet Here; Buses Inspected

By ALLIE SNODGRASS
Saturday, August 11, found several large yellow school buses lined up on streets in Carrizozo for inspection, preparatory to opening of schools. While the state police, assisted by Deputy Sheriff Ben Smith, inspected buses, the drivers were up in the court room thrashing out a good many things such as insurance, program for coming year, election of officers and discussing the drivers' institute held recently in Silver City. The latter was attended by eight drivers from Lincoln County as well as County Superintendent of Schools Mrs. Lorene Samelson, who was one of four county superintendents to attend.

The drivers attending were Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Proctor of Corona, Levene Snodgrass of Ancho, Eddie Fitzpatrick of Nogal, Hazel Perry, Ewing and Herbert Carter, all of Ruidoso, and E. G. Torres, Hondo. The driver institute lasts one week and is held at New Mexico Western College.

Dr. James, president of the college; Mrs. Ernest L. Martin, J. L. Hece, Jess Holmes and the entire staff work long and hard to prepare a good program, whereby the drivers may get as much good as possible in one week. Driver training and first aid are two absolute requirements, while one may later work in child psychology, public relations and a number of related subjects.

Five states had representatives at the institute for purpose of getting ideas and patterns to use in setting up similar institutes. The states represented were Arizona, Kansas, Oklahoma, Iowa and Georgia.

The consensus of opinion is that the greatest factor toward strengthening driver training is the participation of superintendents, both county and municipal, in the work. New Mexico today ranks No. 1 in driver training, and had an all-time high registration this year of 202 drivers. Several teen-agers registered along with their parents and took all the work.

Mrs. Samelson pointed out at the county meeting that soon this will be compulsory training. The drivers were also urged to plan now for the convention in Albuquerque in October, which is held in connection with the teachers' convention.

The following officers were elected for the coming year: Ben Sanchez, San Patricio, president; Levene Snodgrass, Ancho, vice president; Mrs. Albert Kimbrell, Hondo, re-elected secretary-treasurer; Allie Snodgrass, publicity chairman; Floyd Proctor, Corona, is retiring president.

There will be three county bus drivers' meetings each year, unless additional ones are called by the president. The next county meeting will be in Carrizozo in the spring. Watch for further notice. Also, the picnic at close of the school year will be an annual event. There will also be more data on the latter event.

Corona Sailor Serving With Atlantic Fleet

Willie M. Yancey, seaman apprentice, USN, Corona, is serving aboard the destroyer USS William R. Bush.

Yancey, who entered the naval service January 8, 1951, received his recruit training at the U. S. Naval Training Center, San Diego, Calif.

Tourists Claim Socorro Speed Trap Operates

Wrathful tourists from Los Angeles complained Wednesday to Albert Roberts, owner and operator of the Monte Vista Service station here, and to the News-Outlook they will never return to Socorro. The ire of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Lunn, an elderly business couple on vacation, was aroused, they said, when they were stopped just outside of Socorro on Highway 380 east, told they were speeding within the village and must return there.

The couple reported they were taken before the Socorro justice of the peace (the name signed to the receipt appeared to be Henry J. Zengerie with the letters P. J. preceding the signature) and fined $7.50. The Lunn said the police officials were very courteous, but they do not believe they were justified in fining them. It was Mr. Lunn's second ticket for speeding in 30 years of driving, the elderly man said.

The tourists explained they had been driving not more than 25 miles per hour through the village as they contemplated purchasing gasoline there. Mr. Lunn said he had noticed the police car following him before he passed a truck on a small incline at the edge of town. He said he had attained a speed of between 30 and 40 miles per hour as he passed the truck and was slowing down again by the time he reached the sign that indicated the end of the speed zone. He heard the siren of the police car as he passed that sign and stopped just beyond it.

The form of receipt given to the Lunn does not bear the name of the village of Socorro and is the type that may be purchased in most any stationery store.

Roberts said three different parties of tourists on three separate days within the past two weeks told him they had been assessed fines of $7.50 for speeding through Socorro. Roberts named one of the tourists as Virgil M. Jones, superintendent of schools at Battle Creek, Mich., who said he paid a fine of $7.50 in Socorro on August 4.

The Carrizozo station operator said the stories of all three tourists showed the same pattern for arrest. Each one claimed he had stopped for gas near the edge of Socorro and had not exceeded the speed limit within the village limits, but had attained a speed between 30 and 40 miles per hour about two or three miles outside Socorro city limits when he was stopped by the Socorro police and informed he had exceeded the speed limit within the village and must return immediately for a hearing of his case.

Those tourists, Roberts said, were agreed the Socorro police had treated them politely but nevertheless grumbled over the delay and the fines assessed, claiming they were unwarranted and unjustified since they had not been traveling over the regulation speed allowed. They were unanimous in their decision to avoid this section of New Mexico in the future if that was the type of welcome extended to its tourists.

Hearing Scheduled For Ruidoso Liquor Dealer

A hearing is scheduled August 27 for Lloyd Davis, Ruidoso, who is charged with selling alcoholic beverages to minors.

State Liquor Control Director Elfege Baca said Davis is accused of selling liquor to four minors on August 8.

The Ruidosoan recently sold the Navajo Lodge which he has owned and operated for sometime to Carl DeBord, former mayor and businessman of Deming. DeBord is slated to take possession of the lodge on September 1, and is planning to renovate it completely after that date.

Lions Schedule Dance

Members of the Carrizozo Lions Club and their wives are planning to attend the club dance scheduled for Saturday night, August 18, at Miller's Hall here.

2 Pound, 15 Ounce Baby Born Here

The premature infant girl born August 12 to Mr. and Mrs. Seth Hernandez of Captain, at Lincoln County Municipal Hospital in Carrizozo, weighed only 2 pounds, 15 ounces at birth, and is one of the smallest ever delivered at the local hospital.

The baby, born about three months prematurely, was immediately placed in an incubator and is believed to have excellent chances for survival. The child is being given the usual routine of care for incubator babies, including being fed with a medicine dropper. Hospital officials said both the baby and its mother are making satisfactory progress.

Mr. and Mrs. Hernandez have three other children.

Telles-Mirabal Wedding Vows Exchanged Here

The Santa Rita Church in Carrizozo was the setting for last Sunday morning's ceremony which united Miss Josephine Telles and Private Albert Mirabal.

Father Robert Auman of Ruidoso officiated in the double ring rites at which the bride was given in marriage by her father. The bridal gown of white satin with long net train was fashioned with fitted bodice fastened in the back with a row of tiny satin-covered buttons and full skirt with overskirt of net caught with clusters of orange blossoms. The high rounded neckline of the net yoke was formed by folds of the same material and accented at the throat with a single cluster of orange blossoms. From the small crown cap of white satin edged in lace hung her finger tip veil of illusion with lace inserts.

White slippers and a shower bouquet of gladioli completed her costume. The traditional wedding accessories included the blue garters, a borrowed pearl necklace, her wedding ensemble was "something new," and a white rosary was "something old." In one of her slippers, the bride carried a coin as a token of good luck.

Miss Theresa Vidauri as maid of honor chose a formal with blue satin top and full taffeta skirt on which were appliqued blue satin leaves. A bolero jacket of net with cap sleeves, hula cap of blue net, and silver slippers were worn with the gown. Miss Vidauri's flowers were white carnations and pink asters.

Little Miss Ramona Baca, attired in a white organdy frock, wedding veil in miniature and white slippers carried the bride's train. The small boy who carried the rings was not identified.

A wedding reception was held at the home of the bridegroom following the church ceremony. The white lace covered table was centered with the all-white three-tiered bride's cake topped with a miniature bride and groom, and the guests were served punch and cake. Only members of the immediate families and a few intimate friends of the couple attended the reception.

Private Mirabal, who was due back at his station, and Mrs. Mirabal left shortly after the reception for El Paso where they will make their future home.

The bride, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pablo Telles, Carrizozo, is a graduate of Carrizozo High School and has been employed in the Western Union office in Carlsbad. The bridegroom, son of Mr. Flavio Mirabal, Carrizozo, attended local schools and is now stationed at Fort Bliss in El Paso where he is attending the guided missile school.

Lincoln County Youths Leave For Induction

The names of the men who reported for duty in the armed forces are Robert G. Gonzales, San Patricio; Teofilo Salas, Hondo; Leonar Odis Grant, Socorro, formerly of Corona; Estemerio B. Gutierrez, Carrizozo; Alfred Dean James, Roswell, previously a resident of San Patricio; Arbin D. Lindsey, Tusumcarl, former Carrizozoan, and Thomas W. Ehart, El Paso, formerly of Carrizozo.

Essay Contest Won By Local Attorney

First place in the Nathan Burkan memorial essay competition has been awarded Howell R. Spear, local attorney and a June graduate of the University of New Mexico Law School. A cash prize of $150 is given with the award. Spear chose as his subject "Moral Right and the Common Law."

The contest, open to all seniors in the nation's leading law schools, is sponsored by the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers, located at Rockefeller Center in New York City. National awards will be announced after the society selects the top six essays which will be published in book form. The competition is sponsored as a tribute to the society's first general counsel, Nathan Burkan, who died in 1936.

Contestants are required to write a paper on any field of copyright law or related subjects, and that chosen by Spear for his prize winning essay was "Moral Right and the Common Law." His article is based on the efforts of a group of attorneys and legal writers in this country to obtain the adoption and incorporation into U. S. law the continental doctrine of rights to and in literary property. The courts of this country have resisted such efforts, and Spear's essay is a presentation of the facts on both sides and his conclusions which are in favor of the United States law on the subject.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Spear, Claunch, are the parents of the newcomer to Carrizozo, and his wife, also a graduate of the University of New Mexico and who has been studying in Albuquerque for the bar examination, is expected to arrive here this weekend.

Record Crowd Attends 'A Day In Old Lincoln'

An estimated 5,000 visitors were in Lincoln last Sunday for the annual day and night celebration of historic days in Old Lincoln Town, sponsored by the Lincoln County Historical Society. It is believed Sunday's crowd was the largest since the revival of the pageant by the society at the close of World War II. This year's event was recorded for television by Merlin Stonehouse of the Merlin F. Stonehouse and Associates News Agency of Washington, D. C. Stonehouse, in talking to the News-Outlook, expressed the opinion the pageantry could become one of the country's foremost celebrations. The filmed commentary on Lincoln County and its famous cattle war is expected to be released by Visionews of Hollywood about January 1.

The day's program of entertainment included dances by the Apache Indians from the nearby Mesalero reservation, and one Indian boy put on an exhibition of fast and intricate steps with hoops that left one dizzy and wondering how the youngster escaped breaking a leg. A tiny Indian boy in full regalia who appeared with the Indian dancers was enthusiastically received by the audience, as he danced with vigor and thorough enjoyment of his task but obviously out of step with the others.

The Hondo Fiesta Dancers (who have appeared at the famed Tucson celebration) gave both day and night performances of their fascinatingly beautiful dances in which they are exceptionally skillful.

Exhibition dancing was also presented by several groups from over the county, including the Fort Stanton one. Members of that group include Messrs. and Mesdames Dick Bingham, Tom Burleson, Emmet Womack, W. F. Brown and Mr. Ceell Thompson. Music for the solo and group singers and dancers was provided by Messrs. Harold O'Neil, Wilbur Coe, Earl Coe and Ralph Bonnell.

The high spot of the afternoon's program was the fiddlers' contest which was won by Sergeant Robert E. Croom from Silver City, who is stationed at Walker Air Force Base, Roswell. Croom was awarded a leather billfold as first place winner. Second and third place winners were Les Hamric, Carlsbad, and Probate Judge Elredo Chavez, Carrizozo, with silver cuff links going to Hamric and the judge receiving a gold tie clasp. The prizes were donated by the Lincoln County Historical Society, and Huff's Jewelry Store at Roswell donated the engraving on the awards. Each winner was also given a year's subscription to the News-Outlook.

Christian's Spending

Lesson for August 12, 1951

ONCE upon a time, so they say, a Scotchman opened his pocketbook in December, and a June-bug flew out. That story belongs to the class of stories that sound funny because they are impossible, like the Paul Bunyan stories, or the one about the fly that fell off a marble and broke his back. No man is so stingy that he could go from June to December without opening his pocketbook to spend a single cent. Spending is something all of us do, all the time.

Dr. Foreman

Is Your Money Yours? It's my money and I can do what I please with it. That is the average man's attitude toward his money. But it's not the Christian attitude.

In the first place, Jesus' parable of the talents reminds us that all the conditions, and all the energy, and everything else that makes earning money possible, are in the long run the gifts of God. "It is he that hath made us and not we ourselves" is just as true now as it ever was.

God it is who gave us life in the first place, who has preserved us, and endowed us with whatever gifts and capacities we have. We are not our own, we are bought with a price, as Paul puts it.

However, we earn our living, whether as farmers, business or professional people, if it had not been for the blessings of God we could have earned nothing at all. One bedrock principle of the Old Testament is that the earth is the Lord's. Put that together with the New Testament principle that the Christian belongs to God, and you have arrived at the great principle of "stewardship."

Profits or Profits? The earliest Christians of Jerusalem pooled all their resources and dealt them out to all, in proportion to their individual needs. This experiment in sharing the wealth failed; and one main reason for the failure was that they paid all their attention to consumption and none at all to production.

No matter how smoothly you distribute the wealth, if some one is not producing, the whole pile will vanish in time.

Nevertheless, these earliest Christians did have a firm grasp of a real truth; namely, that when a Christian spends money he ought to have the needs of the community first in mind, and not his own profits. Does this sound too idealistic?

Well, even the law, slanted though it may seem toward the protection of wealth, puts limits on the ways a man can spend his money. If it can be shown that what he pays his good money for is hurtful to the community, the law will clamp down on him, in many cases. You can't keep a skunk farm on Broadway. It may be your money, and your skunks, but it's not your Broadway.

To take another angle: down in Atlanta (Georgia) a highly successful industrialist, when he died, left the stock in his company to his employees. They had helped him earn his fortune, he said; they should share in the proceeds. Does not our community help us earn whatever we do earn? And doesn't the community deserve consideration in the spending?

The Money-God

No temples on our main streets are labeled "To the God Mammon." But money is often a god, all the same. On Mammon's altar how many things and men are sacrificed! What will men bet to "make a fast buck" to turn a "heat profit? Honor, decency, truthfulness, health, even life itself, will be given up before consenting to cut the profits down.

Every great entrenched evil—gambling, prostitution, corrupt courts, liquor traffic—is as hard to dislodge as the silvermines of Ephesus, and for the same reason: The people who stand to make money out of it never care what happens to the sinners.

But let us watch ourselves. Do we smalltimers criticize the paunchy bigshots because we really hate the way they sacrifice everything to greed, or is it because we are envious? AROUND THE HOUSE

Some wallpaper is washable and some isn't, but it can be made washable by applying a thin, even coat of clear shellac. Once the shellac is on, most stains and splatters can be wiped off at once with a damp cloth.

For grease spots and similar blemishes on wallpaper, try this: Hold a clean white blotter over the spot with a warm iron for several minutes. The heat should melt the oil or grease so it can be absorbed by the blotter.

Plaster of paris is good stuff with which to patch walls; but, unless you're nimble, it may get dry, and hard before the job is finished. To forestall that, mix about a tablespoonful of ordinary flour with every cup of plaster of paris.

Rub the wallpaper stain with a piece of fresh white bread. Let the bread crumble away as you rub, and often the dirt will crumble with it.

If a hole in the plaster wall becomes too large to hold the screw, take the screw out, pack the hole with steel wool, and put the screw back in. Or, poke a wooden match into the hole, break it off at the wall surface, and then replace the screw.

Small, deep nail holes in walls are rather difficult to fill with plaster of paris. It's a lot easier if you just mix a little talcum powder or cornstarch with a few drops of water, and force the mixture into the hole, smoothing it off with your fingers around the edges.

If wallpaper—washable or otherwise—is not shellacked, there are several methods to combat various stains.

$10,000 In Gas Tax Fund Due Lincoln Co.

State Representative L. S. (Heavy) Drake, Ruidoso, told the Lincoln County commissioners at their regular meeting August 6 that the county's share of unused gasoline tax fund should amount to $10,010.

Drake told the commissioners it was desired to eliminate some of the hazards on Highway 37 both in and outside of Ruidoso, but that it was necessary to obtain their approval. The commissioners said such approval had been granted a long time ago but if such prior action is not sufficient, they will submit approval as necessary.

The state representative said the highway commissioners want one project in each county under construction by December, 1951, and all projects started by the end of 1952. A letter from L. D. Wilson, administrative engineer, dated May 23 states that the survey of seven miles of the Tinto-Arabela road is completed and that if everything went well it could be let for bids by "late summer or early fall." The highway commissioners told Drake they expected to let the contract for this project by September, and on Highway 54 (the balance of the unpaid portion north of Corona) in August. It was mentioned during the meeting in Carrizozo that a state highway crew is making a survey for the bridge over Alamo Canyon.

The Lincoln County commissioners appeared dubious of any road construction being done in this county and said they had heard nothing further from the State Highway Department regarding proposed construction which they had approved, although highway officials at a meeting held here a few months ago had promised to let them know about it within a short period of time.

W. H. (Bill) Nickels appeared before the commissioners to request work on the school bus route from Oscura to the I Bar X Ranch. The county officials will have the road improved as much as possible.

Other county business taken up by the commissioners included the following:

Mayor Ike Wingfield of Ruidoso told of the resignation of Orland Bonaguidi and C. C. Chase Jr. as members of the Ruidoso-Hondo Valley Hospital Board, and that the village wished to appoint Mrs. Lloyd Bloodworth and Bill Hart, both of Ruidoso, in their place. The commissioners approved those appointments together with that of H. F. Ellis, Glencoe, pending approval of their bonds. Other board members are Lloyd Gibson, Ruidoso, and Ben Sanchez, San Patricia.

Local Rainbow Girls Receive Appointments

Misses Shirley Morgan, Capitan, and Norma Compton, Carrizozo, who belong to the local organization of the Order of Rainbow for Girls received grand office appointments at their convocation held at New Mexico Western College in Silver City last weekend. Miss Compton was named as the grand representative to the state of Maine (her duties include the promotion of friendship among the Rainbow Girls in both states), and Miss Morgan, who received the appointment of grand page will perform the duties of that office at the next grand assembly to be held in Las Cruces in June.

The various state assemblies presented a program of drills and musical numbers including vocal and instrumental selections while two of the younger members of the organization gave a skillful exhibition of toe dancing. The group from Anthony conducted the memorial service for all the assemblies.

The grand ball held at the field house on the college's campus Saturday night after the installation of officers for the 1951-52 year concluded the program of entertainment. On the serious side of the calendar were the daily business sessions held for the discussion of Rainbow work by the various groups throughout the state.

All but one assembly in the state of New Mexico were represented with the registration of 600 members of the order at the convention. Members of the local group who attended were Misses Connell Dean, who makes her home at Bingham; Betty Moore, Verna Ruth Petty, Ann Gallacher, Dorothy Withers, all of Carrizozo, and Shirley Morgan, Capitan. Miss Kattie Snodgrass, Ancho, was unable to attend the assembly.

Mrs. Ernest Roberts accompanied the girls as mother advisor.

School Bus Drivers Meet Here; Buses Inspected

By ALLIE SNODGRASS

Saturday, August 11, found several large yellow school buses lined up on streets in Carrizozo for inspection, preparatory to opening of schools. While the state police, assisted by Deputy Sheriff Ben Smith, inspected buses, the drivers were up in the court room thrashing out a good many things such as insurance, program for coming year, election of officers and discussing the drivers' institute held recently in Silver City. The latter was attended by eight drivers from Lincoln County as well as County Superintendent of Schools Mrs. Lorene Sameleon, who was one of four county superintendents to attend.

The drivers attending were Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Proctor of Corona, Levene Snodgrass of Ancho, Eddie Fitzpatrick of Nogal, Hazel Perry, Ewing and Herbert Carter, all of Ruidoso, and E. G. Torres, Hondo. The driver-institute lasts one week and is held at the Mexico Western College.

Dr. James, president of the college, Ernest L. Martin, J. L. Reese, Jesse Holmes and the entire staff work long and hard to prepare a good program, whereby the drivers may get as much good as possible in one week. Driver training and first aid are two absolute requirements, while one may later work in child psychology, public relations and a number of related subjects.

Five states had representatives at the institute for purpose of getting ideas and patterns to use in setting up similar institutes. The states represented were Arizona, Kansas, Oklahoma, Iowa and Georgia.

The consensus of opinion is that the greatest factor toward strengthening driver training is the participation of superintendents, both county and municipal, in the work. New Mexico today ranks No. 1 in driver training, and had an all-time high registration this year of 202 drivers. Several teen-agers registered along with their parents and took all the work.

Mrs. Sameleon pointed out at the county meeting that soon this will be compulsory training. The drivers were also urged to plan now for the convention in Albuquerque in October, which is held in connection with the teachers' convention.

The following officers were elected for the coming year: Ben Sanchez, San Patricia, president; Levene Snodgrass, Ancho, vice president; Mrs. Albert Kimbrell, Hondo, re-elected secretary-treasurer; Allie Snodgrass, publicity chairman; Floyd Proctor, Corona, is retiring president.

There will be three county bus drivers' meetings each year, unless additional ones are called by the president. The next county meeting will be in Carrizozo in the spring. Watch for further notice. Also, the picnic at close of the school year will be an annual event. There will also be more data on the latter event.

Corona Sailor Serving With Atlantic Fleet

Yancey, who entered the naval service January 8, 1951, received his recruit training at the U. S. Naval Training Center, San Diego, Calif. One of over 350 ships of its type in the Navy, the Rush is operating as a unit of the Atlantic Fleet destroyer force.

Tourists Claim Socorro Speed Trap Operates

Wrathful tourists from Los Angeles complained Wednesday to Albert Roberts, owner and operator of the Monte Vista Service station here, and to the News-Outlook they will never return to Socorro. The ire of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Lunn, an elderly business couple on vacation, was aroused, they said, when they were stopped just outside of Socorro on Highway 380 east, told they were speeding within the village, and must return there.

The couple reported they were taken before the Socorro justice of the peace (the name signed to the receipt appeared to be Henry J. Zengerle with the letters P. J. preceding the signature) and fined $7.50. The Lunnns said the police officials were very courteous, but they do not believe they were justified in fining them. It was Mr. Lunn's second ticket for speeding in 30 years of driving, the elderly man said.

The tourists explained they had been driving not more than 25 miles per hour through the village as they contemplated purchasing gasoline there. Mr. Lunn said he had noticed the police car following him before he passed a truck on a small incline at the edge of town. He said he had attained a speed of between 30 and 40 miles per hour as he passed the truck and was slowing down again by the time he reached the sign that indicated the end of the speed zone. He heard the siren of the police car as he passed that sign and stopped just beyond it.

The form of receipt given to the Lunnns does not bear the name of the village of Socorro and is the type that may be purchased in most any stationery store.

Roberts said, three different parties of tourists on three separate days within the past two weeks told him they had been assessed fines of $7.50 for speeding through Socorro. Roberts named one of the tourists as Virgil M. Jones, superintendent of schools at Battle Creek, Mich., who said he paid a fine of $7.50 in Socorro on August 4.

The Carrizozo station operator said the stories of all three tourists showed the same pattern for arrest. Each one claimed he had stopped for gas near the edge of Socorro and had not exceeded the speed limit within the village limits, but had attained a speed between 30 and 40 miles per hour about two or three miles outside Socorro city limits when he was stopped by the Socorro police and informed he had exceeded the speed limit within the village and must return immediately for a hearing of his case.

Those tourists, Roberts said, were agreed the Socorro police had treated them politely but nevertheless grumbled over the delay and the fines assessed, claiming they were unwarranted and unjustified since they had not been traveling over the regulation speed allowed. They were unanimous in their decision to avoid this section of New Mexico in the future if that was the type of welcome extended to its tourists.

Hearing Scheduled For Ruidoso Liquor Dealer

A hearing is scheduled August 27 for Lloyd Davis, Ruidoso, who is charged with selling alcoholic beverages to minors.

State Liquor Control Director Eliego Baca said Davis is accused of selling liquor to four minors on August 8.

The Ruidosoan recently sold the Navajo Lodge which he has owned and operated for sometime to Carl DeBord, former mayor and businessman of Deming. DeBord is slated to take possession of the lodge on September 1, and is planning to renovate it completely after that date.

Lions Schedule Dance

Members of the Carrizozo Lions Club and their wives are planning to attend the club dance scheduled for Saturday night, August 18, at Miller's Hall here. Elmer Hust and his orchestra will provide music for dancing. The ladies are to be admitted free.

2 Pound, 15 Ounce Baby Born Here

The premature infant girl born August 12 to Mr. and Mrs. Seth Hernandez of Capitan, at Lincoln County Municipal Hospital in Carrizozo, weighed only 2 pounds, 15 ounces at birth, and is one of the smallest ever delivered at the local hospital.

The baby, born about three months prematurely, was immediately placed in an incubator and is believed to have excellent chances for survival. The child is being given the usual routine of care for incubator babies, including being fed with a medicine dropper. Hospital officials said both the baby and its mother are making satisfactory progress.

Mr. and Mrs. Hernandez have three other children.

Telles-Mirabal Wedding Vows Exchanged Here

The Santa Rita Church in Carrizozo was the setting for last Sunday morning's ceremony which united Miss Josephine Telles and Private Albert Mirabal.

Father Robert Auman of Ruidoso officiated in the double ring rites at which the bride was given in marriage by her father. The bridal gown of white satin with long net train was fashioned with fitted bodice fastened in the back with a row of tiny satin-covered buttons and full skirt with overskirt of net caught with clusters of orange blossoms. The high rounded neckline of the net yoke was formed by folds of the same material and accented at the throat with a single cluster of orange blossoms. From the small crown cap of white satin edged in lace hung her finger tip veil of illusion with lace inserts.

White slippers and a shower bouquet of gladioli completed her costume. The traditional wedding accessories included the blue garters, a borrowed pearl necklace, her wedding ensemble was "something new," and a white rosary was "something old." In one of her slippers, the bride carried a coin as a token of good luck.

Miss Theresa Vidaurri as maid of honor chose a formal with blue satin top and full taffeta skirt on which were applied blue satin leaves. A bolero jacket of net with cap sleeves, halo cap of blue net, and silver slippers were worn with the gown. Miss Vidaurri's flowers were white carnations and pink asters.

Little Miss Ramona Baca, attired in a white organdy frock, wedding veil in miniature and white slippers carried the bride's train. The small boy who carried the rings was not identified.

A wedding reception was held at the home of the bridegroom following the church ceremony. The white lace covered table was centered with the all-white three-tiered bride's cake topped with a miniature bridal pair, and the guests were served punch and cake. Only members of the immediate families and a few intimate friends of the couple attended the reception.

Private Mirabal, who was due back at his station, and Mrs. Mirabal left shortly after the reception for El Paso where they will make their future home.

The bride, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pablo Telles, Carrizozo, is a graduate of Carrizozo High School and has been employed in the Western Union office in Carlsbad. The bridegroom, son of Mrs. Flavio Mirabal, Carrizozo, attended local schools and is now stationed at Fort Bliss in El Paso where he is attending the guided missile school.

Lincoln County Youths Leave For Induction

Mrs. Edna Laramie, of the Selective Service office in Carrizozo, said this week eight Lincoln County youths left Wednesday for Albuquerque where they were inducted into the U. S. Army yesterday (Thursday).

Gutierrez, Carrizozo; Alfred Dean James, Roswell, previously a resident of San Patricia; Arlbin D. Lindsey, Tucuman, former Carrizozoan, and Thomas W. Ehart, El Paso, formerly of Carrizozo.

Essay Contest Won By Local Attorney

First place in the Nathan Burkan memorial essay competition has been awarded Howell R. Spear, local attorney and a June graduate of the University of New Mexico Law School. A cash prize of $150 is given with the award. Spear chose as his subject, "Moral Right and the Common Law."

The contest, open to all seniors in the nation's leading law schools, is sponsored by the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers, located at Rockefeller Center in New York City. National awards will be announced after the society selects the top six essays which will be published in book form. The competition is sponsored as a tribute to the society's first general counsel, Nathan Burkan, who died in 1936.

Contestants are required to write a paper on any field of copyright law or related subjects, and that chosen by Spear for his prize winning essay was "Moral Right and the Common Law." His article is based on the efforts of a group of attorneys and legal writers in this country to obtain the adoption and incorporation into U. S. law the continental doctrine of rights to and in literary property. The courts of this country have resisted such efforts, and Spear's essay is a presentation of the facts on both sides and his conclusions which are in favor of the United States law on the subject.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Spear, Claunch, are the parents of the newcomer to Carrizozo, and his wife, also a graduate of the University of New Mexico and who has been studying in Albuquerque for the bar examination, is expected to arrive here this week-end.

Record Crowd Attends 'A Day In Old Lincoln'

An estimated 5,000 visitors were in Lincoln last Sunday for the annual day and night celebration of historic days in Old Lincoln Town, sponsored by the Lincoln County Historical Society. It is believed Sunday's crowd was the largest since the revival of the pageant by the society at the close of World War II. This year's event was recorded for television by Merlin Stonehouse of the Merlin F. Stonehouse and Associates News Agency of Washington, D. C. Stonehouse, in talking to the News-Outlook, expressed the opinion the pageantry could become one of the country's foremost celebrations. The filmed commentary on Lincoln County and its famous cattle war is expected to be released by Visionews of Hollywood about January 1.

The day's program of entertainment included dances by the Apache Indians from the nearby Mescalero reservation, and one Indian boy put on an exhibition of fast and intricate steps with hoops that left one dizzy and wondering how the youngster escaped breaking a leg. A tiny Indian boy in full regalia who appeared with the Indian dancers was enthusiastically received by the audience, as he danced with vigor and thorough enjoyment of his task but obviously out of step with the others.

The Hondo Fiesta Dancers (who have appeared at the famed Tucson celebration) gave both day and night performances of their fascinatingly beautiful dances in which they are exceptionally skillful. Exhibition dancing was also presented by several groups from over the county, including the Fort Stanton one. Members of that group include Messrs. and Madames Dick Bingham, Tom Burleson, Emmet Womack, W. P. Brown and Mr. Cecil Thompson. Music for the solo and group singers and dancers was provided by Messrs. Harold O'Neil, Wilbur Coe, Earl Coe and Ralph Bonnell. The high spot of the afternoon's program was the fiddlers' contest which was won by Sergeant Robert E. Croom from Silver City, who is stationed at Walker Air Force Base, Roswell. Croom was awarded a leather billfold as first place winner. Second and third place winners were Lee Hamric, Carlsbad, and Probate Judge Elardo Chavez, Carrizozo, with silver cuff links going to Hamric and the judge receiving a gold tie clasp. The prizes were donated by the Lincoln County Historical Society, and Huff's Jewelry Store at Roswell donated the engraving on the awards. Each winner was also given a year's subscription to the News-Outlook.

Impromptu square dancing was

By JOHN J. DEMPSEY, M. C.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—Congress finally is reacting to the ever-growing demand for a closer scrutiny of government expenditures. That was brought out forcibly in debate in the House of Representatives over the $56 billion defense appropriation bill, as congressmen from both political parties declared the time has come when a "watchdog committee" is necessary to eliminate waste and unnecessary expenditures by government agencies.

Although the huge appropriation measure was passed by an almost unanimous vote of the House, because there was no time for further study of the bill unless the nation's defense program was to be hampered, it became apparent that most members of the House had come to the conclusion that the Congress can no longer sign blank checks for government spenders.

Congressman John Taber of New York, ranking minority member of the appropriations subcommittee which handled the biggest defense appropriations bill of all time, declared that neither the members of the committee nor the membership of the House had a clear picture of the defense department's program or a proper explanation and analysis of the money spending plans of the defense department.

"I think," said Congressman Taber, "we should have a staff which would go into the question of what the armed services are doing with the money they are spending."

Mr. Taber commented that few of the staff of the armed services who appeared before the committee were able to give an intelligent explanation of how the billions asked for were to be spent.

Congressman Clarence Brown of Ohio had this comment:

"It is my fixed conviction—and I have been forced to come to this conclusion—that we have the responsibility to see to it that there is created some sort of a 'watchdog committee' which will ride herd on these appropriations we are making here today, which we have to accept on faith unless we can get absolute evidence they are not needed and are unnecessary."

Members of the appropriations subcommittee which worked on the bill, including the chairman, Congressman George H. Mahon of Texas, were frank to admit during the debate that the committee did not have—and could not get in the short time it had—all the information necessary to a proper analysis of the bill, or to determine where cuts could have been made to eliminate waste.

Congressman Mahon said, "Our committee does not have and probably no committee in Congress has, an adequate staff. We need a properly qualified and adequate staff if we are to do the kind of job we want to do in conserving public funds intelligently and effectively."

There were many others who made comments of the same tenor and clearly indicated the potency of the Congress is worn thin by waste in government and resultant over-increasing tax demands on the public purse.

It is my firm conviction we have reached the end of the line in levying more taxes on the people of this nation. I said just that on the floor of the House in January. Here, in part, is what I said at that time:

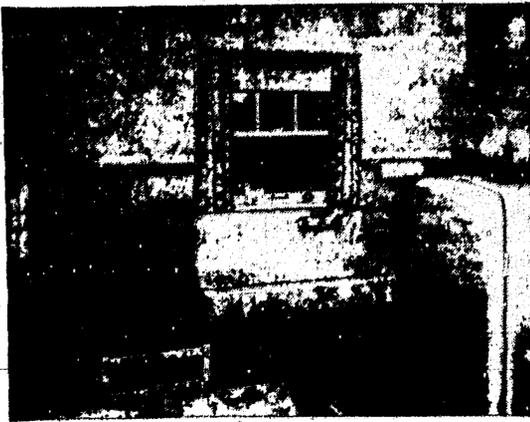

"The spot for some real spade-work in inflation control is in cutting down on unnecessary government expenditures. The time has come when the taxpayers' dollar, expended by the government, must get its full value in purchases."

"I believe that this responsibility extends to a watchdog role on where these funds go and whether or not they are wisely spent."

I pointed out at that time the spending practices of the government would ruin any private corporation—and I meant, too, they would ruin this nation eventually.

It is gratifying to find now that

A Two-Day Kitchen Miracle!

There's hardly elbow room in this tiny kitchen, very little work surface area and even less storage space. Note how the corner next to the refrigerator is wasted. To see how this homemaker's problem was solved by Youngstown Kitchen Planning Service look at the picture below.

What a change! And the miracle was accomplished in only two days with prefabricated steel kitchen units. Especially interesting is the corner cabinet which uses space formerly wasted. Inside the cabinet are three circular shelves, each 22" in diameter, that rotate with a flick of the finger. The only structural change in the room is the inexpensive wallboard soffit above the wall cabinets. Now the homemaker has convenience galore, with plenty of storage room and counter work surface.

I was not a "voice crying out in the wilderness," and that others—many of them—in the Congress are demanding an end to this shameful waste.

Legislation passed by the Senate which would authorize payment of the War Claims Commission—of which Mrs. Georgia Lusk of New Mexico is a member—of claims of certain former enemy aliens from funds of the commission will have trouble in the House until a law has been passed and approved by the President to properly reimburse our own boys for the hardships and suffering they endured as prisoners of war in German and Japanese camps.

I have in committee a bill which provides for additional payment of $150 to each of our men who were prisoners of war, which includes, of course, the many from New Mexico who went through the hellish torture in Japanese camps after the Bataan campaign.

I shall insist that our own men be taken care of before any repayment is made to the former enemy aliens, no matter how just their claims may be. It is well to recall that we paid 146 million dollars to the enemy prisoners in our camps—and part of that to the prisoners, themselves, for their work. Our boys were paid nothing by the enemy nations and were tortured and ill-treated in most cases.

Thoroughness and timeliness of insect control are more important than the particular insecticides used or whether sprays or dusts are applied.

Hwy. Ads Bring Many Inquiries

(The following is reprinted from the July 29 issue of the Globe-News at Meade, Kan.)

Anyone, dubious of the statement "It pays to advertise" should drop into the executive offices of the National Highway 54 Association located in Meade, Kan., U. S. A., and take a look through the file of inquiries that have arrived at the office here daily since the association hit the big time advertising circuit in late May.

A look at the file would change his mind, but fast.

On Friday a Globe-News staff man was drinking a cup of coffee with Joe Ross, president of the national 54 association. Ross was sorting through a batch of mail and handed the local newspaperman a post card with a return address of Venice, Italy. Quite naturally the local newspaperman read the card. Following is what he read:

Venice, July 12th, 1951.

Dear Sirs:

Please send me a free Colorful Road Map 54 (U. S. highway map) and oblige.

Yours Very Truly,
(Dr. A. Michelesi)

As per your ad in Holiday, June.

This was just one of a number of similar inquiries that Ross received on Friday, and it's a daily occurrence since the association in late May inserted ads in Holiday magazine, the Chicago Tribune, the Wichita Beacon and started using radio station WMAQ, Chicago.

All told the association executive offices in Meade has received 1,521 inquiries similar to the one coming from Dr. Michelesi of Venice, Italy.

A look at the files in the executive office here reveals that Ross, E. E. Innis, association secretary, and Vesta Baker have a job on their hands when it comes to answering these inquiries, and all of them are answered. The Globe-News staffer looked through the files on Friday and picking inquiries at random noticed the following return addresses:

Chicago, Ill.; Boone, Ia.; Brent, France (the letter was written in French); Brooklyn, N. Y.; Silver Springs, Md.; Saranac Lake, N. Y.; Lake Geneva, Wis.; Washington, D. C.; New Orleans, La.; Phoenix, Ariz.; Canton, Ohio; Lawrenceburg, Ind.; Holland, Mich.; Denver, Colo.; Washington, Pa.; Tylerstown, Miss.; Somerville, Mass.; Rochester, Minn.; Woonsocket, R. I.; Washington, W. Va.; Houston, Texas; Flomont, Ala.; Chicoutimi, Canada (written in French); Winoski Park, Vt.; Peola, Kan.; Martinsville, N. J.; Honolulu, Hawaii; Wilmington, Del.; San Gabriel, Calif.; St. Louis, Mo.; Augusta, Maine; Greenville, S. C.; and Platte Center, Neb.

Represented in these inquiries are some 29 states, the District of Columbia, one European country and our neighbor to the north, Canada. And this was only the beginning. Had the local newspaperman desired to look at every inquiry in the files he would have found cards and letters from every state in the Union and a number of foreign countries, including about all the South American nations.

In answering inquiries, the association covers the following highlights: (1) All possible assistance to tourist in his travel over Highway 54 is offered; (2) a road map designed for easy and ready use is enclosed, and the letter of reply points out that mileage between towns is shown and that the road intersects all the international highways to afford a short yet safe cut east, west, south and north to any destination in the U. S.; (3) the letter calls attention to the unpaved section between Vaughn and Carrizozo but states the association has been assured that its completion will be expedited as much as possible, and suggests that tourists stop at gas stations or chambers of commerce for information about the road between those two towns; (4) attention is called to places of interest along the route from Lincoln's home in Springfield, Ill., to the white sands of New Mexico and finally the International bridge at Juarez, Old Mexico, and the letter informs the tourist there are hotels, motels, and eating places along the route adequate for his comfort and convenience; (5) information that the new International Central Highway to Mexico City and points south joins Highway 54 at El Paso, and lists that name of a travel club at El Paso if further data is desired.

In addition to the letter and colorful road map, a brochure on the highway, a windshield sticker and additional things such as advertisements from various hotels, motels, etc., along the highway are sent.

Road counts along the highway indicate that more and more tourists have found 54 "The Safe Family Route," and that the advertising campaign has paid off in more ways than just through inquiries. Recently when the road was blocked with floods in eastern Kansas and Missouri the traffic count dropped considerably, so considerably that a number of Meadeans were prompted to inquire as to what had happened to all the traffic. Ross found it necessary to get the reports of the opening of the highway on the newspaper wire services and radio station, he had so many inquiries.

CAPITAN

By MARY F. WERNER

Capitan was almost deserted Sunday as practically everyone went to Old Lincoln. From all reports the pageant was bigger and better this year than ever before.

A. J. Bivens took three of his FFA boys to the meeting of the state FFA in Albuquerque this past week. The boys were Wally Ferguson, Dick Cox and Bob Earl.

Mrs. Corrinne Provine returned this week from a week's visit with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Coleman of Tucumcari.

Mr. and Mrs. Basil Holcomb and Joan and Shirley Emens of Alamogordo came up Sunday to visit the Morgan family. Mr. Holcomb is a brother of Gwendolyn. Mrs. Morgan's two daughters were also home over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Hall and girls are spending a week in Albuquerque visiting Fletcher's parents and sisters. Mrs. Tonns is taking care of the drug store in their absence.

Mrs. Arletta Coleman of Truth or Consequences spent a few days in Capitan visiting her daughter, Mrs. William Humphries.

Hollis Cummins made a trip to Roswell this weekend. I asked him if business or pleasure. He said strictly pleasure. He is undecided if it is a blonde, brunette or red head.

Mr. and Mrs. Rex Werner and family spent Thursday with the Travis Werner family.

The village council has decided to pass an ordinance regarding the hauling of garbage and trash in the village. We hope this will settle the problem of keeping the town cleaned up as well as cleaning up the unsightly spot on the hill out of town.

Do not forget the three-day rodeo at the Roper's Club grounds out of Capitan August 17, 18 and 19. Free barbecue the day of the 19th.

Charles Hodgkin Home From Far East Duty

Charles Hodgkin is home for a week's leave from the U. S. Navy. He will leave Monday for San Diego where he will be stationed for several months. The navy man has some interesting stories to tell about conditions in Japan and Korea, and has been at guest in several Japanese homes. He brought with him a number of attractive gifts for his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hodgkin Sr., including scarves, cue stick, jewelry and many other items which he purchased in Korea and on the west and east coasts of Japan. Among the amusing incidents he relates are having to take off his shoes before entering the homes of his Japanese friends, using a pillow on the floor for a chair, and riding in a taxi powered by a coal-burner. Charles said he found the Japanese very friendly to the Americans and that they appear to hold no grudge as a result of World War II. The sailor is hoping to be permitted to come home for Christmas.

School will start in Capitan August 27. We understand we have a good group of teachers and that the buildings have undergone a good going over, so am sure school will get off to a good start. We are sad to say we will not have Mrs. Pierce with us this year to teach the glee club as well as piano.

Mrs. Gussie Titsworth left Friday for an extended visit in Colorado to visit her daughter, Mrs. Orland Wilson, and family. Marjorie Titsworth of Tinnie accompanied Mrs. Titsworth to act as chauffeur.

Class Lectures Listed By Home Ec Teacher

Miss Betty Lou Grogan, home economics teacher at Carrizozo High School, announced this week the scope of her classroom lectures for the school term which starts August 27. The subjects to be covered this year, she said, are included in her courses of interior decoration and family relationships.

Miss Grogan explained a room in the basement of the high school has been converted for the classroom use of her home economics students by plastering in the door leading to the manual training room, removing the lavatory and blackboards, and giving the entire room a fresh coat of paint. The walls and ceiling are now a golden yellow, and the dark woodwork is hidden under white paint. The floors have been refinished. Living room furniture in ranch oak makes a modern and attractive setting typical of many present day homes, and gives the students practical knowledge in the art of interior decoration as well as the relationship of cheery surroundings to harmonious family life. The girls in the sophomore class will make the drapes as soon as a decision on the material is reached.

The funds for this project come in part from the state vocational department and the balance from the local school's home economics fund.

The high school teacher is visiting the homes of her new students this week as well as renewing friendships among the parents of last year's students. She is also getting the home economics department of the local school in order, taking inventory of its equipment, ordering additional needed equipment and supervising a general cleanup.

Miss Grogan announced plans are underway to permit freshmen and sophomore girls to take six weeks of manual training while the boys in those grades take six weeks of home economics. Final decision depends upon the approval of Miss Mary Gillespie, state supervisor of vocational homemaking education, which is expected to be received in time for the current school year. The Carrizozo teacher conducts two classes per day in home economics with a 90 minute period for each one.

She will go to Las Cruces next week for the vocational conference at State College which will take up the revision of the home economics curriculum. All home economics teachers in New Mexico are expected to attend this conference.

Old Lincoln Day—

enjoyed in front of the museum during the day with various residents supplying the music, and historic buildings in Lincoln were inspected by the visitors. One exhibit that caught the public's fancy is a scene in the old Tunstall and McSwain building restored by Mrs. Ruth Martin and her son, Edward Penfield to a replica of an early days general store. Much of the merchandise in the original boxes in which it was brought to Lincoln and represents unsold stock stored away these many years. Old record books showing sales and purchases made during the early 1890's were fascinating to many of the tourists. Other exhibits too numerous to mention are displayed in the converted store. Mr. Penfield and his mother operate a store in one end of the famous old building while the postoffice is housed in the opposite end of the structure.

All members of the Lincoln County Memorial Commission attended the festivities and held their meeting Sunday in the old courthouse. New officers of the commission are Mrs. U. D. Sawyer, Carrizozo, chairman; Col. Ewing Lusk, Roswell, vice chairman; A. T. Pflingsten, Hondo, secretary-treasurer.

The grand finale to the day's entertainment came at night with the presentation of Lincoln County's Frontier Album, a pageant of the early day history of the county and scenes from the life of its notorious outlaw, William H. Bonney, more familiarly known as Billy the Kid. John Davis, Lincoln, member of a pioneer New Mexico family, was again selected to enact the Kid's role. Space does not permit the listing of the names of all those who took part in the production or the names of those who contributed services and stage props to make the pageant the success it was. However, officers of the Lincoln County Historical Society expressed appreciation for the cooperation extended by all who had any part whatsoever in the production of the pageant, and are extremely grateful. They say too they are already planning for another one next year.

Authority Questioned In Telephone Rate Order

E. C. Phillips, New Mexico-EI Paso manager of the Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph Company, released the following statement this week concerning the suspension of the increase in telephone rates by the State Corporation Commission:

"The rates which the Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph Company are now collecting were put into effect June 27, 1951, after full state-wide publicity and following a procedure exactly as prescribed by the state constitution and statutes.

"The corporation commission has already undertaken an investigation on its own motion to determine the reasonableness of these rates and has employed independent experts to assist in this investigation which is now under way. The company welcomes such an investigation, which will enable it to establish the reasonableness of the rates. We can find no authority for the recent order arbitrarily suspending our legally established rates. The order is being reviewed, and at the moment it seems reasonable that the validity of the order should be tested in the courts.

"We are more than anxious to proceed with our program of service expansion and improvement. However, the forces of inflation have not overlooked the telephone business. The costs of doing business today are so much higher than in any previous period, we feel certain the rates in question are fully justified, and that upon a hearing with full evidence before it, the corporation commission and the public will approve."

It was brought out during the course of the August 6 meeting that the commissioners have appointed J. G. Moore, Carrizozo, county clerk, as a purchasing agent and that all orders must go through him. The chairman pointed out this action had been taken in the interest of economy. A special meeting of the Lincoln County commissioners will be held August 21 at 10 A. M.

ANCHO

By ALLIE SNODGRASS Rev. and Mrs. Markham came over Sunday for a morning church service. With them were their son and daughter, Rev. Paul Markham, his wife and small son, and Rev. Harv Holland, wife and two small sons from McCamey, Texas. Mrs. Holland is their daughter and Rev. Holland is pastor of First Presbyterian Church in McCamey. Rev. Paul Markham is in Michigan. Rev. Holland filled the pulpit Sunday and delivered a wonderful message. After service a large crowd enjoyed a basket lunch and an afternoon of visiting at the school house.

The Ancho Presbyterian Ladies Auxiliary met at the home of Mrs. B. W. Wilson Thursday, August 16, at 2 P. M., each member bringing a basket lunch and accompanied by their families. They journeyed on into the hills for supper, and evening services. Last year when this was attempted we were rained out.

School will start August 27. A good many changes have been made around the school house this summer, chiefly the teacherage which was bought and moved here, and readied for Mrs. Wedell, who will move in some time this week.

Levene and Allie Snodgrass were both in Carrizozo Saturday for bus inspection and the bus drivers' meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lusk of Holoman Air Base were visitors at Bob and Mae Robinson's Sunday. Think they must have come up to mountains to cool off. However, stays fairly warm here, too.

John and Margie Wilson and two children of Hobbs were at the ranch over the weekend. John says when it rains it pours, at Hobbs. Had three inches Friday. It was the first rain on his ranch this summer.

Harriet Wilson of Albuquerque is visiting the R. E. Risinger. Surely do miss Jackie around the store. She is visiting in El Paso and Los Angeles.

Both Mrs. Roby, mother of Nancy, and Mrs. Allan Kille are at Tommy and Nancy Knight's these last two weeks. Mrs. Kille is Tommy's mother from Coos Bay, Ore., while Mrs. Roby is from Las Cruces.

Local Resident Named To Membership In AHS

Mrs. Loren M. Winter, Carrizozo, was named to membership in the American Hereford Association whose headquarters are in Kansas City, Mo.

One hundred eighty Hereford breeders were placed on the association's official roster during June to boost the total membership to an all-time high of 18,024. Members represent every state in the nation.

The Hereford Association last year recorded a new world record of 428,971 purebred calves, an increase of 50,073 over the record established during the previous fiscal year.

Decision Postponed In Green Tree Vote Test

Decision on the case of the village of Green Tree versus the Lincoln County Board of Commissioners, which came up for hearing Monday in District Court here, has been postponed in order to permit Assistant District Attorney Robert Sellers, Alamogordo, time to prepare and file his brief. Sellers is prosecuting the case for the commissioners and the Roswell firm of Frazier, Quantius and Cusack represent the village of Green Tree.

The village of Green Tree is seeking to void the incorporation of the town which was voted by its residents 69 to 59 in an election held April 14.

The controversy arose after a water system had been voted and shortly thereafter the property tax within the village was raised as a result of the survey by Dee Donnell and Associates. A number of residents were fearful they could not pay the taxes that would be levied and a petition to disincorporate was circulated. Subsequently, the county commissioners found the petition to be in order and a proclamation of election was issued.

District Judge W. T. Scoggins said Monday he is holding up his decision on the case until he has had an opportunity to study the briefs of the two factions. Another court hearing on the matter is not planned, he said, and the parties will be notified in writing of his decision. It is expected the judge's decision will be rendered sometime in September.

Visits Turkey

Manuel Miller, Ireman, USN, Captain, visited Izmir, Turkey, recently when the aircraft carrier USS Oriskany anchored at the Asia Minor port for a five-day call.

The most important town in Asia Minor, and a principal port of the Turkish republic, Izmir is one of the earliest homes of the Christian church. Many churches in the United States now bear its ancient name of Smyrna. Tours of the city enabled the crew of the ship to see many Roman ruins that dot Izmir.

The Oriskany is attached to the Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean.

MISS Thelma entertained the Thursday Afternoon Bridge Club at the nurses home. Prizes were won by Mesdames Joe Ferguson, Tom Burleson and Ray Baker. Refreshments served were mint, sherbet and a beverage of ginger ale.

Mrs. Grace Davis of Odessa, Texas, has been visiting the Jim Thompsons. On Saturday, August 4, the D. D. Club held its monthly party. Hostesses were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Randel.

Bert Cheney will resign from service after 22 years. He will take over the Conoco agency at Capitan. Jim Thompson will replace Mr. Cheney as head cook. The dietitian and kitchen gang are giving him a farewell party. State Auditor Bob Caatner flew in from Gallup in a chartered plane on Sunday, August 12. Mr. Caatner had contacted Carl Ness the previous evening so we were able to feed him before rushing over to Lincoln to visit with as many people as his limited time would allow. He expressed regrets a previous engagement in Gallup Sunday evening prevented him from staying for the evening pageant.

The people of Lincoln County and all of those that had part in presenting the Lincoln Day pageant really ought to be proud of themselves. They certainly put on a fine show. It seems there is just a lot of actor in most every one.

The patients' booth at Lincoln grossed about $65, according to reports from Mrs. Wiggs, occupational therapist. Mrs. Boyd reports the school concessions at Lincoln did very well, serving about 500 meals and disposing of some 140 cases of soft drinks.

The hot dog and hamburger stand run by the Girl Scouts of Lincoln had a complete sell out and the Ladies Guild of Fort Stanton, having the same luck, were able to dispose of their entire stock of pies and cakes.

Ray Baker, scoutmaster of the Fort Stanton troop, reports the combined efforts of the Lincoln and Fort Stanton troops netted them $105 in their parking venture at Lincoln Sunday. Skipper Gould, Joey Ferguson and Donny Zamora cooked the dinner which task will be applied towards the cooking merit badge. Jimmie Arner, Jimmie Minters, Eddy Romero and Arthur Salas were in the finance department in charge of collections. Carl Mankinen Jr. and Joe Wilson were on duty in front of the museum to keep the street clear. All in all, the boys did a grand job, parking was arranged so that you could go and come at will and they are to be complimented on their excellent work.

My husband received word his water color, "Sky Ranch," was one of the 225 works that was selected for exhibition in the 38th annual exhibition for New Mexico artists. This exhibition opens at the Museum of New Mexico on Sunday, August 19, and will run to September 16. Due to the large increase in the artists' production, and limited space of the museum it was necessary this year for the first time to select the exhibits from some 400 pictures that were submitted.

Mrs. Ed White, son Jere, daughter, Ethlyn and her husband, Jake Agnew, are visiting in New Mexico. Mrs. White and Jere are guests of the Leo Paymans of Fort Stanton, while Mr. and Mrs. Agnew have gone on to Alamogordo to visit. Plan for the future. Buy U. S. Defense Bonds.

"The present discrimination is made far greater by the House bill which would raise manufacturers' excise taxes on new automobiles from 7 to 10 per cent. The bill lowers non-automotive tax levies and raises automobile levies," he pointed out.

"In order to raise treasury revenues by $412 million car, and truck owners would be taxed an additional $502 million more annually than under current rates. Automobile dealers do not object to the reduction in manufacturers' excises on non-automotive products but dealers do object to increasing the obviously discriminatory excises which will be paid by car buyers and owners," the chairman added.

Roberts estimated that taxes take from 24 to 28 cents of every automobile dollar and, in the case of gasoline, amount to about one-third of the retail price. If this dangerous trend is carried to excess, he emphasized, the purpose of automotive taxation will be defeated, production crippled, and the automobile returned to its early status as a product only for the wealthy.

The National Automobile Dealers Association has urged the Senate finance committee, which has just concluded public hearings on the proposed law, to consider other types of taxation, to curtail federal expenditures, and to close loopholes in the present tax structure rather than discriminate against the motorist who is already overburdened with heavy taxation.

Proposed Amendments Analyzed By University

Do you want Indians to have liquor? Do you want state legislators to get more money? Do you want the nomination of judges in your own hands, or do you want them picked by the New Mexico bar?

You'll get a chance to answer these, and other questions too, when you go to the polls September 18 to vote on proposed constitutional amendments. An analysis of the amendments, as a guide for you, was released by New Mexico University's government research division. The study is "Proposed Constitutional Amendments in New Mexico - 1951," by Dr. Charles B. Judah.

What the bulletin says follows: Amendment No. 1 would allow the sale of liquor to Indians. The argument against it is the better that Indians can't hold their liquor as well as white men. But the experts—sociologists, anthropologists and Indian officials—and the Indians themselves think Indians should be allowed to buy liquor.

Amendment No. 2 would make the state school superintendent appointive instead of elective as at present and would require that he have a master's degree. He'd be appointed by and responsible to the nine-man state board of education, with one member from each of the states' nine (now 10) judicial districts.

The board members would be appointed or elected, and that's where the possible rub comes in, for it would be up to the legislature to pick the method of selecting them. And if the legislature decided on appointment, it would move the school system further from the people.

However, the amendment probably would bring smoother operating of the school system at high levels in the organization and result in its better serving the state.

Amendment No. 8 would take judicial candidates out of partisan primaries and have them nominated by a five-man commission made up of two lawyers, two non-lawyers and the chief justice of the State Supreme Court.

Advantages claimed for the amendment are that it: 1. Provides for a more thorough appraisal of the necessary qualifications of a prospective judge.

2. Will encourage better men to accept judicial office.

3. Will remove judges from political activity.

4. Will enable judges to do a better job.

5. Will keep a good judge in office and at the same time provide the public with means of removing the unfit.

But on the other hand, "the voter should fully realize that the adoption of the amendment will eliminate the people of New Mexico from effective participation in choosing the judges of the state."

Judges, in making such important decisions as on constitutionality of laws, frequently reflect the social, economic and political convictions of the group from which they come.

And so this amendment boils down to this question: Do you want judges who reflect the social, economic and political convictions of the people or of the New Mexico bar?

Amendments No. 3 and 4 would stop the fixing of judges' salaries by constitutional provision and would let the legislature do it. Judges' salaries couldn't be slashed during their terms of office.

What this amendment would do—and this is the government research division's view—would be to give judges only one salary instead of the two they get now, thus limiting the chance of confusion on judges' salaries in the public mind.

At present, the constitution limits supreme court justices to $6,000 a year and district court judges to $4,500 a year. But because of supplementary jobs they've been given to get around the constitution, justices really get $11,000 a year and judges $9,000.

The voters rejected a similar proposal in 1949.

Amendment No. 5 would throw out the requirement that bond elections in cities, towns and villages be held only at regular local elections.

This amendment might make it easier to carry out local government in some cases, and it might help take the question of bond issues out of partisan politics.

Amendment No. 6 would provide for absentee voting. "The present lack of an absentee ballot has the effect of disenfranchising the large number of New Mexicans whose occupations compel them to be away from

NOGAL MESA

A small but very indigent crowd attended the annual work-day at Angus Cemetery August 11. Despite the warning of thunder in the mountains, a basket lunch was spread at noon under the pines in the school yard, but before we could finish rain began to fall and we had to move into the school house.

Floy Skinner and Sam Cox chose this past weekend to round up their cattle and spray. There were also a few cases of pink eye to doctor and some late calves to brand. The usual bunch of boys were there to help, with the exception of Tom and Mike Guck, who are on vacation at Excelsior Springs, Mo. A card from their mother, Dorothy, reports the children are having a wonderful time in the swimming pool. The boys are learning to dive and little 8-year-old Mary has mastered the art of swimming. The Gucks plan to be home by August 19.

Mrs. Boen Zumwalt is home after a pleasant motor trip to Sheridan, Ore., to visit her son, Wayne. She made the trip there with Jack Zumwalt who decided to stay and work with his brother. His family, who reside in Carlsbad, will join him soon to establish their home in Oregon. Mrs. Boen Zumwalt returned by train, stopping over in Sacramento and Los Angeles to visit friends.

Rev. R. C. Gunstream, district superintendent of the Church of the Nazarene, was in charge of the young people's institute at the Nazarene camp near Angus last week, where 180 young men and women from all over the state were enrolled for their conference. A number of nearby summer residents also attended the meetings. One of the out-of-state speakers was Dr. Taylor, a former teacher in the Bethany College of Oklahoma.

Mrs. Jack Pflingsten and three children of Duncan, Ariz., are spending the week with Ben Pflingsten at the Mesa ranch.

Mrs. Leota Pflingsten is busy making plans for a trip to visit her brother, Harold Bradford, in Mancon, Colo. The Bradfords will host a family reunion during Mrs. Pflingsten's stay.

Cow buyers are dropping around more often now and some of the ranchers have already contracted their calves for 35 cents while others are holding off hoping they will be offered a little more.

Fish And Game Dept. Gives Tips On Fishing

The State Fish and Game Department suggests this week fishermen keep the feet of the guides on their fly rods clean if they are to have enjoyable fishing. By "feet" is meant the flat ends of the guide over which silk thread is wound.

The state agency said when these feet become caked with fine dressing minute particles of dirt are picked up which act as an abrasive. This is rough on good fly lines and brings on a sinking fly line, according to the department's experts who advise regular cleaning of guide feet by brushing them out with a small paint brush saturated with naphtha about every three or four fishing trips. The fishing "know hows" caution it's not how much line dressing one puts on that counts, but how little can be applied and still give a complete coating to the line.

The experts advise to throw away any pads that may come with the dressing as they are dirt catchers and apply the dressing with clean bare hands after cleaning the line with naphtha and before every fishing trip. If the leader won't sink, they say to try washing it with a small piece of abrasive soap.

home on election day," Judah says.

Amendment No. 7 would boost the pay for legislators attending sessions in Santa Fe from $10 to $20 a day. A more pay proposal for legislators was soundly beaten by the voters two years ago.

However, "it should be noted that even a high rate of pay for members of a small legislature would not bulk large in the total cost of government. It is notable also that many legislators serve at a financial sacrifice to themselves; that an increase may help to allow wage earners and operators of small businesses to serve in the legislature without undue personal sacrifice," according to the Judah bulletin.

Oregon Showdown

OREGON MAY be the show down state where General Eisenhower finally makes up his mind whether "to run or not to run"—and on what ticket.

The situation in Oregon was outlined to Ike's political chief-of-staff, Sen. Jim Duff of Pennsylvania, the other day by Robert Letts Jones, publisher of the Salem, Ore., Capital Journal. Jones pointed out that Oregon has a primary ruling whereby any person can be entered in the race by a petition of 1,000 signatures—whether the candidate wants his name entered or not.

Thus Eisenhower's name could be entered in the Oregon presidential primary by 1,000 of his friends, entirely without his consent, and as a means of testing out his political strength.

The Oregon primary has another interesting angle, Jones explained to Senator Duff. The state attorney general has ruled that no candidate can run unless his party affiliation is known, thus Eisenhower would be forced, at that time, to be stamped either as a Republican or a Democrat.

Since the Oregon primary is May 16 and since all names have to be filed ninety days in advance, the showdown for Eisenhower would be sometime in February.

Note—It's a good bet that Ike's friends—and he has a lot in the northwest—will toss his hat into the ring through the Oregon primary.

Dressy General

When this column told how Gen. Emil C. Kiel, commander of the air force in the Caribbean, had sent his plane all the way from Ecuador to Panama to get his dinner jacket for a dinner given him by the Ecuadorian defense minister, the U.S. air force queried Kiel, wanting to know if the "Pearson story" was accurate.

Gen. Kiel replied that he had sent a plane back from Ecuador to Panama, but that he had not sent it to bring back his dinner jacket.

However, officials of the defense department pressed him further, finally got an admission that though the plane had not brought back the general's dinner jacket, it had brought back his "full dress uniform."

Propaganda Hurts

Reports from behind the iron curtain indicate that one reason for the seizure of AP correspondent William Oatis by Czechoslovakia was that American propaganda through the Voice of America and Radio Free Europe is hurting.

When the Communies want to get something out of the U.S.A., their crudest but most successful technique is to seize an American citizen, and hold him as a hostage until we come across with the ransom money.

The reported ransom money in Czechoslovakia is to curtail the Voice of America and Radio Free Europe, both really hurting the Communist government. In fact, the Voice of America has had the Czech government in a state of hitters.

Before Foreign Minister Clementis was purged, the voice made a categorical prediction that he and eight other top Czechs would be arrested. For weeks, the voice pounded home this prediction, giving the exact names of the prospective victims. The Czechs listened but were skeptical.

Then suddenly Clementis was arrested. With him were arrested four of the eight others the Voice of America had named. All Czechoslovakia weathed at the news. The accuracy of the Voice of America was commented on everywhere, and its listening audience has doubled. More than ever, Czechs are tuning in on the voice to see who will be purged next.

Note—Despite the state department's remarkable propaganda job, the budget of the Voice of America and other propaganda projects has been slashed to ribbons. Congressmen who have been doing the slashing have been invited to come to the state department briefing room and get the story—much of it confidential—of what the department is doing. However, only two or three have bothered to get acquainted with the activities of the agency whose work they pass upon.

MacArthur Report

President Truman is dressing Democratic senators to write a report on the MacArthur investigation. They had planned to forget about a report, because they feared a majority would not agree to blasting MacArthur. However, the President believes Chairman Dick Russell of Georgia is honest enough to accept the evidence, which most observers consider to have been clearly and overwhelmingly against MacArthur.

Korean Peace Talks Develop Slowly; Control Bill Viewed With Cynicism

THE PEACE FRONT—As expected the Korean peace talks have developed slowly. The shooting war in that bloody country may not end for weeks, if then. And it will be years before a feeling of security develops among the South Korean people.

As things stand now, the Allies and Reds are at loggerheads over several questions. The main one, however, is the establishment of a cease-fire buffer zone. The Reds want it established along the 38th parallel. The Allies want it along present battle lines.

The Allies contend: (1) The present positions, based on ridges, are more defensible militarily than the 38th parallel; (2) The parallel is where the Red invasion began June 25, 1950. It is viewed in many quarters as a symbol of U. N. defeat, and a settlement along that line is bitterly opposed by the South Korean government.

It may be that some sort of compromise can be worked out on the question, but not without long and exhausting talks.

Meanwhile, the Reds have resorted to their old tricks of injecting political issues into the discussions. The Reds have complained of Allied air and naval power and of the bombing of peaceful Korean villages—a long-familiar Red propaganda twist for air strikes.

THE FIGHTING FRONT—And while the high brass talks of peace, United Nations troops continue to fight and die in Korea. Artillery rumbles, U. N. troops probe at Red lines, and the Reds make counter thrusts.

The U.S. army reported the Communists have staged a tremendous build-up of armed forces since the cease-fire talks began and pointedly expressed hope this was not a sign of bad faith.

Here again is evidence of Communist thinking and policy. Hanging on the ropes when the peace talks started, the Reds took full advantage of U. N. let-up in attack, to show good faith during the talks, to build up their own military forces and supplies.

The Communists have moved more supplies near the front lines than needed to maintain troops while the talks are underway. In addition, they have moved new units and thousands of individual replacements south into the battle lines.

THE EUROPEAN FRONT—While there were talks of peace in the far east, the free nations prepared to meet aggression in Europe. New plans for defense were announced by George C. Marshall, secretary of defense, when he told congress the administration now plans to have 400,000 U. S. troops in Europe in 1952—nearly double the number previously estimated.

He also disclosed that U.S. allies have promised to have 2,500,000 men under arms next year and to be able to put five million men into the field within 90 days after the outbreak of any new war.

Marshall argued against any let-down in American defensive spirit resulting from the Korean armistice talks and against any congressional cuts in U. S. military aid to western Europe. He said he was deeply shocked at what he termed the "tragic" reaction of the American people now that peace appears in prospect in Korea.

PRICE CONTROLS—Confusion and cynicism seems the only way to describe the average home town's reaction to the price control bill which congress has enacted. The confusion stems from the fact that few congressmen, if any, can give a complete and adequate description of how the law will work. The cynicism stems, in great part, from the belief that the debate on the issue was put on the record more for future political effect than for the purpose of clarifying the issues.

The bill permits some rollbacks on nonfarm goods and opens the way for some increases. It extends wage, price, credit, rent, and other emergency controls through next June. But controls are eased in a number of ways and the President got none of the additional authority he asked.

The United Labor Policy Committee, made up of most big organized labor groups, immediately denounced the bill. The committee termed the bill "a callous betrayal of the consumers of the nation by the reactionary coalition which rules congress."

Administration leaders contend it is short of what is needed to combat inflation. Republicans say it is a good bill, if administered properly.

Communist Round-Up
Behind bars are the four ranking Los Angeles Communists who were rounded up by the FBI last week. They are shown as they confer with their attorney, Ben Margolis (second from left).

50 MILLIONTH ELGIN—Every science has its milestones. In horology, the science of watchmaking, the first milestone occurred almost 450 years ago at Nuremberg, Germany. A clockmaker there found means of compressing the parts of a timepiece into a sturdy and compact mechanism. The Nuremberg "egg," crude and clumsy by modern standards, was the world's first watch—so called because it was carried by night watchmen.

Next month the city of Elgin, Ill., which boasts it is the town "made famous by time," will help its oldest industry celebrate another horological milestone. Scheduled for completion then is the 50 millionth timepiece to be made at Elgin—more jeweled watches than any other manufacturer in the world has yet produced.

Significantly, the 50-millionth watch is claimed to incorporate every major technical achievement since horology was a pup. In stark contrast with the first bulky pocket watch made in the same city 84 years ago, it will be only one-tenth as large, yet will be a better timekeeper.

THE VICIOUS RACKET—Federal agents last week broke up the biggest narcotics ring in the nation's history. Narcotic agents reported the arrest of 10 "salesmen" for the $30,000,000 heroin-smuggling ring. The agents also got $100,000 in counterfeit money.

The ring is believed to have smuggled as much as 50 pounds of heroin into the United States each month. It has been operating since 1940.

CANADIAN GIRLS MEET QUEEN . . . Fifty Canadian girls visit Buckingham Palace.

REDS PLAY HOST . . . Two North Korean soldiers haul a case of beer across the courtyard in Kaesong as the Communists played host to allied delegates at the truce conference. The talks on a cease-fire agenda for the Korean war were in recess at the time until the Reds could get advice from Peking. The Communists finally acceded on their demand for removal of all foreign troops in Korea.

PLEA ON CONTROLS . . . In Washington, D. C., Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston declares emphatically that the house of representatives in its action on controls legislation this far has kicked the American people in the teeth and in the pocketbook, as well as the stomach. Johnston told newsmen that congress has passed proposals which would make completely unworkable any plans for controlling living costs.

INTERNATIONAL CAMP . . . Lots of welcome are offered by Joan Castrovada of Hawaii to Marilyn Stewart, Oswego, Ore., and Kiyoko Yamamoto, Tokyo, Japan. These girls are delegates to the International Girl Scout encampment at Home Valley, Wash. There are 94 Girl Guides and Girl Scouts here from 14 countries and territories. The encampment is pioneer in style with all the girls living in tents and cooking their meals over open fires.

WAGE ENFORCER . . . The wage stabilization board has named Miss Helen Humphrey, Detroit, chairwoman of its three-member national enforcement commission. She previously served as attorney for regional offices of the national labor relations board.

EDITOR . . . J. Farnell Thomas, former U. S. representative who was convicted of padding his office payroll, will serve as editor and publisher for Community Press Publications, which will operate three small weeklies in New Jersey.

RED WRITERS . . . Two British correspondents for Communist newspapers are attending the Kaesong peace talks. Willfred Burchett (left) works for the Red Ce Solr, Paris, and Alan Winington corresponds for the London Daily Worker.

NEW NAZIS . . . Black-shirted groups are re-forming in Western Germany. This is Helmut Guesche, founder of the League of Young Germans (BJD), a group dedicated to the memory and philosophy of the late teacher, Adolph Hitler.

COSTELLO IN CONTEMPT . . . Frank Costello arrives at federal court house, New York City, after indictment on charges of contempt of the U.S. senate. Charges stem from his refusal to answer questions by senate crime committee.

Crappie Lore
If numbers mean anything, one of the more important game fishes in the Midwest is the crappie.

The crappies are members of that ever-popular family, the sunfishes. And, if they can be compared, they may be easily identified.

An one might expect, color is the weakest of characters, for the young black crappie are barred as are white crappie.

Crappies normally spawn in May in most Midwest waters. Neither species is a colonial nest builder as are many sunfish.

Throughout the range of these fishes, the black is found in cooler, clearer waters and seems to prefer a hard bottom; the white is well pleased in warmer, more turbid waters and is not averse to mud bottoms.

While crappie build up populations faster than do black crappie since both species readily become overpopulated in small bodies of water, the black crappie is generally the more desirable fish for lake stocking.

There are occasional reports of two- and three-pound crappies, and larger fish have been caught. Nonetheless, the average good crappie weighs about ten ounces.

Crappie are school fish and are well traveled. A quarter-mile journey is not unusual during the daily reconnaissance for food.

Although a bucket of small minnows is standard equipment for crappie fishermen, food studies reveal that these fish take about ten times as much other food as they do minnows but nevertheless a properly placed minnow approaches the irresistible where crappie are concerned.

Fly and bait casting equipment took a respectable number of fish. Small plugs, spoons, or fly and spinner combinations are quite successful when properly used.

To insure a full stringer, crappie fishermen should first select a promising location. A submerged brush pile, a fallen tree, a weed bed—these are the reserved sections in the tournament of the spotted sunfish.

Once a school has been located, strikes are numerous. But the angler must take advantage of his good fortune; those foraging feeders come and go as quietly as a summer breeze.

The long slender filaments of feathers are indifferent conductors of heat, but retain a considerable amount of air which retards the ingress or egress of internal or external heat, thus keeping birds comfortable in hot or cold weather.

Large Spinners
The important fact to remember when using large casting spinners is to keep them moving fast enough to make the blades spin freely.

When using large casting spinners to keep them moving fast enough to make the blades spin freely, whether casting or trolling, it is a good idea to reel the lure through the water close to you a few times to get an idea of how fast it must be worked for best results.

WOMAN'S WORLD

Thrifty Art of Stain Removal Cuts Clothing Expenses

By Eritta Haley

I've wasted more money on staining clothing, and not knowing how to remove it, than I've spent on clothes many a season," is a remark often heard.

A single spot on a dress, coat or suit, in a prominent place can virtually make it impossible to wear for the occasions for which it was intended.

Simple methods are effective in spot and stain removal, especially if prompt action follows the accident. It would be well worthwhile to memorize the methods used for some of the common stains, just in case you can't find the information when you want it or when you're away from home.

Correct treatment for different types of stains is important information, as the wrong material used on the stain might set rather than remove it.

Methods that are safe for some fabrics may ruin others, so it's wise always to test in an inconspicuous place to see whether the particular dress or suit or coat can "take" the treatment prescribed. Use a hem or a seam of the outfit, or better still, if you have made the garment, test the prescribed solution on a patch of material.

Always check garments for stains before pressing them; a hot iron run over the material plus the stain may well render it impossible to remove. If you remove stains when they're made, you have an added advantage in knowing what they are. If you don't know the type of stain, the job of removing it is more difficult, as you must try to identify the type for most effective removal.

Here's How to Use Common Cleaning Agents

If you cannot identify a stain but it appears to be greasy, use carbon tetrachloride. If the stain is not greasy, use cold water, sponging it lightly. If water does not remove the stain, let the material dry and then try carbon tetrachloride or an absorbent powder.

For non-greasy stains, the most common solvent is water. For greasy stains, the most common solvents include carbon tetrachloride,

De-Wrinkle Ties

If any woman's husband is careless with his ties, she can easily de-wrinkle them like this: Roll the "just worn" tie as shown and let it stand overnight. This will erase creases and put smooth spring back into the blue cut fabric.

To use these solvents, place a pad of clean cloth under the material, with the stain part toward the cloth so you don't have to make the cleaner penetrate the material. Dampen a clean, soft cloth with solvent and sponge with a light brushing motion. Do not rub. Spread moisture unevenly around stain to keep a ring from forming. Work quickly and lightly.

Change pad as it becomes soiled. Dry quickly. If necessary, repeat process rather than leaving solvent on for a longer period of time.

French chalk, fuller's earth, talcum, cornmeal and cornstarch can be used for fresh grease stains as they absorb it effectively. They are safe on all materials. Lay the stained cloth on a table and shake powder over stain. As soon as the powder becomes sticky or discolored, shake or brush it off and apply more if necessary.

If the stain still shows after several tries, place stained part be-

And this is not enough to satisfy Min. She's a plain woman now, who was once so pretty. Her clothes no longer excite her. Cooking has lost its excitement, except when there's a company. She likes occasional radio music, she likes to plan for a trip, she likes certain visitors and she doesn't get much of any of this.

Men go through the same painful emotions when youth and dreams are over, and this is the moment when any flatterer—young woman can get hold of them. This is the time they tell the blonde office clerk that they are misunderstood at home. But Min has no such consolations.

A Tennessee 44-year-old woman wrote me: "I am frightened by a growing mental illness. I can't force myself to write a letter, read a book, concentrate on anything. I used to take hikes, do a lot on our tween two pieces of blotting paper and apply a warm iron for several minutes. When desired, any of the absorbent powders may be mixed to a paste with carbon tetrachloride or the other grease solvents and then applied to the stain. Let dry and brush off.

Use Bleaches Carefully To Save Colors

Javelle water and other chlorine bleaches, hydrogen peroxide, sodium hydrosulphite and sodium perborate are all effective in stain removal, but must be used cautiously to prevent removing color.

Here's the best way to use all except sodium perborate: stretch the stained portion over a bowl and apply the bleach with medicine dropper. Let stand for one minute, then rinse thoroughly with water, pouring it over the material while still on the bowl.

A few drops of vinegar will stop the action of Javelle water and other chlorine bleaches. Rinse in clean water after application.

To use sodium perborate, which is for all types of fabrics, work quickly as it may remove color very readily. This bleach will remove some stubborn stains, such as some inks, iron rust and dyes. Dissolve 4 tablespoons of sodium perborate in one pint of lukewarm water; sponge material. Rinse well.

For large stains, soak the entire garment in the solution described above for any length of time up to an hour. Soapy water rather than clear water may be used for this. Rinse thoroughly.

Grass, beverage, mud, scorch and perfume stains may be removed with sodium perborate if you mix 1 level teaspoon of the perborate with one pint of hydrogen peroxide. Rinse thoroughly in water.

Stains on white woollens are usually effectively removed with perborate, and it's nice, too, because it leaves the wool soft and fluffy.

Pepsin Softens Stains Which Contain Albumin

Such stains as eggs, milk, ice cream, gelatin and blood can be very stubborn when it comes to removal, but if they are softened they will frequently come out. Pepsin, one of the best known of the enzymes, will soften them, even though they have been set by heat.

Before trying pepsin, make certain there is no soap or other alkali on the stain, as the enzyme cannot do its work in that presence. Dampen the stain with warm water and sprinkle with pepsin powder. Let stand for half an hour, keeping the spot damp all that time. If desired, the pepsin may be mixed with water, using 2 teaspoons of the powder to one pint of lukewarm water. Sponge stain with it, then sponge or rinse with water.

Here's Useful Information For Special Stains

Covert-cloth-and-gabardine—as well as other materials with hard finishes, when stained, will rarely yield to home treatment. The cleaner may be able to help you if you can give him information on the type of stain the fabric contains.

Crisp rayon fabrics such as tafel's and molro frequently carry spots from water and should be treated with care.

KATHLEEN NORRIS

When Enough Is Not Enough

THERE IS no bugaboo more potent in destroying the happiness and security of a woman's life than the fear of what is called "the change."

The "change" is that time when she feels, with the passing of youth, the loss of a good many other things as well. She has been married an unromantic number of years; 10 or 23 or 27 as the case may be. No more romances of what her life may be are coming her way; she has got what she is going to get, in looks, money, husband, home, children. There aren't going to be any more.

Very often she has enough of worldly goods. But it isn't enough. Rooms full of furniture, of which she is tired, of china and beds and towels she knows by heart. She has dusted and polished and washed them all for years.

A good husband—Dan. But by this time whenever he speaks to him she knows exactly what he is going to answer, if he answers at all. Sometimes when a man is comfortable with his work, his home, his family, his wife, he only needs monosyllables.

It isn't that he doesn't love them, but—well, the surprises and expectations are over for him, too. He's pleased with a good dinner—there isn't a better cook in Madison county than Minnie. He's proud of his children—the boy isn't going to get the river afire, but he's smart enough. And the girl has married a fine fellow, and there'll be grandchildren someday. So Dad's evening conversation is comprised in a "got any more gray there, Mom?" and, "O.K., son, be back at eleven," and, "had the radio fixed did you, Min? Fine."

... married a fine fellow ...

And this is not enough to satisfy Min. She's a plain woman now, who was once so pretty. Her clothes no longer excite her. Cooking has lost its excitement, except when there's a company. She likes occasional radio music, she likes to plan for a trip, she likes certain visitors and she doesn't get much of any of this.

So she falls into languor and blues, life loses its taste, and she convinces herself that she is going through that experience that all women have been taught to fear and dread.

Men go through the same painful emotions when youth and dreams are over, and this is the moment when any flatterer—young woman can get hold of them. This is the time they tell the blonde office clerk that they are misunderstood at home. But Min has no such consolations.

little farm, put up fruit. But now one son is married and far away, and the other stays with his grandmother in town all week, and some week ends for schooling. I've gotten rid of the chickens, I dread company, dread any effort. It's not menopause, no sign of that yet. My husband is a good, but a quiet man; we live well inside our income. Am I going mad in spite of myself?"

This woman, like many others, thinks that this uncomfortable thing is all physical. It isn't. That's why so much of it can be lessened or obliterated entirely. It merely means, here, that her old activities, her proud usefulness and importance in her own home, with the beauty and gaiety and ignorance and confidence-of-youth, are gone.

But happiness, health, service, interest in life, energetic welcome of each successive morning, thankfulness for deep sweet sleep at night, these are all ahead.

Pope Endorses State Medicine

Vatican Letter Backs Socialized Health

SO strongly endorsed by Pope Pius XII.

A letter from Mgr. Giovanni Battista Montini, Vatican substitute secretary of state, to Charles Flory, president of the Serrano Society, French Catholic organization, contained the Pope's ideas favoring state medical care.

But the Pope expressed the reservations that the system he would favor would be one "that would prevent the application of materialistic and atheistic theories" and that would aid in improving the physical health of nations.

Mgr. Montini's letter made it clear that the Vatican opposed any system of medicine, socialistic or capitalistic, that conflicted with the "moral principles of respect of many for family."

From this, it may be deduced that the Pope will not favor inclusion in any health plan such things as birth control, artificial insemination and abortion.

When safeguards against certain medical practices are put in force, socialized medicine does not conflict with any of the principles of the Roman Catholic Church, Mgr. Montini says the Pope has averred. In fact, the Catholic church welcomes the initiative of the state in medical care for its people, the mopsignior added.

Judge Levies Overtime Fine On Railway, Promises More

RICHMOND, Calif. — Parking tickets are always a problem. And if you think your job is a special target for overtime tags—consider the case of the city that fined a railroad engineer.

A Richmond city ordinance says trains must not block a grade crossing for more than five minutes. Police Judge Clare Horner said Southern Pacific trains violated that rule eight times and fined the company $50, with a strong warning: "Next time you're in for sterner judgment."

Real Estate Bargains Awaited Early Settlers

Soaring real estate prices serve to remind Americans that the early bird gets the bargain. Peter Minuit's famous $24 purchase of Manhattan Island is only one example of the good "buys" available when the country was young.

Director Minuit's successor, Wouter Van Twiller, also got his money's worth when he gave a band of Indians about $1.65 worth of presents in exchange for 172-acre Governor's Island in New York Harbor. Staten Island, too, was bought from Indians in 1631 for "certain parcels of goods."

For the province of Maryland, Lord Baltimore had to deliver two Indian arrows yearly to Windsor Castle, plus a fifth of gold and silver ores. Early transactions shifted ownership of the present state of New Jersey several times. Charles II originally granted the area to his brother, the Duke of York, who decided it to John Lord Berkeley, and Sir George Carteret as joint proprietors. In 1674 Berkeley sold West Jersey for 1,000 pounds ($2,000) to two Quakers named John Fenwick and Edward Byllings. The executors of Carteret's will sold East Jersey at public auction in 1682 to William Penn and a number of associates for 3,400 pounds ($9,420). Half interest in the state of Maine, as represented by a royal grant to Sir Ferdinand Gorges, was bought from his heirs by the state of Massachusetts in 1677 for 1,250 pounds ($3,500). When the United States bought Louisiana Territory from Napoleon in 1803, the country got a lot for its money. The price of $15,000,000 averaged out to less than three cents an acre for the 827,000 square miles. Subsequently, the Federal Government paid nearly a billion dollars to compensate Indian tribes for their lands in the territory.

William Penn received in 1681 almost all of the present state of Pennsylvania as payment for a loan of 16,000 British pounds made by his father, Admiral Sir William Penn, to King Charles II of England. At current exchange rates, this sum amounts to $44,000. In later years his descendants were paid eight times that much by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for their interests and were permitted to keep their private estates. Penn also was required to pay the king two beaver skins on January 1 each year, plus one-fifth of all gold and silver ore found within his territory.

Star Dust STAGE SCREEN RADIO

ANNA MARIA ALBERGHETTI, the 14-year-old Italian soprano, is in Hollywood for her first starring role; she will play a refugee in "The Goddess" at Paramount. She was so good in "Here Comes the Groom", with Bing Crosby, that the studio signed her again. But the picture which will really establish her as a sensation is "The Medium".

Made in Italy, it was directed by Menotti, author of the operetta which ran so successfully in New York and abroad. It is one of those unforgettable films, perfectly acted and sung, beautifully staged. It stars Maria Powers, as did the original production. And the little Alberghetti is marvelous in it.

"Out of This World", the book by Lowell Thomas, Jr., about the exciting adventures of his famous father, the CBS newscaster, and himself in Tibet, is now being made into a feature movie in Hollywood, for release this fall.

There was a good deal of grumbling by jealous competitors when Arthur Godfrey was asked to hobnob with the great and that recent European trip, but his remarks on the European situation, made since his return, have proved how worthy he was of that honor. Godfrey probably has the largest and most devoted audience of any radio or television star in the country.

THE LONG WAY HOME

By Beatrice Cargill

3-Minute Fiction

LONG AFTER the 12:07 had moved out of sight around Black Mountain, two figures stood motionless on the tony platform. Above them, creaking on its hinges, the sign read "Turner Junction." Wind swirled and eddied around them harshly. Job Reynolds, station master, stayed discreetly inside the ticket office. He had watched folks for twenty years as they experienced that first aloneness.

"Must be down the valley to Ellenows by now," John said. John slowed down near a white, low farmhouse. There was a small sign on the side of an elm tree—"Mrs. Whitely's Famous Dinners."

Sara nodded in reply to his unasked question. She straightened her hat in the rear view mirror and put on her gloves, taking a long time with each finger. Rob's train must be nearly to Coddington.

THERE WERE long, silent minutes between soup and chicken and dessert. After dinner, they went out behind the barn to see the milks, kept in orderly cages. Mrs. Whitely's boy lashed in the pond for sunlight to feed them. Sara bent over to see the tiny creatures and her hair played in the wind. The gray streaks were like a light touch of snow.

Eho counted the milks. Two large ones, one small one, screened off by himself. A family? Their family had been three—John, Rob, Sara.

"Yes, they are beautiful," she said. "I wish I could look at them without thinking of the coats they are going to make." She smiled, apologetically. "It seems wicked to kill them, I mean."

Mrs. Whitely grinned. "Well, Mrs. Cameron, I used to feel sorry for them, but after the first check came in, I never thought about it again."

The train must be at Gorge City now. Another hour and he'd be there. She closed her eyes. John's arm was around her. "I feel as if I'd been running," she murmured. "Guess I leaned over too long looking at the milks."

"They settled themselves in the old car again. They could see the farm on a distant hill. "I still love it, John, I still like coming around that curve and seeing it, knowing I'll be there."

The car whined in self-pity as it climbed the hill. John drove up to the front door. He tumbled for the key and then just held it in his hand. Something seemed to hold him back. He didn't want to go into the house. He leaned down to pat the old collie who stood waiting there—and saw the note. Pinned to the dog's collar was a scrap of paper. Together John and Sara read it. Incredible. Drawn in the quick scrawl of a boy in a hurry were Mom and Dad—woeful faces above single-line bodies. Mom was clutching the black purse. Dad his keys. Beneath the picture Rob had written in large black letters, "CHEER UP—YOU SURE LOOK GLOOMY!"

"John, you sure look gloomy," Sara repeated—and John began to grin. Sara laughed. "That boy," he said. "That crazy kid."

He opened the door and they went into their house.

Let's Not Fool Americans With False Propaganda

By Wright A. Patterson

WE MAY NOT resent foreign nations being fed false information by the state department, as Secretary Acheson testified was the case, when on the witness stand before the senate committee investigating the firing of MacArthur. But we do resent, and quite justifiably, paying taxes to the extent of many millions of dollars to be spent by governmental departments in attempting to influence our opinions on Fair Deal socialistic projects.

Many thousands—something like 20,000—highly paid propaganda specialists are employed to promote health insurance (socialized medicine), universal military training, the Brannan food plan, and other things which congress has turned thumbs down.

Through handouts to the press and radio and through thousands of speakers, these publicity experts dish out for our benefit, and at our expense, definitely false and misleading statements regarding these nefarious Fair Deal schemes.

For example: They tell us the government-sponsored legislation to provide for health insurance (socialized medicine) will cover all the costs of all our oculist and dental bills, our hospital, medicine and doctor bills, with our regular family physician to attend to the needs of each of us, and at a cost that is far less than we are now paying for covering our ills and misfortunes.

The facts and figures they give us for the money we pay are false and misleading. They are definitely lies, but the authors are not asked or expected to prove them.

In addition to the press and radio handouts, consisting of many thousands of words each week, these specialists prepare hundreds of speeches, equally as unreliable and misleading as are the press and radio releases. Those speeches are delivered to any audience that will listen.

The orators who deliver them are drawn from that army of bureaucrats to be found in each division of the federal government, including social security, agriculture, interior, national defense, justice and others, all of them paid out of taxes of us Americans, and each of them paid far more than they could earn on any other job they could get.

These bureaucrats selected for the purpose seek the opportunity to talk to service clubs, farmers and women's organizations, church societies. Special speeches to fit audiences of all classes and types, are prepared by the publicity experts, and we pay both those who write the speeches and those who deliver them to the extent of many millions of dollars each year.

And who is responsible for such expenditure of the American tax payer's money? The answer to that question is, congress. It is congress that levies the taxes we must pay, and then appropriates the money for such expenditures as it approves. Among those receiving congressional approval are these propaganda experts, some 30,000 of them, who are employed for the purpose of selling us the socialistic schemes of the Fair Deal, that we may join in the demand for legislation that would effectuate such schemes.

Leave them on the job long enough and they will accomplish the purpose for which they are employed. When that happens, we will have followed the Pied Piper of the Fair Deal into the morass of socialism, or worse, from which it will take us generations to climb back to the safe ground of free enterprise and freedom. Congress could stop it if congress would, and we, the tax paying Americans pick the men who represent us in the senate and house of representatives at Washington.

For a period of 150 years, succeeding generations have enjoyed the opportunities and freedom that began with the birth of our country. As a people, we prospered, and individually, those who were industrious and thrifty, accumulated beyond those of any other nation due to our capitalistic system. We had many ups and downs, but more ups than downs. Now the leadership we have would change that system to a socialistic economy that has never succeeded.

The government employs some 20,000 chauffeurs, besides providing the cars they use in driving bureaucratic clerks and straw bosses in government jobs. It costs the tax payers many millions, Rangers Young Americans have to be top men to get into the U.S. Army Rangers. The hard-hitting Rangers are small units trained, armed and equipped for the specific purpose of infiltrating enemy lines. Men are selected for high mental and physical abilities. All are qualified as paratroopers. Training stresses the use of foreign weapons and maps, demolition and sabotage, guerrilla warfare, amphibious and airborne operations and close combat.

The almost world-wide custom of throwing rice at newly-married couples is believed to be a survival of the ancient religious practices of the Hindus and Chinese. In the Orient, rice is the emblem of fecundity and fertility, and throwing it at a newly-wedded pair symbolizes the wish that they may be blessed with offspring.

The first white child was born in America about 1600 A. D., or 500 years before Christopher Columbus discovered it, if the claims made in an old Norse saga were based on fact. The little girl's name was Snorri Karlakne, and she was the daughter of Gudrid and Thorfin Karlakne, brother-in-law of Leif Ericson.

More Synthetic Rubber Tire manufacturers are increasing their uses of synthetic rubber in tires 7.50 on down. Year and limitations held natural rubber to 81 per cent of the base period during January and 43 per cent during February. Manufacturers are bettering these figures by using more synthetic rubber.

Budget Aid Maple syrup operations have been considered a profitable agricultural "side-line" for years in the Pine Tree State and often have been credited with helping many generations of Maine families in balancing the budget.

Mildew Stains It's easier to prevent mildew than remove its stains, besides being easier on fabrics. This statement comes from the textile experts at the American Institute of Laundering, research and educational center for the laundering and textile industries, who say that no magic formula has yet been devised for removal of the greynish stains caused by the parasite that feeds on warm, damp fabrics. Since damage usually results from even scientific efforts to remove mildew stains, they advise housewives to store clean fabrics away dry.

Smart Farmers Farmers were first to suspect that barberry bushes were responsible for stem rust of small-grain crops—more than 500 years ago in France. In 1650, the first law was passed against these rust-spreading plants. Similar laws were passed in Connecticut in 1720, Massachusetts in 1775, and Rhode Island in 1763.

Speed of Sound Through dry air, at a temperature of 60F, sound travels with a speed of 1130 feet per second. The speed increases with temperature. At the freezing point of water, it is 1025 feet per second. As a rough value, you can take the speed as a mile in five seconds, and use this to determine distances.

Tough Crop Broccorn, closely resembling Indian corn in the field, is not an easy crop to grow. Deep, rich soil is required to produce the tall, solid stalks which rise from 10 to 14 feet high, topped by tassels of seed-bearing straw clusters ranging up to three feet long.

Christians and Law

Lesson for August 19, 1951

AMERICANS are not noted for their respect for law. Sometimes big business is the reason. In a certain southern state there are two countries through which run some main highways. But tourists are well advised to stay away from there, because the roads have been pounded into a mass of potholes by overloaded coal trucks operating at high speeds and often on the wrong side of the road. Now the state has a law against overloading trucks; it has laws against speeding. There is an honest state police department. But although various arrests have been made, the head of the police department reports that in those two counties they never yet have been able to secure a single conviction in the courts. Why?

Who is to Blame? SOMETIMES politics is to blame. That is to say, a man wants to get, or to hold, office, so eagerly that he will ignore or defy the law in order to keep his little place in the sun.

There is another county where a policeman shot a law-breaker resisting arrest and attempting to shoot the officer. The county judge tried to make three successive grand juries indict the policeman, but after looking into the facts they all refused.

Here was the interesting spectacle of a judge on the bench (elected there) trying to make the law work against itself, trying to force a grand jury to indict an innocent man. The thing was, the policeman was from out of the county, but the man he killed, being a bootlegger, had many friends who were also friends of the judge.

We Get What We Deserve BUT we can't blame big business or mean politics, for the lawlessness of America. If individuals respected the law, if every man respected the law just as he wants others to respect it, we could handle business and we could get rid of dishonest politicians.

An official high in federal circles, who had had plenty of opportunity to observe, remarked last spring, speaking of controls, that every one wants the other man controlled, everybody wants to control somebody else, but nobody wants to be controlled.

That's just the trouble. We can make all the laws we please, but so long as we are the kind of people who will not respect a law if it cramps our own style, then we need not be surprised at the sort of thing a senate crime committee digs up.

No Government is Perfect MANY of us try to excuse ourselves by saying that the government is inefficient or even crooked, and that the laws are unfair. Christians, certainly, can see very easily the failings of both government and law. But Christians ought to be the very persons to set the example of respect for law and government.

Consider the New Testament. Hardly a single Christian mentioned in that book had the least thing to do with making the laws of those times. The government was from the top down, the exact opposite of democratic. None of the early Christians could vote or hold office.

The government, whether in Palestine or in Rome, was in non-Christian hands. The laws lacked a good deal of being wholly just and fair. Nevertheless, Jesus and Paul and Peter, all of whom suffered from the laws of their times, urged men to pay tribute (taxes) to Caesar, to support the magistrates, to obey the laws. Even a selfish, money-hungry and often cruel government like that of Rome deserved support.

Jesus and Paul alike remind us that we rely on government for protection; that government, in spite of all exceptions, is on the side of good men, not against them.

If we had no government we should miss it and want it. St. Peter, writing to Christians who were actually being persecuted by the government, urged them nevertheless to be loyal to the authorities. There may come times—indeed, human nature being what it is, such times are bound to come—when a government proves so corrupt and unjust that it deserves to fall; but even then the way out is not the way of lawlessness. Reforms come best from the law-abiding, not the law-defying.

AROUND THE HOUSE

For paint spots on tile or porcelain, or whenever there isn't enough to make heating vinegar worth while, soak a piece of absorbent cotton in nail polish remover and apply it to the paint spots.

Small throw rugs that have a tendency to slip along the floor can be cured by attaching several jar rubbers to the under side or by shellingacking the reverse side.

To keep flowers fresh, use one of the following in the water: a piece of sugar, a drop of spirits of camphor, common table salt, a few slices of soap, one half teaspoon of baking soda or a tablespoon of powdered charcoal.

Wilted cut flowers can sometimes be revived if you drop an aspirin tablet in fresh water into which you've placed the flowers.

Cold tea makes a good fertilizer for house plants. Another mixture can be made by adding a teaspoon of ammonia to two quarts of lukewarm water and using it on the plants once every two weeks.

If a rug loses its stiffness and you want to conquer the condition yourself, here's how to go about it. Get some sizing from a rug supply dealer. It comes in powder or grain form, some kinds to be mixed with hot water, others with cold, so look for specific directions. To apply it, turn the rug upside down on the floor, pour the sizing on liberally out of a pot or saucepan, then spread it around evenly with an ordinary broom. All you have to do then is leave it and go spend the week-end with your mother-in-law, because it'll take the best part of two days before it's dry enough to turn over.

In rainy weather, lay a large-sized blotter just inside the front door so that wet overshoes and gloshes can be put on it. When the rain goes away, the blotter can be rolled up and kept in the closet.
