Journalistic Honors

Dick Doss, son of Mrs. Ann Vessey of Catrizozo, was adjudged the sweepstakes winner in the recent high school fournalism competition held at Beverly Hills, Calif. For winning an award in sports writing, a second place in editorial writing, and a third place in feature writing, the son of the Carrizozo woman was given a portable typewriter and a gold cup.

A student at the Inglewood Junior High School, Doss was one of approximately 100 students from 15 schools entered in the contests, and had the highest number of points in the group. He was interviewed by both the Inglewood News and the Los Angeles Examiner.

Young Does will return to Carrizozo in June for his summer vacation.

The publishers of the Lincoln County News treated the editors of the Ruldoso News to coffeé last week when they were unable to crowd in an item on the out-ofstate printing of cards for several county candidates.

The quartet enjoyed some mighty fine LINCOLN COUNTY COFFEE at the Western Cafe in Ruidoso, followed by an excellent LINCOLN COUNTY amorgasbord dinner at Carl DeBord's Navajolyou, Fermin. Lodge later in the evening. The only limitation set was the stipu. lation that the coffee, etc., be obtained in LINCOLN COUNTY.

However, just to set the record straight for a couple of those candidates, the publishers of this paper learned a few days ago that a Lincoln County business man, not engaged in the printing business, is reported to have sohelted orders for printing and then sent the work out of the state to be completed.

College-Minded Seniors Note The Teaching Profession is Worth Considering

BECAUSE:

1. Platement is guaranteed. Highlands University placed 200 teachers last year, could have placed 200 more. The placement director can guarantee to secure positions for 400 teachers each year during the next decade.

2. Salaries are good, ranging from $2800 to $6000 for a 36 week year. Average starting pay is from $3200 to $3500, nearly $100 a week as a starter.

3. No other profession allows as much time for hobbles, for avocations, or for advanced study.

4. You will be doing a job that needs to be done. About three teachers are needed for each one now being trained.

ENTER FOOD MART'S COURTESY CONTEST

Win a Beautiful, Registered Cocker Spaniel and a Case of Ideal Dog Food

You can win one of these handsome, registered Cocker Spaniels for yourself-and at the same time you can help your favorite Food Mart employee to win a valuable cash prize for himself or herself. It isn't at all hard to do! At each store you will find post cards which outline the rules of the contest, and provide space for you to write about any experience you may have had with a Food Mart'employee that you think was outstanding.

Maybe your comments will be based on just one incidentmaybe a Food Mart employee helped by looking after your baby while you were shopping, or performed some other out-of-theordinary service that you appreciated. Or maybe your comments will be based on the continuing day by day courtesy and helpfulness of some Food Mart employee.

Whatever your opinion, whatever your experience, don't forget to get your card and enter Food Mart's Courtesy Contesttoday! The card does not require postage; all you have to do is to write your thoughts, sign your name and address, and drop it in the mail. By doing this you will be helping some individual whom you think deserves a pat on the back, and you will be helping yourself and other shoppers by encouraging better service and more courteous service from ALL Food Mart employees.

This is YOUR contest-designed to enable you to help out the Food Mart people you know and like. Enter it next time you visit your friendly Food Mart. Entries must be postmarked not later than midnight, May 24.

Judging of the contest will be done on a fair and impartial basis by judges who are interested only in the merits of the incidents you relate—or of the constant courtesy and helpfulness of the individual you write about. Know your Food Mart people better ... inspire them by your participation in this contest to strive always to serve you better.
