Santa Fe Man Assumes Federal Post

Robert McKinney, Santa Fe, publisher of the New Mexican, took the oath of office Monday as assistant secretary of the Interior, U. S. Judge Carl Hatch administered the oath to McKinney in the federal court room at Albuquerque. The Santa Fe publisher plans to leave soon for Washington, D. C., to embark upon his new duties.

Following the formal taking of his oath, McKinney was the guest of honor at a luncheon held at the Albuquerque Country Club, during which the new secretary related plans for development of resources of the West and said increased needs of this country will take up any slack that might otherwise follow completion of the defense effort. McKinney feels that America's natural resources are the foundation stones of the nation's economic strength. Approximately 100 guests attended the luncheon at which U. S. Senator Clinton P. Anderson presided.

McKinney predicts a population in this country of approximately 200,000,000 by 1975, and that the growth will call for 43 per cent more copper production; 53 per cent more lead; 300 per cent more aluminum; 240 per cent more electricity; and 180 per cent more farm production.

Among the goals set for the Department of the Interior in production of 30,000,000 kilowatts of hydro-electric power—more than double present production—and approximate doubling of the present 25,000,000 acres of land under irrigation in the West. The department's plans for New Mexico, according to McKinney are rehabilitation of the Middle Rio Grande Conservancy District; development of projects to use San Juan River water, including the Shiprock, South San Juan, and San Juan-Chama diversion projects, with accompanying hydro-electric development; elimination of the swamps which cause water loss along several rivers; and a half dozen smaller projects, including the Vermilion in northern New Mexico.

The new secretary stated the end of the defense emergency need not be feared since tapering off does not mean a depression, but, rather, a golden opportunity to "raise ourselves to new heights of prosperity and happiness."

McKinney will temporarily relinquish the management of the New Mexican to Richard Everett, managing editor, and Charles Patton, business manager. He added that when his work with the government is ended, he expects to again assume active management of the Santa Fe paper as its editor and publisher.

T. & T. Asks Rate Increase

Legal technicalities involved in the hearing of the Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph Company on July 8 in conjunction with a requested rate increase are under consideration by the New Mexico State Corporation Commission. The telephone company had $259,000 cut from its rate request of last year, but has asked for some $740,000 in additional revenue.

The commissioners are seeking to ascertain if it is legal to limit the consideration to the figure of $259,000. The telephone company has stated its evidence submitted at last week's hearing brought the situation up to date, but the commission holds that because of certain matters laid before the group it constitutes a new hearing to seek a new rate change. The utility's request would up the rates an average of 51 cents per day for subscribers in 45 communities. The telephone company is reported seeking to bind the commission to the 6.76 per cent rate of return set in the April order, but to increase the rate base by some $4,000,000.

Commissioner Jason Kellahin is quoted as stating the commission did not promise the utility the 6.76 percentage and that the order specified the rate of return could go down in subsequent months.

According to reports, protests are continuing to pour into the office of Commission Chairman Ingram Pickett, including one from the city of Raton.

In a letter sent last week by E. C. Phillips, New Mexico manager of the telephone company, explaining the rate request, the manager points out that inflation has made an inroad on the company's budget. The communication states that after new rates were established last year, the New Mexico Corporation Commission ordered a reduction in revenues, thereby setting the level of earnings which the telephone company would be allowed. The findings were based on 1951 conditions, but, because of continually increasing costs, Phillips said, the company has never realized the earnings set by the commission. The letter stated that since the original rates were filed in May, 1951, conditions have changed and include a recent wage increase to the company's employees in New Mexico.

The wage increase, he added, is one of the costs of the business not reflected in present rates for service. The manager commented the company was seeking to bring its earnings up to the level allowed by the commission in order to provide the kind and amount of service desired by the residents of this state. According to Phillips, New Mexico has had the highest percentage of telephone growth of any state during the past decade and to keep the system growing to match the state's development means telephone equipment of all kinds, buildings and building additions at the highest prices in history. It is the company's contention that, like any other business, it must charge enough for the service sold to pay the cost of furnishing it, plus a fair return to those whose money is invested in telephone securities. Unless a reasonable return can be made to the investor, the company feels they will invest their money in other businesses.

Lad's Dream Realized In Visit To Lincoln

By DAN STORM

Among the many new friends Lincoln County has won this year are Mr. and Mrs. E. Riley Efan, and their 13-year-old son Johnny, from Creve Coeur near Peoria, Ill.

Johnny had become interested in Lincoln County history some years past by reading a magazine story about Billy the Kid. He went to his home town library and began reading up on early days around Lincoln. His interest grew until in November, 1950, he began corresponding with Mrs. John Davis, custodian of the Old Lincoln Memorial Museum in Lincoln.

The boy's desire to visit this land which was the scene of so many famous early day frontier episodes became so great that his parents made a special effort to come out to Lincoln County during their summer vacation.

The boy was delighted with the country, saying that it is far more beautiful and interesting even than he had imagined with all his reading and dreaming. His parents also were greatly pleased with the natural beauty of this locality, expressing surprise there are so many mountains, trees, and grass. They had expected to see an arid desert country, they said. The family arrived in Lincoln County July 7, just after the first summer rains had made the countryside radiantly green with the first young blades of new grass.

Mrs. Davis, who had helped Johnny learn about Lincoln County history through supplying information in answer to his letters, got in touch with several Lincoln County people, and told them of the boy's desire to become acquainted with our neighborhood and explained he only had one day before he must go back home.

All those approached immediately pitched in to help the boy cover as much ground as possible, in the time he was able to visit here. A. T. (Bert) Plingsten took Johnny on a tour of the upper Bonito country where the lad found new interest at each turn in the road and marveled at the abundance of tall timber, the green flats, and the steep mountains. With Edgar Phillips of Lincoln, the boy rode horseback looking for cattle over the same foothills surrounding Lincoln where in days gone by a slight and agile figure sitting light as a bird upon his powerful dappled gray horse, could often be seen; and as far away as recognized, would cause the beholder to stop and look, and say, with his own particular strange mingling of emotions: "There goes Billy the Kid."

With Emilio Zamora, descendant of a man who figured prominently in early Lincoln frontier dramas, Johnny went rabbit hunting on the hill behind the museum.

For dinner with Mrs. Davis, Johnny and his mother and father were treated to a typical New Mexico dinner of tortillas and chili and beans.

Johnny, both in appearance and manner, is a typical American boy, red-headed, freckled, and husky but with plenty of brains. He is a straight "A" student and this fall will be a freshman in East Peoria High School. He is something of an authority already on Lincoln County history, and other phases of the early West.

Johnny and his parents spent the night at the newly constructed Motel Booky at Hondo.

Asked what he liked about Lincoln County, whether its people, scenery, history or opportunities—Johnny said he liked it all, lock, stock and barrel, and hoped to come out to make his home in this country.

Mr. and Mrs. Efan, of course, received double enjoyment out of their stay here, and extended their gratefulness to the Lincoln County people who helped make their boy's visit to Lincoln County such a success. They hope to come back again, and all three will carry back to Illinois pleasant memories of their stay in the Land of Enchantment that their boy had so longed to see with his own eyes.

Drake Rebuffed In Attempt To Change County Road Plans

The Lincoln County News has learned from Santa Fe sources that Representative L. S. (Heavy) Drake, Ruidoso, appeared before the State Highway Commission at its last meeting to request a change in the road program recently worked out by representatives from every section of Lincoln County. It is also reported that Drake was given little encouragement on his proposal.

The Lincoln County Land Use Planning Survey, already approved by the county commissioners and State Highway Department, has been sent to the Federal Bureau of Public Roads for its sanction. The Lincoln County News is informed that the State Highway Commission has not yet changed a road program presented under such circumstances.

Lawrence Hamilton Named Local Coach

The appointment of Lawrence Hamilton, Las Vegas, as coach at Carrizozo High School was announced this week.

A graduate of Las Vegas High School, Hamilton received his A. B. degree from Highlands University there last spring, and is now working on his master's degree. His freshman college year was spent at State College, Las Cruces.

Hamilton, an all-around athlete, has won letters in football, basketball and track. He made all-conference end in football and won the discus throw in the conference meet last spring.

The new coach expects to arrive in Carrizozo about the middle of August, and is expected to start the local team on its practice sessions about Aug. 19.

Two other teachers who have accepted appointments on the local faculty are Mrs. Rebecca Wodell, Ancho, and Mrs. Bill Stallard, Corona. Mrs. Wodell replaces James Pharris and will teach English and mathematics, while Mrs. Stallard will replace Miss Norma Records who taught the second grade.

White Mountain GPA To Meet August 7

The next meeting of the White Mountain Game Protective Association, slated for Aug. 7, will be held at the VFW Hall in Captain at 7:30 P. M.

Scheduled on the program agenda is a film showing of wildlife. Members report the series of wildlife pictures which they have been viewing at the various association meetings are of exceptional interest.

Lewis Farris, president of the group, urged the attendance of all members at the Aug. 7 convocation, since delegates to the state conference in Socorro on Aug. 27 must be elected at that time.

Farris also reported that some pigs have been allowed to run loose around Bonito Dam, source of the water supply for Carrizozo and other villages north of here. Fearful of possible pollution of the water, the association is reported as having contacted the State Game Department and Southern Pacific officials. The president also stated that Marvin Roberts, mayor of Carrizozo, was requested to contact the State Health Department in conjunction with the matter which comes under his jurisdiction as mayor of the village.

AWOL Soldier Captured Near Here

John P. Embry, 20, AWOL soldier from Williams Air Force Base, Chandler, Ariz., who escaped his two military police escorts as he was being returned from Kentucky, was picked up about 5:30 A. M. July 10 by Sheriff S. M. Ortiz on Highway 380 about seven miles east of Carrizozo.

Embry escaped from the military police about 1 o'clock that morning when he eluded his escort and jumped from a Southern Pacific passenger train as it pulled to a stop in Carrizozo.

It was at first believed the soldier had boarded a freight train that was passing through town. Following his apprehension, Embry was lodged in the local jail pending his removal to the air base at Chandler.

To Receive Degree

Albert S. Gomez, San Patricio, is one of 46 students at New Mexico Western College, Silver City, who are prospective candidates for degrees at commencement exercises Aug. 31.

The San Patricio man is slated to receive a bachelor of science degree in secondary education.

Football practice at the college is slated to start Sept. 1.

Attend Installations

Mesa Camp Meeting To End Sunday

The final assembly at the annual camp meeting on Nogal Mesa, now in progress, is Sunday night. Dr. Hugh Evans, Dayton, Ohio, and Dr. R. O'Brien, Big Spring, Texas, are the speakers this year, while Billy Lyttell is again directing the choir. Rev. Ralph Hall and Rev. Roger Sherman are directing activities with the able assistance of Joe Evans.

To the oldtimers of this area, camp meeting is an annual event looked forward to each year in delighted anticipation and regretfully ended at that last campfire session after the final assembly for worship. To newcomers in the county, including the large group of new residents who have moved into the Carrizozo area since last year, the Cowboys' Camp Meeting will prove a delightful experience.

The "Prayer Tree," where men only gather, is conducted by laymen and everyone is invited to participate in religious discussion. The women and the teenagers have their own special assemblies during the Prayer Tree periods at 4:30 each afternoon.

Services are held in the pine tabernacle about 10:30 A. M., 2:30 P. M. and 7 P. M. daily. The meetings are non-commercial and no collection plate is ever passed, but donations may be made by anyone wishing to contribute.

Three free chuck wagon meals are served daily, and anyone who has ever been served one of these meals will testify to the excellence of the food. A roofed shelter over benches and tables permits one to eat in comfort and provides protection in case of rain.

The camp meeting grounds are located on Nogal Mesa which may be reached via Highway 37 through Nogal or the Indian Divide road off Highway 380 from this side of the county. Highway 37 is not recommended to motorists during or immediately after heavy rain.

News & Views From Your Nation's Capito

By JOHN J. DEMPSEY Congressman from New Mexico WASHINGTON, July 17.—Now that the 82nd Congress has paused into history, so far as regular sessions are concerned...

There appears now to be little likelihood that a special session will be called unless, of course, a crisis or emergency should occur which would warrant such a call.

The 82nd Congress, particularly the second session, which adjourned on July 7, did halt the upward spiral of government spending and forced government departments to the realization that the days of unjustified expenditures and waste are over.

Fiscal experts now estimate that this reduction in spending and the expected increase in tax collections over original estimates will bring the 1953 budget very close to balance. There will not be a deficit of the proportions the administration predicted we would have unless additional taxes were levied.

This Congress, by a considerable modification of wage and price controls, took a long step toward their elimination by the next Congress.

Work clothes... or battle dress? This is a farmer's work outfit, but there are times when it might be termed battle dress. No fooling! Farming is one of the four most dangerous occupations in America. Right now is the time of year when a big share of fatal farm accidents happen. Because you're in a hurry—you take chances with moving machinery and running engines. You take chances with farm spirals. You endanger your life and limb by letting "green" hands do jobs they don't know enough about. You work too many hours in a blazing sun without protection. And—more accidents happen when you're in a hurry. This year—for safety's sake—take a little longer, and live a lot longer. "Think Safety—Act Safety." BE CAREFUL—the life you save may be your own! NOGAL MESA

By DOROTHY GUCK
No one need worry about tearing up the road with ruts in the mud of Indian Divide during Camp Meeting. We've already done that. Bring your chains, hovels, boots and slickers. We'll help push you out if you get stuck.

Another thing, all you Nogal Lake fishermen will get far more out of the Camp Meeting than out of the lake. I don't believe a trout has been caught there in a month of Sundays. With a microscope lens, you might be able to see the back bone of any perch hooked. Carp? Dough balls will lure them. Grand fertilizer for the arden. Even the most ardent anglers are beginning to realize that the lake must have lost most of the few stockings of trout.

To leave the morbid subjects of mud and fishermen's luck, let's see what my neighbors have been doing.

Clean-up day at the Camp Meeting brought out a few of the hardest workers who tidied the grounds in short order. A rain storm made the picnic supper rather damp.

Ralph Hall andinger herman came up to the Mesa Monday with all the camping gear.

Leota and Peg Pfingsten, showing their nieces, Corinne and Jennie Lou, some of the interesting places in the county. They went through the Lincoln Museum Sunday, then down the valley to Ruidoso for dinner.

Ranger Wild flew to California last week with a group of the Mesalero Apache Red Hats to a fire on the San Bernardino Forest.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Peebles received word that their nephew, Skipper Gould, was hospitalized after arriving in New York and underwent an appendectomy.

I believe the Mesa is as green and beautiful as I have ever seen it at this time of year. Grass is short, but it is there.

THE CONVENTIONS ARE ON US! So wrote Will Rogers back in 1932. You'll find the late humorist's words on how we pick residents are surprisingly up to date. Read excerpts from his most astute, witty and timely observations on political conventions in the new American Weekly, that great magazine distributed with next Sunday's Los Angeles Examiner. (adv)

The D. D. Dances Club held its monthly party Saturday night with the Bingham and Bill Mercells as hosts. A good time was enjoyed by all who attended.

Jerry White visited a week on the station. I did not see him, but everyone who did said Jerry had certainly grown.

George and Marie Sloan were visitors in the Tom Burleson home last week.

Emmett Womack Jr. was home over the weekend sporting a new car.

Word has been received from Skipper Gould that he will be in the hospital in New York City for several days due to an appendectomy. He would like to have some letters, so please write to him.

Joe Ferguson and Jimmie Armer, Troop 57 Scouts, will attend Operation 57 at Walker Air Force Base July 15-17. The operation is a three-day encampment of the explorer (air scout) program with approximately 85 boys between ages 14 and 18 there. The air explorer program was originally started by General H. H. (Hap) Arnold and has been given the support and endorsement of succeeding commanders. It is a voluntary activity for young boys which gives them an indoctrination of the Air Force and also is instrumental in building character, citizenship and physical fitness.

During the three-day tour the Scouts will learn about Carbine rifles, the .45 pistol, radio plane ground to air firing, the link trainer, ground control approach, control towers and other day activities at the base.

While there, the Scouts will be billeted in the 509th Maintenance Squadron. Captain Thomas Faulkner, base project officer, will direct the program from his gunnery school office.

Joe Wilson spent a week at Camp Wehlahappy which is 10 miles west of Weed in the Sacramento Mountains.

This camp offers many things of interest to the Scout which include hiking, camping, handicraft, pioneering burro pack trips, good lots and all the things that make a wide and varied training experience in the lines of Boy Scouts. While at camp, Joe Wilson passed his life saving badge and is one of four who passed. Nice going, Joe.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Brown were called to Merkel, Texas, to the bedside of Bill's father, who is very ill.

LINCOLN

By MRS. J. E. PHILLIPS

Mr. and Mrs. Mariano Aldaz have purchased the Precipio Pacheco place above Lincoln and moved there.

The Ralph Gameroz family visited in and around Lincoln for several days and have now returned to their home in California.

There was a big dance each night on July 4 and 5 at the Maes Hall.

Ernest Gomez and Margie Rue were married in Roswell July 5. We wish them lots of happiness. Recently when the "Queen for a Day" was in Ruidoso she and her party paid a visit to Lincoln. Mrs. Maes presented her with a souvenir and this week received a very nice thank you note from the lady.

Mr. and Mrs. Etaw from Peoria, Ill., made a trip to Lincoln to bring their 13-year-old son, Johnnie, to see the sights and hear all about "Billy-the-Kid." Johnnie became interested in Lincoln through correspondence with the museum staff, worked and saved his money, then talked his parents into bringing him here. He looked the town over thoroughly, spent part of a day driving up and down the valley with Bert Pfingsten and part of another day riding in the hills with Edgar Phillips. He said it all came up to his expectations. He is quite a lad.

Good housekeeping is the key to safety from fire. Clean up all combustible trash, and then it can't catch fire. Clean up carefully and you won't burn up—that advice is always good.

City Dairy Noted For Good Products

The quality of milk, according to scientific research, is controlled chiefly by rations, as well as sanitary conditions of the dairy barns. When a thoroughbred animal is properly fed and housed, invariably they will produce a larger amount of richer milk that is high in butterfat. This is one of the main reasons for the superior quality of the dairy products offered by City Dairy which is located west of Alamogordo. Great precaution is used in the feeding rations, grooming the cows and handling the milk that you get from City Dairy of Alamogordo. The herds are inspected and tested at regular intervals in order to protect the consuming public. Milk thus obtained from these prime herds is then rushed into the processing room of the dairy and under regulated control properly pasteurized and homogenized and made into various forms, such as butter and cream, both homogenized and pasteurized milk, buttermilk and de luxe ice cream.

And speaking of ice cream, this year City Dairy installed new modern ice cream manufacturing machinery and their De Luxe Ice Cream comes to you good and rich in all of those delicious flavors.

McMurry Bros. (George E. and Wm. H.) have done a splendid job in bringing these high quality dairy products to your food store and grocer and certainly merit the patronage of our many readers throughout this territory.

Assignment New Mexico

By G. WARD FENLEY Obliging New Mexico editors will pull boners each week.

Carishad's Jack Sitton raised the white flag last week and begged for mercy: "Please, folks, please, leave off calling us. We know all about our headline bloomer on bedroom accidents, so please no more calls."

"The headline merely said that the bedroom was the scene of most of the home accidents."

Al Cross of the Gallup Independent pulled one equally as good. He has found out it doesn't pay to delve into the past.

Recalling his sandlot baseball days Al wrote: "As I used to swing against that gal's pitches, I thought she was the greatest pitcher in the world. But her career was blighted. It wasn't a lame arm—a chipped shoulder, or even a broken hand that did the trick. I was cupid."

In vain did Al try to explain the next day in the paper that the gal married the team's catcher and it should have read: IT WAS CUPID."

But that wasn't Cross' worst blopper last week.

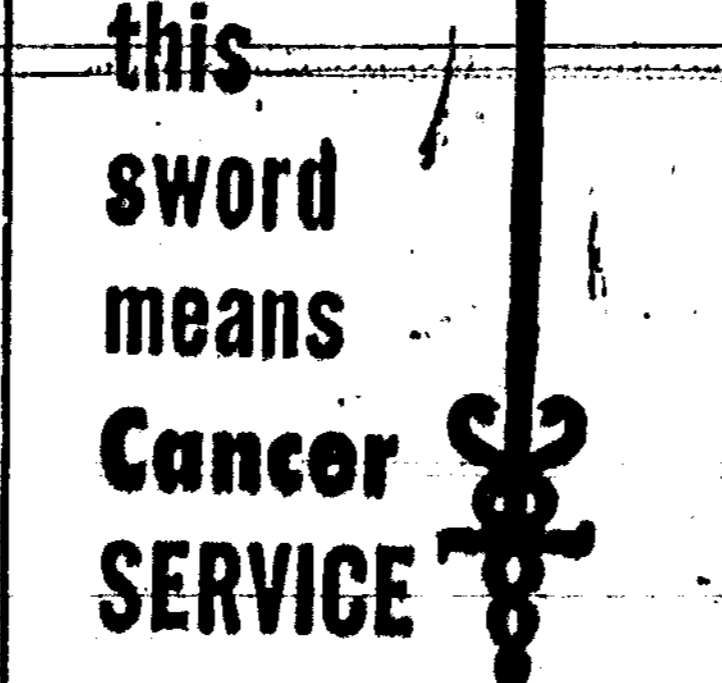

In listing the number of state rodeos at such places as Cimarron, Silver City, Clousecroft and Fort Sumner, he unfortunately blundered in this line: "The Lions Club matches, raping contest will be held at Elida."

Now we know Elida. It's a nice town. We're certain the residents and sponsors thereabouts don't go in for any such contests. But it was all there in black and white. Don't blame us. We report only.

The Gallup Independent must have a grudge against Roosevelt County. Over an innocent announcement that Dora, New Mexico, would be an organizational spot for Jersey cattle people, Cross placed this head: "Jersey Association Pain in the Neck."

That's all except a poem that reminds me of my vacation. It is entitled WASHING WINDOWS: I wouldn't mind the assistance some husbands give their spouses. If I could increase the distance that separate our houses.
