Gloria Morales, Michael Duarte Repeat Vows

Santa Rita Church, Carrizozo, was the setting Saturday morning for the wedding which united Miss Gloria Morales of this village and Michael Duarte, former Carrizozoan now living near Lubbock, Texas. Rev. Vito C. de Baca officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was radiant in her long white satin gown fashioned with fitted bodice and bouffant skirt. Beaded net formed the yoke of the bodice which featured a rounded neckline and fastened down the back with tiny satin covered buttons. Long sleeves tapered to a point at the wrist and her fingertip veil of lace fell in graceful folds from a beaded lace cap. White satin slippers completed her ensemble. She carried a shower bouquet of white orchids with white satin ribbon decor. Her only jewelry in addition to her rings were a pearl necklace and a wrist-watch, the latter a wedding gift from her bridegroom.

Mrs. Salomon Sanchez, Carrizozo, and Mrs. Joseph Petra, Lubbock, the bride's attendants, wore formal of blue and pink satin, respectively, with full skirts and fitted bodices featuring the square neckline. Mrs. Petra chose a halo cap of pink satin outlined with flowers and lace, while a small heart shaped Juliet cap of blue satin was Mrs. Sanchez's choice.

The eight flower girls, all of Carrizozo, selected satin formal with Misses Paulita Morales, sister of the bride, and Viola Yega wearing white; Daisy Samora and Pauline McKinley, orchid; Sally Monreal, and Arcelia Luera, pastel green, and Emma Herrera and Angelina Sandoval, pink. Bouquets of pink and white orchids were carried by the flower girls.

Joseph Petra, Lubbock, and Salomon Sanchez, Carrizozo, were the bridegroom's attendants.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents where friends and relatives toasted the couple in punch. The three-tiered white cake topped with a miniature bride and groom centered the refreshment table. A wall hanging with a religious motif was employed in the decorative scheme.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Salvador Morales of Carrizozo, while her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Duarte of Cuevo, N. M., former residents of this village. Duarte, owner of a farm about 35 miles from Lubbock, attended schools here and at Cuevo. Mrs. Duarte attended local schools. The couple left Monday en route to their new home near Lubbock. For her going away costume, the bride chose a blue dress with satin skirt, lace bodice, featuring a high neckline and short sleeves, over which she wore a white coat. Her accessories included gold slippers and a varicolored silk scarf.

J. G. Moore Named To Eisenhower Committee

J. G. Moore, clerk of Lincoln County and member of the Republican-State-Central Committee, has been named to the New Mexico Eisenhower for President Executive Committee. The list of the executive committee members was released this week by Millard (Hap) Holliday, state campaign manager for the Eisenhower group.

A statement from Manuel B. Otero, Albuquerque, chairman of the committee, states the group represents "a cross section of men and women in the political and civic life of New Mexico." He added, "This universal call for Eisenhower comes from the grass roots. From all parts of the state, we are receiving voluntary offers from persons in every walk of life who are anxious to serve in any capacity so as to insure the choice of Eisenhower for president."

Otero reports "Our slogan in the victorious campaign for Eisenhower is Unity, Honesty, Peace."

Carrizozo Town Team To Play Capitan Feb. 1 In Polio Benefit Drive

Sponsored by the Carrizozo Lions Club, the Capitan-Carrizozo town basketball teams are slated to meet Friday night, Feb. 1, at 8 o'clock in the high school gymnasium in Capitan. Proceeds will be given to the March of Dimes polio fund.

The local team will be handicapped by the loss of Jake Herrera, one of its star players, who left Wednesday for induction into the U. S. Army. Another team mate and outstanding player, Nick Vega, is on the sick list, but it is hoped he will be in condition to play on that night.

The opposition will be fortified with the services of two experts in the art of placing the ball through the hoop. Ralph McGuire, Ruidoso school board president, and Dick King, basketball coach at Capitan-Union High School, are slated to be in the Capitan lineup. King, who played at New Mexico Western College, Silver City, was considered an outstanding player when he participated in New Mexico conference games.

McGuire was an undisputed "Mr. Basketball" during college basketball at Highlands University, Las Vegas, N. M., in 1946 and 1947, and well known throughout the Southwest for his prowess in the game. The Glenn man starred also in national basketball tournaments during college days. A World War II veteran, he was shot down over Germany in 1944, and made a prisoner of war. Prior to his capture, he had completed a number of successful flying missions.

Bracell Fresquez Seeks County Assessor Post

Candidate for Lincoln County tax assessor on the Democratic ticket is Bracell Fresquez, Carrizozo, according to an announcement made this week. At present, Fresquez is deputy tax assessor for this county.

Born and reared at Picacho, the county official is a graduate of Hondo High School and attended a Santa Fe commercial college.

A veteran of World War II and a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Fresquez had six years service with the State Game and Fish Department prior to his return to Lincoln County after the death of his father, John Fresquez, in March, 1950.

The candidate is married and the father of four children. His mother, Mrs. Lupita Fresquez, resides in Picacho.

Farewell Parties Honor Mrs. Fannie Girardeau

Mrs. Fannie Girardeau, a nurse and resident of Carrizozo for a number of years, was honored with several farewell parties prior to her recent departure for El Paso where she is engaged in private duty nursing.

One party, hosted by the C. B. Zumwalt and T. A. Spencers Jr., was held at the Spencer ranch, where the guests played bridge and canasta after a buffet dinner. Guests included Mrs. Edith Crawford, Mr. and Mrs. George Dingwall, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Orme-Johnson, Mrs. Nellie Riley, Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Turner and Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hadley.

Another party given for Mrs. Girardeau was that where the local hospital staff and employees gathered to honor her. Held at the home of W. J. Hadley, superintendent, the honoree was presented with a beige leather makeup case with saddle tan trim. A buffet dinner was served the guests with a large cake baked by Mrs. Jane Turner as the focal point of the table. Frosted with pastel green icing, the white icing letters on the cake spelled out "Best Wishes to Fannie."

Those attending the event included Dr. and Mrs. Turner, Mrs. Laura Jones, Miss Priscilla Maes, Mrs. Jeannette Robbins, Miss Toney Baca, Miss Lupita Candalaria, Mrs. Lloyd Vigil, Mrs. Viola Vigil, Mrs. Sophia Ortiz, Mrs. Lucinda Silva, Mr. Carmen Lozano, all of Carrizozo, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Spratt of Artesia. Several of the hospital personnel, who were on duty or out of town, were unable to attend.

Lions To Install Lights For Local Football Field

With the Carrizozo street sign project, sponsored by the local Lions Club, nearing completion, the group has embarked upon another large program for the benefit of the community. The club is now endeavoring to secure lights for the local high school football field in order that all residents in this area may enjoy the sport next fall.

A number of activities are planned by the local Lions to raise funds for their project. The first one of the series was held recently when the famous All-American Red Heads (all-girl basketball team) met the Carrizozo town team. The next all-out effort is slated for Feb. 5, when the Lions sponsored town team faces the Carrizozo High School hoop players. "The older Lions may find it difficult to conquer the younger Grizzlies, but if the names of the two opponents have any meaning, there should be a snarling good time for all," said Larry Stockton, local high school principal and Lion member active in civic endeavors sponsored by the club. Hope for a Lion victory lies in experience, but the high school lads can capitalize on their youth, condition and training, he added.

Other activities for entertainment of the community will be announced from time to time, Lion officials reported.

Newspaper Of 1800 On Display At Museum

"Napoleon throws back the Russians in Austria."

"General George Washington's Funeral!"

"For Sale—A neat, elegant, well-finished Pleasure Sleigh."

under those headings some fascinating news and commercial items appear in the Ulster County (New York) Gazette, issue of Saturday, Jan. 4, 1800.

Four pages of this old paper in fairly good condition may be seen at the Old Court House in Lincoln between now and March 1.

loaned by Frank Pieratt III of Roswell, the old papers have been in his family's possession for 65 years. The exhibits are sealed in glass so that both sides of the newspaper may be read. The printing is clear and the contents are of very great interest.

The Old Court House is, primarily, a regional museum, with all exhibits and items in the permanent collections pertaining directly to Old Lincoln County and pioneer life in this section. However, when Mr. Pieratt offered the Museum the unique opportunity of exhibiting this rare old newspaper, the members of the staff felt that residents of Lincoln County would be interested in seeing it.

The public is urged to drop in at the Old Court House before March 1 to view this unusual exhibit.

Grizzlies Lose Two Games

The Carrizozo Grizzlies suffered a smashing defeat in Friday and Saturday night's games with Corona and Alamogordo, respectively, but edged out the tough Weed Bulldogs Tuesday night in a hard fought battle that ended in a 34-33 score. The Corona Cardinals wrested victory in a tally of 33-21, while the powerful Alamogordo Tigers swamped the local lads with a 30-point margin in a score of 54-24.

The Zozotes played a good defensive game against the Cardinals, but lacked ability to put the ball through the hoop. Norwood Vickery, high point man for Corona with a total of 18 points, was the thorn in the side of the local lads who were playing on the Cardinals' home court. With a number of Vickery's points coming from rebounds off the backboard, the Grizzlies' defense could not overcome the handicap of their inability to cage the ball. Henry Vega marked up 10 tallies for the local team which netted three out of eight free throws and committed 16 fouls. The Corona lads were tagged for seven fouls and bagged nine out of 18 free tosses.

On Saturday night, the Tigers from Alamogordo demonstrated their prowess to show the reason for their championship caliber. Nothing could stop the visitors as they rolled up a 27-9 lead at half time. Leading scorers for the Tigers were Dick McAlpine 12, Bob Bassford 11, and Pablo Luvaano 11, while Tino Lopez was high for the Grizzlies with five points. The Zozotes committed 20 fouls—one more than the visitors—and made 10 out of 21 free throws as Alamogordo scored 12 out of 24.

The game with Weed saw the strong Bulldogs almost krayo the Grizzlies who trailed all during the game only to come back in the final minutes of play to eke out a one-point lead when Joe Luera made good a final charity throw. High point men for Weed were Frank Lidwell and Bob Buckner with 14 and nine markers, respectively. Six points each were made for the Grizzlies by Henry Vega and Gerald King, while Eddie Holguin, Jerry Kennedy and Joe Luera followed with five pointers each. Weed committed 18 fouls to 4 for Carrizozo, and made nine out of 16 free throws. The Zozotes tagged eight out of 17.

The local team travels to Tularosa tonight (Friday) for a conference game, and comes home to play Hagerman here Saturday night. A message from the students to residents of the community states, "Let's get out and support the team and the school."

March Of Dimes Drive To End January 31

As the 1952 March of Dimes campaign neared its close, national and local officials of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis joined in predicting the American people will see to it the March of Dimes overtakes and keeps pace with the quickening march of polio.

Doubling of the March of Dimes period this year was necessitated by tripled incidence of polio during the last four years. Each year the National Foundation has gone into debt providing for patient care of children and adults stricken with polio—the only epidemic disease still on the increase in America.

Since scientists say it is likely that accelerated polio incidence will continue until the final answer to the disease is discovered, it seems clear that the only way left open to cope with the challenge of this frightening new concept is to meet it squarely with a new concept of giving.

On National Foundation records are cases that have cost up to $5,000 to $10,000 per year for many other patients are by no means rare.

All of these facts make clear why the 1952 March of Dimes must succeed and why its slogan this year is: "This fight is yours."

Mrs. Lorine Samelson, Carrizozo, superintendent of county schools, announced it had been decided at the conference to have the state school board send a group to survey the county schools in this county as well as meet and talk with residents of the various school districts and learn their views.

"Rock of Ages" and "The Old Rugged Cross" were sung by Rev. and Mrs. McClain, Mrs. Joe Wigley and Leota Pfingsten accompanied by Bessie Cummins. Later, at the grave, the McClains gave a touching rendition of "Just Beyond the Sunset" and "God Be With You 'Til We Meet Again."

Mr. Hicks suffered a stroke in 1943 which left him an invalid. At the age of 81, he is still hospitalized in the Middle West.

Mrs. Hicks has lived with her daughters, Lois Gould and Lyda Peebles, part of the time for several years. Last summer she visited some of her children in Michigan, but poor health determined her return to the Southwest in December.

Life in Germany Subject Of Ex-Captain Resident

Captain James E. Reeves, his wife, Barbara, and daughter, Martha, are former Captain residents now stationed in Germany. Mrs. Reeves wrote the following letter to a friend in Captain, and the description of her trip to and life in Germany is of such timely interest the friend wanted to share it with other Lincoln County residents:

"I would like so much to write each of you individually but my fingers would not be able to take it—there are over 50 names in my Christmas book. So I will write this letter to all of you. Our adventures started in July when Martha and I received our first papers telling us that we could come to Europe. From then until August 21 we were in a rush getting ready and packed. On the 21st we started for New York in the car with my father driving there with us. For the first time I drove down the Pennsylvania Turnpike and what a road it is.

"On Friday the 21st, we left Dad and went to Fort Hamilton for the last instructions, etc., before sailing. The car was taken to the pier for shipping and we were 'in the Army.' There at Hamilton all the families assembled to be sent to all parts of the world. Our stay there was very pleasant but rather hard on the children for there seemed to be hundreds of them with very little to do and all the mamas getting the jitters as time to sail came nearer. We finally left on the General Maurice Rose which was the same ship Jim had come on.

"It is one of the largest transports and is as nice as many of the best liners. Martha and I had a cabin by ourselves and were most comfortable. The weather over was perfect and it was a grand trip. We first stopped at Southampton, England, where most of the families left us for they were Air Corps families whose men were stationed near London. It was just 24 hours from there to Bremerhaven, our destination.

"We were immediately put on train—a sleeper for we arrived at 7 in the evening—and were sent via Frankfurt. Martha and I were the only ones coming to Regensburg but we met a woman coming to Nurnberg so traveled together. During our two-hour wait in Frankfurt in the morning, walked around the business district. Here all the stations were very close to the center of town. Our big trouble walking about there was to keep the boat from rocking. It was about four days before I lost the sensation of the sea.

"Our trip from Frankfurt was easy and pleasant. I noticed then the absence of train whistles. Most of the main crossings are either bridged or depressed and the rest have gates. The whistle blew as we left Frankfurt and again as we entered the yards here. It certainly is different from the continual whistle blowing of stateside trains. Jim met us and brought us home. We live on one of the main streets on the city in a very modern duplex. The back faces a city park with a huge playground just outside our gate. Every yard in the city had a fence around it and there are doorbells at the gate, lower front door and apartment door. The gates are kept locked so it is a little confusing when the door bell rings. The gates and lower doors open electrically.

"There are very few one-family houses and the number of people living in the many apartments is astounding. In appearance the town is about the size of an American city of about 50,000 or less but the last population estimate was about 150,000 to 200,000 here. Where they all are, I can't imagine but they say they are here. There is a huge displaced person's population for we are very near the border and a continual stream of people come from behind the curtain. Most of the houses are of cement or stone and all have red tile roofs. "For some reason there is little manufacturing here so it is a very poor town. There was a large airplane factory here that was completely gutted by bombs. That was about the only bomb damage done so the city has none of the ugly war scars of so many German cities. "Regensburg is one of the oldest German cities. It is on the Danube River where the Regens River joins it. In 77 A. D. there was a Roman camp at the site and by 179 a permanent camp had been built. Some of the original walls are said to be still standing. It was then known as Ratisbon. Since then it has been an important river trading city and at one time was important as a trading city on the overland route to Italy through the Brenner Pass. In 1810 it became part of Bavaria.

"There are still many of the noble families here who have ruled this part of Germany for hundreds of years. Several of the old castles are still occupied and most are occasionally open to the public. An one drives around the country you see several old towers and walls on hill tops where old estates were. "Like all ancient cities of Europe, the streets are terribly narrow so most are for one way traffic and some are impassable for American cars. They say there is not a really square block in the city and I believe it. "Another oddity to me is the towers with clocks. There is hardly a place where you cannot look up and see one of the clocks and, believe it or not, they are right. The only tower clocks I have seen not running or telling the incorrect time were on the American installations.

"Before the war there were very few cars here and since the traffic has increased many times. But the people are not at all traffic conscious so it is a feat to drive through town. They seem to have no idea of personal safety and the accident rate is appalling. There are millions of bicycles and they are an additional hazard although beside some streets there were special paths for them. It is revealing to see the things that they carry on their bicycles, too. I have seen complete beds go by. If it is too large for the bicycle they will put it on a cart with the bicycle on top. "Around Hallowe'en everyone was carrying flowers and wreaths to decorate the cemeteries. I have never seen such floral displays and the cemeteries were perfectly beautiful. Mums were used mostly and made a magnificent showing. The Mexican along the border did much the same but nothing to compare with here.

"The usual German road reflects their lack of accident consciousness. They are all very narrow and winding and to add to trouble they are lined on both sides with trees. The trees are set no more than three feet from the road itself so there is no shoulder. If trees won't grow, they put in cement blocks. It is not only the old roads but the same with the new ones being built today. Only the autobands are really safe to drive on. They were built by Hitler and all radiate from Berlin. They are comparable to the Pennsylvania Turnpike and are magnificent roads.

"Then to add to the confusion on the roads they permit not one but two trailers to be hauled by trucks. Last weekend I saw another odd sight on the road. Coming toward us was a truck and what looked like a railroad tank car on it. It was! They run the tank cars on special trailers with tracks on and hitch trucks to them. They are then delivered to wherever it is assigned. One must realize that the size of the railroad cars here is much smaller than stateside but still it is an odd sight. The trailers all have hard rubber tires, I've discovered.

"We have recently been to Muehlin (Munich). I could remember a little of the city from my visit 13 years ago. It was badly bombed and there are still blocks and blocks of gutted buildings still standing. The modern art museum, one of the city's loveliest buildings, is now the officers' club. Many of the landmarks built by Ludwig I and II are still standing and undamaged. The city is still very lovely and they have plans for rebuilding.

"King Ludwig I of Bavaria was a great builder and left many beautiful monuments. Near here, down the Donau (Danube) is Wallhalla. It is built high on a hill overlooking the river and is magnificent. We went to see it by taking the boat down the river to Dooaustauf and walking from there to the memorial. It was built in 1840-42 as a temple of fame resembling the Parthenon of Athens. It is a huge Doric temple of grey marble and inside are marble busts of famous German men and women. During the Nazi regime it was used for many of their great rallies.

"To the west of Regensburg and up the Donau is Befreiungshalle at Kelheim. Ludwig I had it built in 1849-63 to commemorate the "Wars of Liberation" against Napoleon. It is a round building with huge pillars topped by statues representing the 18 German provinces. Inside are huge statues representing the outstanding battles. This building also caps a hill overlooking the Donau and Regensburg. During the war it was strafed but very little damage was done.

"We are hopeful that we can take some leave and drive around the entire country and perhaps Italy and France before it gets too cold. "Our life here has been very pleasant and we are looking forward to the next year when we will probably be here until next November. Martha is learning German very quickly and loves it here. She has as many German as American playmates. It is a grand opportunity for her. For us too, and we are appreciating it. "So from Bavaria, we send you Christmas greeting and the best wishes for 1952."

A recent nationwide survey on the kinds of breakfasts Americans eat revealed these facts: Less than 40 per cent of the women interviewed and only a little over 55 per cent of the men usually ate a good breakfast. Less than one-half of the teenage group in the survey started the day with what nutritionists call an adequate breakfast.

beautiful monuments. Near here, down the Donau (Danube) is Wallhalla. It is built high on a hill overlooking the river and is magnificent. We went to see it by taking the boat down the river to Dooaustauf and walking from there to the memorial. It was built in 1840-42 as a temple of fame resembling the Parthenon of Athens. It is a huge Doric temple of grey marble and inside are marble busts of famous German men and women. During the Nazi regime it was used for many of their great rallies.

"To the west of Regensburg and up the Donau is Befreiungshalle at Kelheim. Ludwig I had it built in 1849-63 to commemorate the "Wars of Liberation" against Napoleon. It is a round building with huge pillars topped by statues representing the 18 German provinces. Inside are huge statues representing the outstanding battles. This building also caps a hill overlooking the Donau and Regensburg. During the war it was strafed but very little damage was done.

18 Million Miles a Year... Safely!

When you meet a telephone truck on the road, it may be comforting to know that the men who drive them have one of industry's most enviable safety records.

Accidents will happen, of course—but where telephone trucks are concerned they happen only once every 126,000 miles. And by "accident" we mean even a scratched fender! Last year the 2000 trucks operated by this company rolled nearly 18,000,000 miles—in city and country, in good weather and bad.

With that much driving to do, you can see why safety has become such an important part of the telephone business.

A New Low

PRESIDENT Truman's relations with reporters at the White House are at an all-time low.

The boys in the White House press room; usually among his staunchest friends, resent the frequent cracks President has been making about the press generally. And they don't appreciate the howling out they get when asking simple questions at the White House news conferences.

It didn't get into the papers, but Mr. Truman, who returned from Key West tired and crochety, almost took two more digs at the reporters recently. First, he wanted to lecture them for not emphasizing that the list of war prisoners put out by the Chinese Communists was unverified and thus probably inaccurate—something, incidentally, that all reporters already had stressed.

He also wanted to bowl them out for leaking the story that Judge Tom Murphy of New York had turned down the job of chief graft investigator. However, the President's press officers, led by able Joe Short, convinced Mr. Truman to forget about it.

Inside Hungary

Final decision to pay the ransom of the four U.S. flyers in Hungary was made only after significant back-stage debate which goes to the very root of American policy toward Russian satellites.

Inside fact is that the Defense department, not the State department, made the decision to put up the ransom money—for two reasons:

1. The four air force men were official representatives of the United States and specifically of the Defense department.

2. The joint chiefs of staff shied away from any threat of retaliation for fear, Hungary might call our bluff.

This latter point gets down to the real problem of whether it is wise to provoke the Soviet. It has come up time after time in the past, and the joint chiefs of staff always shy away from any showdown. In general, so does the State department.

This was the issue involved in the question of bombing Manchurian territory beyond the Yalu river. It has also been involved in much milder matters in the cold war.

Propaganda Balloons

For instance, when this columnist last spring urged sending propaganda balloons behind the Iron Curtain, it was frowned on by military advisers and by some State department officials. They feared a violent reaction in Moscow.

But when the Crusade for Freedom was able to float balloons into Czechoslovakia and Poland, the freedom leaflets were mimeographed, tacked off telephone poles, mailed anonymously to Communist officials, and created such a furor that Communist newspapers, the Czech prime minister and Radio Moscow had to go into high gear to reply.

Public opinion became so riled inside Czechoslovakia that the Communists actually began looking for some way to free AP correspondent William Oatis in order to turn off the heat.

However, when similar balloon or propaganda projects have been urged for Hungary and other satellite countries, an official wall of discouragement has been erected by the pentagon and by some of the more timid souls in the State department.

The reason is partly illustrated by a story told by Gen. Bedell Smith, expert head of central intelligence, who recounts a conversation between Georges Dimitrov and Stalin.

"Are you afraid of war?" Stalin was asked.

"Yes," replied Stalin, "but not as afraid as the West."

Nevertheless, there are plenty of propaganda steps that can be taken with no danger of war. Furthermore, it remains a fact that the law of the jungle remains the law of the Kremlin. And when U.S. propaganda sits the population of Czechoslovakia or Hungary to a boiling point, the Kremlin is much more likely to act with reason.

Military Playground

When senate investigators probed Army camps, recently, they didn't seem to notice that, while Fort Belvoir, Va., has squandered thousands of dollars on fancy golf courses, it has let its living quarters run down shamefully.

The senate preparedness committee did rap Fort Belvoir for its "luxurious" recreational facilities. But it overlooked the condition of the crowded temporary barracks which have become fire hazards. Meanwhile Fort Belvoir is dangerously low on water for fire control.

In other words, Fort Belvoir has neglected its basic needs in order to build a Polonaise boat club, street racetrack, two golf courses, 34 bowling alleys, two field houses, two baseball fields, 11 softball fields, seven swimming pools, 10 tennis courts and two river-side picnic areas.

SCANNING THE WEEK'S NEWS of Main Street and the World

Eisenhower's Political Statement Causes Stir in Republican Circles

POLITICS—Gen. Dwight Eisenhower has made a statement that many political observers say clarifies his political intentions. It has also caused a great stir in Republican circles. The general said, in effect, that he would not make any pre-convention fight for the GOP presidential nomination. He added, however, that he has always been a Republican and that he would probably accept a clear cut call to political leadership which is the duty of every American.

Eisenhower's statement was made after he was put on something of a spot during a recent news conference by Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge, during which the senator announced he was placing the general's name on the New Hampshire Republican ballot.

Before Lodge's news conference, Eisenhower had repeatedly refused to make any comment on his political aspirations. By continued silence, he would have let it be known, in a negative manner, that he was willing to take the Republican nomination. While his statement was not as clear as some would have liked, it was noted that the general did not request his name held off the New Hampshire ballot. Eisenhower has assumed a unique, if somewhat confusing, position in American politics in the eyes of the average home town voter.

Almost as startling as Senator Lodge's maneuvering and Eisenhower's statement, was the announcement by The New York Times, one of America's oldest and most influential newspapers, that it would support the general "enthusiastically" if he becomes a candidate for President. The newspaper has supported GOP presidential candidates only twice in the past 20 years.

Said The Times in a lead editorial: "We have given our support on those occasions to the Democratic candidate essentially because we were reluctant to trust the Republican party on issues of foreign policy and because we believe these issues to be the decisive issues of the campaign, towering high above all domestic issues—for the clear and sufficient reason that without a sound and courageous foreign policy the safety, the prosperity, even the very independence of this nation would be endangered."

"In General Eisenhower we have a man who shares this conviction. We are confident that he would be able to lead even the laggards among his fellow Republicans away from isolation and toward world responsibility."

KOREA—The Korean peace talks settled down to a series of name calling, bitterness, and increasing suspicion. Although some progress has been made toward peace during the long months of talking, it is becoming more evident that a final and lasting peace can not be secured in such an atmosphere.

The Russians, meanwhile, indicated they wanted a greater voice in the talks to settle a war they don't even recognize, by asking for a meeting of the United Nations security council to consider the armistice negotiations. The proposal was rejected at once by the United States, Great Britain and France. American officials said such a session—where Russia has a veto—would worsen the prospect of peace in Korea by bringing political issues into the negotiations.

ECONOMY—Charles E. Wilson, director of defense mobilization, has predicted a severe pinch in civilian goods for the first three months of this year. The prediction was made in Wilson's annual report of rearmament under the national emergency program.

He predicted: (1) Materials for consumer goods in general in the first three months of 1952 are sharply reduced from the levels of the first quarter of 1951. On the basis of present calculations the second quarter allotments will be even tighter; (2) Requirements of the military and atomic-energy programs for most materials will either continue at the same levels throughout 1952 or rise slightly; (3) After military and atomic energy needs are met in such strategic materials as steel, aluminum, and copper, the material remaining will be divided between industrial expansion, consumer goods, public services, limited export requirements, and stockpiling.

As for the past year, Wilson termed it one of great progress, but said more could have been accomplished.

CHURCHILL—Winston Churchill, who will go down in history as one of the great men of our times, arrived in the United States for a series of huddles with President Truman and top military brass, Mr. Churchill's agenda was almost as magnificent as his personal appearance. It included everything from economic aid to plans for joint defense of the west.

The key to the talks was quickly revealed when President Truman met the 77-year-old Prime Minister at a Washington airport. Said the President: "I can't tell you when I have had more pleasure than I have this morning in welcoming you as a visitor to the United States of America." Replied Mr. Churchill, with the force and clarity of the Roosevelt days: "We have only to go along together, each doing loyally his best to understand the other's point of view... and we shall find ourselves safe at the end of the road."

There followed a series of meetings between the President and Mr. Churchill, and Mr. Churchill and top military brass. The complete results of these talks may not be known for years, but it is evident they have resulted in closer cooperation between the two countries. Churchill, no doubt, has received assurances of economical help so badly needed by Great Britain. Whether or not Britain will join in the European defense army with greater enthusiasm than previously indicated has not been announced. Most observers believed that was one of the Prime Minister's bargaining points.

SCANDALS—The second session of the 82nd congress had been in session just a few hours when it became evident the nation is in for more months of spectacular investigation.

In the senate and house there were committees and subcommittees in every corner screaming for more investigations of corruption in high places, income tax frauds, murder, and underworld activities. It was evident, too, that there would be more investigations of Communists in government and defense industries.

Meanwhile, Attorney General J. Howard McGrath continues his new offensive against crime in the nation. McGrath's drive started after Treasury department agents swooped down on suspected narcotic offenders and arrested more than 500 persons.

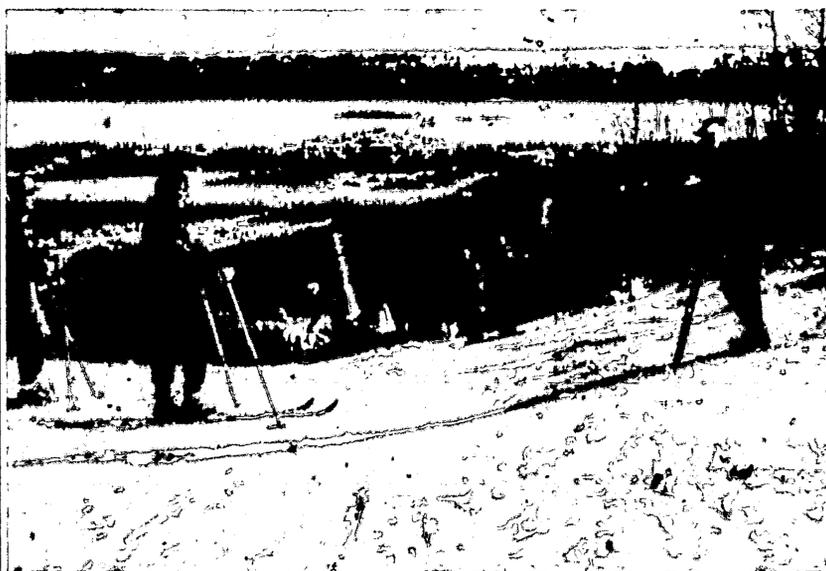

It was evident the two drives were a part of the administration's announced plan to clean up crime and graft. But in the eyes of most home towners, the administration's campaign is a little like locking the barn door after the horse has been stolen.

OPERATION UNITY Europe Is Weary of Eternal War But Wary of Forming Alliances

vidual and joint capacity to resist aggression. This treaty sets up NATO, which stands for North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Member nations are Belgium, Canada, Denmark, France, Iceland, Italy, Luxembourg, Netherlands, Norway, Portugal, United Kingdom, and United States.

They are wary of alliances that might lead to another war. Like Americans, these people would like to be left alone to "plow the fields". But unlike Americans, all they need to do is look out across their fields, to see the massed forces of the Russian military machine aligned along the Iron Curtain.

To build up such a power, NATO, of course, had to develop a military force, and at the Brussels conference in December 1950, the members agreed on plans for building this force. The result is the greatest cooperative effort in history to create a joint army in peacetime for the prevention of war.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, key figure in both the political organization that is the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and its military arm, SHAPE, has been tramping up and down Europe for nine months now with the zeal and much of some spiritual vigor of some of our legendary American evangelists.

Headquarters are located near Paris, France, and the command is designated by the initials SHAPE: Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers Europe.

In fact, he told us in his European headquarters that he had, indeed, been tagged as "another Billy Sunday". He is willing, he added, to accept the designation because it is his firm conviction that the only way in which the free countries can survive is by creating a unity which is based on a spiritual approach to the hearts of men.

All of the countries belonging to NATO are expected to do everything possible to build their own defenses. America's contribution is made through the Mutual Defense Assistance Program—MDAP, which bolsters economic potential and actual military strength with funds, equipment and technical assistance.

"Military might is the product and not the sum of spiritual strength, economic health and military power. If any factor is reduced to zero, the product of the three becomes zero."

These funds and this assistance are not confined to our NATO partners. Other free nations such as Yugoslavia, Turkey, Greece, and Italy share in MDAP programs.

But, of course it takes more than inspiration to mass the forces of the free world. What is the nature of the organization we have in Europe today, and how does it function?

FELIX AND MARY

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

FELIX felt somewhat like the man who said there was no use running after a street car once you'd caught it.

Mary wanted to set a date for the wedding, but Felix suggested waiting a while. The fact is, he wanted a chance to catch his breath. He wanted, as the story books put it, to have one last fling before becoming a benedict.

So Felix, without saying a word to any one, packed a bag and set off for Cedar Springs. The first Mary knew about it was a letter which she received from the Springs signed by Felix.

In part, the letter said: "I am combining a short business trip with some deep-sea fishing. Please do not worry about me, darling, as I will be home shortly, and we will make plans for the wedding."

Felix wrote he still didn't know who Paul Strachey was, but wasn't Paul surprised to know that Mary was engaged? He, Felix, incidentally, was spending another week at the Springs, on account of course, of business.

THE next day Felix returned to Dalevale.

"Oh, Felix!" Mary said, "I'm so glad you've come. I had an appointment with Paul, but I'll cancel it, of course."

It was an answer to that adolescent boy's wish. We are prone to bewail the delinquency of youth, and then we encourage some of it by such unscrupled display of the community's daughters as was given at that service club luncheon.

"Tonight!" gasped Mary Snell. "You mean, you don't want to?" said Felix.

It would seem that old people never die, they just drift into and stay on the roller rolls. In 1934 they numbered 333,000. In 1951 the number had grown to 2,700,000.

Mary giggled. "Oh, Felix, darling, that was a little joke of mine. There really never was a Paul Strachey. I merely wanted to make sure that folks in town weren't disillusioned about me. I mean, when Mary Snell says 'Yes,' she means 'Yes, Sir!'"

Small Yellow Grub May Teach Value Of Mystery Vitamin

AUSTIN, Tex.—A little yellow grub less than an inch long may help science learn the value of carnitine, a substance in the flesh of animals, and men which has been a complete mystery since it was chemically identified a half-century ago.

The clue which may solve the mystery was revealed when an entomologist and three biochemists from the University of Illinois reported that vitamin B-T and carnitine are identical.

Apparently animals and men manufacture carnitine within themselves. The great amount of it found in muscle may make knowledge about it of considerable value, particularly to non-healthy individuals in whom the natural process of producing this material may be affected.

What could you do in A NATIONAL EMERGENCY?

ENROLL NOW AS A STUDENT WORK your best defense for your own, your country's future.

GRASSROOTS Local Government Is as Extravagant as National

By Wright A. Patterson I WONDER if in your town, wherever it may be, you are experiencing as I am in my town, an ever-increasing tax burden, that is hard to account for. It is an increased burden that comes either in the form of an increased tax rate, an increased valuation on real estate, or a new form of taxes.

With no reason, I was wicketed for material increase on both the county and town tax bills. Because of that, I am leaving, but I realize it is wrong, not having that offers the real solution, and at the next county and town elections I, for one, will do the needed voting and register my protest about these tax increases.

I recall the time, not so long ago, when the town gathered up the garbage from the town homes at no cost to the home owners. Then the city officials found they were overlooking a bit. Some other town was charging a special tax for such a service, and a tax of 30 cents a month for each home was added for that service to meet a need for increased revenue. The need has passed, but the tax is still being collected.

We do a lot of complaining about the increased taxes of the federal government, but we do little or nothing about these close-to-home spenders. They are proportionately as bad as Washington. Can we not find those who will find ways to save, as well as ways to spend, or do we try to find them? The tax burden, national, state, county and town has gone far beyond the limit.

The town needed a new well from which to pump the town's water. It needed the money with which to drill such a well. A supposedly temporary water tax was levied for the purpose. The well was long since paid for, but that tax has not been repealed. A town sales tax was added to the state's sales tax, and it is still being collected, though the purpose for which it was levied has passed.

If the police would give tickets to the speeding drivers, the fines assessed would help to pay the cost of my home-town government as well as stop the spending. If the fines collected would go to pay police salaries it might make a difference.

Some years ago I was attending a noon-day luncheon of one of the town's service clubs. The speaker of the day was talking about "Youth Service." He illustrated with a brief story in which a mother of an adolescent son was lecturing him on the need for curbing his activities

Just at that moment there broke into the room a bevy of high school students, boys and girls of the senior class of the community high school. The girls, all too scantily clad, danced through the room, leaving the imprint of lip stick on the tops of several bald heads, and arrayed themselves on the stage, where they gave that man and boy audience an exhibition of tap dancing and high kicking, much to the edification of both men and boys.

New Hazard for Dogs Found in Chemicals

It's getting to the place where city dogs just live in dog's life these days. On top of such routine hazards as speeding motorist and dog impounders, man's best friend now has another problem to contend with.

KATHLEEN NORRIS Dishwater Ache

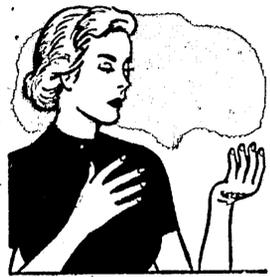

"I'M A VICTIM of what I call dishwater ache," writes Penny Vickers, from Uniontown, Pa. "I think lots of American housewives have it, and I want to know if there's a cure. Let me tell you of myself, because I've an idea I'm typical."

"I worked in a nursery apron factory before I was married, 12 years ago. Johnny wanted a family, and a family we have, three lovely girls, whose ages now are 10, 8, and 5. We wanted Pamela, the youngest girl, to be a boy before we saw her, and then we wanted Pam. Pam is now in school, and the other girls are helpful and normal and a great delight."

Every Day Tasks

"You know what I do every day. I make beds for people to muss up in a few hours, I clean bathrooms so that they can be strewn with soap-suds and wet towels again, I sweep floors to make room for more dust and straps, I go to market to buy supplies that only last a few days, and I wash dishes that aren't cold before I have to lift them off the shelves for the next meal. I have a group of Scouts, we belong to a country club, and in our eight-room house, which we own, is every convenience and luxury that we Americans take for granted."

"My dishwater ache is because I know I can do better than this. My apron designs are still on the market; my color patterns are still framed in one of the offices. They want me back, at a good weekly salary, but truly it isn't the money. It's the chance for self-expression, even if only through nursery aprons! I don't want to go to Hollywood, or into the legislature. I'm not television material. But I want to hold my own in the business world, and while cotton clothes for children may not sound thrilling, my working at it may free some other women for the nursing or teaching they say we need so much."

"Johnny won't hear of it. To employ my loved old Mandy regularly, instead of one day a week, would mean a well-managed home. The older girls would take on Pam until I got home at half-past four. And I would have all the thrill of really working again. But my dear kind Johnny disapproves."

"What is your solution? You must have had this problem presented to you before."

Indeed I have, Penny. You are quite right in thinking that dishwater ache is a common disease. But there are two ways of putting this question, and yours is the rational, reasonable, and even highly desirable way. Many a Johnny would be relieved of his most pressing anxiety, many a Johnny's life would actually be prolonged, if he could feel that the woman at home could take care of herself and the children should he die or be incapacitated. Johnny doesn't know how lucky he is!

Fallures

The women I advise to stay at home are the failures. They are the women who can't run the affairs of five rooms and one child and one man with any success, and yet who feel that they are quite capable of sensational exploits in the field of movies, art, letters—anything that gets their names and pictures into the magazines and papers.

Not long ago a pretty, restless, discontented woman did get her name into the papers. She won a dance contest in a rather low type of roadhouse and afterward went home with the man-up-to that evening a stranger to her—with whom she had danced.

The police and the man's wife brought charges against the pair the next day, charges that included drug taking, drug peddling, reckless driving, car stealing, drunken driving, infidelity, and, in her case, criminal neglect of children and manslaughter. She had her moment of fame, aged 6, 4 and a few months, were in a damp basement room; she said the only place for which she had a key. The older child was feeding raw vegetables to the younger; the baby had found eternal peace.

WOMAN'S WORLD Simple Tricks with Curtains Add Much Charm and Beauty

By Eritta Haley

ARE curtains at your windows used just to have something there, or do they add the interesting note to the room?

One of the most inexpensive ways to decorate any room in the home is to provide a bright accent with curtains, a cheerful note or something so lively as to start conversation just as soon as someone sees your curtains.

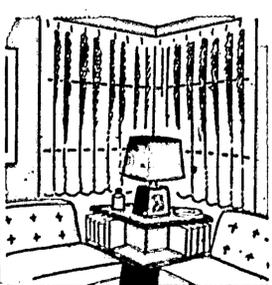

Just in case you think curtains haven't changed much, just look at some of the new designs and colors which are available, to say nothing of the new styles in curtaining. All rooms in the home have been exposed to the new things in curtains—kitchens, living and dining rooms, entrance halls, bedrooms and game rooms.

Just as refinishing furniture can improve it, so can curtains be used to hide any number of construction faults in windows. They can enhance the view if you have one, or replace a poor view just in the way the curtains themselves are treated.

Remember the days when curtains were mostly white or ivory? These are sometimes used, but the use is quite different from what it used to be. Curtains have plenty of color and design now, and they can be used to bring out room colors by harmonizing or accenting them.

There are even certain types of prints available which will help to carry out furniture or decorative themes. These, used in curtains, can often be the most effective note the room has.

When rooms have sufficient color and design interest, then add no more conflicting accents, and use plain sheer curtains.

Sheer curtains refresh corners...

Study your rooms and see just what kind of curtains they need. Once this is decided, you'll have fun getting together just what's needed.

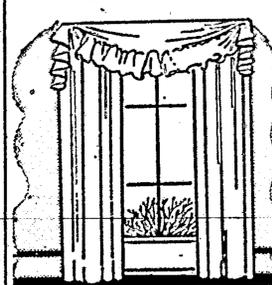

Use Unusual Treatments For Sheer Curtains

Sheer curtains aren't always perfectly plain; neither are they always feminine and ruffled. Today's trend shows interesting effects obtained by treating sheer curtains almost as draperies.

Take, for example, the room with a large corner window. If you need the light or don't want to close out the view, then sheer curtains are an absolute essential. But, you may say, the room is a living room, and you want something really appropriate.

Sheer curtains for this type of corner window may be strictly tailored. Pinch-pleat them at the top and place on traverse rods so they can be drawn easily. Use closed or open, as desired. Curtains treated in this way should be luxurious if they have no draperies "to help them out." Pinch pleats should be full; have hems at least five inches deep.

High ceilings rooms usually need a valance at the windows to help cut down the disproportion of the room. Even though the windows may just be average length, they can be made more effective if you use tailored curtains of sheer material, falling to sill or floor length.

add luxury to long, narrow windows.

At the top, drape generously with a ruffled curtain to give the effect of a valance, though the curtains themselves may be perfectly straight. This is a very effective way to treat windows in old-fashioned houses as well as rooms in which there is sufficient color and design interest elsewhere in the room.

Draperies may be used with sheer curtains, but they should be full and generous, if they cannot be because of the expense involved, it's far better taste and much more good sense to spend the money on sheer curtains and make these like drapes, pleated and full, placed on traverse rods.

Novelty Curtains Have Many Uses

Need curtains for your bathroom? Plastic is frequently an excellent choice because it will withstand the constant dampness of the room, and

String Bows

Dainty string bows are a favorite trimming feature of the season's shoes. Here they are seen on an open-toed, but closed heel shoe done in black suede, but may be had in brown suede or blue calf as the wardrobe dictates.

the curtains will not wilt.

Curtains for the bathroom can match the shower curtains if they're used in fact, in a small bathroom, it's best to have them not only of matching material but also in style. Tailored shower curtains naturally call for straight curtains.

If the room is not strictly tailored, ruffled curtains may be used, tied back, as in cottage sets.

Both the shower curtain and the curtains can be made from plastic material bought by the yard, especially if you like the shower curtain especially long and generously full.

There was a time when kitchen curtains had to be organdie or one of the other sheer materials, and preferably in white. Now that color has been introduced more strongly into the kitchen, curtain materials have a wide range.

Let's suppose that your kitchen is Early American in theme or has an informal peasant theme. What would be more appropriate than some colorful chintz or one of the peasant prints which are often done on natural or gray-white linen? Here, then, is the ideal choice.

If the kitchen has a gay informality and you want a clear view of the outside, why bother with curtains at all? You'll find that a piece of colored ruffle through which you run elastic can be placed to go all the way around the window, thus giving you the color accent and the freedom of view desired.

Solve Window Problems With Clever Curtains

Rooms with small windows can probably use all the light they can get. Curtains, rather than drapes are the answer. Sheer curtains on double rods will answer the purpose nicely, especially those which are tied back in hour glass fashion.

Views outside the window cannot easily be changed, but you don't have to look out! Treat windows like this with pretty curtains and you can have as nice a picture as you want. Figured lace panels are excellent for living and dining room windows. You might have an attention getting cornice and some striking pattern in the drapes hung at either side to complete the effect.

Informal living rooms with windows, bedrooms and kitchens, too, can have the outside view blocked with gathered sheer curtains. You might try use of three or four rows of these, with the bottom edge piped in a solid color that goes well in the room.

Windows which show nothing at all on the outside, especially those which look right at the wall of another house can have tailored curtains in good colors. Take a cloth of good texture and add some vertical stripes of bright color, and use these at the windows.

Candy-striped curtains are good in many rooms, whether these are tailored or feminine. A girl's room may have frothy organdie bed-spread and dressing table. What could be lovelier than red and white candy-striped curtains, tailored, but still a good contrasting note to all the femininity?

Children's rooms are excellent with tailored, striped curtains, too. You might select several colors in stripes and sew these on solid-colored material.

Let Remnants Make Attractive Curtains

How often have you gone out to buy material and then found something later in the home which would have served the purpose as well? Too often! Check your stock at hand first and see if old things can be converted to usefulness.

For smaller curtains you're just started housekeeping and have no remnants at all. Good portions of sheets, linen towels, crash, men's shirts and many such items can be cut and used for short curtains.

Trimnings may be needed, but these are certainly less expensive than buying everything new. Shirring in different colors is available to make the task easier, and so are rick-rack, ruffling, bias tape and ribbon for stripes.

Nursery Motifs

Born Again
Lesson for January 27, 1952

IN many places one often hears the expression, "born again Christians." As a matter of fact, there are no other kinds. If a person is not born again he is not a Christian.

The first birth is of the natural self, the awakening, so to speak, to this natural world. The second birth is of the supernatural self, the awakening to the spiritual world, the beginning of "living unto God." Sometimes this new birth comes very early in life. Dr. Warfield, a very conservative theologian, used to think that the second birth might in some cases actually come before the natural birth. (See Jeremiah 1:5).

A man may become very distinguished, may be a great scholar, and still not have been born again. Nicodemus is a case in point. He was a man who had everything, as the saying is; he was a judge in the Jewish High Court, a man both wealthy and respectable. But he had not been born again.

Dr. Foreman

God Is the Life-Giver
THE English translation of John 3:7 has given many persons the idea that being born again is a duty. Now a duty is something that you ought to do, and that by your own choice you can do if you will. It's up to you. But (taking the teaching of the Bible as a whole) being born again is not a duty. It is the act of God.

What Jesus was saying (as the Greek of John 3 indicates) is that it is necessary, it is indispensable, to be born again. There can be no development, no growth, in the spiritual life unless there is somewhere the beginning of that life. You must have been born once in order to see the sunrise. You must be born again in order to see God.

The seed which we sow in field or garden must have the germ of life in it or it will never grow. But no farmer can give life to lifeless seed. God alone is the life-giver, in the first birth or in the second.

Turn; Follow
SOME people get this far in their thinking and then they become discouraged. "If only God can give life," they think, "what is the use of my trying to obey him? If God takes the first step then all I can do is to wait for him. No matter how much I want to be a Christian in my heart, I may not be able to, for God may not see fit to make it possible for me to do what I want to do." This is a mistaken thought.

John Calvin, as is well known, was a very strong believer in predestination. As pastor of a large church, he had numbers of people in his congregation who heard him talking about predestination, the doctrine that we are in God's hands and that spiritual life can come only as he himself begins it in our souls.

They would ask just about this same question: I want to be a Christian, but how do I know that God has chosen me? I want to be a Christian, but how can I know whether I have been born again? Calvin's answer was a simple one: If you really want to be a Christian in your heart, that is a sign, the very best sign, that you have been born again.

Turn; Follow
In the Bible, the commands are "Turn"; "Follow"; "Believe"; "Obey". If we have not been born again these commands fall on deaf ears. If they stir our consciences, if they make us respond, then that is a sign we have been born again.

Then can't we tell when we are born again? Certainly we can tell just by being alive. "We know that we have passed from death unto life, because we love the brethren," said the same apostle who recorded Jesus' conversation with Nicodemus.

We wish very much we knew whether Nicodemus himself was ever born again, but students of the Bible have never agreed on this. And the reason for the uncertainty is that Nicodemus never did come right out:

We know Matthew was born again because he turned his back on his former life and followed Jesus. We know that Nicodemus said some kind things about Jesus. We know that after Jesus was dead, Nicodemus came through with a handsome contribution for the funeral. Was that only late, or was it too late?

Most of the residents of the Mesa and many others attended the funeral services of Mrs. Ora Hicks at Angus Saturday. Mrs. Hicks had lived with her daughter, Mrs. Henry Peebles, part of the time for several years.

Leota and Peg Pfingsten returned from their California visit with nothing but praise for the beauties of the coast state. Fortunately, their trip was wedged in between the recent storms.

Mrs. Ted Taecker, a former resident of Lincoln County, sent her regards and a subscription to this paper.

At the road meeting with Austin Albert at Nogal, Guy Dahney was named in charge of handling the information on this sector.

Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Zumwalt and Chloe Peters motored to Artesia Sunday for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. B. Zumwalt.

My ego took a sudden slip. I thought I could bake a fair looking cake, but I wish you could see what Jack Aldrich baked for me—a mountainous light angel food cake, with a wish for my speedy recovery. That did it! I'll be out in the kitchen trying to do as well every week the rest of the year, providing the hens let me waste that many eggs.

I thought the kids came home with a cute pun. One said, "Carri-blows-so," and the other said "Capitan too."

We are pleased to have the Carlos Sanchez, who formerly lived in Ruidoso, in our community. They have purchased the Arthur Lucero house. Mr. Sanchez is employed at Fort Stanton.

It is surprising how many people in this vicinity are interested in having telephones.

Mechem Candidate For 2nd Term As Governor

New Mexico's Governor Edwin L. Mechem, Santa Fe, has announced he will be a candidate for re-election to that office.
 The announcement came about a week in an informal manner last week as a reporter made the comment to Mr. Mechem that he might as well announce then as later, and the governor agreed to a platform, he said, "Integrity and firmness in administration" is "all I can promise." He stated he plans no active campaign prior to the Republican primary convention, has set up no campaign machinery, and named no campaign manager.
 The governor reported he did not know whether he will take out nominating petitions, but mentioned there will be seven days after the GOP convention, tentatively set for Feb. 28-29, in which to circulate petitions if he is not nominated (which is considered highly unlikely).

Feb. 4 Deadline For Registration Switch

Feb. 4 is the last date upon which voters may change their party affiliations before the May 6 primary. Political activity, which will culminate with the Nov. 4 general election, starts Feb. 4 when Governor Edwin L. Mechem issues the formal proclamation calling for the primary election May 6. Present voters cannot change their party allegiance after the proclamation has been issued, but new voters have two additional months in which to register.
 March 4 is the first date for candidates to file for places on the primary election ballots, and March 7 is the final date for filing of such candidacies. Previous voters who have moved have until April 5 to transfer registration to their new precincts, and April 7 is the last date for new voters to register.

Another major milestone in trucking progress

GMC DIESEL TRUCKS

Your key to greater hauling profits

GMC PRESENTS THE FIRST 2½-TON DIESEL

At last—Diesel economy and hill-leveling performance come to thousands of truckers who have never had any choice but gasoline power in the past!

TODAY America's foremost builder of Diesel trucks smashes the size-weight barrier that up to now has denied the many economies of Diesel power to haulers of medium-weight loads.

Today GMC offers users of equipment in the 19,500 GVW-35,000 GCW range a sensational new Diesel truck-tractor.

It is powered by the first welterweight Diesel truck engine—a smaller, more compact model of the famous General Motors 2-cycle engine that has made GMC America's first-choice Diesel truck.

More Miles per Gallon
 Because it is Diesel-powered, this new GMC Model D450-37 will cost you far less to run per mile, far less to maintain per year than any other 2½-tonner you've ever owned. All Diesel experience proves that.

Because it is a 2-cycle Diesel, it is a fast-starting, quick-accelerating, highly responsive truck with plenty of snap in traffic—a truck that will maintain a steady "on time" schedule even on hilly runs.

Fuel economy is automatic thanks to GMC's famous Fuel Modulator. Regardless of throttle pressure this engine never gets more fuel than it needs and makes the most of what it gets. Smooth driving is assured by "easy-turn" recirculating ball-bearing steering—even electric shifting on two-speed axle models.

Nationwide Service
 Equally important to the thousands of truckers who can now enjoy the benefits of Diesel power for the first time, this new GMC D450-37 is backed by the nation's largest network of Diesel service stations.

Before you buy another truck, you owe it to yourself to investigate these new GMC welterweight Diesels if you want to cut costs! We will be glad to give you facts and figures that will open your eyes! Why not come in today!

CORONA

By MRS. A. E. MULKEY

The Corona fire truck was called out Monday evening about 8:30 to the Lewis Cain ranch at the north edge of town to put out a fire which destroyed Frank Willis' trailer house. Willis had been gone only about 10 minutes when the blaze broke out. The flooring and wheels of the trailer were all that were saved.

Miss Georgia Lee Clements had an appendectomy at St. Joseph's Hospital in Albuquerque Saturday, Jan. 19, and is recovering rapidly.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Simpson and family of Hagerman were in Corona recently visiting his mother, Mrs. J. A. Simpson.

Mrs. J. A. Simpson's granddaughter, Mrs. Saluria Dalahiter, and her son, Lesley Joe, of Artesia, were also visiting in Corona last week.

Mrs. Richard Sultemeter of Stanley and Mrs. Saluria Atkinson of Corona, daughters of Mrs. J. A. Simpson, are spending this week in Hot Springs.

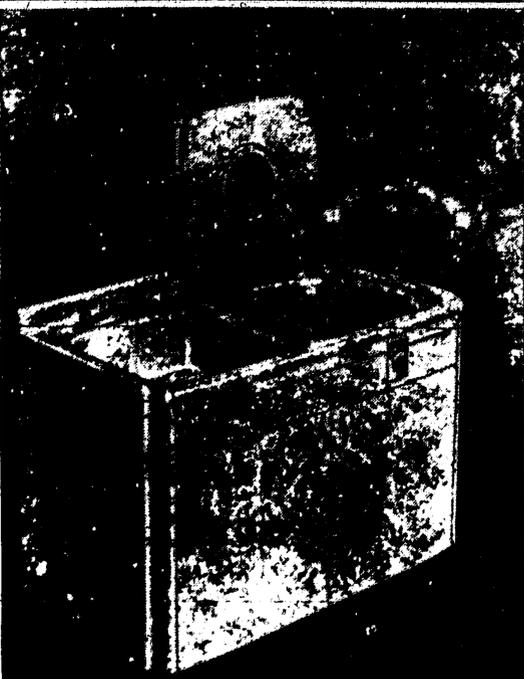

The Carrizozo Grizzlies met the Cardinals on the Corona court Friday night, Jan. 18. Both games were hard fought, but Corona came out on the long end of the score in both games. Many Carrizozoans accompanied their team to Corona for the game. Corona boys will play three games on the Mountainair court today (Friday).

Mr. Taulman spent two days in Corona community in the interest of the building program for the Presbyterian hospital in Albuquerque last week. The capacity of the hospital is being doubled.

Regular family night will be held in Corona Presbyterian Church basement Jan. 20 at 6:30 P. M. Mrs. Zelpha Atkinson and Mrs. Pallie Dishman will be the hostesses. Everyone welcome to come and enjoy Christian fellowship around the table.

Private Estella Jaramillo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Jaramillo of Corona, arrived home on furlough Sunday from Fort Leo, Va. Miss Jaramillo is a graduate of Corona High School, and attended State College at Las Cruces last year. She joined the WACS and has been in Virginia for about three months. After a nine-day visit home, she

New Idea in Dishwashing

Operating on a "revolutionary" principle of automatic dishwashing, this new Youngstown Kitchens dishwasher will do the family's dishes in less than 10 minutes. The young lady holds the partially filled upper basket to show how cups, glasses and silverware are positioned. A lower basket holds plates, larger dishes and pans. The machine will hold table service for six people. The tube in the middle of the tub is a jet tower which spins and throws powerful streams of water which shear food particles off dishes. Water at 180 degrees is delivered from a booster heater tank in the machine.

will go to California to attend WAC training school.

"Not In A Thousand Years" was presented by the Corona senior class Saturday night to a full house. The audience was appreciative of the splendid humor of the play as well as the excellence of its presentation. After the performance the cast and director met at the home of Miss Sally Mae Pfeiffer to discuss their successes and failures as actors, and to enjoy the balance of the pudding that "Junior" was too excited to eat during the performance.

The Corona Woman's Missionary Society met with Mrs. R. B. Ivey Tuesday. There were nine women present, and the lesson was on stewardship. The society plans to have one meeting in town and one in the country in order to accommodate the women living on farms and ranches. The Corona Baptist Church seems to be growing spiritually and in numbers.

Mrs. LaMont West of Deming had an article in Sunday's El Paso Times on the history of Corona, and it will be continued in this Sunday's edition of that paper.

Local Dealer Announces 1952 Dodge Tests

The 1952 Dodge Coronet sedan has received a "standout" rating for its brakes, riding comfort and driver vision in scientific tests conducted by Motor Vehicle Research, an independent testing laboratory of Boston. It is announced by Shafer Motor Company, Carrizozo.

Results of the tests, which involved both road and laboratory work, published in the February issue of the magazine Science and Mechanics, stated "Whereas average braking efficiency of 50 per cent is considered acceptable and safe, this coronet model registered 94 per cent in braking to a stop from 50 miles per hour—and that at a pedal pressure of only 44 pounds. Normally you have to apply as much as 80 pounds pressure in emergency stops; a woman's pedal pressure would be somewhat less."

The second point of excellence was the smooth ride over the roughest road surfaces due to the ride control.

The third item which impressed the test crew was the high degree of driving vision. The driver sits higher than in many other modern cars and his eye can see the road over the left fender at a distance of 12 ft. 8 in.
