City Dads Consider Power Plant Sale

The City Dads discussed the local power plant at length during Tuesday night's meeting, with the consensus of opinion being that something must be done about the situation very quickly. It was explained that the present facilities have reached peak capacity and that either the village will have to have additional equipment or other arrangements must be made. REA's interest in the purchase of the plant was mentioned and it was indicated officials of the Otero County Electric Cooperative will be contacted to determine if they will make an offer to purchase the plant. A new headquarters building is in the offing for the Otero County organization, which already includes a number of Lincoln County residents, and if Carrizozo should decide to sign up for the REA power, this village is a logical site for the construction. Officials of the Otero County Cooperative had indicated sometime ago, when the sale of the local plant to that group was under consideration, that a long range program would eventually put this village more or less in the center of a cooperative maintained by several groups in this area.

At that time, however, and even at present, some of the Otero REA officials as well as some of the Lincoln County members appear to favor Tularosa or Alamogordo as the site of the new building if and when it is constructed. It has been pointed out to the dissenting group that neither of those towns use REA power at this time, and that should Carrizozo decide to go with the Otero County cooperative it has all the necessary facilities required by the federal government for an REA headquarters, including a bank and railroad, and is at the intersection of two major highways.

Other possibilities of purchase are also to be investigated by the village trustees. A resolution from the Lincoln County commissioners that the village pay the county $1.50 a day instead of $3 for feeding municipal prisoners was approved. It was pointed out that with increasing costs, the previous amount allowed is insufficient. It was also reported that habitual drunkenness is becoming a problem in Carrizozo to an extent that a study is necessary to ascertain what steps can be taken to eliminate it.

Baby Born To Hollywood Couple In Automobile

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Steed, Hollywood, born Saturday morning in her father's automobile as he raced toward Roswell, was given a fighting chance for survival, according to hospital authorities there. The 7-pound, 14-ounce girl was born with RH-negative factor blood.

The mother, Mrs. Inez Steed, 30, gave birth to the child eight miles west of Roswell as her husband halted his car to give aid. "By the time I could stop I had a girl to wrap up," reported the father, employed as a log hauler at Hollywood. "I guess it took a minute," he added, "but it seemed like 10."

The Steeds, who have lost two children because of the RH-negative type blood, are reported to have gone to a hospital at Ruidoso Saturday morning in order that Mrs. Steed could have a checkup, and that hospital authorities recommended they go to Roswell. The baby was not expected for another two weeks. En route to Roswell, Mrs. Steed entered labor, and her husband said he made the 80-mile trip in 55 minutes. The couple have three other children.

Lincoln County's 15 Republican delegates at the state nominating convention in Santa Fe, May 31, voted 11-4 to support Senator Robert Taft of Ohio for Republican presidential nominee. The Lincoln County delegation went uninstructed. ## Local Manager Winner In Food Mart Employees Courtesy Contest

Officials of Food Mart, El Paso, have named John Brown, Carrizozo, manager of the local store for that firm, as one of the six winners in the recent courtesy contest conducted by Food Mart stores in the Southwest. Mrs. James D. Lawson, Carrizozo, wife of the Southern Pacific Company trainmaster who was transferred to Lordsburg last week, wrote the winning letter that made her the recipient of a registered cocker spaniel puppy. Brown will be awarded a handsome watch as his prize.

Gordon Foster, El Paso, president of the company, said, "Food Mart is always glad to hear of outstanding performance on the part of any employee. This helps both Food Mart and our employees to do a better job in serving our customers."

Mrs. Lawson's letter, which related how Brown had helped her to get acquainted here, stated: "Knowing that I was a stranger in the city, he has taken the trouble to introduce me to other ladies in the store—he has helped me to find domestic help for my home—and he acts as if you are doing him a favor to let him do it."

It was reported the vehicle went out of control as the brakes were applied and struck an embankment. The couple were said to have been thrown clear of the car.

M. when a car reported to have been driven by George Chavez, Picacho, went out of control west of that village and landed upside down in an irrigation ditch. Chavez escaped with bruises but the vehicle was badly damaged.

State Policeman Carlos Salas, Carrizozo, said there were no witnesses to the accident and it could not be determined whether the vehicle, a 1933 model, was being driven at excessive speed when the mishap occurred. No charges have been filed against Chavez.

Funeral services for Mr. Pineda, who is survived by several children, were held at the Catholic Church in Picacho with interment at the cemetery in that village.

Alamogordo Robbery Nets Thieves $1100

A theft which occurred at Henry's Bar in Alamogordo Tuesday night netted the robbers over $1,100. State Patrolman Carlos Salas at Carrizozo refused to divulge additional details, other than to comment that the state police and county law enforcement officers in the area are working on the case.

Salas also reported an accident which occurred on Red Hill about 15 miles west of Carrizozo on Highway 380 Tuesday afternoon. The wheels of a car belonging to a worker on the school construction job here (the man's identity had not been ascertained at press time) locked as he applied the brakes causing the vehicle to go into a bar pit. The driver was uninjured but his automobile was badly damaged.

Lincoln Soldier Receives Combat Badge In Korea

Private Oriand S. Sanchez, whose grandmother, Felomena Salas, lives at Lincoln, recently was awarded the Combat Infantry Badge for excellent performance of duty in combat with the 2nd Infantry Division in Korea.

The badge, a symbol of the front line fighting man, distinguishes the combat soldier from rear-area and service troops. It consists of a miniature replica of a Revolutionary War flintlock rifle mounted on a blue background and superimposed on a wreath. Private Sanchez is a member of Company A in the 38th Infantry Regiment, a part of the famed 2nd Division.

Major Gen. Patrick J. Hurley, Republican candidate for the U. S. Senate, will lead the Grand Entry which heralds the opening of the second annual Kids Rodeo Sunday afternoon, June 8, at the Capitan Rodeo Arena, starting at 7 o'clock.

The approximately 35 contestants who were entered in the rodeo up to Wednesday, represent the towns of Carrizozo, Ruidoso, Lincoln, Hondo, Ancho, Fort Stanton and Capitan in Lincoln County. Other cities who are sending contestants include Alamogordo and Roswell, and Ysleta and El Paso, Texas.

A record crowd is expected to witness the performance of youngsters in this section of New Mexico and Texas as they compete for the various prizes. In addition to the thrills and spills of the rodeo, fans will view one of the most colorful exhibitions of the rodeo—the girls' and women's cloverleaf barrel race.

Four separate divisions are scheduled for each event—boys and girls and grade and high school groups. There will be first, second and third prizes in each event with the entrance fees to be divided among the winners. Beautiful ribbons will be awarded the winners in each group.

Rodeo officials warn that no entries will be accepted without the consent of the parents or guardians, and that the books will be closed at 6 P. M. Saturday, June 7.

Gates at the rodeo arena will be opened at 12:30 P. M. Admission is $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for children.

Sponsored by the Capitan Chamber of Commerce, the events include calf roping, calf riding, ribbon team roping, clover leaf barrel race, and stake race. The boys and girls will compete separately in their respective school divisions. Entry fee for each high school student is $1, and 50 cents for each grade school student.

Special events are the girls' and ladies' clover leaf barrel race and stake race. The entry fee for each event in the special classification is $2.50.

For those who have never witnessed a kids' rodeo with its hilarious as well as nerve tensing exhibition riding, Sunday's show will guarantee an afternoon of excellent entertainment for the entire family. Although the youthful performers have only amateur rating, many of them are exceptionally skillful in rodeo arts and their exhibition riding is outstanding.

Earl Harcor, secretary of the Capitan Chamber of Commerce, and Jack Earling are in charge of the detail work connected with the rodeo. D. O. Murphy will be in charge of the gate; Lon Merchant is chairman of the advisory committee; Bert Pfingsten, Hondo, will serve as the announcer; timers are Bill Edgar, Travis Werner and a third man yet to be announced; Grady Edridge is the flagman, and the barrier man is Max Thorpe.

Judges for the events are Claude Walker, Lincoln, and Max Thorpe, Capitan. The Capitan City Hall is the headquarters for the rodeo.

Prior to Sunday's rodeo, a dance, sponsored by the Capitan Volunteer Fire Department, will be held Saturday night—June 7, at the Capitan gymnasium. A local orchestra will play for dancing.

WGS to Meet

The Women's Society of Christian Service of the Carrizozo Trinity Methodist Church will meet Wednesday afternoon, June 11, at the ranch home of Mrs. Sam Nickels near this village.

The program to be presented will be a combination of social and spiritual subjects.

News & Views From Your Nation's Capitol

By JOHN J. DEMPSEY Congressman from New Mexico

WASHINGTON, May 29—Where do we "go from here" in Korea?

That in the paramount question in the minds of all Americans, it becomes more and more apparent that the truce talks started on July 10, 1951, have reached a hopeless stalemate. The "Jugoslav" puzzle of peace still remains a mass of scattered pieces that we have been unable to fit into any pattern.

General Matthew B. Ridgway, supreme commander in the Far East since April, 1951, told the Congress he is still hopeful for a truce agreement, but had little in a factual report to justify this hope. He told a press conference that the Communists in Korea now have a far greater offensive strength than at any time in the past. However, he said, the Allied forces can ably handle any offensive.

General Ridgway, according to the reports of that press conference, said in effect that we can not drive the Communists out of Korea, nor can the Red force drive out the UN troops. Our situation, therefore, appears to have deteriorated progressively because, as far as I am able to learn, we have not made any gains, either military, economic or psychological. Most Americans, I believe, share my opinion that we have been out maneuvered, out-guessed and out-propagandized by the Communists.

A cold, calm appraisal of the Korean situation forces the reluctant conclusion that the hands of our military leaders—men with the capabilities of Ridgway and MacArthur—have been tied by appeasement policies promulgated by our State Department. It is apparent those policies are failing. It would appear, therefore, that the time is here when the Congress should re-evaluate the entire Korean situation in the light of what has happened.

We should know, for instance, to what source the policy can be attributed which permitted such disgraceful and humiliating episodes as the seizure of General Dodd in the Koje Island prison camp. That one incident, alone, proves that soft appeasement policies will not work with the Communists.

That the truce talks have been futile is no surprise to many of the members of the Congress. Nearly a year ago, when the talks were started, some of us looked upon the proposal that was routed through the Kremlin as another Red propaganda plot. At that time I said:

"Many of the mistakes of this nation's dealings with the Communists can be traced to a lack of understanding as to how these people operate. We have proceeded on the theory that the Kremlin leaders mean what they say and say what they mean. Such an assumption is not only erroneous, but dangerous.

The Communist Party is composed of people who have discarded every concept of truth, honesty and integrity, and whose only gauge of conduct is whether or not their actions will forward the Communist objective. In the light of this, it would be well for us to view any peaceful overtures of the Communists with a jaundiced eye."

The sooner we quit trying to save face in Korea and give our armed forces a free hand to save lives by unhampered "got-tough" military action, the sooner the terrific drain on American manpower and resources will end—and in victory for the free world.

Great Britain has ended her appeasement policy toward Red China. She has discovered she was wrong. How long will it be before we learn our lesson?

Farm fires in the United States cost an average of about $10 million every year.

NOGAL MESA

By DOROTHY GUCK

We had some picnic spoiling weather for the weekend that was hard on the tourists and children, but very welcome to the rest of us. Despite threatening skies, Angus Memorial Services saw one of the largest crowds ever. Cars packed the school grounds, and tables and benches were laden with delicious food for the noon meal. At the cemetery business meeting it was decided to employ the use of a chemical spray to try and eradicate the oak brush. New doors are to be built for the school house and some form of protection secured against the vandals who so often break into the building abusing the property. The annual work day will take place the second Saturday in August, when everyone having an interest in the cemetery is asked to spend a day repairing and improving the grounds. Donations of money from those who cannot attend help pay for the upkeep.

After the business meeting, graves were decorated by loved ones and military respects paid the interned veterans by the VFW of Capitán. Special tribute was given at the grave of Earl Roundtree.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Pfingsten parents of Texas Bob, spent the weekend with Ben. They have just moved to El Paso where Jack has been made water foreman for the S. P. His mother, Mrs. Mag Pfingsten, came from Tucumcari to visit Ben and attend the services at Angus. She went home with Jack for a couple weeks while Texas Bob remained with Ben for the summer.

The Dan Jones family had a picnic Sunday in Mills Canyon. Their children, Lee and Lucille Smith and youngsters were here from Clovis.

Mr. and Mrs. Bowen Zumwalt came from Artesia for services at Angus, intending to return this week for the Nazarene Camp Meeting.

Roy LaMay has contracted with the Forest Service to move the dirt in Carrizo Canyon for a culvert being installed there.

Peg Pfingsten tripped to Clovis for some cattle last week. He'll probably be on hand at the Capitán rodeo for the kids next Sunday, June 8. He is not supposed to take an active part, but I'll wager he and some of the other older boys are mighty sweat-streaked at the end of the day. The baseball field in Capitán is spotted with barrels, some frisky ponies going through their paces under the directions of some tots kneed high to a grasshopper. They will surely give us a good show.

Steak and plenty of trimmings were served by the genial crowd gathered at the Nogal Camp Meeting. The two huge cisterns being installed under the direction of Gill Peters are almost ready to hold water. Rev. Ralph Hall announced that the encampment which will be held on the Mesa starting July 16 will have the same music director as last year, Bill Lyttell. Preachers will be Dr. Hugh Evans of Dayton, Ohio, and Dr. Dick O'Brian of Big Spring, Texas. Joe Evans will meet with some of the men on June 6 to talk over plans for improving the cooking facilities. The historical and publicity committees including Mrs. Pat Murphy, Joe Evans, Lyda Peebles, Chloe Peters, and I are working on a historical record of the Nogal Camp which may be printed in book form next year.

A condition that should be brought to the attention of the highway department for consideration is the dangerous turnout where the camp meeting road, Indian Divide, meets 380. It should be widened or given a new, less hazardous approach. If you see any grotesque looking dogs about, they've been nosing too close to a rattlesnake. Our beagle looks like a bloodhound with double mumps and a goiter.

FISH AND GAME NOTES

THE GREAT AMERICAN SPORTSMAN (?)

Frank Hathaway, Hammond, Wis., newspaperman recently described what he considers the "great American sportsman."

Howls that there isn't enough game or fish and then gives out with anguished cries when the cost of his hunting or fishing license goes up a couple of drinks.

Yaps quite regularly about poor law enforcement, but looks down his nose at anyone who would help the wardens enforce the law.

Brags loudly about how he always gets his game birds on the fly and game animals on the run; gazes with obvious scorn on anyone who dares to admit he does otherwise, and then pot-shoots a nuthing unfortunate enough to get withip reach of his shootin' iron.

Wants more raising of young pheasants, and wants them distributed according to his own ideas, but when there is work to be done around the pheasant pens he finds the weather is wonderful for fishing.

Stays away from county conservation meetings and also from educational programs of his own.

Does his bird hunting from car, and his deer hunting with sight of camp or the near highway; then goes home and writes a letter to the editor telling there just ain't no game no more.

Does this shoe fit you? "From Remington Arms Company newsletter."

WHO FISHES EAGLE NEST LAKE? In the course of his regular fisheries investigations, Biologist Roy Barker often turns up interesting sidelights on fishing and fishing.

GM Tops in Safety

General Motors has been awarded the highest honor of the National Safety Council—its award for distinguished service to safety—because its nearly half million employees in 1935 had the best safety record in the 44-year history of the company.

Checking creels in the area? Barker found that the 589 anglers had caught a total of 1,641 trout which averaged about 10 1/2 inches in length. The average catch figured at 2.7 fish per angler and fishermen caught exactly 54 of a trout per hour's fishing.

The largest trout, according to the books, was 19 1/2 inches in length and weighed 4 pounds. Approximately 12 per cent of the fish taken were hatchery-raised trout.

Barker estimated a total of 4,500 anglers fished the lake on opening day. With an average catch of 2.7 fish, then approximately 4,050 fish were taken.

The most interesting bit of information, at least to Biologist Barker, is the fact that of the 1,000 tagged fish planted in the lake prior to the opening, only three tags were recovered.

Entomologists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture recommend heavier doses of liquid fumigants to better protect elevator stored grain. Researchers say that by increasing the dosage one-half to two-thirds, elevator operators can control the immature weevils living inside the grain kernels and prevent insect infestations from reaching dangerous levels.

By G. WARD FENLEY For the story of the week, we go to Carter Waid of the Belen News-Bulletin.

Here's Carter, verbatim: "We won't vouch for the authenticity of this yarn, but they are telling around Belen that a certain young, new father was left in charge of his young son."

"Then a crisis arose and Papa put in an urgent call to a neighbor friend who took care of the problem in a man-to-man fashion."

"First, the neighbor advised place the diaper in a position of a baseball diamond, with you at bat. Then fold second base over home plate. Place baby on pitcher's mound. Then pin first base and third base to home plate."

Bob Nelson, our hefty friend on the Tucumcari American, also spun a good yarn last week. Young George Lowe, winner of a motor boat given by the American Legion Post in Tucumcari named the boat after George Petty.

Big-hearted Petty, Tucumcari barber, in gratitude offered to shave young Lowe (aged 8) for a year free of charge.

Most papers in the state did an amusing job of bandying words around.

In handing out advice on how not to get sunburned, the Hatch Reporter says all people need is experience plus good judgment. That's good advice but who's got the prerequisites?

I was amused at an ad placed in the Roswell Record by The Model Shop. Beside a picture of a young man wearing a cap and gown, the store, in advertising it, waxes said: "Here's a suggestive list."

Not a thing wrong with the word suggestive—except that it has taken on a very bad meaning. Unfortunate at that.

The Albuquerque Journal, in speaking of a situation at the University of New Mexico where officials were in a quandary, said the UNM administrators were standing around in a hand-holding group.

That's as bad as the Kentucky paper that said a certain man "And by the way, he is a deacon in the Baptist Church."

Or, even as the item in the Dallas Times Herald about a performer: "But though he had taken his last curtain call, the boy went on without him."

I got a kick out of a perfectly good head Pete Giannettino put in a story in the Deming Graphic. The head reported: "Marble purney won by Quarrel." It sounded bad but it simply meant that James Quarrel had won the marble tournament.

And the Sandia Crossroads. In an article on how to learn to read said: "This is the first step in learning to read quickly."

Trouble is that most of us learned to read badly and consequently our reading is quite lackluster.

Before this old bald-headed professor goes on a vacation, he will have to give Jimmy Barber the Baton Range a parting ride.

In describing a ruckus, Jimmy said "Tuff of bald went missing here and there." And in another of the same sort he said one bullet struck his right knee and he gashed his chest.

I'm sure Jimmy's glad I'm going on a vacation.

Yes, I'm going to rest up a bit, and for it here's the parting shot: How busy is not so important as why busy. The bee is praised; the mosquito swatted."

See you when...

USDL Concerned With Teen-age Vacation Jobs

Vacation jobs for minors are a matter of concern to the U. S. Department of Labor again this year. Teen-agers should be familiar with the jobs they may legally do under the two federal labor laws administered by the U. S. Department of Labor. Those laws are: The Fair Labor Standards Act and the Walsh-Healey Public Contracts Act. The laws restrict child labor in interstate commerce and on work connected with U. S. government contracts.

In interstate commerce, the minimum age is generally 16 but there are 10 so-called hazardous types of jobs for which a minimum age of 18 years has been set. For the Walsh-Healey law, the minimum age for boys is 16 years and the girls' minimum age is 18 years. Employers who wish to protect themselves from unintentional violation of the child labor provisions of the federal laws will require boys and girls to obtain age certificates before they go to work. In New Mexico, the certificates are issued by local public school officials. Young workers are advised to ascertain the legal minimum ages and other conditions of employment set by child labor laws of the state in which they work. Some state laws have higher ages for employment than the two federal laws, and which ever sets the higher standard prevails.

Further information about legal ages for employment under federal laws may be obtained from the Wage-Hour Division, U. S. Department of Labor, Albuquerque.

More cattle are on the nation's farms and ranches this year than ever before in history. On Jan. 1, 1952, the total was 88 million head, six million more than a year ago, reports the National Livestock and Meat Board.

Mexican Nationals Not Covered By S. C.

Agricultural workers in the United States from the Republic of Mexico under contract to do farm and ranch work are not covered by Social Security, according to J. H. Strickland, Kocwell, manager of the Social Security Administration office there. In an amendment by the U. S. Congress, those workers are specifically excluded from the act.

The exclusion applies only to agricultural workers under what is commonly known as the "Braceros contract." Other aliens who work for American employers are covered by the law the same as citizens of the U. S.

Farmers and ranchers who employ such contract workers should not withhold social security taxes from their wages, or report them on their quarterly tax returns.

OPS NOTES

An intensive survey of all New Mexico businesses selling services has been launched by the OPS, according to Anthony J. Albert, Albuquerque, district enforcement director. More than 7,500 New Mexico establishments are subject to ceiling price regulation 34, which covers practically every form of service from automotive repairs to mortuaries. Albert warned injunctive action will be instituted by OPS when necessary to secure compliance, and business firms violating the regulation requirements may be subjected to treble damages.

OPS is currently checking new and used car dealers in this state. Albert said many automobile firms are neglecting to comply with the customer involving requirements of ceiling price regulations 83 and 94. He cautioned that all dealers are required by law to comply or be subject to civil or criminal sanctions or both.

In addition, car dealers are required to place stickers on all used cars showing OPS ceiling prices, the make, model and style of the car, and listing all accessories thereon. Roy Walker, Albuquerque, district OPS director, has announced the appointment of Herman G. Baca, Santa Fe, as an investigator for the enforcement branch. Baca will work throughout New Mexico as a special agent.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Edlington and children visited relatives and friends in and near Lincoln over the weekend.

Mrs. Stella Zamata and son are back from Las Vegas after a nice visit with Phil and Arsenia Griego.

Mrs. Ethel Howard and Mrs. Grace Burleson of Fort Stanton were in Lincoln visiting around Monday afternoon.

crease and that some drivers do not have operators' licenses. The village is considering the possibility of hiring a day marshal to assist in maintaining law and order.

The services of a city police judge are also necessary since the present justice of the peace is ill and unable to serve. It was noted that at present fines paid in conjunction with arrests in the village go to the county inasmuch as the county provides the services of a substitute justice of the peace. Since the financial condition of the village at present does not warrant the expenditure of additional funds, if the law enforcement officers are to be hired, means for paying them must be devised.

It was suggested that the fines take care of the salary. This method was not looked upon with entire favor inasmuch as it could possibly result in unpleasant situations.

The reappointment of John Littleton as night marshal was approved, as well as the reappointment of Clyde Atwood as temporary deputy marshal. However, Atwood has other employment and it was not known at Tuesday night's meeting whether he is willing to accept.

Louis Hoffman's reappointment as village fire-warden was also approved. The position carries no salary.

Mrs. Miller, operator of a bar and tourist court on Highway 350 west of town, appeared before council to tell them she will be forced to discontinue the operation of several of her cabins if she is not given additional water pressure. Explanation developed that a number of years ago Mrs. Miller, whose property is outside the city limits, had paid for the pipe as well as an additional fee for installation of a water line. Recently, another family has been added to the line, apparently without adequate connections, to cause a decrease in Mrs. Miller's water supply. She stated that there are periods of as long as half a day when she is unable to get water.

The trustees agreed that immediate steps are necessary to correct the situation and promised her quick action. It was also decided that in the future, all utilities connections must be in accordance with the village code in order to prevent similar situations.

The question was brought up that new employes for the village were being paid more than some who had been there for several years. It developed that during an emergency, in order to obtain employes, it had been necessary to pay a small differential. The matter was thoroughly discussed by the trustees who will study the situation to attempt to eliminate any inequities.

One subject of paramount importance to residents of this village was that on the collection of garbage. The trustees plan to call for bids since it is not believed that the present system is either adequate or financially sound.

Exempt Real Estate

In the survey of property assessments in New Mexico for the year 1950, Dee Donnell and Associates listed exempt property in Lincoln County at $223,063. The amount does not include the assessments of soldiers and heads of families. It covers churches, schools and public buildings.
