

RAMBLIN' AROUND

BY PAUL BAKER

Ben Sanchez of San Patricio says that school buses are being endangered by motorists failing to stop for the school bus when children are getting off and on.

Clara and I spent a week-end in the city that is "farther west than Denver, farther south than San Diego and farther north than New Orleans."

We came home by way of Carlsbad Caverns. At the beginning of the tour the naturalist said that, contrary to the claims of some, the Caverns are not the work of a Texas gopher.

That naturalist has a real sense of humor. Half way to the lunch room, he halted the party in a large underground room and said: "You may want to experience what it is like to be in total darkness. We'll turn off the lights for 20 seconds."

It is surprising how quickly a large group is taken care of in the Caverns lunch room. The box lunches provided could be better, but it is about the only solution in serving a large number of people in a short length of time.

"Funds in the amount of 940,400 were included in the Interior appropriations bill for improvements at Carlsbad Caverns. Of this amount $847,1000 is for two new elevators. There are now two in operation, but the huge increase in visitors necessitates doubling the elevator capacity."

"The balance of the appropriation will be used to modernize and extend the Caverns' lighting system, provide additional seats in the Caverns and relocate and rebuild the electric transformer vaults. The Appropriations Committee indicated a like appropriation will be made next year for additional improvements."

"Carlsbad Caverns is one national park which pays an annual profit to Uncle Sam and this was pointed out to the Committee by the New Mexico Congressional delegation as justification for improvements which would add to the income producing capacity of the Caverns. This is another case of sound investment instead of expenditure."

Donald R. Roberts Serving in Far East

Serving aboard the destroyer escort USS Nicholas is Donald R. Roberts, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Roberts of Carrizozo.

This is the third tour of the Nicholas in the Far East in support of the United Nations' effort in Korea since the ship's recommissioning from the "Mothball Fleet" in February, 1951.

The Nicholas is engaged in screening aircraft carriers, operating off the Korean Coast from possible submarine and air attack while their planes harassed the enemy.

The crew of the Nicholas has gone ashore on liberty in Japan, Formosa, Okinawa and China where they have seen the land and the very different customs and traditions of the Orient.

Testimonial Dinner Honors L. Z. Manire

Approximately 70 persons attended the surprise testimonial banquet held Monday night at the Woman's Clubhouse in honor of L. Z. Manire, who has retired as superintendent of Carrizozo's schools.

L. W. Clark and John Larkin, superintendents of Capitán and Tularosa schools, respectively, and their wives attended. A host of friends, teachers, former teachers, and the school board joined to pay tribute to the man who has served New Mexico youth well for 25 years.

When Mr. Manire entered the clubhouse with his wife and Mr. and Mrs. Larry O. Stockton, the group joined in singing "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow." Mrs. Jerome Bartkus pinned a corsage on Mrs. Manire and a boutonniere on Mr. Manire.

Later in the dining room, Clyde Shults, toastmaster, gave a brief outline of the length of time he had known Mr. Manire and made several complimentary remarks concerning his long service and good work.

Mr. Manire responded by thanking the people of Carrizozo for the support they have given him and which he appreciated, and for honoring him on this occasion.

Following dinner Mrs. William Nickels played a selection on her violin. Spence Devitt then introduced the principal speaker, Dr. Dean Naninga of the University of New Mexico.

Dr. Naninga has known Mr. Manire well since he came to New Mexico. He told several interesting stories concerning the early days of education in the state of Kansas.

SCHOLASTIC RECORD FRAMED: His main theme was Mr. Manire's scholastic record while working for his Master's Degree at the University of New Mexico. Dr. Naninga brought with him a copy of the thesis which Mr. Manire had written 25 years ago on school problems in Lea County. At that time there were six pupils in the Hobbs school system. A copy of the thesis is still in the library at the University and is considered one of their best.

Dr. Naninga paid further tribute to Mr. Manire for his long service in the field of education—15 years in Texas and 25 years in New Mexico. He presented the superintendent with a certificate from the University for appreciation of his work with the youth of America.

In his response to Dr. Naninga, Mr. Manire said his main aim in serving the people has been the three R's—reverence to God, respect for authority and responsibility. During his career he has tried to instill these three R's into the hearts and minds of youthful citizens.

On behalf of the teachers, the school board and citizens, Mr. Stockton presented Mr. Manire with a large Masonic Concordance Bible as a token of affection and appreciation for the type of man and administrator he has been and for the work he has done for youth.

Mr. Larkin and Mr. Clark commented on the work of Mr. Manire in the field of education. METHODIST CHURCH HONORS MR. AND MRS. L. Z. MANIRE: Mr. and Mrs. L. Z. Manire were guests of honor Tuesday night at the regular Methodist Church potluck supper. Carrizozo teachers were special guests.

After the buffet supper the Junior Choir presented a program of music. Laura Jones sang a solo. At the program's conclusion, Rev. C. E. Butch presented a gift to the Manires.

The second winning essay was written by Claud Wilson and the third by Lee Straley.

In the Class I division, freshmen and sophomores, Jan Hurley was awarded first place; Sport Harkey second and Carl Thornton third.

Prizes of $25, $15 and $10 were awarded by the Soil Conservation District to winners in each division. The title of the essays was "The Need for Soil and Water Conservation."

The contest ended April 15. Essay judges were Rex Werner of the Soil Conservation District, A. E. Mustalaga and Leonard Dunning.

In her foreword, Miss Wedel wrote: "Soil is more precious than diamonds—in fact it is our most valuable possession because it is life-giving. Our forests, our wildlife, our water supply, in fact, our very life depends upon the soil. It is to our advantage, then, to make certain that our soil is not despoiledly used or abused. The practice that maintains our soil will also maintain our water supply and vice versa."

Miss Wedel's winning essay will be published in next week's issue of the News.

Billy the Kid's Knife, Other Historical Relics Received by Museum

Gold, uranium, turquoise and tungsten ore; a hunting knife belonging to Billy the Kid, and the transit used by Judge W. F. Blanchard to lay out the town of White Oaks, are among the antiques, documents and artifacts recently put on display at the Old Court House in Lincoln.

New Mexico's history is traced through a series of maps: a French map of 1695, a U. S. military map of 1851, an 1870 map in Gray's Atlas, and an 1890 map in Barnes Complete Geography, the companion book to the McGuffie Reader.

Additions to the Museum's permanent collection of White Oaks material include a well-worn prospector's pick, a mold for gold bullion, a letter press, an old counter scale, and a cart hook, presented by Grace M. Jones of Carrizozo. Judge Blanchard's surveying transit and his copy of Gupley's manual, presented by Mrs. Frances L. Blanchard of East Grand Plains; and two very old rabbit planes, presented by D. L. Blanchard of White Oaks.

A photograph of Dr. J. H. Blazer's house in 1870 has been given to the museum by Paul Blazer of Mesquero, and is exhibited with the 1873 Springfield rifle that Buckshot Roberts used in the battle of Blazer's Mill during the Lincoln County War.

Gold and tungsten ore samples from the North Homestead and Old Abe mines in White Oaks were given to the museum by D. L. Jackson. An unusual specimen of uranium ore was donated by D. W. Justis of Farmington, and examples of turquoise-bearing rock from an old turquoise mine near Artesia were presented by Dr. A. Anderson of Roswell.

A folding knife which belonged to Billy the Kid, a "Hunter's Companion" with six-inch blade made of XL steel, is on loan from the Museum of New Mexico in Santa Fe, as is an interesting old wooden, or-brass tortoise, griddle, much patched and riveted.

A horse hoof clipper, or trimmer, made in 1884, was given to the museum by Edgar Phillips of Lincoln, and an old buggy wrench and tap, from the White and Murphy Ranch in White Oaks, have been lent by Mr. and Mrs. Pat Murphy. Also on loan from the Murphy's is a finely sculptured alabaster Indian fetish, plowed up in Nogal Mesa.

Other exhibits of recent acquisition pertaining to the history of Old Lincoln County are now being prepared at the Old Court House, and will be on display shortly.

Ruidoso Water Users Awarded Damages In District Court Case

The Ruidoso Water Users Association was awarded damages of $3500 in district court in Carrizozo Monday. The lawsuit settled litigation pending since August, 1949, over diversion of Rio Ruidoso water for municipal use by Ruidoso.

The Association and four water users claimed damages in the amount of $23,149 and asked an injunction against the Village restraining them from using any more of the stream's water than is permitted under a valid water right acquired by the Village in 1952.

The damages were alleged to have been caused by illegal diversion of water from the Rio Ruidoso in the two years prior to 1952.

Elger E. Miller, one of the plaintiffs, claimed damages of $7,465, "due to loss of eight full-blooded white faced cows as a direct result of his waterings in the Rio Ruidoso going dry"; in addition to loss of permanent pasture.

Henry Hale claimed damages of $9,545, due to loss of pasture. Juan Montes' claim was for $1,750, and E. W. Brees, $4,360.

In making the award, Judge E. T. Scoggins, Jr., judge of the Ninth Judicial District, also enjoined the Village from taking more water from the Rio Ruidoso than the amount permitted by their water right. The State Engineer set this figure at 300 gallons per minute, or a total of 38 million gallons yearly.

Judge W. T. Scoggins, presiding judge of the Lincoln County's third judicial district, had disqualified himself prior to the trial.

WILL HARRISON'S Inside the Capital

SANTA FE, May 5—The legislative investigation of the state prison, currently being conducted by the sub-committee, headed by Rep. Hugh Horne, of Albuquerque, has walked out on the dangerous ice of testimony from convicted felons.

The committee consisting of Republicans Horne, Senator Reginald Espinosa, Rep. Richard Velarde, and Democrats Senator Henry Eager, and Rep. Tom Morris, has come up with the reports from the convicts about great improvement of the prison administration since the last killing, and general happiness for all involved.

The committee members and some of the state papers have received the statements of the convicts with sanguine confidence, and it looks at this point that the convict testimony might be the determining factor on the final report of the committee. If it goes that way, the report won't be worth much.

Testimony of felons is worth, hardly anything in the formal courts. It becomes even less trustworthy in the secret hearings conducted by the sub-committee which are without any record of what is said or the names of the witnesses.

The convicts are called to testify in an investigation of the state prison administration by the prison board, the warden, the guards and the entire personnel any of whom could directly or indirectly reduce the time they must serve.

Aside from those points, the convicts' interest in the operation of the pen is not the same as the public interest. What they want in the way of operation and would consider ideal is perhaps the opposite of the public conception of a prison.

If the prisoners are successful in dictating the legislature committee's report, it will be in line with their recent record of having the final say at the state institution.

Last June, a group of prisoners put up a public beef about the operation of the prison under Warden Joe Tomer, and said they liked Assistant Warden Morris Abram. The result was the resignation of Tomer and his replacement by Abram. In September the prisoners demanded the transfer of Assistant Warden Charles Reed and the replacement of the prison steward, Mead was transferred to the prison farm at Los Alamos, the steward and his assistant resigned. At the same time a convict gang raided the prison hospital, smashed a safe containing narcotics, and none of the participants was punished.

In December, a convict gang staged an armed outbreak attempt with guards seized from the prison, and guards kidnapped as hostages. Some of the participants were inconvenienced to the extent of spending two weeks in lock-up. Others went without any disciplinary action in January, a mob of prisoners went on a drunken spree, killing one prisoner and wounding three others, and none was inconvenienced at all for that.

After this series of events, the prisoners are telling the legislative investigators that things used to be bad but they suddenly got all right after the January shooting affair. They think no changes should be made at all and the investigators seem to be swallowing it.

People who have had experience with tales from convicts and ex-convicts, such as reporters around Santa Fe, know that it is extremely dangerous to accept their statements without investigation and confirmation of every detail.

Amateur probers at the pen are inclined to look up the oldest and the most experienced of the convicts for what they think is the best information. They put weight on the testimony given by old public enemies who have served in six or a dozen prisons, and like to hear from old timers who can compare the regimes of the various wardens. After disappointing experiences it is invariably learned that the more experienced the convict the less reliable is his information.

The present investigation and those of the past have lapsed into using the convicted felons to make respectable people on the outside look like liars or criminals. They are permitted to make serious accusations against guards or other prison employes who are helpless, to defend themselves beyond mere denials.

Perhaps a committee of psychiatrists by examining every convict in the pen could come up with the truth about conditions at the place but a bunch of part-time legislators talking to a selected few of the felons are not likely to get the facts.

Weed Poisoning
Spring is the time when most poisonous plant problems occur, as the grass is short and the livestock will eat at the green weeds that are growing. There are some 15 to 20 poisonous plants that cause livestock losses every year. Many of the losses do not cause death, but result in decreased production. Most plant losses are a result of poor range management as such plants are not preferred, but are taken in absence of other forage. Proper stocking along with seasonal use and an available mineral supplement are the best corrective measure for weed poisoning.

WED POISONING
If an animal shows signs of poisoning, it should be put in a pen and fed a good green hay along with a small amount of grain. Some of the more common poisonous plants in this area are loco, sacahuiste, cocklebur, whorled milkweed, larkspur and rayless goldenrod.

Annual Feeders Day

During the day, visitors will hear reports on the feeding research conducted at the College and will see the experimentally fed cattle in the College corrals. Two of the research reports will be on cube feeding—one on the value of cube feeding for sheep and the other on their value for cattle. Another report concerns the type of cattle which gains best in the feed lot.

'BILLY THE KID' BEST SELLER
A book from the University of New Mexico Press has been chosen one of the ten best Western books of 1952 by Westerners Brand, the authoritative judges in the field of Western literature, E. B. Mann, director of the UNM Press, announced.

When the paper-bound edition sold out, the UNM Press re-issued a cloth-bound edition, while the Language Series made a second paper edition, which is still selling well.
The 437 items in the volume begin in time with an article in May, 1881. They include not only printed material on William Bonney, alias "The Kid" but also records, folk songs, radio scripts, motion pictures, and advertisements.

Your property insurance agent is an independent businessman. He generally places his business with a number of fire, casualty and surety insurance companies whose franchises he holds. He operates a retail business which makes it possible for property owners in every city, town and village to obtain the kind of protection they need from the right kind of companies, in the proper amount, when they need it.

He is a merchant who deals in protection. His office is a department store offering safeguards against virtually every risk of financial loss resulting from the ownership of property or the operation of a business. He cannot help to protect your investment.

Like all businessmen, he is vitally affected by shortages of men, materials and by Government regulations and the threat of unnecessary interruption in his business and all other business.

In common with all other independent businessmen, he represents—and supports—the distinctive American ideal of free enterprise, which has built this great nation.

Senior Class Mothers Honor 1953 Graduates

The mothers of the Carrizozo Senior Class honored the 1953 graduates Sunday, May 3, at 7:30 a. m., with a breakfast held in the school lunchroom.

The tables, covered with white tablecloths, were in the shape of a horseshoe. At the end table were seated Mr. and Mrs. L. Z. Manire and Miss Dolores Gardner, class sponsor. Mrs. Manire gave the blessing.

The decorations carried out the class colors of silver and blue. Blue stars were laid on the tablecloth and blue candles ornamented the table at intervals with lovely bouquets of yellow roses, the class flower.

The place cards were unique. A paper girl and boy rose from a silver platform with the name of the graduate properly placed.

In the front was the fortune of the graduate, rolled up to represent a diploma and tied with a blue ribbon.

Grapefruit, ham and eggs, toast, jelly, coffee and milk were served. Every Senior attended, and at the end of the meal, Dorothy Moore, the class president, thanked the mothers on behalf of her classmates.

The committee which planned, prepared and served the breakfast included Mrs. J. E. Thornton, chairman; Mesdames J. G. Moore, Luther King, Paul Wilson and Don Queen.

Vets Find Home Buying Has Many Angles

Veterans, as well as everyone else, should realize that buying a home usually is the most important financial transaction in the lifetime of the average family.

Yet, one of the common errors made by some people in buying a house is to think that the only cost will be a small down payment, plus monthly payments of principal and interest.

For these reasons, Veterans Administration wants every eligible veteran to be acquainted with the financial angles of home buying. To know all about that contract, and the expense involved, and to be sure that the home the veteran buys comes up to certain standards and meets the needs of his family.

It is no secret, VA says, that 4% money for GI home financing has not been as plentiful as it was before Korea. A lot of investment capital was very understandably lured into defense construction and production, where returns have been high. However, VA points out, the GI loan program is very much alive, and the VA loan guaranty service estimates that about 200,000 homes will be sold to veterans with GI loans in 1953.

Veterans in the northeastern states and in large cities are finding it easier to get money for GI loans than veterans in many other localities. However, VA is expecting mortgage money to loosen up in many parts of the country and that several million more veterans will make use of their GI loan benefits before their entitlement runs out.

For World War II veterans, this entitlement holds good until July, '57. Qualified veterans with active service since Korea have until ten years from the end of the current emergency, a date yet to be set by the President or by Congress.

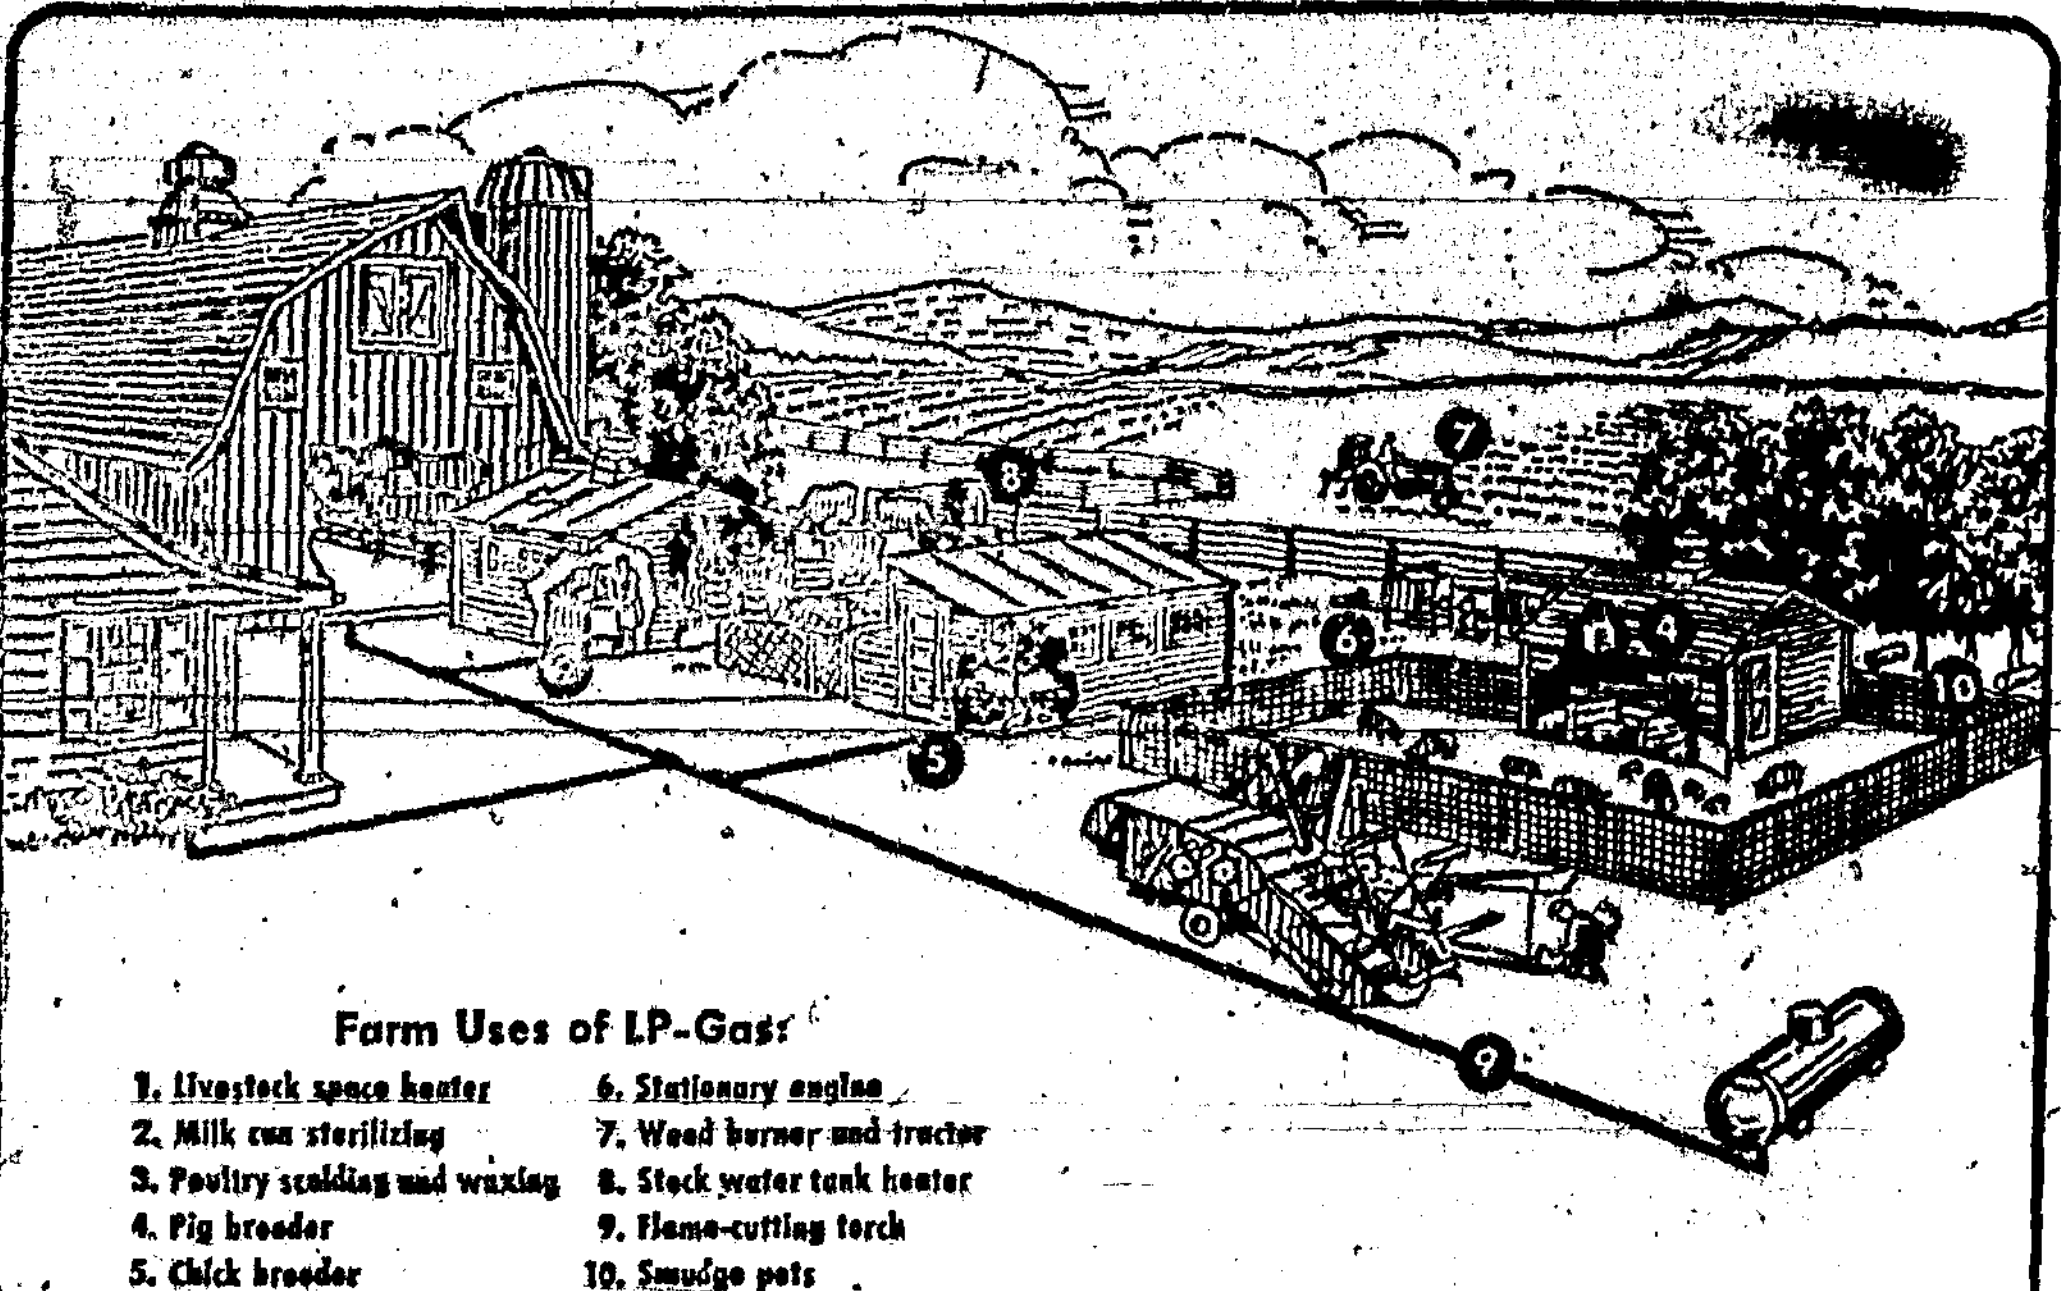

The initial costs—the expense a veteran must meet before he moves in—includes many items in addition to that down payment, the veteran will discover, VA advises.

These are usually lumped together, commonly known as "closing costs", and can run into a respectable sum. They include, for example, an appraisal fee, cost of title search, or title insurance, to make sure ownership will be free and clear, except for the new mortgage, and a fee for recording the mortgage.

In addition, there are certain costs to the lender in making the loan. If not paid item by item, they may be lumped into a single charge equal to one per cent of the loan amount, or $100 on a $10,000 loan.

Then, there will be premiums on insurance for protection against fire and other hazards; and the veteran may also have to pay part of the first year's prop-

'Private Gas Well' Does Variety of Farm Jobs

Although most farms are located beyond city gas mains, they can now have their own "backyard gas well" to supply fuel for a wide variety of important jobs. Liquefied petroleum gas is delivered to the central supply system. Stored as a liquid, the fuel changes to its gaseous state when used. Large amounts of LP-gas (butane, propane, bottled or tank gas) can be stocked because one volume of liquid expands to about 270 volumes of gas. The fuel is also used by millions of farm families to operate modern household appliances, including automatic ranges, water heaters, clothes dryers, incinerators, refrigerators and heating plants.

Mrs. Mulkey Looking for Copy of "Maverick"

By MRS. R. E. MULKEY

I sincerely thank each one who helped me win first place in the recent Lincoln County News Subscription Contest. I am still looking for new subscribers, and I will be glad to send in your subscription or renewal subscription at any time. I will also appreciate you giving me news items each week, and I wish to thank those who have been giving me news, as the more Corona news we have the more we will look forward to getting our paper each week.

I would like to have one or two copies of Corona, or about old times at Corona, each week. Do you know an unusual fact? Come in and tell us about it.

Is there any one around Corona (or elsewhere) who can tell me where to find an old copy of the "THE CORONA MAVERICK", a newspaper printed at Corona by Homer Stewart, about 1920?

My brother, G. C. Brown, who lived to be a bank in Corona called the Stockman's State Bank. It was located in the DuBois Drug Store building which was torn down in 1952. It was used as a bank building until it was torn down. It was used as a bank building until it was torn down.

Next week: Some future costs of home ownership and "Contract Clauses" to examine.

Maestro on "The Railroad Hour"

Corona Dragon, musical director of NBC's popular "The Railroad Hour" organized his first orchestra when he was a student at San Jose State Teachers College—and he never did become a teacher! The talented conductor, who is also an arranger and composer, left college to join bandman Meredith Wilson—and with the full consent of his family, since the Dragon's favorite family hobby had always been weekly home musical sessions, with each member alternating on as many as three different instruments. Now married to a former singer and raising his own family, Carmen is pretty sure some of his youngsters will inherit his love of music, since the melodic atmosphere at the Dragon's includes a large, professionally equipped studio, where the versatile Mr. D. does his "homework" on arrangements and scores for "The Railroad Hour."

still contains the old bank vault. W. R. Lovelace says he used to ride horzaback through Corona when not one building was here. Only the lake, which is south-east of the railroad track. The lake was always full of water at that time (about 1900) and before that, and many ranchers in this area brought their stock—sheep, cattle and horses—to water them at the lake.

HONDO VALLEY SCHOOL NOTES

It doesn't take a big school to receive high honors and recognition. This was proved on April 25 when members of Supt. Monte's biology class and Mr. Hamilton's general science group attended the Science Fair in Socorro at the New Mexico School of Mining and Technology.

Of the 102 exhibits from 23 schools, of which 20 received A rating. Those received six, Carlisbad 3, Hondo 2.

Delta Joiner received an A rating for her Desert Scene, and the Biology class was rated A for its Seed Pictures; both projects receiving certificates of achievement in the Senior division.

Proddle Titsworth received a B rating and a Certificate of Achievement for his exhibit of the annual rings on a tree to designate its age.

In the B Divisions, Cathedral and Taos led, and Hondo tied for third with other schools, with Victor Trujillo rating a B for his construction of a small sun dial. The textile painting rated C.

The students were all guests of the College overnight, the boys bunking in the dormitories and the girls with families of the faculty. Kay Taylor and Emeline Brady were special guests of Dr. and Mrs. Workman, President of the School of Mining and Technology.

RECEIVE SCHOLARSHIPS

Francito Polaco was the recipient of the Ford Foundation Scholarship this year and will enter the University of New Mexico in September. Orlando Pacheco, Pat Sanchez and Willie Gomez have the unusual distinction of being awarded a Fabian Garcia Scholarship each from New Mexico A. & M. College, and all are planning to enter school there in the fall. Orlando also received a scholarship to which he is entitled as valedictorian of his class. Serilia Sanchez received a scholarship from Eastern New Mexico University, and is now enrolling for the fall term.

ADDITIONAL AWARDS GIVEN THIS YEAR

In addition to the usual awards given at commencement this year, three new ones have been added. The Arlon Award will be given in music by the Band Boosters' Club, and for the outstanding contribution to the art work of school publications, an Art Award will be presented. Under the auspices of the American Association of Teachers of Spanish and Portuguese, the Espana Award will be given to a student of second year Spanish who will be rated on his ability to translate literary Spanish into English.

REGULAR MONTHLY FACULTY MEETING HELD

Most of the time at the regular faculty meeting on April 16 was devoted to the selection of the grade school textbooks for the 1953-54 school year. Through careful planning it is hoped that all elementary textbooks will be uniform just as quickly as it is possible to replace them. Salary schedules, which were drawn up at a recent budget meeting in Carrizozo, and teachers are able to figure approximately the salaries to be paid them next year.

A large and appreciative audience heard Mr. Keller from the University at Albuquerque give his harpsichord concert at the Old Courthouse last Sunday afternoon. A group including Mrs. and Mrs. C. E. Walter, Mrs. Janice Connors, Harry Taylor and his mother, Mrs. McGee, and several others, drove up from Roswell. Others came from Carrizozo, Hondo, Pecos and other neighboring places.

It was, indeed, a wonderful treat. The Boylans are to be congratulated for having arranged this musical entertainment for us.

Mrs. Maurilda McGrew and three girl friends from Portales spent the week-end with Mrs. Annie Ramey and attended the concert.

Ruth Penfield was here from El Paso for the week-end and she, too, attended the concert.

Mrs. Annie Ramey, Mrs. Jeff Dockray and Dixie Dockray went to Roswell today.

The John Davis family, who were formerly of the Old Court House here in Lincoln, came from Albuquerque Saturday evening. John had to leave Monday morning, but Caroline, Chris and Julie stayed for a week's visit with the many friends they have up and down the valley.

The Lincoln School plans to have their annual school picnic at Ruidoso Friday.

Joe Gallegos, grandson of Mrs. J. G. Garcia, has been visiting here. Joe graduates from the Ruidoso High School this year.

Mrs. Dan Giles is the proud owner of two sets of twin lambs.

The Smelter Sales family went to Roswell last Saturday to do some shopping.

GMC Truck Dealers Promote Hiway Safety

More than 2,200 GMC truck dealers throughout the nation are promoting highway safety in a year-round campaign directed at truck drivers and owners, with special emphasis in May, the "National Vehicle Safety Check" month. It was announced by E. C. Woodhouse, General Sales Manager (trucks) of the GMC Truck and Coach Division.

Through the use of four-color wall and window posters, safety slogan slips for the dealer service shops, a summary of I. C. C. regulations on truck inspection and maintenance and other vital displays, GMC truck dealers are urging truck owners to periodically check their trucks and thus check accidents, Woodhouse said.

At the close of the business part of the meeting coffee and cake were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Marie Pacheco and Mrs. Pearl Bonnell.

GIRLS AND BOYS STATE REPRESENTATIVES CHOSEN

News and Views From Your Nation's Capitol

By JOHN J. DEMPSEY
Congressman from New Mexico

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 6.—While the Senate has been embroiled in the three weeks' battle over the tideland issue, which bids fair to wreck the plans of the Congressional majority for an early adjournment of the first session of the Eighty-third Congress, the House of Representatives has been wading into the 1954 appropriation bills with apparent determination to perform major surgery on the budget requests made by the various departments.

The action of the House in cutting back by 60 per cent the appropriations requested by 24 agencies including the Independent Offices money measure and its cut of 80 million dollars from the $485,000,000 sought by Interior Secretary McKay for the operation of that department, indicated clearly that a serious effort is being made to balance the budget.

If similar reductions are made in other appropriation bills, still to come up, there is good reason to believe that the drive for a reduction in individual income taxes and the elimination of at least some of the more inequitable excise taxes will be successful. The hopes of those of us in Congress who are seeking this tax reduction were heightened by the report of the Bureau of Internal Revenue that total tax collections for 1952 were slightly in excess of $68,500,000,000.

Based on the economic surveys available at this time, there is every indication that the government income from taxes in 1953 will not be less than that figure.

In my judgment, this will make possible not only a balanced budget, but a lightening of the heavy tax burden now carried by the citizens of this nation. Of course, one undetermined factor is the amount to be found necessary for the defense and the mutual security-foreign aid programs. If the conferences which have been underway among administration leaders result in the elimination of waste and ill-advised spending for defense and foreign aid, there should be a material reduction in the amount Congress will be asked to appropriate for those items in other words, if the same treatment is accorded the foreign nations that is being given to our people with regard to appropriations, there is no reason why the Congress cannot find the way for the nation to live within its income.

It is gratifying to note that the Congress appears to have reached the conclusion that the policy of government agencies to spend all they can get and get all they can from the taxpayers is against the public interest and must be stopped. There is every indication that waste and reckless spending are on the way out.

NEW MEXICO GETS FAIR TREATMENT

Although appropriations for Bureau of Reclamation operations in '54 were reduced to $133,000,000 from a total of $177,000,000 requested by Secretary of Interior McKay, projects underway in New Mexico were accorded fair treatment by the House and its Appropriations Committee. It appears that the long-time efforts to educate Congress to the necessity for a sound reclamation program in the western states has borne fruit.

Included in the House-approved appropriation for the Bureau of Reclamation were items of $11,580,000 for continuation of the channelization of the Rio Grande and $1,000,000 for further construction work on the Vermejo irrigation project. The House recognized the argument made by the New Mexico delegation that failure to provide funds at this critical period in the construction of those projects would result in the loss of the major portion of the money already invested in them by the Federal government.

Reclamation Bureau officials estimate that with the funds thus made available, 60 miles of the Rio Grande—north of Elephant Butte will have been channelized by June 30, 1954. By the end of June of this year, 44 miles of main channeling will be completed. For this work, $4,025,000 has been appropriated. The new appropriation will provide for 10 miles of additional main channeling, as well as 18 miles of additional ditch work.

That the money appropriated for this project is a sound investment rather than an expenditure, is borne out by the fact that conservative estimates by the Reclamation Bureau are that the work done by June 30, this year, will result in saving 50,000 acre-feet of water that has been lost in the salt cedar swamps annually heretofore. The channeling to be done under the new appropriation, it is estimated, will save an additional 12,000 acre-feet.

When the work provided for by the new appropriation is completed—most of it to be done in the Middle Rio Grande district—there will remain approximately 50 miles of the river unchannelized. Much of this must await completion of the Jemez and Chamita dams. When the entire channelization is complete, it is estimated that more than 100,000 acre-feet of water that has been wasted annually will be saved. This means sufficient water will be conserved to fulfill the terms of the treaty with Mexico and the compact with Texas, both of which have been wounding undue hardship on New Mexico water users.

For a few minutes Monday evening Carrizozo admirers of William Jennings Bryan, Secretary of State, had an opportunity to bask in his pleasant smiles. The distinguished Secretary was on his way to Washington, D. C., from California. The Outlook reporter failed to get an interview on the Jap question, which occasioned the Secretary's visit to California.

BELLS OF SANTA FE

By WM. FELTER

The bells are ringing at Santa Fe To a changing world that is torn by doubt, A message to pause a while and pray, In silvery tones the bells ring out . . . And I must be up in the hills and away Though the bells are ringing in Santa Fe.

Through the centuries those bells have rung— A paean of faith they call on In the joyous chime of silvery tongue! The sweetest story the world has known . . . But I must be up in the hills and away While the bells are chiming in Santa Fe.

Large Audience at Old Courthouse Concert

More than a hundred persons filled the old courtroom in Lincoln Sunday afternoon to hear the harpsichord concert played by Walter Keller, associate professor of music at the University of New Mexico.

Mr. Keller began his program with an informal talk on the history and mechanics of the harpsichord and gave brief historical notes on the 17th and 18th Century music which he played.

Mr. Keller was pleased with the excellent acoustics of the old courtroom—its high wood ceiling and thick adobe walls gave carrying power to the small instrument that would not be possible ordinarily in such a large room.

The harpsichord concert was presented by the Old Lincoln County Memorial Commission as another of the special events arranged for residents of southeast New Mexico.
