LINCOLN COUNTY IN BYGONE YEARS

20 Years Ago

(From the files of the Lincoln County News, Friday, November 3, 1933.)
Mmes. C. A. Branum and Frank Adams of Carrizozo spent last Friday with Mrs. John Straley.

Messrs. T. E. Kelley and Jess Roberts of Carrizozo and Harry Baugh of Garden City, Kans., each killed a black bear since the season opened. Hunters Slim Bute and John and Fred Dale of Ancho were unsuccessful in their bear hunt in the Capitan Mountains.

The recent Lincoln County Fair netted $505.31, after all expenses were paid.

Several local residents found their gates had been taken off the hinges after the usual Halloween activities of youngsters.

Messrs. Scott and Orville Garrison of Lovington arrived Saturday to go big game hunting with their brother, Jess Garrison.

Playing in a piano recital given by Mrs. T. E. Kelley, were Thelma Shaver, Leslye Cooper, Marion Joyce, Betty Beck, Helen Sloan, Dorothy Jones, Jane Gallacher, Ines Ward, Finkle Ruth Skinner, Mark Sloan, Zane Harkey, Helen Mae Young, Ruth Kelley and Francis Green.

George Tompkins of Jicarilla went to White Oaks last week to have a new set of wheels put on his mail hack. He is soliciting trade up to 1000 lbs. from Ancho.

An auto passed through Jicarilla a few days ago. It is not a rare sight to see here nowadays, but it takes courage to venture the rugged ascent of Juggler. A Mr. French was accompanied by ladies from Carrizozo.

The death of J. E. Snell in Alamogordo last week was reported to have been caused from a kick by a colt as he was taking care of stock at his home in the south part of town.

Mr. Sifton, chief engineer at Ft. Stanton, received the sad news of the death of an only brother last Saturday in Mississippi.

Las Cruces Mortician Elected to Fellowship in International Order

(Special to the News)—Ray L. Fulmer of the Fulmer Memorial Mortuary in Las Cruces, was recently selected for fellowship in to an international affiliation of morticians, known as The Order Of The Golden Rule. This membership was made possible by recommendation of the people in the Las Cruces area.

The Order has a membership which, literally extends around the world, including Great Britain, New Zealand, Australia, India, Canada and Mexico, and has been in existence for more than a quarter of a century. The motto of the Order is "Service Measured Not By Gold, But By The Golden Rule."

According to the organization's announcement it is considered a genuine distinction to be accepted into the fellowship of the Order, since only morticians of the upmost standards in the mortuary profession can obtain this distinction.

Mr. Fulmer was formerly associated with the Kelley Funeral Home here in Carrizozo. He is a nephew of J. H. Fulmer.

How Long To Stop Car Traveling 40 Mph?

"One of the major causes of fatal accidents is the lack of knowledge drivers have of the natural laws which govern the motion of their vehicle" according to Charles E. Dunwiddie, Director of the Traffic Section of the Governor's Traffic Safety Co-ordinating Committee. Dunwiddie, basing his statement on the results of tests given by the Committee at the State Fair this year, said that the questions most often missed by those taking the tests involved information which if misapplied, could well lead to a serious accident.

The question which stumped the greatest number, asked whether a car traveling 40 miles an hour, under ideal conditions, could stop within 50 feet. "A booming no is the answer," said Dunwiddie, "as it takes 76 feet to stop the car and to that distance must be added the number of feet covered during the time elapsing in moving the foot from the accelerator to the brake pedal." Dunwiddie added that these figures were based on scientific testing and not on speculation.

his company has adopted to hide the identity of its local patrons. According to instructions, a patron, calling central, should give the number desired, but patrons don't like to do that as the Carrizozo numbers are sandwiched in a directory that requires a microscope to locate them.

Finis Atkinson of Corona has just made a delivery of lambs and will go to south Texas for the winter.

SOCORRO RANCHER BUILDS OWN COFFIN; DIES AT 103

SOCORRO—Domingo Valles, a rancher for many years in northern Socorro County, died in town October 16 at the age of 103. Valles finished making his coffin and then lived on another five years. When asked, several years ago, why he was building his own coffin, he replied, "If I'm going anywhere from here, I want to go in dignity." Mr. Valles retired around his 70th year to take up residence with a daughter in Belen.

30% JUMP IN STATE'S POPULATION IN 10 YEARS?

Lawrence T. Greiner, Pacific Coast manager for the B. F. Goodrich Company, predicts that New Mexico will experience nearly a 30% increase in population in the current decade over the past decade. A significant feature of the increase in population is that it will be most marked in two age groups. The school age group will increase by 35% and the older age group by 30%. However, the producing group those from 21 to 65, will increase only about 9%.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

A CORRECTION

Editor, News:
I would like for you to make a correction on the film shown in Ruidoso to the Mounted Patrol members, Troop No. 5, of the "Alaskan bear hunt" taken by Messrs. Hedgecoke, Gann and Brown on a hunting trip last spring.

The film was not shown by Patrolmen Eddie Apodaca of Carrizozo and Bill Driggers of Green Tree. It was shown by one of the bear hunters himself—Coke Hedgecoke, who did a splendid job.

After all give the men out of uniform a chance. You don't have to be a State Patrolman to go on a bear hunt, or show a movie of it, after you have taken it yourself.

IN MEMORIAM OF CARRIE AND TOM STRALEY

(By M. Risinger)
Into God's beautiful garden of life His Messenger goes each day, To gather the choicest blossoms And bear them with Him away.

Dear Master, our garden is lonely, We miss these flowers so rare, But their life perfumes will be with us while the flowers bloom up there.

There is no death; the stars go down To rise upon some fairer shore, And bright in Heaven's jeweled crown They shine forever more.

We'll not forget them, we who stay To work a little longer here; Their name, their faith, their love shall be On memory's tablet, bright and clear.

We saw not the lift of the curtain; We saw not the invisible hand, But we know the portals opened And sometime we'll understand.

Fire Alarm Interrupts Round Table Session

The Round Table Club met at the home of Mrs. Jim Howard, with ten of their dozen members present. There were also two guests, Mrs. L. H. Cummins and Mrs. Howard Coleman (nee Jane Provine). After the usual sumptuous dinner a program of "The Beauties of October" was given by Mrs. L. D. Merchant.

The business meeting was rather short but members responded to roll call with some snappy "quotes." The fire alarm broke up the sewing session, but we are happy to say no great damage was done. We have an efficient fire force.

Good excuses for not being present were given by Mrs. Titsworth, who went to OES in Albuquerque, and Lorene Ferguson, who said she was doing a job of carpentering.

Mr. and Mrs. Dee Hickman are back from a trip to Durant, Oklahoma, visiting Mrs. Hickman's parents. They were accompanied by Mrs. Adda Sellers, who visited her brother in Tishamingo and her son, Ervin, in Antlers, Okla. Mrs. Hickman's sister from Oregon and her brother of Durant, came home with the Hickmans for a visit.

Mrs. Travis Werner and Mrs. Frank Titsworth went to Fortales last Saturday to visit their son and daughter, Johnny Werner and Marjorie Titsworth.

"TRIP OF MONTH" DESCRIBES MAL PAIS

The "Trip of the Month" feature in the November issue of New Mexico magazine describes the lava flow at Carrizozo.

Betty Woods, who conducts the Trip column, writes that geologists think this is the most recent flow in the United States.

"One of the fascinating things about the lava is the evidence of its awful withering movement as it crept relentlessly over the land," the article states.

"Perhaps the most interesting phenomenon of the lava is the animal life. The mice are dark brown or black. The same species a few miles away at White Sands are light-gray and white. This is also true of bugs and lizards; in the Sands, nature has whitewashed them. But here in the Mal Pais site has lacquered them dark brown and black. These tiny creatures are the only things that haven't been conquered by the lava. They have taken it over by adapting themselves to it."

STORY OF NOAH

And he repented that he had made man on the earth, and it grieved him at his heart" Gen. 6:11, 12). In the midst of this general corruption and violence stood one man.

He stood not with, but against it. He grieved over it, he protested against it. He plead with the people to turn from their wickedness. Let any man stand up against the sins of his generation and against their derelictions, and he will be branded as a crank. No one can stand against the world and yet stand in with the world.

Noah was not a visionary dreamer. He saw the danger of the present. He saw the uncleanness of the cities and the wickedness and their present danger. He was not dealing with future perils, but with present problems.

It is high time that we should be like Noah and concern ourselves with some of the present problems of the world. It is unfair to our fellowmen to dangle a future hope that has no promise of present relief.

Noah was not a bombastic reactionary. His name means "rest" and it suggests that he was a quiet man. They expected no opposition from him. They expected that he would loyally follow their plans. They planned on his ploy to profit them, and expected his prayers to bring them good. Yet this man stood out — a solitary figure against a multitude.

Noah is a supreme example of a man who conquered his circumstances. Let us inquire into these circumstances and the conquest Noah made of them. (To Be Continued)

AROUND TOWNS

Mrs. Clara Bell returned Friday night from two weeks' trip to Kenosha, Wis., where she visited her son, Don Bell and family. She reports Wisconsin was having perfect Indian Summer weather while she was there.

Angus Peebles, San Angelo show horse trainer, was an overnight visitor at the Lewis Farris home last Thursday. He is a brother-in-law of Mrs. Farris.

The families of Wendell Watson and John McCollum moved this week into the houses that have been made ready for occupancy by Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Bell.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom High, daughter Ruth and grandson Jerry, were overnight guests last week at the Charlie Peebles ranch at Alto. Mr. High came to Lincoln County in 1900 and was employed at the famous V ranch. In 1905 he married Miss Lucy Wylder, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. F. M. Wylder of Capitán. Their honeymoon trip was in a covered wagon to Walters, Okla., where they have made their home ever since. The Highs are looking forward to returning here to attend one of the Ranchmen's Camp Meetings on Nogal Mesa.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Peebles were in Carrizozo Monday. Mrs. Peebles became a patient at the Carrizozo hospital for treatment for an ear infection.

Ed Guck, one of the lucky ones to get an antelope permit, has been hunting this week.

Temperature dipped to 28 degrees Sunday night on Nogal Mesa, it was reported this week.

Howell D. Spear of Lovington, who practiced law here in 1931, was visiting local attorneys on Tuesday.

Mrs. Winnie Robinson of Las Cruces is visiting her sister, Mrs. Ann Veazy, and other relatives. Mrs. Beula Hartley of Las Cruces, is in Carrizozo visiting her mother, Mrs. Anna Brazel, and her sisters, Mrs. C. A. Snow of Carrizozo, and Mrs. Champ Ferguson of Capitán.

Carrizozo, along with other towns in the county, will be a Mecca for deer hunters next week. Many parties of sportsmen are making reservations at local tourist courts and motels.

A number of local teachers, including Paul Page, H. Lee Miller and Supt. R. G. Firman, attended the teachers convention in Alamogordo Monday night.

"How is your wife getting along with her reducing diet?" "Fine. She disappeared completely last week."

The judge was remonstrating with Washington T. Lincoln over an arrearage in his alimony payments. "Well, judge," says Washington, "I reckon as I behind on do payments . . . but you see, judge, mah new wife ain't turned out to be de worker ah tho' she was gwine to be."

RECORD USE OF FERTILIZER IN NEW MEXICO IN 1952

Fertilizer use in New Mexico reached a new high in 1952, when 22,713 tons of commercial fertilizer were sold in the state. This was 2750 tons more than was sold in 1951 and more than six times as much as was sold ten years ago, in 1942.

INSIDE THE CAPITAL

(Continued from Page 1) Wise, the governor runner, says he waited until 1948 before registering to vote. He did then, he said, because he wanted to vote in the presidential election. Dick Westaway, another eastside governor hopeful, has been in the Eddy county assessor's office since 1925, alternating every four years with Mrs. Westaway. . . . The embryo of a state printing plant is being set up in the basement of the statehouse by the purchasing agent. It will provide "duplicating" services for all state offices. That usually starts off with mimeographing and winds up in a full-fledged print shop. . . . Glenn Emmons, the Republican Indian commissioner, has been in the job more than three months and hasn't made a single change in his top staff.

LOVINGTON SENATOR HAS BROAD APPEAL

Another one who apparently has no designs on the governor's office but who is getting rather serious consideration is State Sen. Jack Danglede of Lovington. He has reportedly renounced all thoughts of succeeding Ed Mechem as governor and is reportedly a prospect for United States senator if an opening ever develops, but there are still a lot of Democrats who would like to put him up for the State job. Like Simms, he would imperil the Democratic prospects, moving in on a setup that has already been arranged for his fellow Las Cruces resident, Leroy Wise. And Danglede, a wealthy oil operator, banker and businessman is sort of a Texas-type Democrat who might not fit the pattern and platform of the "Demo" campaign of 1954.

The possibility that observers are still watching is that Danglede might come out as primary candidate for senator next year. There hasn't been any recent indication that he would oppose Our-Club-for-the-nomination-but-it-is-still-remembered-that-he-came-up-to-the-legislature this year heralded as the eastside's choice for U. S. senator in 1954. Danglede does have a lot of class. With the right kind of support from the party he could make a strong run for either governor or senator, but so far he doesn't seem to be inclined.

PAIR OF JUDGES STILL IN PICTURE

Still in the Democratic gubernatorial picture are a pair of supreme court justices from the eastside who have made a lot of political admirers in the north end of the State but who have not developed any enthusiasm in their home areas.

They are Justice Cleve Compton of Clovis and Justice Jim McGhee of Roswell. Either would accept the nomination like a 40-year-old widow accepting a proposal of marriage, but the help they need from home has not been forthcoming. Both have earned $500 a month State retirement pay so that they could run without risking too much. Both have support up in this end of the State, but they have generated no enthusiasm at all in their Clovis or Roswell areas.

Another one who has begun to get some notice from the politicians is Burton Dwyre of Silver City, the former highway engineer who has been telling that he would accept the hardship of being governor. Like the other early starters Dwyre was pretty much ignored at first but is now getting some consideration.

The problem before the Democrats who have votes enough to elect a popular nominee for governor is to find a popular nominee.

DON'T OVERLOAD

YOUR FARM MOTOR

Electric motors seldom wear out in ordinary farm service. Those that fall usually are burned out because of overheating from overloading the motor or because of low-voltage conditions.

Correct lubrication of motor bearings is essential; don't over lubricate. Excessive oil and grease harm motor windings and may put excessive pressure on the bearings. Many pieces of modern farm equipment have sealed bearings and require no lubrication; follow manufacturer's directions.

A one-fourth horsepower split motor draws 2 1/2 amperes of current when started but only 5 amperes when running under load. Obviously, the ordinary fuse of sufficient capacity to permit the motor to start will give little protection when this motor is overloaded with more than 6 amperes or at under-voltage conditions.

Protect motors by using a delay fuse or some type of overload device that has heat element control as a safety shut-off. Motor circuit breakers meeting these requirements are available at low cost; connect them into the circuit in the immediate vicinity of the motor.

These devices permit the motor to start without endangering it by overloading. The cost of such a time-delay overload and under voltage protection is only a fraction of the cost of rewinding a motor.

Such protection, even on smaller farm and household motors, is worthwhile.
