

New Chevrolet to Be Introduced Dec. 18

DETROIT, MICH., Dec. 7.—Chevrolet introduces its 1934 model passenger cars Friday, December 18.

More than 7,000 retail dealers nationally will display a variety of body styles in events that range from annual open houses to elaborate entertainment programs.

The showings come near the close of one of the company's most successful years. A statement by W. E. Fish, general sales manager, reported 1933 retail sales will be topped only by the record-breaking volume of 1930, once again out-selling all other automotive makes.

Fish described the new models as "greatly improved" and "fit successors to the cars that have led the industry in sales for 18 of the last 19 years."

"This is a record of popularity," he pointed out, "that can be matched by few products of any kind in the last quarter century's highly competitive American markets."

The dealer exhibits will be held simultaneously across the country and follow the 1933 pattern when two days instead of one were designated for "announcement showings."

Introductions will benefit from a broadscale advertising program which the company plans to continue throughout the year.

Careful Driving Best Accident Prevention

Neither legislation nor any government agency can make our highways safe, according to Manuel Lujan, Commissioner of the Bureau of Revenue and also a member of the Governor's Traffic Safety Co-ordinating Committee.

"The driver alone can assure highway safety for himself by following traffic laws, and by anticipating traffic situations which may arise," said the Commissioner. He added, "When I see a driver cross a yellow line on the highway, I think 'there goes a fool', for he must know that he is risking his life and innocent lives in other cars by his action, and only a fool would do that."

The Commissioner added that drivers are not aware that they are constantly inches from death when passing another vehicle on the highway. A very slight deviation of the wheel by either driver and a serious accident is the result.

Lujan said that "Let's Both Live" is a very good slogan for the current safety campaign, because only you and the other driver can prevent involvement of your cars in an accident.

Couple's Anniversary Celebration Recalls Early Days in This State

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Brown Parker of Hermosa Beach, Calif., celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary there Sunday, Nov. 29. Joining them were 20 members of their family.

The Parkers were residents of White Oaks in the early days. An account of their lives in New Mexico was printed in a recent issue of a Redondo Beach newspaper. It follows:

Mr. Parker has had an interesting and colorful life as a consulting mining engineer. A western pioneer, he survived the revolution in Mexico, outwitted the bandits in Mazatlan and experienced the rigors of mining in Alaska. He was born in New York State, 82 years ago, and lived there and in St. Louis until his father became interested in mining and decided to bring his family west. In 1881 the family came as far west as Las Vegas by train, then proceeded 175 miles through Indian-infested wastelands by buggy and buckboard to the thriving mining center of White Oaks, N. M., where the family lived for some years.

Mrs. Parker was born in Wisconsin, coming west in 1888. The terminus of the railroad at that time was San Antonio, N. M., and there the family spent the night in a small hotel owned by the father of Conrad Hilton. The first stage coach going through could carry only a couple of additional passengers, so part of the family had to wait for the next stage coach to take them to their destination, at White Oaks.

Corona Student Pledge To H. U. Fraternity

LAS VEGAS, N. M., Dec. 7.—Jimmy Bryan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Bryan, of Corona, was pledged to Kappa Theta fraternity on Highlands University campus, following rushing activities held recently.

Jimmy is enrolled at Highlands as a freshman majoring in mathematics and woodwork and minor in science.

Only one motor road crosses the 180th meridian of longitude, the International Date Line. It lies on Taveuni Island in the Fiji.

STATE LEADERS

Mrs. Parker's family later became identified with New Mexican history, since when this territory became a state in 1912, her step-father and mother moved into the Executive Mansion as Governor and "first lady" of the new state.

In 1893 Mr. and Mrs. Parker were married and the greater part of their early married life was spent in isolated mining camps, where many times Mrs. Parker was the only woman. Mr. Parker became identified with mining interests in Mexico, and at one time was associated with Jimmy Douglas, manager of one of the Phelps-Dodge properties, whose son, Lewis, recently was U. S. ambassador to England.

During the revolution in Mexico, in an effort to get out of the country, Mr. Parker was captured by the Yaqui Indians. Another time, while on an examination trip down the western coast of Mexico, he hid within a carbox of bandits who were raiding his camp, hoping to find him to hold him for ransom. During the night he was carried by the natives through the jungle to a canoe which was paddled down the river to safety.

Again, when he contracted the dread mountain fever, he was put on the back of a mule and carried 150 miles over mountainous terrain to civilization.

Before Pancho Villa became famous he worked for Mr. Parker as chief muleteer, being responsible for transporting all the heavy mining machinery over the treacherous mountain trails.

Mexico's easternmost point, in the state of Quintana Roo, is slightly east of Chicago.

A. T. & T. to Construct Overseas Phone Cable

History was made today when the Long Lines Department of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. announced plans to construct the first telephone cable system across the Atlantic Ocean. It will be by far the longest overseas voice cable in the world and the first laid at depths found in mid-ocean.

The announcement stated that an agreement had been signed for construction of the cable by A. T. & T. Co., the British Post Office, which organization provides telephone service in Great Britain, and the Canadian Overseas Tele-communication Corporation, which furnishes overseas communications for Canada. It will be owned jointly by these three organizations.

Simultaneous announcements were made by the appropriate agencies in Great Britain and Canada.

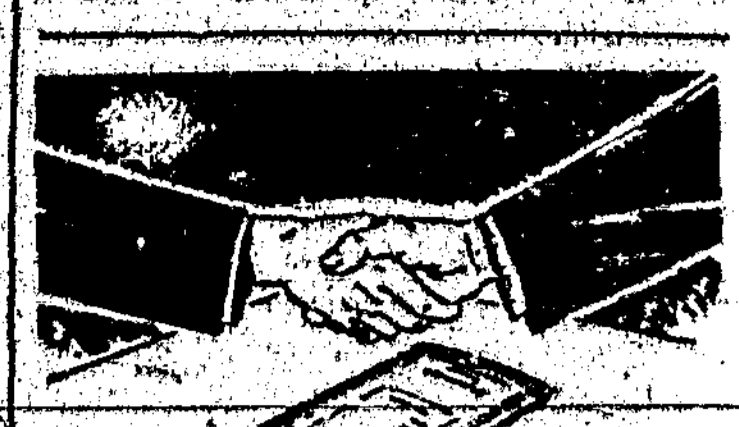

Development and research work on such a cable has been going on for 25 years. The project will take three years to complete at a cost of $35,000,000.

This cable will mean greater reliability in transatlantic telephone conversations and greatly expand facilities. It will provide physical telephone connections between the United States and the British Isles to supplement radio circuits now in use, and will have three times present circuit capacity.

Like old oil rags in a closet, some cargoes of raw wool ignite spontaneously in transit unless natural oils are thoroughly washed out before shipment.

Non-magnetic mine sweepers built entirely of wood are now important units in the U. S. Navy. They are an essential part of the defense against magnetic mines.

There was only one death during the famous 31-man Lewis and Clark expedition to the West 150 years ago, says the National Geographic Society. That fatality resulted not from wild animals or Indians, but from a "billious colic."

Your Insurance Agent
SERVICES AS WELL AS SELLS

Your property insurance agent is more than a salesman. His performance is an important service throughout the life of each policy he delivers to you.

When your insurable values increase or decrease, your local agent is at hand to adjust your coverage promptly. When new and improved types of coverage become available, your agent keeps you informed, demonstrates what they mean in terms of your own protection program. When unexpected hazards develop, he shows you how to meet them through application of the right type of insurance.

As a professional advisor, your agent does not merely "sell you insurance," he buys insurance protection for you from the companies he represents. And he does this on the most economical basis, consistent with sound underwriting principles.

His job is to be certain that you have adequate protection at all times. It is a local job, handled most effectively by a local insurance agent.

FOR YOUR FLOWER GARDEN

MARIGOLD ORBIT
By LAURE DEAN COLE
This is my first year with this midget and I like it. The small seedlings proved hardy to late spring frosts, hence can be planted extra early. Very dwarf, the plants should stand about three inches apart in the row. If later they begin to crowd, they can be thinned, and the thinnings reset. Seems as easy to transplant as cabbage. Ours began to bud when about two inches tall. The blooms are as big as a medium-sized thimble. Outer petals dark red, inner ones orange color. My biggest had three blooms and was about eight inches high. Seems to thrive best with nearly three-quarters shade. The Marigold Orbit would be a good border plant in spots that get only an hour or two of sun. Also for window boxes on north side. Since an ordinary 14-ounce evaporated milk can is amply big for a mature plant in full bloom, this marigold can bring brightness into cramped quarters. Needs a little more water than a geranium.

Farm and Ranch

NEWS FROM THE COUNTY AGENT

By RALPH DUNLAP

Use Caution When Buying Livestock

If a farmer cannot raise his own replacements, he should be very cautious in selecting animals from other herds. Any new animal brought on the farm is a possible disease carrier. Here are a few tips to farmers who will be purchasing livestock this winter. Several things should be considered along with the animal's pedigree. First, buy only from a reliable dealer or breeder—one who has a good reputation or one who is known to you. Second, examine the animal carefully for evidence of disease or parasites. And look over the rest of the herd. If there is evidence of disease trouble, buy elsewhere. Remember, all breeding cattle over six months of age should be tested for Bang's disease and tuberculosis within 30 days before the date of the sale. Cases have come to the attention of the county agent where this inspection was ignored. Stockmen who buy animals under these questionable conditions are taking a great risk with their herds. Buyers of cattle should not forget to look for signs of other diseases, too. The county agent says to watch particularly for mastitis in cows and trichomoniasis commonly known as "trick" in bulls. If unsure after examination and after looking at the breeding records, call a veterinarian. Livestockmen should isolate their new animals from the rest of the herd for a period of about 30 days. In summing up, the best advice for farmers is to raise their own replacements to avoid bringing infectious diseases onto the farm and to emphasize production factors in the herd improvement program.

Numbers of Beef Cattle Not Likely to Increase in Coming Year

For the first time in five years, production and slaughter of beef cattle in the United States are about equal this year. The number of cattle on the farms and ranches, come January 1, will total about the same as the beginning of 1953. Economists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture expect no sizable change in cattle numbers in 1954. A small increase seems about as likely as a small decrease, but they do not expect a large change in either direction. If the beef supply levels out at near but not above the 1953 output, all things being equal, changes in prices will be governed chiefly by the demand for meat.

As the prospect is for consumer income to average about as high as in 1953, demand for meat should be about as strong. So the economists think prices of beef and cattle may stay about the same in 1954 as in '53—falling to improve much but steadying up after the long slide down in '52 and '53.

Extension Workers Meet at A&M College

More than 100 County Agents and specialists will attend the annual extension conference at New Mexico A&M College Dec. 8-11. Extension Director R. A. Nichols announced. Theme of this year's conference, whose purpose is to inform extension workers of latest research and policies affecting agriculture and home economics in New Mexico: "Extension Progresses." Featured speakers on the conference program include Frank Peck, managing director of the Farm Foundation, Chicago, and president of the A&M College board of regents; Mrs. Earl Powell, past president of the New Mexico Garden Club Federation; and Fred A. Thompson, assistant game warden. During the conference the New Mexico county agents association and the New Mexico Home Demonstration Agents Association will hold their annual meetings and elect officers for the coming year.

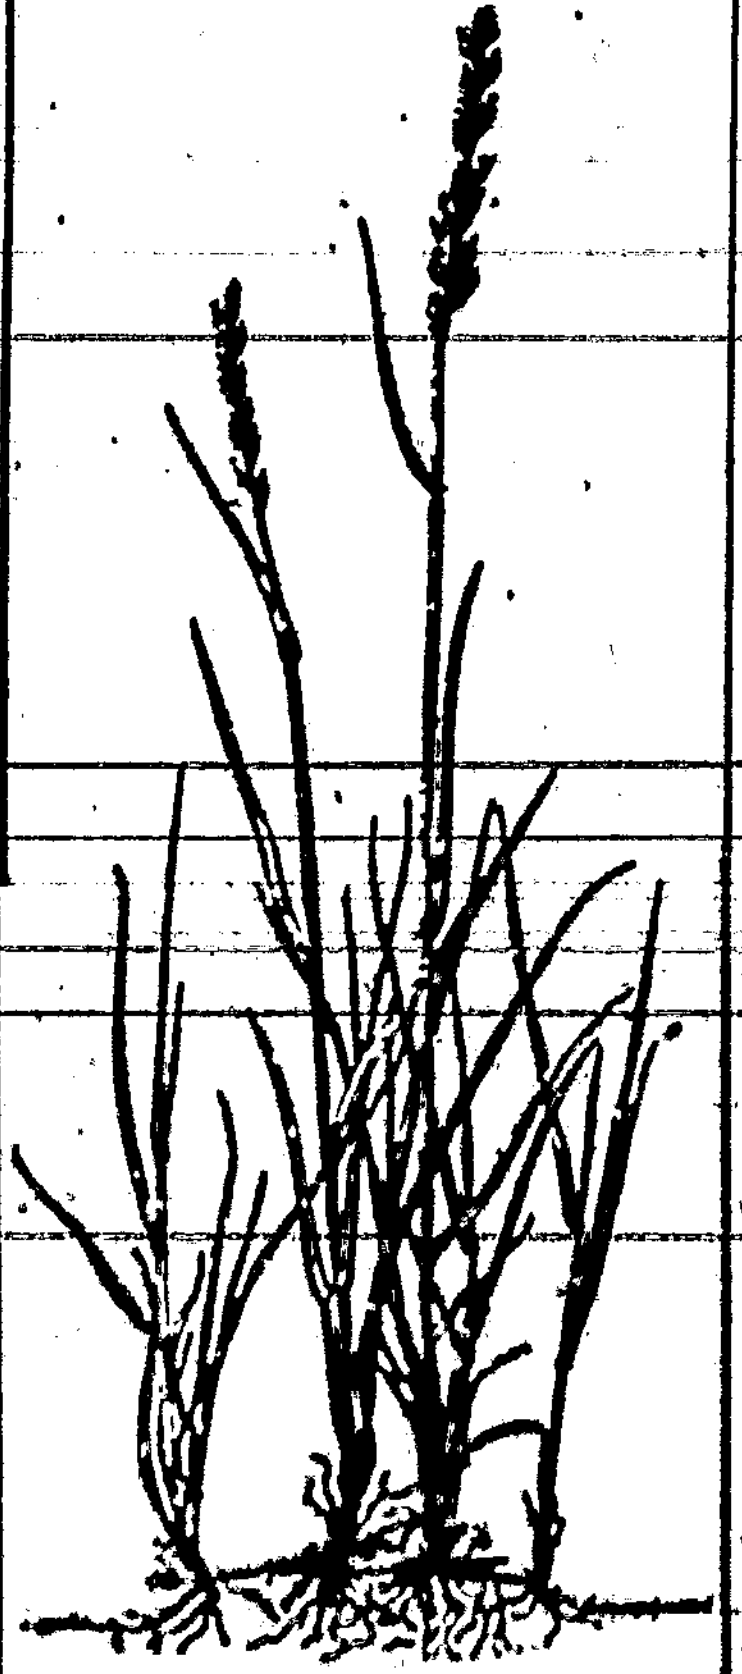

Five N.M. Fleeces Place High in Wool Show

Five New Mexico fleeces placed high in the wool show at the International Livestock Exposition in Chicago last week. The Taylor-Holman Ranch, Mal-jamar, placed first in the one-half blood class, 58's-60's combing. A fleece exhibited by Clyde Marley, Jostwell, placed third in this class. J. P. McKnight, Pecho, exhibited a fleece which took first place in the three-eighths blood class, 56's combing. In the breed classes, a Rambouillet ewe fleece owned by Kenneth Huggins, La Plata, placed second, and a Merino-type ewe fleece shown by the Flying H Ranch, Flying H, placed fourth.

The six New Mexico fleeces which were entered in the International Wool Show made up the second series of out-of-state displays by New Mexico growers. Ten fleeces were sent to the American Royal Livestock Show in Kansas City last month. A third display of 30 fleeces will be shown at the National Western Livestock Show at Denver in January.

RANGE GRASSES

(Continuing a Series on range grasses common to Lincoln Co.)

By S. H. FUCHS.

Western Wheat Grass

Also known as Bluestem and Colorado Bluestem, is one of our most important and valuable native grasses. This drought-resistant grass has the unique feature of staying green through the winter months. It makes its best growth in the spring before other grasses green up. Western Wheatgrass cures out well on the ground and makes very good hay. A wax-like coating on the leaves and stems probably accounts for its ability to remain nutritious much longer than most species.

This perennial grass reproduces itself from seed and underground root stocks. It is of a bluish-green color and prefers adobe soils over others. It may be found on sandy loams. Western Wheat Grass sometimes forms dense patches under ideal conditions; however, it is commonly rather sparsely scattered in mixtures of grasses. It grows at elevations up to 10,000 feet. Ranchers like Western Wheat Grass because it not only adds variety to the animals' diet, but also increases the period grass feed is available to livestock on the range. All kinds of livestock readily eat Western Wheat Grass both summer and winter. It is one of the first grasses to naturally revegetate the abandoned fields in many places. For these reasons ranchers consider it an excellent grass.

Western Wheat Grass should be given more consideration and research will undoubtedly indicate strains which are much better than others. Some seed are available commercially. This native grass is used successfully in conservation work.

Ancient Rome built a road system that stretched from northern Scotland to the Euphrates River in Asia Minor, the National Geographic Society says. Parts of it are still in use.

Junior Class Presents Play "So Help Me"

"So Help Me," the Carrizozo Junior Class play, was well presented last Friday night at the High School auditorium. The play was directed by Raymer Shaw and as a token of the cast's appreciation, he was presented a gift following the last act.

The action centered around a high school boy's (Leroy Nowell) playing "Harry Hart" efforts to earn some much needed coin of the realm by going into business. He finally succeeded, but things looked bad for a time when Landlord Squatters (Sport Harkey) and the Sheriff (Richard Means) paid a call, with Harry's rival (Leroy Sidwell) succeeding in getting his helpers (Norman Crider and Sammy Stidham) to strike for higher wages.

On Harry's side were his mother (Jan Hurley), the coach (Glenn Barnum), his kid sister (Dolores Teague), Harry's sweetheart (Anne Gallacher), the biology teacher (Verna Ruth Petty), an admirer (Agnes Meyers) and the newspaper reporter (Ina Withers). Barbara Mixon was the society-minded "Mrs. Gleason."

with the impressive feat of 30 undefeated games.

The Captain Class C Tigers are veteran winners of State titles. The 1952 football season left them co-titlist for the Class B championship with Lovington. Under the 1952 redistricting and play-off schedule for New Mexico high schools, the Captain school became a Class C competitor under the revision schedule.

The Tigers scored 213 to 12 points for their opponents in the 1951 nine-game schedule. In the ten-game schedule for 1952, the Tigers outscored their opponents 334 to 25. The three-year record of 30 games presents the impressive score of 934 to 88 for the Captain squadmen.

The Tigers began their march for the State Class C crown against Carrizozo. This led them to the Eastern New Mexico University stadium for the bi-district game with the Buffaloes.

from Melrose. The game was played in a pea-coup fog. When the fog lifted the Buffaloes read the 31 to 0 score posted on the scoreboard. The Tigers traveled to western New Mexico to take the Class C title in a 19 to 12 game with the Navajo Mission Eagles.

Wally Ferguson, 150-pound Senior, ended the fourth and most impressive season of his high school football career. Ferguson scored 143 points and threw 14 touchdown passes. He has 23 PAT to his credit for the season and was one of the most versatile players in the Class C league. He was the kickoff man for the Tiger eleven. Brilliant offensive and defensive skills displayed should merit Ferguson a place on the All-State list, as well as a place on the South team. (Roster Continued Next Week)

Score by quarters:
Carrizozo 12 23 38 49
Mountainair 9 13 23 29

The Zoro Beer won 38 to 33. Richard Vega was high with 10. Mountainair's Romero accounted for an equal number of points.
