FT. STANTON BUILDS HEALTH, MORALE

By DAN KUSIANOVICH Business Manager

We at Ft. Stanton deeply appreciate everything our neighbors are doing for the hospital and we know that they will do their best to make the Christmas holidays as happy as possible for our patients.

You should see the beautiful rugs that Indian girls are weaving in the Occupational Therapy department. And it is a treat to watch them work; they are so happy and gay and they sing and whistle and seem to have a wonderful time.

The men, too, do very fine leather work, and they would like to make saddles. Anyone in Lincoln County having a few old stock saddle trees could help by donating the trees to Ft. Stanton.

Other non-Indian patients are also doing some very good occupational therapy work. The girls, naturally, are excellent in embroidery and all types of textile work.

We have a very fine rehabilitation program for our patients, with Earl Simpfons, graduate of Eastern New Mexico University, in charge of the Occupational Therapy Department.

Dr. James J. Barfield, our Medical Superintendent, who is an outstanding authority on the treatment and care of tuberculosis, personally determines the work tolerance of each patient and very carefully supervises their progress and watches over their health.

Alva Simpson, Jr., Welfare Director, and Mrs. Simpson, have donated some beautiful Indian pottery and a large ceremonial drum for a new "visiting" room. Some weeks ago, Mr. Simpson brought some of the finest Indian rugs to be used as wall decorations in the visiting room, hospital vestibule, recreational and dining rooms.

We will have more empty beds than patients on the waiting lists and are wondering whether the people of New Mexico are fully aware of the fact that the finest sanatoria care is available free to all needy residents suffering with tuberculosis.

And we are wondering, too, whether or not everyone knows that tuberculosis is highly contagious or "catching," and that all those infected should be in a sanatorium, not only to cure themselves, but to prevent the infection of others.

Fort Stanton is using all the latest approved drugs and recognized methods of treatment which, with rest and good food, arrests or cures tuberculosis much faster than the "no specific drug" era of ten or twenty years ago.

Farm Bureau Favors State Ownership of Fort Stanton Lands

(The New Mexico Farm and Livestock Bureau, at its annual convention December 2 in Albuquerque, adopted many resolutions affecting the general welfare of the people of New Mexico. In this and subsequent issues the News will print a number of the resolutions.)

Be it resolved that the New Mexico Farm and Livestock Bureau urge the Governor to request the Federal government to turn over to the State as State Institutional lands the Ft. Stanton Hospital lands and all revenues from such lands to be used to support the hospital.

Be it resolved, that since the Egg Inspection Department of New Mexico is self-supporting, and since all money derived from this act shall be used for the purpose of administering and enforcing this law (Section 4, New Mexico Egg Grading Law 1951) the New Mexico Farm & Livestock Bureau requests that the funds of the Egg Inspection Department be made available to the Egg Inspection Department in order to provide for more effective enforcement of the law.

ON WATER DIVERSION

Water developed within a given watershed shall be used exclusively within that watershed, where economically feasible present and potential uses exist.

We feel that extensive Federal programs designed to control erosion in the river basins of New Mexico should not be authorized unless it is demonstrated that such programs will not result in the depletion of the limited water supplies now available to irrigated areas.

We recommend that a program of more extensive research and education pertaining to the conservancy and application of irrigation water be promoted in the State.

We recommend that the New Mexico law applicable to surface water conservancy districts be changed to provide that members of the boards of directors of such districts be elected rather than appointed.

Funeral services were conducted in El Paso at the Harding-Maxon Funeral Home at 11 o'clock Thursday morning for Mrs. Helene Spence, who passed away Monday night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Joe Finley, of Encino, Texas.

Word of her death was received in Carrizozo by Mrs. Elizabeth Sproles, a close friend of the family.

The couple had many relatives in the vicinity of El Paso.

C. P. Huppertz

He is survived by his widow, Clara, and a daughter, Helen Smith, both of Sacramento.

Grace Elizabeth Tyler

Services were conducted in Ancho Tuesday for Grace Elizabeth May Tyler, 76, a retired school teacher who had been making her home with a nephew, Price M. Miller, rancher northeast of Luna.

Miss Tyler was born May 17, 1877, at Cartersville, Mo. Before retiring from teaching, she had devoted 50 years to the public school system of Missouri.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Markham at the Ancho school house. The burial plot is in Ancho cemetery, beside the grave of her father.

Mrs. Sadie Coe King

Relatives and friends will be saddened to hear of the death of Mrs. Sadie Coe Bell King, in Klamath, Oregon.

On December 7 Mrs. King suffered a stroke and was taken to the hospital in Crescent City, where she died two days later, never having regained consciousness.

She was born in Farmington nearly 77 years ago. Later her parents moved to Lincoln County, where she grew up on the Ruidoso, the home now known as the Bonnell Ranch.

She was married to Charles Brown and they lived in Nogal. To this union three sons were born—Clarence, Roy and Fred Brown. The family moved to Mesilla Park where Charles Brown died and her sons were educated. Mrs. Brown mothered the college students for years.

WILL HARRISON'S Inside the Capital

SANTA FE, Dec. 16—Senator Dennis Chavez, who isn't even running, may determine the outcome of New Mexico's big senatorial battle next year which is expected to be fought out by Republican Governor Ed Mechem and Democratic Senator Clinton Anderson.

Chavez is suspected, and there are all kinds of clues lying around to support it, of favoring the Republican over his Democratic colleague. If he feels that way and does anything about it, the scrap has every possibility of developing into a ding-dong battle with no special advantage for either.

Chavez made a mildly favorable comment about Anderson the other day. He predicted that he could beat any Republican, Mechem included, and that there is no particular reason why Anderson should not be reelected.

Political observers took that as strictly talk and waited for something concrete before placing Chavez in either camp. They recalled that Anderson made the same kind of talk last year when Chavez was running and then resigned as chairman of the Senate Democratic election committee. That position would have forced him to go all out for Chavez.

SENATORS FIGHTING FOR THREE YEARS

The Anderson-Chavez feud is the bitterest in all New Mexico politics. It started three and a half years ago over what seemed to be a trivial incident on the floor of the Senate. Anderson attempted to rush through a public works measure without giving Chavez's Public Works Committee an opportunity to pass on it. Chavez responded with caustic remarks from the floor and what he said in the cloak room later must have been hyper-caustic. Anderson pulled up stakes, came home to Albuquerque and went to bed sick. Private remarks from both since that time leave no doubt about the seriousness of the split.

Both have tried to keep their feelings off the record and have associated themselves as brother Democrats on the Senate floor and in their public statements. What they do to each other privately is something else.

DENNIS AND ED SOMETHING ELSE

The affinity that Mechem and Chavez have for each other is independent of the Chavez-Anderson affair. It first became evident after the Senator's brother David was defeated by John Miles for the Democratic nomination for governor in 1950 and Mechem beat Miles in the main event. That had been preceded by a blast from Senator Chavez which seemed to threaten a revolt if the Democrats continued to be dominated by "the barnacles and leeches" of the party.

The Mechem response was one of particular consideration for Chavez-brand Democrats in statehouse jobs and on state committees. A Chavez brother-in-law, Dr. Tobias Espinoza, became president of the Medical Examiners' board; Frank McCulloch, long-time Chavez follower, went to the Highlands Board; Alfredo Ortiz of Santa Fe left a Chavez appointment in the labor department to join up with the Tax Commission at the statehouse. Other Chavez Democrats landed jobs and appointments, and the so-called Chavez Republicans who had at times gone with Chavez in past elections were named to some of the biggest jobs in the capitol, among them Manuel Lujan, commissioner of the bureau of revenue, Maurice Miera, director of the employment security commission.

Mechem's canvassing board last year came through with a sudden decision to give this certificate of election to the Senate to Chavez, an action that caused howls of pain among Pat Hurley lawyers.

There hasn't been any strong evidence of reciprocity by Chavez, unless it would be that startling majority that Mechem got in McKinley County last year, a place where the Chavez people have controlled the vote closely in the past. The powerful Vidal clan in McKinley County which is an important part of the Chavez organization has been extremely favorable to the Republican governor, and the Republicans in turn have not disturbed Steve Vidal in the internal revenue office at Albuquerque or the Vidal half-brother, Dominick Eddie, postmaster at Gallup.

First prize was awarded Jerilyn Graves; second, Sharon Fulkerson; third, Arsenia Delgado. Honorable mention went to Shirley Lewis and Jonette Harkey.

The flowers were judged on neatness and originality.

The object of this contest is to improve each year so that the girls can enter their designs in the Roswell flower exhibit some time in the future.

Over $1/2 Million Daily

SANTA FE, Dec. 18—Oil production in New Mexico now exceeds half a million dollars a day, from wells located in six counties.

A total of $16,845,000 for October oil production in the state was indicated in a survey released by the Taxpayers Association of New Mexico. The state severance tax on oil is 2 1/2%, or more than $420,000 on the October production.

Reports to the Severance Tax Division showed well over five million barrels of oil produced last month, with an average value of $2.75 a barrel.

Non-Residents May Again Hunt in Mexico

(From the State Game Dept's Weekly Newsletter)

Hunting in Mexico, which has been banned to non-residents for the past two years, will be permitted again this season, according to a dispatch received by the Fish and Wildlife Service from the American Embassy in Mexico, D. F.

The dispatch states that: "Permits are to be issued to the interested persons directly, without the use of intermediaries such as hunting clubs. The cost of the permits will be 240 pesos. (At the present rate of exchange, about $20.69.) They will be valid for a period of six months and will authorize the holder to hunt in one state and those adjacent to it. The permits will be issued by the agencies of the Ministry of Agriculture at state capitals. Arrangements are being made also for the granting of permits by federal officials at the following border ports: Nuevo Laredo, Villa Acuna, Ciudad Juarez, Nogales, and Mexicali. The permits will include authorization to export from Mexico the game obtained, subject to the limitations imposed by the regulations on hunting seasons and on species the hunting of which is permanently prohibited, such as migratory birds."

The Fish and Wildlife Service reminds American sportsmen who may plan to hunt ducks, geese, and other migratory game birds in Mexico during the coming season that they must comply with certain requirements when bringing such birds into the United States.

THIS BUSINESS OF FISHING

Roy Barker, Director of Fisheries for the New Mexico Department of Game and Fish, announced recently that 404,000 brown trout eggs have arrived from Plymouth, Mass., and are now being incubated at the Parkview hatchery.

This is the first shipment out of 1 1/2 million eggs ordered from the Plymouth hatchery. Barker stated that the eggs arrived a month earlier than in preceding years.

During the month of November, the Pecos hatchery planted 25,857 rainbow trout of legal size in the Pecos River below Alamogordo Lake and in the Albuquerque Riverside and Atrisco drains, as well as in the Pecos River near the hatchery. From the Red River hatchery a total of 3,752 rainbows were planted, 4,032 of these being 3 3/4 inches long and were planted in Cabresto Lake. The legal trout, 5,720, were planted in the Lower Red River, Dry Cimarron, Lake Maloya and Bernalillo Riverside drain from this hatchery.

HUNTING FIGURES

Some very interesting figures were produced by the State Game Department recently in regard to persons interested in hunting and fishing. Interested to the extent of purchasing hunting and fishing licenses this past year were: Resident hunters 65,791 and resident fishermen 65,722, making a total of 132,513 resident licenses sold.

There were also 43,404 non-resident hunting and fishing licenses sold in New Mexico. The population of the state is 677,152, and according to the above figures, one out of every 5.65 persons purchased a hunting or fishing license.

DID YOU KNOW THAT:

A rainbow trout that migrates from fresh to salt water changes its coloration and becomes a steelhead when it returns to fresh water, according to the Fish and Wildlife Service, Department of Interior.

In Oregon's Crater Lake National Park an annual snowfall of 50-60 feet is not uncommon.

Former War Prisoner To Address Publishers

CARLSBAD, N. M., Dec. 16—Frank E. Noel, Associated Press photographer who was a prisoner of the Chinese communists for 31 months in Korea, will tell his experiences to the New Mexico Press Association Convention.

Noel, universally and affectionately known as Pappy, will be the luncheon speaker Saturday, Jan. 23 at the NMPA's annual winter meeting here.

NPA President Carter Wald, Belen News-Bulletin publisher, announced Noel would address the Carlsbad meeting. The Pulitzer prize-winning POW photographer's New Mexico appearance will come between lecture engagements in Duluth, Minn., and Los Angeles.

Pappy, graying and balding at 48, after a picture-making career through three wars and four continents, scrambled from a Korean truck at Freedom Village last August 9.

He was much leaner than when the Chinese Reds captured him with a surrounded Marine outfit near the Changjin Reservoir in late November, 1950. But he was still wearing the trademark Noel grin.

After truce negotiations began, AP correspondents arranged delivery of a camera and film to Pappy in his POW camp. A few days later he sent back pictures of American and Allied prisoners and a demand for more film.

His New Mexico appearance will be the occasion for a reunion with Chief of Bureau Lell Erickson of Albuquerque Associated Press Bureau. They flew together from Tokyo, in Pajon for their first look at the Korean conflict. They covered the Western Korean Front together until Noel joined the Marines on their ill-fated drive for the Yula River on the Korean East Coast.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

Grants, N. M., Dec. 10.
Editor News:

This is a nice town—a little larger than Carrizozo—and a little higher, both in altitude and the cost of living. My room rent costs four dollars more a month and the altitude is some 1,000 feet higher than that of Carrizozo. Also, it is a good deal colder. So far, our temperature for the past week has ranged from a low of five below zero to a high of 29 above zero.

Ben Smith, former deputy sheriff in Carrizozo, is now in the New Mexico State Police and is stationed about 15 miles east of Grants, at Cubero, N. M. He was in the garage a few days ago having some work done on his car.

Not knowing anyone over here I really miss seeing the familiar faces of those I know in Carrizozo. I'll have to be content with reading the News until I come back for a visit in a couple of months.

List Items Most Suitable
For Gifts to Patients
At State Hospital

Mrs. C. A. Snow, president of the Carrizozo Woman's Club, has received a letter from the Women's Auxillary of the New Mexico State Hospital at Las Vegas, giving a list of the articles most desired by the patients confined there.

Members of the Woman's Club are asked to bring their articles for the hospital to the Christmas Party meeting Friday, Dec. 19, at the Woman's Club House.

Anyone else desiring to send packages is asked, that when mailing them to the hospital, the contents be marked on the outside of the packing, stating whether destined for male or female patients or for children.

The list of suggested gifts are: Belts, candy, checkers, cologne, costume jewelry, gum, gloves, handkerchiefs, hosiery, mittens, lipstick, pipes, powder, scarves, shaving lotion, house slippers, stationery, ties, tie clasps, toys, combs, nail polish, bobby pins, hair nets, playing cards, tooth paste and brushes, pencils, ball point pens, dominos, and board games.

Wood, Leathercraft
Shown at Hondo PTA

The Hondo Valley PTA held its regular meeting on December 8, with Mrs. Elma Rogers, the president, presiding.

Clayton Means of the Roswell Junior High School, gave an interesting talk and exhibit of wood and leather work. He showed, by quoting the cost of the various exhibits, how beautiful and useful objects could be made at low cost.

This was especially interesting to the parents because the Hondo High School is most desirous of having similar facilities as soon as it is feasible.

Under the direction of Jess Lara, the girls' chorus sang some Christmas numbers, after which the entire audience joined in singing.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Misses George Slenos, Wilbur McKnight and John Hamilton, and a social hour was enjoyed.

Traditional Christmas Party at Glencoe Home

The Hondo Valley Christmas festivities began December 13, with coffee and "biscochitos" served at the home of Superintendent and Mrs. Fernin S. Montes in Glencoe. By the soft glow of half a hundred "luminarias" arranged on the terraces of the hillside flower garden, the teachers and school board members were greeted by the host and hostess, and from 6 until 9 o'clock a delightful social time was enjoyed.

The making of Christmas time of "biscochitos" and "empanadas" is the remnant of an old New Mexico custom where it was traditional for relatives to gather at their various homes and make up a holiday supply of these delicious Christmas goodies.

Rules for Ruining Farm Machinery

If you want to ruin your farm machinery, just follow these rules, say agricultural engineers.

Don't clean the tractor engine filters. Your engine will wear out several times as quick when the filters are clogged.

Use balling wire or any piece of scrap iron as a substitute for a broken part. Soon you'll have lots of scrap iron for further repairs.

Skimp on grease. That way, parts wear faster and break sooner.

Let it rust. This is a sure-fire way to the scrap heap. Never clean an engine. The dirt will cover small defects so that you'll have a big breakdown instead of a little one.

Don't buy anti-freeze for your tractor. The stuff wouldn't freeze and burst the engine block this winter, and you might have to use the same old block for years.

Always use pliers on gas line connections and carburetor fittings; you'll soon have the corners worn so that the connections won't turn even with proper wrench.

Let the battery run down. It'll either go dead or freeze in cold weather, and you can get more exercise cranking the tractor.

You can further provoke your machinery dealer by low-rating his line of equipment and at the

Supplies Ample for New Feeding Season

Feed grains are abundant. Hay supplies are low in some areas, but the total for the country is a little above last year. By-product feed supplies, larger than usual. In brief, that's the livestock feed situation as we go into the new feeding season.

With a bumper corn crop being harvested this fall, economists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture estimate production of all four feed grains—corn, oats, barley and grain sorghums is a little larger than last year. It amounts to more than farmers will feed out in the coming feeding year.

Pointing to the bins, the economists also note large carry-over stocks on hand. With the current crop above foreseeable needs, they figure that next October stocks may reach a record level.

In most of the North, hay supplies are ample for the livestock on hand. But in the South and Southwest, they are scarcely enough to meet the needs. Compared with the total livestock on farms, there are altogether a little more per animal than last year, but a little less than average of hay.

same time loudly demanding that he get you a new machine to replace the one you have ruined through neglect. You can bet the guy won't be happy about it. He wants you to make a nice profit on your investment in the equipment so that you will have more money to buy more equipment.

Southern Pacific to Buy 79 Diesel Locomotives

Southern Pacific is placing orders for another 79 new diesel freight locomotive units, D. J. Russell, president of the railroad, has just announced.

Expectation is that the cost of the new diesels will raise to approximately $215,000,000 the railroad's investment in 1,342 diesel locomotive units ordered since the end of World War II, Russell said.

The diesel orders will include 57 units of 1750 horsepower each; 16 units of 2,400-horsepower each, and six units of 1,200-horsepower each, raising the railroad's total diesel horsepower to more than two million.

Three-quarters of the freight on Southern Pacific is now hauled by diesel locomotives, Russell reported.

The first ten of the new diesel units are expected to arrive this month, and all the others before next August, the rail president said.

The AMAZING TIGERS

Eddie Womack, a junior was the leading Tiger pass receiver for the season with a nine-touchdown record. Team-mate Dick Cox scored 42 points for the Tigers and became the leading ground gainer for the Class C Conference. Cox is a senior and the year marks his final appearance on the Tiger squad.

Garth Hyde, a rugged blocking back and defensive center, completed his appearance on the Tiger squad this season. Hyde was an outstanding player during the entire season. Scoring six touchdowns, with an enviable defensive record, should merit some State recognition for this Tiger squadman.

Long, lanky Ken Morris, another senior, completed his football career on the Tiger team during the '53 season. Morris received four touchdown passes and one PAT pass. Ken was noted for his speedy, swivel-hip runs.

Arthur Salas, junior, scored six touchdowns during the successful season. Salas will be one of the returning lettermen who will enhance the 1954 team.

Tony Archuleta, senior, scored 19 points for the Tiger squad during the season. Archuleta was another small Tiger man who handled the larger opponents with apparent ease.

Other Tiger squadmen, scoring for the champions were Charles Francis, senior, and regular center, who was shifted to backfield long enough to gain a touchdown record, and Clifton Keith, a regular tackle, moved to backfield to score one touchdown. Diminutive C. Keith was noted for the removal of his brawny opponents from the scene of play. Francis and Keith are both seniors. Other seniors on the squad were Jack Payne, tackle, and Lupe Otero, end.

Prospects for 1954 squad include Eddie Womack, Arthur Salas, Tom Guck, Joe Gallegos, Ray Keith, Jim Minter, Jim Payne and Sonny Herrera. These lettermen will form the nucleus for the 1954 defenders of the Class C title.

Likely prospects from this year's Freshmen class include Mick Guck, Pat Huey, and also Joe Aldaz and Ernie Francis. Reserve strength could come from the 8th grade with the high school entrance of Penny McKnight, Cedric Salas, John Wild, Roy Herrera, Johnny Carvajal, and Billy Payne.

The only consideration likely to keep Chavez out of the election is the pressure of the Pat Hurley contest against him which is still alive. He may need every Democratic vote in the Senate to keep his place, but on the other hand he could also need some Republican sympathy.
