

RAMBLIN' AROUND

Everybody's doing it now-days — that is, spelling words backwards. Last week's News-week tells of a prankster who sent out a circular letter to his friends extolling the virtues of a wonderful new fertilizer for gardens: ERUNAM. He received a number of orders for his "miracle" product.

The News is having a subscription contest, and if you have a favorite in the race, remember to give her your subscription or renewal. In this connection, you're dettair of emooce a rebem to eht SWEN guldaer yimat.

I know now I was being kidded when told that the town of Nogal got its name in the early days because of the absence of feminine population. Now I learn that Nogal is an Indian name for a walnut tree that grew nearby.

Thank you, Mrs. M. M. Kelt of Tucuman, for your kind offer to send us a number of old copies of the News.

Earl Harrow is back in the County Clerk's office, and surprising as it may seem, laughs about that game of donkey baseball in which he made a one-point landing on his elbow and all but broke it. They are still talking about that wild 6 to 0 game in which the donkeys did most of the throwing. Glen Bradley lost track of the number of times he parried company with his pony. Says he would have made a better ride if that atom bomb outland had given him time to get properly mounted.

This is National Smile Week and most everyone in these parts is heartily joining in, as a result of another soaking rain on top of the one received the previous week. If the weather doesn't make you smile, maybe this little joke will:

They laid the inert gentleman out on the station house floor. The rookie cop stood by as the doctor made his examination. "That man's been drugged," said the physician.

The rookie cop nervously replied, "That's right, sir, must be all my fault. I drug him 'at blocks."

Speaking of rain, Florencio Vega was saying the other day that he remembered only two times since 1890 when the county had so much moisture at this time of year.

Two investigators from Washington, D. C., were in Carrizozo this week, taking statements in regard to burning the ballots of last Fall's general election. The ballots were ordered burned by Judge W. T. Scoggin, February 2. He made a statement later that he had made an error in computing the date when the ballots could be legally destroyed. The special investigators interviewed a number of citizens regarding the incident.

Following Saturday's rain, Sunday afternoon seemed a likely time to plant a couple of elm trees, which I had been told are the hardest of shade trees and will grow despite the severest handicaps such as failure to water or fertilizer regularly. I decided that's the tree for me. Lloyd Topfifer referred me to the C. A. Snows who had some volunteer elms they wanted to give away. So I sweated out two holes in the back yard and drove over to the Snows for the trees. The ones I found were pretty small, but they came up right easy. Before darkness closed in I had them tucked away in their new beds. Then the phone rang. Mrs. Snow called to say I had dug up the wrong trees. She had some taller ones the other side of the fence. The next day Gussie Johnson offered us some elms even bigger. It's nice to think about having those trees and stretching out in a hammock in their shade. But the holes have to be dug. If I can teach Pootie to bury her bones in a row in nice deep holes, we'll soon have elm trees all around the house.

Mrs. Johnson, by the way, is going to put in a complaint to the company that manufactures light globes. Her porch light burned out this week after only 16 years of service!

Pop Anderson asked us a question the other day that we couldn't answer. Maybe some of our readers can. He was trying to recall the name of a liniment that was advertised by a big ad holding up a bottle of liniment, with the following words underneath: "If I am Darwin's Grandpa, it follows, don't you see, that what is good for man and beast is doubly good for me."

INDIAN EXHIBIT AT OLD COURTHOUSE

The public is invited to visit the new Indian Room at Lincoln County's famous Old Courthouse in the town of Lincoln. An Open House will be held there Sunday, March 22 from the hours of 3 to 4:30 in the afternoon. After weeks of preparation, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Boylan, custodians, have arranged for the exhibition of several collections of Indian artifacts, some dating from the Fifteenth century. Included in the exhibition are four important collections. The Clark Pflingsten collection includes artifacts from the Mesquero Apache tribes and their predecessors. Some were recovered by Mr. Pflingsten from the Baca Ruins at the foot of Capitan Mountain; others from Chiplunk Cave, 3 miles west of Lincoln and others from the Lower Stanton ruins. Mr. Pflingsten has spent a lifetime in assembling his collection, a considerable portion of which he has loaned indefinitely to the Museum. One feature of the Open House will be a map, finished a few weeks ago by Mr. Boylan. It shows excavation sites of the principal Indian burial grounds in the Lincoln area. The Bill Hale collection from Lincoln County sites includes "Lincolnware," found exclusively within the Lincoln region; also a strapless sandal, worn by the earliest known Indians in the County. This sandal was held to the foot by a thong over the big toe. The Mary Coe collection features miniature arrow heads. A Comanche war bonnet and Mesquero cradleboard have been loaned to the Museum by Otto Pflingsten. Peter Hurd has contributed a Navajo saddle blanket and a Mesquero war club, and there is a cradleboard from the Geo. A. Titworth collection. Other interesting artifacts on display are braided yucca fiber, used for making rope, iron axes used in making paint, toy clay animals and bone flutes. Mr. and Mrs. Boylan cordially invite Lincoln County residents to visit the Indian Room on Open House day.

Team Captains Fred Pflingsten, Bill McTelgus, Charlie Jones, Ernest McDaniel, Pauline McKnight and Sydney Bonnell were guests of the County Farm Bureau for this dinner. If they miss any farm or ranch family, it will not be because they did try to reach them this week.

WELCOME PARTY

Saturday night, March 14, there will be a welcome party for all the new members of the LCLFB. All the old members will be on hand to extend a welcome, and there will be a pot-luck supper. Second Unit Arrives for Carrizozo Power Plant

A second Fairbanks-Morse generating unit has arrived for installation in the Carrizozo Village power plant. It is a companion engine to the new one now in operation and has a generating capacity of 276 kw. "The engine was installed just in time," Mayor Roberts said this week. "Carrizozo's power load has grown to the point where it probably exceeds the combined capacity of the three old generators," he added. South Side Water Storage A discussion of plans to relieve the water shortage on the south side of the tracks will be asked for by Mayor Roberts at the next meeting of the Village Council. Water Improvement at Capitan No report on the underground water possibilities at Capitan has been received to date, S. Z. Gidens, mayor of Capitan, told the News this week. A specialist on water development from the Socorro School of Mines is to report his findings to the Village Council.

SPEAKING PRIVILEGE COSTS WIVES MONEY AT PTA FUN NIGHT

A hilarious time was had by everyone attending. Fathers' Night at the PTA meeting held Monday night in the Grade School Auditorium. Rex Werner served as president in the place of Mrs. Rex Werner. Ace Baty acted as secretary in place of Mrs. Pauline Pherigo and Keeno Ortiz was treasurer in place of Mrs. Georgia Harkey. The women had to pay for the privilege of speaking and were fined every time they said anything. Larry Stockton was "fine collector." Mr. Stockton was presented with a large bucket on which the words "Blood Bucket" had been printed along with an immense gavel, resembling a croquet mallet, to assist him in collecting the fines. It was extremely hard for the women not to talk, especially when a question was asked of them personally, and Mr. Stockton would stand beside them beating loudly on the "Blood Bucket." Election of officers was held. The new officers to be installed at the next meeting to be held the second Monday in April are: B. G. Barnum, president; Mrs. Fred Schlarb, 1st vice president; Ace Baty, 2nd vice president; Mrs. H. J. Ray, secretary; Mrs. Joyce Simpson, treasurer; Benjie Beards, historian; and Mrs. Rex Werner, parliamentarian. The standing committee will be appointed in the near future. Mrs. Ashbury Glover, district director of the PTA from Alamogordo, was present and gave an interesting talk stressing the importance of sending delegates to the state PTA convention to be held in Hobbs this coming April. She was also fined for speaking. The PTA will have a St. Patrick's Day dinner to be held Tuesday evening March 17, starting at 6 p. m., in the new lunch room in the old Grade School building. The proceeds from the dinner will go to the Carrizozo School Band Fund. Margaret Stearns is chairman of the St. Patrick's Day dinner. A rummage sale will also be held by the PTA on the 26th of March in the Fire Hall. Larry Stockton showed some educational films after the business meeting and refreshments of coffee and doughnuts were served in the lunch room.

Three Take Lead in Subscription Contest

The subscription contest of the Lincoln County News got off to a flying start this week, as eight contestants began to canvass the County for new and renewal subscriptions. No attempt will be made to tabulate the votes this week, but on Tuesday, Mrs. Lewis Farris led in the number of subscriptions turned in, with Elsie Lopez second and Ann Earling third. Subscribers may extend their present subscriptions in order to give their favorite candidates votes, or they may order the paper sent to relatives and friends outside of the County. A subscriber extending his subscription for two years will receive the News at the reduced price of $2.50 per year and the candidate will be credited with 800 votes; for a five year subscription, the cost per year for the News is only $2.00, and the contestant taking the subscription receives 5000 votes. First prize in the contest is $100; second prize $50, and third $25. All contestants receive, in addition, a bonus of 50 cents per subscription. That means a cash reward for everyone entered. The aim of the News is to enlarge its reader coverage in Lincoln County and to print all items of local and county-wide interest, fairly and truthfully. Mrs. Steve Chavez, listed as candidate last week, has asked her name be dropped from the list of contestants because her business fills six days of the week completely. Sorry, Mrs. Chavez. We feel you would have been a real candidate.

Five Motorists Fined For Traffic Violations

Failure to observe traffic regulations resulted in several motorists being fined this week in Carrizozo. City Marshal Clyde Atwood again urged motorists to pay strict attention to stop signs, correct turns and proper parking. "The increase in traffic thru Carrizozo with the opening of Highway 54," said Marshal Atwood, "may result in serious accidents if motorists are careless in obeying traffic rules." A list of fines follows: Jose Avilla, $5, for improper turn in middle of block. Simon Romero, $15, for speeding and having no tail light. D. L. Newman, $2, for improper parking. Jerry Willbank, $10, for failing to act after warning on lights. Bruce McCampbell, $1, for parking on wrong side of street. WILL HARRISON'S Inside the Capital

SANTA FE, March 12 — The legislature neared a jammed-up close with the Democrats stubbornly resisting any change in the state election laws which have favored that party most of the time for 23 years. The party knocked down the proposal to divide the state into northern and southern congressional districts which would have given the Republicans an advantage in the north. Democrats took an official stand against the deal calling for a completely new registration of voters, explaining that such a new listing would endanger the position they now hold of having about three times as many listed as Democrats as those showing Republican affiliation. The party also took a position against a new ballot which would rule out straight ticket voting by eliminating the circle at the head of the party ticket. They contended that requiring the voters to pick and choose among all the candidates would be a disadvantage to the dominant Democratic party, cause them to loose votes that they get by straight ticket voting.

DEMOCRATS OPPOSE PRE-PRIMARY CONVENTION

Not so clear was the Democratic opposition to repeal of the pre-primary convention for selecting people to run in the primary. This was one of the party promises in the 1928 platform but most of the Demo legislators wouldn't go along. The convention plan holds no advantage for either party, is generally disliked by the people and favored by big politicians in both parties. The Demos have been taking a beating from some observers because of their resistance to the so-called political reforms. But that's not entirely fair. The proposals would bring general improvement but every one of them, except the pre-primary convention repeal, was loaded to favor the Republicans. One Democratic leader in the house said he saw no justification for surrendering advantages the party now holds when by waiting a couple of years the Democrats may be able to make reforms on their own terms.

WAITING EFFECT OF LIQUOR VOTE

What effect on the Democratic party will be for its action in killing the Republican-backed plan for taking guaranteed profits away from the liquor business continues to be argued all over the capital. Twenty-three Democrats and six Republicans voted to keep the present price laws, 22 Republicans and four Democrats voted vainly to repeal the pricing system in the house test. The Democrats were on the unpopular side at the time the vote was taken but party leaders were not disturbed. The common experience in this kind of thing is that the movement is soon forgotten.

THE DEMOS' MOST CONSTRUCTIVE ACTIVITY

The Demos' most constructive activity in this legislature has been their leadership in working out a plan to get money for the pen, insane asylum and the boys' industrial school at Springfield through borrowing money to be repaid from a small per centage of the severance tax. And it is also Democrats who worked out a plan to divvy some $3,000,000 surplus highway money to the counties for rural road building and for paying for right-of-way for new roads. The plan also sets up a continuing revenue for the counties. It comes from that 1-cent gasoline tax which was set up to pay off the highway department debt but which is producing some $600,000 a year more than required.

ELLIOTT HAVING STRANGE EXPERIENCE

State Game Warden Elliott Barber who for 23 years has had almost anything he wanted from the legislature is suffering the strange experience of turn-downs on every request. The failure of the game commission bills was such that the secretary of the State Game Protective Association wrote members of the house and senate committee on fish and wildlife accusing them of scuttling the interests of all sportsmen and suggesting that it would be remembered when they come up again for election. Quite contrary to game department regulations have gone through, among them Rep. L. S. Drake's free fishing licenses for people on the old-age assistance program. The sudden trouble hits the game department at a moment when it is in a state of reorganization. One member of the game board, Paul Wright of Silver City, has resigned but has not been replaced.

News and Views From Your Nation's Capitol

By JOHN J. DEMPSEY
Congressman from New Mexico

WASHINGTON, D. C., Mar. 11.—After six weeks in office President Eisenhower is confronted with the difficult problem of carrying out his oft-repeated campaign promises of reducing expenditures by the executive branch of the government to the point where the budget can be balanced. The President, without doubt, wishes sincerely to do that, but he is not getting the help to which he is entitled from those he appointed to key jobs in his administration. So far, it would appear they have let him down badly.

Nor has there been any evidence up to this time that the people the President has placed in high positions, particularly in the Department of Defense, have taken any serious steps toward eliminating waste in government spending that was revealed by Armed Services Committee investigations during the 82nd Congress. Secretary of Defense Wilson, for instance, has been in Washington but little of the time since he took office. He has, therefore, been forced to rely on the advice of the same men who made the reports on which the original Truman budget was based. They are not going to admit they were wrong in their original estimates and requests.

President Eisenhower is entitled to better service than that. The same might well be said of the failure of Budget Director Dodge to come up with any constructive economy plan, helpful to the President up to this time.

PROBLEM: HOW CUT TAXES?
Instead the President and Congressional committees have been told by Secretary Wilson, Secretary of State Dulles, Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey and Budget Director Dodge that they are finding it virtually impossible to cut the budget as submitted to the Congress early in January by President Truman. They pointed out, also, that they cannot see how a reduction in taxes can be made this year and probably not in 1954. Secretary Dulles apparently has joined the spenders and wants more money for foreign aid than was appropriated last year. Budgets aren't balanced that way. On the other hand Chairman Reed of the House Ways and Means Committee, which handles all tax legislation, introduced a bill to cut individual income taxes 5 1/2 per cent this year. He stakes his reputation as an authority on taxation on his assertion that the cut can be made and not throw the budget out of balance. Of course, he predicates his statement on a proper reduction in government spending. I believe Chairman Reed is right. I believe, also, that President Eisenhower recognizes the fact that his administration must find a way to cut spending and taxes if it is to keep faith with the American people.

It is evident that a majority of the members of both branches of the Congress are avowedly in favor of as heavy a cut in the budget requests of all departments as can be made without injury to essential government functions. It is my belief President Eisenhower takes the same position, whether his appointees do or not. In his recent news conference he said, according to press reports, that "balancing of the budget will be terrifically difficult." But he did not rule out the possibility of doing it. He added a true observation that if it had been easy it would have been done long ago.

It has always been difficult to balance the budget. It always will be, as long as high brass in the Pentagon and the heads of other departments in the executive branch of the government continue the pressure tactics they have used to get every possible dollar they could.

SICK VETERANS DENIED HELP
The committee cut back an item of $18,900,000 for veterans' hospitals to $10,000,000 despite the fact that there are thousands of sick veterans—many of them suffering from infirmities due to the Korean War—for whom there are no beds available in VA hospitals. There are thousands of mental cases that VA hospitals cannot handle. These mentally ill men are in jails and insane asylums throughout the country. There are more than 50 of them in the New Mexico hospital for the insane at Las Vegas, which is filled far beyond its capacity.

An amendment offered to increase the $10,000,000 to $30,000,000 to meet at least a part of our obligation to these afflicted veterans was defeated. The majority leadership of the House was responsible for that defeat. Because of that a motion to recommit the bill with instructions to the committee to make the item $30,000,000 was offered. I voted in favor of that, because I felt the reduction of these funds was another case of this economy.

MAJOR HUMPHREY
Major Humphrey of the New Mexico Military Institute spoke to the senior boys last week. He urged the boys to go on to college, particularly where there is ROTC training. In this manner, they can complete their college education, at the end of which time they will receive reserve commissions in the U. S. Army and serve two years of active duty.

Major Humphrey is becoming alarmed over the attitude of some of our youth, who, he said, "seem to have little desire to defend this country from its enemies and to give their service to the country. This problem is one of the biggest our nation faces."

The New Mexico Highlands University choir and ensemble will present a program in the Carrizozo High School auditorium March 20. Forty-eight of their members will be present. The choir and ensemble will make no profit from this program. Proceeds go to the Student Council. The public is invited to the program, which will be held in the evening.

By ELMA F. ROGERS

Seems all our sick folks are getting better. Mrs. Frank Purcell is improving and is able to be up and around the house. Ed Nelson is home from the hospital and Mrs. Nelson says he is enjoying his chewing tobacco again, so I guess he will be in circulation again before long.

Frank Tittsworth was a Roswell visitor one day this last week on business.

Carl Radcliff made a hurried trip to El Paso and return on Saturday. Don't know if Carl got scared down there or what, to make the round trip in one day.

Well, we have another four miles of our road in Tinnie Canyon finished and we are more than proud of it and are waiting for the rest of it to be finished this coming summer. Maybe we don't know how to get the rain and snow down here, but we do know how to get the roads built, thanks to Wilbur McKnight and Gfanyville Richardson.

Pradoso Salcido came in with some ore samples and tells us they are out of an old lost mine south of Hondo. Says he found some real rich looking stuff and is going to go farther. He also tells us he knows where there is some blue clay, same as there is in the diamond fields of Arkansas, but he didn't tell in what direction it was from here.

The Valley was real sorry to hear Pete Hodges had a stroke, and everyone is wishing him a speedy recovery.

The new band instructor at Hondo Hi—Jess Lara, and family—have moved into one of Frank Tittsworth's new apartments here at Tinnie. We all welcome them as new neighbors and will try to treat them as rough as possible.

The correspondent, her mother and son, Tommie, made a hurried trip to the Duke City over the week-end and reported it rained all the way up and back. Wish we could get a little more of it here.

IN THE SERVICE OF THEIR COUNTRY

Lincoln County Youth in Overseas Maneuvers

Pfc. Thomas M. Archuleta, in a letter home to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Florencia Archuleta of Carrizozo, tells about "Operation Bora," a field problem conducted on the plains above Trieste, Italy. Pfc. Archuleta, Co. A, 351st Infantry, has been overseas two and a half years, all of that time in Trieste.

According to the information from Archuleta, in the tactical maneuver in which he took part the 31st Infantry Regiment sought out an "aggressor" and pinned him down. The troops concentrated their heavy weapons in the fire fight and formed infantry-tank teams to advance and outmaneuver the opposition.

Centuries of wars have been fought over this ground where jagged rocks make an advance difficult. But the 351st teams moved ahead to carry out their missions under simulated combat conditions.

Pfc. Archuleta was born in Carrizozo. Though long absent, he writes his parents that he dreams of home nearly every night.

All the new trucks will feature new, one-piece curved windshields—largest in their field—with swept-back pillar posts and 55 per cent greater visibility. And the new F-100 Series of light duty trucks will be equipped for the first time with Fordomatic fully-automatic transmissions or automatic overdrive as optional equipment.

"Our 1953 truck line represents an investment of more than $50,000,000 in research, development, engineering, testing and dies and tools as well as more than four years of hard work," L. D. Crusoe, vice president of Ford Motor Company and general manager of Ford Division, said.

"Every truck in the 1953 line has been completely redesigned with a revolutionary new approach to truck engineering—the driver himself.

In the new trucks every component affecting driver fatigue has been designed and engineered not only to do its job better and to last longer, but also to ease the burden on the driver — to make his job simpler and less tiring and to permit him to get his job done faster and with corresponding savings in operating costs.

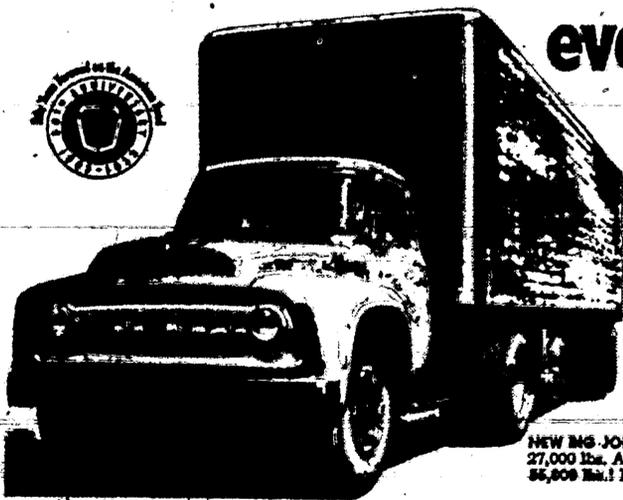

"We have placed all the experience and know-how gained by Ford as the builder of more than 17,000,000 commercial vehicles for the American road into these trucks. Before introducing them to the public we have tested them over more than 300,000 miles of highways in all parts of the country from Arizona's desert to roads in the Allegheny mountains. And we believe these new trucks will revolutionize the industry."

The 1953 Ford trucks range from 4,000 lbs. to 27,000 lbs. GVW and up to 55,000 lbs. CCW ratings. In the new F-900 Series, the largest truck ever built by Ford and a 1953 addition to the Ford truck line.

Outstanding features of all the 1953 Ford trucks, according to L. W. Smead, general sales manager of Ford Division, are the completely new "driverized" cabs and the elimination of double-clutching through use of new synchro-silent transmissions on all models. Also shorter wheelbases, wider front treads and repositioning of springs make all 1953 Ford trucks easier to handle and so more maneuverable and, with shorter turning radius.

Other important features, Mr. Smead said, are 4-foot wide rear windows, new wheel covers with 2 feet of leg room, completely new seats, new door handles, new door locks, new door hinges, new door seals, new door weatherstripping, new door weatherstripping, new door weatherstripping, new door weatherstripping.

Drive Highlights Role of Farm Bureau

Lincoln County is taking an active part in the statewide observance of "Farm Bureau Week" in New Mexico March 9 through March 14. Kenneth Nosker, President of the county branch, announces.

Aims for the "Week", Mr. Nosker states, will be to bring to the attention of New Mexicans the importance of agriculture, the state's largest industry, in their economic and social welfare, and to acquaint them with the part being played in the development of agriculture by the Farm and Livestock Bureau.

Recognizing the fact that the national, state and county Farm Bureau organizations are playing a major role in the advancement of all branches of agriculture, governors throughout the nation are officially proclaiming "Farm Bureau Week" dedicating it to the purpose of continued progress and development of rural America.

Civic and community organizations throughout the state are planning special programs during the "Week" in recognition of the service of the New Mexico Farm and Livestock Bureau, largest farm-ranch organization in the state, not only to agriculture, but the New Mexico citizens as well.

Marking the week, county Farm Bureaus and all of their hundreds of local units will hold meetings with appropriate programs, Delmar Roberts, State President, said.

DREAMS By WM. FELTER All night the dreams go trooping by... A wayward, vagrant company. And in the morn I wonder why They will not stay and visit me.

Some are like winds among the trees And others like the pattering rain; And some are like the melodies That haunt you with their sweet refrain.

And some are sweet with the bouquet Of memories of our past years, The treasures of another day All wet with blinding, salty tears.

O dreams, if you would only stay And bide with me until the noon... But Hope must ever fleet away, And joy will leave us all too soon.

And so goodbye! You were a dream That rested in my arms awhile; A moonbeam dancing on the stream Still mine the memory of your smile.

Again in 1953...

New Circular Tells How to Raise Beef Calf

"Your 4-H Beef Calf," a new extension circular, is now ready for distribution. The publication gives information on selecting a calf; feeding, feedstuffs, and rations; sanitation and disease; fittings; and keeping records. Author of the publication is W. E. Flint, extension animal husbandman in beef cattle production at New Mexico A&M College.

In his introduction to the circular, Flint says, "When you carry a 4-H beef calf project, you are training yourself for a future career as a livestock producer. You learn how to care for cattle, so that they will develop into fine examples of their breeds and will furnish more and better meat for the hungry tables of America. You also learn the importance of home-grown feeds, especially roughages, and how they contribute to the fertility of the farm. But don't expect to learn all this without a lot of hard work. Raising a beef calf is a tough job, but you will find that the reward is more than worth the effort."

Over two million boys and girls belong to the 4-H Clubs in this country. And during the week of March 7 to 15 they'll be officially getting set for another year of club work. This is the date of National 4-H Club Week.

L. S. Kurts, State 4-H leader at the New Mexico A&M College, says that from now on until each club is fully organized, these boys and girls between the ages of 10 and 21 will be putting on demonstrations and scientific methods, getting their crops, livestock, or family food supply ready for the busy summer season. They'll be holding meetings to inform parents and other young people about 4-H or helping their clubs do useful things in their communities.

Lincoln County 4-H Club boys and girls are invited to get from Ralph Dunlap County Agent, the new circular written by W. E. (Bunny) Flint, Beef cattle specialist at New Mexico A&M College. The circular is entitled, "Your 4-H Beef Calf."

Especially written for club members who are interested in the 4-H Club beef project, "Your 4-H Beef Calf" explains and illustrates the step-by-step procedure for carrying on the project from selecting the calf to feeding and showing.

"WHO KILLED AUNT CAROLINE?"

Stand by, for here's a new kind of mystery play—one that doesn't depend on shrieks in the night, howling winds, clutching hands or sliding panels for its effects.

Instead, "Who Killed Aunt Caroline" — the Carrizozo High School Senior play to be presented Friday, March 20—is a study in character. This clever little play, with its humorous and pleasant characters, "gets you."

For instead of peopling the stage with a lot of frightening suspects, each with a diabolical reason for committing crime, the author of this one introduces as amiable a bunch of people as you'd want to meet: The Endicott family.

And for three exciting acts the author holds over your head the frightening knowledge that one of these genial people has committed a murder—a cold, calculating murder.

Of course, Aunt Caroline deserved to die. No doubt of that. She was mean, domineering and rich. But who in the family could have killed her? You're kept guessing up to the very end.

"Who Killed Aunt Caroline?" is a mystery with no technical difficulties whatsoever.
