Hondo Bridge Job To Be Finished This Week

The Board of Commissioners of Lincoln County has been granted permission by the State Highway Commission to spend $2000 from its emergency road fund to repair damage to bridges and roads in the county caused by the recent flash floods.

It is expected that by this week end the Hondo bridge replacement job will be finished. The new bridge is 4 feet higher than formerly and it has been reinforced by cables and concrete filled oil drums sunk into the stream bed.

Other business transacted at the regular monthly meeting of the Commissioners Monday was: Granted request of Wm. Nickols to have County grader smooth off the runway at the Carrizozo airport.

Authorized the County grader to work on improving roads traveled by school bus routes, in vicinity of White Oaks, Corona, San Patricio; also a road near Ancho serving a milk route.

Heard a report from the State Highway Department Planning Division, Bureau of Public Roads, that a total of $37,659.01 had been spent on County roads during the past fiscal year. It was broken down as follows: Right-of-way, $13,629.21; maintenance, $20,679.33; equipment, $12,906.02; administration and engineering, $2,804.45.

After considering several items calling for increased expenditures of County funds during the next fiscal year, the Commissioners applied to the State Tax Commission in Santa Fe for permission to increase the County budget by more than 5%.

Items calling for increased expenditures were itemized as: 1. Increased costs of recording and records. 2. Increased cost of equipment maintenance. 3. Increased salaries allowed County employees by the State Legislature.

Appoint Walter Wilson On Conservation Board

Walter B. Wilson was appointed supervisor of the Carrizozo Soil Conservation District at the last regular board meeting. He fills the vacancy of the unexpired term of the late Harry Straley.

This is not the first time Mr. Wilson has served as a supervisor. He was elected in 1949 and served two three-year terms. Much credit goes to Mr. Straley for the success of the district. He was instrumental in organizing the district in 1948 and served as a supervisor until his recent death.

Members of the governing board of the CSCD presently consist of Claud Brannum, chairman; E. L. Harkey, secretary; treasurer; Rex Lewis, L. V. Withers and Walter B. Wilson, members. These men are non-paid, civic-minded men, serving the district in the interest of soil and water conservation.

The standard followed in most New Mexico schools calls for summer work once every five years. It may consist of six weeks at college, six weeks travel outside the country, or an intensive two weeks' work in a "work shop" in the teacher's specialty.

Teachers this year will earn an average of around $4000, which may be out of balance for what others get for a longer period of work, but they're not getting too much. That's particularly true, if you remember how long it took them to get where they are in the New Mexico picture.

STATEHOUSE IN A HURRY

Attorney General Dick Robinson would like nothing better than to be a one-term attorney general—by way of moving up to the governor's office next year.

Frank Young, the former Chaves County sheriff and former State police chief, showed up on the land office payroll at the end of the month as a clerk at $100 a month. An office spokesman said the Roswell man was put on to enable him to qualify for public employees retirement. State Secretary Ben Roach, Land Commissioner Johnny Walker and School Superintendent Tom Wiley are ignoring the governor's capitol office hours 8 until 5 with an hour and 15 minutes off for lunch. They close shop at 4:30.

Engineer Confers With Village Trustees

W. Carlos Powell, water engineer of Santa Fe, was to meet with the Carrizozo Village Trustees yesterday (Thursday) morning in Carrizozo to discuss the town's water problems and a contemplated survey of the municipal distribution system.

At Tuesday night's regular meeting, all Trustees favored having such a survey made, with the understanding that the village is under no financial obligation unless a feasible plan is presented and bonds to raise money for same are approved at an election.

NEW TOWN MARSHALL

The Trustees acted on three applications for the position of City Marshal. The application of R. H. Adams was accepted. He will replace Clyde Atwood, who recently turned in his resignation.

Mr. Adams is 32 years of age, is 6 feet, 2 inches in height, and weighs 190 pounds. His qualifications for the job include three years experience with the military police in the Army and three years as a bus driver in Los Angeles. He will assume his duties at the termination of his present position with the Nu-Way Cleaners.

Two Appointed to State Hospital Staffs

SANTA FE, August 5. — Announcement of the appointment of Dr. Charles W. Koerth as Acting Medical Superintendent of the State Tuberculosis Sanatorium and the appointment of Dr. Edgar E. Duncan as Medical Officer in charge of the general hospital at the Fort Stanton Medical Center was made this week by Alva A. Simpson Jr., State Welfare Director.

Both appointments were approved by the Board of Medical Consultants, the members of which are Dr. Carl Gellefstein, Dr. Carl Mulky, Dr. J. Gordon Strance, and Dr. J. E. J. Harris, and by Dr. James J. Barfield, who will remain in charge of the medical administration of both institutions.

Dr. Koerth's appointment, Mr. Simpson said, brings to the State Tuberculosis Sanatorium at Socorro a physician with an excellent background of experience in the field of tuberculosis.

The appointment of Dr. Duncan will be effective August 15. The new medical officer in charge of the general hospital at the Fort Stanton Medical Center was graduated from Johns Hopkins University Medical School in 1919. He was first an interne at Johns Hopkins hospital in Baltimore and later assistant resident at the Maryland General Hospital for women and children and then assistant resident in general surgery and general pathology at the Johns Hopkins hospital.

Dr. Duncan was also a voluntary assistant in the out-patient department and operating room at the Heidelberg University Frauenklinik in Heidelberg, Germany, from 1925 to 1926 and he has been in private practice since that time in Seattle, Wash., where he specialized in cancer.

Where Uranium Was Found

Pictured at the right is the iron mine on Lone Mountain where a uranium strike was recently made by H. M. Prince and associates. Above, is the crane mounted on a tractor that loads iron ore into trucks where it is hauled to the railroad at Coyote. A magnetized disk on the crane picks up the smaller ore, saving much labor in sorting.

Iron ore from the Lone Mountain mine is being shipped at the rate of 3 to 4 carloads weekly to a smelter at Dargard, Texas, where, because of its high content of iron, it is used as a catalyst for lower grade iron ore.

Mr. Prince is pictured in the foreground, and above workmen making preparation for a dynamite blast to loosen the ore.

Peter Hurd Painting Given County Museum

A painting by Peter Hurd will be presented to the Old Court House Museum in Lincoln on Sunday, August 9, by Thomas Fortune Ryan III of Three Rivers. The painting, a portrait of the winner of the 1952 Kids Rodeo in Three Rivers—Gerald Marr—was commissioned by Mr. Ryan as part of the prize to the rodeo's champion.

Mr. Ryan began his sponsorship of the Kids Rodeo about six years ago at his ranch at Three Rivers. He has been assisted in the project by the Lions Club of Tularosa.

Last year's rodeo winner, 15-year-old Gerald Marr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hute Marr of Tularosa, was coached by his uncle, Tom Babers, of San Patricio. Mr. Babers is a well-known rodeo rider and polo player. Under his tutelage, young Marr distinguished himself as a good, all-around rodeo rider.

Presentation of the painting will be made at the Old Lincoln Courthouse at 1 p.m., on August 9. Participating in the ceremony will be Tom Babers, Bert Pinsten, secretary of the Old Lincoln County Memorial Commission, and John Boylan, curator-custodian of the Old Courthouse Museum. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Juan Rafael Maripisena Dies in Carrizozo

Juan Rafael Maripisena, 65, of Carrizozo, passed away Monday, August 3, 1953, at 9 p.m., in the Carrizozo Hospital.

Requiem mass was recited at 8:30 a.m., yesterday (Thursday) by Rev. George Boennighausen, pastor of St. Rita's Catholic Church, of which the deceased was a member. Burial followed at Evergreen cemetery.

Mr. Maripisena was born in Erazu, Provincia de Navarra, Spain, on January 9, 1888. He had been a resident of New Mexico for 42 years, and since 1917 had been associated with Louis Nalda and others in the operation of the Red Canyon Sheep Company. He had no known relatives.

Funeral services for Mrs. F. C. Rolland of Alamogordo were conducted last Friday at 10 o'clock from the Presbyterian Church in that city. Burial followed in the cemetery at Alamogordo.

Mrs. Rolland was a member of a pioneer Otero County family. She was in the first graduating class at New Mexico A&M College and was connected with the New Mexico Extension Service for several years. She also served as dean of women at A&M and was active in State and local civic and social affairs.

She is survived by her husband, two sisters, Mrs. L. F. Elliott of Las Cruces, and Mrs. Ruth Miller of Albuquerque; also two daughters, Mrs. Lindsay Patton of Colorado Springs and Mrs. Alice Lee Egglison of San Francisco.

Mrs. A. J. Rolland of Carrizozo, sister of the late Arthur Rolland, attended the services.

Training Course To Be Given Food Handlers

The State Department of Public Health announces a Food Handlers School, to be held in Alamogordo August 11, 12, and 13, 1953.

This is to be a training course to provide employees of restaurants and other food handling establishments with a better understanding of the principles of sanitation necessary for proper service in public eating and drinking establishments.

This course will be conducted in the Junior High School building. It will consist of lectures, demonstrations and motion pictures. Attendance at one session each of the three days fulfills the requirement for a certificate.

The sessions will be held at 9 a.m., 2 p.m., and 7 p.m., so that employees may select the time they are free to attend.

Guided Tours Sunday Through Old Torreon

Guided tours through the Old Torreon in Lincoln will be available to visitors to "A Day in Old Lincoln" festivities on Sunday, August 9.

The old stone fort, restored in 1934, and maintained by the Old Lincoln County Memorial Commission, was built by early Spanish settlers in 1859 as protection against raids by marauding Indians and desperados.

The interior of the Torreon has recently been repaired by Emilio Zamora of Lincoln. He will also direct the guide service on Sunday, the 9th.

Visitors may register at the Old Courthouse for the tours.

Correction

Through an oversight last week the News failed to report the names of two others who attended the meeting of the GOP State Central Committee meeting in Albuquerque. They were Mrs. Mabel Vigil of Carrizozo, and Mrs. L. S. Drake of Socorro.

In the voting for state chairman, Representative Drake also cast a vote by proxy for Orlando Montes.

RAMBLIN' AROUND

By PAUL BAKER

Clara and I took an interesting trip over the week-end to Albuquerque, Santa Fe and way points, including the Santo Domingo Indian pueblo. The 1000 or more inhabitants of this compact and well-kept village it would seem "never had things so good." Their cultivated lands looked to be in good shape, as did their cattle and horses, grazing along the arroyo, which had a flowing stream as the result of recent rains. Sunday seemed to be a normal workday. The women were washing and hanging out clothes to dry; the men were painting outside woodwork, cleaning the grounds and keeping the outdoor ovens fired up—all in preparation for their Corn Festival, which began August 4. There were children everywhere, of all ages, from teenagers dressed in colorful clothes down to those of a more tender age, who wore no clothes at all.

In Albuquerque we saw our first 3-D movie, "The Maze." A bat flew from the screen into my polaroid glasses, almost, and a monster seemed about to land in my lap. It made me think that life can be either dull or exciting, depending on the kind of glasses we view it with.

The new stretch of highway from Cedarvale north is a pleasure to drive and some Coronans think it will not be too long before it is completed to the Lincoln County line. Estancia is getting ready for its irrigated farm and ranch tour on August 11. The party will leave Blackie's Cafe on U. S. 66 at Moriarty at 9 a.m. and will end southwest of Estancia at 3:30 p.m. The itinerary will be through the valley's approximately 35,000 acres under irrigation (shallow wells average 100 feet in pumping depth). A free barbecue will be served at noon. Anyone interested is cordially invited to join the tour. The drought is very evident in the region of Encino, where there is not a trace of green on the range along the highway. The picture was different, however, after turning on to Highway 54 and starting toward Corona. Here the grassland began to show the effects of recent rain.

I have just read a blast by Westbrook Pegler in the Los Angeles Examiner entitled "We're Being Socialized Now," in which he says the "dominant element of the present Republican Party is no less socialistic than the Democratic Party. He doesn't like the income tax or the social security tax or health and welfare funds. He doesn't like ... period. Being at odds with both the Democrats and Republicans, we suggest that he form a party of his own and draw up a platform. That would be interesting reading. After the votes were counted Pegler could retire to a remote and uninhabited island, where he could be Governor without being bothered by common people or their political parties.

It's no easy job that the Board of Commissioners of Lincoln County has these days. On the one hand they are confronted with increased costs of operating the County's government, necessitating an increase in next year's budget. On the other hand, those who meet the budgetary requirements, through taxes, are less able to pay them than for several years past. Drought and depressed cattle prices haven't lined the ranchers' pockets, with money to pay taxes. Yet the County's government must go on in an orderly and efficient manner, through lean years and fat years. The Commissioners this year made a start in equalizing taxes, which is never a pleasant job, and they are going to continue next year, with the help of the assessor, to bring the general tax structure of the county up to a fairer standard for all.

It's a long walk from Capitlan to Roswell. Mack Osborne recalled this week when he was visiting in Carrizozo. Back in 1902, he left Carrizozo for Capitlan, intending to catch the stage there for Roswell. He missed connection, and as the bus would not return for several days, he decided to walk. Accompanied by two friends, they started out on what proved to be a two and a half-day hike. "The only weapon we had was a pocket knife," he said, "but fortunately it was all we needed, though we saw bear, mountain lions, deer, antelope and more rattlesnakes and polecats than I ever run across before or since."

All books sent overseas are under close scrutiny these days by the State Department. Wm. J. Sebald, U. S. ambassador to Burma, ordered some books on plumbing and they were so long reaching him that he decided they must have come under scrutiny as books on the "underground."

BILLY THE KID

He rides, again, in exciting episodes of the Lincoln County War, reenacted in a Pageant Saturday and Sunday night at the Old Court House grounds in Lincoln. The pageant, entitled "The Last Escape of Billy the Kid," starts each evening at 8 o'clock. Sunday has a full day of activity, starting with registration of old timers at 10; old timers parade of 11 and a basket picnic at noon. Gov. Mecham is scheduled to make an address in the afternoon. There will be an old-time fiddlers lambores, exhibition dances, and a $1 plate dinner served prior to the evening pageant. (Lincolnum cut by Mrs. Julia Penfield Reidy)

SCHOOL TEACHERS WANT SOME MORE

SANTA FE, August 5 — New Mexico school teachers, instead of being the object of universal sympathy, have become the subjects of complaints from other public employees.

Studies under way for the last year at the statehouse on the pay and work of public employees show the teachers far ahead of most other workers.

For instance: The State Welfare Department has a starting rate of $2880 a year for social workers with a college degree. New Mexico school teachers with a degree have a starting rate this year of $2200 in most of the systems and higher in others.

The money doesn't show the real difference. The teacher for her $3200 has a work-year of 172 days, the equally or perhaps better educated social worker has a work-year of 243 days for her $6800. The social worker is required to own an automobile and contribute $144 a year to retirement. The teacher makes no contribution toward her retirement. The work day for the social worker is eight hours, and according to estimates of state-house school people the teacher's work day is between six and seven hours.

The standard practice followed by most schools in the State, it was explained, calls for 4 1/2 hours a day in classroom work in the primary grades, five hours classroom work in junior and senior high schools and 5 1/2 hours in the classroom in the intermediate grades. Most superintendents require teachers to be on hand half an hour before school opens a short time after dismissal. Superintendents generally discourage teachers from taking their work home. General practice gives teachers ten days sick leave, which is the same observed in most public jobs in the State.

TEACHER TRAINING IS RATED LOW

Other workers in arguing their position in relation to that of teachers have been pointing to a recent Selective Service finding which placed students majoring in education at the very bottom of the college group in getting a useful education. At the top were engineers who are being employed by the State Highway Department at a starting salary which works out to a lower daily rate than paid starting teachers.

It's the short work-year for teachers that makes it difficult for the equalizers to get other pay scales on a comparable basis. The belief among many that teachers spend their summer months going to school is not

LETTERS TO EDITOR

Answers Criticism of Federal Aid To N. M. Public Schools

Editor News:
In view of the recent publicity in regard to Federal aid granted the school system of New Mexico, I am enclosing the following background material for your information.

The New Mexico Taxpayers' Association has taken the position that Federal aid and Federal control are synonymous. The record shows that this is not true and the great importance of Federal aid in our whole educational set-up is difficult to exaggerate.

Within the past few weeks an attack on Federal aid to schools has been launched by the acting director of the New Mexico Taxpayers Association, Mr. Albert K. Nohl. While we do not understand what has motivated this sudden opposition to Federal grants for educational purposes to the state, we do realize that unless the people are fully informed as to both sides of the story irreparable harm may be caused our whole educational program.

Mr. Nohl takes the position that Federal aid means federal control. In regard to our schools this is absolutely not true. His only example of such control is citing of the fact that the government must place its approval on plans and specifications for new buildings constructed with Federal funds. This is true. Such approval of plans and specifications is required, and following construction an audit of the expenditures is made to satisfy the government that the Federal funds used were properly expended. We believe the government should take such a precaution in regard to the spending of public funds.

The approval of plans and specifications and the following audit, however, are the only manner in which the Federal government demonstrates the slightest interest in our educational program. There is not at the present time, and there has never been any attempt by any Federal agency or bureau to interfere with or dictate to the school system in the matter of policies, curriculum, teacher rates of pay, or in any other manner.

As we see it the use of Federal funds in helping the poorer states keep their educational programs up to standard works in very much the same way as the operation of New Mexico's school equalization law which attempts to equalize the educational opportunities among the various counties of the state, so that each school child will enjoy equal opportunities of receiving an education.

It must be remembered that Congress, members of which are elected by the people of the various states, must pass on the appropriation of Federal funds for grants in aid to education. These elected representatives of the people are certainly not interested in taking any steps which would place the school system of their various states under the bureaucratic control of Washington in any way.

REVIEW OF NAVY'S PART IN 3-YEAR STRUGGLE IN KOREA

NAVY HEADQUARTERS, YOKOSUKA, JAPAN—The signing of the military armistice in Korea last week added a final chapter to one of the most epic actions in United States sea history.

Finis has been written to a three-year struggle which saw five U. S. Navy ships sunk and over 78 others damaged in battle without engaging an enemy ship while for the first time in United States history, a Naval admiral, (C. Turner Joy) was the leading delegate at peace talks between two opposing land armies.

Although the 11-nation U. N. Navy encountered no opposing enemy sea forces, heavy surface ships and carrier planes exacted an appalling toll of enemy lives and battle equipment—in the war.

In many ways it was a crazy war. A war in which trains on land were chased by ships at sea and enemy soldiers were subjected to battle indignities far inland where not even a self-respecting Communist doggie would expect the Navy to be.

In the early days of the war, the enemy spoke ominously of a secret weapon. "The Devil Bomb." The "bombs" came from nowhere no planes could be seen—sounds could not be heard. The "secret weapon" was the 16-inch shells fired by battleships often as many as 20 miles away.

The Navy's far reaching island strikes wrecked the enemy's supply timetable, kept his troops on an uneasy defensive, sealed off all his sea lanes and made travel along his coastlines a high-priced risk—life.

TAKE IT OR LEAVE IT
The peculiar terrain of Korea forced the enemy either to accept these hazards or quit, for with his seaports sealed, his best roads lay along the coast within easy reach of bombarding ships. An extremely prohibitive mountainous inland forbade construction of good supply roads in the interior.

On the east coast of Korea, the Seventh Fleet and Task Force 77 roamed the Sea of Japan and struck everything that moved under a Red flag or bugle while over in the Yellow Sea, Marine pilots on U. S. carriers alternated with British pilots and carriers to seal up that end of the Peninsula.

When then Far East Commander Douglas MacArthur was ordered to oppose the invaders, June 25, 1950, the United States Navy in the area consisted of one carrier and a handful of destroyers scattered from Okinawa to the Philippines. Carrying palmetto complements, these ships were woefully undermanned for war ed in taking any steps which would place the school system of their various states under the bureaucratic control of Washington in any way.

New Mexico at the present time stands in need of approximately $50 million dollars worth of new school construction to care for increased school population and replace obsolete buildings. This shortage of school room facilities is increasing at the rate of nearly $12 million a year. Last year slightly over $4 million was allocated for new construction. This should make it painfully clear that New Mexico's educational program is facing a crisis in the matter of finding available funds for new construction. And, of course, for every new classroom, a new teacher must be added to the nearly 7,000 teachers now in our schools.

We can appreciate the anxiety of the New Mexico Taxpayers' Association to act as the watchdog of the treasury and urge that for every dollar of taxpayers' money spent a dollar's worth of value be received. But we cannot appreciate or understand the vigorous opposition to Federal aid for our schools. Without such aid our entire educational program would be endangered. Even with the aid we are now receiving in those areas where government activities have made such an impact on the community as to make Federal school aid an imperative necessity, many of the states are faced with a problem of overcrowding and inadequate facilities which are going to be difficult to solve.

There has never been, and there is not at the present time, any effect by the Federal government to usurp the prerogatives of the various states in the matter of control of the educational program. If any such effect became apparent the educators themselves would be the first to recognize and oppose it.

Certainly New Mexico could get along without Federal aid for its educational program, but it could only do so through a drastic retrenchment of the program, and by handicapping the children of New Mexico by greatly reducing their educational opportunities. This, in our eyes, is a wholly unacceptable alternative to the acceptance of Federal aid.

Yet, it was only three days after the order when the cruiser USS Juneau delivered a withering bombardment at Samchok while on July 3, Task Force 77 launched the first carrier jet raid in history.

This raid was directed by Rear Admiral John M. Hoskins, the Navy's only peg-leg admiral—a World War II casualty.

During the first trying days of touch and go, the U. S. Navy landed the Army's 25th Infantry Division and the First Cavalry Division at Pohang-dong, the beginning of ground opposition.

In the matter of a few weeks, the Navy had expanded to over 400 vessels—in less than 2 years the Navy had demobilized and returned to duty over 500 ships at a cost of less than 10 per cent of their replacement value to the American taxpayer.

INCHEON LANDING

September 15, less than four months after the start of the war, the Navy bombarded, neutralized and landed invading UN forces at Inchon to start the rout of the North Korean Army.

General MacArthur said of the operation, "The Navy has never shone more brightly."

October 26, the sea forces made history again. It landed X corps, the same army force it had landed ashore at Inchon on the west coast less than a month before on the east coast for an unopposed invasion of Wonsan. This was the first time that an entire army with all its equipment had been landed on one coast of a country—picked up and reloaded on the opposite coast of that country.

Of incomparable value to the operations of the United Nations Navy have been the little wood-hulled minesweepers. These little lightweights moved in close inshore under the very muzzles of Red guns and clear coastal waters of mines while at the same time stugging it out with enemy shore batteries.

During the early days of the war, one minesweeper was lost for an average of every 25 mines swept. Minesweepers sunk have been the USS Pledge, Partridge, Pirate and Maggie. In addition the fleet tug Saral was sunk by mine contact.

In the air, naval pilots were often overshadowed by the glamour of MIG kills by ground planes whose assignment was MIG alley. Nevertheless, carrier pilots didn't go intirely MIG-less in the war. All in all, 20 MIG's and several Yak-15's were shot down by Navy and Marine Corps pilots.

First MIG chalked up by the Navy was downed by Lt. Commander W. T. Amen, flying a Pantherjet from the carrier USS Philippine Sea. This kill occurred in early November, 1950, a few months after the war began. The first Navy Air Ace was Lt. Guy P. Bordenon, USN, Ruston, La., who downed his fifth enemy plane on July 16, 1953.

Captain Jesse Folmar, flying with the famed Marine Checkerboard Squadron in the Yellow Sea (from the carrier USS Sicily) attained unique distinction. He performed the audacious feat of shooting down one of the fast Communist jets while piloting a world war two propeller-driven Corsair.

NAVY PICKS UP MIG

Possibly one of the greatest aids to pilots of all services in coping with the speedier Red jets was the recovery of a Navy downed MIG by a Navy landing ship, the USS Whetstone, which travelled deep into enemy inland waters to recover the craft.

This recovery was of first importance to military experts in evaluating the capabilities of the formidable Red jet.

Still, there were casualties for the Navy which never once in this war duelled with the guns of a hostile enemy ship. Never once seeking the far sanctuary of the seas it controlled, the Navy moved closer inshore to bombard and shell enemy guns and positions. Three hundred and thirty-seven American sailors were killed in these duels while another 1,584 were wounded. Hospital corpsmen, those intrepid medics, trudged through fire and blood with the Marines and suffered 94 killed, 384 wounded in action and another 16 missing in action.

When two beggimed hospital corpsmen walked the line to freedom at Little Switch, the first exchange of sick and wounded prisoners, they made history not only as the first but the only two Navy men to be repatriated.

By JOHN J. DEMPSEY
Congressman from New Mexico

WASHINGTON, JULY 30 — Although it is too early yet to evaluate fully the record of the first session of the 83rd Congress, as it nears probable adjournment next Saturday, or to measure accurately and fairly the degree of success attained by the new administration in its first half year there are some "straws in the wind" worthy of note.

The American people know definitely now that they are not going to be given the expected relief from their excessive tax burden. The excess profits tax on corporations which has hit the "little fellow" hardest and prevented business expansion has been extended. That is wrong. The fact that the government needs the money does not justify continuation of an unjust tax.

On the other side of the ledger, however, can be found some hope. There have been cut-backs in government spending in 1954. Nearly every appropriation has been reduced below the budget request, some quite drastically but not enough to cripple proper government functions. The one possible exception may be found in appropriations for development and conservation of our natural resources through such programs as reclamation and flood control. This Congress has failed to rec-

FAIR TO PAY $300 FOR N. M. PAINTING

ALBUQUERQUE (Special). Creation of a special $300 purchase award in the fine arts department has been announced by officials of the 1953 New Mexico State Fair.

Secretary Manager Leon H. Harms said the award is being instituted in addition to regular prizes in the hope of acquiring a permanent collection of paintings of the New Mexico scene and subject matter for the Fair.

Paintings to be considered for the purchase award must be in oil on an objective New Mexican theme or subject and entered in a special class. Entry in the special class does not prohibit the artist from entering the same painting in regular professional classes. The special class is limited to professional painters.

The $300 purchase award is the only prize in the special class and the winning painting becomes the permanent property of the State Fair. A special committee will make the selection.

For the regular professional division of the Fair's show, Sept. 26-Oct. 4, all entries must have been previously entered in the Fiesta Exhibit in Santa Fe.

ALBUQUERQUE — (Special). From the traditional little red schoolhouse, New Mexico educational systems have come into their own in a modern new structure at the 1953 New Mexico State Fair.

The new structure — appropriately named the "School House" — has just been completed at the $2,500,000 State Fair plant in Albuquerque. It will house educational exhibits for the 18th annual exposition September 28-October 4.

In years past, because of space limitations at the rapidly growing fair plant, school exhibits have been shuttled from one place to another. The new structure was completed in the direction of the State Fair Commission in recognition of the growing importance of school contributions to the success of the exposition. The building, 215 x 40 feet, is part of a long range expansion program for the Fair.

Designation of the new building as the "School House," said State Superintendent of Education Tom Wiley, will "bring back happy memories to many visitors at the fair this fall."

Hereford Ranch Tour Scheduled for Sept. 3-5

With general rainfall in most of southeastern New Mexico plans for the Third Annual New Mexico Hereford Ranch Tour are progressing as originally scheduled. Returning recently from a survey of the area, Mrs. Linda Lambert, Mosquero, president, reported:

"Although spotted in nature, most all of southeastern New Mexico has received sufficient rainfall to make good grass thru September, and continued moisture will insure ample winter feed."

Some 1000 ranchers are expected to take part in the tour which is scheduled for Sept. 3-4-5 and will visit Hereford registered and commercial herds in Lea, Roosevelt, Curry, Chaves, and Lincoln counties. The tour will start at Hobbs the morning of Sept. 3, immediately following the quarterly meeting of the New Mexico Cattle Growers Ass'n which is scheduled in Hobbs, Sept. 2.

From Hobbs the tour caravan will head north, visiting ranches along the way, winding up the first night in Clovis. On the morning of the second day the caravan will start with a tour of the Clovis stockyards area, then head toward Roswell where the second night will be spent.

On the morning of the third day, Sept. 5, the caravan heads west with a final stop at the historic old town of Lincoln for a big final barbecue.

The entertainment program includes several barbecues or banquets, dances and good Hereford shows. No charge is made to visitors on the tour and every one is invited, Mrs. Lambert said.

NEWS FROM THE COUNTY AGENT

By RALPH DUNLAP
County Extension Agent

Grasshoppers Invade Range and Farm Land

Recent surveys indicate that 69,000 acres of range land in Colfax and Harding counties are being treated for grasshoppers. Infestations range from 10 to 75 hoppers per square yard, says B. C. Dobson, Extension entomologist at New Mexico A & M College.

About 100,000 acres of range land in Chaves and Lincoln counties are also heavily infested, according to Dobson. The ranchers in those two counties are planning to start control within the next two weeks. Plans are already under way to seek State and Federal aid to combat these pests.

Other counties which have recently been inspected and have reasonably heavy populations of hoppers are Rio Arriba, Sandoval, Bernalillo, Valencia and Hidalgo. Infestations in these areas are heaviest on the irrigated farm land. Infested fields are being sprayed with chlordane and toxaphene. Some fields already have been treated as many as three times.

Dobson warns orchardists in the upper Rio Grande Valley to be on the alert for movement of grasshoppers from fields of newly cut alfalfa to fruit orchards. Migration has already begun and the pests could cause severe damage to fruit trees unless they are controlled.

County 4-H'ers Place Well at Portales

The Lincoln County 4-H Junior contestants placed well at the district contest, held in Portales Saturday, August 1.

Alice Shaul, of the Captain 4-H Club, and Lana Vance of the Redgoose Valley Club, both placed in the blue ribbon group at the district contest.

The Lincoln County livestock judging team placed in the red ribbon group. The team was composed of Fanny McKnight, Jon Wild, Douglas McKnight and Carroll Jones.

The Home Economics judging team, composed of Vera Shaul, Paty Nunez, Janis Farrell and Judy McKnight, placed in the white ribbon group.

The contest was held on the University campus at Portales.

COUNTY WHEAT GROWERS TO VOTE ON MARKET QUOTAS

Acres allotments are the backbone of the recently proclaimed marketing quotas to be voted upon by eligible Lincoln County wheat growers in the August 14 referendum, R. Archie Perkins, Lincoln County chairman, said this week.

If approved by at least two-thirds of the wheat growers of the nation voting in the referendum, marketing quotas and allotments will become effective on the 1954 wheat crop.

The result of the referendum also determines the amount and extent of price support the farmer will be eligible to receive.

If growers approve marketing quotas in the referendum, price supports on the 1954 wheat crop will be available to cooperators at 80% of parity as provided by law. If growers do not approve quotas, price supports to cooperators will drop to 50% of parity.

In general, Chairman Perkins explains, all Lincoln County farms on which wheat was grown in 1951, 1952 or 1953 will be assigned an acreage allotment. In making these allotments, consideration is given to the number of tillable acres on the farm, the crop rotation practices followed (including acreage planted to wheat), type of soil and slope and lay of the land.

For the past several weeks the county committee has been obtaining data on each farm's past and current wheat production.

The allotment for Lincoln County farms is worked out from the basis of the national allotment. The national acreage allotment for the 1954 crop is 62 million acres. Production from the allotment, plus carry-over, will provide more than enough wheat in 1954, together with the estimated imports, to meet domestic and export needs, plus the 30% required by law.

The national acreage allotment is then apportioned among states and counties according to acreage seeded to wheat during the latest 10-year average, adjusted for trends and other factors.

Chairman Perkins advised that any farmer who believes his wheat acreage allotment is not accurate may appeal to the county committee. If he is not satisfied with the county committee's decision he may appeal to a review committee of three farmers appointed by the Secretary of Agriculture, which will consider the evidence and make a decision. If not satisfied with this decision, the farmer may, within 15 days, initiate proceedings for a review of the proceeding by a court.

IN MEMORIAM Reba Straley Bingham

(By MRS. ELVA WILSON)

Residents of the Ancho community were saddened and grieved again Tuesday, July 28, when Reba Straley Bingham, member of a prominent pioneer family, passed away at the Carrizozo hospital.

Reba, fondly called "Monkie," was the youngest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Straley. She came to Ancho as a little girl with her family, from Sterling City, Texas. "Monkie" attended Ancho grade school and finished high school at Ft. Davis, Texas, and was a graduate of El Paso Business College.

She held a secretarial position with the Fred Woodworth Insurance Co. in El Paso for many years, leaving the company to return home during World War II to assist in the C. S. Straley and Co. store during the absence of her brother, Cap. who served with the First Marine Division.

In 1950 she suffered a heart ailment following a severe attack of virus pneumonia. Since then loving hands have done everything humanly possible to prolong the life of a kind, patient, suffering sister and friend.

Rev. L. Markham officiated at the services and spoke comforting words, comparing life to a beautiful piece of tapestry. "God furnishes the materials and the plan and we are the weavers," he said.

Relatives attending were Mrs. Oscar Bagwell of Hatch, N. M.; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Bagwell of El Paso; L. J. Mitchell of Alamogordo and Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Jackson of El Paso.

Friends from out-of-county were Mrs. L. L. Roby and Mr. and Mrs. Snodgrass and family of Las Cruces; Mrs. C. L. Patterson of Fabens, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Delaney, George Dickison, Mrs. Ed Driskell, Pat Driskell and Mr. and Mrs. H. W. White of El Paso; Mrs. P. A. Melton and sons; Mr. and Mrs. L. Melton of Helen; Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Drake of Roswell and Mr. and Mrs. Brack Sloan of Claunch; also Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Harger of Tularosa.

Floral offerings were many and beautiful. In addition, donations were made to the Heart Fund.

Special music, two solos and songs were beautifully rendered by Mrs. Bryan Hightower, Mrs. Laura Jones and the local choir.

Funeral services were held at 10:30 a. m. Monday at the Carrizozo funeral home. Burial was in the Carrizozo cemetery.

A TRIBUTE TO OUR REBA You gave the fairest gift of life. A love that's pure and true. A willing heart, a helping hand. To strengthen friends for you. And the hand of adverse fate. Did tinge your life with blue; The world is yet a better place For having known and loved you.

Cord of Thanks

Once again, so soon, our family has been grief stricken, this time by the loss of our beloved sister, Reba. To all who came to us, twice within a month, with assistance, love, sympathy and kind offerings, in a last tribute to a beautiful life well spent, we give our grateful and heartfelt thanks. THE STRALEY FAMILY
