By PAUL BAKER

The possibility that Federal funds allocated for flood control and soil conservation in the Upper Hondo Valley might be used to acquire Lake Bonito, was ruled out this week by S. H. Fuchs, conservationist of the Upper Hondo-Soil Conservation District. In a letter to the News, Mr. Fuchs said:

"The funds available from the 1954 appropriation act and the regulations set up by Robert M. Salter, chief of the Soil Conservation Service, do not provide for water storage structures, or projects which are primarily for the storage of water for domestic or irrigation use.

"The objective of the watershed protection program is to complete, as nearly as practicable within a period of five years, a program of flood prevention and soil and water conservation in each designated watershed that will provide reduction to the fullest practicable extent of flood water, sediment and land damages occurring within and downstream from the watershed.

"Even though it is recognized that the Bonito Dam has, and proposed facilities for water storage on Eagle Creek, would have beneficial effects in flood protection, they are or would be in fact primarily domestic water storage. For this reason funds appropriated for the watershed protection program could not be used for this purpose."

Speaking of abandoned refrigerators (see opposite column) Fred English of the Carrizozo Hardware Co., says his men take great pleasure in smashing to pieces every old refrigerator that his firm takes in on trade-ins on a new appliance. And in Sacramento, Calif., a super market offered to give a Thanksgiving turkey for old boxes or ice box doors turned in. The store had to call it quits after 4000 turkeys were given away within two hours.

When Santa Claus comes to Carrizozo with his pack of toys Christmas eve, he'd better bring along a sample of everything and drop it at the home of Linda Darlene Garcia. Linda wrote Santa a letter this week, stating her requirements, as follows: "Santa—Please bring me a doll and a squeak and a doll-buggy and a dresser and comb, a brush and a wagon and car and a bike, a book, a coffee pot, a glass, a train, barrettes, powder, purse, dresses, gloves, pillows, stove, fryers, sink, my Daddy, baby's clothes and blankets." (Ed. Note—Just drop everything down the chimney, Santa, including Daddy.)

Louis Farris, local taxidermist, finds the close of the hunting season a busy time. He has been given orders for bear rugs from a number of hunters, including John Robertson, Ross Flatley, Percy Parker, Melvin Bradley and Mr. Griffin of Reserve.

Twenty-one sets of large deer heads have also come in for mounting, including a 16-point. "They are the largest I have ever had come in," Mr. Farris says and his explanation for it is the newly opened Patos refuge to hunting. "A wounded buck," he says, "always goes to a secluded spot, and if he recovers from his wounds, he is almost certain to grow a freak set of horns the following year—of 12, 14 and even 16 points. The male deer naturally has 10 points," the veteran taxidermist says.

Henry Vega, 19, rounded out a successful hunting season Sunday, by bringing down a large brown bear on the east side of Carrizo Mountains, near the crest. It was not far from where Melvin Bradley killed his bear earlier in the season. Young Vega, who had previously bagged a 10-point buck, was hunting with Joe Vega Jr. and Willie Vega. They spotted the animal at 5 o'clock in the morning on the side of a cliff. Just as he and his brother were visible and the boys watched the bear through binoculars for some time, before Henry put a well-aimed shot between its eyes at 400 yards. The animal was a fat female and dressed out at 180 pounds. The hide will be tanned and the head mounted.

Wyoming's Teton Mountains are being handed about with reckless abandon. Governor Metcher was taken from the Governor of Wyoming when the Lobos beat the Cowboys this fall in a football game. This week Gov. Ed in a burst of generosity presented the entire Teton range to a polite patient who had traveled the greatest distance to attend a March of Dimes rally in Albuquerque.

The Past Masters Club will meet at the Women's Clubhouse Tuesday, Dec. 8, at 3 p. m., with Mrs. O. H. Mayer and Mrs. Anna Roberts co-hostesses.

Carrizozo Has Refrigerator Scare

LEO CHAVEZ, 11, (opposite) had the terrifying experience of being locked in an unused refrigerator on Thanksgiving morning. He was imprisoned by a playmate as a prank, but it had a fortunate ending. Leo's cries were heard by J. W. Sidwell, who happened to be working nearby at the Phillips 66 Station. The youth was released from his "jail" after only about a minute's imprisonment, but he was a very frightened lad and in tears. "I couldn't breathe," he later told his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Chavez.

The Junior play, "So Help Me!" takes the spotlight this Friday at 8 p. m., in the grade school auditorium. "So Help Me!" has hilarity and heart appeal in three acts. Using the basement of his home, he cooks up a formula for killing bugs.

March of Dimes Drive To Begin January 2

Mrs. Rex Werner, Mrs. Mahel Vigil and Mrs. Jane S. Turner returned to Lincoln County on Monday from a "March of Dimes Roundup" in Albuquerque. Plans were made for the annual March of Dimes, which is to begin in Lincoln County and throughout New Mexico on January 2.

Mrs. Turner is County March of Dimes director. Mrs. Werner is director of the Mothers' March on Polio.

The meeting, with representatives from 93% of the counties present, was held to acquaint MOD leaders with progress of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis in its fight against polio.

"Our main theme this year is polio prevention," Mrs. Turner said. "The turning point is close at hand in the long war against infantile paralysis. In 16 years, the American people—through the March of Dimes—have been attempting to repair the human wreckage left in the wake of polio's yearly onslaughts.

"Now," Mrs. Turner added, "we have an exciting new front of polio prevention to move us from the defense to the attack. Instead of waiting to heal the ravages of polio—which we must continue to do—we are now trying to prevent it. We feel certain that the people of New Mexico and Lincoln County will help us in this effort."

Lincoln County raised 31 cents per capita in 1953. The State average was 38 cents, with Los Alamos county going $1. This year's goal for Lincoln County is 50 cents per capita, or $3705, based on the 1950 census. The National goal is $75,000,000.

"In New Mexico," Mrs. Turner revealed, "there are only three paid workers in the entire State. All others are volunteers. Expenses of the National administration run only 4%. So you see nearly all of our dime comes back to us in direct benefits of patient care and results of research, which is ready for field trials in 1954 of a vaccine for polio."

1954 License Plates Go On Sale December 15

The 1954 car license plates will be on sale in Carrizozo December 15. H. Elfred Jones announced this week. Truck, passenger and trailer plates will be available.

"We would like to dispose of as many plates as possible before the first of the year," Mr. Jones said, adding:

"We shall be glad to give the people their last year's plate numbers, if requested. All requested numbers are to be purchased on or before the second day of January, 1954. After that date, we will have to sell the numbers as we come to them."

"We want to caution everybody that every transfer of title must be sent to Santa Fe within 15 days of the date of transfer. Failure to do so will result in levy of a $10 fine."

Mr. Jones' office will be closed from December 23, through December 27.

Farm Bureau Meeting This Week in Duke City

LAS CRUCES, N. M.—Farmers, ranchers and their families from every county are meeting in Albuquerque in December for the 33rd annual convention of the New Mexico Farm & Livestock Bureau.

Agricultural New Mexico's attention is focusing especially on the Farm Bureau's conclusion this year as a vast majority of the state Farm Bureau's more than 9000 family members are intent upon taking active part in formation of the state's stand in the development of a national farm policy program aimed at carrying agriculture and the nation into a peace-time prosperity.

Months ago, Agricultural Secretary Benson asked Farm Bureau to secure a "grass roots" poll of its more than a million and a half member families on vital issues involved in such a program.

Farm Bureau has taken this bid for advice seriously. Delmar Roberts, State President and a member of the American Farm Bureau board of directors, states:

In New Mexico and throughout the nation these issues have been discussed and studied by Farm Bureau members in practically every county.

Convention action on policy resolutions will be taken from New Mexico to the national convention in Chicago later in December where it will play an important part in adoption of a national stand such as Secretary Benson has requested.

QUICKIE SENTENCE DISTURBS COURT

SANTA FE, Dec. 2—The case of an Albuquerque political figure who was released from the state penitentiary after serving only one tenth of the minimum term given by District Judge E. Turner Hensley, is threatening the State Patrol Board with contempt of court proceedings.

Attorney General Dick Robinson has undertaken a study of the case to determine if contempt is involved. The officer has refused to discuss the case but it is known that the investigation is being made at the request of the Portales Judge.

Last April Judge Hensley sentenced Cecil Garcia to two and a half to three years in prison for obtaining money from Bernalillo County under false pretense. Garcia, member of a prominent Albuquerque Republican family, had been indicted by a grand jury while he was employed in the purchasing office of Bernalillo County.

He was released from prison, last July 20 after serving two and a half months. The penitentiary board said he was released because of a stomach ailment. Upon leaving the penitentiary, he entered the Veterans Administration Hospital at Albuquerque and was dismissed from the hospital on August 27.

The contempt action under consideration is unprecedented. If the board should be charged with contempt and the action upheld, it could change the entire practice of handling prison releases and paroles. Judges in the past have sometimes informally intervened regarding the release or retention of prisoners sentenced from their courts but there is no record of contempt procedure against the prison board.

CULBERTSON GAINS GOVERNOR BACKING

W. O. Culbertson, state representative, is moving up in the ranks of prospects for the Democratic nomination for governor. The fighting in Bernalillo county by supporters of John Cimma, Jr., Bryan Johnson and District Attorney Paul Tackett appears to have started some party leaders to looking toward Culbertson whose residence is outside the war zone. Culbertson, a well-to-do rancher, recently moved from Harding to San Miguel county. His new support seems to center in that area with some coming also from Union, Colfax and Quay.

CANDIDATES THICK—TWO TO A FAMILY

There are so many political hopefuls this year that they're breaking out two to a family. Former State Representative Sixto Leyva of Santa Fe is being talked as a prospect for Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor and his father, Mike Leyva, has told that he is a candidate for corporation commissioner. Georgia Lusk is running for state school superintendent for her boy, Senator Gene Lusk, is still being talked as a governor possibility. Charley Baswell is running for corporation commissioner and his daughter, Secretary of State Beatrice Roach, says she will jump in the Congress race if an opening develops.

COFFEE TALK AT THE CAPITAL

Don't be surprised to see a big retinue of politicians following Alvin Stockton around soon. The word has spread around the Capital that he is loaded with dough for his run for the Republican nomination for governor. There's a big scrap going on in Santa Fe about a proposal to move U. S. 85 in about 15 feet closer to the State School for the Deaf. Reason for the objection: the traffic noises. . . . Members of the Board of Finance had red faces last week when they learned for the first time that they had been collecting for themselves 7c a mile for travel and $8 a day expenses for nine months after they had ordered all others reduced to 6 cents and $7. . . . That reduced expense allowance is the most hated thing in the capital. Workers complain that they lose money on every trip. . . . Welfare Director Alva Simpson is in Chicago trying to sell the national social security people a deal which would permit welfare clients to earn more.

"Who Put the Wad in Papa's Shotgun?"

(From the State Game Dept. Newsletters)
Perhaps we should anticipate a new song entitled "Who Put the Wad in Papa's Shotgun?" A report from Lawrence County, Pennsylvania, suggests this. It seems there wasn't enough excitement there over a hunter bagging an albino raccoon—a rarity. When the hunting party approached the fallen ringtail, they found nine perforated $20 bills strewn about. The mystery was not solved until the "Nimrod" returned home; then he learned that his son had secretly rammed the $180 worth of currency wadding into the barrel of his Dad's shotgun "for safe keeping."
The young man knows now he was wrong, but he may not realize that anyone versed in firearm safety would tell him: The obstruction in the gun barrel could have resulted in serious injury to his Dad; as well as destruction of the weapon.

TWO HUNTERS PAY FINES FOR UNTAGGED BUCKS

District Deputy Game Warden James L. Dillard, of Conchas Dam stopped an automobile carrying two untagged buck deer and one doe east of Las Vegas. The occupants were taken to Las Vegas and locked up in the San Miguel County jail, while the investigation was in process. They were noncommittal as to who had killed what, and were very vague in their answers to Dillard.

Carl Berghofer, Game Department Patrolman, and State Patrolman M. S. Chavez assisted in the investigation. Louis Padilla paid the fine of $25 and $5.50 costs for possession of an untagged buck. Jose Del Valle paid the fine of $25 and $5.50 costs for one doe deer. Manuel Torres paid $25 and $5.50 costs for illegal possession of doe deer. The case was heard in the court of Frank J. Wilson, Las Vegas.

State Cattlemen to Meet December 7

State cattlemen will meet in Deming December 7 to analyze the current drought situation and economic problems confronting the livestock industry and submit recommendations to the U. S. Department of Agriculture and Congress which will be calculated to stabilize and strengthen the position of the industry on a long-time basis, according to Ed Heringa, Clayton, President of the New Mexico Cattle Growers' Association.
"In his recent visit to New Mexico, Secretary of Agriculture Benson invited our organization to recommend steps which might be taken to improve the USDA emergency drought relief program in the southwest," Heringa said, "and we have every reason to believe the Secretary will give careful consideration to our suggestions."

Foot and mouth disease in Mexico, state and public land problems; proposed government rules on Brucellosis (a livestock disease) control; livestock tax matters and watershed protection are among other subjects which are slated for discussion at the Deming meeting.

F. D. Pollard, director of the Production Loan Division of the Farmers Home Administration, USDA, Washington, D. C. will appear as one of the principal convention speakers. Directly in charge of the government emergency agricultural loan program, Pollard will cover all phases of the government's participation in financing livestock producers who need additional credit at this time.

"The cattle market has improved to a considerable extent during the past three weeks, and even with unusually large runs of cattle on local and central markets, prices have held more steady than anyone in the industry expected," Heringa said. "The critical situation has not yet passed, however, we have every reason to believe that conditions within the industry are taking a turn for the best."

Exhibit to Depict Land of Enchantment at Nat'l Travel Show

A de luxe exhibit depicting the Land of Enchantment will be placed by the State Chamber of Commerce Managers Association in the National Travel Show in Chicago, Feb. 19 to 18. It was announced today by A. J. Zimmerman, president of the Association.

Zimmerman has enlisted the cooperation of most of the Chambers of Commerce in the state, as well as the State Tourist Bureau and the Tourist Industries Council. The exhibit will feature major tourist attractions in New Mexico, and it will also note the favorable conditions that exist in the state for the establishment of new business and industry.

"Pointing out that this is the first time that a cooperative enterprise of this kind has been undertaken, Zimmerman said, "Since the tourist business, is one of the state's largest industries, it behooves us to, plow back at least a fraction of the tourist income into promotions that are supported by privately-subscribed funds."

The National Travel Show in Chicago will attract more than a quarter of a million of upper-income consumers. The State Chamber of Commerce Managers Association feels that such an income group in the Midwest forms a natural market for the tourist industry of New Mexico and intends to make an exhibit at the show an annual affair. The permanent exhibit constructed for the show will also be available for other New Mexico promotions.

Zimmerman said: "This year is the kick-off. We will have a fine exhibit—but next year we intend to double the size."

By 1965, statistics indicate that there will be some 107,000,000 licensed drivers in this country—or more drivers than there were people just 30 years ago.

Your property insurance agent is a special type of businessman. He is a professional with certain professional responsibilities. The services he renders are bound up closely with the personal fortunes and well-being of his clients. He is a person whose advice and judgment of insurance, the peace of mind of his clients, farmers, merchants and manufacturers largely depends on his competence. He does much more than just "sell insurance."

To meet this challenge, your agent is constantly developing higher professional standards for his business. His National Association provides educational and training programs which are in operation throughout the country. Local insurance agents were among the first to work for establishment of insurance education on the collegiate level. A well-informed insurance trade press, and the companies which the agent represents also offer many excellent educational facilities. Not everyone can become an insurance agent. Before he can do business in any state of the Union, he must be licensed by the Insurance Department. Many states have strict qualification laws, including a number of cases, the passing of written examinations. Through the efforts of leading agents to protect your interests, qualification requirements are regularly being raised. This complex demands of a highly competitive business are, in themselves, an effective safeguard against the incompetent. As in every other field which imposes a high standard of professional standards, the activities of local representatives of insurance are unthinkably in today's community economy.

NEWS FROM THE COUNTY AGENT

Many Cooperators in Wool Improvement Program in State

Part the hip wool, appraise length-for-grade by "eye", chalk mark by grade, chute cut for breeding, do over and over chute classing entire herds—and you have the basis of the sheep and wool improvement program in New Mexico.

A decade or so ago, several growers took a "flyer" with P. E. "Prof." Neale, Experiment Station animal husbandman at New Mexico A&M College, to test these practices. Others followed suit in classing with Ivan Watson, extension animal husbandman.

The sheep and wool improvement program began about 1940 with several growers cooperating. It is now known to be followed by 175 sheepmen from every range sheep county in New Mexico.

In the past year, 360,000 stock sheep were known to be classed under the length system. Of this number, the woolgrowers are grading 165,000 head annually—nearly half of the total number classed, without on-the-spot assistance. Here the sheepmen have taken a leaf from the 4-Hers handbook and are "learning by doing."

The program could not have attained its present stature in New Mexico without the aid and interest of the county agents. Agents alone accounted for 90,000 sheep classed under their supervision. State specialists, working with the growers and with the county agents, chute-classed 103,000 sheep. It all adds up to 360,000 head of stock sheep length classed each year. That's four out of every ten sheep in the state, exclusive of those on Indian reservations. It is quite likely that this figure will soon be increased to at least five out of ten. Though no figures are available on reservation sheep at this time, it is known that Indian agents are stressing ram certification, development of small "parent" flocks, and the breeding of better rams for all reservation users.

The wool standards are raised roughly one-half inch for each corresponding coarser wool grade, such as half-blood or three-eighths blood. After the length has been well improved towards the staple, premium price "A" type, greater stress is then laid on other production factors such as body weight, wool density and bolly covering.

These wool improvement practices have added over $1,000,000 to the state's sheep and wool economy.

4-H Clubs Teach Farming, Home-making

Lincoln County boys and girls who are interested in learning more about farming and home-making will have an excellent opportunity to do so in their local 4-H Club.

All 4-H members "learn by doing" whether in the fields of home-making or agriculture or health or safety.

Any boy or girl between the ages of 10 and 21 interested in taking at least one agricultural or home-making project may join a 4-H Club.

Home economics projects, of special interest to girls, develop skills in food preparation, clothing, food preservation and home furnishings.

Boys and girls who are interested in the livestock production projects get an opportunity to raise and care for beef and dairy cattle, sheep, pigs, poultry and rabbits. The crop production projects include work with field crops, marketing, and home gardens and fruit.

In addition to these projects, 4-H members may carry general projects such as junior leadership, home beautification, farm and home electric, and tractor maintenance.

Among 4-H activities which add to the 4-H members' enjoyment of rural living are conservation, health, safety, and fire prevention. Of these the health activities have been the most popular. Safety and fire prevention, also popular, give members a chance to remove conditions which cause accidents and fires. Members who take the conservation activity learn to identify wild life and help to conserve the natural resources.

Young people in Lincoln County interested in joining their local 4-H Club should contact their local leader or County Agent for further information.

A&M College to Sell 12 Registered Cows

Twelve registered dairy cows are being offered for sale by New Mexico A&M College to the highest bidder or bidders. Eight of the cows for sale are registered Holsteins, six of which are due to calve in the next few months. The four other cows are Jerseys, two of which are due to calve in January. The oldest cow in the group is six years old, the youngest two years.

Anyone interested in purchasing any or all of the cows may send a sealed bid to the office of the purchasing agent, New Mexico A&M College, State College, N. M., by 10 a. m., Dec. 6.

Full particulars about the cows may be obtained from Dr. S. R. Skaggs, head of A&M's dairy department. The animals may be viewed at A&M's dairy barn.

RANGE GRASSES

TEXAS TIMOTHY

Texas Timothy or Wolf tail may be found scattered about on dry rocky hillside on a wide variety of soils. It has preference to sandy or gravelly loams. It may be found growing between 4,000 and 8,000 feet.

Texas Timothy is a grayish green slender, perennial bunchgrass. It normally grows less than two feet in height. This grass gets its name from its timothy-like heads which also resemble the tail of a wolf.

Seldom is Texas Timothy of great abundance, although it is very common in mixtures with the Grammas, June Grass, often in fairly open stands of oak brush and ponderosa pine.

Texas Timothy is one of the first grasses to green up after summer rains. It like most other grasses, is of greatest palatability and most nutritious when green and succulent.

Ranchers consider it a very good grass even though the Grammas are eaten in preference to it, especially after maturity.

Study plots in Lincoln County indicate that Texas Timothy is becoming more common in some areas than it once was.

State Auto, Gas Levies Total Millions Annually

SANTA FE, Nov. 28.—Gasoline taxes and other automotive levies collected in New Mexico average well over two and a half million dollars a month.

State levies paid by motorists totaled nearly 23 million dollars last year and collections this year are higher, the Taxpayers Association of New Mexico revealed today.

Federal automotive taxes collected in the state amounted to more than 10 million dollars in 1952 and probably will exceed that figure this year, according to an association report quoting figures from the Federal Bureau of Public Roads.

The state gasoline tax collections totaled almost 16 million dollars last year, while Federal levies on motor fuel and lubrication oil sold in New Mexico amounted to nearly five and a half million.

The grand total of automotive taxes paid in New Mexico in 1952 was more than 33 million dollars and probably will top $100,000 a day—for 1953, said Albert K. Nohl, Acting Director of the taxpayer organization.

State Spending Over Four Million Dollars Yearly for New Schools

SANTA FE, Nov. 28.—Public school facilities are being built in New Mexico at the rate of well over four million dollars a year.

School construction costs amounted to $39,500,000 in the nine-year period from 1945 through June 30 of this year. That total was shown by a survey released by the Taxpayers Association of New Mexico recently.

Debt on public school facilities in this state presently amounts to some 24 million dollars, or $34 per capita.

Of the total spent on new school construction the past 9 years, more than 30 million dollars was obtained through bond issues approved by voters. Over four million dollars came from regular, direct property taxes.

More than five million dollars was received through Federal grants for school construction in districts where Federal activities have resulted in actually increased enrollments.

Bonded debt for school buildings have increased almost 19 million dollars over the $5,484,000 total owed by various school districts of New Mexico in 1945, the Taxpayers Association survey showed.

For the current fiscal year it will require $3,374,900 to meet the interest and retirement requirements on this debt.

They will stay soft for several days.

THE CONQUEST OF THE UNKNOWN

By REV. J. M. KERR, Pastor First Baptist Church of Capitlan

ABRAHAM

FAITH MEANT A FUTURE

"By faith he sojourned in the land of promise, as in a strange country, dwelling in tabernacles . . . for he looked for a city which hath foundation whose builder and maker is God."

The end of faith was not death, for it reached to the other side of death. It gave life permanence and perpetuity. Besides, the future was secure in the present, for Abraham, at the time of God's promise, was without an heir and without an heir the future was meaningless. So, through faith, Sarah herself received strength to conceive seed, and was delivered a child when she was past age, because she judged him faithful who had promised. "Therefore sprang there even of one, and him as good as dead, so many as the stars of the sky in multitude, and as the sands which is by the seaside innumerable."

Faith realized much in the present but it would realize more in the future. So far as Abraham's posterity was concerned they "died in the faith." They did not see all the promises fulfilled in their day but they did receive their benefits ultimately.

Christian experience is a present blessing. It offers much now but at its best and brightest it is even then incomplete as a present thing. It is God's down payment which he will pay in full at the end. Much may be our share now, but more is coming. Abraham's faith took him into a new land, but that was only the beginning. Little did Abraham dream of the blessings which later came to the land in the days of theocracy and which are still to come. Think of what Abraham would find now, if he could pay a visit to Palestine. It is now a land of fine cities and great agricultural colonies. The cities produced $120,000,000 in products and the colonies 200,000 tons of grain and 200,000 tons of oranges in a recent year. More than most people realize or care to know, this land holds the hope of the world. The individual hope of the men and women of the world must go back to a cross on its hills where peace was made by the blood of that cross. The collective hope resides in the promises of things yet to be which center around this land.
