

RAMBLIN' AROUND

By PAUL B...

Believe it or not, the owners of used phonograph records are in Carrizozo this week packing 75,000 records which they have purchased from the Southwest Music Company.

The men who bought the records and are packing them for shipment are Phil Harris, record dealer and jobber of Los Angeles; Will Ray Hearne of Los Angeles, publisher of the Hollywood Premium Record Guide, and Jerry Wise of Hollywood, a partner in the Jazzman Record Collection Co. of Hollywood.

Messrs Hearne and Wise are principally interested in collector's items, and to them collecting records is as much of a hobby as stamp collecting and coin collecting is to others.

Asked what constituted a collector's item in records — what makes one used disc more valuable than another, Mr. Hearne said "the records we look for primarily are those by Negro musicians who do not read music; by hill-billy artists who do not read music and those by great vaudeville stars of the past, such as Sophie Tucker and Al Jolson, when only a small number of recordings were made. The original records are the ones that count and we can spot them right away."

Mr. Hearne, who travels thru many States in the pursuit of his hobby, tells about the time he dropped into a long established drug store in Eugene, Ore. The proprietor was clearing a shelf of records that had accumulated through the years.

This week packing the records in Carrizozo for shipping to the Coast is progressing. An order was sent to El Paso for 3000 cartons, 4 1/4 x 10 1/2 inches in size. They will hold 25 records each. When the job is finished it is estimated the boxes will make two truckloads.

An orchid this week to Coach Darling and his Captain squad of basketball players who won third place in the State Tournament. Lincoln County is very proud of the fine record these young men have made, both in basketball and football.

Ernest McDaniel, Hondo Valley rancher, says things were coming his way during last week's windstorm. A more excitable person might have thought they were flying saucers, dimly seen in the haze of dust. Ernest, however, classified the objects which were carried along by the gale, as family washbubs. Maybe by this time the families to the west have checked with their neighbors on the east for all types of windborne objects, including washbubs.

Sheriff Bradley supplied us with some startling information this week, namely, that if the present rate of auto accidents continues for the rest of the year, one out of every five persons in this State will be involved in a car mishap before the end of the year. That's something to think about when you get behind the steering wheel. Last year close to 40,000 car accidents were reported in New Mexico alone. "And, by the way," the Sheriff says, "they weren't accidents, either. There was a reason for every one of them."

We haven't seen Coach Darling since he was in town last Tuesday on his way to Las Cruces, but he must have been pretty surprised when he was well on the way to Oscura and discovered a carton of groceries on the back seat of his car. He turned around and drove back to Carrizozo, stopping at the grocery store where the mistake had been discovered and Mrs. Joyce Simpson was patiently waiting for her groceries to come back.

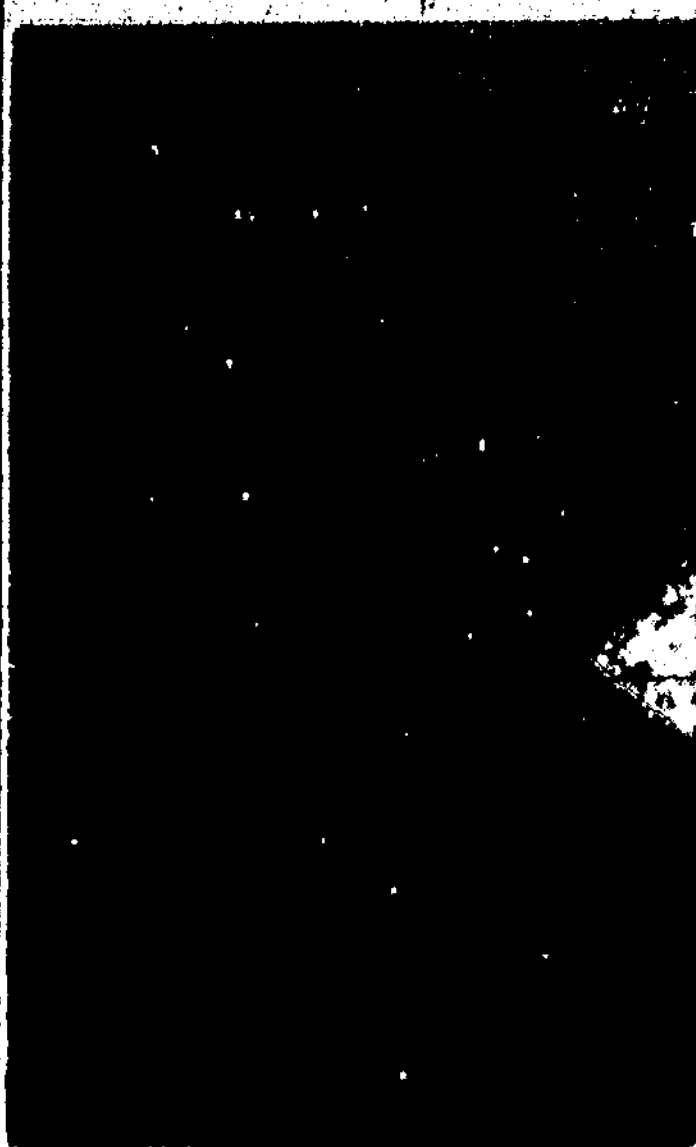

The Ford Times, publication of the Ford Motor Company, usually comes up with an article about New Mexico. The April edition has one about Cloudcroft, which Bob Koonce, the author, calls "my favorite town."

Farm Bureau Members Meet in Carrizozo

Carl A. Nicholas of Dexter, guest speaker at Friday's Farm & Livestock Bureau meeting in Carrizozo, outlined a number of the immediate objectives of the organization in New Mexico.

One objective, he said, is definite control of rain-making, which he said it is felt, has been more detrimental to the State than helpful.

Mr. Nicholas is a member of the board of directors of the Chaves County unit of the New Mexico Farm & Livestock Bureau. He was accompanied to the meeting by Mrs. Nicholas and Mrs. Oscar Kunkel of Dexter. She is chairwoman of the Chaves County unit.

The NMFALS, Mr. Nicholas said, favors the orderly marketing of livestock and approves the efforts of the Department of Agriculture in its effort to find world markets for surpluses.

The Farm Bureau, he said, favors the decentralization of the drought relief program, putting it on the State level.

Kenneth Noeker, president of County unit, was also a speaker. The meeting in Carrizozo was a finale to the week-long membership drive of the Lincoln County unit. A number of new members were introduced, but full reports on the drive will not be tabulated until later, it was stated by Mrs. Bill Shreengost, organization director.

Charles A. Jones, president of the Captain unit, presided over the meeting, which was preceded by a covered dish supper in the Woman's Club.

Dancing was enjoyed later to the music of the Coe Orchestra.

Sacramento Mountains, as follows: "The constant and supreme attraction is the view off the west drop of the mountains, where the highway leaves town. Standing on the summit, visitors see the mountains fall abruptly down and away from green heights through massed faulted and up-ended brown foothills, to the point where the terrain levels out on the desert floor of the vast Tularosa Basin. There, an insidiously white expanse under the eternal sun, are the great White Sands. Finally, the granite crags of the serrated Organ Mountains furnish a blue-gray background."

Many from County Attend Traffic Meeting Monday in Las Cruces

Committee members from a number of Lincoln County communities attended Monday's meeting of the three-county District Traffic Safety Coordinating Committee in Las Cruces.

Inspector Connor of the Texas State Highway Patrol, was the principal speaker. He stressed driver education and better enforcement of traffic rules as a partial solution to the mounting toll of lives in traffic accidents.

Driver training is important, he said; also in the past our people have not backed up the law enforcement officers and the courts.

As an illustration, Mr. Connor said that the bludgeoning of a child to death on the street by a man with an iron bar, would result in a speedy execution. The same man, he said, could crush a child to death in the street while driving a car and escape with a light sentence.

The speaker praised Judge W. T. Scoggin for his efforts in setting up the traffic safety committee. Its work, he said, is "vital and timely."

Among those attending the meeting from this county were State Highway Policemen Don Smith of Hondo and Eddie Apodaca of Carrizozo; Sheriff Wm. G. Bradley, Ray Province of Captain, Ben Sanchez of San Patricio, W. A. Hart of Ruidoso; Albert and Jimmy Kimbrell of Ruidoso; justices of the peace W. Scott Campbell of Green Tree and Charlie Weems of Ruidoso; R. H. Hedgecock and Dewey Gann of Ruidoso and Frank C. Joyce of Carrizozo.

Mr. Campbell has taken the leadership in organizing a traffic safety committee in the Hondo Valley.

Carrizozo Schools Buy Activity Bus

The Carrizozo school board, in its meeting last week, voted to accept the bids of the M. & F. Equipment Co. for a bus body and of the Lincoln County Motors for a chassis for a school activity bus.

The new bus will have 23 head rest seats for students to ride in comfort. The addition of jump seats can increase the carrying capacity to 35.

The bus will be painted in the school colors, scarlet and gray, and will be delivered late in the spring.

The board also voted to launch a school safety patrol next fall. Superintendent Firman reported that the North Central Association, at the meeting of its state committee, voted to give Carrizozo unqualified approval for the current school year.

Red Cross Quota Passes Half Way Mark

Reports which have come in from around the County on the progress of the Red Cross fund and membership campaign indicate that it is going very well, according to Mrs. John Boylan of Lincoln County chairman.

The total amount collected to date is $736.46, well past the half way mark of achieving Lincoln County's goal of $1315. The number of memberships thus far reported is 285.

Ruidoso is leading in the campaign with $265 contributed. Captain reports $149 and 68 members; Carrizozo $125 (incomplete), Encinosa $40.20, Picocho $36 and 13 members, Alto $3, Glencoe $13 and nine memberships, Ancho $8.01, San Patricio $11.35, Tinnie $10 and 10 memberships.

Lincoln town collected nearly $100 through memberships and a movie and sweet sale. DISCUSS SETTING UP FIRST AID CLASSES

John Manthel, Red Cross first aid and water safety representative, was in Lincoln County Tuesday to discuss setting up first aid classes in the County. Mrs. Boylan states the first of these classes will be organized in Ruidoso.

Dr. Bram Vanderstock will teach the standard first aid course in a 9 weeks' course of a two-hour class each week. He expects to begin the class the first part of April.

More details will be reported as soon as materials for the course have been received.

Society for Crippled Children Help to Many

Billie Villet Nicholson of Albuquerque, executive director for the New Mexico Society for Crippled Children Inc., was a Lincoln County visitor Tuesday.

She went over plans for the Easter Seal drive with Mrs. W. H. Erickson, one of the two county chairmen. The other chairman is Joe Reinhart of Ruidoso.

The four-week drive opens on March 18 and ends April 18. Last year Lincoln County raised $368. Of this sum all but 8.3% remained in the State. This year's quota is $500.

Services by the Society are 12 speech and hearing rehabilitation centers, one at Alamogordo; epilepsy clinics in Albuquerque, which are attended by several Lincoln County children; cerebral palsy day school and outpatient clinic, which is also in Albuquerque.

The services, which are not limited to children, are free. A summer camping program for children is also provided. A two-week camp is planned for Ruidoso this summer. A wheel chair and crutches loan service is also provided by the Society.

Inmate of Mental Hospital Escapes

The Sheriff's office in Carrizozo received word last week that Jesse E. Hulse, an inmate of the State mental hospital in Las Vegas, had escaped from that institution and was at large.

Hulse was committed in Lincoln County District court last April after being arrested while in the possession of dynamite and guns. At that time he had made threats against the Southern Pacific Railway.

Hulse is considered dangerous. Since his confinement he has sent threatening letters to Sheriff Bradley and one to Judge Scoggin.

Hostesses will be the Mrs. Jane Turner, Mary Lou Salas, Sam Nickels and Miss Barbara Jean Brantley. Mrs. C. E. Degeher is program chairman.

All members are urged not to miss this interesting program.

Lloyd Taylor is still improving. His many friends wish him a speedy recovery.

Joseph P. Roach, chief of the New Mexico State Police, will explain the part law enforcement will play in the program.

Among those planning to attend from Carrizozo are Sheriff Glen Bradley, Superintendent of Schools R. G. Firman, John McCallum and Vernon Petty, president of the State Highway 54 Association.

WILL HARRISON'S Inside the Capital

SANTA FE, March 17—Friends of John Simms, the exclusive Democratic candidate for governor, are hoping that he will work with better judgment than that which guided his first foray into the campaign.

The very rich and influential Simms from Albuquerque inaugurated his campaign by going into Socorro, a little town down the river where one of his potential opponents is mayor, and blasted the administration of Mayor Holm Bursum, a Republican candidate for the nomination for governor, and got on record as opposing a proposed bond issue to introduce natural gas into the community.

If Simms made any friends by going down there and telling people of the sovereign city Socorro that they had made a mistake in choosing their mayor, and I doubt if he had much influence in telling the people of that community how they should vote on their own personal question of natural gas in the town.

More serious than that, because Socorro is going to vote for its mayor anyway, is the state-wide notice that Simms got by coming to the support of one J. O. Gallegos, a Republican way back when the Republicans were in, comptroller under Clyde Tingley, revenue commissioner under Jim Miles, and for a time under John J. Dempsey, beneficiary under the Tom Mabry administration, and most recently a leader in the Chavez faction rumfump effort to force Bill Culbertson over as a Democratic candidate for governor. Gallegos was for 20 years, more or less, the Democratic boss of Socorro and Simms went to his aid in the approaching city election.

Shortly after Simms went to Socorro, Gallegos made headlines in the state press by announcing that he would support Simms whom he had fought so hard before the convention.

Ordinarily the party people gathering around the nominee would be accepted as merely so much party loyalty but this Gallegos pledge, following as it did the Simms appearance in his home town looks a little different.

WHO WILL SIMMS PUT TO WORK? It is, after that, fair to ask if Simms proposes bringing Gallegos back into the state government. And along that line it is fair to ask if Simms is planning to reinstate Mike Gallegos, one of his chief lieutenants, in his old job as motor vehicle commissioner; if he proposes to reinstate Joe Bursney, one of his campaign helpers, in his old job as state tourist director; if he is going to give the Albuquerque automobile license distributorship back to Manuel Sanchez who has been such a big help to him in the campaign so far; if he is going to accept Paul Case, the former liquor association secretary who defeated the repeal of the guaranteed profit law in the last legislature, as one of his advisers in the administration as in the campaign.

Along this same line it is asked if Simms might be fooled if he proposes to return H. N. McDaniel as purchasing agent, Victor Salazar, one of his campaign helpers, as revenue commissioner, Burton Dwyre as highway engineer, Elliot Barker as game warden, Ben Luchini as director of employment-security, Dr. James E. Scott as head of the health department, Murray Hintz to run the welfare department, Hubert Beasley as head of the state police, Howell Gage for pen warden, Harold Sellers as head of the state tax commission.

SIMMS ASKED FOR IT IN SOCORRO FITCH: Ordinarily it's not political cricket to demand of candidates the names of people they propose to appoint, but Simms in showing particular deference to J. O. Gallegos of Socorro, one of the most controversial political figures of the past two decades, has invited such inquiry.

The question of who would run the statehouse for Simms is the most dangerous issue threatening the young (he's 37) Albuquerque candidate. On the surface he appears to have a clear-cut advantage for election this fall but could stump his toe on such a subject as the possibility of reinstating the old Democratic regime that was so boisterously thrown out of the statehouse in 1950 and kept out again in 1952.

There were some first rate people in the old Democratic set-up but the good and bad alike were smeared with the stuff that was flying out of the hot boxes and there's hardly any retrogression that Simms could

Permission Needed
For Highway Drives

Permission must now be obtained and plans approved before driveways can be built across highway rights-of-way, according to a recent policy established by the State Highway Commission.

The new policy also sets standards for driveways, and people requesting permission to build driveways can receive a set of suggested diagrams, showing the type of plans that will be approved. These can be obtained from the State Highway department.

Although each driveway is an additional construction problem, the diagrams serve as guides in making plans for driveways.

DISTRIBUTION OF FOODS TO CHARITABLE AGENCIES

The New Mexico Department of Public Welfare is the distributing agency serving schools, institutions and other agencies within New Mexico, with foods obtained by the United States Department of Agriculture under price support, surplus removal, and the National School Lunch Program.

The welfare department makes these foods available to non-profit school lunch programs, institutions and other eligible re-ipients, including schools, welfare families, Indians, institutions and summer camps.

The government can ask to see your tax records up to five years after you file a return. So it's a good idea to keep them around for that long.

Fire Protection Calls for Better Water System

Most everyone is agreed that Carrizozo has been extremely fortunate in the matter of fires. We have an efficient and alert volunteer department, no question about that. But it is difficult to fight fire without an adequate supply of water under pressure.

One of the volunteer firemen who knows has said that if a fire should start in the outlying areas of town, the small mains would be pumped dry within 30 seconds. That is a serious situation for fire on a windy night could be carried for blocks.

Only 10 per cent of the town's area is protected by the new main. That's why fire insurance rates are high in Carrizozo and why they will remain high until a system is installed that meets standard specifications of fire insurance underwriters.

According to estimates, fire insurance rates in Carrizozo would be reduced on business buildings from 25% to 35%, depending on type of construction, as the following table shows:

	Present	Proposed
Brick approved	42	26
Brick unapproved	48	32
Frame approved	52	34
Frame unapproved	58	40

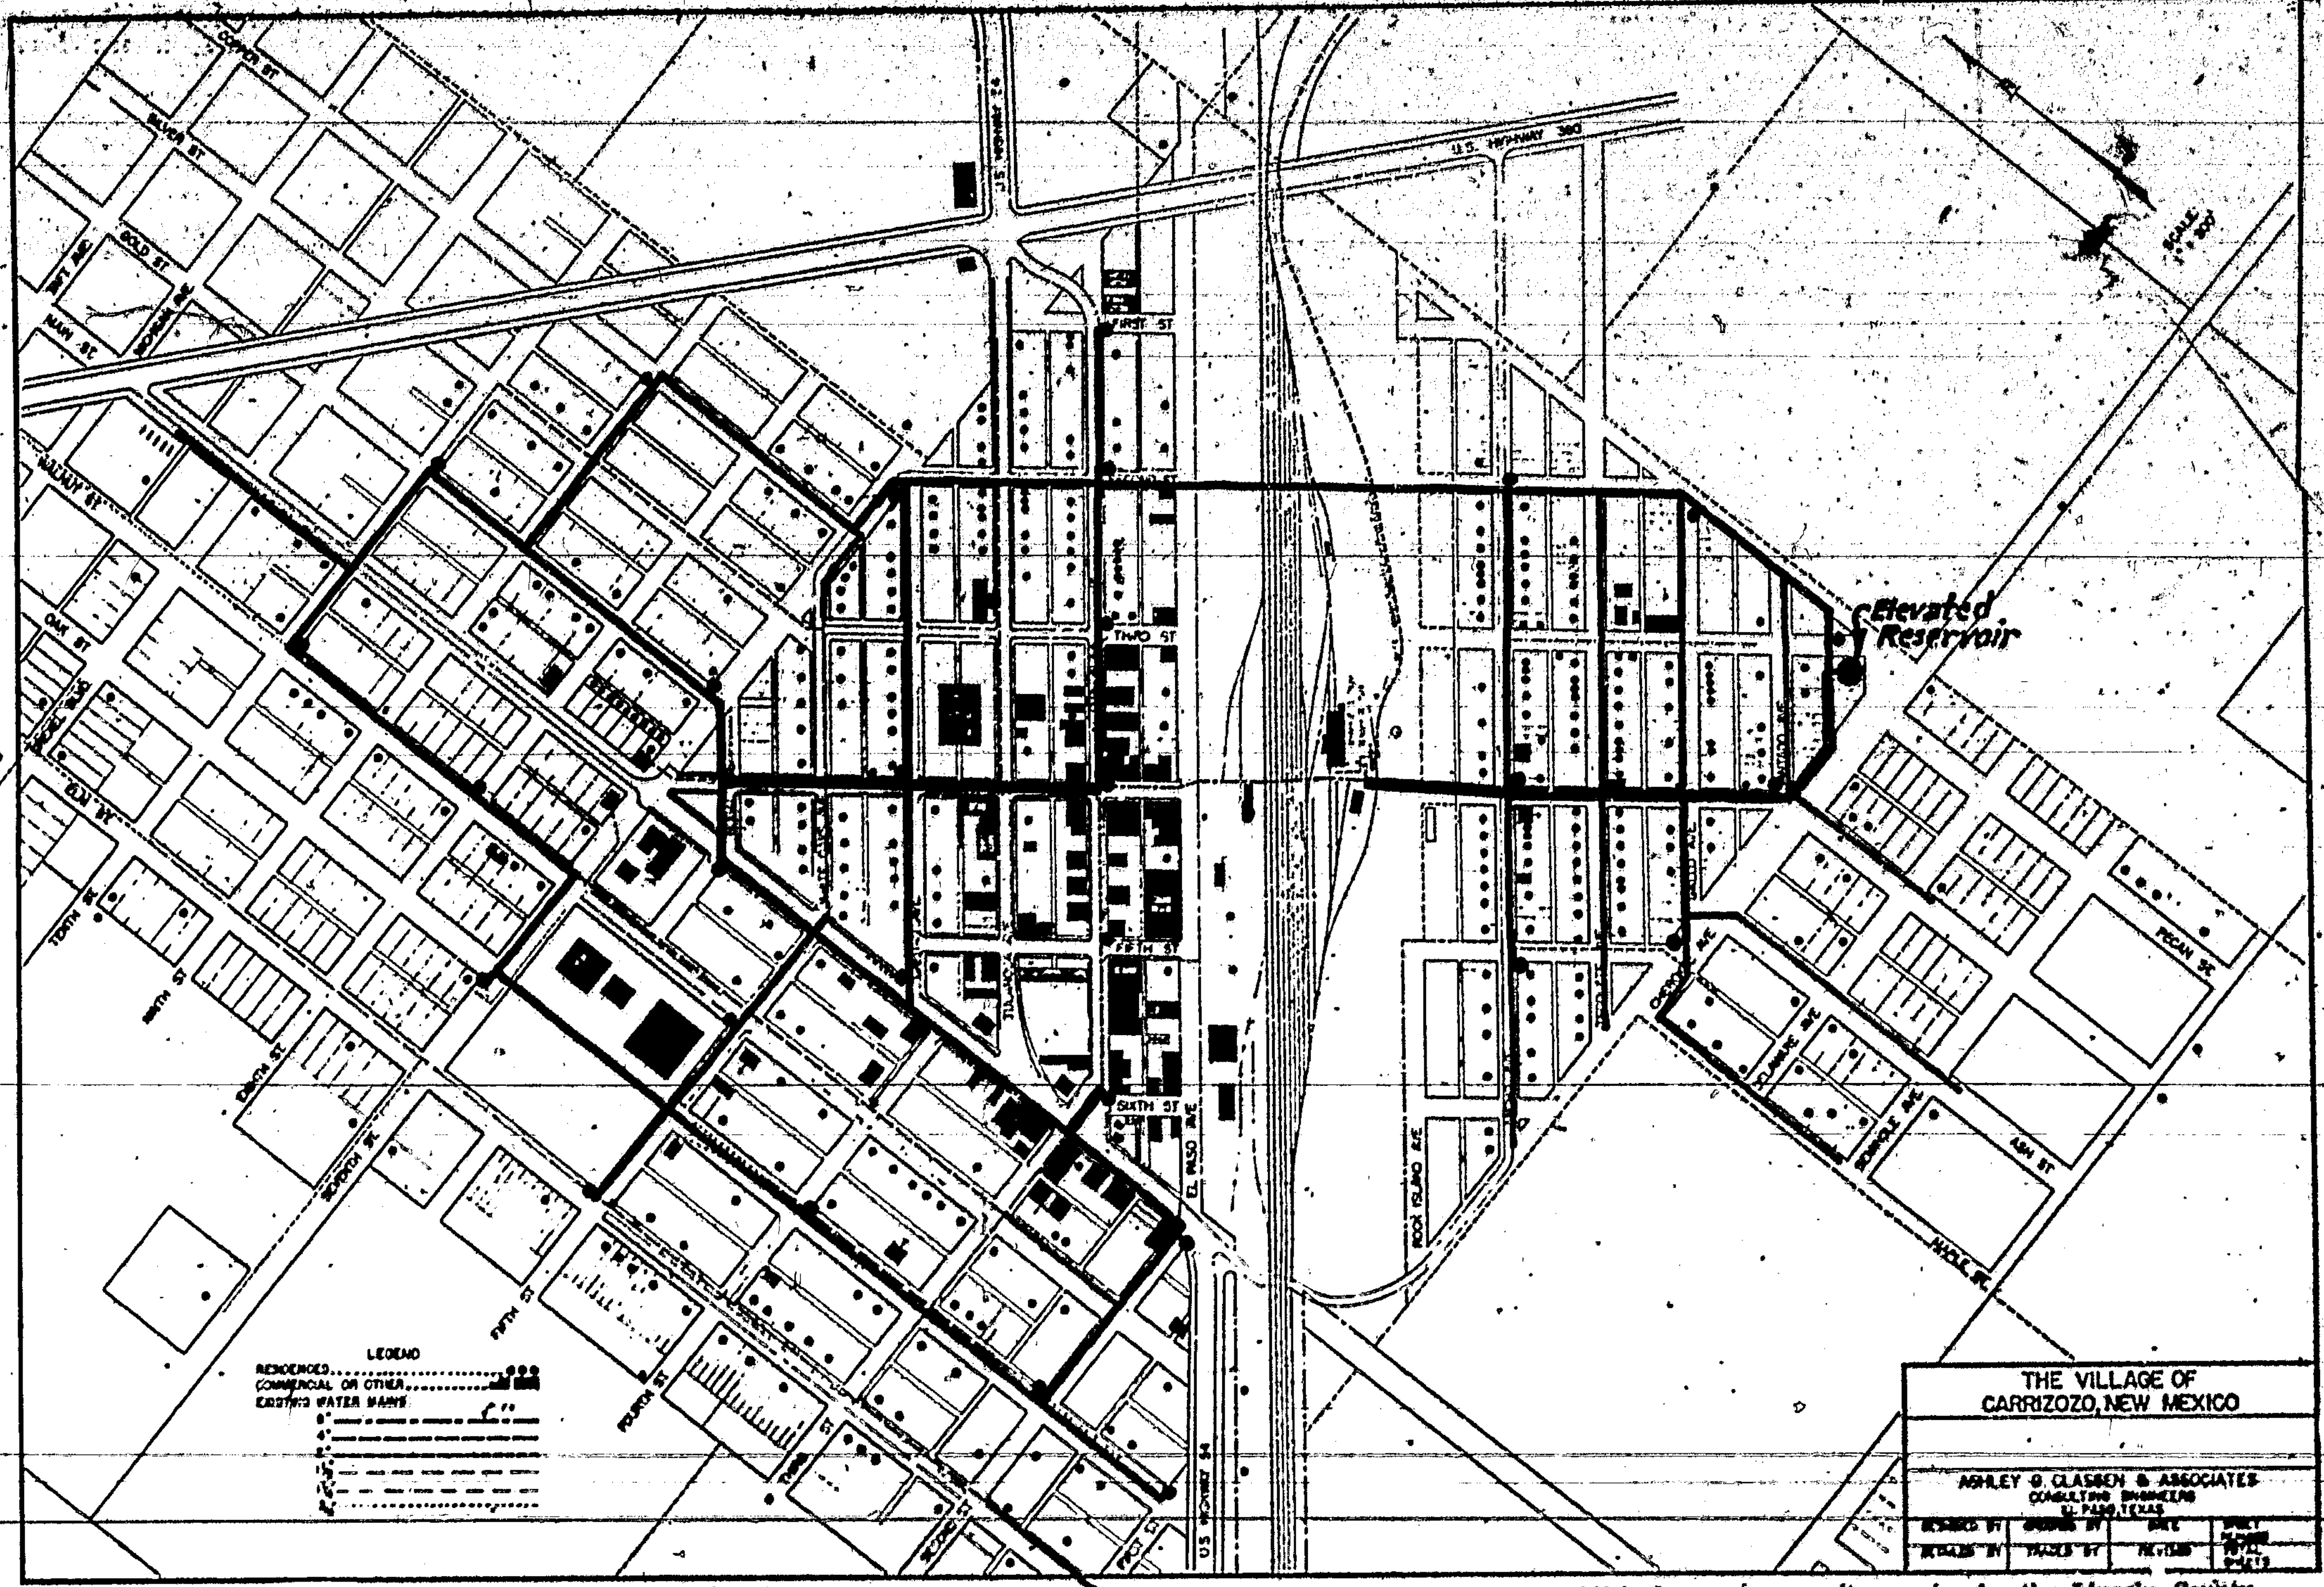

One residential area of Carrizozo in particular is greatly in need of better water distribution. That is the south portion of town. It is on higher ground, well drained and with a good view of the mountains and plain, but these advantages are offset by low water pressure and inadequate distribution. Many home owners are without water and others who have it find the pressure very low at times.

Lack of water was said to have caused the loss of the Navarro residence by fire a few months ago.

One home owner appeared before the town council recently, asking for an extension of a water main to serve her home. It would have necessitated 200 feet of pipe from the nearest main. The cost would have been approximately $150. She was advised to wait the outcome of the water bond election. If it carries, water service into her home from a new main will cost her $50 instead of $150. In the meantime she will continue to carry water from a neighbor's line two blocks away.

How much will the proposed water distribution system raise taxes? The estimated tax rate over a 25-year period to retire $150,000 water 3% General Obligation Bonds will be approximately $1.03 per $100 valuation, which would mean a tax of $30.75 or $2.50 per month on a property assessed at $3,000.

Should the town of Carrizozo be able to buy water at a lower rate than is paid at the present, it would be possible to retire the bonded indebtedness at a faster rate.

NEWS FROM THE COUNTY AGENT

By RALPH D. ...

DROUGHT FEED ORDERS ARE NOW BEING ACCEPTED

Orders from ranchers for drought feed will be accepted at the Lincoln County CSS office in the Court House until March 28 for feed to be used before April 15, 1954.

Wheat is still coming out of the southwest warehouses for use in the drought emergency program. So is some corn, but most of it is coming from the other producing areas.

These are the only feeds moving now except ingredients that are going into mixed feed.

Since the drought emergency program got under way last summer, more than 800 thousand tons of cottonseed products, corn, oats and wheat have been shipped into the Southwest, according to the Commodity Stabilization Service.

In addition, orders have been placed for almost 71 thousand tons of mixed feed. All of these feeds have gone to livestockmen in Arkansas, Colorado, Kansas, New Mexico, Oklahoma and to Texas. Most of it has consisted of cottonseed cake, meal and pellets and corn.

According to CSS, Texas livestockmen have received more feed than any of the six states—around 416 thousand tons, plus 18 thousand tons of mixed feed.

Arkansas is next with about 168 thousand tons and an additional 37 thousand tons of mixed feed. Kansas is third with about 127 thousand tons of cottonseed products, corn, wheat and oats, and two thousand tons of mixed feed.

Oklahoma took around 113 thousand tons, plus almost 1600 tons of mixed feed. Around 99 thousand tons and about 11 thousand tons of mixed feed went to New Mexico.

FARM BRIEFS

Infestation with lice presents a winter problem in many cattle herds. Treatment with chemicals to kill the parasites is effective, but care must be used to keep cattle out of drafts after spraying to avoid disease complications.

Cortisone has been used successfully for the treatment of arthritis in cattle. Veterinary medical authorities also report the drug has proved effective in rheumatoid and arthritic conditions of horses and dogs.

Wool Trade Ass'n Supports Aiken Bill

The Boston Wool Trade Association, along with various other wool organizations in the country, has formally endorsed the "Aiken Bill" as a future domestic wool program, according to the Commercial Bulletin, the weekly Boston trade paper. The bill passed the Senate Agricultural Committee on March 3 with a unanimous vote.

Some modification was offered by the various wool groups, but the bill, introduced by Senator George Aiken (R., Vt.) was generally accepted and the Senate committee passed it with only a few revisions.

In short, the bill provides that the annual domestic wool production be set at 300 million pounds of shorn-wool, greasy basis, as "a measure of national security and in promotion of the general economic welfare." The present law sets production at 360 million pounds, well above current domestic clips. By far the most important part of the bill was the incentive-level price support of domestic wool.

A revision by the Senate committee emphasized that shorn wool prices be set at "incentive levels" after consultation with producer representatives. An other amendment by the Senate Agriculture Committee to the bill would allow shorn wool to be supported either by direct subsidies to growers, a loan program, or purchases program. Should the support by direct payment be unsatisfactory, loans not in excess of 90% of parity would be permitted for shorn wool.

The section of the bill which the BWTA wanted amended affected the promotion of wool as a fibre through advertising or other methods on a national basis. The legislation, if passed, would give domestic producers authority to collect assessments for advertising and sales promotion programs for wool or their products.

The Boston Wool Trade Association wished an amendment be added to include the newly formed Wool Inc., "whose sole purpose is the promotion of wool as a fibre, although it is not directly engaged in the handling of wool but all its members are engaged in this business." Thus such an organization could qualify for the above mentioned portion of the bill. The Senate committee approved this amendment and it was included in the legislation sent to the Senate.

The wool growers have backed the Aiken Bill, with the National Wool Growers and the National Wool Marketing Corporation also behind the plan.

resentation over there is the heaviest ever. One of the candidates for governor, Alvin Stockton, is from Baton; Warren Cohean, a certain nominee for Congress, is the mayor of Roswell; Charlie Battiste, unopposed for lieutenant governor, is from Carlsbad; Beau Baughman, unopposed for auditor, is from Clovis. Albuquerque-Santa Fe's representation remains light in the other races. John Coury, land commissioner nominee is from Guadalupe; the nominee for treasurer is from Torrance and one of the two contestants for secretary of state is from that county. Holm Bursum, favored by many to get the governor's nomination, is from Socorro.

The Republicans are not in an ideal spot to take advantage of the geographical weakness of the Democratic ticket because of some glaring weak spots in the lower part of the Republican ticket which may lead voters to overlook the Santa Fe-Albuquerque monopoly.

UNOPPOSED RACES REDUCE INTEREST

Another condition cutting into the Democrat's margin of favor is that of no-contest in the top four races. Our Clint, the senator, John Simms for governor, and the two congressmen didn't draw an opponent. That's likely to produce the dulllest Demo primary ever with the Republican governor's race taking the headlines and the public interest. Democratic party leaders look at it another way. They think they are better off to lose public interest for a while if in doing it they can avoid a party-wrecking primary fight.

The most interesting contests in the Demo primary promise to be for two places way down on the ticket—Mrs. Lusk and Nunn for school superintendent, Ingram Pickett and Terry Moynihan for corporation commissioner. And that's about the whole show.

That's a long way removed from the Democratic primaries of a while back when half a dozen or so were yammering and scrambling for every place on the ticket that had an effect of convincing people that there were only Democrats running.

Democrats at this point appear to have an edge for the November battle but they left some chinks in their armor.

THE LIBERTY BELL

The Liberty Bell was thrice cast and thrice cracked, says the National Geographic Society. Cracked on its first test after arrival from England in 1752, the famous Philadelphia bell was melted down and recast twice by American bell founders before a satisfactory tone was achieved. The bell, then cast until 1835, when it cracked while tolling for the funeral of Chief Justice Marshall. The crack grew longer when, after attempted repairs, the bell was rung to celebrate Washington's birthday in 1846.

CAPITAN TIGERS WIN ZOZO JUNIORS THIRD PLACE IN N. M. DEFEAT ST. RITA'S STATE TOURNAMENT

Capitan High School's hoopmen captured third place in the State B championship tournament in Tucuman last Saturday by virtue of their 63 to 48 win over Rosedale in the consolation finals.

Wagon Mound and Maxwell battled it out for the championship in a close contest, 46 to 44, with Wagon Mound having the winning two point margin.

In the Rosedale game, Capitan's Ferguson led the scoring with 15 points, followed by Womack and Hyde with 13 and Morris with 10. Martin scored 25 points for Rosedale.

RESUME OF LINCOLN COUNTY LAND USE PLAN'S COMMITTEE

Following is a resume of the plan of organization of the Lincoln County Road Planning Committee:

The first meeting relative to land use road planning work in Lincoln County was at the regular meeting of the County Commissioners in October, 1951. C. O. Erwin, engineer of secondary highways for the New Mexico Highway Department, explained the program to the commissioners, and L. Z. Rowe, economist for the State Extension Service, explained the work of the Extension Service in carrying out such a study.

After due consideration the Lincoln County Board of Commissioners asked that the program be carried out in Lincoln County and prepared a resolution authorizing the County Extension Agent, Austin A. Albert to conduct the program.

Basic maps were prepared showing the present highway systems and such soils information as was available. Also the county was broken down into 13 areas, based on traffic-flow divisions and other natural or economic divisions.

The county agent then conducted a series of meetings with the people in each of the 13 areas. At these meetings the program was explained to the people and they selected a person to represent them and lead the study in their area.

Upon completion of the local meetings on February 6, a meeting was held for the 13 elected committeemen to further discuss the program and to decide upon suitable terminology and facts to consider in their survey.

At this meeting Mr. Rowe and B. L. Smith, State Highway Department, were also present to assist the group with information concerning land use surveys relating to roads.

Ray Jarnigan of the Bureau of Land Management, reported to the group on the amount of funds available for local roads through his bureau. Also, Paul Wild reported the same information for the forest service.

During the next 20 days the group gathered facts about the land, its use, road use and recommendations from farm or ranch operator in his area. On March 7 they again convened and presented their land use summaries of the roads in their communities. On the basis of this information the group set up priorities for the Federal Aid Secondary System and other State roads and local roads.

The plan was then summarized by the County extension agent for the commissioners.

In the general contracting field success is predicated upon having the proper material, equipment and man-power—always available. To accomplish this requires familiarity with subcontracting facilities and material supply houses in the district.

With a background of experience in the contracting field, Philip E. Ernst has developed a thorough and complete knowledge of the requirements and additionally adds his personal supervision to each job his organization undertakes. The result has been that his firm is fast climbing up the ranks to become a leader in the general contracting field of Eastern New Mexico and is one upon whom much of our continued development and growth will lean heavily in the future.

Philip E. Ernst maintains his offices in Roswell at 107 W. Matthews and is always available for advice and counsel for those who wish to phone him at 763. He is glad to give the benefit of his knowledge to interested parties free of any obligations.

The forward strides taken by Philip E. Ernst in the general contracting field are a tribute to his abilities as a contractor who combines experience and good business judgment in all his dealings. What he does today will stand in mute testimony of his ability in the years to come and will continue to be the source of public satisfaction.

Patterson Bros. Feed Mill Features Quality

The proper feeding of livestock is the most important factor in the conditioning of stock for the highest market price and local ranchers have found that this is most readily accomplished through the use of feeds produced by Patterson Bros. Feed Mill, Southeast of Roswell on Atkinson Avenue extension.

Patterson Bros. HX Brand range cubes are scientifically prepared and mixed according to the food requirements of livestock. These feeds through test and everyday use mean success and profit to a large number of ranchers throughout Pecos Valley who will use no other.

Thorough understanding and the knowledge of modern feeding from practical and profitable standpoints is in every bag of HX Feeds. They fill special needs for nutritive and healthful essentials as to rich, lean and rough foods. Nature endowed livestock with the natural means for health and growth, but very often modern encroachments prevent profitable development with ordinary feeds due to serious lack of essential minerals which are supplied with HX Brand.

Because Patterson Bros. have an enviable record for producing feeds to raise stock on a profitable basis they have become a vital factor in the agricultural and commercial development of this area.

Armstrong & Armstrong Leaders in Their Field

Rendering a complete paving, earth moving and excavation service such as paving roads, streets, parking areas, airport runways and all kinds of excavation, Armstrong & Armstrong, contractors located at 132 West Walnut in Roswell, have the necessary experience, shovels, motor graders, scrapers and tractors. Many of the general contractors have found that it is to their advantage to subcontract the excavation and earth work of a construction job to Armstrong & Armstrong than to do it themselves, not only because they are specialists in their line but it saves the cost of expensive equipment and supervision and the work is actually accomplished in less time.

Armstrong & Armstrong's successful record enables them to give the very best of service—they have been awarded important paving and excavating jobs all over the state for industries, towns, cities and the state itself to the entire satisfaction of the interests retaining them.

"We are glad in this review edition of our paper to single out B. E. Armstrong, president of this well known contracting concern, for public mention. He and his company have done a lot toward the advancement and development of our area, and we wish for their continued success in the future.

Pecos Plywood Co. Aids Builders

With all the new building taking place and being planned, this writer would highlight the activities of one of the influential concerns in the building field. Although new in comparison to other building supply houses, Pecos Plywood Co. has been materially aiding with the supply of plywood in its many and varied forms, all the way from the plain material to decorative material such as the combed plywood which is coming into such great usage.

Gas Tax Revenues

$160 Million Yearly

ALBUQUERQUE, March 16—New Mexico's gasoline tax, 36 years old this week, now produces 139 times as much revenue as it did the first year it was in effect, Fred Linn, executive secretary of the New Mexico Petroleum Industries Committee, announces.

Imposed on March 19, 1919, the state gasoline tax produced $112,076,000 in its first full year, he said, whereas it now brings in about $15,500,000 annually.

Total collections from this tax from the time it was levied up to the end of last year amount to $160,000,000, he said.

Though increased ownership and use of motor vehicles have helped to boost receipts from the gasoline tax, he noted, a large part of the expended revenue can be traced to higher rates. Mr. Linn pointed out that when New Mexico first levied his tax its cost was 20 cents on ten gallons and there was no Federal tax.

Today, he explained, the state tax amounts to 60 cents on ten gallons, and the additional federal tax, first imposed in 1932, brings the total up to 80 cents on a ten-gallon purchase and, he added, an additional one cent gasoline tax increases the total to 90 cents on ten gallons.

"With the state gasoline tax and other highway revenues bringing in more every year with road building costs beginning to decline in various sections of the country, the taxpayers have every reason to expect that our program of highway improvement will continue at a high level and even be stepped up in pace, Mr. Linn concluded.

Japan leads the world in fisheries production with an average of almost three million metric tons of fish a year, says the National Geographic Society. Next comes the United States with two and a half million. Russia two million and the United Kingdom and Norway about one million each.

STATE GAME DEPARTMENT

NEWSLETTER

MILITARY COOPERATION

Last week we carried an article in the newsletter about the cooperation of the White Sands Proving Ground with New Mexico Department of Game and Fish. Now from Missouri comes this interesting story:

The U. S. Air Force has become interested in multiflora rose, fencing on a new air base to be opened near Grandview, Mo. Arrangements have been made to secure plants from the Missouri Conservation Commission, according to Ed Biffle, cover restoration project leader. Plans call for establishment of a multiflora rose fence around the entire field, approximately seven miles. Biffle said that other wildlife developments within the field are also planned with interior fences and food cover plots for small game, serving as a refuge and sanctuary for game.

STATEWIDE GAME

SUMMARY PROGRESSES

Mickey Lang, project leader of the state-wide game survey, reports that Phil Freeman, research biologist of the Albuquerque area, and J. W. Peckum, district warden, with Mike Martinez, patrolman, counted 343 deer in the Manzano Mountains east of Albuquerque.

Research Biologist Allan Anderson, Phil Freeman and Ladie Gordon helped Paul Gordon, project leader in the Mexican border big game survey, gather deer for stomach analysis to ascertain food habits, and for parasitological study.

In the Roswell area, under the direction of Research Biologist Allan Anderson, the antelope survey showed 2,870 animals. This survey was made by aerial count. Anderson was assisted by District Wardens Marion Embrey, Mark Sloan, Tommy Rogers and John Shaul.

Lang is again asking for the return of big game questionnaire cards sent to hunters. This is the last call.

TREE PLANTING ON WASHINGTON RANGE

Paul Russell, wildlife restoration coordinator for the New Mexico Department of Game and Fish, reports that between 5,000 and 6,000 trees and shrubs have been planted within the past two weeks on Washington Ranch near Carlsbad. A fencing project is also under way. Russell states that the area is getting very heavy bird and deer use and that the shrubs should be an added inducement in this fine area for the propagation of game.

ALBUQUERQUE MAN HIRED

Robert Stewart was recently hired by the game department as a research biologist. He is stationed at Alamogordo. Stewart was raised in Albuquerque and went to school there. Later he went to Colorado A.M. After obtaining a wildlife management degree there, he went to work for the Colorado Department of Game and Fish.

Stewart fills out the district leaders in the survey project; there are five districts.

HERD, FLOCK OR GAGGLE?
Ray Nelson, who writes for the magazine Real, comes up with some fancy terminology for sportsmen. The New Mexico Department of Game and Fish does not vouch for its authenticity, but neither, apparently, does Mr. Nelson.

THE STORY OF JACOB

By REV. J. M. KERR
Pastor First Baptist Church

It meant a new self. Henceforth there was a new identity for Jacob. Instead of Jacob the supplanter, it was Israel God's prince. He became a mighty prince when he had been brought to know himself as a weak man. Instead of merely Isaac's son, he was now linked with God's purpose. Instead of flight from the consequences of his own deeds, it was progress and blessing in the will of God. All of this and more is what Jacob's new name meant.

It also meant new power. "For a pod. Everyone knows covey of partridges, but how about sledge of herons, sord of mallards, congregation of plover, gaggle of geese? And among the fur bearers it's a gang of elk, sleuth of bears, cete of badgers. School of fish is o.k., but if it's herring, that's a shoal; then there's hovever of trout, a smack of jellyfish. Speaking of rabbits it might be a nest of cotton-tails, a husk of jackrabbits, a down of hares. There are some fine distinctions in horse talk, too: a rag of colts, a stud of mares, or a harass of horses and plenty more.

as a prince hast thou power with God and with men and hast prevailed." Which means that since he has power with God he shall now prevail with men. God's power was for Jacob's new life. Instead of dependence upon his self, he was now supported by the mighty power of God. All the resources of heaven were behind him. How like this is its New Testament counterpart: "Ye shall receive power; after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you." It means God in life.

It also meant a new name. "And Jacob called the name of the place Peniel; for I have seen God face to face, and my life is preserved." All this meant a new fellowship. It was fellowship on the basis of transformed character. Now face answered to face and heart beat with heart beat as Israel walked with God through life. Now there is insight and foresight, calm courage, patience and power. Now he is more than courageous over every foe.

Show me thy face—

Of loveliness divine
And I shall never think or dream
Of other love save thine.
All lesser light will darken quite,
All lower glories wane;
The beautiful of earth will scarce
Seem beautiful again.

Show me thy face—
My faith and love
Shall henceforth fixed be,
And nothing here have power to move
My soul's serenity.
My life shall seem a trance, a dream,
And all I feel and see
Illusive visionary—Thou
The one reality.

Show me thy face—
I shall forget
The weary days of yore;
The frothing ghost of vain regret
Shall haunt my soul no more.
All doubts and fears for future

USDA Reduces Interest Rates

The rate of interest charged producers and others by the U. S. Department of Agriculture on price-support loans will be 3 1/2 per cent instead of 4 1/2. The new rate is effective with the 1954 price support program.

This reduction of one-half of one per cent from the 4 1/2 rate in effect for loans on 1953 crops, is in line with the recent trend on short-term government and commercial borrowings.

Amendments to the lending agency agreements, effective with the 1954 crop loans covering the services and interest on the use of funds will be negotiated at a later date.

Apr. 5 is deadline for change of precinct registration for primary.

Joey the Parakeet Gets Some Advice

The start of this story is when "Joey," the parakeet, prized possession of Mr. and Mrs. John Brown of Carrizozo, flew away from home one day and perched high up in a tree in the Court House yard. No amount of coaxing by J. B. would induce "Joey" to fly down and into his master's hands. Finally he gave up and climbed up into the tree and bring the parakeet down. The next thing that happened, Joey got a letter from his pal, "Muneca," a Chihuahua dog owned by Mrs. Cecil White of Lubbock. "Muneca" was surprised that Joe ran away and scolded:

"Dear Joey: I can't imagine you acting like you did. I wouldn't think of running off like you did; but when I try it, my mom and dad use a newspaper on me. It don't touch me, but it scares me to death. "I got my new camel hair overcoat and it would fit Brownie, so guess I'll just wear my old red sweater this winter. "I don't like the new car. It has seat covers and when I ride on the back of the front seat, I slide on the plastic. "My mom and dad are fine. Mom has some new bifocal glasses. Guess she will step all over me until she learns to wear them. "Bye, bye. —MUNECA."

make that would be unpopular. Regardless of suggesting a J. O. Gallegos return to the state-house, Simms' appearance in Socorro was a little below the savvy that many anticipated from the Demo nominee for governor. Bursting into little old Socorro and jumping on the mayor who had been selected by a majority of the people can hardly be accepted as a friend-winning act. More likely it developed antagonism to the Demo candidate where there had been none before.
