Among those in Alamogordo very much interested in the dedication of the new payed link on Highway 54, R. Job Koonce, new secretary of the Alamogordo BUDGETS MEET Chamber of Commerce. He has promised Vernon Petty the full cooperation of the Otero organization. The Tularosa Chamber of Commerce, through its secretary G. L. Swanson, writes Mr. Petty they are at his disposal and would like to help out in the dedication, "with a little work Capitan and Corona, and a little money . . Let us know," Mr. Swanson writes. His attitude reflects the feeling of Tularosans in general, who are 100% behind Lincoln County's planning for the dedication.

Businessmen along the route of Highway 54 feel sure that the road's completion will be a help, but how much or how soon they are not sure. Lowell, at Lowell's Service Station is sure that Highway 54 will catch on with the motoring public because it is an easy and fast route to travel between El Paso and Chicago. "I drove to Chicago in two days without hurrying," he said.

R. M. Daugherty, owner and operator of the Travelers Court in Alamogordo, thinks it will be a year before the highway's comhe says. Mr. and Mrs. Daugherty lived in Carrizozo a number of years ago, when he worked for the Petty market before it was sold to Food Mart. Their eldest son was born here. Mrs. Daugherty says they always liked Carrizozo.

And Carrizozo Outlook

CARRIZOZO, NEW MEXICO, FRIDAY, JULY 16, 1954

WITH APPROVAL

Monday was budget day in Carrizozo, with hearings held on yearly budgets for Lincoln County and the towns of Cerrizozo, Manuel Baca, secretary of the State Tax Commission, spent most of the day with County and town officials, going over their balance sheets for the forthcoming tax year.

Mr. Baca met Monday morning with the County Commissioners, County Clerk James E. Harcrow, Treasurer S. E. Greisen, Assessor Lloyd Vigil and Sheriff Wm. G. Bradley and at the conclusion of the meeting said: "Your County has no budget problem, as it is well run and well financed. The tax rate of $5 per $1000 assessed valuation is sufficient for County purposes, though you are offering more services this year, such as repairs to the court house, a home extension agent and you have going to need a lot of publicity," provided for the requirements of cluding a new fire district. All bills are paid on time, with a cash reserve to meet requirements."

> In January 1 of 1957, Mr. Baca Lincoln County will reach the status of a first class county, due to its increasing assessed valuation. This year it was $13,788,412, as compared to $12,458,129 last year, an increase that came, he said, "despite drouth and heavy losses in shipment of livestock."

> Mr. Baca pointed out that when a County reaches the first class status, salary increases for its county officials become automatic by law.

In this connection, Mr. Harbuilding up a cash balance looking forward to the time when it will be a first class county, which increases salary outlays to cook with. approximately $10,000 yearly.

OK PLANS FOR SWIMMING POOL

(Outlook, Volume 45, No. 11)

Plans and specifications for the Carrizozo municipal swimming pool have been approved by the State Department of Public Health and were returned this week.

The plans and specifications for the pool were prepared without charge by W. F. Turney and Associates, consulting engineers, of Santa Fe. One set of the plans has been loaned the News office where they may be seen by anyone interested.

The prefabrication of forms for the cement work will be the first step in pool construction. Cement has been purchased and has been stockpiled at the site of the pool; also the necessary crushed gravel.

Steps are being taken to secure a filtration and chlorination system, Mayor Marvin H. Roberts said this week.

LIQUOR PRICE LAW WORRIES REPUBLICANS

SANTA FE, July 14-Republicans struggling among themselves on whether to go on record in their platform for repeal of the guaranteed-profits-onliquor law shouldn't be straining themselves—they're already on Voting for repeal of the law in last year's legislature were Alvin Stockton, the nominee for governor; Sonny Johns, the state Republican chairman, and Morris Shillinglaw, the Republican state campaign manager. How could you make it any more official? That show-down vote March 6 was the climax of the legislature session. The fighting and the maneuvering that led up to it resulted in a break-up of the liquor dealers association which wasn't repaired until a year later, in the replacement of the liquor association secretary, Paul Case, and the retirement from the legislature of Rep. Bill peal effort.

The repeal measure was defeated 26 to 29 when six Republicans broke ranks to vote with 23 Democrats against the measure. Four Democrats stepiped over to vote with Republicans for the repeal.

REPUBLICANS ARGUE FOR THREE COURSES

Republicans will act one way or another Saturday when the state platform convention is held in Albuuerque. At mid-week they were still fighting, one group wanting an outright repealer plank, another wanting no mention of it, and a third group advocating a wearling middle course of promising to study the situation. If Republicans go for repeal they will suffer an immediate walkout of the few liquor people they have, and more important, the scratching and clawing opposition of the well financed liquor crowd in the state.

The gamble they would take on incurring such opposition would be the support they might attract from drys who think the liquor business should not be year'a, which drew a large plank might attract it's pretty certain that it would not be of The bear rug being sold by the the same energy and enthusiasm

SET STARTING PLACE and sky's the limit

That guaranteed profits law goes like this:

New Mexico retail liquor dealers may buy only from New Mexico liquor wholesalers, The wholesalers are required by law to mark up liquor at least 17.5% and go as much higher as they at least 20%.

Then the retailers are required under threat of padlocking to mark up liquor and wine at least 33.8%, and beer at least 25%.

Spokesmen for the trade say that the mark-up in practice is An attempt is believed to have considerably less because of

AND MONOPOLY TOO

Aside from maintaining prices that are obviously higher than they should be the minimum price fixing isn't necessarily reprehensible in itself. It's practiced all across the country. The inconsistency in New Mexico is that the minimum price law operates right along beside a legally enforced monopoly which throws the situation here directly contrary to the theories on both monopolies and guaranteed

For all practical purposes new liquor licenses cannot be issued in New Mexico. They are limited on a population basis and there were so many already rural localities and possibly in San Juan county. There are 50 fewer licenses in the state now than at the start of 1951.

The sires and dams of these ram lambs will be penned for further close observation and will be in 21/2 month's wool, separately paint-branded according present. to fineness and length of wool.

The demonstration will give lamb and wool producers an opportunity to judge for themselves the results of a closely supervised range breeding program that stresses the homeraising of quality rams and ewe replacement stock from stud and super-classed ewes under a wool and herd improvement program.

"With a growing number of ram lambs being saved from 'super' ewe flocks, many ranchers are paying more attention to selection of ram lambs at marking time," Snyder says. "In order to do this job more effectively, the first positive 'cut' is delayed until ram lambs are 2 to 21/2 mos. of age."

"Previous selection work has demonstrated that ram lambs with a little age can be selected at marking time with about 90% accuracy, particularly on type and quality points." Snyder says. He cites selection at the Johnson Brothers ranch near Santa Rosa as an example. 1953 ram lambs from stud and super B. Swan, c ewes at this ranch were selected O. CHUKAR PARTRIDGE LIKES NEW MEXICO

The chukar partridge, first introduced into New Mexico early in 1951, appears to be thoroughly acclimatized. This game bird, imported from Turkey, has increased steadily in numbers. The first year's hatch was three, the second year nine, the third year 35. This year the hatch is 300.

The chukar does not compete with native birds for forage. It is excellent table fare, and it transmits its fine qualities to its young. There are at least three known sites where chukars are now established and breeding in the wild, according to Levon Lee, director of game management for the New Mexico Dept. of Game and Fish.

A shipment of chukar partridge received here in February of this year from Turkey is reported to have dispersed satisfactorily. Of 174 birds released around Conchas Lake, all were apparently dispersed by May. At Heart Bar Ranch where 283 had been released, only a few remained in May. Wayne H. BRIDES HONORED BY JOINT SHOWER

A joint bridal shower honoring Mrs. Mike Quillan and Mrs. Raiph Woodford, was held last Sunday afternoon at the Odd Fellows Hall.

Many beautiful and useful gifts were received by the brides from the more than thirty guests who attended, as well as from many well wishing friends who were unable to attend. Separate tables on which the gifts were displayed were decorated with white tablecloths with the brides' names in gold letters and centerpieces of asters and carnations.

Refreshments of home - made cookies and punch were served. A most interesting highlight of the occasion was the serving of the punch in cups from a punch bowl which was a wedding gift fifty years ago of Mrs. R. C. Withers, grandmother of Mrs. Mike Quillan.

Co-hostesses were Mrs. Fred Current and Mrs. Orville Luttrell.
