

RAMBLIN' AROUND

BY PAUL BAKER

Next Tuesday is election day and it is every citizen's duty to vote. At considerable expense, the county has printed a ballot for every registered voter. Your ballot will be waiting for you at your voting precinct.

It is not the policy of the News to attempt to tell an informed public how to vote. We would, however, like to express a personal opinion. That is that a public official who has been faithful and efficient in the performance of his duties deserves to be kept in office. And that statement is not intended as any reflection on the qualifications of any candidates seeking office.

Under the present law a county official must stand for re-election every two years, but he cannot hold any one office for more than four years.

The law limiting tenure in office should be changed. A business would be severely handicapped if it had to change management from top to bottom every two or four years. And the government of Lincoln County is a big business, handling in excess of $1,000,000 annually of taxpayers' money.

We do not agree with those who would hold elections every four years instead of two years as at present. An election is a public safeguard. Should an official prove to be unfaithful or incompetent, the voters can turn him out at the end of two years.

Removing the restrictions on tenure in office would be an incentive for more people to file for county office. They would have the knowledge that as long as they lived up to their trust and were willing and able to serve, they could be returned to office provided the voters approved.

On the ballot for the first time is a proposal to levy a 1/2 mill tax to help support the two Lincoln County Hospitals. The revenue derived would be divided equally between the two hospitals. It would cost the taxpayer 75 cents for each $1000 assessed valuation, but the tax would be for the year 1955 only.

The hospitals have been hard pressed to make ends meet and it is a question how long they can continue to operate without some assistance. Money is needed for operation expenses and necessary repairs and improvements.

It was a great day for Lincoln County when its two hospitals opened. To lose either or both of them now would be a tragedy. The hospitals and their staffs of doctors and nurses are taking good care of the sick and injured. A few dollars next year from every citizen is good insurance that the hospitals will be here when we or our loved ones may need them.

The News received through the mail this week an anonymous political advertisement, mailed in a plain envelope from El Paso with a cashier's check enclosed. The advertisement was designed to help certain candidates for county office at the expense of other candidates. All political advertisements appearing in this issue of the News are sponsored by known individuals or organizations. The anonymous advertisement was not printed because the News does not use material of a controversial nature where the name or the author or sponsoring organization is withheld.

According to the New Mexico Department of Public Health, eight counties in New Mexico have no dentists. They are Lincoln, Sandoval, Guadalupe, Catron, Mora, Torrance, Harding and DeBaca.

To give some measure of assistance to these counties, the Department's Division of Dental Health has recently put a mobile dental unit into operation. This traveling unit is giving preference to those areas where there are no resident dentists. It is scheduled to set up in Vaughn through the cooperation of the schools and community organizations.

Gilbert C. Lums, Jr., DDS, dental clinician with the mobile dental unit, was in Carrizozo over the week end. He said it would be possible to schedule the unit for a visit if there is enough need for it and providing the financial arrangements can be made.

He explained that the unit costs $40 a day to operate. Half of this cost is borne by the State and half by the community. At the present time the program is set up to give dental care to children from the ages of 3 to 7. Only dentally indigent patients are accepted. Dental indigency must be determined by one of the following: Con-

STATE GOES TO POLLS TUESDAY

Polls for the November 2 election will be open at 8 a. m. for Lincoln County's 4237 registered voters. Ballots may be cast until 7 p. m.

In addition to electing a slate of state and county officials, two Congressmen and a Senator, the voters are asked to pass on two special proposals.

One issue of importance to Lincoln County is the question of the special 1/2 mill levy for the support of the County Hospitals.

The Board of County Commissioners were petitioned to put this question on the ballot. It is a levy for the tax year 1955 only and the Commissioners, if the levy is approved by the voters, will divide the proceeds equally between the two County Hospitals.

This levy would be 75 cents on each $1000 of assessed valuation on the tax roll.

The law permitting the voting on this question provides that it shall be submitted to the qualified electors of the County at any general or special election.

STATE INSTITUTION BONDS

The other proposal appearing on the ballot would authorize (Act of 1953) the issuance and sale of State building and State institution bonds in the amount of $4,500,000. The funds provided by this act, if approved by the voters, would be used "for acquiring, erecting, improving, constructing, remodeling and equipping buildings of the State, State Agencies, State Departments and State Institutions . . . and provides for a tax levy for payments of interest and principal of said bonds."

In a statement this week, County Clerk Earl Harrow urged every registered voter to exercise his right by going to the polls and voting for the candidates he feels are best qualified to serve him during the next two years.

"Any government, he said, 'county, state or national, is only as good as the people want it to be. It has been the custom for many years for the off-year elections not to draw much attention. I hope this year will be an exception and that we will have a large vote-cast."

"There are some 4200 registered voters in Lincoln County, yet the highest estimate I have heard so far is that there will be only 2500 votes cast. In other words, a little over half of the people who are registered and eligible are the ones that will be choosing the officials to serve all of us."

"To protect yourself," he said, "Lincoln County and the State of New Mexico, exercise your God-given right and vote your convictions on November 2."

Any community in Lincoln County which may be interested in the services of the Mobile Dental Unit may secure more information by addressing Gilbert Lums, DDS, dental clinician with the Department of Public Health in Santa Fe, or Dr. David Stiffler, director of the Division of Dental Health in Santa Fe.

For the first time in several years, ballots for the general election in Lincoln County have been printed locally. The News appreciates the loyal and efficient help given in this rather large assignment by the Messrs. C. A. Snow, Vick Lopez, Catherine Hemphill; also Don Roberts.

Good news comes from Mrs. Grace Conroy, who has been in an Albuquerque hospital for several weeks, that she is hoping to be discharged soon. "I am gaining strength," she writes; "then to Lincoln County for me. I have never been away since moving to Carrizozo so many years ago." The excellent traffic safety record made by Carrizozo High School students during the past year speaks highly for the drivers training program instituted there over a year ago. The car they got their first instruction in, by the way, was a new Plymouth furnished by the Reg. Motor agency.

Phillips Oil Co. to Put New Highway on Maps

L. S. Drake, State representative, has recently written letters to major oil companies calling their attention to the completion of Highway 54 and urging that their 1955 edition of road maps be brought up to date.

Mr. Drake has received a reply from the Phillips Petroleum Co. offices in Bartlesville, Okla., with the following assurance: "We will bring this matter to the attention of the firm which publishes our road maps, and I feel sure that on future maps the section of Highway 54 from Gallinas, to Carrizozo will be shown as paved highway."—/S/ E. SCHOOL PEOPLE ATTEND NMEA ASSN IN DUKE CITY

Nearly all members of the Carrizozo school faculty were in Albuquerque this week end to attend the annual state convention of the New Mexico Educational Association. R. M. ALIENS TO BECOME U. S. CITIZENS

Judge W. T. Scoggin of the Third Judicial District, announced this week that his court would participate in the nationwide naturalization proceedings in which more than 50,000 persons from all stations in life and many nationalities will receive their final United States citizenship papers.

The proceedings will be held at 10 o'clock on November 11 at the court room in Las Cruces. The public is invited to attend. Since the end of World War II the United States has become the home of many alien brides of American soldiers, persons displaced from their homeland by reason of Communist aggression, and others who had relatives or friends in the United States.

Since their entry, these persons have qualified themselves for citizenship and many will be sworn in at the ceremony on November 11. At that time the petitioners will, in open court, renounce forever their allegiance to the country of which they are citizens, nationals or subjects and swear allegiance to the United States, and that they will defend the United States against all enemies, foreign and domestic.

Among those from this area who will receive U. S. citizenship are Helmut Justus Horn, born at Frankfurt, Germany, now employed at White Sands Proving Ground; William Duffley, born at Mucknach, Ireland, now a service clerk at White Sands; Magdalena Arriola Acosta, born at Sausalito, Chih., Mexico, who resides with her husband and family on a farm near Berlin, N. M.; Betty Chang, born at Tshnan, China, now attending college in California. Her father, Chia Wei Chang, is a professor at New Mexico A&M College.

Nicolas Ioannis Stavros, U. S. A. at White Sands, who was born at Mavrikon, Greece; Ella Pauline Wilkinson, now of Hatch, born at Nuremberg, Germany. She is married to T. A. Wilkinson and they have three children; Vera Irene Bell of White Sands, a citizen of Canada, who is married to Howard Bell, a citizen of the U. S.

FARM BUREAU ELECTS OFFICERS

Resolutions on county minimum evaluation, Lake Bonito and Eagle Creek, Fort Stanton land and A&M College were numbered among the twenty passed by the Lincoln County Farm & Livestock Bureau at its annual meeting in Capitan last Saturday.

Buster Bird Jr., chairman of the nominating committee, conducted the annual election of officers, which was by secret ballot. Charles A. Jones was re-elected president; Wilbur McKnight, vice president; Bill Shreengost was re-elected secretary-treasurer and Mrs. Chas. A. Jones, chairwoman.

Three new board members were elected for three-yr. terms: Ralph Bonnell, Walton Wilson and Buster Bird Jr. The two hold-over members are Lon Merchant and George Limacher.

Resolution No. 1 stated: "Be it resolved that the Lincoln County Farm & Livestock Bureau urge the passage of legislation raising the minimum evaluation of a county from $14,000,000 to $20,000,000 before said county becomes a first class county."

Resolution 2 opposed "any name change of the New Mexico A&M College . . . we are proud to sponsor a scholarship to this school, and picked this college because it is the one agricultural college in this state."

Resolution 8 resolved "that water from the Bonito Dam and Eagle Creek be used only for Lincoln County municipalities. After the needs of these municipalities are fulfilled, the excess water shall be allowed to flow down the stream bed."

RESOLUTION ON FT. STANTON

Another resolution made recommendations on the disposition of Ft. Stanton land, and was worded as follows: "Whereas, the Fort Stanton reservation involving some 27,000 acres of Federally owned lands is now up for further disposition, and whereas we have made careful study of the several proposals for the disposition of these lands, keeping the best interests of New Mexico in mind and whereas, HR 6729 has been introduced proposing 1500 acres be given to the State of New Mexico for building sites, and the balance of the lands be turned back to the Federal Government to be administered by the Bureau of Land Management in accordance with the rules and regulations of the Taylor Grazing Act . . . we the Lincoln County Farm & Livestock Bureau recommend the passage of HR-6729 as drafted."

Another resolution requested that, until final disposition is made of the Ft. Stanton grassland, that ranchers who have suffered from grasshoppers and drought in the Bonito Lake and Nogal areas, be given temporary grazing permits on the reservation lands.

Another resolution, recognizing the importance of soil and water erosion work being done by the P. M. A., favored the withholding of "a certain percentage of the P. M. A. payments until the participant has complied with the stipulations of the work. By this method, range improvement work would not be ruined by grazing before the benefit of the work could be fully established."

(Additional resolutions adopted by the County Bureau will be published in next week's issue of the News.)

LUNCHEON SERVED AT NOON

A covered dish luncheon was served at noon in the Capitan School lunch room. The good barbecue was cooked by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bonnell. The children were entertained by movies in the afternoon.

Charles Jones, president, called the meeting to order and introduced Delmar Roberts, president of the NMF&LSB; also Wayne Powers, organization director, and several of the county candidates who were present.

Bill Shreengost read the treasurer's report and Betty Shreengost reported on insurance sold in the County. Mrs. Charles Jones, chairwoman, reported on Achievement Day and the Tom Guck scholarship.

Kenneth Nosker, past president, who resigned in March, was presented with a butane cigarette lighter in appreciation for his work while in office.

Chairs Being Bought For Camp Tabernacle

By DOROTHY GUCK

During the winter months the Ranchmen's Camp Meeting on Nogal-Mesa in Lincoln County is trying to purchase enough folding chairs for the tabernacle. Previously they have always borrowed chairs from the Capitan High School to use during the annual summer encampment.

Organizations and individuals have contributed about two hundred chairs but it's felt that 500 are needed. The chairs are being inscribed in memory of a deceased friend of the giver's choice, or in appreciation of a living friend, or with the owner's name. The price of each chair is $3.50.

The Camp Meeting, which is interdenominational, is run on a non-profit basis with all expenses for meals and services during the four-day encampment in July being paid for by donations. In recent years, an excellent pine tabernacle, dining hall and kitchen have been built through the generous contributions of the many who attend.

Money and inscriptions for the chairs may be sent to Mrs. Henry Peebles of Nogal, N. M., or to Mrs. Gill Peters of Nogal.

GRIZZLIES SCARE SUMNER FOXES

Expecting to win a comfortable victory over the Carrizozo Grizzlies, the Ft. Sumner class 3-B champions had to extend themselves in the last half to squeeze out a 12 to 6 victory. The game was played Wednesday afternoon on the Carrizozo field.

Carrizozo kicked off to open the game and held Ft. Sumner for downs. The Grizzlies took over at midfield and two plays later scored on a pass Robert Vega to Skipper Harkey.

Fort Sumner made their touchdown in the second period on a drive down the field. The half ended 6 to 6.

Leroy Sidwell, Robert Vega and Tom Barnett were injured in the first half and saw no more action during the afternoon. Also handicapping the Grizzlies were injuries to three other players, Pete Straley, Victor Chavez and Louis Montana.

Fort Sumner, outplayed in the first half, came back in the third quarter for a sustained drive. Bob Jordan scoring.

The fourth quarter was fairly even.

Coach Ken Willis was well pleased with the performance of the entire Grizzly team. "We've got a real ball club," he said, "and have improved every game during the season." He said the passing department had especially improved.

Roast Beef Dinner Served County GPA

By E. A. JOHNSON

The White Mountain GPA held its meeting October 14 at the Methodist Church in Carrizozo. The ladies served a roast beef dinner with hot biscuits. Boy, was it good!

Marion Embrey, district game warden, explained about the week-end hunt in the Hondo Valley.

Lewis Faris, Carrizozo taxidermist gave some tips to hunters on how to stick a deer when killed, if it is to be used for a trophy. He said one should never cut a deer's throat; it should be stuck in the jugular vein only. To get a trophy deer the stomach should be cut out below the ribs and the hide skinned out over the head.

George Dingwall gave a very interesting report on the 34th State GPA convention held in Hot Springs, October 7-8-9.

More grass seed will be distributed this year to hunters, as it is believed what was scattered last year is helping the grass shortage. Packages can be had at all license vendors and hunters are asked to scatter the seed along trails or even in brush, as it is less apt to be eaten until it gets a start.

Wesley Young brought 12 tin signs with "For Trash, Please Use" painted on them. As soon as we get the barrels, both will be placed above Bonito Dam in the hope that in the future picnickers and campers will use them and not be "litterbugs" as they have in the past. Anyone with an extra barrel or two, please notify the president, E. A. Johnson in Carrizozo.

The rod and reel given away by the GPA was won by Henry H. Brown of Carlsbad. He is a member of our State Game Commission. Vernon Petty drew the name and George Dingwall sold the ticket. We made $32 on the tickets and want to thank every person who helped us.

The next meeting of the GPA will be November 4, 7:30 p. m. at the VFW Home in Capitan. Everyone is welcome.

CAMPAIGN CLOSES WITH DEMO-FAVOR

SANTA FE, Oct. 27 — After shouting, spending and breathlessly traveling the state for eight months since the conventions last March the candidates are closing the 1954 frenzy in a situation that looks like this:

Strong indications for Democratic majorities all down the line.

Return of a Democratic majority in the state house of representatives.

A vote perhaps 50,000 lighter than the 244,000 who marked ballots in 1952.

No lop-sided majorities in the races for governor or senator.

And, as usual, the easy possibility of big-voting Albuquerque snowing under all the pre-election signs and omens.

DEMOCRAT AREA APPEARS LARGER

Here's how it looks on a map: Republican territory: Colfax, Union, Mora and Harding in the northeast; San Juan in the northwest; Dona Ana, Lincoln, Sierra, Torrance, in the south central, and maybe Chaves in eastern New Mexico and Santa Fe in the north.

Democratic territory: Otero, Eddy, Lea, Roosevelt, Quay, DeBaca and maybe Curry in the southeast quarter; Grant, Hidalgo, Luna, Catron in the southwest; McKinley in the northwest, and Rio Arriba, Las Alamos and Sandoval in the north.

The Demos not only have more counties in their list but they also have most of the big voting counties.

BERNALILLO VOTE NOT IN THE BAG

Albuquerque, or Bernalillo county, had a total of 59,000 votes in the last election, more than the number cast in the 37 smallest counties of the state.

The county voted heavily for Republicans at the top of the ticket in the Eisenhower run and has been voting for Republican candidates for governor for 10 years. Ed Mechem got an 8500 majority in Bernalillo in his first run for governor.

Thus, it's not safe to be counting anybody out of the Nov. 2 election until the Bernalillo vote is counted. Democrats, however, look like they have the strongest claim in a long time to at least a break-even vote in the big county. Both John Simms, the Demo entry for governor, and Sen. Clint Anderson, a Democrat going for re-election, are popular residents of the county. And the factional fighting in the Democratic party that kept the Bernalillo vote divided in the past doesn't seem to be as serious this year as usual.

Democrats are boasting that they will carry Bernalillo and are privately telling that they could lose it by a couple of thousand and still win the election, which is perhaps correct. If the old voting habits of the state mean anything at all, Republicans will need several thousand from the windy city on the Rio Grande to be in the running.

SENSITIVE SPOTS WILL SHOW TREND

With more than half the votes this year to be recorded on voting machines the people should get meaningful election returns at the earliest time ever.

The thing to watch for in early returns is any serious deviation from the anticipated vote in the counties listed above in the Democratic and Republican territories, and of course the vote from Bernalillo county.

There are several sensitive areas in the state that may also provide an early tip-off on how the election is going.

There has been a lot of anti-Democratic rumbling in Curry and Roosevelt counties which are ordinarily heavy on the Demo side (Roosevelt has 10 to 1 Demo registration over the Republicans; Curry 8 to 1). If early returns show those counties may indicate that something is amiss throughout the eastern New Mexico Democratic vote orchard.

Republicans are in peril in their old reliable Santa Fe fortress. If the early vote-machine tallies from the capital city give the Demos a lead it will hold ill for the Republican state-wide fate.

SP ATTORNEY COMMENTS ON BONITO WATER

(Norman Hall, a prominent Southern Pacific attorney, makes the following comments regarding Mr. Shipley's article in the Lincoln County News of October 8, 1954.)

By NORMAN HALL
Attorney for Southern Pacific Company

The writer's attention has been called to the article appearing in the Lincoln County News of October 8, 1954, reporting an interview with Mr. George Shipley of Alamogordo, in which he states in effect that when the railroad was constructed through the Tularosa Basin from Carrizozo northward to Santa Rosa, about the year 1900, finding no suitable water for use in its locomotives and no domestic water available to sustain the development of towns along the railroad, in order that it might develop the area through which the railroad ran and to obtain a supply for engine use, it applied to the Territorial Engineer for a permit to divert the waters of the Bonito river, and in doing so represented that the water was necessary not only for the operation of the railroad's engines, but also for the domestic use and development of the communities along the railroad east of Carrizozo. That the Territorial Engineer's Permit of July 2, 1907 authorized the transfer of waters from the Bonito to the railroad for such purposes. That when, in the year 1928 (the date was 1927) the railroad applied to the State Engineer for an amendment to the permit so as to authorize the railroad to change from direct appropriation of waters from the stream, to storage, the railroad again represented that the water be diverted for use not only by the railroad but by the people of Carrizozo and the people and communities along the railroad from Carrizozo East. Further, that Judge Frenger, when entering the Final Decree in the year 1934 in the stream adjudication suit styled EP&R Ry. v. The Bloom Land and Cattle Company, No. 3854, in the District Court of Lincoln County, found as true all the allegations of the complaint, among which was an allegation to the effect that it was necessary to divert this water to Carrizozo in order that the railroad could have water for its engines and the people of Carrizozo and points east could have water for their use and development. The purport of these statements, as the writer interprets them, is that in Mr.

Shipley's opinion, the railroad, in acquiring its Bonito river water rights did so, not only for the purpose of supplying its railroad requirements, but also to develop communities along the line by supplying them with water in the character of a public service waterworks system; that because it has in later years in fact supplied a limited quantity of its water in a limited way to some of the inhabitants along this route, it has dedicated these waters to public service in the area traversed by the pipe line in such a way that it cannot now withdraw and transfer a large portion of them to other places and uses unless and until the needs of the communities now enjoying the use of a portion of them, have first been satisfied.

Since the year 1921 the writer has been a member of the law department of the affected railroads. It was my privilege to know Mr. W. A. Hawkins intimately from 1921 until the time of his death in the year 1939. As attorney for the El Paso & Northeastern Railway System which built the railroad from El Paso, with branches northward to Santa Rosa during the years 1897-1901; and as attorney for the El Paso & Southwestern Railway System, which bought out the Northeastern in 1905, he witnessed first hand the early water difficulties of the Northeastern, and as attorney for the Southwestern, applied for and obtained the permit from the Territorial Engineer to divert the waters from the Bonito river to the Railroad, and thereafter handled many of the legal matters connected with such waters. I have in my custody the files of Mr. W. A. Hawkins pertaining to the Bonito water rights, and in my opinion; nothing in the application for such permit, the permit itself, the contracts permitting a limited use of these waters, or the decree of the district court constituting the permit, supports the contention that the railroad acquired its Bonito water rights in part for the purpose of supplying water to the area under consideration in the capacity of a public service water company for the development of communities along the route in such manner as would now preclude it from now selling and transferring such waters to other places for other uses, the approval of the State Engineer so to do having first been obtained.

At the time of the construction of the pipe line in the year 1903, the railroad traversed a virtually unpopulated area, because of the lack of wholesome water for drinking purposes at Carrizozo and northward to Santa Rosa, it was anticipated that it would be necessary to furnish water through the pipe line to its employees at Carrizozo, where it had established and was then maintaining its division headquarters, and also eastward along the railroad line as far as it extended, because its employees and their families would not consent to live at Carrizozo, or the stations, sectionmen's quarters, or freight divisions east of there unless an ample supply of pure water for drinking purposes was furnished them. Carrizozo then consisted mainly of company employees and families, and east of there, there were practically no inhabitants save railroad employees who maintained the track and operated the railroad. At that time no consideration was given to the thought of supplying water to other than railroad employees. But as railroad employees were to be supplied it was therefore necessary, in applying to the Territorial Engineer to divert the Bonito waters, to include domestic uses as well as railroad purposes, and this was done. The original application, prepared by Mr. Hawkins as agent for the company, on May 21, 1907, states: "That it is a corporation organized under the Laws of New Mexico and is the owner and in operation of a line of railroad extending from Carrizozo, New Mexico, to Santa Rosa, which is a section of country devoid of any water suitable for engine purposes or for domestic use, and which requires purification and treatment at great cost and expense before the same can be used for such engine purposes, but when so treated is unfit for use for domestic purposes; that by virtue of said scarcity of water the undersigned has been unable to procure at any point tributary to its line a satisfactory supply of water with which such operations can be conducted, and that its inability to do so has resulted and is resulting in great loss to it in the management of its trains and railroad, and that such absence of water fit for domestic use largely tends to prevent it from settling along its line, as is necessary, employees sufficient for the operation thereof; that by virtue of said facts the public interests are greatly damaged and the up-building of the section of the country traversed by said railroad largely embarrassed and interfered with.

At the time this application was made, the Territorial Engineer had the authority under the Water Code Law of 1907, to decline to issue permits of this character, if "contrary to the public interest." After hearing objections by protestants and after a personal visit to the area involved, Mr. Vernon L. Sullivan, then Territorial Engineer, by his order of July 2, 1907, approved the application "for said uses and purposes."

Such was the original application of the railroad to the Territory of New Mexico. As shown, the primary and original purpose was to procure water suitable for its railroad purposes and the domestic needs of employees who would necessarily have to be stationed along the line to maintain and operate the railroad and conduct its business with the public. Instead of being an application for authority to divert waters to sell as a public utility in developing towns and communities, the permit sought and obtained was limited to the purposes stated. The scope of this permit has never been enlarged. It is still limited to railroad purposes and domestic uses. Had the railroad desired or intended to go into the water business as a public utility undertaking to supply the demands of communities along its line, with water for their up-building and development, it would have been necessary to obtain the permit from the Territorial Engineer to engage in the sale and distribution of water to the public as a public utility. Had it done so it would have devoted its pipe line facilities and interest in its water rights equal to an amount reasonably necessary to supply the public wants, to a public service which it could not thereafter withdraw from without first obtaining the consent of the state. No such purpose is manifest in obtaining such permit or in the contracts under which it later permitted the use of a portion of its waters to be used by the inhabitants of communities other than its employees.

During the years following the installation of the Bonito Pipe Line System in 1908, incoming settlers, established themselves at Carrizozo, and small hamlets and communities sprang up at its stations north of Carrizozo. The railroad supplied the homes of its employees with Bonito waters, but for a number of years declined to furnish water to non-employees. The result was that a railroad employee living in one house would be furnished with wholesome Bonito water while the postmaster or school teacher or other person living next door was compelled to drink the bad water developed locally. Thereupon the railroad management began to be importuned by school principals, school teachers, school children, postmasters, mayors and others, to allow them just enough of the Bonito waters for drinking and household purposes. At first, these requests were uniformly declined; but as the clamor for these waters continued, the railroad management came to recognize that as such small communities were then without financial resources to develop an independent supply of water for drinking and household purposes, it would be inhuman to deny such applicants a limited portion of its Bonito waters for such limited purposes. If the railroad could consistently spare it when a surplus over its immediate needs existed. Thereupon, with apparent reluctance and some misgivings, it began to allow these outsiders to take a limited quantity without profit to the railroad and with the understanding that such permissive use could be withdrawn when the railroad needed all the waters for its railroad purposes. Before such uses were permitted these outsiders used to being empty water buckets and place them under drips at railroad tanks and water spouts and use of such waters for such limited purposes was early extended to the Village of Carrizozo, N. Mex. Mr. W. A. Hawkins, in his letter of March 17, 1912 to Mr. H. J. Simmons, then general manager of the railroad, stated:

"The company has heretofore permitted the citizens of Carrizozo to take the amount of water absolutely necessary for drinking purposes out of its tanks at Carrizozo through means of a wagon and distribute the same to the people of Carrizozo without profit. This was commenced when the town of Carrizozo was much smaller than it is now, and because the people there, it was represented, were absolutely unable to make the necessary expenditures to procure a reasonably suitable domestic water, but such plan was not intended to be permanent, and it was expected at that time as soon as the town should grow sufficiently to be able to do so, this privilege would be discontinued. It was recognized at the time that the company could not lawfully engage in the carrying of water for supplying towns, but the privilege was justified because of the absolute necessity of the case then existing."

Matters continued in substantially the same status with reference to railroad supplying non-employees of the railroad until the New Mexico legislature passed Chapter 98 of the Laws of 1921 on March 10, 1921, being Section 14-3621, N.M.S.A. 1941, empowering incorporated cities and towns and villages to contract for a water supply and authorizing all persons and corporations possessing water rights to lawfully convey to any such city, town or village for municipal purposes any and all water, water rights . . . or any interest therein, for whatever purpose the waters were acquired or used by the grantor and declaring that no change of the use of such waters or water rights so conveyed should invalidate the right acquired by the municipality. Thereafter, following the passage of this act and appraisal of the water situation, the railroad company modified its policy from that of substantial refusal of the use of Bonito waters to outsiders, to one of permitting them to take a limited amount from its surplus waters for household and drinking purposes to be sold to consumers at cost or below cost under temporary licensed contracts which could be revoked upon short notice at railroad's discretion. Such contracts were executed during the year 1922 with Carrizozo, Corona and Vaughn as incorporated towns and with unincorporated water users associations at the hamlets north of Carrizozo, namely, Coyote, Largo, Luna, Elda, Varney, Torrence and Pastura. Since such time such contracts have continued in effect. Although entreated to do so, the railroad has uniformly declined to permit such waters to be used for mechanical, commercial, power or other industrial purposes.

A review of all of such contracts exhibits the studious and painstaking purpose to negative the charge that the railroad is acting in the capacity of a public utility in the supply of such waters. They were prepared by

Mr. W. A. Hawkins. CARRIZOZO CONTRACT
(Excerpts from the Carrizozo contract are omitted because of space limitations. They were printed in Mr. Brenton's article last week, Lincoln County News, p. 3.—Ed. note.)
Substantially similar provisions (Carrizozo contract), limiting the use of the waters to "household and drinking purposes" is contained in each and every one of the contracts with the Water Users' Associations at the unincorporated communities and hamlets north of Carrizozo along the route of the pipe line. Also included in them is the following:
"Railroad hereby permits Licensee (Water Users Association) as a matter of accommodation and not as a legal right to take and appropriate temporarily, such surplus water from the water from the water system of the Railroad as is available and can be spared in the judgment of Railroad at the station of (blank), Lincoln County, New Mex. It being expressly understood and agreed that the Railroad is not engaged, nor does it intend to engage in the business of developing, supplying or distributing water to Licensee, the public or anyone else for domestic, manufacturing or any other purpose, and in consideration of the accommodation service given by the Railroad hereunder, the Licensee hereby expressly waives all claims against Railroad for failure at any time to furnish water to Licensee."
"It is further agreed that either party may absolutely terminate this agreement at any and all times, upon either written or verbal notification to the other of its desire to do so."
No loose statements dictated by the draftsman of pleadings in a lawsuit can change the basic facts of this case; that the railroad applied for and obtained a permit from the State to divert the waters from the Bonito for railroad purposes and domestic uses primarily for its employees; that the scope of this permit is still so limited; that in response to entreaties of the inhabitants of along the pipe line for just enough water to satisfy their vital need the railroad, as an accommodation, has permitted the use of a portion of its waters under license and not legal right, and under contracts expressly disclaiming public utility service that were agreed to by the licensee, with right of revocation upon short notice, and at charges no higher than, and at times, below cost. Such permissive use of the water has been merely incidental to the operation of the railroad, and the supplying of its primary and paramount requirements for water, and not as an independent public undertaking to supply water for municipal growth and development. At no time since the enactment of the Public Utilities Act of 1911, and the creation of a Public Utility Commission to supervise the operations and regulate the rates of public utilities, has such Commission attempted to regulate the supplying of waters to such communities or the rates charged therefor. This result ensued because the statute (Sec. 72-903, N.M.S.A. 1941) declares that the term "public utility" shall not include a corporation engaged in the business of operating a railroad and which does not primarily engage in the business of selling water, "but which only incidentally to its railroad business, or occasionally, furnishes the service or commodity under a separate limited or revocable agreement . . . or permits quantities of water out of any surplus water supply acquired and held by it primarily for railroad purpose."

If, as this statute expressly declares, the sale by a railroad incident to its railroad business of water to members of the public under temporary license contracts, does not constitute it a public utility, then such sales were and are under private contracts, which the State is powerless to order continued, and which may be discontinued at the discretion of the parties; or, the railroad may sell the surplus or a portion of it, and, with the consent of the State Engineer, transfer it to other place of use. As stated by Judge Phillips in the recent case of Lindsey v. McClure, 132 Fed. (2) 65 (Tenth Circuit Colorado):
"However, a water right is a property right and inherent therein is the right to change the place of diversion, storage or use of the water, if the rights of other users will not be injured thereby."
The foregoing statements have been a discussion of legal principles only, and nothing therein said is intended as an offense to the citizens of the communities affected. To retain their good will, which Southern Pacific values highly and appreciates deeply, it has, in the proposed sale of a portion of its water rights to the City of Alamogordo, reserved such an amount of the Bonito waters as in its bona fide judgment should for the present at least, suffice to supply their needs for water for drinking and household purposes, which is all it has undertaken to do in the past.

Ed Mechem Took Lincoln County Out of the Mud

Governor Mechem, in 3 1/2 years spent MORE THAN TWICE as much money on roads in Lincoln County than all previous administrations since New Mexico statehood.

When campaigning for governor Ed Mechem said simply: "You certainly need highway work in Lincoln County." The completed road program here proves his sincerity.

Figures tell the story:

TOTAL $2,277,528

Mechem's pledge that there would be no new or increased taxes during his two terms of Governor has been faithfully carried out, and in order that the fiscal needs of New Mexico should properly be met, he instituted an efficient business-like system of collection in the State Bureau of Revenue.

During the first three years of Mechem's administration, from January 1, 1951, to January 1, 1954, his Bureau of Revenue collected $182 million, $50 million more than the total of 1948, 1949 and 1950—without increasing taxes, without new taxes, BUT with a reduction of 17% in the Gasoline Tax.

Mechem's program of honesty, economy and efficiency in government is most apparent in our public school system, and here is an excellent example of how well the Mechem principles have worked out.

Teachers Paid More

Each of our deserving school teachers is receiving almost $600 per year more—at the end of Mechem's first three years—than he or she was paid in 1950. And this salary raise is directly attributable to the fact that Mechem's Bureau of Revenue collected $25 million in School Tax in 1953 compared with less than $17 million collected during 1950, the last year of the previous administration.

You may say that part of this increase stems from New Mexico's growth in population. Undoubtedly part of it does, but remember that the number of school teachers has also increased, and that without more effective tax collection techniques, and the application of proven business principles, additional money for their higher salaries would not have been available.

Aid for the Needy

New Mexico's ability to provide for its needy and aged citizens has also greatly increased during Governor Mechem's first three years in office.

ED MECHEM

Your Candidate for U. S. SENATOR

The average family on assistance rolls is now receiving 20% more in monthly payments than in 1950. More efficient investigation of those who apply for assistance has resulted in the elimination of chiselers and frauds.

Annual assistance grants for all classifications of needy citizens—the aged, blind, ill, handicapped, dependent, and the orphaned and crippled children—have risen from $12 million in 1950 to $17 million in 1953.

Also, 25% more children received care from our Child Welfare Service in 1953 than in 1950.

A Highway Builder

The greatest highway building program in the history of New Mexico has seen the construction of almost 3000 miles of major highways, farm-to-market and oil field roads during the past three years. In addition to these improvements, an accelerated program of maintenance has brought our older roads up to first-class standards.

This vast improvement in our highway system has been brought about through the application of the best principles of road construction, honest bidding and a full dollar's worth of road for every dollar spent of the taxpayer's money.

And remember, this was done with a REDUCTION of 17% in your gasoline tax.

Governor Mechem is one of the acknowledged authorities on water development in the Southwest, and at the present time is working with the U. S. Department of Interior on a program which will speedily determine New Mexico's underground resources.

Instead of continuing with the Federal underground water survey which was expected to require twenty years for completion, Governor Mechem and Secretary McKay are working out details of a cooperative Federal-State project which will enable us to ascertain our underground water resources in the very near future.

In the field of law enforcement, the New Mexico State Police have brought from an ineffectual, mismanaged department of 54 men in 1950 to a highly effective, cohesive organization of 100 uniformed patrolmen today.

In 1950, they patrolled 1,700, 220 miles; in 1953, they patrolled 2,540,919 miles.

In 1950, they made 3,900 arrests; in 1953, they made 14,435 arrests.

In 1950, they were responsible for the collection of $534,680 in State income; in 1953, they were responsible for the collection of $1,126,932 in State income, money which goes into our common-school fund.

The Mechem administration revived a long-dormant State law which provides for a Personnel Classification of State employees. This action has resulted in a standardized, equitable basis for the payment of State workers instead of the hit-or-miss, irregular pay scales used in the past.

The Mechem administration established a pool for State-owned automobiles, with an annual saving of $200 per car in operation expense, plus the added advantage of being able to operate the State's business with comparatively fewer automobiles. In this connection, the use of State-owned cars for private purposes was stopped.

A yearly saving of more than $1 million in goods and commodities bought by the State has been brought about through a reorganization of the Purchasing Agent's office.

The number of vendors now selling to the State has been increased by one third, and no longer does a merchant need to belong to any small group or "inner circle" to sell his wares to the State of New Mexico. This abolishment of favoritism and kick-backs has put State purchasing on a truly competitive basis.

The Mechem administration, through its State comptroller, has instituted an accounting system for the correct receipt and use of all public money collected by City, County and State officials. This accounting system is being vigorously enforced.

The Mechem Division of Liquor Control has effectively policed the saloon business in New Mexico, and has stringently enforced all provisions of the Alvin Stockton favors the open, direct primary; one in which the voters may cast ballots in the primary of their choice.

MECHEM SAVED FT. STANTON HOSPITAL

FORT STANTON HOSPITAL

Gov. Ed Mechem made several trips to Washington to save Fort Stanton Hospital for Lincoln County. He secured a permit to continue its operation as a State institution.

The approximate payroll at the hospital is $360,000 a year. Gov. Mechem secured a Federal Government contract to hospitalize Indian tubercular patients, enabling the institution to operate in the black. There are at the present time 105 patients. Construction has been approved for remodeling another wing to be added to the hospital to take care of additional tubercular patients.

new liquor Code passed during the first year of Mechem's administration.

Gone are the days when the liquor license was worth $3,000 to $10,000 before it ever left the door of the Division Director's office.

In fact, there are now 65 fewer saloons operating in this State than when Ed Mechem took over.

An Administrator
All of us have painful memories of the half-million dollars squandered by the previous administration on the Donnell Survey. This was nothing but a bookkeeping measure designed to make sure of special friends and special interests.

In its stead, Mechem has instituted the Unit-Assessment tax system. Adopted by the last Legislature, this measure establishes accurate values for assessment purposes, reduces cost of county government by elimination of costs in material and labor in preparation of tax rolls, eliminates dual, overlapping assessments and modernizes antiquated assessment records.

And, instead of costing the taxpayers a half-million dollars as did the Donnell Survey, it adds no additional costs to the assessment process.

In addition to outstanding improvements in new buildings and facilities at our institutions of higher learning, and our State Capitol, during the past three years, all of which was accomplished without increasing taxes, the following greatly needed improvements are now in progress—and here again the cost will be saved for by our present tax increase.

State Penitentiary, $3,000,000

Holland has 200 miles of ramparts which never yield to the sea, says the National Geographic Society. Huge sand dunes, they serve not only as dikes but as reservoirs to catch rain. Fresh water collects in pools beneath the dunes and is piped to towns. Nearby beaches are popular vacation spots.

1954 WEATHER
BREAKS RULES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26—Four full weeks of hot weather, shattering temperature records of long standing in many parts of the eastern United States, made early autumn, 1954, a fuel dealer's nightmare.

The period dealt drought to the southeast and flood to the Chicago-Gary region, where two early October deluges added up to more than one-third of the area's average annual rainfall of 33 inches.

It demonstrated a maxim of weather men that nothing is more normal than a streak of abnormal weather.

Hurricanes, too. Other crazy weather touches have marked the year to date, says the National Geographic Society. West Texas' four-year-old drought had reduced the Rio Grande by March to "the world's dustiest river," carrying one-fourth its 30-year average flow. Heavy rains broke the drought in mid-May, and late in June created a flood that isolated Laredo and forced thousands to flee their homes in the path of the swelling Rio Grande.

June weather flooded the Des Moines River and produced Lake Michigan's "10-foot seiche, or tidal wave." The varying wallops packed by Carol, Edna and Hazel were normal abnormalities of the August-to-November hurricane season.

The United States Court of Appeals in St. Louis recognized the weather's capacity for outwitting mere man when it ruled in February that the Weather Bureau cannot be sued for making forecasts of flood stages on the Missouri River at Kansas City during the 1951 rampage.

Blizzards, gales and floods struck central Europe beginning with 1954's first week. Alpine avalanches took 149 lives. Heavy Alpine snows featured the continent's coldest July 1-15 in many decades. The flooding Tigris in March drove half a million Iraqi to higher ground in the region of the Garden of Eden.

All these conditions pale by comparison with damaging drought followed by deluge along the lower Brahmaputra River last spring. Some 20,000,000 people were made homeless in East Pakistan and Assam by monsoon rains that continued far beyond 40 days and 40 nights. The League of Red Cross Societies reported more calls for flood-relief during the summer than ever before in its history. Assam vs. Kausal

Near Cherrapunji, on the south slopes of Assam's Khasi Hills, 684 inches of rain were recorded in the first nine months of 1954. Since the rainiest season is now over, this frontier will hardly break the world-record 900-inch total for one year already credited to it. Averaging more than 400 inches a year, it has a close rival in the western slopes of Hawaii's Kausal Island.

Cherrapunji steamed through 241 inches of rain in August of 1941, alone. Three-fifths of that fell in five days. The world's wettest day, however, is credited to Baguio, Luzon, one-time summer capital of the Philippines, where 46 inches fell during 24 hours in mid-July, 1911.

New Smyrna, Florida, holds the 24-hour rain record for the continental United States with 23.22 inches on October 10-11 of 1924. Camp Leroy, California, measured 26.12 inches in a two-day downpour in January, 1943. The 365-day average for the United States as a whole is only 49 inches.

Meteorologists, busy in far greater numbers today than ever before, leave no earthly or cosmic cloud unturned to solve the weather's secrets. The four seasons are slowly getting warmer, most of them agree.

A notable current study of heavy rainfall is that of Dr. E. G. Bowen in Australia. Finding periodic recurrence of deluges at uniform dates every few years, the research now explores the possibility that meteor trails regularly crossed by the earth in space may provide dust that is

$400,000 Given In Anti-Litter Campaign

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Twenty-four of the nation's biggest industries have agreed to spend $400,000 between now and next summer persuading the public to stop scattering trash along America's highways and byways.

Announcement of the figure as a budget for Keep America Beautiful, Inc., followed a meeting here of the KAB board of directors, all of them top officials in their respective companies. The KAB organization, a non-profit corporation dedicated to anti-litter education on a national basis, was created some months ago jointly by industrialists who serve on its board and some thirty national citizen service groups, whose representatives constitute an Advisory Council.

The $400,000 budget implements an educational program designed to make Americans conscious both of their individual responsibility for litter in public places and their ability to prevent it simply by putting their own trash — from gum wrappers to food cartons — in proper receptacles.

Special appeals will be made to motorists to stop scattering their "travel trash" along the roadways. Another phase of the program will concentrate on patrons of public beaches, scenic and recreation resort areas and national parks. Educational devices are being prepared for use in the nation's schools, following the example of the Scandinavian countries where such education, over a period of years, has brought virtual elimination of the trash problem.

HOW TO DO IT

Estimating Paint

American Builder magazine points out that labor cost in painting is always higher than the price of the paint, so that a more expensive but longer-lasting paint is cheaper in the long run.

To estimate the amount of paint needed, measure the distance around the house and multiply this figure by the height at the corners. This gives the total side area. The gables are figured by multiplying the height of a gable by one-half its width. The side area in the sketch equals the perimeter, 110 feet, multiplied by the height, 22 feet, a total of 2,420 square feet. Each gable is 8 feet by 12½ feet, or 100 square feet, and both gables total 200 square feet.

To find the quantity of paint needed, divide the total area (2,620 square feet) by the area that can be effectively covered by one gallon, a figure that the paint dealer can give you.

I've been here for a bit now but hope to get back to New Mexico before the first of the year. I've tried this climate so many times and always with the same result—just can't take it—and really have to figure out some way to stay out in the Southwest.

I have friends out there keeping an eye open for me to maybe open a small gift shop or something. My new address is:

BE IT ENACTED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF NEW MEXICO:

Section 1. Said bonds shall bear interest at the rate of not to exceed four per centum (4%) per annum, payable semi-annually on the first day of July and the first day of January of each year. Payment on the principal of said bonds shall begin not more than three (3) years after the date of their issue and they shall mature thereafter in substantially equal annual installments in such a manner that all of said bonds shall mature not later than twenty (20) years after the date of their issue. Both principal and interest shall be payable in lawful money of the United States at the office of the State Treasurer in the City of Santa Fe, State of New Mexico, or at such other place as may be designated in said bonds. Said bonds shall be signed by the Governor, attested by the Secretary of State under the seal of the State and countersigned by the State Treasurer; and the full faith and credit of the State of New Mexico is hereby pledged for the prompt payment at maturity of the principal and interest of all of said bonds which may be issued and sold as provided in this act.

Section 3. The proceeds from the sale of said bonds shall be expended solely for acquiring, improving, constructing and equipping state owned and institutional buildings as shall be determined by the State Board of Finance; provided that none of said proceeds shall be expended or allocated until after any report of any survey board or commission created by the Legislature or appointed by the Governor for the purpose of making a survey of needs of various state agencies, departments and institutions, shall have been made and considered. The proceeds from the sale of said bonds shall remain in the hands of the State Treasurer until requisitioned by boards of the respective institutions in amounts approved by the State Board of Finance.

Section 4. The principal of said bonds shall be payable to bearer, or if registered as in this act provided, to the registered holder, at the same time and place as the interest and principal of said bonds as the same becomes due. Interest coupons payable to bearer shall be attached to each of said bonds and shall be consecutively numbered specifying the number of the bond to which they are attached. Said coupons shall bear the engravures or autographed facsimile or the signature of the State Treasurer at the time said bonds are issued and such coupons shall be engraved or lithographed and such coupons shall be countersigned, issued and sold as in this act provided shall be void obligations of the State although they may be issued and sold after the person so signing, availing and countersigning the same shall have ceased to be an incumbent of their respective offices and although the State Treasurer countersigning said bonds be a direct person than the person whose facsimile signature appears on the coupons.

Section 5. The bonds authorized under this act shall be sold by the State Board of Finance at such times and in such manner and amounts as said board may elect, to the highest bidder for cash at not less than par and accrued interest to date of sale. The State Board of Finance shall publish a notice of the time and place of sale in a newspaper of general circulation in the State of New Mexico and also in a recognized financial journal outside of the State of New Mexico. Such publication shall be made once each week for two consecutive weeks next prior to the date fixed for such sale, the last publication thereof to be at least ten days prior to the date of sale. Such notice shall specify the amount, denomination, maturity and description of the bonds to be offered for sale and the place, any and hour at which sealed bids superior shall be received. At the time and place specified in such notice the State Board of Finance shall open the bids in public and shall award the bonds, or any part thereof, to the bidder or bidders offering the highest price therefor. No bid shall be accepted which is less than the par value of such bonds plus the interest accrued from the last preceding interest date to the date of sale. Before delivering any bonds sold the State Treasurer shall detach therefrom and cancel all interest coupons which may have matured prior to the date of sale. The said Board may reject any or all bids and re-advertise. The said Board may, at any time, sell the said bonds, or any part thereof, to the State Treasurer at private sale at not more than four (4%) per cent interest. The State Treasurer is authorized to purchase any of such bonds with the permanent funds in his hands for investment at any time. The said bonds shall be legal investment for any person or board charged with the investment of any public funds and may be accepted as security for any deposit of public money.

Section 6. The State Auditor shall make a record in the book kept for that purpose in which shall be entered the date, number and amount of each bond sold and the amount for which the same was sold. Any of said bonds sold may be registered by the State Treasurer upon presentation of said bonds and may be at the request and in the name of the holder thereof in a book kept registered as to principal only, or as to both principal and interest, in which latter case all interest coupons attached to such bond shall be detached and cancelled. The taxes hereby authorized, imposed and levied shall be levied, assessed and collected at the times and in the manner that other taxes for state purposes are levied, assessed and collected, and it shall be the duty of all tax officials and authorities to cause such taxes to be levied, assessed and collected.

Section 9. The State Treasurer shall keep separate accounts of all monies collected under the taxes hereby imposed and levied, and shall use the same only for the purpose of paying the interest and principal of said bonds as the same becomes due. Section 10. Any holder of any of the bonds issued pursuant to the provisions of this act, or any person or officer being a party in interest, may either at law or in equity, by suit, action or by mandamus, enforce and compel the performance of the duties required by this act of any officer or person herein mentioned. The provisions of this act shall constitute an irrevocable contract with the holders of any of the bonds and the coupons thereof issued pursuant to this act for the faithful performance of which the full faith and credit of the State of New Mexico is hereby pledged. This act shall not be subject to any other act of the Legislature of the State of New Mexico be full authority for the issuance and sale of the bonds hereby authorized, which bonds and the coupons attached thereto shall have all the qualities of negotiable paper under the law merchant and shall not be invalid for any irregularity or defect in the proceedings for the issue and sale thereof and shall be incontestable in the hands of bona fide purchasers or holders thereof for value. All bonds issued under the provisions of this act shall be exempt from taxation.

GRIZZLIES TAKE BEAN VALLEY CHAMPIONSHIP

The Carrizozo Grizzlies were crowned 1954 Bean Valley Conference Football Champions last Friday afternoon at Estancia, when they outclassed a good Estancia eleven, 25 to 8.

Coach Ken Willis' lads' lost little time in crossing pay dirt when Leroy Nowell pushed the Grizzlies to a 6-0 advantage as the senior quarterback raced 68 yards around left end on the first play of the game from scrimmage. Natle Palomarez split the uprights to give Carrizozo a 7-0 lead with the game only one minute old.

Both elevens failed to threaten throughout the remaining minutes of the first quarter and the Grizzlies possessed a 7-0 advantage as the opening period came to an end.

With four minutes gone in the second stanza, Tom Barnett unleashed another march when he rambled 18 yards over left guard to the Estancia 8-yard marker. Barnett again received the nod in the ball carrying department and promptly scampered the remaining distance for a 13-0 lead.

In an attempt to enter the scoring column before the half ended, Adrian Brown, the Estancia passer, elected to take to the air, but Richard Vega put a stop to the Estancia drive when he intercepted Brown's pass and returned the pigskin to the Estancia 43 shortly before the first half drew to a close.

Estancia broke into the scoring column midway in the third period when Leroy Nowell, attempting to punt from his own end zone was trapped for a safety.

Preceding Estancia's ownership of two points on the safety, Carrizozo's forward wall threw up one of their sternest defenses when they held Estancia for four successive downs on the Carrizozo 2-yard line. Two lads who participated in the stellar defense work were Glen Barnum and John Saucedo.

GALLEGOS BREAK AWAY

With a 13-2 fourth period lead, Tingo Gallegos, the Grizzlies' pint-sized halfback put on a running exhibition which will long be remembered in Estancia. Gallegos slid, turned and churned his way 55 yards to a tally with the last stanza half way in the record books. His TD gave Carrizozo a 19-2 lead.

Adrian Brown of Estancia uncorked a 30-yard pass in the waning minutes of the game to give the host eleven an opportunity to hit pay dirt with two minutes remaining. After two unsuccessful cracks at the middle of the line, Bob Shields circled right side for the tally.

But the Grizzlies were not to be denied another touchdown, and after Leroy Sidwell made a fine runback of the Estancia kickoff to his own 35, Tingo Gallegos again found the hole that Richard Means and Jeff Morris opened on the left side and the 135-pound halfback turned and twisted his way past the Estancia defenders and the 65 yards for the final tally.

Last Friday's win marked the second successive game the Grizzlies have played a blot on homecoming festivities. Corona was a 7-6 victim of the Carrizozo eleven in their homecoming outing and Estancia-a 25-8.

Coach Willis singled out Richard Means and Jeff Morris for their fine line play on offense as the two lads played a major part in rolling up the 420 yards the Grizzlies amassed on the ground and in the air.

The Ruidoso Warriors romped to an easy win over Melrose in a game in Ruidoso last Friday.

Eugene Gay scored for the Buffaloes late in the fourth quarter.

CORONA CARDINALS LOSE TO TULAROSA

Corona's good grid team lost to Tularosa Friday by a score of 21 to 0. It was the same experience shared by all teams that faced the Wildcats this season.

NEWSLETTER FROM GAME DEPARTMENT

HUNTING CASUALTIES

Four hunters have been killed so far this season in a neighboring state. New Mexico to date has had only one reported hunting casualty, notwithstanding the great number of hunters in the field.

A 15-year-old boy was shot in the leg by his hunting companion, an inexperienced hunter 13 years old. The victim had never gone hunting with any responsible person.

FISH NEWS

Trout at Red River and Parkview Hatcheries of the Game Department are recovering from a mysterious sloughing off of skin from the back of their heads. According to the hatcheries' September reports, "Sunburn is the most likely explanation of the cause."

Nearly 2500 pounds of rough fish were taken during September by netting operations in the Pecos River near Carlsbad. Over 1100 channel catfish and nearly 200 bass were salvaged when the water was shut off in the canal.

WEEKEND HUNTS

Three special restricted deer hunts took place last week end in locations where there has been crop depredation by deer. Around Hondo 83 deer were taken, and in Cochita Canyon 24. In the White Signal-Separ vicinity 54 deer were taken.

The big game season runs November 6 through November 21. A deer hunt on certain portions of White Sands Proving Ground will occur Nov. 6 thru Nov. 13.

Perennials Are Best Transplanted Now

Most perennial flowers are best divided and transplanted in early autumn. Soon after the leaf fall in autumn, there is a period of active root growth which continues until the ground freezes. If this root growth can take place after the plants are divided and replanted, the plants will suffer less setback and give better performance next spring and summer.

Some perennials well adapted to fall division, are lily-of-the-valley, summer phlox, delphinium, dianthus and columbine. It is best to wait until spring for late flowering types such as chrysanthemums and hardy asters.

Incentive Payments on Wool Expected to Aid Sheep Industry

New Mexico wool growers will have a federal price incentive program on their 1955 wool clip designed to promote stability for nation's future supply of the sheep and lamb industry and at the same time safeguard the strategic material.

The program, announced recently by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, is authorized by the National Wool Act of 1954, passed by the Congress this past summer and signed into law by President Eisenhower last July 10. The act provides for an incentive program price to encourage U. S. shorn wool production toward a 300-million pound annual goal in the interest of national security. The Agricultural Conservation and Stabilization Committee will administer the program at the county level.

The program will operate to encourage better wool production and marketing practices while helping to stabilize the industry. If the average shorn wool price received by producers for the 1955 clip falls below the incentive price of 62 cents a pound, each wool producer will be eligible to receive a payment based on his production and the price he received for his wool in the market place. The more the producer gets in the market place for his wool the larger his incentive payment will be. This will encourage producers to do the best possible production and marketing job.

A distinct advantage of the new program is that U. S. produced wool will move directly into consumption in the open market instead of going into government storage, yet at the same time producers will be assured a fair return for their wool through an incentive program.

Another feature of the program is that funds for making the payments will come from the tariff receipts on foreign wool imported into the United States. This means in protecting wool producers' income through the incentive program no increase will be made in the cost of woolen goods to consumers.

Many leaders of the wool producing groups believe that a "self-help" feature included in the Wool Act holds great promise for assisting the industry to work out many of its problems. The "self-help" feature authorizes a marketing agreement through which producers could contribute to a fund to advertise and promote the advantages of wool, lamb, and the industry's other products. The agreement would need approval by producers.

are nationals of Germany must register with Selective Service if they have been admitted to the United States for permanent residence. Even though they have not declared their intention of becoming citizens and might have previously been exempt from registration under the so-called "Doctor and Dentist Draft Act," they are now required to register, the director emphasized.

Know Your Weapon! Handle Carefully!

Going hunting with some of the boys soon? Well, let's hope you bag a lot, but come back with the same number of boys. About 2500 people lose their lives every year from misuse of firearms and about a third of them happen in connection with hunting trips. How?

Well, some were mistaken for game, others were the victims of dropped or tripped guns. Still others shoot themselves carrying loaded guns while climbing over obstacles or lifting them in a moving vehicle.

The National Safety Council and the U. S. Department of Agriculture urge you to KNOW YOUR WEAPON and handle it carefully.

School Carnival Was Big Success

The Corona annual school carnival was held Friday and Saturday, Oct. 22-23. There were many booths, supervised by the teachers, who were assisted by the Seniors. The booths included roulette, bingo, fishpond, store, dart throw, shooting gallery, basketball throw, raffle, food and bottle throw. Many prizes were won at each booth. Dimmitt Bond won the silverware, Mrs. E. T. Bond the deep fat fryer, W. M. Perry the dishes, S. J. Earle the aluminum roaster and Jack Kilpatrick the cedar chest.

The teachers wish to express their sincere appreciation to all the parents and other people who made such generous donations. The success of the Carnival depends entirely upon the cooperation of the people of the community. To all of you, we say "Thank you."

Homer Baird, local Southern Pacific employee, has been transferred to Animas, N. Mex., where he has bid in the agency.

Lee Stone and Jim Burlew, young men from Topeka, Kans., were here this week staying at the Corona Motel and doing some prospecting.
