By PAUL BAKER

Officials of the Southern Union Gas Company were in Carrizozo this week...

Another official visitor in town this week was R. M. Howard, special consultant of the State Highway Department...

In view of the fact that thru-town traffic is responsible for most of the wear and tear on this street...

This week's most optimistic person is Bill Nickels who installed a new roof on the Nickels Building...

We are learning more about Archie Fuchs all the time. He proved himself to be a good cowboy the night of the donkey basketball game...

Last week Mayor Marvin Roberts forwarded a letter from England to John Boylan, custodian of the Old Courthouse Museum in Lincoln...

Mr. Boylan has been replying to all such inquiries, and will add this letter to her list of correspondents in England and Australia...

Besides the correspondents in England and Australia, Mrs. Boylan replies to several letters from this country each week...

All replies are accompanied by the little booklet of information given to visitors to the Old Courthouse...

The substitutes at the Museum receive and answer mail directed to the Chamber of Commerce of Lincoln...

Mrs. Boylan enjoys this variety of duties, but will be happy for the day when Lincoln Town can boast of having all the officials that people like to write letters to.

ANCHOR'S CONTRIBUTION

U. S. Funds Available For Upper Hondo Soil Conservation Project

Word has been received from Washington that $50,000 in federal funds has been made available during the current fiscal year for use on the Upper Hondo Watershed Protection Project.

In order for this area to secure these federal funds it will be necessary for the farm and range land owners in the watershed to raise approximately $25,000 by June 30.

The board of supervisors of the Upper Hondo Soil Conservation District, sponsors of the project, are making every effort to expedite the project and have requested the soil conservation service technicians to make the preliminary surveys necessary to determine sites and costs of structures which might be feasible to be installed this year.

The watershed protection project includes the installation of floodwater retarding structures, stabilizing and sediment control structures, stream channel improvements, stabilization of critical run-off and sediment producing areas, road erosion control, plus management practices and other soil conservation measures which might be needed on individual places and which would contribute to watershed protection.

High school basketball teams from Capitan and Carrizozo High Schools clash Saturday night in the Capitan gym. It will be the second meeting of the teams. In a previous game Capitan won by a top-sided score, but Carrizozo has improved greatly since.

Showing a good brand of marksmanship and good all-around defensive play, the Grizzlies lost by only 2 points in the finals of the Bean Valley tournament at Vaughn last weekend.

Sam Wedell was top scorer for the Grizzlies, with a total of 15 points in each of the games with Moriarty and Vaughn. Jimmy Lucero, Tiny Lopez and Tom Barnett were outstanding in both offensive and defensive play.

Capitan cancelled last week's games due to the death of Wallace H. Ferguson.

Carrizozo meets Ruidoso this Friday on the latter's court. Capitan plays NMMI in Roswell as a preliminary game to the N. M. U. NMMI game.

County Goal Reached For March of Dimes

Total receipts to date for the March of Dimes fund for Lincoln County were announced this week to be $4,563.09—approximately double the sum contributed last year.

Mrs. Jane P. Turner, county chairman, said at the beginning of the drive that she hoped Lincoln County would be able to raise 50 cents per capita. That goal has been topped, she was happy to report this week.

Everyone entered into the spirit of this year's polio fund campaign, she said, "perhaps because the long fight against the dread disease may at last be in sight."

Mrs. Turner highly praised the individual and collective efforts that have given Lincoln County its best record date in raising funds to strike at polio and aid its victims.

The County raised 31 cents per capita last year.

Recreation Program Discussed at Meeting

At a meeting held Tuesday night to outline a summer recreation program for youth, Clarence Shaw was elected president of the group.

Due to the fact that only a small number of men were able to attend the meeting, those present decided to withhold action on a program pending a second meeting.

Another meeting to which all men in the community who are interested in furthering recreation projects are invited to attend, has been scheduled for Monday evening, February 22 at 7:30 in the community center buildings, as the old Saint Rita Church will be called in the future.

Dev. George Boennighausen, who has been active in planning recreation for youth, urges all men of Carrizozo "regardless of race or creed, as well as all military personnel stationed at the bases or camps near Carrizozo to attend."

Points discussed at Tuesday night's meeting, and which will be further explored at next Monday night's meeting were: Discussion of forming a Lincoln County Little League sponsored, if possible, by the American Legion.

A Senior League, which would be a league for older boys, with teams from Carrizozo, Red Canyon, Oscura and Oscura Peak Army camps.

Possible formation of a softball league for those who do not want to play hardball.

At an organization meeting in Capitan on Feb. 4, Mrs. Boylan was appointed Chapter Chairman; George Zimmerman, who has been acting chairman since December, 1953; was appointed vice-chairman, and Marvin Roberts was reappointed treasurer.

George Sisneros Enters Race for Commissioner

GEORGE S. SISNEROS

George S. Sisneros, rancher, who lives north of Tinnie on the Arabela road, this week announced his candidacy for the office of County Commissioner, Republican ticket, subject to the Republican primary.

In announcing, Mr. Sisneros said: "Lincoln County is rapidly rising to its former prominence as one of the most important counties in the state. New agricultural, mineral and military developments along with its established large cattle and sheep industries and its many tourist attractions all point to the necessity of a vigorous and progressive county commission. I feel I have the qualifications to do a good job for these groups if elected."

Mr. Sisneros, a life-long resident of Lincoln County, is seeking his first public office. He has, however, been active in a variety of community activities since his return from the service in World War II.

At present he is serving his second term as a member of the board of directors of the Otero County Electric Cooperative, a committee member of the ASC, former PMA, vice-president of the Farm Bureau's Hondo chapter, and a member of the New Mexico Wool Growers Association, New Mexico Aberdeen-Angus Breeders Association, and the newly-organized Men's Club to support Hondo High School's athletic activities.

Mr. Sisneros is a graduate of NMMI, and was attending the University of Arizona in his senior year when he volunteered for the Army in 1941. He served for 4 1/2 years with the field artillery. His battalion was a part of the famed 10th Mountain Ski Division which fought in Italy. He is married to the former Rosemary Thyfauls of Dallas, Texas. They have five children: His parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Pacheco, ranchers of Arabela, are well known throughout Lincoln County.

ANCHOR MAN RE-ELECTED

James P. Hall of Ancho has been re-elected director for a term of three years on the board of directors of the Roswell Production Credit Association.

WILL HARRISON'S Inside the Capital

SANTA FE, Feb. 17--Republicans are confronted with a revolt in their organization aimed at overthrowing the leadership of Gov. Ed Mechem.

The war cry was sounded when Alva Simpson, who quit the state welfare director post to run for governor over Mechem's opposition, said: "I will support Governor Mechem for the United States Senate but I do not think he has the divine right to say who shall be his successor."

In Carlsbad Jim McCall who has been a harsh critic of the Mechem administration for three years announced that he is running for Republican nomination for Congress. Paddy county Republicans elected a delegation to the state party convention and at the same time adopted a resolution slammng the state administration for by-passing the county organization in making appointments.

The big Chavez county delegation to the convention was named at a convention presided over by John Kerr, former state Republican chairman, who has been harpooning the governor ever since he took office.

The resistance to the Mechem leadership is also showing in northern New Mexico where Santa Fe District Attorney Bert Prince is the leader of a group of Republican political figures who have been unable to get any major consideration from the Republican governor but helpless to do anything about it until now.

The feeling against following Mechem in the selection of a ticket has also penetrated the statehouse where employees working for the governor have been quietly at work for Simpson. This involves some of the major Mechem appointees.

POLITICS BEING KEPT BEING KNOWN

The politics breaking away from Mechem are those that he ignored during his first term and a hall. Without any inference that they are among the rebellious group, it may be noted that the governor has diligently refrained from seeking political advice from such figures in his administration as Manuel Lujan, the revenue commissioner; Joe Tondro and Ellega Baca of the liquor division; District Attorney Prince of Santa Fe and Art money chairman, Frank Rand of Santa Fe and practically all the northern county chairmen.

Mechem may have been tight in excluding the politicians from his councils but he has apparently driven them into a group, not to oppose him for Senator, but to determine not to let him dictate the 1954 ticket.

The situation is hurting Holm Burson of Socorro more than anybody else. The disident group threatens to make a strong contender of Simpson at a time when it appeared that the governor's group would give the nomination to Burson without much trouble.

Mechem may be able to put down the revolt but he is not so well equipped to do it now that he has only ten months more in office.

COUNTY SUPERS DISAPPEARING

Educational authorities are moving rapidly ahead in accomplishing a task that the legislature has repeatedly refused to consider—the elimination of county school superintendent's offices.

The legislature has turned down repeated proposals to amend the constitution for the elimination of elective county school superintendents but elections this year will see nine counties listing the superintendent's job on the ballot as only a dollar-a-year post. They are: Socorro, Lea, Eddy, Dona Ana, Bernalillo, Harding, Valencia, Lincoln and Los Alamos.

The offices are rapidly being knocked out by consolidation of independent districts until there is no county system for the superintendents to superintend. The nine is only a start. Education officials have their eyes on half a dozen more for early action and hope eventually to eliminate them all. That is, of course, if State Senator T. C. Jaramillo, superintendent of the La Joya school in Socorro, does not succeed in scuttling the whole thing in court—as he has threatened.

The jobs are continued to be listed on the ballot to comply with the constitution which calls for elective county superintendents.

Horrible examples still remaining of maintaining county superintendents and staffs are Hidalgo and DePaca counties.

N. M. Average Income Is $1331 Per Capita

SANTA FE, Feb. 17.—The per capita income of New Mexico residents is rising but is still almost 20 per cent under the national average. In this state, the average income is $1,331 per person per year, or $306 below the per capita income of $1,637 for the nation as a whole.

These were among the figures announced here today by the Taxpayers Association of New Mexico from a study based on latest state-by-state income and tax data compiled by the Federal Department of Commerce.

Some 15 other states now rank below New Mexico in per capita income while 10 have less population, according to the taxpayer organization.

On a per capita basis, New Mexico's state revenue—largely from taxes—was the very highest in the nation in 1952, latest complete fiscal year for which figures are available.

The total general revenue collected by state agencies have amounted to $161 per capita for the year, as against a 48-state average of $98. Nevada was second in state revenue collections with a per capita total of just under $160, while New Jersey's figure of $49 was the lowest in the nation for the year.

Cattle Growers Meet In Albuquerque Mar. 28

Some 3,000 of the Association's 6,500 members are expected to attend the 40th annual convention of the New Mexico Cattle Growers Association in Albuquerque March 28, 29, and 30, according to Ed Heringa, Clayton, president. "Because of the high interest in Congress in developing a sound government approach to a meat economy in agriculture and due to important legislation pending on government owned land administration, we expect attendance and interest at this convention to surpass all previous meetings of this kind," Heringa said.

Jay Taylor, Amarillo, Tex., president of the American National Cattlemen's Association, will lead an impressive slate of speakers expected to appear on the convention program.

Convention activities will open with the annual meeting of the New Mexico Hereford Association scheduled for Sunday afternoon, March 28. A general membership meeting of the cattle growers will follow that evening, where all members of the association will have an opportunity to voice their opinions on current problems facing the industry.

An educational panel on "Better Beef Production" is planned the morning of March 30, with prominent state livestock producers participating. The panel will be moderated by George F. Ellis, Bell Ranch, a vice-president of the association.

Juan Pedro was a member of Co. A, Pino's (2nd) Regiment of New Mexico Volunteers and took part in the battle of Val Verde February 19, 1862. Pino's regiment, together with Col. Kit Carson's was sent to support Capt. McCrea's battery, and, according to Juan Pedro's version, the bullets fairly hailed around them.

"Oh Señor mio! Las balas flovia; nos querian levantar en pesos, y dijo nuestro comandante; 'disyersen muchachos y dispersamos; unos murieron alli, otros mataron los indios, y otros llegamos a neustras casas!' (Oh my Lord! The balls showered; they fairly raised us off our feet, and our commandant said: 'Disperse boys! and we dispersed; some were killed there, others were killed by the Indians, and some of us reached our homes.)"

INSULATED DRAPERIES
By now Millum has probably become a household word. But in case you have forgotten, it is an insulated material that has been used extensively as linings for coats. Now it is being used for drapery linings. It is said that fuel expenses will be reduced because heat is reflected from the draperies back into the room rather than escaping through the window glass. Also it is claimed to deflect burning sun rays, thus keeping interiors cool in summer. These drapery linings are available by the yard or in custom draperies.

THE THUNDERBIRD, a new kind of car combining high performance with the comfort, convenience and safety of a conventional model, has been added to the Ford line. The Thunderbird has a powerful 160 h.p. Y-block V-8 engine and its low, graceful body is of all-steel construction. Equipped with a convertible cloth top which folds completely out of sight behind the rear seat, the Thunderbird can be purchased with a special composition hardtop, making it a complete all-weather car. Its overall height is 51.5 inches—nearly a foot lower than the 1954 Ford sedan—yet it has only slightly less road clearance. Most of its major parts are interchangeable with Ford's regular line of cars. The Thunderbird is scheduled for production by Ford Division next fall.

Try This Dish For a King

Want to feed your family a meal fit for a king? Try a dish the Department of Agriculture says was served to the King and Queen of Greece during their visit to the United States last year.

The basic ingredients include potatoes, chopped onion, chopped parsley, salt, pepper, nutmeg, diced bacon, chopped green pepper, egg, flour and bread crumbs. Fry the bacon and onion together. Mix mashed potatoes with raw egg, bacon, onion, green pepper and parsley; season with salt, pepper and nutmeg; form into patties about 2 inches in diameter, one-half inch thick. Coat with flour, dip in egg batter then in the bread crumbs. Fry until brown.

Under proration, New Mexico oil wells are allowed to produce more than 200,000 barrels of crude monthly.

STATE GAME DEPARTMENT NEWSLETTER

ANTELOPE SURVEY PROGRESS

Over 2,000 antelope have been counted in the Roswell area, in the state-wide game survey being conducted by the New Mexico Department of Game and Fish. The district biologist, Allan Anderson, has been in charge of the survey, with the cooperation of District Wardens Tommy Rogers and Marlon Embrey. Two planes have been used, with ground-to-air contact in the enumerating of the animals. The crew will move up to the east side of the state to the Las Vegas area and will be under the direction of Research Biologist, Jim McClellan.

DON'T KILL THE BROAD-WINGED HAWKS

In a move to protect broad-winged hawks, the New Mexico Department of Game and Fish is now releasing a leaflet on the various hawks, showing their comparative destruction of birds and rodents. The broad-winged hawks are one of our very best controls of rodents and rabbits. Killing these large hawks is not only ineffective in helping the game birds, but indirectly is seriously detrimental to the welfare of our upland game. A spokesman for the Education division of the department stated that individual broad-winged hawks will sometimes kill or harass game birds, but their beneficial control of rodents outweighs the damage done by an occasional bird. The descriptive literature being sent out by the department will assist in field recognition of these birds. Department personnel and other good game management people will limit their hawk killing to the known serious predators; Cooper's hawks, goshawks, sharp-shinned hawks and the horned owls.

REFUGES ABOLISHED, CREATED AND AMENDED

For better game management the State Game Commission took further action in regard to the game refuges throughout the state. The action taken was to abolish Dark Canyon and Guadalupe in Eddy County; Canada Ojitos in Rio Arriba; Black Range Highway and Black Canyon in Grant; Indian Creek in Hidalgo; Oso Ridge in Valencia; and Fort Sumner in DeBaca.

By commission action, two refuges were created: Sanchez in San Miguel County; and Warm Springs Boy Scout in Grant.

Two refuges were amended by the commission: Sandia in Bernalillo and Sandoval Counties

John Huffmyer of A&M Continues High Scoring In Border Conference

STATE COLLEGE, N. M. Feb. 15.—Although held to 9 points in Saturday night's game with league leading Texas Tech, John Huffmyer, continued to set an impressive scoring record. He has made 75 field goals in 150 attempts for a better than 50% shooting average. From the free throw line, he has bucketed 66 in 82 attempts for a 77% mark. That gives him 218 points for an average of 13.8 points per game.

STATE COLLEGE, N. M.—John Huffmyer, New Mexico A & M candidate for all-Border Conference basketball honors, continued his all-around fine play as he led his teammates to a 67-55 win over Arizona State of Tempe.

The blond speedster scored nine field goals and five free throws for 23 points, a new one-game record for any Aggie this year. He coupled his offensive play with his customary all-over-the-court defensive play. To date Huffmyer has hit 69 of 134 attempts from the field for an amazing 51%. After a poor early season start from the free throw line, Huffmyer has begun to hit and his 5 out of 5 against Tempe gives him 55 out of 75 free throws and a 73% record for the season.

Ford's New Ball-Joint Suspension gives you the Newest Ride on the Road!

This revolutionary new Ford front suspension soaks up road shock before it reaches you! Makes all riding and handling easier!

Seals out dirt. You can forget road splash because dirt and water get into the ball joints in Ford's new front suspension. Each of the four joints is effectively sealed by a unique rubber-and-metal shield. This means that contact surfaces of each ball and socket remain clean—wear is kept to a minimum.

Keeps that new-car feel. You'll enjoy Ford's new-car feel much longer because ball joints are spring-loaded to compensate automatically for any wear. Front wheels hold alignment far longer than with conventional systems. Ball joints can't stick or bind. Steering remains consistently easy.

The "old" roads won't seem the same with Ford's new Ball-Joint Suspension "paving" the way for you. You'll enjoy a softer, more level ride because Ford's new system allows greater shock absorbing movement of the front wheels. Handling is far better, too. That's because conventional kingpins have been replaced by simple, sealed ball joints that won't stick or bind. No other car in Ford's line can equal Ford's ride—because no other has Ball-Joint Suspension.

Agile new performance, too, is yours in a '54 Ford... whether you choose Ford's new 130-h.p. Y-block V-8 or 115-h.p. I-block Six. And no matter which of Ford's 28 new models you choose you enjoy recognized style leadership—with clean, modern lines... sparkling new colors... and harmonizing upholstery fabrics and trim.

Eliminates 12 wear points. Ford's Ball-Joint Front Suspension eliminates 12 of 16 points of wear found in conventional systems. Rubber-bushed supports at inner ends of suspension control arms reduce the number of wear points and insulate chassis from road noises.

We cordially invite you to Test Drive a

NEW MEXICO STORY
Demo National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell who lives about half the time in Taos has a New Mexico yarn to tell how he felt after the 1952 thing happened to the Democrats.

Some early settlers in New Mexico went to call on an old-timer who had a place in an isolated region. They found his cabin a heap of ashes, the stock had been driven off, the crops in the field burned. Finally they found the old boy himself lying on the ground with an arrow sticking through his chest. They ran up to him and saw that he was still breathing. Somebody pointed to the arrow and said: "Does it hurt much?" "Not much," said the old man, "Only when I laugh."

NORTHERN DEMOS WANT THREE PLACES
Northern New Mexico Democratic leaders have pretty much agreed to demand from the party nominating convention the first of the month that nomination for three places go to candidates with Spanish names. The places are: Auditor, secretary of state, and lieutenant governor. There are strong Anglo candidates already in the field for all three places.

N. M. Tourist Council To 'Screen' Candidates For Governor

ALBUQUERQUE, Feb. 13. — Claiming it can muster 100,000 votes, the executive board of the Tourist Industries Council of New Mexico today said it would put its own candidate in the governor's race if a council committee, after a screening, could not approve any of the announced gubernatorial candidates.

The statement was made by Carl DeBord of Ruidoso, spokesman for the council, following an all-day session at the Hilton Hotel.

The council meeting was attended by 12 members representing the New Mexico Restaurant Assn., New Mexico Hotel Assn., the New Mexico Motor Hotel Assn., the Lounge and Package Assn. and Resort Operators.

Declaring itself nonpartisan, the council named Mr. DeBord and Dave Woolf of Glorieta to a committee to "screen" the announced candidates of both parties—as to their knowledge of and interest in the tourist business and its importance to the economy of New Mexico.

This looking-over-announced candidates will be undertaken promptly, and, if necessary, the council's own candidate for nomination will be announced before the Republican and Democratic conventions are held, the council said.

"The tourist industry is the biggest industry in the state," Mr. DeBord said, "and our organization is out to get leadership up state (Santa Fe) which is interested in building secondary roads to our points of enchantment, dramatizing our scenic spots, and building new facilities which will hold tourists in New Mexico."

Continuing, he said, "We need information booths at points of entry to tell tourists what there is to see." He said more reservoirs should be built to serve both as municipal water supplies and as boating, swimming and recreation attractions.

The Tourist Industries Council spokesman said the council has no quarrel with the Highway Department's Tourist Bureau.

Ford to Produce "Thunderbird" Car

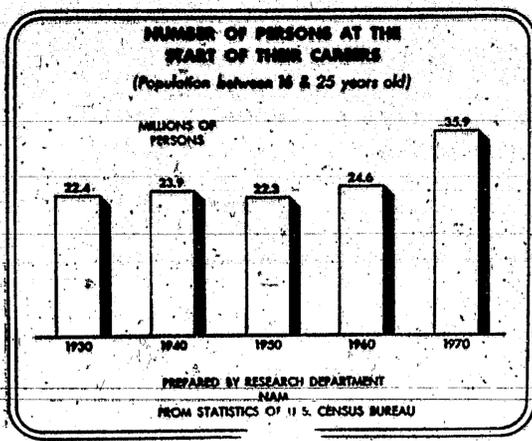

The Thunderbird, a new kind of personal car combining high performance with the comfort, convenience and safety of a conventional model, was announced today by Ford Division.

The Thunderbird has long, low graceful lines. Its all-steel body is of durable, conventional construction. The car is powered by a new, 160 h.p. Y-block V-8 engine. It can be purchased with a special composition hardtop which makes it a complete, all-weather car. The Thunderbird is equipped with a convertible cloth top which folds completely out of sight behind the rear seat.

L. D. Crusoe, Ford Motor Company vice-president and general manager of Ford Division, said the Thunderbird will be placed in production next fall. It will be shown to the public for the first time February 20 at the Detroit Automobile Show.

"The Thunderbird will begin a new era in the automotive field," Mr. Crusoe said. "While it resembles a sports car, it is a full-size vehicle—most of the major parts are interchangeable with our regular line of cars. It is completely engineered and built so it can be serviced by Ford dealer."

Ford test engineers say that "from a standing start, in 40 seconds the Thunderbird will be 53 car lengths out in front of a conventional 1954 car."

KNOW YOUR GRASSES

RED-3 AWN
By S. H. FUCHS

Red 3 Awn is a very wide-spread grass on our lower country below the ponderosa pine belt. It is a very aggressive species and is able to grow on soils which have eroded away and have become low in fertility. The seeds are produced in abundance, light and easily carried by the winds, they often become attached to the wool of sheep and are scattered about over wide-spread areas.

Red-3 Awn is not considered by ranchers to be in the same category as blue grass and other more palatable grasses; however, they recognize its prominent place in plant communities. It invades areas where better species, from the standpoint of stock feed, have perished and steadfastly helps to hold in place our most vital and fundamental asset, the soil.

Red-3 Awn greens up early and furnishes valuable feed while it is green. It does not have the native ability to retain its nutrition through dry seasons or the winter months. Dry winds, rains and snows eas-

Efficiency High on America's Farms

American agriculture has reached a peak of efficiency unequalled in all the centuries man has cultivated the earth, reports the National Geographic Magazine in a significant review of scientific results achieved at Beltsville, famous Federal Experimental farm 12 miles from Washington.

A new Korean grass being tested at Beltsville may be the long-sought lawn cover that crowds out crab grass. Beltsville has produced a lily as big as a trombone-bell and a pig that won't sunburn.

But of all the marvels created by these modest Department of Agriculture scientists, only one—a turkey that just fits an apartment-sized oven—bears the name "Beltsville," reports the National Geographic.

Largest in the nation, the experimental farm has 11,000 rolling Maryland acres. There are 2,000 employees, 950 buildings and 53 miles of roads, included in the property are a granary, acres of greenhouses and an airport. Agents sent out to scout the land prior to its purchase 45 years ago, reported it worn out and infertile.

"Anyone can grow a crop on good land," roared the Secretary of Agriculture, James Wilson. "Buy it!"

Soon restored to full production by good scientific management, Beltsville is now a national pride, a major guardian of the country's forests and farms, food, clothing and future health.

ly leach out its life-giving strength. Livestock thus avoid this and other insufficient species and clean up the more palatable ones, leaving it only as an inadequate, deficient last resource.

Ranchers know what the presence of this type of vegetation means on the range. They not only know what it means, they are doing something about it.

4-Hers Judge Stock At El Paso Show

Fenny McKnight, Jon Wild and Carol Jones were the members of the Lincoln County 4-H team in the livestock judging contest for 4-H and FFA, held at the El Paso Fat Stock Show last Saturday.

The team scored 650 to place eighth in the contest, in which 12 teams participated. Deming FFA was the first place team, with a score of 837.

Two classes of fat lambs and three classes of fat steers were judged.

L. C. "CHET" GIBBS RESIGNS HORTICULTURIST POSITION

L. C. "Chet" Gibbs, extension horticulturist at New Mexico A&M College, has resigned, effective February 20, Dr. R. A. Nichols, A&M's dean and director of agriculture, announces. Mr. Gibbs has accepted a position as pomologist with the Agriculture Extension Service of the University of California at Davis, Calif.

Grain Storage Problem Critical in Three States

About 100 grain warehouses in Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico have started expanding capacity under the guaranteed storage program announced recently by U. S. Department of Agriculture. When these warehouses are finished, southwest grain farmers will have additional space to store between 50 and 55 million bushels of grain. Some of these houses will be finished in time for this year's crop.

Meanwhile the grain storage situation remains critical in this three-state area. Here's how the picture looks today:

Commodity Credit Corporation owns around 108 million bushels of wheat in Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico. In addition, CCC expects to take over heavy holdings of 1953 grain. This totaled 94 million bushels of wheat and 62 million of grain sorghum. If the take over is as heavy as expected, nearly all of the warehouses in the southwest will be full.

Exports are down in this area—from about 40 million bushels in 1952 to only 14 million bushels last year. Too, quotas under the International Wheat Agreement are being filled very slowly, with most countries taking less than one-fourth of their allotments.

From these facts, it is seen that farmers face a serious problem in getting their 1954 wheat stored. They cannot take advantage of price supports unless it is stored.

Here are some of the things USDA has been doing to relieve this situation: It found an export market for 10 million bushels under a relief program to Pakistan, another million bushels were exported under a special marketing program. In another move, USDA has encouraged warehousemen to lease flat buildings and air bases. This has swelled capacity by 10 million bushels. USDA has also encouraged farmers to build more on-the-farm storage by making liberal loans at low interest rates.

Lessons from the Bible

THE STORY OF JACOB

(Fourth of a series)
By REV. J. M. KERR

Pastor First Baptist Church
Cotton

This is the story that fits into the picture of every life.

"The conquest of temptation in the life of Joseph"

Joseph appears before us in a most unusual manner. We see him in the midst of family life as one of a group of many brothers. His conquest of life is not drawn in the unnatural color of some sort of impractical piety. But instead it begins in the most common of places—the home.

The story of Joseph's conquest of life has many profitable lessons. Among them is the outstanding fact of the unseen operation of God's providence which brings complete victory for truth and righteousness. In spite of family jealousy and imperial revenge, Joseph is vindicated and his life completely justified. The providence of God overruled the evil designs and deeds of those who plotted against Joseph. This perhaps is the greatest lesson of Joseph's life and should serve to encourage us in the pursuit of righteousness, truth, honesty and Godliness as the best policy for our lives.

It seems that all through Joseph's life he was followed by the plotters of evil. It began in his own family at an early age. Here, his brothers, growing jealous of their father's favorite son, planned to dispose of him so they could have their own evil way. The excuse for this was their father's favoritism, but the reason for it was their own wickedness. It seems that early in life of Joseph took a stand for righteousness and refused to join his brothers in doing things which they knew their father would condemn. This, of course, angered the brothers and turned them against Joseph. Naturally it made it difficult for him, as it will for anyone today who will live for principle. Joseph might have appeased his brothers and remained quiet, but he was a man of high principle.

This brought him into conflict with his family. This also set his brothers against him, but the deeds they designed for evil God purposed for good. God permitted them to carry out these evil things but used them to bring Joseph to a place of mighty power. Let us believe that if we do what Joseph did God will do for us what he did for Joseph.

It is very unpopular to oppose evil. We must expect opposition instead of applause. Our rectitude makes evil doers uncomfortable. We are a constant reminder of their evil doings and therefore engender their hatred toward us.

What Joseph did he did as a young man. We assume that folly lies with youth and virtue lies with age and experience, but that is not universally true. Here is a young man of great personal character and strength. He was willing to stand alone in the hardest place in the world—in the midst of his own family.

Every one of us reveals in youth what we are going to be at maturity. What we are is what we will be. There is a certain mellowing by age and maturity by age of maturity of experience, but youth is always an accurate gauge of how high we will climb and how far we will go. It was so in Joseph's case. The prime minister of Egypt can be seen in the young man who was willing to stand against evil in his family. There was a reason for it, of course. His family was a big factor. We must remember that this alone was not enough, for Joseph's brothers had the same training. As the same care brings one field into fruitfulness and another field into withering death, so we find the opposite of life resulting from the same advantages.

REPORT FROM NATION'S CAPITOL

By JOHN J. DEMPSEY
Congressman from New Mexico

San Juan-Chama Diversion

Hearings on the Colorado River development legislation which contained an item providing authorization for survey and planning by the Bureau of Reclamation of the San Juan-Chama Diversion project have been completed by the Reclamation subcommittee of the House Interior and Insular Affairs committee. A report on the bill will be made in about a week. It is expected.

Opposition to the San Juan-Chama Diversion plan developed when Texas objected because the authorization would permit New Mexico to build additional dams which could be used to impound water that belonged to Texas under the Rio Grande compact. In appearing before the committee in support of the legislation I pointed out that merely a survey and preliminary planning were authorized and that provision was made for acceptance of the plans by the states affected and by the Congress before the work could be done. It was my contention that New Mexico had always sought to be fair in its dealings with the neighbor states on water matters and that I believed it would continue to be so.

I also cited the fact that New Mexico now can utilize only a very small part of the San Juan river water allocated to the state under the Upper Colorado River Compact, and that about 750,000 acre feet of the state's share of that water is now flowing down the river unused for New Mexico's benefit. Until the diversion plan, coupled with the irrigation projects in the San Juan area, is authorized that water will continue to be irretrievably lost to New Mexico. I feel that the committee is inclined to give the San Juan-Chama Diversion proposal favorable consideration, which will be the first step toward its eventual accomplishment. In the meantime I hope Texas and New Mexico will get together and reach an accord.

WORLD WAR II CLAIMS

The House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee held a hearing on my bill to extend the time limit for filing of claims by World War II prisoners held in enemy prison camps for payment under the terms of my bill passed by the 82nd Congress. The original law set a time limit of April 9, 1953. Since that date nearly 900 claims have been filed with the War Claims Commission and others have signified a desire to file. My bill, HR 5632, as amended provides that those eligible to receive this payment will have until three months after the effective date of this legislation to file their claims. It would also validate those which were filed after the original time limit.

In urging approval of the bill I pointed out to the committee that many of those eligible have been unable to file because they have been in the armed forces of our country serving in Korea or other foreign lands and some have been prisoners in Communist prison camps in Korea. I believe the legislation will be approved.
