

RAMBLIN' AROUND

By PAUL BAKER

Eddie Apodaca, State Highway patrolman for this area, reports there was not a single automobile accident in his district during the month of February. The reason, he believes, is that motorists have complied with the traffic rules of safety. Naturally, he hopes this fine record will be repeated in the coming months. One accident occurred off the highways. It was a three-car truck collision in construction work on the new Highway 54. This happened February 11 and one driver was hospitalized.

The movement of Democratic delegates at the County Convention to "draft" candidates for their County ticket, had partial results when S. M. Ortiz was induced to make the race for State representative. Sally told the delegates he was occupied in his business to make an active campaign for office at this time, but he was finally persuaded to enter the contest.

A wave of salesmen, soliciting from door to door, hit Alamogordo last week, according to the Alamogordo News. Resulting in a number of inquiries at the Chamber of Commerce and city police station as to just what their status was. The article in the News went on to say:

"According to the city police station, a company known as Hicks Engineering and Electric company purchased a city license for the sale of GE refrigerators, but instead of establishing a business site, canvassed the town by the door-to-door method. Although their products were all right in so far as the city police could determine, what they were doing comes under the heading of soliciting and is in violation of the city ordinance. After answering a number of calls from business men, as well as individuals interested in buying their products, the police officers called the sales manager in and explained to him why he could not continue to sell his goods unless he intended to establish a business site. "Lillian Bagwell, Chamber of Commerce manager, said she answered five calls from persons Friday who were afraid they had been 'took' by magazine salesmen and the like."

MAKER OF DIMES "MOST SUCCESSFUL EVER" Eddie Neebe

This is just a little note of thanks and appreciation for the splendid way you gave us during the recent March of Dimes. I am happy to report the 1954 March of Dimes was the most successful ever conducted in the State of New Mexico — something like $60,000.

Max Reed, M. of D. Chairman.

BUILDERS OR WRECKERS? I watched them tearing a building down. A gang of men in a busy town; With a ho-heave-ho and a lusty yell. They swung a beam and the side wall fell. I asked the foreman "Are these men skilled?" He gave a laugh and said, "No, indeed! Just unskilled labor is all I need. I can easily wreck in a day or two. What builders have taken a year to do!" And I thought to myself as I went my way, Which of these rules have I tried to play? Am I a builder who works with care, Measuring life by rule and by square? Am I shaping my deeds to a well made plan, Faithfully doing the best I can? Or am I a wrecker who walks the town Content with the labor of tearing down?

WHEN A BOY NEEDS A DAD The Southern Pacific Bulletin, in a recent issue, printed three letters on "What My Dad's Safety Means to Me," written by the children of railroad people. The following is by Ronald Hinaldo:

"Who is a growing boy's best friend?—His father. "When is a boy in need of his father?—When he needs advice about a bike, a guy, or a gal. When he's in trouble. When the world is on top of him, or when he needs the family car. Dad is the only one who understands when a fellow's bang gets after him.

"Why is my Dad's safety important to me?—So he can do all of the above things and make a complete, happy family. Dad tells me to be careful, on my bike, at school and at play and I expect him to be careful at all times, too. Then any day—graduation, when I get married, or possibly when the other side of the opening sign—I can look at Dad and say, "That's my Pop!"

WILL HARRISON'S Inside the Capital

SANTA FE, March 2.—Statements by the Senate-running governor, Ed Mechem, to the effect that only the governor's race matters in 1954 have provoked the indignation of a lot of Eisenhower people.

The Mechem statements, first heard at a Republican party meeting in Albuquerque a few weeks ago, and repeated at the state convention, may have been prompted by his modesty as a candidate for the Senate. But modesty or not, it hasn't set well with a lot of party members who think the No. 1 obligation of the party is to strengthen the Republican situation in Congress.

Particularly miffed by the governor's governor-only position are backers of the Republican candidates for Congress and those who were interested in the Congressional race in 1952.

The whole subject is touchy in Republican circles. The 1952 campaign was one of those governor-only affairs with Pat Hurley running his own campaign for Senator and other candidates dangling and bumping along behind the governor, and not successfully, as you recall.

Friends of the other candidates, particularly those for Congress, were outraged about the neglect of the nominees. Mechem is bound to get big organization support regardless of his deference to the governor.

Ed Mechem and the nominee for governor, particularly if it's Holm Bursum, will have the spotlight much of the time. The others, it appears, will be running on their own as they were the last time.

This was pretty well indicated in the party convention in which there was a resounding hassle about the nominee for governor and disinterest about the other places on the ticket.

Several of the places were filled by taking the only persons willing to try. The lack of consideration for Congress was pointed up by giving a place on the primary ticket to Joe Bendon, an unemployed Albuquerque man who two years ago tried to become an illegal Democratic candidate for state land commissioner. No candidate at all was developed for one of the supreme court places.

All that came about after the party leaders had engaged in an intense state-wide activity on the nomination for governor had they been interested they could have drummed up similar interest in the other places.

NOT MUCH CLASS AT THE BOTTOM

The Republicans produced first-class candidates for the Senate, governor and just a few other spots. Warren Cobean, Roswell, an aspirant for Congress, should rate in the first bracket. Beau Baughmann of Clovis is one of the best qualified men ever to stand for state auditor. Justice Augustus T. Seymour is perhaps the best one in the crowd for his place. Charlie Battiste of Carlsbad, the nominee for lieutenant governor, is pretty much an unknown in political circles but he has some mighty good recommendations.

After that, there's not much to say for the Republican ticket. This is written as the Democrats nominate their candidates for the primary and they are not producing much class either in the lower part of their ticket.

It's not likely to come about soon, but New Mexico would do a lot better to eliminate all the elective offices below that of lieutenant governor, with the exception of attorney general. And the state would do well, also, to get rid of the primary convention system.

The recent meetings in Santa Fe and Albuquerque showed a failure of the conventions to live up to their only reason for existence—a responsibility on the part of the parties to put up sound candidates for all offices.

BURSUM JR. TRYING WHAT SE. FAILED

Holm O. Bursum, Jr., in his run for governor, is trying what his famous father was never able to accomplish. Holm O. Bursum, Sr., was one of the most influential figures in the history of New Mexico politics. He made governors and senators and directed state policy but was never able to get himself elected to the big job in Santa Fe.

The famous Holm Sr., who died recently in Colorado, was the first Republican nominee for governor under statehood and lost out to Democrat W. C. McDonald in 1912. He tried again in the second election, 1916 (back there the officers held on for four years) and lost to E. C. DeBaca, Democrat. Later, in (Continued on back page)

2nd Annual Art Show In Roswell May 23

The second annual Circle Show, presented by the Roswell Museum, will be shown late in the spring, beginning May 23, and continuing until the middle of July.

The Circle Show, very successfully inaugurated last year, is so called because entries are considered from a 150-mile circle around Roswell. Any artist within this radius, whether professional or amateur, may enter in the show, also those artists who were born in the area, and those who have lived in the area for five years and consider it their home.

Last year's show drew many entries from all over the 150 mile circle. It ran from May 3 to late in May; the prize-winning paintings and sculpture were exhibited throughout the summer. Twenty-two cash and honorary awards were presented from the 154 items on exhibition. Exhibiting in last year's show was Carl E. Ness of Capitan.

New Mexico Magazine Reveals Incidents of Lincoln County War

Hitherto unpublished details of life in Lincoln County during the opening days of the Lincoln County war are related in two articles in the March issue of New Mexico Magazine.

The articles are from diaries, letters and first-hand account of the experiences of Dr. and Mrs. T. F. Ealy, missionaries who went to Lincoln in 1878 at the request of Alexander McSweeney, who was an ardent Presbyterian and hoped to establish a church there.

Dr. and Mrs. Ealy arrived from the East on the day that John R. Tunstall was killed. His death signalled the outbreak of the shooting war. Dr. Ealy's first experience in the town was to embalm the body and arrange the funeral of Tunstall, Billy the Kid was one of the pallbearers.

During the battles, Dr. Ealy attended the wounds of men on both sides. He and Mrs. Ealy and daughters occupied the Tunstall house at the time of the burning of the McSweeney house.

In her account of the battle, Mrs. Ealy was severely critical of the part played by Col. Dudley, in charge of the garrison at Fort Stanton, who stood by without interfering during the three-day battle. Mrs. Ealy wrote that in answer to a plea from McSweeney that Dudley replied: "I won't hold any communication with you whatsoever, and if one shot is fired from your house, I will turn my cannon on it."

Mrs. Ealy's account said when so requested, that he gave protection to the Ealy and Shields' families and Mrs. McSweeney but he also permitted the Murphy faction to saturate the McSweeney home with oil and destroy it by fire.

Both Dr. and Mrs. Ealy died years ago, and their daughter, Ruth R. Ealy, of St. Petersburg, Fla., prepared the articles from their papers.

Highway 54 Ass'n Sets Date for Spring Meet

At a recent meeting of the Executive Board of the National Highway 54 Association held at Liberal, Kansas, the dates for the coming spring convention were set as well as the convention city. The 1954 spring convention will be held at Dalhart, Texas, Friday and Saturday, April 9 and 10.

It was decided that no convention bus will be operated this spring for the convention. Arrangements have been made for the printing of 100,000 road maps similar to those printed last year.

Plans for the fall convention will be decided at a later date and city where it will be held will be chosen at the same time. All maps for the Highway Association will be mailed from Iola, Kansas. Those desiring maps should write to Iola Chamber of Commerce.

Apache Tribal Council Urges Fire Protection in Mescalero Forest

A letter has gone out from the Tribal Council to the Indians of Mescalero Apache Reservation regarding the protection of the reservation from fire. It follows:

The Mescalero Forest is our tribe's most valuable asset; for it gives us forage for our stock, firewood, game and fish, and water for our fields. We should therefore do all in our power to protect our forest, as our fathers before us have done.

It was not until the white man came that the forest began to be destroyed. Most white men did not love the forest as did the Indians. That is why they were often careless with fire, thereby starting fires which burned many acres of beautiful forest. And when the fire had run its course there would be no beautiful, green trees, but instead there would be nothing but a lot of dead trees, burned and black.

In such places the streams would soon dry and there would be no fish to catch. Even the grass and the shrubs would be destroyed, and the deer, turkey, and other game would have to go elsewhere.

Most white men did not seem to know that fire was a good servant to a camper, but a hard master. They did not seem to realize that when fire was carelessly let loose in the woods, it becomes a terrible red wolf which runs about at a rapid pace, devouring all it sees and laying the beautiful forest waste for many long years.

"Mescalero Forest Is Ours"

The U. S. Government has given the Mescalero Forest to our tribe. The Mescalero belongs to us and we should do everything to protect it. If fire should go through our forest it would probably destroy everything, and then there would be no per capita payments from sold timber, no game, no range for our sheep and goats and no grass for our tribal herd.

Therefore, the Indians should do everything possible to avoid forest fires. First of all, must be very careful of fire ourselves, never leaving our camp fire until we are sure that it is out and can do no damage. We should also be careful in regard to throwing matches and lighted cigarette butts into dry places for large fires have often been started in this very way.

When you see a forest fire go to it immediately and try to put it out. Remember no matter how big a fire may become there was a time when one man could have put it out. If the fire is too big for you notify the Agency, telling them of its location.

Our fathers saved the Mescalero forest for us, and we want to pass it on to our children. We want to give them a green forest not one that is all black and burned. So let us do our best to keep fire out of our forest; it is a sacred duty we owe ourselves, our children, our tribe and our country.

A worship service will be conducted at 7:30 p.m. at the Carrizozo Methodist Church. Prayers will rise in the world's varied languages and dialects, asking that the churches "speak the word of healing to this troubled world"; and that the "leaders of the nations of the world" may be given wisdom to work for peace. The World Day of Prayer, held on the first Friday in Lent each year, is an observance that dates from 1887, when a Presbyterian woman in Boston called for a nationwide day of prayer for home missions.

Preparing Wool Better Means More Dollars In Sheepmen's Pockets

Better preparation of wool for market is adding thousands of dollars annually to New Mexico's sheep and wool economy, says Bill Snyder, extension wool marketing specialist at New Mexico A&M College. Furthermore, better prepared clips have gained a good reputation on the Boston market, the wool marketing specialist adds in announcing a nine-point program for better preparation of New Mexico wools.

Snyder lists the nine points as follows:

- (1) Select the proper time to shear—consider weather, lambing, etc.
- (2) Arrange for a reliable shearing crew.
- (3) Shear on boarded floors or cement, keeping the shearing operation off dirt. Have a "system" in all shearing operations such as lambing, etc; construct feed-in chutes, runways on sides of shearing floor to efficiently handle sheep; use curbing along sides of shearing floor as dirt retainers.

(4) Use correct and well-placed equipment. Advance or der sufficient sacks, twine, tying strings and other supplies. Use serviceable sacking stands; possibly a fleece-drop racks; use boards or tarping on which to roll packed bags; use tarping to cover wool bags until delivery; keep the bags off the ground and dry.

(5) Handle the fleeces properly. Tir shorn fleeces, flesh-side out, using paper strings; keep tags and heavy skirlings cleaned up and separately bagged; "roll" the fleece in tying with shoulder and neck wool draped outside; pack wool bags moderately (about 200-225 lbs. per 6-foot bag).

(6) Separate long and short wools, fine and coarser grades, bagged separately; grade wool on the sheep's back before shearing, or table-grade after shearing—either method is satisfactory.

(7) Separately bag and label black wool, also black-face wools, burry and seedy types,

March 6 to 14 Is Nat'l 4-H Club Week

Four-H club work moves ahead in 1954 with the theme Working Together for World Understanding. More than 2,016,000 boys and girls from 10 to 21 years of age have united for greater service to home, club, and ram, ewe, or lamb (first-cutting) fleeces.

Burry and seedy types fleeces are subject to severe discounts; murrain "dead" wool should be kept separate; on many ranches "eye" wool from woolblinding is separately packed to advantage; discounted black wool should never be blended with white wools; farm conditions should be conducive to the production of wool free from burrs and trash.

(8) Properly label wool bags. Stencil name and address, wool type, class, grade, and number on all bags. (Keep a record on your bag weights at the ranch); avoid excessive painting of sheep or wool bags.

(9) Prepare wools for market with this over-all point in mind: to increase the net selling price.

Intelligently prepared wools pay off in the long run, Snyder says. This is proven by the fact that in the past, better prepared wools in New Mexico have merited a premium of from two to four cents a pound.

community and country. During National 4-H Club Week, March 6 to 14, 4-H members of 87,000 community clubs will rededicate their efforts to fulfillment of their pledge of Heads to Clearer Thinking, Hearts to Greater Loyalty, Hands to Larger Service and Health for Better Living.

L. S. Kurtz, state 4-H club leader at New Mexico A&M College, cites some examples of what 4-H club members do: They perform useful tasks called 4-H projects. . . attend and conduct regular meetings of their club . . . share the responsibility of the home, farm and community . . . learn scientific methods of growing crops, livestock, making meals, sewing, health, safety, and related subjects . . . attend 4-H camps, training meetings . . . take part in judging, public speaking . . . take educational tours and trips. Club members say "Club work is fun," for they have the time of their lives at 4-H camp, county and community rallies and special recreational programs. Four-H families believe "If we play together, we stay together," and "As we work together, we will have a better world."

The local 4-H club has the understanding guidance of parents and volunteer leaders, Kurtz says. The work of the leaders is enriched through the efforts of the state land-grant colleges, which provide scientific informa-

The Farmer or Rancher, Like His Truck, Needs The Most Help When the Going Gets Rough

When your truck bogs down — when its motor is "sick" or it loses traction in mud or sand — you need a mechanic to readjust its parts . . . boards or brush under its wheels to firm its ruts . . . maybe a tow-rope and boosting power.

FARM BUREAU OFFERS THE "TOW-ROPE" YOU NEED

It's "rough going" this year for both farmers and ranchers. Restricted acreage for the cotton planter, low prices for both crops and livestock, shortage of water for either farm or ranch combine to stall both planning and profits.

So, both farmers and ranchers need the New Mexico Farm and Livestock Bureau more than when the going is good—to readjust Agriculture's "parts", in their relationship to other industries . . . to supply a "tow-rope" in time of trouble.

Statewide Membership Drive This Year Due March 7-13

AND WE'RE SHOOTING FOR A NEW HIGH GOAL — 8,114 MEMBERS IN 1954

Already the largest farm-ranch organization in New Mexico, that new high goal can be reached if present members, county by county, concentrate on a mass drive this month. Farm Bureau in the State has grown at the rate of nearly a thousand a year for the past ten years. Another 500 in '54 ought not be too hard to attain.

"TOGETHER WE ARE STRONG; SINGLY OUR VOICE IS WEAK"

Farm Bureau's "voice" is strong because it not only is the largest farm-ranch organization in New Mexico but also because the American Farm Bureau Federation, which speaks for it nationally, SPEAKS FOR THE GREAT MASS OF VOTERS IN THE NATION'S BASIC INDUSTRY—1,643,873 FARM FAMILIES—AT LEAST TWICE THAT NUMBER. OR

3,287,746 WHEN HUSBANDS AND WIVES AND NEAR-ADULT CHILDREN ARE COUNTED. Furthermore, that "voice" is given added strength because Farm Bureau is altogether non-partisan — never mixes in party struggles—never asks for special favors.

RECENT ACCOMPLISHMENTS; WHAT IT IS ASKING NOW —

When New Mexico ranchmen faced heavy losses last fall because of the combined ravages of drought and falling prices, Farm Bureau called a meeting of the State's cattle and sheep men . . . worked out the relief program that was put into effect.

When New Mexico cotton planters were gloomiest — when it looked as if allocations for new support prices would cut their acreage by as much as 40 per cent, Farm Bureau was for their substantial increases in permissible plantings.

Here are only a few of the things to which Farm Bureau now is pledged:

- 1.—Development and protection of New Mexico's water supplies.
- 2.—Income-tax deductions for soil conservation practices.
- 3.—Limitation and gradual release of federally-owned lands in the State.
- 4.—Cooperation to the efforts of national minorities to subject the industry to the lightning effects of government price supports and controls on livestock.

ADD STRENGTH TO "THE VOICE OF AGRICULTURE"; GET YOUR NEIGHBOR TO JOIN WITH YOU

FORAGE COMPETITION TO BE STUDIED LOCALLY

A standing committee has been established to outline a co-operative program between landowners and the New Mexico Department of Game and Fish, to ascertain the actual forage competition between livestock and deer, sheep and antelope. Cattle growers are represented on the committee by G. W. Evans, Magdalena; wool growers, John Davenport, Espanola; and the Farm Bureau by Anderson Carter of Fortales. The committee met in Santa Fe on February 23 with Judge Botts, chairman of the Game Commission and Homer C. Pickett, State Game Warden. Stomach analyses are to be made by outstanding men in the field of forage analysis, on a local basis. At present available figures come from other states. Sample cows, deer, sheep and antelope are to be taken every other month for the study. Stockmen will be reimbursed by the Game Department for livestock taken from their ranges. The study is to be financed 75% through the Federal Aid program with funds derived from excise tax on sporting arms and ammunition; and 25% thru Game Department funds derived from sale of hunting and fishing licenses.

All of the committee members agreed to give wholehearted support to the above-outlined program, in presenting it to their respective organizations for consideration.

MORE ABOUT "LIVING MOUSETRAPS"

Homer C. Pickett, State Game Warden, recently circularized the employees of the New Mexico Department of Game and Fish with a warning against promiscuous killing of hawks. The hawks most commonly shot are the big red-tails, Swainson's and rough-legs.

The broad-wings are those that soar in wide circles in the sky and perch conspicuously in the open. These are the hawks that feed chiefly on insects and rodents. That is why they are often called "living mousetraps."

The small creatures that hawks eat breed so rapidly that there is an important job for every hawk to do. Rats, mice, rabbits, ground squirrels and gophers, when not controlled by hawks, owls and other predators, sometimes do extensive damage to agriculture. The smaller long-tailed hawks that feed chiefly on small birds are not seen so often because they usually perch under cover. The eating of small

THE STORY OF JACOB

(FIFTH OF A SERIES)
By REV. J. M. KEHR,
Pastor First Baptist Church
Carrizozo

THE FAILURE OF APPEASEMENT

This is what we read of Jacob's attempted appeasement of Esau: "And he lodged there that same night; and took of that which to his hand a present for Esau, his brother, and he delivered them into the hands of his servants, every drove by themselves; and he said unto his servants, 'Pass over before me, and put a space betwixt drove and drove.' And he commanded the foremost, saying, 'When Esau my brother meeteth thee, and asketh thee, saying, whose art thou? And whither goest thou? And whose are these before thee? Thou shalt say, they be thy servant Jacob's; it is a present sent unto my lord Esau and behold he is behind us; for he said, I will appease him with the present that goeth before me, and after I will see his face; peradventure he will accept me. So went the present over before him; and himself lodged that night in the company'."

This policy of appeasement failed as it always does. The League of Nations appeased Mussolini concerning Ethiopia birds by hawks is nature's way of controlling their numbers so as to maintain a balance and therefore help the wildlife community.

Some ranchers in Colorado have gone even further than the New Mexico Department of Game and Fish. They have banded together and are demanding the protection of the coyotes, eagles, skunks, hawks and other predatory animals because of the steady increase of mice, gophers, moles, rabbits and other rodents. They claim the carrying capacity of livestock on the rancher's range lands has been cut by as much as half.

and it was the beginning of a reign of terror by the dictators. Chamberlain appeased Hitler at Munich and it was the beginning, not of peace in our time, but of the world's bloodiest war. The United States appeased Japan by sending "oil and scrap iron, thus permitting her to arm herself against us... to slaughter the Chinese and to perpetrate Pearl Harbor.

We appease our habits by a few indulgences and find that the appeasement leads to more complete slavery. We appease our enemies with various means only to find they grow stronger and more antagonistic. We appease self with pity and indulgence, and find that we become more selfish. Self must be conquered, not appeased. It must be put under the control of God. Hence, before Jacob met Esau he needed to meet God. At the end of that day we find him alone, yet not alone, for "There wrestled a man with him."

There comes a time in every life when it must be alone—alone with God and away from the world. Here, only, can one find a correct judgment of his life and a true picture of his needs. Here one becomes conscious of the crisis and aware of the consequences. Here, one sees, as Jacob must have seen, how futile is all selfish planning, scheming, cunning and appealing. Here one gets a true picture of how helpless he is without God.

In this aloneness "There wrestled a man with him." For once, Jacob was not the aggressor, but the defender. Jacob did not wrestle with this man, the man wrestled with Jacob. Jacob was not seeking from this antagonist something from Jacob. It was an endeavor upon God's part to bring Jacob to an end of himself. Before Jacob can become the great man God intended him to be, self must be conquered; the old nature must be put under the dominion of the new nature; God must be first and Jacob last; scheming and conniving must go out and the power of righteousness and faith must come in. This is the meaning of the wrestling—Jacob must be mastered.

Perhaps at first, Jacob did not know just who his antagonist was. Perhaps he thought him to be an emissary of Esau. Perhaps, even, he thought he was Esau. At an rate, he exerted all the resources of his great personal strength. Considering all that was involved, he struggled with great tenacity so that hour after hour the contest lay in the balance. Here was on coward, no weakling, no craven hypocrite. As much as we admire his courage, we must recognize that it was misdirected. He was resisting God. He was preventing the victory over self and the ascending of a new and greater strength in his life.

US Navy's first submarine, USS Holland, was built in 1899 at a cost of $260,000. Present day submarines cost around $10,000,000.

Town's Fire Department "Quick on the Draw"

The Corona Fire Department was called Friday of last week to put out a fire at the back of the El Rancho Hotel. A small outhouse used for storage, belonging to Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Students Reminded of March 8 Deadline for Selective Service Tests

Colonel John F. McFarland, New Mexico director of Selective Service, reminds students that application blanks for the April 22 selective service college qualification test must be postmarked not later than midnight, Monday, March 8, 1954. The test will be given at more than 900 testing centers located throughout the United States and its territories.

Among the testing centers in the state are those of Roswell, Albuquerque and Corona.

The state director urges students who are not graduating in June to take the April 22 test so they will have a test score on file at their local board before the end of their academic year, at which time their boards reopen and reconsider their cases to determine further deferment. The April 22 test is the last test scheduled for this spring.

A student may obtain an application from any Selective Service local board. It is not necessary to obtain the application from the student's own local board.

Organized Baseball For the Boys of Lincoln County

By W. J. Hodley
Organized baseball as played by boys eight to twelve years of age has become a nation-wide community project.

The recently formed Carrizozo Community Center is assuming the responsibility of organizing the boys of Lincoln County. It is hoped that other groups will also join in the work. A league containing four teams is the present aim with perhaps three from Carrizozo and one from Capitán or other interested communities. For the 1954 season we do not believe it will be possible to meet the requirements of the national organization.

The Little League, Inc., is an organization sponsored by the U. S. Tire & Rubber Co., and is a copyrighted trademark and it is illegal to use the name Little League without first becoming a franchise member of the organization.

Since the rules of the league are strict and several items of financial worth are involved we in Carrizozo believe that it will be better to organize as an independent league for the first year. This will determine whether or not interest is sufficient to warrant obligating ourselves to maintain the standards of the organization as well as learning whether the calibre of play would be high enough to make a creditable showing in the various tournaments.

To properly function as an organized league of four teams, at least forty boys will be necessary. In addition, fourteen to sixteen adults will be required. We hope to run a series of articles explaining the organization of the teams, the rules of play and schedules.

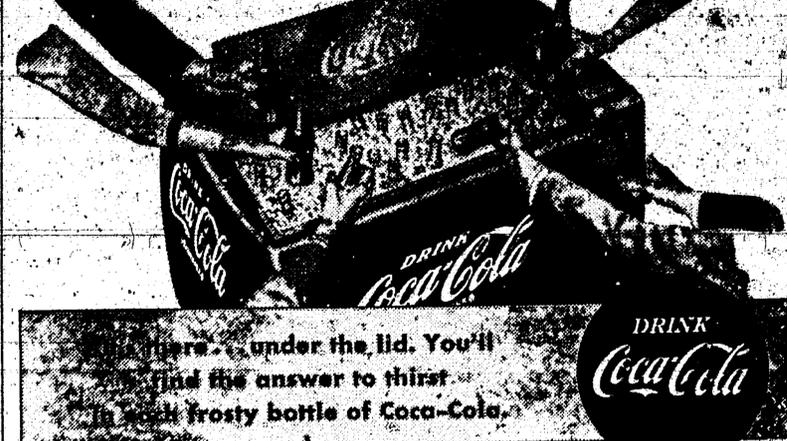

At a later date there will be a definite organization meeting at which time we hope to know all the details as to how it will be financed, where we will play, and take care of any other initial problems.

Ruidoso Firm to Aid in 4-H Club Work

Travis B. Hicks, who is connected with the Lincoln County Feed & Implement Company of Ruidoso, was a Carrizozo visitor last week. A county agent in Coke County, Texas, for 11 years, since the first of the year Mr. Hicks has been associated with the Ruidoso firm. He is a graduate of Texas Tech, BA and MA in agricultural economics and rural sociology.

Mr. Hicks is interested in 4-H Club work and while county agent in Texas worked up a number of farm projects, including a turkey program among 4-H Club boys. They were successful in winning a number of awards at the Dallas fair.

Mr. Hicks' work in Lincoln County will be in the field, assisting farmers with their poultry and livestock problems. He plans to cooperate closely with County Agent Dunlap in this work.

"We need 15 4-H boys to raise a small flock of turkeys each," Mr. Hicks says. "Each boy should start with 25 to 40 poult, depending on his space and ability to care for them. There is good money to be made in a turkey project if the boy is careful in his management. Most of the job of raising turkeys takes place during the summer months when the boy is not in school."

"We need five boys to start with their poult between March 5 and 15. There are to be our show turkeys and we plan to exhibit at some of the major shows. First come, first served on these. Then, we have 250 poult coming May 25, about the time school is out for the summer. On June 22 we have 250 more ordered. The May and June turkeys make more profit on the feed consumed because we do not feed them as long as we do the earlier turkeys, but of course these do not get ready for the fall shows."

"The cost of raising a turkey runs from $3.50 to $5, depending on how long it must be fed. The net profit, aside from any prizes won, usually runs from $3 to $5 per turkey. This gives the boy a good percentage on his investment."

Boys who are interested in the turkey deal can call on Mr. Hicks at the store in Ruidoso and he will explain the plan more fully. "These demonstrations," he says, "qualify for real 4-H projects."

Zozo Grizzlies Defeat San Patricio Twice
