RAMBLIN' AROUND

BY PAUL BAKER

The fact that there are two tickets entered for the town election next Tuesday is, we believe, a healthy sign. It speaks well for our future progress that there are so many qualified citizens and business people willing to donate hours of their time in serving Carrizozo and its residents. All the candidates are agreed on the goal to be reached, namely a better Carrizozo, although it's possible they have different ideas on how to get there. The selection of the town government is up to the voters and it is hoped every registrant will go to the polls Tuesday.

Believe it or not, Mrs. Wilma White of Aztec received a Christmas package last week that was mailed December 15 by a relative in Tucson, Ariz., on December 15. Guess the P. O. wasn't wooting when they gave out with the advice: "Mail Your Xmas Packages Early!"

Advertising must be paying increasing dividends. Saw a little item in a magazine last week stating that national advertisers spent $634,300,000 in newspapers last year—an all-time high for the eighth straight year!

April Fool's Day was a holiday for school youngsters—no foolin'! The County teachers were in Socorro attending a district meeting of the N. M. E. A.

Mrs. A. E. Mulkey tells this one on herself: Last week's Corona copy for the News came back to Corona from Albuquerque where she had mistakenly addressed it in her hurry to get it in the postoffice.

In a recent interview in the San Diego Union, a new chapter is added to the exploits of the "Apache Kid." The interview follows:

Outside of a few oldtime Hollywood pictures—Bogart, Egberg knows more about the "Apache Kid" than anyone left in the West. The producers spent all sorts of time and money digging up information about the treacherous Indian who "couldn't be captured" but Egberg didn't have any trouble learning about him.

"Time was I wished I'd never been in the service," said the 61-year-old Indian War veteran.

"He sure gave us a pile of trouble back in the 'hasty 80s'." Egberg who has been installed commander of John Wesley Green Camp, United Indian War Veterans, sat in his home, 4475 Santa Cruz avenue, reminiscing about the old days.

"The Apache Kid was leader of the last of Geronimo's followers," Egberg recalled. As a trooper in the U. S. 7th Cavalry, Egberg spent several years trying to run down the Kid and his band. Stationed at Fort Grant in southwestern Arizona, he was assigned to a special troop led by Indian guides.

"Our guides hated the Kid worse than we did," the ex-trooper said. "The renegades murdered their own people as freely as ours."

Egberg said the Kid would slip down from the hills, butcher a handful of settlers and vanish. After these raids the troopers would ride day and night until they lost the outlaw trail. Sometimes the chase would last ten days.

"One night my outfit caught up with them. I was sent back to the main camp, 100 miles away, for reinforcements. They arrived the next day and the Kid was boxed up at last," Egberg said. "But Kid gave us the slip the following night."

"We finally chased them into the mountains and managed to eliminate the gang by placing guards over all the known water holes," he said. "We 'thruated' most all of them out but you know, we never got the Kid. He just disappeared."

JURY ACQUITS VICENTE ARAGON

Vicente Aragon of Carrizozo was acquitted in district court Wednesday of a charge of second-degree murder.

A jury of six men and six women heard day-long testimony Wednesday. They took the case under advisement at 8:35, following the dinner hour. Less than two hours later, at 10:10, they returned a verdict of not guilty.

Aragon was arraigned following the death on July 9 of Joe Swan, 42, who died, the State contended, as a result of stab wounds inflicted by Aragon in a fight between the two men.

A lengthy review of the case was presented at the 1953 fall term of court and it was continued for jury trial at this spring's term.

District Attorney C. C. Chase presented the State's case and the defendant was represented by H. Elford Jones of Carrizozo and Ben S. Newell of Las Cruces.

The testimony of four doctors was presented Wednesday with the State attempting to prove beyond a reasonable doubt that the knife wounds inflicted at the time of the altercation resulted in Swan's death nearly three weeks later.

DAVIS CASE ENDS IN HUNG JURY

Following trial in district court Monday, the jury was unable to reach a verdict in the case State vs. Lester Davis. Davis was charged with assault with a deadly weapon in an appeal from a case originating in Ruidoso several months ago. Mr. and Mrs. Davis are now residents of Amarillo.

A program is also being arranged for the visiting ladies.

There are some 230 members of the society in the southwest and thus a good turnout is expected. Guests are cordially invited to all the sessions. Anyone wishing to attend should contact M. E. Guck at the Mesa Ranger Station, out of Capitan, to make reservations. Reservations can also be placed at the office of the Lincoln National Forest in Alamogordo.

D. D. Cutler of Alamogordo is general chairman of the meeting. Jack Bongberg and Stewart Andrews of Albuquerque are arranging the program. M. E. Guck is in charge of reservations and arrangements. Mrs. Guck and Mrs. Paul Wild of Capitan are planning the program for the ladies.

N. M. Copper Corp. Mill Almost Completed

The mill of the New Mexico Copper Corporation, on the outskirts of Carrizozo, is 95% completed. C. E. Degner, the corporation's president, announced this week. Operation of the mill will begin soon after arrival of a new diesel power generating plant which has been ordered from General Motors. Its arrival is expected in 30 days. Mr. Degner stated.

Set up ready for operation within the mill building are the ball mill, classifier, 22-cell Denver float mechanism, diaphragm pumps, and filter. Outside the mill building are the finished product bins, where the acid grade ores will be stored; also bins for lead, silver and copper. According to present plans, the latter ore will be shipped to the El Paso smelter, and the acid grade spar to Deming or the West Coast.

On the south side of the mill building a 100-ft. conveyor inclines upward from the coarse ore bin crusher to the 100-ton ball mill.

The power plant will be set on a prepared concrete foundation, and enclosed, on the north side of the mill building. At the start of operations the plant will operate on 9-hour shifts.

Mr. Degner states that Cooper Shapley, prominent metallurgist of Deming, who designed the flow sheet for the mill, will be back in Carrizozo at the start of operation.

Trucker Overcome by Fumes from Motor

Louis McNabb of Hopesville, Texas, is recovering in Carrizozo Hospital, after almost losing his life from carbon monoxide poisoning.

McNabb, while driving his truck, became drowsy and pulled off to the side of the highway to take a nap. According to reports, he started the truck's motor to keep the cab warm. Several hours later McNabb's brother-in-law happened along on his way to work. He recognized the truck and stopped. He was unable to waken the unconscious man and rushed him to the hospital. Several hours later McNabb was revived.

TOWN ELECTION NEXT TUESDAY

Voters in Carrizozo will go to the polls next Tuesday to elect a mayor, two councilmen and a police magistrate; also to approve or disapprove a bond issue of $150,000 to "enlarge, extend and improve the water works system in the Village of Carrizozo."

The mayor race has two candidates, Marvin Roberts, incumbent, and L. Z. Manire.

Five are on the ballot for councilman (four-year term)—Raymond L. Sherrill, Alva P. Sifton Jr., J. J. Boone, Mrs. Meyer Barnett and T. B. Smoot.

Clarence E. Shaw is unopposed for police magistrate.

VOTE AT FIRE HALL

The town election is to be held in the Fire Hall in Carrizozo on Tuesday, April 2, between the hours of 8 o'clock A. M. and 6 o'clock P. M.

Both candidates for mayor and all candidates for town trustees are agreed on the need of an improved water system for the town.

As mayor, Mr. Roberts has taken a leading part in bringing the water bond issue to vote, and Mr. Manire stated this week: "If Carrizozo is going to make any definite progress forward, sooner or later, there will have to be something done about its water system."

Arguments advanced in favor of approving the water bond issue have been: That it will provide sufficient fire plugs and pressure to reduce the fire hazard, bringing about a lowering of fire insurance rates; new mains and elimination of many existing "dead end" mains will improve the quality of the town's water, and service will be supplied to many who are without water or live in areas where the pressure is low.

WHO MAY VOTE IN BOND ELECTION

According to Section 14-3017 of the New Mexico election statute, no property owner who is fully tax exempt will be eligible to vote on the water bond issue. The State law requires that those eligible to vote in the city bond election must be property owners and non-exempt taxpayers and must be residents of the village.

In voting for village officials the only requirement is that the voter be a registered voter and a resident.

Progressive Ticket

In a statement to the News this week, Mayor Marvin Roberts, candidate for re-election to the town board of trustees, said: "Our Progressive-ticket is 100% for the proposed new water system and for all other town improvements that will be agreeable to the citizens of the town."

Citizens Ticket

In the interest of the Citizens Ticket, the following has been submitted for publication regarding the town election on April 6:

To the Citizens of Carrizozo: The long sought completion of Highway 54 is now a very short time away. It has been the fondest wish of all the people of this area. This will bring many tourists this way and give an upswing in business for all concerned.

Carrizozo is line for some good growth and this should be encouraged as much as possible. It should be the pride of every person to make this the best town along the route of Highway 54.

The Citizens Ticket believes in a bigger and better Carrizozo, which is headed by L. Z. Manire for mayor, with Mrs. Meyer Barnett and Tennis Smoot for Council members. The Council members on this ticket have been residents of Carrizozo for many years and know the conditions.

The mayor candidate has been school superintendent in New Mexico for 25 years, and has met many of the State Budget Commission and understands working with them. He restored the Carrizozo school to the North Central H. S. Accrediting Association, after it had been removed in the spring of 1942; planned a football field that had grass on it, instead of the hardpan that was being used; established the school lunch room and secured good equipment for the need of the room; improved the home-making and manual training shop, and built a modern Elementary school for Carrizozo.

DONALD L. "DON" NETT, above has been appointed manager of the Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph Company in Carrizozo, replacing Ivo V. Cook, who has accepted the position of manager for the company in Tooe, N. M.

A native of Susanville, Calif., Don attended schools in California and Colorado before starting his telephone career as a lineman in the construction department May 5, 1947.

He has held assignments with the telephone company as lineman in the construction departments in Colorado and New Mexico, station installer at Albuquerque, combination man and repairman at Los Alamos and manager training in Gallup, prior to his appointment as Carrizozo manager.

Don enlisted in the Navy Oct. 20, 1940, and was assigned to Pearl Harbor during the fateful invasion by the Japanese. He was a rear seat gunner in a dive-bombing squadron. The Enterprise took part in engagements at Guadalcanal, Truk and Rabaul and the Marshall Islands. He was aboard the carrier Lexington when it went down after being struck by enemy aerial torpedoes. Don was among survivors picked by our destroyers.

He received Navy flight training at the University of Washington in Seattle and Cornell College in Mount Vernon, Iowa, and received his honorable discharge as Lieutenant Jg., March 5, 1946.

He is married to the former Catherine Gentry of Grand Junction, Colo., and the NETTS have one daughter, Donna Catherine, who will be 6 in May. Mrs. Nett before her marriage was a dental technician in the Navy during World War II.

is essential. He has been active in and largely responsible for the success of Carrizozo service clubs for many years. Carrizozo needs Mr. Manire for Mayor.

Officers Rescue Man Pinned Under Car

An after-midnight trip by two law enforcement officers early Sunday morning may have saved the life of a motorist who lay pinned beneath his overturned car.

At 8:30 last Saturday evening Robert J. Budenholzer, Cloudford school teacher, drove his car from the Claunch road onto Highway 54, which is still under construction. Two and a half miles south of the Claunch road he suddenly came upon a grader parked across a bridge. Unable to stop, the motorist swerved to miss the grader and his car overturned.

Budenholzer's legs were pinned under the left front door when it flew open and the car rolled over.

Sheriff Glen Bradley and State Police Officer Eddie Apodaca left Carrizozo around 1:45 early Sunday morning to pick up a prisoner at Ancho. They saw the lights of Budenholzer's car at a distance, investigated, and soon were able to release him. The injured man had lain under the car over four hours and was near a state of shock from exposure and loss of blood. He was taken to an Alamogordo hospital.

Mrs. Gussie Johnson Resigns as Town Clerk

Mrs. Gussie Johnson, clerk of the village of Carrizozo for many years, resigned her position this week. She will remain in the office for a few weeks until a successor has been named.

In tendering her resignation, Mrs. Johnson says she was heeding the advice of her physician which was to take a rest from her strenuous official duties.

N. M. Will Gain 4600 New Business by 1960, Is NAM Prediction

New Mexico will have 4,600 brand new business and industry firms by 1960.

This prediction was made by the National Association of Manufacturers in an economy survey of what it described as the American Potential in a Decade of Opportunity in which this state and community are destined to play an important role.

The NAM's Pacific Southwest Research Council estimates that there will be a total of 20,500 New Mexico business and industry firms by 1960.

The survey is part of the NAM's economic education program, which argues for lower taxes, suitable labor relations through fair Taft-Hartley protections, elimination of Federal deficit spending, and general public support for the administration's sounder business policies, so all Americans can benefit during the immediate "Decade of Opportunity."

Phillips '66' Develops New Type Gasoline

A new "high performance" automotive fuel, made possible by the use of aviation gasoline from government priority, has been developed by Phillips Petroleum Co.

The new gasoline contains Di-isopropyl, a high test ingredient originated by Phillips which made possible more powerful, higher anti-knock fuels for combat aircraft. Until recently, the use of super aviation gasoline components has been restricted by military authorities for use in high performance aviation gasoline. These have now been released for use in automotive gasoline, and Phillips is able to use not only Di-isopropyl but also HF Alkylate, both originated and first manufactured by Phillips.

According to Phillips research authorities the new gasoline, designated "Flight-Fuel for your car," offers important performance advantages. It provides increased power, higher anti-knock quality, greater fuel economy and freedom from stalling.

Equally important, say Phillips authorities, are the clean burning qualities of the new gasoline. Use of natural gas components, which leaves practically no carbon residue, eliminating the necessity for special gasoline additives to combat engine deposits.

Distribution of the new gasoline has already begun, and it will be available in the near future at all Phillips 66 service stations.

Old Georgetown Now Boomtown Spectre

Many a ghost town lies mouldering in New Mexico's mountains. These are gaunt spectres of the fabulous post-Civil War days, and none has a more romantic past than old Georgetown.

Nestled in the pine clad hills four miles northeast of Santa Rita, Georgetown is popular the year-round with visitors who like the flavor of other days. No longer the habitat of men, its heyday as a silver camp was between 1875 and '92. It was one of the largest and busiest places in the state. Born of a wealthy silver strike, the black shale yielded generously of its precious white metal.

Georgetown's years of plenty drew the gambler, homesteader, the grubstaker and saloon keeper. Like most mining camps, it presented a picturesque scene with its dance halls, gambling dens, saloons and gun-toting hard-panners.

Today the streets are silent. Here and there are ruined buildings, gaping mine shafts, old mills and great dumps of mine waste. Sidewalks are rotted or entirely gone. But the old-time ghost town provides the visitor with a wonderful view of the surrounding country.

LINCOLN COUNTY IN BYGONE YEARS

40 Years Ago

(From the files of the Carrizozo News, April 3, 1914)

The meeting of the Carrizozo Commercial Club Tuesday evening was devoted to a discussion of roads. One proposition was the laying out of a road to the old ruins of the Gran Quivira Mission. Messrs. Spence and French agreed to log and post the road.

Another proposition was the necessity for construction of a bridge across the canyon north of Carrizozo between the Bar W ranch and the railroad.

Another project discussed was the surveying of a road leading south from Carrizozo along the S. P. railroad line. John A. Haley, J. B. French and H. B. Dawson were named on a committee to investigate this matter. H. S. Campbell, T. A. Spencer and John A. Haley were chosen as the permanent road committee.

Dr. Paden installed a new soda fountain this week. Rolland Bros. recently replaced their old fountain with a new one.

(From the files of the Lincoln County News, April 2, 1934)

The News joins with the rest of the citizens of Carrizozo in extending a welcome to students and teachers from over the county who are attending the first annual Activity Day for Lincoln County schools.

In the District Court, Judge Fenger passed sentence on three defendants, J. L. Jackson, Fred Daugherty and Connie Humphrey, convicted in the Hunnicutt robbery case, said to be one of the most cruel ever to occur in Lincoln County. One Van Horn, who was with the trio at the time of the robbery, turned State's evidence and did not stand trial. He drew a sentence of from 2 to 4 years in the penitentiary. The three other defendants drew sentences from 3 to 15 years at hard labor in the penitentiary and trial costs.

According to testimony, the robbers entered the Hunnicutt home, bound and blindfolded the elder Hunnicutt and demanded money which was refused. They saturated the clothing of his son (who was 58) with gasoline and set fire to his clothes.

Carl A. Freeman Named to Parks Board

Until recently, the use of super aviation gasoline components was restricted by the United States Government to high octane, high performance aviation gasolines. They were needed to give our planes a tremendous power surge in aerial combat. Now military authorities have released restrictions on the use of these power-packed aviation gasoline components. So Phillips is able to use not only Di-isopropyl but also HF Alkylate, both originated and first manufactured by Phillips. That's why Phillips can bring you this great new gasoline—Phillips 66 Flite-Fuel.

YOU GET ALL THESE BENEFITS:

- Increased power
- Smoother acceleration
- Greater fuel economy
- Higher anti-knock quality
- Freedom from stalling

PLUS

- Fastest Controlled Velocity, and the extra clean burning features of Phillips 66 Gasoline.

House Plan for Narrow Lot from Small Homes Guide

Architect Edwin H. James designed this efficient three-bedroom home specifically for the narrow lot. It appears in the current edition of Small Homes Guide.

The kitchen is at the front, with a corner window overlooking the front entrance. The living room, too, is brightened by generous use of windows. In one corner, the architect suggests using a folding door in the living room, allowing it to be completely shut off from the rest of the house. Total area of the house is 1,044 sq. ft.

For information on blueprints and their cost, write to Small Homes Guide, Dept. 1556, 52 W. Washington St., Chicago 2, Ill.

News and Views from Your Nation's Capitol

By JOHN J. DEMPSEY Congressman from New Mexico

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 1—Despite desperate need for adequate help in control of severe wind storm erosion damage in at least eight New Mexico counties, action taken thus far by the Department of Agriculture and the State falls far short, according to reports I have been receiving daily from the stricken areas.

The 20 cents an acre loan offer by the state is entirely inadequate the landowners say. The state has not applied for any of the funds, which has been made available by the Emergency Drouth Relief Committee of the Department of Agriculture. Use of that money would permit large enough loans being made to do the necessary work. I have requested Secretary Benson to take immediate steps to do everything possible to get this relief money into the hands of the landowners before it is too late. The program now appears to be bogged down in a mass of red tape at both the federal and state levels. Under the authority given the executive branch of the government by Congress to act in such disasters there is no justification for failure to proceed with relief measures immediately without regard to State participation. The dust bowl that is rapidly building up recognizes no state

Antibiotic Controls Pinkeye in Sheep

Pinkeye in sheep no longer has to be a problem for flock owners, thanks to research by two Michigan State College veterinary scientists.

Drs. W. F. Riley and R. D. Barner have found that chloromycetin will cure sheep pinkeye quickly. Sheeprmen no longer have to rely on the ineffective vaccines, antiseptic powders and ointments, sulfa drugs, and penicillin. Although these things may be effective against cattle pinkeye they give no lasting cure for sheep. Sheep generally get pinkeye before or after lambing and sheeprmen first note the infection when the animals grope their way to the feed pens.

If left untreated, ulcers form and the eyeball ruptures, causing blindness. Chloromycetin ointment, which comes in the one-eighth ounce tubes for about one dollar each (on prescription) will cure the sheep pinkeye in one application, according to the veterinarians. One tube is enough for about 20 sheep.

KNOW YOUR SEED

Reputable seedmen label the seed they sell in conformance with federal and state laws. These seedmen and the government authorities expect the farmer purchaser to do his part to avail himself of the protection that these laws were meant to give him.

Avoid buying seed that does not carry analysis tags or labels—seed which may be offered to you solely on verbal descriptions.

Read the label to see if the variety and quality described cover what you are supposed to be buying. When you use the seed, retain the label or labels for possible future reference and identification of the particular purchase, and enter the date of purchase or delivery on the label. Save a little sample of the seed, too, for possible future checking.

You should know what the statements on the label mean in terms of quality. They are not too difficult to understand. The basic requirements of the federal Seed Act and of nearly all state seed laws as to labeling of agricultural seeds are the same. The information required on the tag includes (a) the name of the kind, or the kind or variety of the seed, and inert material (b) the lot number, (c) the percentage of pure seed, other crop seed, weed seed, and inert material, (d) the percentage of germination and hard seed (if present) stated separately, with the date of test, and (e) the noxious weed seeds which may be present (number of seeds per ounce or pound, as the particular state law may require). On some seeds, such as alfalfa, red clover, and open-pollinated corn, the origin of production may be shown. The analysis tag may also show the name and address or the symbol of the seller. State seed laws vary somewhat as to the weeds in the noxious class. In some states there are certain prohibitions or limitations on noxious weeds. Some states limit the percentage of weed seeds allowed.

Labeling of mixed agricultural seed is similar, except the percentage of each kind or variety in the mixture present at the rate of 5 per cent or more must be given, as well as the germination and date of test of each component of the mixture of 5 per cent or more.

Irrigated Pastures Need Fertilizer

Irrigated pastures will respond to fertilizers the same as any other crop, but it is important to take a look at the kind of pasture and the condition of the soil before you start fertilizing.

The pasture mixture, or the proportion of grasses to legumes, has a lot to do with the fertilizer you should put on. Legumes need a lot of phosphate. Grasses, on the other hand, are heavy users of nitrogen. By varying the fertilizer you use, you can help regulate the ratio of grass to legume forage produced.

For pasture mixture containing balanced amounts of grasses and legumes, use 60 pounds of available nitrogen and 45 pounds of available phosphorus. Mixtures with a high proportion of grasses and a light proportion of legumes should be fertilized with 40 pounds of nitrogen and 66 pounds of phosphorus. For mixtures that are mostly legumes, use 60 to 100 pounds of nitrogen. These rates will help balance the legume-grass ratio. Where a high per cent of ladino clover is desired, use up to 100 pounds of phosphate. All the phosphate may be applied in one application each spring. The nitrogen should be in applications of 25 to 50 pounds per acre as the grass shows a need of it.

Allocation of Highway Funds on Population Basis Unfair to N. M.

A protest has been registered by the State Highway Commission against the apportionment of federal funds on a population basis. C. O. Erwin, Chief Highway Engineer said.

The commission at its last meeting passed a resolution which was sent to Washington to the New Mexico Congressional delegation which had already gone on record as being opposed to the reapportionment. The resolution stated that "the apportionment to the states of funds for interstate highways on a population basis is obviously not commensurate with the needs of the interstate system in New Mexico."

Pointing out that the national economy and national defense require determined efforts toward the development of a national system of interstate highways, the commission resolution said that a study showed that New Mexico needed approximately nine million dollars annually in order to keep up its portion of the interstate system.

The American Association of State Highway Officials has recently recommended that interstate federal money be apportioned on a population basis. At the 1953 meeting of AASHO in Pittsburgh the New Mexico Highway Department voted against the proposal.

Apportionment by population would mean that New Mexico would receive only $1,318,750 a year of federal funds for its interstate highways—or approximately 29 per cent of its needs. Erwin praised the resolution issued by the commission and the stand taken by the Congressional delegation and said that the matter of apportioning funds was one which demanded interested action on the part of New Mexico unless the state is to be adversely affected.

Wool Clinic Certifies Twenty-five Classifiers

Twenty-five New Mexico wool growers and county extension agents were certified as competent field classifiers of sheep and wool by chute grading tests at the recent annual sheep and wool clinic at Vaughn. Those who passed the test were able to class with less than ten per cent margin of error, 40 head of sheep under the New Mexico system of length-for-grade classification of wools. Wm. K. Snyder, extension wool marketing specialist at New Mexico A&M College, Ralph Dunlap, Lincoln County extension agent and Christobal B. Zamora, Guadalupe County extension agent checked the grading of 36 persons who took the test.

Treatment Preserves Exterior Woodwork

Woodwork manufacturers combine the best qualities of nature and science by treating ponderosa pine exterior doors and windows with a water repellent preservative in accordance with standards of the National Woodwork Manufacturers Association, Inc.

The preservative effectively reduces shrinking and checking of wood during dry weather, and during wet weather it retards swelling and warping. Treated doors and windows are less likely to stick, and paint is less likely to flake.

FARM BRIEFS

In some feed lots calf diphtheria has been found to cause significant losses in young cattle. They develop a high fever and swelling in the throat which may cause suffocation. They usually respond readily to proper medication.

A study of deaths among calves shows losses consistently higher from January through April. The study shows about one-half of the losses are caused by infectious conditions, while the other half results from non-infectious problems, mainly weak, premature and abnormal calves or those injured at birth.

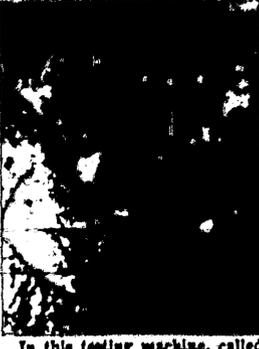

Proper Application Needed For Roof to Give Long Life

Proper application is necessary to insure that asphalt shingles, the most popular roofing material for homes, will give the long-term satisfaction of which they are capable.

Manufacturer's instruction sheets, which are packaged with roofing at the factory, tell what proper application is. They explain how to prepare the roof deck, how to carry out preliminary steps such as application of an "eaves flashing strip," how to place the shingles, and how to fasten them securely.

Instruction sheets are based on many years of practical experience and laboratory research, conducted by individual manufacturers as well as by the National Bureau of Standards and other research and testing organizations. Manufacturers publish instruction sheets because it is to their own vital interest to have their products give good performance through proper application.

Although home-owners do not do their own roofing application, instruction sheets are of value to them because the sheets serve as a guide by which the owner can determine if he is getting an application job as good as the material he has bought.

In this testing machine, called a weatherometer, asphalt shingles are put under an intense ultra-violet light, which compresses a year's sunlight into a few days. Pressure-driven jets of water are used to simulate rain.

Asphalt Shingles Applied On Top of Old Material

A way to save money in putting a new roof on a house is to apply asphalt shingles on top of the old roofing. This can be done in most cases. It saves the expense of tearing the wornout material off.

Another advantage is that the appreciable insulation value of the old roof is retained. The overall roof covering is thicker than if the new material were laid directly on the roof deck.

Sometimes, the old roof must be reconditioned to serve as a sound nailing base for the new asphalt roofing. This is done by replacing rotten shingles, splitting the remaining shingles into segments down, and pulling loose nails and re-nailing the shingles they held.

Airtight Wood Windows Made for Any Style of Home

Ponderosa pine, the most versatile wood found in abundance in North America, is used extensively in the manufacture of high-grade windows and doors. It is available in a wide variety of stock sizes and designed to suit any architectural style.

The ease with which ponderosa pine can be worked is one of the reasons for its popularity. The wood is light in color, varying from creamy white to straw, and has straight, uniform grain. Its smooth surface is easily painted, varnished, stained or lacquered.

Among the advantages of ponderosa pine windows are these:

- 1—Reduced condensation. A non-conductor of heat, wood has a natural insulating value. Wood window sash eliminates condensation, which often forms on the inside of metal sash when it is used.
- 2—Durability. Wood sash does not rust and is not corroded by salty or chemical-laden air.
- 3—Resistance to sticking. New buildings generally settle slightly on their foundations, often throwing windows and doors out of line. Wood windows can readily be readjusted for smooth operation.
- 4—Ease of finishing. Ponderosa pine windows can be given any decorative finish and can be re-finished if the decorative scheme of the house is changed.
- 5—Quietness. Because a wood window does not readily transmit sound, rattling due to vibration is held to a minimum.

Farm Home Needs Special Rooms, Architect Says

Five special-purpose areas need to be provided for in the design of a farm home, says Walter A. Aniska, architect, of Ann Arbor, Mich.

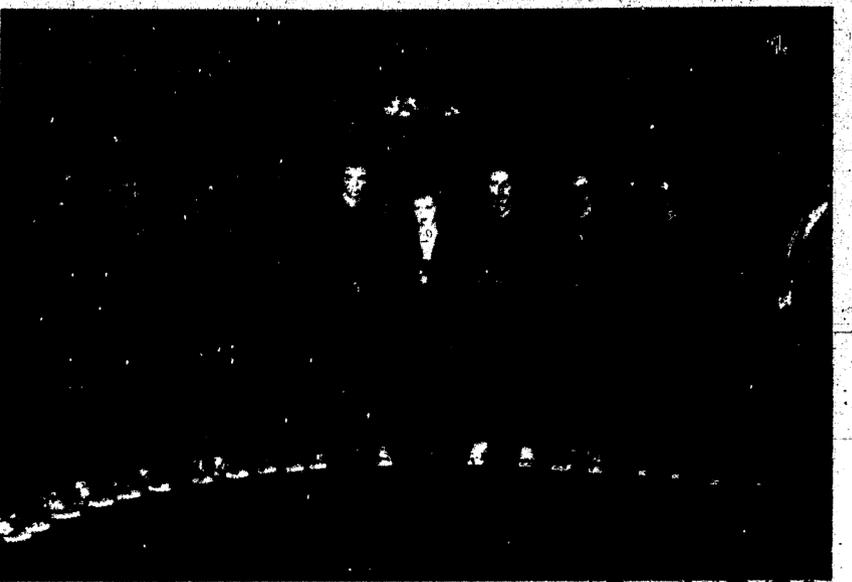

They are a large workshop, a clean-up room, a farm office, an extra-large kitchen, and a self-contained freezer room. Some of these areas can be combined in one room.

In farm building design in general, Mr. Aniska suggests using the same solid or blended color asphalt roofing material on all buildings. This gives the best appearance of planned uniformity, he says.

He points out that economical construction has particular appeal to the farmer because he cannot delay building by renting an apartment or a house. This is an additional reason for the farmer to make full use of modern materials and methods, Mr. Aniska says.

VELVETA

Velveta is a new type of window sash that is made of wood and is designed to be used in any style of home. It is airtight and weatherproof, and it is made of a material that is easy to work with. It is available in a wide variety of stock sizes and is designed to suit any architectural style.

Nearly 2,000 reported they would buy a new hat that could be used at other times. The most preferred color was white, with pink, light blue, natural and gray as runners up.

NATION'S CAPITAL

ing program announced by the White House as a "long-term" plan will give new life to the now economically sick metals mining industry remains to be seen. It seems to me, however, that it falls to provide adequate remedy. The announcement indicates that the deluge of such metals as lead and zinc from cheap labor countries is to continue on a basis of trade for our surplus agricultural commodities. These imports have been allowed to flood the domestic market while our own mines, like those in Grant county, have been forced to close and thousands of workers are out of jobs. There are at least 2,500 of them in New Mexico alone.

When the bipartisan Congressional committee from the Rocky Mountain States, of which I was made chairman, conferred recently with Dr. Gabriel Hauge, economic advisor to the President, we pointed out that stockpiling was not the answer to the problem. True, it might serve as a temporary stopgap, we told Dr. Hauge, but the mining industry would revert to its distressed condition in a short time unless we gave our own products priority in the domestic market. Our committee will continue to put forth every possible effort to convince the administration that more adequate tariff and import protection on a permanent basis is necessary to cure our metal mining ills.

The White House statement says the program is "designed to strengthen the domestic mineral industry." Continuation of present tariff policies will alone defeat that purpose. I believe no foreign-mined minerals should be included in any stockpile plan until provisions are made to use all domestic production. It is our mines which are closed and our miners who are idle.

Eleven members of the Carrizozo Women's Club spent a delightful afternoon last Saturday as guests of the Woman's Club in Tularosa.

Mrs. Irving McNeil was the guest speaker for the afternoon and gave a brilliant review of the book, "The Glitter and the Gold," by Consuela Vanderbilt.

The story, she pointed out, is in reality an autobiography of the author's most interesting life, commencing with the development of a strong character in a "Poor Little Rich Girl." Her mother, a woman of great wealth, was finally successful in bringing about a marriage between her daughter and a titled Englishman. Thus the doors of European royalty were opened to Consuela.

"It was at one of these royal balls," Mrs. McNeil said, "that the author met the then Czar of Russia, and heard him make the statement that the Russian people were two hundred years behind the Europeans and were too Asiatic to ever understand the ways of the people of Europe."

The club room was beautifully decorated with spring blooms. Delicious refreshments of sandwiches, sweets, coffee and tea were served. Mrs. Vernon Clayton, president of the Tularosa Woman's Club, presided.

Guests from Carrizozo were the Mmes. C. A. Snow, president of the Carrizozo Woman's Club; R. E. Leimon, Roy Shafer, C. E. Degner, Bobby Shafer, Rose Sifton, B. S. Bann, Belle Boyer, Theima Murphy, Cliff Zumwalt and Paul A. Baker.
