

BY PAUL BAKER

It has been almost a month since Governor Ed Mechem said in Carrizozo: "You need a dentist, period!"

Since that time the governor's secretary has made some inquiries and found out, among other things, that two dentists who succeeded in passing the stiff board examination were not interested in coming to Carrizozo. It seems they prefer the "bright lights."

The dental board turned thumbs down on one qualified dentist who likes Carrizozo and would locate his office here if given a license to practice in New Mexico.

It would be interesting to know the thinking behind the action of the board members.

Is it because they want to continue an artificial shortage of dentists in New Mexico?

Do they sincerely believe they are protecting the welfare of the people in the smaller communities?

Are they afraid a dentist who might start to practice in Carrizozo would decide to move to the "bright lights?" Albuquerque, for instance? That would not be good for the numerous dentists now in business there.

Is the board waiting for the state legislature to force their hands?

If the latter is the case, it is very possible that the next legislature will be willing and able to take action to force the state dental board to admit to practice graduates of accredited dental colleges in other states.

Carrizozo, for its part, would prefer the dentist who is interested in locating here. He is experienced and has good recommendations.

Everything else failing, the people of Lincoln County could do as was suggested in a cartoon in the Albuquerque Journal last week. We could shoot each other's teeth out. And if the pain became too great and we didn't have the strength to drive all the way to a Roswell dentist, we could go hang ourselves.

A generous donation to the White Oaks Cemetery Association has been made by Oris Smith. He recently drilled a 155-foot well, put up a windmill and piped the well water into the cemetery grounds.

The moves of California legislators to block use of Colorado River water by other Basin states do not set well with people in the Southwest who believe in fair play.

California already gets the lion's share of Colorado River water and power, though that state contributes but a negligible amount to the stream's flow.

In its thirst for water and power, Southern California has gone far afield. Los Angeles especially is noted for its ruthless acquisition of distant watersheds, to name one, the Owens River, which flows down the eastern slopes of the Sierra Mountains, nearly two hundred miles from Los Angeles. Water rights were purchased and a fertile valley was dried up to divert the Owens River water to the coast.

Central California has abundant water resources of its own. The Sacramento, Feather, Cosumnes, Tuolumne, Marcos and Kern rivers all flow from the western slopes of the Sierra. In the spring they empty millions of acre feet of water into San Francisco Bay. Much of this flood water could be diverted and stored for use.

The Mojave desert has a number of great natural lake basins that could be used.

California should fully develop its own water resources before attempting to deprive her sister states of their fair share of Colorado River water.

BUTANE SYSTEM MAY BE SOLD

At a special meeting called Wednesday morning, trustees of the town of Carrizozo met with Walter Ray, butane dealer of Tularosa.

It was a move on the part of the town to get out of the business of selling manufactured gas to consumers in Carrizozo. Terminating an unprofitable business as far as the town was concerned, Mayor Roberts said it was either sell it to a private party, or invest an additional $40,000 to repair, renew and extend the gas mains.

"It is also a type of business," he said, "that requires specialized knowledge and personnel to handle properly."

Mr. Ray said he would not be interested in buying the gas distribution system unless he was given a franchise. He said if his firm took over the system, all mains would be tested under pressure, meters would be recalibrated and new lines installed where required.

At the request of the trustees, Mr. Ray will submit a formal contract to purchase for the consideration of the trustees.

His firm at present is a supplier of butane to Tularosa, Holloman Air Base and Oscura Range Camp.

With the exception of the flower show, competition will be restricted to bona fide members of 4-H clubs, FFA, FHA, Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts.

Additional information on Achievement Day will be published in subsequent issues of the News.

The flower show held in connection with Achievement Day, September 18, will be open to anyone wanting to exhibit flowers. Twenty-eight classes are listed in the catalog.

For the blossom exhibits, the person exhibiting must have grown them, but the arrangements can be grown in a neighbor's yard, with the exhibitor making the arrangements.

El Paso Natural Gas Co. Joins Uranium Hunters

By Mrs. A. E. MULKEY The El Paso Natural Gas Co. and the Western Natural Gas Co. have formed a new uranium company, known as "Rare Metals Corp." Its headquarters are in Salt Lake City.

Assistant manager for the corporation is Mitchell H. Kline, who has been head of the rare metals branch of the U. S. Bureau of Mines in Washington, D. C., for the last five years.

The new firm plans to step up its search for radioactive minerals, to search for and mine uranium ores, and also to process ores after a sufficient quantity has been indicated to justify a mill.

El Paso Natural Gas Co. has already 1,500,000 acres of land under lease in Utah, Colorado, Wyoming, Nevada and New Mexico which will be checked for uranium.

Surface geologic crews, seismograph parties and pipeline construction crews equipped with Geiger counters will soon be checking all formations.

This, according to an article in World Mining magazine of August, 1954, is the first instance where uranium prospecting has been combined with pipe laying.

County Safety Council In Nat'l Organization

The Lincoln County Safety Council has affiliated with the National Safety Council. This action was taken by the executive committee at a meeting last Thursday at the Bonnell Ranch.

Membership cards for the Lincoln County Safety Council have been printed and membership is being pushed on a county-wide basis. President W. S. Campbell said in Carrizozo this week. He was accompanied by Jack Aldrich, chairman of the council's publicity committee.

The two men spent part of the day in Corona and part in Carrizozo, contacting school authorities. They are enlisting the aid of the schools in order to give wider scope to the work of the county safety council.

Memberships to further the work of the council are being sold for $3 for adults, or $4 for man and wife, and $1 for high school students.

"The work of the safety council," Mr. Campbell said, "is for the benefit of everyone—in the home, and on the streets and highways."

The next meeting of the Lincoln County Safety Council will be September 18, at 7:30 in the school at Capitan.

ARTHUR BACA Soon to leave for Japan on a six months' tour of duty, is Arthur Baca, Airman 3/c. He is now stationed at the Parks Air Force Base in San Francisco.

TOWN AWARDS WATERWORKS BID

The general contracting firm of P. R. Burn of Las Cruces has been awarded a contract by the town of Carrizozo to enlarge, improve and extend the municipal waterworks system.

The Burn's firm bid of $79,898.90 was the lowest of five submitted.

Construction on the waterworks system is expected to start within 30 days. Mayor Roberts said this week. Completion will be in approximately 90 days from start of construction.

Other bidders on the system were: Miller & Smith of Albuquerque, $120,679. T. N. O'Kelley of El Paso, $85,953.95. Allison & Hancy of Albuquerque, $110,956.00. M & N Construction Co. of Hobbs, $85,791.

The low bid was approximately $15,000 below the engineer's estimate for the work.

Lions Club To Make Whoopee on Main St.

A section of Carrizozo's main street, near the Lyric theatre, will be roped off the night of Saturday, September 4, to give the Lions Club plenty of room to hold their chuck wagon dinner, carnival and dance.

Members of the club are planning the usual good feed and a full evening of entertainment for young and adults.

Tickets for the big dinner are now on sale by Club members. In return for $1, they'll serve you all you can eat of barbecued beef, sourdough biscuits, "son-of-a-gun," potato salad, beans and coffee.

After dinner there will be games and dancing.

Hondo Valley Apples Bringing Good Price

Ralph Dunlap, county agent, states that after a week of packing at the White Mountain Fruit Growers shed, the growers have been receiving a good price for the packed out fruit.

Some apples sold for $6.50 a bushel at Hondo. At present, he says, there is a shortage of apples and enough buyers.

The worm percentage in the apples is small, with more apples being culled because of hail damage than any other one thing.

Lonnie Garrison Honor Student at Ft. Lewis

Pfc. Lonnie C. Garrison, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jess C. Garrison of Carrizozo, was recently graduated from an eight weeks' course in communication and instruments with the Sixth Army at Fort Lewis, Wash. Lonnie was an honor student with a 97 average and was awarded a special diploma and an engraved cigarette lighter.

At the present time he is a member of a special guard drill team in Vancouver, B. C. They are to take part in a parade honoring the visit of Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh.

"Lonnie is due home in the near future on 20-day furlough.

TEST FAVORABLE ON GIBSON WELL

A pumping test of two water wells has been made by the town of Carrizozo—a well at the Country Club and one on the Bob Gibson property, across Highway 380. According to reports, the latter proved the most promising. In an 8-hour test the well yielded 85 gallons per minute, with little draw down.

A sample of water from both wells has been taken to Albuquerque for analysis. Bill Turney of the firm of W. F. Turney & Associates, engineers, told the trustees Wednesday that he would report back within two weeks on the results of the analysis.

Analysis is also being made of the water from a third well—at the new Texaco station west of Carrizozo. It would be feasible, Mr. Turney said, to use the water from any one of the locations.

The town has an option to purchase 7 1/2 acres of land surrounding the Gibson well. It has been estimated that a ten-inch cased well on this site would produce a flow of approximately 500 gpm. If the quality of the water is satisfactory, the town will exercise its option to buy the property.

The W. F. Turney firm is assisting the town in a program to develop and store well water to augment the Bonito Lake supply. This work is apart from the water works improvement project soon to get under way within the town limits under the supervision of the engineering firm of Ashley G. Classen & Associates of El Paso.

Mr. Turney said a storage tank located a distance east of town along Highway 380 would take care of Bonito Lake water storage as well as well water that could be developed.

ELECTRICAL STUDY TO BE MADE IN CARRIZOZO: The Turney firm was also authorized to make a study of electrical rates in Carrizozo.

Earnings will be studied and a rate comparison made with other municipalities.

Three 4-H Clubs Have Get-Together

4-H clubs in Capitan, Hondo and Ruidoso had a get-together party last Friday at the VFW Hall in Capitan. Between 20 and 25 4-H Club members spent an evening playing games and folk dancing.

The Club members surprised County Agent Ralph Dunlap with the gift of an electric coffee percolator, in appreciation of the time and effort he has devoted to 4-H Club work.

The party was put on by the 4-H Council.

MODEST MECHEM DUMB LIKE A FOX

SANTA FE, Aug. 25—Gov. Ed Mechem's self-deprecating campaign for senator which has amazed a lot of people and caused others to think the governor is plain dumb is in fact the foxiest and most effective maneuver that the campaign has produced.

The abandonment of the blustering show of supreme confidence and boastful arrogance which all candidates from time immemorial thought they had to assume not only attracted a lot of attention to Mechem's run but caught the opposition off balance. You can't fight a guy like that with the tactics used in conventional campaigning.

Mechem's frequent statements that he thinks he is running behind his Democratic opponent, Sen. Clint Anderson, his convention statement that he was the only one in the party dumb enough to run against Our Clint, the crack over at Las Vegas that he expected to carry the vote of the inmates of the state mental hospital, his refusal to order campaign literature and car stickers, does add up to the screwiest campaigning that New Mexico ever saw.

The unconventional politicking caused a reporter at Roswell to question the governor seriously on whether he really wanted to win. The governor said he did.

COURSE ROUGH DEMOS OFF OF ROUGH STUFF: Mechem's humility campaign is smarter than it is humble. Had he gone around the state boasting of his administration as governor it would have opened the door for the opposition to answer with every unflattering thing that has occurred at the statehouse in the past four years and put Mechem in the always difficult role of trying to defend his administration.

And how would he look in a boasting match with Our Clint, one of the slickest guys in a debate in the whole country? Even though candidates have never realized it people generally like humility and there are lots who like to support the underdog. President Truman certainly was not humble in his 1948 campaign but he was the classic underdog of American politics.

The modest campaigning is perhaps also calculated to lull the opposition into overconfidence and under-work. Football coaches and poker players have known the value of that strategy all along but it never occurred to politicians who hang on to the old theory that everybody wants to ride the band wagon—or gravy wagon—and thus try to make themselves appear stronger than they are.

CLINT COUNTERS WITH POLITENESS: Anderson, who has been busy in Washington most of the time since he was renominated, has not had an opportunity to do much campaigning, but in the few sallies he has made he is countering Mechem with the same kind of gentlemanliness although not making any predictions that he is going to lose the election.

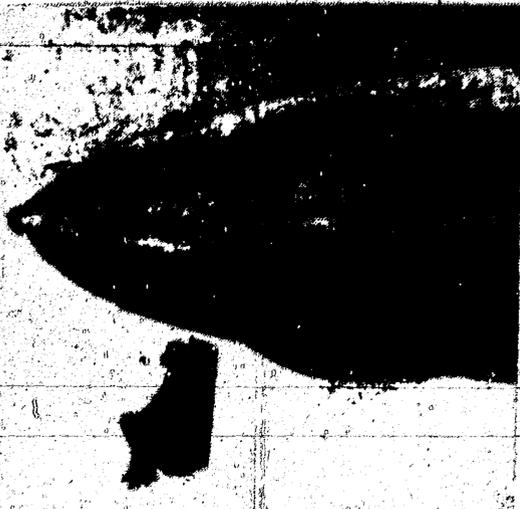

All this adds up to about the dullest campaign possible but it would be good if it signalled the end of that obnoxious type of candidate who claims all the votes in all the precincts and admits nothing wrong in his own party and nothing good in the other one.

ANOTHER BLOW FOR ROAD OFFICE: Highway department officials who have been complaining about misrepresentation in a federal report showing excessively high administration costs in the department for 1952, are about to get hit with the same thing for 1953. A department of commerce report to be released in a couple of weeks again shows New Mexico spending two or three times as much on paper work as neighboring states.

It appears that the department is due for a shakeup, regardless of how the election goes. Two places on this five member board will be opened—those of Tito Valdez of Rio Arriba and Homer Glover of Roswell, and it's pretty certain that the new governor will want his own people in the places. Recent voting in the commission indicates that Valdez, Ralph Jones of Albuquerque and Tony Heilmann of Moqui are in control and are supporting the administration of the department. Valdez was a night club guest of Chief Engineer Pete Erwin at Santa Fe's El Mido Saturday night.

There has been a quiet fire burning for a long time about administration of the department. (Continued on back page)

Hiring of '54' Secretary Delayed for Time Being

Arrangements are being made for a big time at the fall convention of the National Highway 54 Association, according to a news release received in Carrizozo this week. The convention dates are October 8 and 9, and the location is Eureka, Kansas.

National Highway President, Jean D. Fretz complimented Vernon Petty and his committee for the "wonderful job done" in the 54 dedication ceremony in Lincoln County.

The plans to hire a secretary and promoter for Highway 54 fell through. Mr. Fretz wrote, saying: "We had to have $2500 in the bank by July 15. We did not reach that goal and therefore the man did not take the job. I am attempting to have each state reach its quota by September 1 so that we can advertise and have enough left so the new officers may hire a secretary soon after going in office. "You have all read about the starting of the toll road across Kansas, so please come through with your dues so that we can get one jump ahead of the toll roads."

Four-day visits for liberty and recreation were made in the ports of Quebec, Canada and Havana, Cuba. Special events were arranged during these visits.

During the cruise midshipmen have taken part in seamanship, operations, communications, engineering, gunnery and the supply phases of shipboard life.

FORD IS FIRST IN SALES

-by thousands

National new-car registration figures* for the first six months of 1954 prove that Ford leads the industry in sales! In fact, ever since car production has been free of restrictions, more and more new-car buyers have been swinging over to Ford. That's because Ford offers more things for more people than any other car. In today's Ford, for example, you get the matchless benefits of owning the only car in the low-price field with a V-8 engine (the new Ford Y-block V-8) . . . the only car in Ford's field with the smooth ride of Ball-Joint Front Suspension . . . the only car in Ford's field with truly modern styling . . . the only car in Ford's field with such high resale value.

Children Depend on Adults To Protect Them From Traffic Accidents

The children of New Mexico depend on you to protect their lives in traffic, and you can best do this by setting an example of safety, according to C. O. Erwin, chairman of the Governor's Traffic Safety Co-ordinating Committee. "It is true but true that little children learn through observing adult actions," said Erwin, adding that the parent who runs across the street to beat a car or who crosses in the middle of a block can only expect his child to believe that is the proper way. "This same parent can live in dread of hearing that his child has been struck down while violating some law of safety." Erwin concluded that 95% of our drivers are extremely cautious when children are present, but that the combination of reckless youth, plus the 1% of thoughtless drivers will bring tragedy to some New Mexico homes this school year unless each parent makes it his responsibility to prepare his child for safety on our roads and streets. Governor Edwin L. Mechem has proclaimed the week of August 30 to September 3, as

NEWS FROM THE COUNTY AGENT

By RALPH DUNLAP

Bidding Was Slow at Duke City Ram Sale

There was a strong demand by a few individuals for single rams at the 17th annual ram sale in Albuquerque, Ivan Watson, manager, stated in his summary of the sale. But bidding was very slow and ranchers who normally bought on a pen-jot basis were reluctant to buy more rams for their parched ranges.

There was a very poor demand for medium wool rams, even though the sale featured only a few head. Apparently, Mr. Watson states, wool buyers have influenced the thinking of some of our growers about cross-breeding with medium wool rams by criticizing some of the clips for being too coarse.

At this year's sale, 11 head of single rams averaged $203 a head, with $415 for a single Rambouillet yearling ram, consigned by Robert Peebles of Nogal.

Sixteen yearling Rambouillet ewes averaged $50 a head.

Of the 350 head consigned to the 17th annual sale, 268 head were sold through the ring with an average of $48 a head. Reserve bids were placed on some pens by consigners and 87 head were passed out of the ring on these bids. Practically all of these were sold after the sale at prices near the sale average.

"Child Safety Week," and has instructed the Governor's Traffic Safety Co-ordinating Committee, the Department of Education, municipalities and law enforcement departments, to cooperate in making this week a success.

The week will mark the beginning of school, when children will be crossing streets and highways on the way to and from school and thus be exposed to traffic accidents.

WATSON DISCUSSES CATTLE FEEDING AT TUCUMCARI

"In fattening cattle in the feedlot, roughages should constitute the bulk of the ration during the first half of the feed period," Ivan Watson, extension animal husbandman at New Mexico A&M College, told farmers and ranchers at the Fourth Annual Irrigation Field Day in Tucumcari Tuesday. "This prepares the digestive system for increased amounts of concentrates during the latter part of the feeding period."

The price and quality of roughages in ratio to concentrates will likely be the determining factors in the quantity of roughage used, Watson said. Other economic factors, such as transportation and wastage will also be considered by the more experienced cattle feeder. However, price and quality are the two major factors.

Quality and price comparisons for roughages and grains should be based on total digestible nutrients. The ratio of good-quality alfalfa hay to corn or grain sorghum silage is usually considered to be 1 to 3 on a T.D.N. basis. Pricewise, $30 a ton alfalfa hay is equal to $50 a ton grain. For example: 1.6 pounds of good-quality alfalfa hay is about equal to one pound of No. 2 yellow corn or good-grade milo grain. Bundled grain sorghum (with heads on) and good-quality prairie hay have slightly less total digestible nutrients than good-quality alfalfa hay.

The price ratio of high protein feeds and grains is usually 1 to 1 1/4. In other words, $50 a ton grain is equal to $75 a ton high-protein feed. If the price ratio is closer, greater use should be made of high-protein supplement. If the ratio is wider, then the use of more grain should be considered.

Estimated factors for converting yield per acre to pounds of feedlot gain are as follows:

One ton of good-quality grain is equal to 250 pounds.
One ton of good-quality alfalfa hay is equal to 150 pounds.
One ton of good-quality corn or grain sorghum silage is equal to 50 pounds.

OLD TIMER WETS HIS WHISTLE ON BRAND CALLED "DO RIGHT"

By JIMMY MCGOWEN

Well, sir, I was pullin' the succor rod the other day so I could find out whether there was a chip under the spool, or if it needed new leathers. My windmill wasn't a pumpin' nary a bit of water and wasn't payin' much attention and a loud voice said "hello" and it startled me and he said:

"Don't git skeer'd, young feller, 'I'm just 'round tendin' to bizness."

"Well," I says "What are ye, some oil millyunair tryin to buy out my little spread and make me homeless and feel like I'm a stranger in my own country?"

"No, sir, I'm Gladney M. Bowles, commonly known as Grandpa Optimist, ex-president of the National Optimist Club, so I decided to resign and the members jest took on so I compromised with 'em and become chairman of the board, but I don't have much time fer sich doin's as I'm too bizzy runnin' my distillery—me and Sarah."

"You dont happen to have a sample of your product along with you, Mr. —? Dang it, I kaint think of that name. My meebry ain't what it used to be."

"Oh, there's all right, feller. Don't let 't plague you one bit. Jest call me Grandpa, the way everybody else does. Xep, I gotta big supply in a gunny sack. Had to caution "Old Soapy," my old grey horse to trip along easy and not break any bottles so this precious fluid wouldn't run down towards Lincoln."

"I see," I answered. "Got a full line?"

He went off swittly jinglin' his spur rowels to git the gunny sack and what was in it and was back 'fore ye could spell Fibber McGee.

"Now this is a famous brand and I get a good many orders for this special article," he said as he handed me a fifth—and I read on the label "Do Right Bottled in Bond by the Optimist Distilling Co., Escondido," and went on sayin' "You'll shore like 't, mister."

Well, I web my whistle and it tasted pretty good and I told him so.

"Fines! Shore glad ye like it. Now, here's somethin' that will sure 'nough make ye lick yer chops."

I took a swig of that, not noticin' the brand I was samplin' and it seemed kind o' bitter and I took a look at the label. It said, "Love Yer Enemies," and 'bout that time it kept gettin' more bitter and I was 'bout to unload it and take a spoonful of sugar, but Grandpa said "Hold it! It ain't near as bad as the Devil puts out over in Devil's Canyon. Wont give ye a bustin' headache next day."

I says well, maybe not, and Grandpa continues: "I'll admit this brand is sellin' slow, but its good and I look for sales to pick up, as I've seen the commies a bargain price list. I may have to wait a while to hear from them, for they may be so deep under ground they'll have to dig out 'fore they kin git to the post-office to mail in their orders."

COLORADO RIVER BILL DIES

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 24.—New Mexico literally was caught in the middle when California, aided by the majority leadership in Congress, put the squeeze on the Colorado River Project bill and effectively smothered it. The House version—with New Mexico projects eliminated—remains bottled up in the House Rules Committee. The Senate Bill, therefore, became ineffective despite the battle to bring it out with the Navajo Dam authorization in it.

California's selfish interest in defeating the bill can be understood because the water belonging to New Mexico and other upper basin states is being used by Southern California until New Mexico and Colorado can construct projects to impound and utilize it. But opposition by others, particularly to the San Juan-Chama diversion project, doesn't make sense. It is difficult to understand why they should seek to injure the economy of a state to which water is veritable lifeblood.

New Mexico wasn't helped any when the White House advised the congressional leadership that any action on the projects in our state should be deferred. We weren't told why, but California wields potent political influence. The 84th Congress may feel differently about the Colorado River. In the meantime New Mexico is losing about 750,000 acre feet of sorely-needed water every year.

LESS PARTISAN STRIFE

Historians may record the 83d Congress as "The Congress of Compromise." It has been a Congress of fair accomplishment, not outstanding in any considerable degree. It has been a Congress with less partisan strife than in most Congresses, especially those where the partisan strength was about equally divided.

It was unique in that the actual Senate majority at times was not in power, with control vested in an actual minority by sufferance of the majority—a slim majority of one. It was a Congress where other matters than legislation slowed it down to the point where some of the most important bills were accorded much too scant consideration. The final record will reveal, also, that this slowdown resulted in shelving of some legislation that should have been enacted in the interest of the public.

STATE GAME DEPARTMENT NEWSLETTER

FISHING REPORT

Cimarron—Fishing conditions fair in gravel pits. Water very low.

Eagle Nest—Carp giving fishermen a little thrill on fly rods. Charette Lake—Fishing fair. Fish-riasing to spinning equipment.

Conchas—Cat excellent, bass good, crapple fair, pike poor. Elephant Butte—Fishing good in spite of low water.

SANTA CLARA CANYON

An idyllic picnic-and-fishing location is described by a recent visitor to the Santa Clara Canyon fishing area. This pueblo property is patrolled by the Indians as well as by the Game Department. In addition to a state fishing license, one must have a permit issued by the pueblo. The cost is 50 cents. There is also a 50-cent charge per car, for picnickers and campers.

The mountain stream was recently stocked by the Game Department, and the fishing is fine. The tall pine landscape is equally fine, and every effort is made to keep it so. Visitors are asked to bring along paper bags for collection of their rubbish. Disposal cans are available.

SHOOTING HOURS

Some clarification appears to be wanted, as to legal hunting hours. The New Mexico Dept. of Game and Fish gives the following capsule information: Big game, sunrise to sunset. Migratory birds, half hour before sunrise, to sunset; except waterfowl first day, noon opening. Other game birds, half hour before sunrise, to sunset. No species shall be taken except as authorized by the Game Commission.

GAME WATERING UNITS

Big-game watering unit No. 1 has been completed on Perry Grazing Allotment in the Lincoln National Forest about two miles south of the Wilbur Coe Ranch. This unit, designed principally for deer and turkey, contains a 4500-gallon storage tank. The unit was located in this particular area to bring about better distribution of game in the pinon and juniper type habitat. It will also help to keep deer away from agricultural areas about Ruidoso.

The next unit will be in northern New Mexico on San Antonio Mountain. Biologist A. J. Garner of the Department says it will make water available to elk cows during calving time.

DON'T HUNT FROM YOUR CAR

An excellent folder issued by the Santa Fe Chamber of Commerce unfortunately has a misleading statement under the caption, Hunting: "You may hunt on horseback by jeep or plane." Regulation 329 of the New Mexico Dept. of Game and Fish states:

Section 4 reads, in part: "No game animal shall be shot at from an aircraft, automobile, railroad car or speeder or any power driven vehicle." Section 15 reads in part: "It shall be unlawful to take pursuit or kill . . . any game birds from any automobile, vehicle, railroad car or speeder, aircraft, power boat, sailboat, or from any floating device towed by a power boat or sailboat."

There does not appear to be any prohibition as to horseback, except perhaps its unfeasibility.

PROOFS IN WOLF CANYON

White chipmunks are reported to have been seen in the Wolf Canyon. "Abundant in white animals is not very rare, but the presence of several species of chipmunks suggests that the nation may have become fixed in the area," says Layton Lee of the Game Department.

The ruins on the Ryberg ranch extend across State Highway 42. The excavating was only in the part of the ruins on the highway.

Miss Maxine Pounds and James Stanley Brown were united in marriage at the Corona Presbyterian Church Saturday evening, August 24, at 7 p.m. The bride's grandfather, Rev. W. K. Twyford of Cedarvale, performed the ceremony.

About two hundred guests and relatives from far and near attended the wedding and the reception which followed at the Corona recreation room. More than 20 cakes were brought to the reception. Decorations and flowers at both the church and reception were profuse.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Pounds of Cedarvale. She is a graduate of Corona High School, and was recently bookkeeper at the Corona Trading Company. She was dressed in ivory satin, trimmed in real old hand-made lace over 100 years old.

She was attended by several bridesmaids, flower girls, and a ring bearer. It was one of the most beautiful weddings ever to be performed at Corona.

The bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Brown of Willard. He also is a graduate of Corona High School and is employed by the Southern Pacific Railway at Hachita, where the popular young couple are making their home.

NOTES AND GOSSIP FOR SCHOOL OFFICE

If Georgia Lusk makes the grade for state school superintendent again she will find the department with a budget ten times bigger than the $138,000 she had for operation during her last year in the job, 1946. There are 19 in the department drawing $430 a month or higher. A group of outraged taxpayers in Roosevelt and Curry county have hired a lawyer to challenge the department's payment of salary to a $535-a-month employe while she attended summer school for six weeks at Boulder, Colo. The attorney general's office has said that there was nothing wrong with the payment. Pat Murphy, the former Carlsbad superintendent who was recently hired as director of secondary education (that's high schools) in the department, has been rumored as a prospect for the presidency of State A & M at Las Cruces. Average teacher's salary in the state this year will be about $4250.
