

RAMBLIN' AROUND

BY PAUL BAKER

Newspaper people who attempt to write a column were given some tips last Saturday night in Ruidoso by one of the nation's most widely read columnists: Hal Boyle. While he is not credited with being one of the country's top humorists, that quality is certainly not lacking in either his writing or speaking. He pointed out the pitfalls that the writer of a column is likely to get into: a. Falling out of your swivel chair and b. Taking yourself too seriously. "If a wife mentions something in my column to her husband once in two weeks, then I consider it a good column," he said.

"Some say that because of TV the art of reading and writing will die out. This will never happen because people like a sense of record. People are basically interested in themselves and the successful columnist writes about things that tie in with their daily lives. I like to write about people, animals, hermits and children. One of the most interesting persons I met recently was a hermit living on an island off the coast of Florida. He told me he hadn't been blue since 1912."

"The problems of the average American, Boyle said, are not quite as simple as those of the Florida hermit. "Traveling around America, I find unparalleled prosperity. The people want it, but they worry about losing it. ... 13,000 pounds of aspirin tablets were consumed last year, which is one aspirin tablet for every $40 worth of prosperity."

Nature is putting on a flower show outside our kitchen window. A yucca plant which hadn't bloomed for at least two summers, decided this was the year. About three weeks ago two green shoots made their appearance. A week later they were four feet tall and in another week they were up seven feet. Then the pods began to form and the tips of the two stems bent toward each other as if to embrace. Strangely, an army of aphids settled on the pods of one stem, but not on the other. I came to the rescue with a nicotine spray and now the buds are beginning to open. Other yucca on the vacant lots are sending up shoots and it may be quite a flower show in a couple of weeks. I noticed one yucca that won't join the display. Someone thoughtlessly whacked off the stems that were to bear its flowers.

Insurance Official OK's Carrizozo's New Water System

Carrizozo's improved municipal waterworks system was inspected last week by Donald J. Mees, engineer with the Mountain States Inspection Bureau. His organization is the rating bureau for insurance classification.

Carrizozo, Mr. Mees said after the inspection, was in line for a reduction in its insurance classification from Class 9 to Class 8, with accompanying savings in insurance rates.

Mr. Mees looked over the improvements made and he also tested pressure in various parts of town. He told the trustees there had been a "remarkable improvement" in the fire protection setup. Before the new rates can be put into effect, however, Mr. Mees stated two requirements had to be met:

1. The passage of an ordinance restricting operation of the town's fire fighting apparatus within the town limits, except when additional personnel was available to operate one truck outside the town limits;

2. Passage of a building code requiring that new buildings within the business district fire zone be constructed of fireproof material.

The delivery of Carrizozo's new fire truck is expected to be around mid-summer. Two liquor dispenser's licenses were granted at Tuesday's regular meeting of the town board of trustees. They were the Yucca Bar and Jonnie's Package Store.

The board passed a motion to add a 10% penalty to unpaid business licenses, due since February. Mrs. Barbara Turner was designated official deputy clerk of Carrizozo.

It was announced the town is withholding 10% on the waterworks contract with the P. R. Burn Construction Co. until the street repaving is completed and accepted.

The trustees granted an easement to Larry Gholson to use part of an 18-ft. alley adjoining Lot 1 off Tenth St. The trustees discussed use of Bonito water. It was decided to request the State Health Department for an analysis of both the well water and Bonito water.

Attending the meeting were Mayor Marvin H. Roberts, trustees Clifton B. Zumwalt, Juan Martinez, A. P. Sutton Jr., and L. G. Sherrill; Utilities Manager H. C. Welk; Town Attorney Frank C. Boyce and Town Clerk Ruth S. Hickerzon.

Kids' Fishing Derby Planned by GPA

Plans for a fishing derby for kids were made at last week's meeting of the White Mountain GPA, held at the Methodist Church in Carrizozo.

With the assurance of State GPA and State Game Commission cooperation, the County GPA discussed details of the derby for all youngsters up to the age of 14 years, for whom no fishing license is required. A tentative date for the derby is a Sunday afternoon late in June or early in July. The schedule of prizes to be given is yet to be worked out.

It was suggested that the derby be held at the Blue Hole above Bonito Dam. A planting of trout would be made a day ahead of the derby and fishing limited there that day to kids only.

The GPA members were informed of fish conservation work that has been done recently by men from the Walker-Arroyo Lake. Two voluntary 20-man crews, each crew serving five days, camped near Bonito Lake. They built 13 small log dams, 11 small stone dams and improved 14 natural dams on the South Fork of Bonito creek. The small ponds backed up will provide refuge for fish.

The work was under the supervision of Fred Swetnam, forest ranger; Jim McEuen, assistant ranger; Jim Ramsey of the White Mountain GPA and M. F. Embrey, district game conservation officer.

The Chaves County GPA contributed $60 toward buying groceries for the service men while they worked on the stream conservation project, and the White Mountain GPA also gave $34. Some of the activities of local chapters of the Game Protective Association in New Mexico are organizing and sponsoring Junior Conservation Clubs, reseeded projects, habitat restoration, stream improvement projects, development of lakes for fishing and recreation, anti-litterbug campaign, development of picnic areas and kids' fishing derbies.

$1324 Contributed to County Red Cross

A total of $1324.89 was contributed in Lincoln County to 1955 Red Cross campaign for members and funds, it was reported this week by Mrs. John Boylan, fund drive chairman.

The drive was slowed down this year by illness and bad weather conditions, and did fall short of the County's goal of $1625, she said, adding: "However, the results do represent a great deal of faithful work and good community spirit on the part of those who worked on the drive, and I sincerely thank all who participated."

A tally of final reports from all Lincoln County communities shows the following results:

DOG VACCINATION DAY THIS SATURDAY

Dr. Bob O. Bond, veterinarian, announced this week that a second-community-wide rabies vaccination day for dogs will be held this Saturday in Carrizozo. Many dogs were vaccinated at the fire hall last Saturday but a number of owners of dogs requested that Dr. Bond repeat the community vaccination day this Saturday.

Owners whose dogs have not been vaccinated this year, may bring their pets to the fire hall in Carrizozo beginning at 2 p.m. The charge for each dog on this day will be $2, which is 50 cents less than the price charged for dogs brought to the veterinary hospital in Coyote on a non-community basis.

A new town ordinance, recently adopted, requires that all dogs within the town limits be vaccinated against rabies.

Ask for Data on Swimming Pool

The Carrizozo Recreation committee met last Friday with Mayor Marvin H. Roberts, Trustee Clifton B. Zumwalt and Attorney Frank C. Boyce. Various types and sizes of pools were discussed and it was agreed to ask the Fleeta Pools, Inc., builders of swimming pools, for an estimate on the cost of a rectangular-shaped pool 50 feet by 75 feet with an attached wading pool for children.

The Fleeta Pools submitted for consideration several different pool designs.

EXTEND EMERGENCY FEED PROGRAM

Authorization has been given the Lincoln County ASC Committee to extend the date for acceptance of applications of farmers, ranchers and stockmen under the emergency feed program.

The extension applies to the presently designated counties up to the close of business June 22, 1955. FFA Committees are authorized to certify eligible applicants for a 60 days' supply of both hay and feed grain beyond June 30, taking into consideration the supply of feed on hand. All feed must be delivered to and in the hands of the eligible applicants on or before June 30.

Gov. John Simms Addresses N. M. Press Association

Addressing a banquet of New Mexico Press Association in Ruidoso Saturday night, Gov. John Simms told his listeners that "You newspapermen and your chief executive have one thing in common: A great responsibility to protect and advance the public interest."

Approximately a hundred and fifty attended the banquet at the Navajo Lodge. In his brief remarks, Gov. Simms expressed the wish that "in our mutual endeavors we can get things on a high level."

The governor remarked humorously that "I am rumored to be a trucker, but I missed the Motor Carriers' luncheon to be with you today. It is the fifth or sixth consecutive convention of your Press Association that Mrs. Simms and I have attended."

Gov. Simms was introduced by Ed Guthmann of Springer, president of the Press Association. Sanky Trimble, manager of the Associated Press in Albuquerque, introduced Hal Boyle, nationally known columnist, whose half hour's talk covered many subjects. Mr. Boyle was one of the Associated Press team that covered World War II and the Korean War. His column "Operation Kiddy Car," describing the evacuation by airlift of Korean orphans, is said to be one of his best. Today his column appears in daily newspapers throughout the United States.

In his talk, Mr. Boyle described Ernie Pyle as "one of the most interesting persons I ever met and the most interesting man in our business. His writing and approach to life was direct."

HATED WAR'S WASTE. The speaker told how, following the Tunisian war, he and Ernie Pyle and other correspondents were having a few days off resting at a beach on Sicily. When they were lying on the beach a sand fly crawled between the man and one made a move to kill it, but was stopped when Ernie exclaimed: "Don't kill that bug!" The feeling grew on him, that what you hate about war is its waste.

"General Patton," Boyle said, "was a very interesting guy, who once told me 'Above all, a leader must be an actor, acting in a function of leadership.' Patton, he said, was often described as a man of 'blood and guts,' and was criticized for slapping a soldier in anger. 'Actually, he was a very sentimental man and wept openly as he described to the correspondents the death of some of his men who lost their lives in rough assignments.'

Boyle's most difficult war assignment? Trying to find the body of a German who wasn't dead. The correspondents received an order from New York to locate the body of Max Schmelling, reported to be shot down with German paratroopers in Normandy. They searched the bodies of nearly two hundred dead paratroopers, but couldn't locate Max Schmelling.

HOPPERS MENACE MEÑA RANGE LANDS

County Agent Duplap reports this week that grasshoppers are again becoming a menace to range land in Lincoln county. Hoppers have been reported in the Nogal Mesa area around the area sprayed last year. Gilbert Peters reports a large hatch in his area.

The hoppers are now small, but they still consume a tremendous amount of feed. Seven grasshoppers per square yard will reduce the grazing capacity by 64 per cent. Also, grasshoppers, often called "flying stomachs," at the rate of 17 per square yard, will eat a ton of alfalfa per day on a 40-acre field.

These grasshoppers, the County Agent states, can be controlled with aldrin or dieldrin at the rate of three to four ounces of actual material per acre. There is a possibility of Federal help in this control measure if the infestation covers enough area.

Polio Vaccinations To Be Resumed

The Salk Polio vaccine for the second shots for those children who had their first shots in April is now available and the immunization program will be continued in Lincoln County next week, June 13 to 17.

This announcement was made jointly this week by Mrs. Lela Brewster of the Lincoln County Health Department and Mrs. Jane Turner, chairman of the Lincoln County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Local physicians, who feel this is a safe and worthwhile project, will be contributing their time and assistance, as they did in April. "It is hoped," the joint statement said, "that all eligible children will return for their second shots."

The time and place for each clinic is as follows: Saint Rita—Tuesday, June 14, at 9 a.m. Carrizozo Grade School—June 14, at 10 a.m. Corona Gymnasium—Tuesday, June 14, at 2 p.m. Ruidoso Grade School—Wednesday, June 15, at 9 a.m. Fort Stanton—Wednesday, June 15, at 2 p.m. Capitan High School—Thursday, June 16, at 9 a.m. Pecos County—Thursday, June 16, at 2 p.m.

Commodity Program For County's Needy

The Lincoln County Board of Commissioners, meeting Tuesday, discussed a commodity program with Earl Butler, supervisor of the New Mexico Bureau of Public Welfare.

Under the program, milk products, shortening, beans and rice will be made available to needy families and unemployed families in the county. The distribution is expected to get underway in the near future.

A delegation of women from Corona and the Hondo and Ruidoso valleys met with the County Commissioners in regard to a full-time home demonstration agent for Lincoln County. Mr. Peterson from New Mexico A&M discussed the matter with the group. The county would share in the expenses of such an agency and the commissioners said they would look into the feasibility.

UTILITY FIGHTER DEMANDS LIE TEST. SANTA FE, June 8.—The state public service commission has been confronted with a demand for lie detector tests from an outraged power consumer who thinks he was doubled crossed in a May hearing before the commission.

The consumer, Dave Woolf who operates the Arrowhead Lodge near Pecos, wants the lie spotter put not only on himself but on Arnold Benson, president of the Pecos Power and Light Co., on Elmer Carter, director of public utilities operations in the commission, and on all the commissioners and everybody else present at the disputed hearing.

Woolf wants District Attorney Bert Prince of Santa Fe to conduct the lie testing and wants Corporation Commissioner Ingram Pickett and a representative of the press as witnesses.

Woolf is burned about what he claims was substitution of a letter in the commission files concerning a failure of service at his place last summer. He is further burned by President Benson of the Pecos Power and Light Co. sending him registered mail dunnies and then charging him for the registration fees.

What District Attorney Prince, Commission Chairman Leroy Leibrand and others involved in the lie detector demand are going to do about it hadn't been determined at this writing.

SIMMS RAIDS OIL OFFICE. The governor raided the oil conservation commission staff in the employment of the popular and efficient Nancy Royal in his office and now it looks like Harold Walter, oil commission chief clerk, is to be tapped for assistant state purchasing agent. Mrs. Royal helped out intermittently in the governor's office during the Mechem administration. Printers planning to picket the state fair because the fair book was printed by a non-union shop in Portales might also get up to picket the schools next September because the New Mexico Education Association magazine is printed by the same firm. They also could have marched in front of the state senate doors last winter when senate bills were printed by the Bishop firm at Portales.

Most all the offices in the state-house have done business with the Portales printer who in the past couple of years, has been the major supplier of state printing. Three state officials attending the press convention in Ruidoso displayed three moods: Corporation Commissioner Ingram Pickett was as busy as a bird dog fighting the utilities amendment which among other things would block him out of running for governor; Lt. Gov. Joe Montoya who got elected with almost no support from the press was a little defiant and cocky; Gov. John Simms was all good humor, telling that he was now making expenses on his travels by selling subscriptions to the Albuquerque Journal.

SCHOOLS IN RED OVER $4 MILLION. School operation costs for the year that starts next September have been worked out at $45,330,053. The revenue in sight for schools is $40,702,954. The difference of $4,627,103 will come from the surplus money, held by some counties.

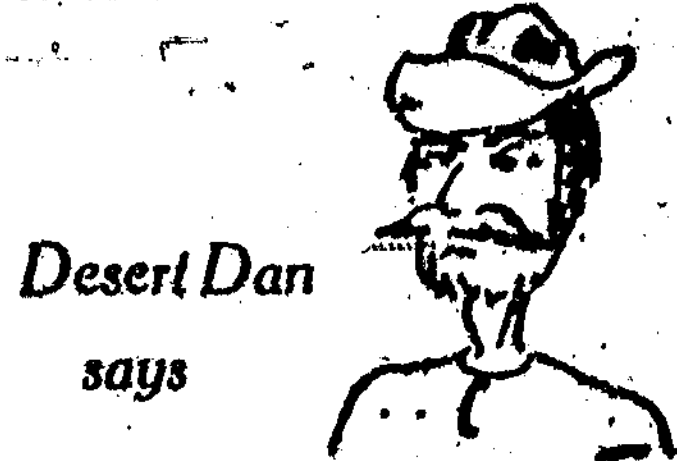

The dig into the surplus money is some four times bigger than the amount taken for the school year just closed when the income was only about a million less than the spending.

The amount set up for spending next year is $29 million above the figure last year, an increase of 9.35 per cent. The increase was charted in spite of stringent economies demanded by School Budget Auditor Tuffy Holder which resulted in thousands of teachers being denied requested salary increases and a couple of hundred in San Miguel county being cut $200 a year.

The increase was inevitable because of an approximate 10,000 more kids in school, a gain that will probably show a 7 or 8 per cent higher student load when the final figures are in.

Meanwhile a couple of critical situations have been eased. Dona Ana looked like it was in trouble for sure got some relief in an $89,000 grant from the federal government, and Alamogordo which was squeezed got $140,000 from the federal the other day when only $115,000 had been anticipated.

Failure of the sales tax, chief support of the schools, and other school money to keep pace with the 8 or 10 per cent advance in cost that is being marked up (Continued on Page 3)

Uranium Strike Made East of Socorro

According to the Oil News and Uranium Digest, a rich deposit of uranium has been found east of Socorro, comparing in value and size to the Haystack uranium mine in Grants. The Holly Mining and Development Company, one of the largest uranium mining concerns in the nation, has moved in a power shovel, bulldozers, and other equipment and is opening up the ground and bringing in production over a wide area. The original strike was made in section 26 of range 2E, township 2S, about eight miles east and four miles north of Socorro in Yesso limestone. The area is a fault district. According to E. C. Anderson, head of the Bureau of Mines, the ore is rich, fresh, very clean, fine ore, and, Anderson said, he feels high hopes for the future of the discovery.

Anderson said Santa Fe railroad and state land east of Socorro and in the vicinity of the new ore find was in process of being leased for exploration. The Del Curto Ranch surrounds the new uranium east of Socorro.

"Theater-in-Barn" Plays in Ruidoso

Perky Pine Theater group has announced its plans for summer productions in connection with activities of Carrizo Lodge in Ruidoso. The group will present "Theater-in-the-Barn," beginning at 8 p.m., June 18, with the Norman Krasna comedy, "John Loves Mary."

Seating capacity in the rustic barn-like theater is limited to approximately 350. Patrons desiring to see productions should write for advanced tickets to the Carrizo Lodge, Drawer "A," Ruidoso. Ticket prices are $2.20, $1.65 and $1.10. Although tickets may be obtained at the door, all seats are reserved, announces Frank Walker, general manager of the group.

"Theater-in-the-Barn" is a completely new entertainment media for this area. The elevated stage will be surrounded on three sides by seating area while the fourth side will be used for scene display. This type of presentation is not only new to this area but is in its infancy throughout the nation.

The profit sharing organization, under the direction of Mrs. Vivian Smith, will star six members of the Pasadena Playhouse. The remaining members are outstanding college performers. Final selection of the collegiate players was determined by canvassing 123 colleges and universities in seven states. The six college members were chosen on the basis of ability, experience, and personal recommendations.

OLD-TIME REMEDIES

Old-time remedies were relied on when doctors were 40 or 100 miles away.

Here are some remedies that were used on Mrs. Rachel Floyd of Truth or Consequences, her sister and four brothers when they were children.

This is a sure cure for frost-bitten feet or toes: Boil yellow turnips and mash them. Put the mashed turnips in a white sock and place your foot in the sock at night and leave it overnight.

For a stone bruise or boil: Use a poultice of milk and cold biscuit. This poultice is more soothing than a strip of salt pork, but salt pork is effective.

To heal a wound without a noticeable scar: Mix half flour and half sugar and apply. It stops bleeding and holds the wound together. Tie a cloth over the application to keep it clean. Leave the application on until the wound heals. When removed, there will be a faint scar. If you can't reach a doctor, this may be used. Infection has never been known to result from this remedy. Mrs. Floyd's mother used this remedy many times. The wounds healed without stitches.

"When we stepped on a rusty nail, we put our foot in a pan of coal oil," Mrs. Floyd said. "Only once it didn't help, when flakes of rust were left in the wound."

COMET CHAPTER INITIATES TWO

Mrs. Leona Brown, worthy matron, and Jack Shaw, worthy patron, presided at the regular June meeting of Comet Chapter of the Eastern Star.

Mrs. Emma Faueguy, associate conductress of Santa Rosa Chapter, was introduced and given a hearty welcome.

Mrs. Gloria Chappel and Elbert W. Dudley were initiated into the Order. Appropriate music for the initiatory ceremony was furnished by Mrs. Marbry Burns, pianist, and Mrs. Betty Nickels, violinist.

Beautiful blooming geraniums belonging to Mrs. Ula Mayer added to the beauty of the Chapter room.

A special ceremony honoring the fathers was given by the Star points who presented a small gift to each father.

Mrs. Gloria Chappell sang "My Dad," which was dedicated to the fathers.

The worthy matron proclaimed Jack Shaw, worthy patron, Comet Chapter's "Dad of the Year," and presented him a gift as a memorial to her father.

Other fathers honored were Clyde Shults, Glen Bradley and Elbert Dudley.

Preceding the meeting a bountiful potluck supper was enjoyed by 35 members and guests. The Chapter will not meet during July and August.

It's June! What's Ahead for Newlyweds?

Living standards of this June's newlyweds will be better than those of any comparable group anywhere at any time in the past, say the editors of Changing Times, the Kiplinger Magazine. The best in food, clothing, housing and personal comforts will be routine enjoyments, not infrequent blessings.

Fewer brides and grooms will live with parents or relatives. Apartments will not be hard to find. Homes in the suburbs will be economically attainable. The newlyweds will have a better time of it than their parents as far as time to play is concerned. The 30- or 35-hour week is coming. It means time to travel, time to enjoy the outdoors.

The bride as a housewife will find that the kitchen of the future will feature practically every kind of automatic electronic convenience imagined by man. Greater variety of prepackaged and frozen foods will make cooking a dream. Houses, too, will be designed for a maximum of comfort and a minimum of upkeep. Bigger families will be the rule. Newlyweds will copy their grandparents and raise more babies.

An era of normalcy is due these newlyweds born in the depression and raised in a war-raging world, but the tensions probably won't abate. The threat of global war will be the constant worry. Maybe 10, more likely 20 years from now, a sturdier peace may prevail. But, there are unprecedented opportunities for the new groom. He will find the best jobs in electronics, engineering, atomic energy and chemicals. Other prospects: retailing, advertising, airlines, construction work and, of course, medicine and related professions.

and Sandy, from Oil Center, N. M., and Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Tabor from Roswell.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bockelman were in Carrizozo Monday from the Jicarillas.

Miss Annette Edlington is working at Fort Huachuca, Ariz., this summer. She plans to continue her education at New Mexico Western University this fall, transferring from Eastern New Mexico University.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Thornton motored to Socorro and Albuquerque Sunday. They took their son, Carl, to the Boys' State convention in Socorro and brought home Glenn Thornton, who completed another year at the State University.

Porch Gone, New Roof On, House Is 40 Years Younger

The cheerful, up-to-date suburban home above was once the drab 1910 house shown at right. Taking off the old-fashioned porch and adding attractive modern features, such as a new gray-blend asphalt roof, new ponderosa pine window units, and black wrought iron handrails, caused the transformation.

Removing a large old-fashioned porch can make a house of pre-World War I vintage at home in a modern community.

Before remodeling, the 40-year-old house at right looked small and squat, and its dated look was emphasized by old-styled windows. The porch cast a shadow on the entrance and blocked daylight from the living room.

The porchless version (above) reveals the attractive basic proportions of the house and permits a bright, cheerful interior.

All windows were replaced. An attractive addition is the large multi-paned ponderosa pine picture window, which "invites" the outdoors into the living room and gives the passerby a glimpse of the cozy interior.

Re-roofing is almost always necessary in remodeling an old house, and today's roofing is available in a wide range of new colors that do a lot to give aging houses a young look. Here a light gray-blend asphalt roof is attractive in itself, and forms an attractive background for the white siding.

The yellow shutters on the second floor window emphasize the horizontal lines of the house, making the structure look lower and wider. The new paneled entrance door is carnation red.

The Carl Buttrills returned Sunday from vacationing near Hereford, Texas; Mesa, Ark.; and Farmington. While away they took Natha Dene to the eye specialist in Durango, Colo., who prescribed another small-pox vaccination each time her eye breaks out. Virus infections cause this ailment. He cleared a deep film from her eye in November of 1933, with a series of eight smallpox vaccinations.

Wheat Referendum Set for June 25

A large turnout of eligible voters at the wheat referendum Saturday, June 25, is a must, according to H. Mark Rickman, Albuquerque chairman of the New Mexico ASC Committee. Generally speaking, he says any farmer who grows over 15 acres of wheat for harvest will be eligible to vote. Going a little further into the matter of eligibility, Rickman said it applies to any person who is entitled to share in the proceeds of a 1956 wheat crop as tenant, owner, or landlord (other than a landlord of a standing rent, cash rent or fixed rent tenant). Further, he said, no wheat farmer, partnership, or corporation is entitled to more than one vote in the referendum even though he may be engaged in the production of wheat on two or more farms in two more communities, counties, or states.

Rickman says this gives the small wheat farmer in New Mexico as much say-so regarding the program as the manager of a big corporation farm in Kansas, harvesting thousands of acres of wheat.

Each farm operator, who will have over 15 acres of wheat in 1956, should on his next trip to the County ASC Office, give the names and addresses of all tenants who will share in the proceeds of their crop in order that their names may be listed on the register of eligible voters. Rickman urged farmers who have any doubt in their minds as to their voting eligibility to go by their County ASC Office and let ASC personnel determine whether or not they are eligible.

Remove Surplus Plants From Your Garden

Like most gardeners you probably have more seeds coming up in your vegetable garden than are needed. We usually plant more seed to allow for poor germination, losses from damping-off and other problems. It's well worth your while to remove the surplus plants as soon as possible. This allows the remaining plants adequate room for best growth. Make this thinning a process of selection—discard the weakest ones and leave the strongest ones. Do it early, when you do your first hand weeding. If you wait too long, your plants will show typical spindly growth, which results from overcrowding or you may damage the remaining plants when pulling up the thinning.

Visualize the final size of the plants and give them enough space to develop. If your lettuce will ultimately be about six inches in diameter, there is no room for more than two plants per foot nor is there space for more than about 12 carrot plants in a foot of row—if you expect them to be about one inch thick. The same holds good for other crops.

Thinnings are not always wasted. The young beet plants, for example, may be used as beet greens. In this case, a gradual thinning process provides a vegetable for several meals. Lettuce thinnings may be used as transplants, and thus give you a succession planting to mature later.

Your crops will appreciate it if you give each plant the space it needs for maximum development.

Food Solids in Pint of Milk About Size of a Golf Ball

Reduce a pint of whole milk to its solids (non-water) content and you have food enough to fill a sphere slightly larger than a golf ball—yet this "golf ball" offers a moderately active man about 10% of his calorie needs for one day, according to the National Dairy Council, one of the national sponsors of June Dairy Month now being observed.

A quart of milk will give you about 2 1/2 "golf balls."

Wringing the water from foods offers interesting information. Even foods generally regarded as solid can possess a great deal of water content. A half-pound potato, for example, contains nearly a cup of water and holds the liquid as effectively as a rubber bottle.

The known food solids of a variety of foods chosen at random are as follows:

Food	Weight of Solids Content (By %)
Bread, white	64
Cheese, American	61
Beef, lean	33
Eggs	26
Potato	23
Apples	16
Milk	13
Oranges	13
Carrots	12
Cabbage	8
String Beans	8
Tomato	6
Lettuce	5

Water makes up the difference between the above percentages and 100%. Incidentally, water is a nutritional essential just as other parts of food are essential.

The business of humans gaining some of the water they need from foodstuffs is part of nature's great design. It is common knowledge that man must replenish the water content of his body to make up for continuous losses through perspiration and other body functions.

What are our sources of water? There are three: (1) fluids consumed (water, beverages, soups, etc.); (2) water contained in solid foods; and (3) water produced in the body as a result of metabolic processes, i.e.—when fuel foods are burned in the body for energy. Such "metabolic water" amounts to about a pint a day.

On the food solids side, humans gain varying degrees and

WHY POSTAL WORKERS ARE WORRIED

Washington—Postal workers, granted at long last a pay increase, have expressed the fear that the reclassification powers given the Postmaster General may endanger their job security. The political patronage record of those officials may well justify those fears, but the full powers he sought have not been granted. They are still too broad to be given any one man. However, the postal workers can gain some degree of assurance from the statement made by Senator Johnston (D-S. C.) Chairman of the Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee, who said:

"I wish to give a word of assurance to the rank and file postal workers, the distribution clerk, the carrier, the mail handler, the sorting clerk and the others who expertly keep our letters moving day in and day out. The committee has made every effort to adopt language which will protect the rights of individual employees and prevent the assumption of unwarranted power by the Postmaster General. The committee intends to watch this matter very, very closely and will take immediate action in behalf of our postal employees if it should become necessary to protect their rights and privileges under the Civil Service Laws now on our statute books."

COLORADO RIVER BILL

Many communities which have substandard airports, or those which have deteriorated because of lack of funds to maintain them, should be helped by restoration of federal aid-to-airports funds in the Commerce Department appropriations Bill. The House voted $20 million for this purpose in fiscal year 1956, starting next month. Last year, at the insistence of the Bureau of the Budget no funds were appropriated for this purpose. The budget for this year carried $11 million, but the House increased it to $20 million. There are indications the Senate will retain that amount at least.

Increasing air traffic and higher speed planes have rendered many of our airports entirely inadequate. Work of the Civil Air Patrol has been hampered and military aircraft has been endangered by lack of adequate emergency landing fields. Our airports like our highways, must be properly developed to keep pace with our economic and defense needs. Both are seriously deficient now.

SOCIAL SECURITY

employment in the railroad industry may count toward the needed amount of work. By applying to have their social security earnings records frozen, disabled people may prevent loss or reduction of future benefits.

Some people now receiving old-age insurance payments or who will become eligible for old age payments in July were disabled for long periods before they reached age 65 and are still disabled. They may start getting larger payments as of July and will get them more promptly if they file an application for a "disability freeze" by June 30.

If the disabled person dies after June 30, the disability freeze can protect his family's rights to survivors payments but only if he had applied for it before death. For this reason, it is important for every person who meets the requirements for the "freeze" to apply for it by June 30.

Strickland emphasizes that the law protects the social security rights of a worker who is suffering from prolonged total disability but does not pay cash benefits to him before he is 65.

IT'S PERFORMANCE THAT COUNTS!

"My regular job is piloting a United Air Lines DC-7. On most of my flights we use Phillips 66 Aviation Gasoline. It's high-performance stuff, and one reason it's so good is Di-isopropyl. Phillips has started putting Di-isopropyl in automobile gasoline, too. They call it 'FLITE-FUEL' . . . and I use it regularly in my car. It gives wonderful performance."

Flite-Fuel puts the Accent on Performance!

If it's top performance you want, fill up with powerful new FLITE-FUEL. Both new FLITE-FUEL and new Phillips 66 Gasoline have been fortified for increased power, higher octane, longer mileage. Remember, the one real test of motor fuel is: how it performs in your car. Try a tankful at your Phillips 66 Dealer's.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

Hillsboro, Ore., Argus: "Government, whether it be federal, state or county, should stay out of business . . . Loss by private business is a loss to government because there is no money with which to pay taxes. In many instances it uses taxpayer money with which to compete with private business as for example in printing, thus cutting its nose to spite its face by hurting a segment of business and reducing taxable income."

Detroit Lakes, Minn., Becker Co. Record: "The turmoil of the modern world is obvious evidence that the way of life taught by Christ is not universally accepted."

NEW BOOK:

Reviewed by MRS. DOROTHY GUCK

Simon & Schuster has a new book on the market that is definitely a need of every tourist and quite a wealth of information for the native. It is a Golden Regional Guide entitled, The American Southwest, written by Matt N. Dodge, of the National Park Service, and Herbert S. Zim, of the University of Illinois, and illustrated by Arch and Miriam Hurford of Santa Fe.

The book, which sells for $1.49 paper binding and $1.95 in cloth, has more than 400 subjects in full color. The chapter titles include: Meet the Southwest, Touring the Southwest Indians, Explorers, The Modern Southwest, The Land and Its Life Zones, Birds, Lizards and Snakes, Insects, Mammals You Meet, Plants of Mountain, Mesa, and Desert, Geological Story of the Southwest, and Places to See and Things to Do.

The foreword gives this information: "Everyone knows where the Southwest is, but no two people agree as to what it includes. This book, the first of the Golden Regional Guides, presents to the vacationer, traveler, or interested reader some of the many facets of this appealing land of deserts, mountains, people, places and events — the Southwest." The book includes sight-seeing suggestions, traveling directions, prehistory, history, natural history, Indian lore, and sources of additional information.

Bedford, Ind., Daily Times-Mail: "So long as man is inventive, so long as he is able to reap the rewards of his own efforts, just that long will there be no monopoly . . . The biggest monopoly, the biggest fear in the world today is not business, not labor — but government itself. That is monopoly."

LETTER TO EDITOR

Editor, News:

It was my misfortune this year not to be able to attend any of the Sessions of the Legislature. I was compelled to be out of the state for over two months and that was the period of the Session. I have always enjoyed watching and listening to the fine men and women of our Legislature Body as they follow their duties in moulding our laws and guiding them through the channels to becoming laws. All of this I missed this year, coupled with many friendly visits with the Legislators which has been my great pleasure in past years.

My temporary absence did not separate me entirely for I followed the news in the papers, and much more came to me in letters from friends which were so greatly appreciated. Following the Legislature in this manner gave me the same confidence and feeling of security and pride which comes to me when I am present. Since I live in Lea County, it was of particular interest that a Lea County man was Speaker of the House, and who did an outstanding job. The same kind of performance can be credited to both Representatives and our Senator, as well as all of the other Legislative Representatives of the state.

The Twenty-Second Legislature earned an early reputation as a "Working" Legislature and while this is as it should be, it is pleasing to have public expression to that effect even if it occurs each Session. Our Representatives in the National Congress have that same reputation, and we are proud of them for it.

It seems that a record number of bills were introduced this Session, and one sometimes wonders where and how they originate; however, those that pass the screening of both House and Senate and signed by the Govern-

Senator Would Regain Homesteaders' Rights For Oil and Gas

Washington, June 7—Senator Dennis Chavez has pitched in to help half a dozen one-time New Mexico homesteaders regain oil and gas rights on those dry farm lands lost to the federal government more than 25 years ago.

The Senator has introduced in the U. S. Senate bills to reclaim the mineral rights on homesteaders in Roosevelt, Lea and Eddy counties for Elmer M. Gandy of Lubbock; Myrtle Golden of Milnesand; Joseph E. Shipp of Snyder, Texas; Richard L. Robinson of Jal; Walter T. Linam of Hobbs, and Carl Bedwell of Yucca, California.

The Senator described the circumstances surrounding the loss of mineral rights of each of the six as parallel to that of Mrs. Pearl O. Marr of Crossroads, New Mexico, for whom the Senator last year got legislation enacted restoring the lost oil and gas rights. The Marr bill created a legislative sensation in that President Eisenhower first vetoed the bill and then changed his mind upon representations by the New Mexico Democrat on the facts and signed the bill into law with only 24 hours remaining before the deadline for passage of bills.

The six introduced this week are only the forerunners of many to be sponsored by Senator Chavez. He said another 15 such instances were in his possession, but all facts and records had not been established by the owners to his satisfaction.

"There were peculiar circumstances surrounding this reserving of oil and gas rights by the government, and any such bill which I present must fit this particular set of circumstances," the Senator said. "I expect each applicant to furnish me with the records to prove his case, and then I shall go to bat for them in the Congress."

The Senator has announced that he intends to seek general recovery of oil and gas rights withheld by the government from homesteaders in New Mexico before 1930. He said the action would be based upon the original homestead of 320 acres or less and would not involve the rangelands up to another section of land which were included in enlarged homesteads.

Ability to Swim Not Inborn in Boys; They Must Learn by Doing

Washington—"Of swimming hole" time is approaching for the American boy, one of the few water-loving North American mammals not a born swimmer.

While hundreds of thousands of youngsters must go through a learning period of thrashing clumsily about in river, lake, ocean surf or pool, less resourceful lower animals seem to have built-in swimming ability. Most land animals, when the need arises, can propel themselves in water, some with agility, some awkwardly.

The hare and hedgehog sometimes take voluntarily to water, says the National Geographic Society. The mighty moose swims well. Bats can hold up on watery surfaces. Ermine navigate profitably.

OTHER STOUT SWIMMERS

The solitary mink is equally at home raiding thickets and henhouses for food or seeking its fill with otterlike ease under water.

But such compatibility with water isn't shared by the skunk. Only infrequently does it swim streams or rivers voluntarily—motivated probably by an urge for new feeding grounds.

In sharp contrast, one authority points out that the gorilla, lar gibbon and chimpanzee live a high and dry life. None can swim. The gibbon won't even lower its head to drink, preferring to dip its fingers. Why water bothers the gorilla and chimpanzee is one of Nature's mysteries.
