I've heard some exciting rumors about a sveranium boom in Lincoln County but I ain't run across anything big. Maybe the lodes are down quite a ways like th' new discovery near Grants. If that's th' case, it'll take more tools than us old prospectors got 't uncover it.

September Is Soil Conservation Month

Governor John F. Simms has proclaimed the month of September as Soil Conservation Month in New Mexico.
The Governor's proclamation reads as follows:
Whereas, New Mexico's land and water resources annually produce a substantial portion of the State's income, and
Whereas, all commercial, professional, and industrial enterprises as well as labor is directly dependent upon what can be produced from the land, and
Whereas, work being carried on by farmers and ranchers in 61 Soil Conservation Districts has proved that the soil can be stabilized and water conserved for beneficial use by known conservation techniques and practices, and
Whereas, soil and water conservation is bringing increased economic benefits to the people of the State, each and every landowner and operator within the State should plan his agricultural operations so as to control erosion and maintain the fertility of the land for the mutual benefit of both rural and urban people who depend on its productivity, now
Therefore, I, John F. Simms, Governor of New Mexico, do proclaim the month of September as Soil Conservation Month in New Mexico and urge the press and radio, public officials, agencies, schools, public institutions, farm and ranch organizations, and all other organizations, groups, and individuals to join in the observance of this month for the welfare and continued prosperity of the citizens of New Mexico.

MINING DAYS IN EL PASO SEPT. 29

A heavy registration of between 750 and 1,000 delegates for the 54th annual International Mining Days' celebration at El Paso, is expected September 29-30 and October 1.
The 1955 meeting will be a joint affair, with the New Mexico Mining Association holding its annual meeting in conjunction with the celebration.
Jack's Peak also reported the largest crop of acorns in the memory of old inhabitants, but there were very few swine in the country to enjoy them.
Rev. Billy Sunday, famous evangelist, visited the New Mexico building at the San Diego Fair. When shown Vierra's painting of the rocky trail leading up to the summit of old Acoma Church on the Rock of Acoma, he remarked in his characteristic slang: "Say, that was some sawdust trail they had to hit, wasn't it?"

SENTIMENT GROWS AGAINST SESSION

A growing number of Governor Simms' friends are beseeching him to forget the proposed special session of the legislature and work out the welfare department's money troubles without further legislation. Among the objectors are truckers who are already threatened with referendum repeal of their big truck law and fear what might happen if the session got out of control. The liquor industry and oil and mining interests are also opposed in fear of being socked with new taxes, and the politicians are scared.
The situation that has developed around the welfare problem is politically unique. Sentiment seems to have firmed up against doing anything material for the 40-odd thousand reliefers and no one of any consequence has come forward as a champion of the big voting group. Ordinarily there would be half a dozen politicians stumping the state and trying to seize advantage from the situation.
There is good evidence at hand for political talk in behalf of the older and the kids on the reduced relief payments. After cutting the grants to the unfortunate the department almost doubled the rate it pays hospitals. The rich bureau of revenue is holding for "administrative" purposes some $50,000 a year of the welfare department's compensating tax and there isn't any compensating tax payroll or any expenses charged against the tax. The reduced welfare payments were accompanied by big salary advances to scores of the higher paid people in the statehouse. Higher truck weights were approved necessitating more costly road construction. A huge $20 million borrowing authority was set up for roads. The welfare department's cigaret tax was raised and given to the counties and towns for recreational use.
Governor John J. Dempsey when confronted with a similar situation made trips and talks all over the state in behalf of the poor folks and made a lot of political hay.
The money coming in and accumulating in the welfare department indicates that this one could be settled without political hysteria but the material is present if any want to make something of it.

STATEHOUSE COFFEE TALK

The state reform school at Springer is operating with a payroll more than three times as big as last year. It was $45,117 for the quarter ending July 1, $12,920 for the same period a year earlier. . . . The state police commission has employed the sister-in-law of Commissioner J. W. Some of Mechem's friends think that if he gets mad enough he might be enticed into making a run for his old job next year. . . . A near breakdown in operation of the big state motor vehicle department has impeded Commissioner Tony Lucero in the $9000 a year post. The governor stalled five months before appointing Lucero and then did it with what seemed to be reluctance.

PICK'S VICTIMS MAY WIN YES

SANTA FE, Aug. 17—A pair of candidates who were rejected for places on the corporation commission, both losing to Ingram Pickett, may achieve the goal by the indirect method of next month's special election.
They are the Democratic public service commissioners, Don Casados who lost to Pickett in the 1948 primary run, and Terry Moynihan of Taos, a Pick victim of 1954.
Statehouse observers are guessing that Gov. John Simms will pick the pair for $10,000 posts on the corporation commission if Constitutional Amendment No. 6 is approved abolishing the public service agency and enlarging the corporation commission from three to five members.
Left out in such a maneuver would be Leroy Liebrand, Republican member of the public service commission.

MONEY AND BANKING In Everyday Living

Providing checking service is an important function of America's banks. Countless individuals, families, businesses and organizations enjoy the advantages of paying by check. About 8 billion checks were issued last year in our country, representing about 2 1/2 TRILLION dollars.
OUTWITTING BURGLARS is largely a matter of precaution. When leaving your house, fasten all windows; don't place door keys under the mat; do keep a light on if you're to be gone at night. For a prolonged absence, have tradesmen suspend deliveries - accumulated newspapers and so on are a sign of "nobody home." As an extra precaution, keep valued personal possessions in a safe deposit box in our bank vault.
PUTTING UP COLLATERAL allows you to obtain needed credit at our bank at the lowest borrowing cost - and quickly. We make collateral loans on security of certain stocks and bonds; the pledge of thrift account passbooks; the cash value of life insurance policies; warehouse receipts, bills of lading, trust receipts, and chattel mortgages.
Through the years, Americans have been receiving an ever greater proportion of the national income in salaries and wages. For many people, one great advantage of a REGULAR PAYDAY is the opportunity to make REGULAR DEPOSITS in a savings account at the bank - the best way to build up a fund of reserve cash for emergencies... opportunities.

THE SILVER HORSESHOES

Many years ago a stranger was riding through the Sacramento Mountains on a trail in what is now Chaves County. The traveler heard someone moaning and upon investigating he found an Indian in a small cave. The Indian had been shot and was unconscious.

The stranger gave the Indian water and cared for him until he was able to travel again. On the day they were to go their own ways, the white man asked the Indian why he had been wounded. The Indian asked the stranger to wait until he returned.

Near the end of the morning the Indian rode back on his pony. He lifted up one of the horse's hooves, and the white man saw that it was shod with a silver shoe. The silver horseshoe was broken. The Indian then told his friend that a white man had found a piece of the broken silver horseshoe and had shot him.

Wherever he went, the Indian continued, he was hounded by white men and his own people because he had a secret silver mine. He would disappear and return to his tribe with his horse shod with silver shoes.

The stranger who had helped him was the only friend he had in the world, the Indian said, and he promised the white man that when he was dying he would send for him and reveal the secret mine.

Several years later the Indian sent for the stranger who had befriended him. When the white man arrived, the Indian rose up on his bed, pointed toward the Rio Penasco, and said: "Silver mine in mountains." As the Indian revealed his secret, he fell back dead.

The fourth generation in the family of Mrs. Rachel Floyd of Truth or Consequences is telling the story of the Silver Horseshoes.

Was there a silver mine in the Sacramento Mountains that the Indian alone knew of, and whose pure silver he shod his pony? No one ever found a silver mine in the Rio Penasco area, but the story has persisted for nearly a hundred years.

CARRIZOZO'S FIRST TREES

In 1906 two spindling cottonwoods were planted in Carrizozo north of the railroad station. The trees faced the saloon, and when the boys on the White Oaks baseball team relaxed at the bar after a game with Carrizozo they poked fun at the town's pretense to trees. In White Oaks there were pinons, and on the mountainsides large pines.

One of the baseball players from White Oaks was Herman Kelt, now Carrizozo postmaster. The team drove from White Oaks in a three-seat hack drawn by two horses.

The incident of the spindling cottonwoods came back vividly to Kelt a few months ago after a California woman wrote to the Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce about the trees. The Chamber referred the letter to Kelt.

The woman had been in Carrizozo in 1906 when the trees were planted and still thought they might be the only two trees in the town. And what kind of trees were they? She also wrote that water had been hauled in barrels to keep the trees alive.

Actually, Kelt said, the overflow water from the railroad roundhouse kept the trees alive.

Cottonwoods also were planted in 1906 at the Ira Wetmore home north of the railroad station, and water had to be hauled for these. That may have accounted for the California woman's confusion, after 49 years, over water hauling.

The two spindling cottonwoods which faced the saloon grow into large trees and still stand. So do the cottonwoods at the Wetmore home.

Mrs. Frances Starkey Hostess to Auxiliary

The Ancho Ladies Auxiliary was delightfully entertained in the Carrizo home of Mrs. Frances Starkey, hostess, assisted by Mrs. Sarah Huffmyer and Mrs. Orene Greshaw. The devotional was led by Mrs. Huffmyer and Mrs. William Lytle led the group in their Bible study course which covered the 10th chapter of Hebrews. Mrs. Lytle attended seminary at Princeton University this year, where she studied Hebrew, and the Ladies of Ancho are grateful to have her for our instructor. A business meeting followed, including the exchange of Sunshine Pal gifts. Refreshments of punch, sandwiches, potato chips, lime desert, nuts and assorted candies were served to 15 ladies present. Mrs. Chambers of Temple, Tex., mother of Mrs. Huffmyer, was a special guest at the meeting.

Geological Survey Group Break Camp

Sunday, Aug. 21, the Geological Survey group started breaking camp and on Monday their caravan of cars and trucks rolled out of the Jicarilla hills to Ancho to bid us farewell and then to Denver, Colo., and each to his respective home and position.

Ray Becker to his home and office in Denver; Ed Beaumont to his home in Albuquerque; Peter Zubovic to Tulsa, Okla.; thence to Washington, D. C.; Leonard Kolosko to Texas; Paul Ruane to Brooklyn, N. Y.; Richard Kellegher and Peter D'Agostino to Washington, D. C.

Bob Harbour, Phil Hayes and Hector are remaining in this area for a time, then to their homes in Albuquerque. Tommy Asqueda, the camp cook, returned to his home in Roswell. At this writing we are glad to report Richard Scott as much improved. The doctors are sure his left eye is O.K. and are reasonably sure of the right. Scottle is in a Denver hospital.

It was with much regret we saw this group of boys and their fine, genial boss, Ray Becker, leave our midst. This group was one of the finest it has ever been our pleasure to meet and deal with. They were all of fine character and personality, diligent workers, strictly business in the field and on the job but full of fun and gaiety after the day's work was done. Their finished work, a year or so in the future will be available to the ranchers and will be of inestimable value to them. And so, Amigos, hasta la vista!

Ancho Is Proud of Its Young Rodeo Riders

Ancho is again proud of the achievement of our "kids." This time, Willis Kilpatrick, now of Corona, who won the championship title and the beautiful saddle at the Billy the Kid's Rodeo Sunday at Three Rivers.

Willis started his riding and roping at Ancho, under the direction of the late Cap Straley and at the age of 12 he entered his first rodeo as a contestant along with Cap's group of Straley children, including Jo Ann, Esther, Cope and Rookie (Cap's own) Lee and Pete (George's). Willis has been staying with Cope some this summer and the boys have practiced their riding and roping, under the direction of Tommy Knight.

Ancho's heartiest congratulations to you Willis, our champ for a year!

Cope Straley won first place in the barrel race.

Rookie Straley won fourth place in calf riding.

The pretty and friendly little store clerk, Sweet Straley, has had to resign her position to get ready for the school year ahead. She will be a senior in the Carrizo High, and is spending her vacation this week in El Paso with her sister, Jo Ann and other relatives. She will be back as reporter next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Harkey and children spent the week end in Las Cruces with Barbara's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Wohl.

Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Hightower are vacationing in Colorado this week. A more detailed report on their trip next week.

Mr. Loche and Mr. Lucas of the S.P. Bridge and Building are working in Ancho, repairing operator's quarters and the section foreman's house.

Charlie and Leslie VonFrank of Mooreland, Okla., were in Ancho for a short time last Thursday. They are old timers having filed on homesteads in 1922, just after World War I. Their homesteads are now part of the Frank Maxwell Ranch. They will be remembered by some of the older residents of Lincoln County.

Mrs. Rita Delgado, Angelita Arsenia, Tony and Tommy, also Angelita's children, visited Mrs. Maria Avila on Monday.

Mrs. Decederia Dominguez of Carrizo spent several days with her son, Ramon Aragon and family, in the Teclote community.

Mr. and Mrs. Arturo Samora and family and Mr. and Mrs. Elvido Lovato and family visited relatives and friends in Ancho Sunday.

Mrs. Vi Linley and her children of Las Cruces, were guests of Mrs. June Straley and family last Sunday. Both families attended the Kid's Rodeo at Three Rivers Sunday. Others from Ancho attending were Mr. and Mrs. George Straley, Tommy Dow, Nancy Knight and the T. Hobbs.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Stoneman, Glenn, Sammy and Lyn spent Sunday in Ruidoso with Mrs. Stoneman's sister, Mrs. Gladys Cline. They also made a trip to Carrizo on Monday. Clyde and Irene attended a bus drivers meeting.

Mrs. R. E. Risinger made a business trip to Albuquerque last Thursday. On Friday morning, her niece and family arrived from Texas at 3 a.m. for breakfast. This was a pleasant surprise for the Risingers and no inconvenience for Maud, as she was on duty at the S. P. depot.

Dr. Wm. T. Lytle, father of our Rev. Bill Lytle, visited Ancho while his son conducted Bible school here last week. We enjoyed Dr. Lytle's visit and he found the ruins of the old brick plant and its history interesting. Dr. Lytle is pastor of the First United Presbyterian Church of Homestead, Penna.

INSIDE CAPITAL

clo de Vargas of Rio Arriba sold insurance policies for $695, and Rep. Ralph Gallegos of Rio Arriba, another insurance agent, had business of $13, all of it during the Republican half of the year.

POLITICAL FIGURES

GOOD SALESMEN

Some new-on-the-scene political figures did better. Fats Leonard of Albuquerque, one of the big figures in the state administration, had total business of $71,000 through his garage, his insurance agency, and through a commission deal with a highway department supplier. Henry Hillson of Albuquerque was one of the biggest vendors selling cloth, cloth products and shoes to the state for $215,000, three-fourths of it during the Democratic half of the year. Gene Autry, Albuquerque and Santa Fe political figure flew high but briefly, selling the state $32,000 worth of various products before being plucked down by the governor. Jack Beatty of Albuquerque, one of the top level cliques in the administration, was not greedy. His Rocky Mountain Wholesale firm did a modest $8600 volume.

PORTALES PRINTER LEADS THE FIELD

Hugh Bishop, Portales printer, did $66,000 through the purchasing office and another $20-odd thousand through the legislature. He and Tom Summers of the Ward Anderson company of Albuquerque who had a total of around $60,000 were far ahead of all the others.

LITTLE KNOWN PINO MAKING TOP RECORD

One of the least conspicuous figures in the Simms' administration is making perhaps the best record of the entire new crowd. He is Dick Pino, head of the ports of entry and a Clint Anderson protege. His collections and reorganization of the division have been outstanding.

GOOD WORK IN RUIDOSO

Paper sacs are being distributed by Ruidoso Boy Scouts and filling stations in the Ruidoso area, to picnickers going into the forests. These sacs are pointedly adorned with stickers reading "Don't be a Litterbug" and "Prevent Forest Fires." The idea was developed by Ruidoso Forest Ranger Fred Swetnam and Conservation Officer Marlon Embrey, the latter a staff member of the Department of Game and Fish.

FISHERMEN SATISFIED

A letter of thanks comes from the Middletons of Evergreen Valley Ranch, Montezuma, for the fish that were planted there last week by the Department of Game and Fish. We quote: "All of our guests have stated that they do not mind the increase in price of license as long as they have a chance of catching a few fish at least."

RABBIT HUNTS

Jack rabbits provide excellent off-season hunting in New Mexico. They may be taken with high-powered rifles or 22's and the use of dogs is legal. From the conservation standpoint, seven to nine rabbits consume or

This Smoke Signal Spells Prosperity

Those living in a radius of 30 miles or so from the smokestack at the Chino Mines Division smelter in Hurlay look upon the 500-foot chimney as a business barometer. Smoke coming from the stack means 2,500 New Mexicans are at work drawing nearly $1,000,000 a month in wages — money which will be spent for the most part in New Mexico.

All over the state—even beyond sight of Chino—this smoke signal spells out a vital message. It means that Kennecott Copper Corporation, a major New Mexico industry, is paying taxes, providing jobs, buying supplies and equipment—doing the things which help create a better life for all of us.
