By PAUL BAKER

The dedication of the Smokey Bear Portals in Capitan on May 7 is attracting more and more interest as the date nears for the unveiling of the plaques.

Thirty more persons traveling highways in New Mexico are alive this April than April 23 last year, according to a report from the Governor's Traffic Safety Coordinating Committee.

From the State Game Department Newsletter: The Southwestern and Rocky Mountain Division of the American A&M for the Advancement of Science met in Santa Fe April 24-26.

In a paper on vegetation and soils of a small watershed in Arizona, Dr. Joel E. Fletcher outlined the vegetation changes that occurred as soil conditions deteriorated.

It's mighty gratifyin' tuh, to hear the good wife compliment my hotcakes—It sort of builds up the ego and keeps me in there pitchin'.

Foodie and Gilmore always get a couple of left-over cakes. Like males everywhere, Gilmore promptly eats his, but not Foodie.

In response to a request, here's a reprint of my Sunday morning flapjack recipe—complete with everything but the bicarbonate of soda:

To millions of Americans, a beef steak is a gustatory heaven. There is nothing new in this. Way back in the early 18th century, when Queen Anne was on the throne of England, beef steak clubs were organized, with the most famous men of the time as members.

In a recent age, in retail trade, beefsteaks are sold in the same manner as their relatives on rides at a wonderland process. This is certainly an indication that the Meat is rich in protein, and protein is a big factor in producing mental and physical vigor.

These are from an obsolete or cluttered traffic code but rules set up by an exhaustive study and enacted into law in 1953:

Surprisingly few people are aware of the ordinary traffic laws. Here are a few:

Pedestrians have the right-of-way over automobiles at intersections without traffic guides. (Discretion suggests that they shouldn't be too insistent on their rights.)

Pedestrians are required not only by good sense but by law to walk on the left side of highways, aren't allowed to walk on the roads at all if there is a sidewalk at the side.

The vehicle on the left has the right-of-way at intersections without traffic guides. Stop and turn signals must be given for 100 feet or more.

Drivers proceeding so slowly as to impede the normal movement of traffic are subject to arrest.

Drivers are required to pull to the side and stop upon being approached by a car sounding a siren, whistle or bell or flashing a red light.

Cars must be brought to a stop before emerging from an alley or a private driveway.

Cars in caravans or motorcades, except funerals, must travel at least 300 feet apart on rural roads.

A flashing red traffic light calls for a complete stop before proceeding.

Overtaking and passing is prohibited at an intersection or within 100 feet approaching an intersection.

Right turns on red lights are prohibited unless specifically noted.

And one more thing. The law says that all automobiles must have horns "but no horn or other warning device shall be used which does not produce a harmonious sound."

In all your time have you ever heard a horn, except those miniature pipe organs on a few cars, that produced a "harmonious sound"?

My 24-pound dictionary says harmonious, referring to sound, means "vocally or musically concordant; agreeably consonant; pleasant sounding; marked by harmony."

You know anybody with a horn like that?

WILL HARRISON'S INSIDE THE CAPITAL

MOST DRIVERS LAW VIOLATORS

SANTA FE, April 27—Do you have a brat in your life who pulls his hot rod up to the curb in front of your house and blats his horn for your child to come out and join him?

If it annoys you call the cops and have him arrested. The law says "the driver of a motor vehicle shall when reasonably necessary to insure safe operation give audible warning with his horn but shall not otherwise use such horn when upon a highway." (Highway means any public road.)

Does your wife leave the key in the car when she parks? Hah, next time she does it have her arrested too. And you can have her double arrested if she leaves the key and also fails to set the brake, triple arrested if she also leaves the motor running, like a certain lady of my acquaintance. It's all in the law.

THE COPS ALSO OUT OF LINE New Mexico is loaded with traffic laws, so many in fact that not only the sap citizens are in constant violation but also the police and licensing authorities.

For instance every bicycle is required to have a bell, or some other audible warning device other than a whistle or a siren. They may not be ridden at night without a light visible for 500 feet. Cowboys and other horse riders must keep their steeds off roadways used by motor traffic after dark. It's against the law to stand on the road right-of-way and thumb a ride. A cop who tries to summon you to court against your will at a time less than five days from the time of arrest for a minor traffic infraction is guilty of misconduct in office and subject to removal. No bus or truck of one-ton or more rating may over travel more than 50 miles an hour. TV sets are forbidden in the front compartment of automobiles but are legal in the back. It's against the law to disengage the clutch and coast down hill.

Ask of Congress Funds To Build Bonito Line

(From the Alamogordo News)

Prospects for the early completion of the projected Bonito water pipeline to Alamogordo and Holloman Air Development Center were brightened Saturday with the revelation that a $3,376,000 funds request for the work was contained in a recent budget request sent to Congress by the Army and Air Force.

Further brightening the picture was the statement by Sen. Dennis Chavez in Washington to an Associated Press reporter that he was "confident Congress would approve this or some other project to provide the needed water" for Alamogordo and the vital air development and research operations currently in progress in Holloman.

Testimony with regard to the budget request probably will be heard by House and Senate committees within the next few weeks, and it is expected that the appropriation will receive favorable consideration from Congress on completion of the hearings.

The request for the Bonito pipeline was contained in the Defense Department's $24-billion military construction authorization bill for the year beginning July 1, which was introduced early last week, and which contained requested appropriations of $16,809,509 to be spent in New Mexico.

Of that amount, a total of $4,965,000 was allocated to Holloman Air-Development Center.

Survey work on the pipeline's route has been in progress for some time now, and the entire project has been pressed toward completion with speed which a qualified observer has called unusual for a project of this type.

WHO CAN AFFORD TO MAKE HOME REPAIRS?

Actually, no homeowner can afford NOT TO. If he allows minor repair needs to grow into major ones, the value of his home—perhaps the largest single money investment of his lifetime—can depreciate severely. At best he will be faced with later, greater expense. If his present problem is not having enough ready cash to pay for labor and materials, he can apply for a Home Repair Loan.

Search YOUR home for signs of growing wear and tear. Get contractor's estimates on the cost of attending to them. Then let us figure the low cost of the Home Repair Loan that you require, to be repaid in convenient installments.

Set Up Tax Date On Gaming Devices

The Federal tax coin operated gaming devices must be paid by July 1, District S. F. Vidal of the Internal Revenue Service said this week. Amberg changes effected by Congress in its tax revisions last fall was the advance of the filing deadline date from July 31, to the new date.

The tax, $80 per machine per year, must be paid by the owner of the business at which the machine or machines are located. Another new requirement of the law makes it necessary that both returns and tax be in the hands of the Revenue Service before operation of the device is begun.

Form 11-B is the return required for pinball machines or other types of gaming devices included in the law. The tax applies whether machines themselves pay off automatically, or whether pay-off is made over the counter.

Consideration is being given to the organization of a Lions Club at White Sands, and a re-organization of the Captain club. Between 50 and 75 persons witnessed the awe-inspiring sight of the firing of one of the guided missiles used at Red Canyon Range Camp. With Lt. Col. McCarthy and Capt. Hogan as hosts, as well as guides, Ye Scrivenor left Red Canyon with a much broader sense of national security and a wider understanding of where the defense dollar is going. That particular missile broke the sound barrier in 2 1/2 seconds, and the white-hot booster dropped within 200 yards of spectators, giving everyone an added thrill. It is impossible to follow the missile itself with the naked eye. Mrs. Carlos Salas and baby have been visiting Mrs. Ruby Powelson the past week. Mr. Salas was here over the week end. Mr. and Mrs. Salas were former operators and caretakers at the C.C. It took Orene Crenshaw one hour and 20 minutes to drive from Durand to Vaughn in the dust storm occurring there Saturday. The road from Durand on to Fort Sumner was closed to all vehicles. Son Hancock and State Thompson stopped at the Crenshaw ranch en route back from El Paso where they had just won the fighting cock derby. Son Hancock was at one time one of the greatest of ropers and Thompson was a bronc stomper of no small ability. From horses to chickens! Am delighted to report that a most estimable gentleman, W. H. Baker, is now back at the home of his son, Paul B. Baker, publisher of L.C.N. Mr. Baker's confinement in the local hospital lasted about five weeks—too long—much too long! The next Quarter Horse show for the Leonard Dunning will be at the Santa Rosa Roundup, annually presented at Vernon, Texas by E. Paul Waggoner of the renowned Waggoner ranches, the last of this month. Happiest couple at the C. C. dance on Saturday night: Newlyweds Allene and Ernest Sultemeler of Corona.

The Crenshaw residence at White Oaks was like Grand Central Station on Sunday afternoon. Orene was kept busy watering not only carloads of people, but two busloads of Air Force boys from Holloman, there on a sight-seeing tour. Douglas Aircraft and Western Electric, combined are responsible for the type of guided missile used at Red Canyon Range Camp. Both companies have a force of instructors here at all times. In the writer's opinion, anyone who will poison an animal with strychnine should be classified as being among the meanest persons on earth, and even that classification is too good. If the person who would stoop to such a thing ever witnessed the agonizing suffering of such a death, it might not occur again. A phone call about 8:30 Sunday p.m. advised that the Hands-Across-the-Border contingent had just arrived at Mexico City. Amidst much laughing and chuckling, it was learned that activities began on Monday a.m. (Just as they hadn't already started!) Sadie Rolland has explained that she will come out of her semi-hibernation, once she is finished with her remodeling and redecorating. Wonder if Spence Devitt ever found anyone to accept his car to take four or five boys to Explorer's Camp at Portales on the 15th and 16th of this month. A most delightful house guest of Sharon and Joe Sargent this past week, was Barbara Scarbrough of San Francisco. At the present time, Barbara is with American Air Lines in charge of Controls. An accomplished musician, Barbara played with the San Francisco Symphony for two seasons and was in concert work throughout California for several years. Her love of flying brought about the change in career. Barbara and Sharon were roommates in El Paso, when both were living there. It is amazing to hear Barbara tell of flying from El Paso to Albuquerque to have lunch at the airport, thence back to El Paso and to work! Hats off to a most tremendous gal, whose keen intellect is matched only by her radiant charm and courage. Artist and writer John Meigs was in town one night last week, a guest at a dinner party honoring Barbara Scarbrough. John is now in California where some of his paintings are on exhibit, but he expects to be back here within one month. It is anticipated that he may be commissioned to do a mural at the Mill Iron Livery Three. Pocos Nuevas: Adios.

D. 1955, and to pay interest thereon at the rate of ... per annum, payable semi-annually on the 1st day of October and the 1st day of April each year, as indicated on the coupon attached to this bond.

(The following paragraph shall be inserted in bonds maturing in the years 1964 to 1984, inclusive.) This bond is redeemable at the option of said Town on April 1, 1963, and interest payment dates thereafter, upon payment of principal, accrued interest and a premium of 3% of principal, provided, that bonds of this issue called for payment prior to maturity shall be paid in inverse numerical order, after thirty (30) days' notice of call, as provided in the Ordinance hereinbefore mentioned.

Payment of this bond and the interest thereon shall be made solely from, and as security for such payment, there is pledged a special fund created by Ordinance No. 65, adopted by the Board of Trustees of said Town, and approved by the Mayor thereof, on the 28th day of April, A. D. 1955, identified as "Waterworks Operation Fund," into which the Town of Carrizozo covenants to pay, from the revenues to be derived from the operation of its entire waterworks system, after provision only for all reasonable expenses of maintenance and operation as provided in said Ordinance, sums sufficient to pay, when due, the principal of and interest on the bonds of the series of which this is one, and the Town of Carrizozo agrees with the holder of this bond and with each and every person who may become the holder hereof that it will keep and perform all the covenants of said Ordinance.

This bond is payable and collectible solely from the revenues derived from the operation of the waterworks system of said Town, and the holder of this bond may not look to any general or other fund for the payment of the principal of or interest on this obligation, other than the fund containing the net income to be derived from the operation of said waterworks system, which said net income shall be paid into the aforesaid Waterworks Operation Fund.

This bond is issued for the purpose of improving and extending the waterworks system of said Town and is issued in strict compliance with the Constitution and laws of the State of New Mexico, and particularly under the terms and provisions of Article 35, Chapter 14 of the New Mexico Statutes, 1941, as amended, and all other laws thereto enabling.

It is hereby certified that all the conditions, acts and things required by the Constitution and laws of the State of New Mexico to exist, to have happened and to have been performed, precedent to and in the issuance of this bond, exist, have happened and have been performed; and that the issue of bonds of which this is one is within every limitation prescribed by the Constitution and laws of said State.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the Town of Carrizozo, New Mexico, has caused this bond to be signed by its Mayor, sealed with its corporate seal, attested by the Clerk, and the coupons hereon annexed to be signed with the facsimile signature of the Town Treasurer, as of the 1st day of April, A. D. 1955.

(Seal) Mayor, Attest: Clerk.

(Form of Coupon) No. 1 $1000 April, 1955 On the 1st day of October, A. D. 1955, (unless the bond to which this coupon is attached has been called for prior redemption) the Town of Carrizozo, in the County of Lincoln and State of New Mexico, will pay to the bearer the sum of ... DOLLARS in lawful money of the United States of America, at the First National Bank, in Albuquerque, New Mexico, solely from the Fund designated in the bond to which this coupon is attached, being the semi-annual interest on its Water Revenue Bond dated April 1, A. D. 1955, bearing No. ... (Facsimile Signature) Town Treasurer.

(This clause to be inserted in coupons maturing October 1, 1963, and thereafter.) Section 5. That the bonds herein authorized shall be sold for cash, at not less than par, and shall be delivered to Lucas, Eisen & Waackler, of Kansas City, Missouri. The proceeds of the bonds shall be deposited in a special trust account in a bank which is a member of the Federal Reserve System and of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, and shall be withdrawn only on the written approval of the construction engineer in charge of the work, and only for the purpose of extending and improving said waterworks system. Neither the original nor copies of said bonds nor the subsequent holder of any of them shall be responsible for the application of said proceeds or any part thereof.

Section 6. The principal of and interest on said bonds shall be payable solely out of the revenues to be derived by the Town from the operation of its water system as specified in this Ordinance, but the term, "water system" as herein used, shall include not only the property comprising said water system at the present time, but all additions and betterments thereto and improvements and extensions hereafter constructed or acquired by the Town.

Section 7. The Town hereby creates and establishes, and so long as any of said bonds remain outstanding, it will maintain a Fund to be known as the "Waterworks Operation Fund," to be kept separate and apart from all other funds of the Town, which Fund shall contain all of the revenue to be derived by the Town from the operation of its water system. Such revenue shall be deposited in a special trust account in a bank which is a member of the Federal Reserve System and of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. Except as herein provided, the owners and holders of said Revenue Bonds shall have a first and prior lien on said revenues and Fund. Such revenues are hereby irrevocably pledged for the following purposes and shall be disbursed in the following order:

(a) For all necessary and proper costs and expenses of the efficient and economical operation and maintenance of said water system, including insurance and bank charges.

(b) For the prompt payment of the interest on and the principal of said Water Revenue Bonds when and as the same shall become due and payable, respectively. For this purpose the Town shall withdraw from said Waterworks Operation Fund and deposit with said The First National Bank, Albuquerque, New Mexico, each month, commencing as of April 1, 1955, not less than one-sixth of the total interest due on said bonds on the next interest paying date, and commencing not later than April 1, 1956, not less than one-twelfth of the next installment of principal due on said bonds. In addition, there shall be deposited in a reserve fund in the Otero County State Bank, Alamogordo, New Mexico, each month, 20% of said amounts of principal and interest until the total amount in such reserve fund shall be not less than $5,000.00. Money in the reserve may be used for the payment of principal of or interest on said bonds, but if so used the amount thereof shall be restored at the earliest opportunity, the intent being that the reserve shall be maintained at $5,000.00 until that amount is sufficient to pay all outstanding bonds of said issue and interest thereon. Moneys in the reserve may be invested in direct obligations of the United States of America, maturing prior to the final maturity of the bonds authorized herein.

(c) For the payment of obligations, if any, having a lien on said revenues.

(d) Any remaining revenues may be used for improvements to or extensions of said water system, or for the redemption of said bonds prior to maturity or for the purchase (hereof in the open market at a price which shall not exceed 103% of principal, or placed in said reserve fund.

The revenues of said system shall not be used for any purpose other than those hereinabove specified until said bonds and the interest thereon shall be paid in full, or funds are on deposit therefor.

Section 8. The Town hereby further irrevocably covenants and agrees with each and every holder of said Revenue Bonds, issued under the provisions of this Ordinance, that so long as any of said bonds remain outstanding:

(a) It will continue to operate and manage its water system in an efficient and economical manner and keep and maintain separate accounts of the receipts and expenses thereof in such manner that the revenue thereof, payable into said Waterworks Operation Fund, may at all times be readily and accurately determined.

(b) It will, through appropriate action of its Board of Trustees, establish, maintain and enforce rates and charges for water services furnished by said system sufficient to insure the payments, deposits, and accumulations required by the provisions of this Ordinance.

(c) It will not sell or alienate any of the property comprising any part, or all of its water system, or any of the extensions or betterments thereof, in any manner or to any extent as might reduce the security provided for the payment of said Revenue Bonds, but the Town may sell any portion of such property which shall have been replaced by other similar property of at least equal value, or which shall cease to be necessary for the efficient operation of said system; provided, however, that in the event of any sale or sales, as aforesaid, where the aggregate consideration exceeds the sum of $500, such consideration shall be paid into said Waterworks Operation Fund, and shall be used for the purposes of said Fund.

(d) That so long as any of said bonds remain outstanding, proper books of record and account shall be kept by the Town, separate and apart from all other records and accounts, showing complete and correct entries of all transactions relating to the system, and that the holders of any of the bonds, or any duly authorized agent or agents of such holders, shall have the right at all reasonable times to inspect all records, accounts and data relating thereto and to inspect the system and all properties comprising said system. The Town shall furnish said Lucas, Eisen & Waackler, quarterly, statements showing in detail the receipts and disbursements of said system during the three next preceding months. The Town further agrees that it will, within sixty days following the close of each fiscal year, cause an audit of such books and accounts to be made by a competent registered accountant, showing the receipts and disbursements of the system, such audit to be available for inspection by the holders of any of said bonds. Each such audit, in addition to whatever matters may be thought proper by the accountant to be included therein, shall include the following:

(1) A statement in detail of the income and expenditures of the system for such fiscal year.

(2) A balance sheet as of the end of such fiscal year.

(3) The accountant's comment regarding the manner in which the Town has carried out the requirements of this Ordinance, and the accountant's recommendation for any change or improvement in the operation of the system.

(4) A list of the insurance policies in force at the end of the fiscal year, setting out as to each policy the amount of the policy, the risks covered, the name of the insurer and the expiration date of the policy.

(5) The number of water customers at the end of the year.

All expenses incurred in the preparation of said statements and audits required by this section shall be regarded and paid as an expense of maintenance and operation. After the close of each fiscal year, the Town shall furnish a copy of each such audit to said Lucas, Eisen & Waackler, of Kansas City, Missouri, and, on written request, to the holder of any of said bonds.

(e) It will carry workmen's compensation, public liability and other forms of insurance on insurable water properties, in such amounts as will protect said water system, and its operation and in such amounts as would ordinarily be carried by a private utility owning property of equal value.

(f) It will furnish no free water service and if it elects to use water services for municipal purposes it will budget and appropriate amounts to pay therefor at the same rate as is charged other consumers for like or similar service.

(g) It will render bills for water and services each month and such bills shall become delinquent on the 10th day of the month next succeeding the month in which the service is furnished. If bills be not paid within 30 days after becoming delinquent, water and water service shall be shut off from the delinquent property.

Section 9. That nothing in this Ordinance shall be construed in such manner as to prevent the issuance by the Town of additional bonds payable from the income derived from the operation of the system; provided, however, that while any of the bonds authorized by this Ordinance are outstanding, the Town shall not issue any additional bonds payable from the income of the system and having a lien on such income on a parity with the lien of the bonds herein authorized, unless the revenues of the system for each of the two fiscal years immediately preceding such issuance, shall have been equal, after the deduction of the reasonable expenses of operation and maintenance, to an amount not less than 100% of the combined maximum principal and interest charges on the bonds authorized herein in any year during the term thereof, and on the proposed bonds in any year during their term.

In the event that any of the bonds authorized herein should be refunded, the lien of such refunding bonds shall be on a parity with the lien of the bonds refunded.

Nothing herein shall prevent the issuance of bonds having a lien on said revenues junior and inferior to the lien of the bonds authorized herein, provided, however, that the Town is not in default in the payment of bonds authorized herein or interest thereon, and that all of the requirements of this Ordinance have been fully and promptly met, including the establishment and maintenance of said reserve.

Section 10. All costs and expenses incurred in connection with improving and extending said waterworks system, and the issuance and payment of bonds and interest thereon, including bank charges, as provided by this Ordinance, shall be paid exclusively from the revenues of said system, and in no event shall any such costs or expenses be paid out of or charged to the general funds or tax levies of said Town, except that the Town shall pay for municipal service as hereinbefore provided.

Section 11. Said bonds and the interest coupons thereon attached shall be negotiable instruments within the negotiable instruments law of the State of New Mexico.

Section 12. That if any part of this Ordinance shall be judicially adjudged unconstitutional, invalid or unenforceable, such judgment shall not affect, impair or invalidate the remaining provisions of this Ordinance, it being the intention to make all parts of this Ordinance severable.

Section 13. That all ordinances or parts of ordinances inconsistent or in conflict herewith are hereby repealed.

Section 14. That after the issuance of said Revenue Bonds this Ordinance shall be and remain irrevocable until said bonds and the interest thereon shall have been fully paid, satisfied and discharged as herein provided.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, this Ordinance was adopted by the affirmative vote of three-fourths of all the members of the Board of Trustees of the Town of Carrizozo, New Mexico, and after due examination, approved by the Mayor of said Town, attested by the Clerk and the corporate seal of said Town affixed, on this 26th day of April, 1955.

EXPLORING THE BAD LANDS

Research in the Carrizozo lava flow by Dr. Lora Mangum Shields, of Highlands University, is discussed in the May issue of New Mexico Magazine. Dr. Shields, in an article titled "Exploring the Bad Lands," reports on her investigations made possible by a research grant from the National Science Foundation to study plant nitrogen sources.

Her article follows:

Until Highway 380 extended westward toward Socorro about twenty-five years ago, the only crossing over the Carrizozo lava flow north of Oscura was the rough, single-track natural wagon road across two and one-half miles of bare bedrock. A military detachment was once attached along this crossing at a site visited until recently by relic hunters.

The surface of the bad lands then, as now, was so rugged that a mule could find its way across in only a few places. The lava forms a jet black stripe down the brown-green of the surrounding alkaline plain with only an occasional clump of grass or cacti to relieve the unbroken dark color. Soil formation and accumulation proceeded slowly, apparently gaining momentum only in recent years.

A research grant from the National Science Foundation had made trips from Las Vegas to the lava beds possible — there to study plant nitrogen sources.

Besides an April visit with several student biologists, I made three additional trips into the lava flow during June and August, each time accompanied by my son Bill, who was a medical student home for the summer, and twice also by a graduate student in biology. To advance half a mile in a forward direction within the lava, it is often necessary to travel several miles from side to side and occasionally even backward. Actually, nobody walks within the malpais for more than a few steps. You climb alternately up and down, both equally difficult. The going was the more treacherous on the first three trips because we were not appropriately shod; our bare ankles vulnerably exposed to snakebite and turning or striking on sharp rock edges time and again.

LEAF SAMPLES COLLECTED On the second trip, Bill and I collected leaf and soil samples from the east margin below the cone up to the crater itself. Stopping on the first ledge of rocks to apply insecticide, made necessary by June gnats which buzz about the ears and drink from the eyes, we caught sight of the head and a fraction of the length of a broad, diamond-back — a few feet away, flattened and unmoving on a sunny basalt rock. We wondered how many others we might have passed in the last two days.

I was reminded of having promised a last year's class, which was interested in the diet of a rattlesnake kept in the laboratory, that if someone would bring a living mouse he might feed the snake. The next day when a student appeared with a mouse, the glass-enclosed snake cage was placed on a demonstration table in the center of the laboratory, and thirty-six students stood by in breathless suspense until the snake struck and gradually swallowed its victim.

"As your instructor in biology, I am a little envious of the snake," I remarked to a nearby student as I stood on the periphery of the group. "I have never been able to get the undivided attention of so large a number of the class." "By swallowing a mouse, you could," the student answered.

CABIN IN THE MAL PAIS Approximately a quarter of a mile within the lava flow west of Carrizozo, Bill and I came upon a dirt road which leads to the north off Highway 380 for several miles, terminating at a roughly circular kipuoka, beside a deserted one-room malpais cabin on a lava hill. Constructed as a Civil Conservation Corps project in the early 1930's, the road is much too rough for travel by rubber-tired vehicles, with the possible exception of a jeep. The malpais cabin, according to local legend, was built by a rancher in the 1920's for one of his goatherds. The southern third of the lava flow, extending below Oscura, is now restricted in connection with operations at Holloman Air Base and White Sands Proving Ground. Obtaining special permission to enter, we spent a Sunday in late August on either side of the southern extension of the malpais. We were half a day at Malpais Spring, which emerges from a crevice in the lava, a mile and a half to the northwest of the southern tip. The pool formed where the spring bubbles from the crevice in the lava is elliptical in outline and about forty by sixty feet at its widest and longest points. Issuing from the basalt rock at a rate of several second-feet, the water is so salty and highly mineralized as to be unfit for human use or for cattle except in extreme necessity. Water escapes from the pool by three divergent streams, two of which shortly disappear into the earth, but one which spreads into a marshland grown up thickly with cattails and sedge.

ALTO BRIEFS

(AILEEN HALEY LINDAMOOD)

L. S. (Heavy) Drake stopped by the Alto store Saturday morning with a big smile on his face. The reason of course was what he saw in the way of construction on Highway 37. Through his efforts in maintaining car counters from the Ruidoso Airport to Alto in the summer of 1953 he really proved how badly the road needed paving.

When Mr. Drake met with the Highway Commissioners in September, 1953, he amazed them with the amount of traffic over this road. There were 45,000 cars over the counters during June, July and August. (We all know only brave tourists attempt the trip from Ruidoso to Alto and thousands turn back at the end of the pavement at the airport.) After "Heavy" proved to them our need for a paved road through here they approved and set up the present road program for Highway 37 in July of 1954.

MAL PAIS

FISH IN MAL PAIS SPRING

The fish in the pool at Malpais Spring, less than two inches in length at maturity, are considered to be descended from marine forms, hangers from the time when this area was a part of the ocean floor.

Being relatively inaccessible to man for most of its length, the lava flow has become a refuge for animals which originally were characteristic of the surrounding area. Made further uninviting by numerous rattlesnakes, the lava is the site of no hunters' or trappers' camps, and the local citizenry in general avoid going into the malpais for any unnecessary purpose, though discarded gun shells along the dirt road to the malpais cabin indicate roadside hunting. The lava flow is populated with rabbits, coyotes, badgers, skunks and ring-tailed cats. While collecting within the lava, smaller mammals which came conspicuously to our attention were the white-throated woodrat, antelope chipmunk, rock squirrels and various mice. Deer are a common sight toward the northern end of the younger lava flow.

Particularly during deer season, they drift in from surrounding areas to the relatively protected sphere of the lava. It is said that in earlier days when ranchers cut hay beside the malpais, bobcats sometimes came down from the lava and robbed their camps of provisions.

In early November I was assailed by doubts as to the completeness of our collecting on the four previous trips. Two parts of the lava I wished to cover more thoroughly—the west margin north of Highway 380 and the Lower Willows Crossing. Since the family car went east with the medical student in September, I went by bus to Carrizozo on November 2, relying upon the hospitality of friendly citizenry.

Much risk is involved when one or two adults venture into the lava. No less than three should go together, taking along the medical student once suggested, a makeshift stretcher for possible cases of twisted ankles, broken bones or snakebite. For one person to go alone is downright foolhardy. Yet, the changing cycles of nature dictate the activities of the biologist, and the approaching close of a growing season sends the naturalist out to collect while he may.

Knowing that this one weekend probably represented the last opportunity for collecting before frost, I braced my courage for the initial trial—facing down curious spectators in bus stations who stared at my unconventional attire, which included a safari hat from the North African campaign (contributed by a student) and red, laced rubber boots.

Arriving in Carrizozo in mid-afternoon, the first problem was to arrange to reach the extreme northern tip of the lava early the next day in order to hike from that point back to Highway 380, collecting and photographing on the way.

My friend, Mrs. Snow, of Carrizozo, suggested that since the Lincoln County sheriff patrolled the north end of the malpais that I should contact his office.

Accordingly, I gave myself up to the law. The sheriff obligingly had one of his deputies deposit me early the next morning at the west margin of the extreme northern extension of the younger lava flow. It was the sheriff's suggestion that in case I did not report to their office sometime that night that a posse should be sent out next day to make a search. The next day, however, marked the beginning of deer season, when the entire town is evacuated of men, and a biologist missing in the lava flow could hardly have interrupted the activity characteristic of that time of the year.

Fruit Growers to Meet May 2 in Hondo

An important meeting of the fruit growers will be held May 2 at the Hondo High School. At this time, several matters in relation to the shed will be discussed. Also, each grower could bring an estimate on the frost damage to his fruit crop.

Carl Hall, Agricultural Economist from State College, was in Hondo Valley most of last week making a survey of fruit prices received by the growers through the different market channels.

This is the time of year that the fruit grower keeps his eyes constantly on the thermometer and hopes no frost comes. He will sit up half the night or early morning watching the thermometer, wondering whether smudging or spraying with water will help save the fruit. Frost was noted on the nights of April 19 and 20, and the fruit growers are still unsure of the total damage done by the frost. A. T. Pfingsten reported 20°F, and several others near him the same.

Aphid Attacks Alfalfa in Hondo Valley Fields

The aphid on alfalfa has become a major problem on the alfalfa fields in the Hondo Valley area. The aphid caused serious damage to alfalfa in the Pecos and Rio Grande Valleys last year and still is doing more damage.

No insecticide has been fully effective in controlling this sucking insect that thrives on the leaves, basal stems, and roots of the alfalfa. The presence of the aphid makes it exceedingly hard to establish a new stand of alfalfa and it reduces the vigor of an old stand. Growers are using Malathion and Benzene Hexachloride with varied results. Some growers are trying diesel fuel in the spray. At present, Malathion seems to be giving better control than Benzene Hexachloride, but even that is not too good. Parathion can also be used, but the grower should use proper precautions.

It should be here noted that Benzene Hexachloride or Malathion should not be used on alfalfa that is to be fed to cattle, as it will cause a peculiar taste to both milk and meat.

Farmers in the Pecos Valley are trying diesel fuel in the irrigation water and even burning to control the green aphid.

4-H PROJECTS STARTED

I went on a tour of some of the 4-H projects during the week and several boys and girls have gotten off to a good start on fattening their calves. Competition is likely to be keen at the county achievement day September 3, in Capitan. A large showing of lambs is anticipated at the achievement day.

Consider Emergency Feed Program

The drought committee met on Friday, April 22, to consider an emergency feed program. The committee recommended that the program be reinstated until July 1, 1955. Conditions in the county have deteriorated in the last month, and the Corona area is especially hard hit. Without assistance, many ranchers will be unable to continue the operation of their livestock.

Anhydrous Ammonia May Be Applied Early

Anhydrous ammonia applied in late January supplies nitrogen to cotton on Gila fine sandy loam as effectively as that applied just before or after planting, says M. R. Paek, assistant agronomist at the Agricultural Experiment Station, New Mexico A&M College.

Paek bases his conclusion on tests made on the James F. Cole farm, west of Berino, N. M., in 1954. The ammonia was applied at the rate of 100 pounds to the acre at five different times, ranging from January 22 to July 21. The July 21 applications were sidedressed. Earlier applications were drilled into the soil at 1½ foot intervals. The cotton variety used was 1517C.

Seed cotton yields, in pounds per acre, by date of fertilizer application, were as follows: no fertilizer, 1320; January 22, 1730; February 23, 1660; April 1, 1750; split (½ on April 1, ½ on July 21), 1500; and July 21, 1480.

Paek says that the low yields from the plots fertilized late in the season were caused partly by uneven stand on a few of the plots, but that July applications were probably too late to give the full benefit of the fertilizer.

He points out that heavier soils than that on which he made the tests should retain ammonia even better, and they should respond just as well to early applications.

Anhydrous ammonia should not be applied to dry soil, Paek warns. The best soil moisture content is about the same as would be considered desirable for most tillage operations. Moisture is necessary to react with the gaseous ammonia and prevent its loss into the atmosphere. Because of this, it may be necessary to delay anhydrous ammonia application until after irrigation.

Paek has reported this experiment in Agricultural Experiment Station Press Bulletin No. 1135, "When to Apply Anhydrous to Cotton." Single copies may be obtained free of charge from county extension agents.

Mineral Shortage May Cause Chewing

When cattle mysteriously develop the habit of chewing on the barndoor or the nearby fence post, it's more than a habit; there's usually a reason for it. So says the American Veterinary Medical Association.

Veterinary research has indicated there may be a shortage of certain minerals in the ration fed the cattle. In most cases the wood chewing would stop if trace minerals and steamed bonemeal were given.

Salt also is a mineral that must be supplied constantly in the ration. But animals not getting salt regularly may take too much. This will often cause an animal to scour and go off feed, and causes the death of many swine, the Association says.

Pneumonia Said to Be Top Calf Killer

Pneumonia continues to be one of the major killers of young calves, according to the American Veterinary Medical Association.

Many cases of pneumonia can be prevented, however, the AVMA reports. Avoiding infected quarters is of prime importance. Proper feeding along

Use Reflective Lights On Farm Equipment

If there's a chance you'll be driving or towing equipment on the highway after dark, be sure it is adequately lighted at the rear. Farmers should equip unlighted farm machines with reflective materials to supplement regular lighting provided by equipment manufacturers.

Many serious, and sometimes fatal, accidents occur when fast-moving trucks or automobiles crash into the rear of slow-moving tractors or towed equipment. In these accidents, the unprotected driver of the tractor almost invariably is seriously injured or killed. The automobile or truck driver does not often escape injury, either. Reflective materials on the rear of the equipment can prevent these unnecessary tragedies.

The Farm Division of the National Safety Council has undertaken a reflective lighting program aimed at equipping with reflective materials unlighted equipment now on farms. The "Lite-Farm-Equipment" safety project is sponsored by state farm safety committees with the cooperation of 4-H Clubs and other rural youth groups.

with well bedded, draft-free quarters are also essential for prevention.

Losses from this disease may be kept down by prompt treatment by a veterinarian. Early and proper administration of some of the newer drugs and medicines will save many calves, but the Association points out that the calves may be left in a weakened condition.

"History of Liberty"

"The history of liberty is the history of governmental power, not the increase of it," said the late President Woodrow Wilson. Ever since civilization began, men have had to fight for freedom against all-powerful, oppressive states. And, since the Wilson era, such states have reached new zeniths of dictatorship and tyranny.

Many say that cannot happen here, in our own country. But the lesson of history is that it can happen anywhere and will happen—unless the people and their representatives are forever on guard against any avoidable extension of the power of government.

New Mexico's Share in Road Building Program

Washington, April 20. — New Mexico's federal aid highway building program will be more than doubled during the next ten years under the terms of legislation implementing the administration's expanded federal aid proposal, now under consideration by the Roads Subcommittee of both the Senate and House Public Works Committees. Matching funds to be put up by the state, however, will be slightly less than required under this year's program. The increase in funds is entirely federal.

Analysis of the administration bill shows that New Mexico will have a ten-year federal-aid construction program totaling $375 million, or $37.5 million annually, as compared to $17.6 million this year. Under the matching provisions in the bill New Mexico would put up $6.1 million per year, as compared to the present requirement of $0.3 million a year. It is the most liberal and comprehensive federal aid program thus far offered and appears to be gaining favor with the Congress.

While other bills have been introduced, none of them appears to be as advantageous to New Mexico as the administration measure. The $375 million program proposed for the state would include the same amount of funds for the primary, secondary and urban categories of federal aid highways as now provided by the federal government. At the same time federal aid for the Interstate System of 1013 miles would be increased so that the State Highway Department's planned improvement for those roads could be carried to completion.

This will give us four-lane highways throughout the entire Interstate System, which includes Highway 86, north and south, Highway 66 east and west in the central part of the state and Highways 70-80 east and west in the south part of New Mexico. It will also release for other use funds that ordinarily would be devoted to primary highways on the Interstate system.

Passage of this legislation by the Congress will give New Mexico's economy a much-needed boost. In addition to the construction provided, which will reduce our unemployment toll, it will serve to increase tourist travel in the state materially.

From the nation-wide standpoint the expanded highway building program for the ten-year period is regarded by the Department of Defense as well as by officials of the Civil Defense Administration as being imperative to requirements for emergency transportation and the expeditious evacuation of civilian populations from the congested areas in event of attack.

"I don't know the style or color of shoes, but I want lace heels," the tall blonde told the salesgirl. "To wear with what?" "A short, fat, elderly executive."

A farmer walked into the office of one of the great life insurance companies and said he wished to insure his barn and a couple of haystacks.

"What facilities have you for extinguishing a fire in your village?" inquired the salesman.

The farmer scratched his head and pondered over the matter for a little while. Then he answered: "Well, it sometimes rains."

Seek to Control Insects Destroying Timberlands

Albuquerque — Tiny insects which could congregate on your thumbnail — have in the past decade destroyed 98 million board feet of timber in New Mexico and Arizona National Forests.

Their invasion has spread to an additional 516-million board feet of Federal timber in the two States, which is not yet a total loss but which will be unless preventative measures are taken.

A committee of Federal, State and private timber officials sets the amount of timber ultimately threatened by the inroads of wood-killing insects at more than 3 1/2 billion board feet for Arizona and New Mexico alone.

Those figures reflect only the present and prospective losses to National Forest lands.

In addition, the bugs — notably the little spruce budworm — have done unmeasurable damage to private and State-owned timber and threaten to destroy the recreational value of some of the prime beauty spots in the two Southwestern States.

In an effort to study and halt the inroads of the insects on timber resources a varied group of companies, colleges and Federal and State agencies have banded together. Among the groups making up the Southwest Forest Pest Study Committee are Arizona and New Mexico State colleges and universities; the Federal Indian, Land Management, Forest Service, Soil Conservation Service; New Mexico Land Offices; and ten private companies and pine associations.

Though no figures are available for the private and State-owned timber destroyed by insects, the committee estimates a total of 1 1/2 billion board feet of lumber has been killed by the pests in the ten years between 1924 and 1932.

That equals half of all the timber cut in Arizona and New Mexico each year and is considerably more than the amount of timber lost to other causes — including much publicized forest fires.

There is no measuring in dollars or board feet how much damage the various types of forest-killing insects have done in destroying new trees or in ruining beauty spots, the committee said.

Taking much of the blame for devastation of national forests in Arizona and New Mexico is the spruce budworm or, if you can pronounce it, choristoneura fumiferana — a long name for a nasty little bug. The spruce budworm is held responsible for 97 million board feet of the 98 million killed in the two States on Federal land, primarily in the Carson and Santa Fe National Forests in New Mexico.
