

RAMBLIN' AROUND

By PAUL BAKER

Mrs. Helena LaMay writes of an interesting incident in the life of the late Jim Lafferty, as follows:

At the time that Jim Lafferty was a cowboy for the Block Ranch, it was the custom for the cowboys to "ride the river" looking for strays and branding calves. The river, being the Honda, Bonita and Ruidoso valleys.

It was Jim's custom to keep candy and chewing gum in his chaps' pockets to give to the little boys and girls he encountered. The kids were helpful in return; opening and shutting gates as needed and holding dogs in the yards; even saving his life.

He had been south of the Honda near Pecho and was bringing back a bunch of cattle. When he came up to the river he saw that there was a flood in it. He decided it was the head of the flood and if he hurried he could get the cattle across safely.

Most of the cattle went across, but one calf didn't want to go into the water. By the time he got the calf started it had become quite a flood.

He was almost across when a rock hit his horse's feet and knocked him down. Jim was thrown loose and washed down the stream. The current banged him up against the bank, where he grabbed hold of the first thing he could see. It was a broom weed and very apt to pull loose.

The banks were steep and he knew it was a long way to a place he could get out. His chaps and boots were heavy with water and he thought every second his would be swept on down stream.

He thought he was hearing things when he heard a small voice say, "Como ti hay ldo, Jeemy?" Looking up he saw a most welcome pair of big brown eyes peering at him over the bank.

"Correle, muchacho, para su papa y un cabresto! Andele! Pronto!"

The little boy tore off like a whirlwind. It seemed ages to Jim but it was just a short time until he was back with his father and the rope, and helped Jim out of the water.

"Now," Jim said, "I can tell you how I am. Thank you very much, I am fine. When you asked me I was worried."

The old time blast bang Fourth of July celebration has pretty much disappeared and maybe it's just as well. Autos and good roads have changed the habits of the American people.

Half of them stay home on holidays, while the other half think nothing of driving a hundred miles or more to other parts of the State. Time was when three or four towns in the county held Fourth of July celebrations, starting with a salute at dawn, patriotic speeches, racing for all, baseball and a big dance at night.

This Fourth of July, 1955, there was horse racing at Ruidoso Downs, a Mesquero tribal celebration, a rodeo at Clouderot and a fireworks display at White Sands.

Those who stayed at home hoped it would rain and those who were sponsoring the above events hoped it wouldn't. Rain and wind and fireworks won't mix as was proved at White Sands Monday night.

A driving sandstorm blew down the set pieces as fast as they could be put up and then came the rain that soaked and made useless "The Rocket City Welcomes You."

The Flag, and The Indian and His Bow and Arrow. A tarpaulin kept the powder dry on some of the less spectacular fireworks. I am reminded of a Fourth of July celebration I attended at Ennis, Mont., many years ago, with the Whitehall town band which was engaged to furnish the music for the day.

My uncle, Rolla Baird, played the baritone and I was a beginner on the clarinet. The band did pretty well in spite of my sour notes. The only trouble was that it was during prohibition and some members of the band had to be rounded up from a nearby speakeasy before the next number could begin.

This pageant is based on episodes in the life of Billy the Kid during the Lincoln County War in the year 1878.

Plenty of food and soft drinks will be available on the grounds all day Sunday, August 7. The performance on Saturday evening will be staged especially for the military personnel of the area, including Roswell, Alamogordo and El Paso. However, everybody is invited to attend.

Rehearsal July 12

All residents from every part of Lincoln County are urged to try out for parts in the annual Billy the Kid pageant sponsored by the Lincoln County Historical Society in Lincoln.

The first rehearsal is to be held on the pageant grounds in Lincoln July 12, in connection with a picnic supper.

"We'll gather around the good old coffee pot at 6:30 that evening," states committee chairman Ofelia Salas. "Come on, neighbors, let's all get into the act," she urges. "We need you! Bring your lunch, the coffee is here, and everyone is welcome!"

Three Navy AWOLs Taken From Freight Train in Carrizozo

Three youths, AWOL from the Navy, were arrested in Carrizozo at 8:45 a.m. Wednesday. They were taken from an incoming SP freight train by Clyde Atwood, Carrizozo marshal, Deputy Sheriff Albert Vega and four sheriff's deputies, Vernon Petty, Fay Hankey, Friday Sherrill, and District Game Warden Marion Embrey.

The youths, identified as L. W. McIntyre, R. Smith and J. V. Carter had escaped from a restricted barracks at White Sands Proving Ground. They stole a car for transportation into Alamogordo, where they boarded the freight train, according to Sheriff Wm. Glen Bradley.

Train officials halted the freight train at the entrance to the yards in Carrizozo to enable a search. The men were found by the officers in a box car, sixth from the rear of the train, and came out of the car when ordered to surrender by Officer Atwood. A handbag in their possession contained two stolen automatics.

The AWOL youths were held in Carrizozo until Alby Webb, of the Navy police, returned them to White Sands.

known statewide and nationally as "Santa Fe-itis," ascribed to the water.

"Water," said one of the leaders of the opposition, "which makes the visitors to Santa Fe temporarily ill is certainly a more serious problem for the city to solve at this time."

Chamber of Commerce Meeting Thursday

Services Friday for World War II Veteran

Services for Mike Peralta, 49, World War II veteran, will be held Friday morning at 9 o'clock at Sacred Heart Church in Carrizozo.

For the past 31 days he had been a patient at the Veterans Hospital in Albuquerque. His death occurred there July 4.

Requiem Mass will be recited by Rev. George Boenigghausen. Burial will be in the Capitan cemetery, with the Shaw Mortuary in charge of arrangements.

Assisting in the services will be a military detail from the Red Canyon Range Camp. Mike Peralta was a survivor of the Bataan Death March. Comrades passed away in his arms during that terrifying ordeal and the brutality he received during the march and in a Japanese prison afterwards, completely broke down his health.

He was born March 2, 1906, in Capitan, the son of Nicholas and Leonor Peralta.

He is survived by his widow, Flora, and several children.

Santa Fe Judge Dismisses Writ on Bonito Transfer

District Judge David Carmody on Wednesday dismissed a writ of prohibition restraining the State Engineer from action on applications to transfer Bonito water rights to Alamogordo and other communities on the west side of the Sacramento mountains.

Alamogordo was represented in Wednesday's case by Attorney Daniel E. Brenton; Carrizozo by Attorney E. Forrest Sanders of Las Cruces and a number of Carrizozo residents by Attorney George A. Shipley of Alamogordo.

On behalf of his clients, Mr. Shipley protested the water transfer on the grounds that they were denied the right of appeal on the transfer.

A motion was made by Assistant Attorney General Charlie Harris on behalf of the State Engineer to dismiss the writ for failure to state grounds sufficient for relief on the writ of prohibition.

Arguments were presented by Carl Gilbert, Southern Pacific attorney that the water right at all times was owned by the Southern Pacific and that only after 1922 had any municipalities participated in use of the water and then only by a revocable permit; that the Southern Pacific was not a public utility engaged in selling water to municipalities, but was a railway engaged in the transportation of freight and individuals for hire.

Mr. Shipley presented his argument that he had no opportunity to be heard because, in his opinion, the hearing had not been properly advertised.

The court entered the following order: "It appearing to the court that the petition for writ of prohibition herein fails to state a claim upon which relief by way of prohibition should be granted in that it fails to show that the petitioners do not have other adequate relief and in that it fails to show that they will suffer irreparable injury from a continuation of exercise of jurisdiction sought to be prohibited. It is ordered that said motion to quash alternative writ and dismiss petition be and the same is hereby sustained."

Trials by Jury Ended Wednesday

Trial by jury ended in District Court Wednesday, after the consideration of three cases.

The jury returned a verdict of not guilty in the case of the State vs. Earl H. Brixey, Mike Anaya and Malcolm L. Simpson. The jury did not consider the circumstantial evidence presented in the illegal hunting charge conclusive enough for conviction.

The jury returned a verdict of guilty in the case State vs. Curtis Griffin of Green Tree, who was charged with issuing worthless checks. The verdict returned by the jury after 15 minutes deliberation, found the defendant guilty on two counts of issuing fraudulent checks. Presiding Judge W. T. Scoggins put Griffin on two years' probation and ordered him to pay $300 court costs.

In the case of State vs. Valentin Sanchez and Frederico Jaramillo, the defendants threw themselves on the mercy of the court before the case came to the point of consideration by the jury. The defendants were charged with "knowingly depriving the owner of immediate possession of a sheep."

Judge Scoggins' sentence was three years probation and the payment of $500 court costs. Serving on the jury were Mrs. Percy Hankey, Mrs. E. A. Casey, Mrs. Ben Chavez, Juan S. Jiron, Raymond S. Luna, Clovis Montes, Mrs. Serapio Montes, Mrs. Billie J. Petree, Mrs. James Gilles Ramey, Mrs. J. Lee Smith, Mrs. A. N. Spencer and Mrs. Jack L. Turner.

Two cases scheduled for trial before Judge Scoggins Thursday morning were E. S. Wiseman vs. Ike Gill and Shirley Cardwell and Curtis Griffin vs. Gerald E. Thompson, the latter an appeal from justice of the peace court.

Mercury Dealership Comes to Carrizozo

Formal announcement is made this week of the establishment of a Mercury car dealership in Lincoln County. The distributor of Mercury cars and their sales and service will be by the Lincoln County Motors, Inc., in Carrizozo, Marvin H. Roberts, president.

The new dealership brings to Lincoln County a Ford Motor Company product in the medium price field. Eleven 1955 models are presented in three series — the Montclair, Monterey and Custom.

On display in the showroom of the Lincoln County Motors is the Monterey in two-tone pastel green with cream top and upholstered in matching shade. It is equipped with overdrive, heater, radio, clock and white sidewall tires.

Called the "car of conservative distinction," the Monterey has, among other features, an 188 h.p. engine with dual exhausts.

Lions Name Chairman For Chuck Wagon Feed

Truman A. Spencer Jr. has been appointed general chairman of the annual chuck wagon supper and entertainment given each year by the Carrizozo Lions Club. The event, held in September, is to raise funds for the club's Christmas party for youngsters and other community projects.

Twenty members of the club attended Wednesday night's bi-monthly dinner meeting held at the Carrizozo Country Club. A short business meeting was held with Joe O. Sargent, president, presiding. A guest, Frederick Hannah, public relations representative of the National Brewers Foundation, showed a film on the making of beer, which, he said, today is the 13th leading industry in America.

President Sargent appointed the following committees which will carry on many functions of the club during the coming year. They are:

Attendance and membership committee: Fred English, Sally Ortiz, F. O. Brown.

Publicity — Paul Baker, Truman Spencer, B. G. Barrum.

Entertainment — Bob Boling, Clarence Shaw, Pick Warden.

Fugitive Asks Leniency of Judge in Juvenile Cases

Two juveniles are being held in the county jail in connection with the recent robbery of two stores in Capitan — the Black Hardware and the Cummins mercantile store. A third juvenile in the affair has already been processed and committed to the State Industrial School at Springer.

The other two youths are being held for Oklahoma authorities.

It appears that the youths were dupes of an older man who is still at large. He is being sought by both Oklahoma and New Mexico authorities. An unusual twist in the case developed when this man, who goes by the name of Harry Lee Dodd, wrote a letter to District Judge W. T. Scoggins, absolving the youths for responsibility in the crime, placing the blame upon his own shoulders. His letter follows:

June 29th, 1955.

"Dear District Judge: "You have three Boys in Custody in your Court charged with Burgery. But I am the Guilty Person I am the one that Committed the crime. I by myself Broke in the Cummins market and Dry goods store at Capitan N. M. by entering the back Door I stole tools knives and a Typewriter and Cummins Checks; on the 27th day of June they were three Boys arrested to wit: Ed Chill, Mike Marquez and Larry McConnell. You Honor these three Boys were all in Roswell N M the night the store was broke in to. I took my car and drove to Capitan N M and entered the Store. Your Honor Please give these Boys a fair Chance to Prove there self not guilty. Sir If you will set there Trial over until fall Court Ill come in and turn my self in to be placed in Custody. I broke away from the Police when the Boys were arrested. Please go by what is fair Cause Im the One that should be in Prison and not the Boys.

"Yours respectfully, "HARRY LEE DODD."

"P. S. I will forward you signed affidavit within Ten Days under Notary Seal."

The above letter was written on stationery from a hotel in Carlsbad and mailed there on July 1.

Sheriff Bradley said the letter contained numerous inaccuracies. One of the youths has confessed that he assisted the older man in the Cummins store robbery.

Besides forging the signature on several Cummins store checks and cashing them, Dodd wired relatives of two of the youths, asking for money to hire an attorney for their defense. He did not get that money, according to the Sheriff's Office here.

YOUNG DEMOCRATS AFTER EVELINE

SANTA FE, July 6.—Some unchivalrous Young Demos are cooking up a scheme to throw out Eveline Robinson as state chairman when she comes up for reelection at the state meeting in Las Cruces July 15. They don't like her policy of ignoring money and jobs in favor of making the Young Demos a service organization for the help of the senior party. Among those reportedly working for a clean sweep-out of all the old officers are Albuquerque lawyers Peter Gallagher and Dale Walker. Mr. Walker is vice chairman, Henry Jaramillo of Belen is national committeeman, Lerele Montoya, sister of Lt. Gov. Joe and State Sen. Tom and secretary to U. S. Sen. Clint Anderson, is national committeewoman, Henry Salazar of Belen is treasurer and Florence Ruth Brown of Santa Fe executive secretary. One of those being touted for Mrs. Robinson's post is John Donnell of Fort Sumner, that's in De Baca county where there is no Young Demo organization. Donnell is the one who was practically appointed state liquor director and then dropped after some hooch people objected.

REPUBLICAN LOSSES HIGHWAY POST

The Democratic breakthrough to the highway department gained in the removal of Jerry Lasseter from the hiring and firing post as engineer for the Santa Fe district and his transfer to a harmless office job. First results were replacement of road crews at Taos and Tres Piedras with loyal party members. Earlier the highway department's personnel officer Republican Sam Thornburg, was moved out in favor of one with a more acceptable party affiliation. The comptroller's office proclaimed as non-political last winter, lost budget analyst Richmond Brown, a Republican, last week in a blow-up over the firing of Frank Ortiz Jr., a son of Santa Fe's Republican postmaster. Brown wrote Comptroller Dan Smith that he could no longer rely on his December promise of protection from politicians. The big move out of Republicans in the past fortnight seems to have improved Governor Simms' relations with Democratic party officers.

MISSOURIANS ALSO POLITICAL

New Mexicans aren't the only ones who get nose deep in politics. Col. Charles H. Morgan, father of Albert Morgan, the publisher of El Defensor in Socorro, was nominated for Congress in Missouri at a Democratic convention in 1932 after 338 ballots had been taken. The colonel won that one and came back later and got himself elected to the same place as a Republican.

FRIENDS WATCH CHAVEZ HEALTH

Collapse of the relatively young Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas has friends of New Mexico Sen. Dennis Chavez apprehensive. The 67-year-old Chavez has one of the heaviest burdens in the Senate with the chairmanship of the Public Works Committee and the important Armed Services subcommittee. A few years ago Chavez was subjected to serious surgery that some thought he would not survive but bounced back more active than ever.

Relief Program: The Los Alamos county commission has come to the aid of "parents pestered by teen-age boys loafing at home all summer by putting 50 of the high schoolers to work on the four-mile county road system. They get 75 cents an hour.

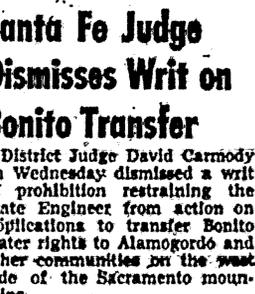

Also Loses: Joe Bakos, Santa Fe artist whose picture won first place and supposedly $150 in an art display at State Republican headquarters last year is getting madder and madder about his long wait for the dough. He says he didn't know the payment of the prize was based on the reelection result.

Dempsey's Friend: Phil Ludl, Belen school officer and a long-time member of the state welfare board, names John J. Dempsey as the governor who did the most for the old people "even breaking an economy pledge on which he was elected to enact the cigarette tax." Ludl brought

says

When I was young I couldn't get up early enough to start the Fourth of July. I celebrated all day long and danced till the last drop was hung the next morning. That was years ago. This year I celebrated the 4th by settin' in the shade on the front porch and watchin' the big fleecy clouds come driftin' along. In the evenin' there was some fireworks in the sky back over Carrizo. It was a very satisfyin' day 'cept for one thing. It didn't rain.

The lips of the aristocratic canines curled with scorn as the new dog in the neighborhood was introduced as Fido.

"How ordinary!" said Pierre, the French poodle. "We could never associate with a low creature named Fido."

"Don't get this pup wrong," said the pooch who had introduced him. "He spells his name Phaedraeu."

USA Specialist Plan Went into Effect July 1

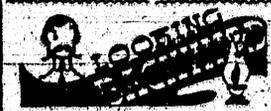

As previously announced by the Department of the Army, the Army's new non-commissioned officer - specialist program goes into effect on July 1.

The program provides that non-commissioned officer identification and status be given only to enlisted personnel holding leadership positions. A separate category of enlisted personnel, called specialists, includes those who have technical and administrative skills.

Designed to increase the prestige of the non-commissioned officer by restoring him to his traditional position as the backbone of the Army, the program will also preserve the respect properly due the specialist.

Separation of the NCO from the specialist is made in the top four pay grades. On the conversion no one will lose pay. Effective July 1, titles in the top four enlisted grades are as follows:

Non-Commissioned Officers: Master Sergeant, Sergeant 1st Class, Sergeant, Corporal.
Specialists: Master Specialist (MSP), Specialist 1st Class (SP1), Specialist 2nd Class (SP2), Specialist 3rd Class (SP3).
Private and private first class ratings remain the same.

LINCOLN COUNTY IN BYGONE YEARS

20 Years Ago

(From the files of the Lincoln County News, July 5, 1935)

Aubrey Hines and Bob Bowlin were attending C.M.T. camp in El Paso.

Miss Ruby Greenwood and Raymond Perkins of Corona were married June 21 at the home of the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. H. D. Hillger in Hot Springs. Millions of tiny chinch bugs, swarming on the rails halted street car service in two sections of Phoenix.

Mrs. Harold Brown, storekeeper at Oxbow Hill in the Tonto Basin in Arizona, was providing her customers with the freshest of fresh eggs. She had nests for bidders right in the store so that customers who wanted to wait a little while could get eggs that were fresh beyond question.

G. T. McQuillen left July 4 for the San Diego Exposition; also to visit daughters who live in Long Beach.

Louis Nalda was in Carrizozo on business.

Mrs. Orsa Stearns left for San Francisco upon receipt of a telegram that the condition of Mr. Stearns, in the Southern Pacific Hospital there, had grown worse. Albert Snow wrenched his back when he fell off the windmill tower at his home.

Mr. and Mrs. Sabino Vidaurri and family, spent the Fourth in Albuquerque.

Florencio Mirales and Grant Miller enlisted in the U. S. Army. Mr. and Mrs. Claud Branum, and Mr. and Mrs. C. Carl and sons Lee and Alvin, attended the Fourth of July rodeo in Adobe.

Mrs. M. C. St. John was visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jesus Nevarez, in Las Cruces.

40 Years Ago

(From the files of the Carrizozo News, July 9, 1915)

Most of the people in Ancho attended the Fourth of July celebration in Huarilla. Other county celebrations were at Nogal, Lincoln and Ft. Stanton.

County school news noted that Blue Water School will commence a seven months term August 2 with Mrs. Lurlyne Lane in charge; E. F. Funk will start an eight months term August 9 at Nogal Mesa; Mrs. G. H. Nickels will teach the Parsons school beginning a seven months term July 19; Mrs. Emma Craddock has been reelected teacher of the Baca Canyon school; R. A. Bruce of Temple, Texas, has been elected principal of the Corona school.

Numa Raymond, well known to early settlers of Lincoln County, returned from a visit to the front line in Europe. "The European war will last another three years," he predicted. Asked what would eventually bring the war to a close, he replied: "Lack of ammunition, supplies — and men."

Parsons didn't advertise the fact, but they also had a Fourth of July celebration. It was held in Mr. Grafton's field and many enjoyed the hospitality of the Grafton family. Snow from the mountains was brought down to make ice cream. Mountain-grown strawberries were used to make short cake for the picnic dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Rolland and children, Miss Kittle Reilly and John A. Haley were guests of friends at Fort Stanton over the week end.

Rain, so freely predicted and so badly needed, had not yet fallen in this section. Sheep and cattle ranges were becoming very dry.

Lincoln county's fruit crop promised to be the best in history. The orchards were well loaded with peaches, apples and pears and the quality of the best.

Joe Wests Return From Coast Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Joe West returned to their home in Alamogordo last week after an 11-day trip to the Pacific Coast. In Los Angeles they visited both Mrs. West's grandmother, Mrs. Mabel Cameron, and her great grandfather, who is 92.

With Mrs. West's sister, Miss Dee Haring of Los Angeles, the Wests visited world famous San Diego Zoo in San Diego. Among the attractions at the zoo are the world's only Koala Bears known to exist outside of Australia and a rare Kiwi Bird, one of the two known to exist outside of New Zealand.

Other points of interest which visitors find in the area are Cabrillo National Monument, the nation's most popular national landmark; San Diego Bay, which is the harbor for a large part of the Southern California tuna fleet and the Pacific Fleet warships, and the international border town of Tijuana, Mexico, which is only 25 miles from San Diego.

THE FOLKLORE CORNER

EARLY DAYS IN LORDSBURG

Many old-timers in Lordsburg recall the time when Lordsburg was the best hog ranch in the country, says Claude Fuller.

Hogs roamed the streets and alleys at large. This was in the early part of the century before the town was incorporated. Not only hogs, but cows, horses and burros were a common sight on the streets.

This continued until about 1915 when the town was incorporated. Then a town marshal was appointed. His job was to put the hog man out of business and chase the cows and other livestock out of town. He was paid a salary of $100 a month and $15 a month for horse feed.

In that day the hogs served as the garbage disposal. The restaurants threw the garbage out the back door and the hogs soon had it cleaned up. Homes could throw garbage in the alleys. No need of garbage cans, for the hogs would soon be there to eat the garbage.

You may think about flies. That's a good point. They didn't bother. We were used to them. An old-timer recalls an incident in which an old bachelor was invited to a Sunday dinner. On being asked if he had any flies at his house, he wisecracked:

"I don't have a single fly at my house. They are all married and have big families."

The man who owned the hogs was a hotelman. Most of his patrons were railroad men and ranchers when they came to town. On one occasion a rancher was admiring the hotelman's hogs that bedded down at night at the back of a railroad man's room. The rancher liked the hogs so well that he bought a pair of them, male and female, for breeding. After catching the hogs, they began to think about what they were going to do with them until the next morning when the rancher would be going home. The hotelman, after thinking a few seconds, says:

"We will just put the hogs in this railroad man's room. He won't be in until tomorrow night anyway."

On being asked if it wouldn't make the room smell too much like hog, the hotelman says:

"No, they sleep just outside his window. It all smells like hog anyway."

On another occasion the hotelman was selling a young rancher some hogs to take to the country. Everytime they would catch a hog, the hotelman would laugh.

"What is so funny?" the rancher finally asked.

The hotelman replied: "Now, I am going to tell you something and don't you dare ever tell. My good friend, the old so and so, stole these hogs from me when they were pigs, put his mark on them, and now I am stealing them back from him."

Lots of hay was used or fed in those days. Baling wire could be picked up any place. It used to be a common saying that if you needed a piece of wire, in the dark, all you had to do was to run about a hundred feet, and you would be tripped, if not thrown down.

It used to be said that you could always tell a Lordsburg girl anywhere she was. The reason why: She was in such a habit of kicking the wire off her feet that she would have to stop every little bit and kick like she was kicking wire off her feet. One man says he married a Lordsburg girl and she has never quit kicking. If it wasn't wire, it was something else.

"MY LAND OF ENCHANTMENT"

(By A. E. DIXON)

I live in the "Land of Enchantment,"
Under soft blue velvet skies—
Where the aged old Oak
Waves its branches of love
To the pine that is stately and high.

I love the high mountains,
And green valleys below;
I love the rain, snow and wind
That blows.
Where the meadowlark sings
The whole day long—
And the lovely mockingbird warbles his song.

I love the coyote's sad and mournful howl,
And the old night watchman
"Mr. Owl."

I love my home—that tumbledown shack—
Where loved ones, and dear ones
Will never come back.
But when this round-up is over
On the rangeland below,
We shall all meet at Headquarters
As we all well know.

Book Presented Club In Memory of Mrs. Ella Doering

When a member passes away, it is the custom of the Flower Club of Lawrence, Kans., to purchase a book on plant life and place it in the city library in her honor. Such a tribute was recently paid the late Mrs. Ella Doering, mother of Mrs. A. F. Roselle of Carrizozo.

Mrs. Ida Mason, a teacher in the past in Carrizozo, and sister of Mrs. Doering, chose the book "The History of the Rose" by Roy E. Shepherd, because of her sister's great love for roses.

Mrs. Mason reviewed the book to the club, then presented the club with a copy for their library, to be a source of information for rose growers. Her review follows:

The rose, queen of flowers for over 2,500 years, has occupied a prominent place in the world of art, literature, medicine and horticulture. All through the years changes and developments have entered into the story. The major types of garden roses now grown derive from varieties of two or more of the eight species, all of Asiatic origin. Asia is native habitat of all roses that are truly recurrent in bloom, the yellow-roses, and the climbers, while the roses of Europe and North America rarely bloom more than once a year and have a limited color range. After the fall of the Roman Empire, the rose was thought to be of little value, so only the few varieties capable of self preservation survived, many varieties being lost.

During the 16th Century, interest was revived and some descriptions, though based on medicinal qualities, only were distinct enough to permit identification. This healing influence and even the scent resulted in using attar of roses and rose water in the making of perfumes. Today we know the fruits, hips as they are called, have a high Vitamin C content.

During the Middle Ages Christian Monasteries were required to have a knowledge of the curative powers of plants. King Edward I of England, chose the rose as his badge, thus connecting the rose with the history of the church, and ever since, the rose has been used in English heraldry, on stamps, and on coins of Great Britain. During a Civil War between the Houses of York and Lancaster, known as the War of the Roses, the white rose was used by the House of York as its badge, and the red rose by the House of Lancaster.

The passing of the U. S. Plant Patent Act in 1930 stimulated the production of new roses, giving the originator of a new variety not only honor and credit but also an assured royalty for his achievement.

The writer has treated the subject of roses by dividing them into groups of similar characteristics. "No known rose is perfect," he says, "none has all the qualities we desire, though the work of the amateur and professional hybridizer alike is to aim at producing that perfect rose."

The author of this book, for many years, has written for the American Rose Society, and others. In his own garden he has grown every existent species of rose and has done much hybridizing himself.

There is one vehicle for every 700 feet of every lane in both directions of all streets and highways in the United States today.

N. M. Statutes Require Mining Registration

The New Mexico Statutes, Section 63-19-1, requires every mining operation in the State to register with the office of the State Mine Inspector, 1024 Park Avenue SW, Albuquerque, upon commencing operations and annually thereafter before the first of August. An amendment to the law, passed by the Twenty-second Legislature, also requires mine operators to notify the Mine Inspector in writing of the suspension of operations, whether of a temporary or permanent nature.

State Mine Inspector, John A. Garcia said that regardless of how small a mine is, it must be registered.

The only persons exempted from this provision are those who are prospecting, and not employing individuals, and persons doing assessment work.

This provision applies to all classifications of mine operations, including quarries, pits, open-cut workings, stripplings, placer mines, sand and gravel, milling, and other processing operations. The only exceptions are oil and gas.

Mr. Garcia said that there is a maximum fine of $200 and a jail sentence of three months for violation of this.

Blank forms for registering mine operations may be obtained, free of charge, from John A. Garcia, State Inspector of Mines, 1024 Park Avenue, SW, Albuquerque, New Mexico.

State Employment Summary for May, '55

Non-farm wage and salaried employment in New Mexico, increasing for the fourth consecutive month, reached an all-time high of 183,000 during May, 1955, according to Fred C. Barron, Chairman, Executive Director of the Employment Security Commission. This represents an increase of 2,400 over the previous month and is greater by 10,200 than one year ago, when 172,000 workers were on the State's non-agricultural payrolls. The previous high, established in July, 1953, was 181,600.

Contract construction added 700 workers between April and May and led all other major industrial groups in job gains for the month. The Service group, up 500 from April, recorded the next highest gain for the month, followed by Trade, 400; Manufacturing and Finance, 300 each; Mining, 200, and Transportation and Utilities, 100. Government, down 100 between April and May, was the only group showing a deficit for the month.

Forecast: Continued Cool

What could be nicer than riding with a ton and a half of ice in your car these hot days? Real cool thought, say you, but impractical. Yet that's exactly the effect with Chevrolet's new air conditioner. Vital part of the apparatus is a comparatively small compressor, scarcely larger than a football, which is shown above on one of the ice cakes that total 3,000 pounds. Other basic parts are a condenser, liquid receiver, and cooling coils. All parts fit neatly under the car's hood.

FISHIN' REPORT

Conchas—Good. A Texas party of five took 60 pike, 24 catfish and a bass.

High Mountain Pecos Streams—Fair; Improving.

Lower Chama—Very good. Very nice 16-inch rainbows.

Canones, Chavez Creek—16-inch browns and natives, on files.

IT HAPPENED ONE DAY

Three little Navajos, four big cars, five hours of "blood, sweat and tears," all because of a sagebrush fire. The blaze brought Fred Patton of the Department of Game and Fish to an abrupt halt on Sunday afternoon 15 miles east of Bloomfield. While he was getting the flames under control the three little Navajos were busy lighting more sagebrush fires. Fred tamped out the last sparks of fire number one and jumped in to his car to see to the three little Navajos. But his car was stuck in the sand.

Fred padded his way to the Huerfano Trading Post and brought Trader Bob Osborne to help him out of the sandtrap. Osborne bogged down too. Back at the highway the two men flagged down Manny Osborne (no relation), an oilfield worker from Bloomfield. In half of no time his pickup was immobilized, hub-deep in sand, and all three men were on the lookout for further help.

It came at last, from Jim Henderson of the Navajo Police, who managed to get the pickup onto terra firma. The two vehicles together next dragged out Patton's car, and all three finally got Trader Osborne squared around. By that time it was eight o'clock at night and there was at least one badly wrenched back in the party.

NEW GPA
The San Juan Game Protective Association came into being in Farmington on June 28 and elected Loren Lipe of that city as its first president. Director Homer C. Pickens of the Department of Game and Fish was present, and congratulated the organization on its expressed aim, "to build a better understanding between landowner and sportsman in northwestern New Mexico." Also representing the Department was Conservation Officer Frank Ramsey of Farmington.

The Department's film, Big-horn Sheep Hunt, was shown to an enthusiastic audience of 75.

ALL IN THE DAY'S WORK

At six o'clock of a sunny morning last week the fish distributor truck of the Department of Game and Fish got under way for Charette Lakes with a load of trout from Red River Hatchery. Past Taos, Las Vegas, and Wagon Mound and up the winding mesa road—five miles from the lakes the engine conked out. Joe Gallegos chose not to trudge back eleven miles to the nearest lake, but to climb on up to the lakes on the chance of getting help there. He found a fisherman who went back down and helped him tow his fish to the water. The aerator was still operating, so the fish were none the worse for the delay.

Mission accomplished Joe and his truck limped back down the mesa into Wagon Mound; the truck was patched up and Joe was on his way back to the hatchery, this time by way of Springer and Cimarron. Though he would normally have been back by four o'clock or so, Joe was now travelling in the dark of night when his lights went out.

Cautiously he rode the shoulder of the road into Springer and had another repair job done, and once more got under way. Ten miles out of Springer, Joe's own lights began to blink. So he pulled alongside the road and dropped off for a well-earned sleep.

Fred Patton, also of the Department, had finished a piece of work at Clayton about 10:30 that night and was on his way to Cimarron to start another piece of work next morning. Halfway between Springer and Cimarron he came alongside the fish distributor truck. Suspecting a breakdown, he woke poor Joe, who, after a recital of the day's events, was enough refreshed to continue on. The two vehicles parted company at Cimarron.

Meanwhile, back at Red River Hatchery there was a very worried Mrs. Joe Gallegos reedling the hatchery men to get out and find her Joe. Taking the same route that Joe had taken early that morning, John Hanson and Bob Blanchard wound their way through Taos and Las Vegas and Wagon Mound, and up the mesa to Charette Lakes, and down again to Wagon Mound and through Springer and Cimarron, with still no sign of Joe. But halfway through Cimarron Canyon they finally caught up with him, his truck still struggling, himself just about pooped as he neared the end of his trip. It was 2 a.m. when Joe finally fell into his own bed. And by 6 a.m. he was back on his job, looking a little blue around the gills maybe, but ready for another "normal" day.

Taken at 1/1000th of a second, the above photo is spectacular because every bit of the boat, motor and propeller are clear of the water. We don't recommend you try this on your day off, but scenes like this are not uncommon at outboard boat races throughout the country. The outboard shown above is an ordinary Mercury "fishin' motor." Enthusiasm for racing has grown tremendously as the thrill and action of boats churning the water at 60 mph has produced some sensational splashes.

Santa Rosa Hospital Reopens July 10th

The Guadalupe General Hospital located at Santa Rosa, N. M., will reopen on July 10 after being closed for almost three years. The modern, 27-bed capacity hospital, constructed at a cost of $156,000, was originally opened in August 1952, but was forced to discontinue operation four months later and has remained closed ever since.

When reopened in July the hospital will be operated by the Catholic Sister-Nurses of the Order of Saint Dominic of Grand Rapids, Michigan. The Dominican Sisters operate only one other hospital in New Mexico, the Nazareth Sanitarium in Albuquerque.

Sister Mary Giles, the former administrator at the Albuquerque hospital, will head the staff at Santa Rosa.

The hospital closed in 1952 deep

Lambs Gain Faster On Pelleted Feed

Lambs fatten on less feed when it's blended and pelleted rather than fed separately and loose.

USDA experiments at the Agricultural Research Center, Beltsville, Md., showed that lambs reach desired market weight sooner on pelleted feed by eating more per day. They're more efficient for two reasons. While the lambs use about the same amount of feed per day, they eat more of it—waste less. And the reduced fattening time saves feed that otherwise would go into several extra days' body maintenance and activity.

I. L. Lindahl, ARS researcher who made the study, thinks the lambs found the ration tastier, on the whole, and ate more. The reason is not clear. The absence of dust, which they dislike, may be a big factor. Less bulkiness may also appeal to them. Lindahl found no significant difference in the digestibility of the two forms of an identical ration.

In debt. It is debt-free today and funds to subsidize its operation were raised last spring when Guadalupe county residents voted 9 to 1 to authorize a special three-fourths of one mill property tax levy.

When pelleted feed was kept before the lambs at all times, they gained one-third to one-half faster, required one-fourth fewer days to reach market weight, and used 20 to 30 per cent less total feed than when hand-fed with the same diet in loose form. Keeping loose feed before the lambs also proved more efficient than hand-feeding it.

On a diet of 45 per cent yellow corn, 5 per cent blackstrap molasses, and 50 per cent No. 2 alfalfa hay, lambs gained an average of 0.31 pound per day on loose feed hand-fed, 0.34 pound per day on loose feed self-fed. On the same diet pelleted and self-fed, lambs gained 0.42 pound per day. The three feeding methods required 972,908 and 772 pounds of feed, respectively, to put on 100 lbs. of gain.

On another diet of 45 per cent barley, 5 per cent blackstrap molasses and 50 per cent No. 2 alfalfa, the respective gains from different feeding methods were 0.29, 0.42, and 0.43 pound per day, and feed consumption was 1,210,847, an 832 pounds per 100 pounds of gain.

While these tests demonstrated that lambs can be fattened quicker and on less feed when pelleted, further study is needed to find out whether the extra benefit of the pelleted diet is worth the cost of pelleting.

News & Views From The Nation's Capital

By JOHN J. DEMPSEY
Representative in Congress

Washington, July 7.—As the 84th Congress moves near to its probable adjournment the last of this month there still remain two measures of most vital importance to New Mexico to be enacted, the Upper Colorado River Development Bill and the National System of Interstate and Defense Highways measure, the most comprehensive federal-aid road program in the nation's history. Senate versions of both bills have been passed by that body. House action on both appears likely after the middle of July.

This session of the Congress has made better than usual progress in enactment of appropriations legislation. The House has that part of its job virtually completed and the Senate has but three major money measures to consider. Interim extensions of spending authority have been enacted for those departments where final appropriations action remains to be taken. The record thus far shows it to be a hard-working and productive Congress. It has laid a groundwork also for what should be good accomplishment by the second session in 1956.

The session-long struggle in the House over the Colorado River Bill now nears the final round. It is still a closely-contested fight but the Congressional delegations from the Upper Basin States find encouragement in the 20 to-6 vote by which the House Interior and Insular Affairs Committee ordered the bill reported out favorably, a far wider supporting committee margin than we were able to gain in the 83rd Congress.

The bill is expected to be on the House calendar momentarily, as soon as the majority and minority reports are ready. Then a rule must be granted for its consideration.

As ordered reported out the bill is closely in accord with the Senate-passed measure as far as New Mexico Projects are concerned. Construction of the Navajo Dam is authorized and the Navajo participating projects as well as the San Juan Diversion project are given provisional authorization, subject to feasibility reports and accord by the affected states. This accord appears assured because of understandings reached before the final bill was drawn.

THE EXPANDED HIGHWAY PROGRAM

The Roads Subcommittee of the House Public Works Committee, now has another proposal before it for consideration as a possible plan for carrying out the vastly expanded federal aid program that has been under study almost since this Congress convened.

This measure, HR 7072, was introduced by Chairman Fallon of the Roads Subcommittee, solely for the purpose of placing it formally before our subcommittee for study before we finally report a bill to the full committee. That study is now under way. As a member of the sub-committee I can state definitely that no member, including Chairman Fallon, is yet committed to support of the measure. In fact the bill is still only exploratory, particularly with regard to the method it proposes for financing the National System of Interstate and Defense Highways, a nationwide network of roads now comprising about 26,700 miles authorized by the Congress in 1944.

The new bill proposes pay-as-you-go financing of a twelve-year interstate highway construction program that will cost an estimated $24 billion in federal funds in 12 years, including rights-of-way and access roads. It authorizes $725 million for federal aid on primary, secondary and urban highways for 1957 fiscal year, an increase of $25 million for those categories. Future authorizations for these roads would be made, as now, by the Congress every two years in accordance with need.

Federal aid funds for the interstate roads would start at $1.2 billion in 1957 fiscal year, beginning July 1, 1956, and would be increased gradually to $2.5 billion in fiscal 1964, then be reduced by steps to $1.2 billion again in fiscal 1968. This is proposed in order to allow contractors and materials suppliers to meet the expanded requirements, as well as to permit state highway departments to make orderly long-range plans.

Names of geographical areas abroad are reflected in United States towns. Some of them are: Arabia, Kentucky; Argentina, Pennsylvania; Bavaria, Kansas; Belgium, Wisconsin; Bohemia, New York; Bolivia, North Carolina; Siberia, Indiana; and Russia, Ohio. There are Brazils and Polands in four States, says the National Geography Society.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

Editor, News:

I am writing to request your assistance in acquainting the people of New Mexico with the true facts about our new Motor Vehicle Safety Responsibility Law, which was enacted by the last session of the Legislature and became effective on October 1, 1955.

New Mexico was the forty-fifth state to enact this type of statute which, as its preamble clearly sets forth, is "to eliminate the reckless and irresponsible driver from the highways" and afford the public real protection against motorists who become involved in accidents and fall to pay for the damage they have caused.

Beginning September 1, you will receive a series of news releases which, by October 1, will give your readers all of the important information they should have about our new law's requirements, its penalties for violations, and how motor vehicle owners and operators can protect themselves against loss of both their driving and registration privileges. I hope you will find them of sufficient importance to publish as prominently as you decide they merit.

Experience in the other states shows that considerable misinformation and misconception gets abroad about these laws as the enforcement date approaches. We shall do our best to prevent that from happening in New Mexico. I hope, therefore, that you will look to the Division of Motor Vehicles for complete and accurate information, with the assurance that it will be furnished gladly.

TONY M. LUCERO,
Commissioner Motor Vehicle Div.

Editor, News:

June 14 was the date of a Democratic meeting in Lubbock, Texas, at which Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler was honored guest. It was a real pleasure to me as National Committeewoman from New Mexico to be invited to the meeting and a distinct honor to me and the Democratic party of my state that I was given the honor of introducing Mr. Butler.

Mr. Butler is a wonderful speaker and the things he had to say filled the hearts of his listeners with inspiration and determination.

Along the line of organization, it was most pleasing to me to note the enthusiastic attendance at the meeting in Santa Fe last month of the Young Democrats of New Mexico. It has always been my feeling that young people should take a greater interest in their government and their political party. The Young Democratic organization affords that opportunity which carries

Santa Fe Railway Continues Aid to FFA

The Santa Fe Railway has announced it will continue to give financial support to the Future Farmers of America program in states served by the railroad.

A contribution of $800 has been made to the state supervisor of agricultural education for New Mexico during 1955.

In addition to the annual allotment to the state organization, the Santa Fe will inaugurate this year a $250 college scholarship for active members of the Future Farmers of America in New Mexico.

MRS. U. D. SAWYER

From the New Hampshire Fish and Game Department comes the story of a German shepherd dog sitting across the stream from a crowd of smelt fishermen. Time and time again, as they prepared to dip their nets in a particularly good run of smelt, the dog raced down the bank, splashed through the stream, and bounded up the opposite shore, scattering the tiny fish. The maddening performance finally got too much for the men and they sent "man's best friend" back home.

A more heartwarming tale, also from the New Hampshire Department, concerns two blue-jays, one being fed by the other. Not a parent bird feeding its young, nor a courting male offering tidbits to its ladybird. The bluejay being fed was a cripple. With the lower mandible of its beak broken off, it had no way of feeding itself.

The Pennsylvania Game Commission reports on a rabbit that met up with a large housecat in a barn. The cat pursued and finally caught the rabbit. To the watchers' astonishment, the rabbit kicked and clawed three times as fast as the cat, and in a few seconds it got away, somewhat worse for fear. The chase resumed, but the cat was either losing interest or was just too doggone tired. The rabbit got away.

INSIDE CAPITAL

up the subject in contending that Dempsey would not be seriously hurt if Congress fails to approve the San Juan river jobs.

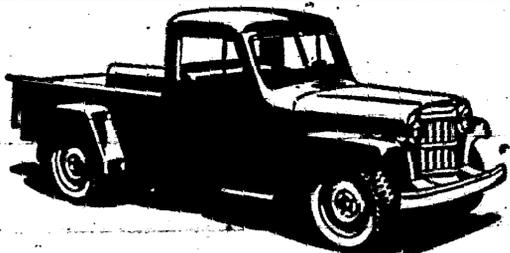

Some People Eat: State Sen. Ed Cabot's Taos newspaper notes that Governor Simms hasn't said anything about the situation in which several thousand Taos people have lost their free monthly allotment of groceries "but he did come to Taos to attend a banquet."

McKee's Retreat: Fastest scale down you ever saw was the Robert E. McKee's Construction Co.'s reestimation of the cost of washing the windows of the new penitentiary. The sum had been put at $50,000 which brought a beef from the legislative prison investigating committee, the members holding that the convicts themselves could wash at least the insides of the windows. The contractor figured again and said it was all a mistake, that the window washing could be done for $9,070.

Assistant Trouble: Governor Simms' increasing reliance on his assistant Dick Everett is developing criticism that can't be ignored much longer. Everett's a nice guy and a smart one but nobody can be smart enough or nice enough to substitute for the governor. The smoke is rising from the constant stream of governor's office visitors who are shunted to the assistant. Also being noted is the increasing incidence of Everett being quoted by name on subjects relating to the governor's office. The job is one that EDR described as a place for one with a "passion for anonymity."

People: Beatrice Bassett Beach Göttilb, the recent secretary of state is back in town with her new baby after nearly a year in Oakland. . . . Land Commissioner or Johnny Walker is doing his best for State Sen. Murray Morgan of Alamogordo to be his successor.
