ANDREW J. McBRAYER

When I was about grown I would go to White Oaks now and then to work in the coal mines a few months at a time. I also worked in the electric plant. When I worked there Lane, Jackson and Queen owned it. I worked in the mine 10 hours a day and then they would use me as an extra fireman if someone wanted to lay off at the plant. We fired it with coal. I would work 12 hours in the plant and then I would go back and work in the coal mine 10 hours the next day. This plant supplied power for White Oaks. The time I worked there was about 1912.

I didn't work in the coal mine after an accident in the mine and one of the Spanish fellows was killed. His name was Philadelphia Chavez. A big rock fell on him that would probably weigh two tons. I was running the coal cars, shoveling coal, then I would send it up. If one of the miners needed a prop, I wrote a note and sent it up to the man on top, then he would have a prop sent down that was the right length.

I had just unloaded one of these props to Philadelphia Chavez and told him there was his prop and I went on back a few feet and went to shoveling coal in this car. In a few seconds I heard a rumble of falling rocks. I listened a minute and I didn't hear any more so I went back there a few feet, shined my light, and there he was covered up with rocks. I didn't work in there much longer. I couldn't get over that scare. That mine was quite an incline. It was seven or eight hundred feet back and it was off what they called the main entrance. Maybe 100 feet off to one side of this tunnel. It wasn't but a few minutes until the whole crew was in there getting this fellow out. I think that must have been 1914. Eddie Fitzpatrick, who lives in Nogal Canyon now, was one of the boys who helped us get him out and I think he also quit at the same time. A few days after that anyway.

When I first went to work for the railroad it was the El Paso and Southwestern. I think I must have worked about five years for the El Paso and Southwestern. Then came the Southern Pacific and I still worked out. During that time I saw many trappers and also many round house foremen. One's name was Louis Bagot of Douglas, also Jack Farley and Jim Tucker of El Paso.

There were 75 men, or more, working there at that time. They had three or four machinists and two or three boiler makers and a labor gang. Most of the machinists would have a helper and we had a blacksmith and he had a helper, and there were three stationary firemen. We had to take care of those engines between fires. I was a stationary fireman.

We didn't have any days off like they later did have. We worked seven days a week, Sundays and all. Later on we began to cut down a little bit to reduce the force, lay off somebody, double up on some of the other jobs. I guess from 1930 on up to 1932 (that was part of the depression) they laid off the engine watchmen and then they assigned a stationary fireman to double duty.

I had the title of a stationary fireman for about 35 1/2 years. My main duty was to keep the boiler under steam all the time. That supplies steam heat for all of the railroad buildings. I was the cleaner of what ever you may call it. It kept you pretty busy. Through the years they kept cutting off men. They converted coal burners into oil and they didn't need quite so much help with oil burners. Then later they got rid of oil and used diesel so there is not one working at the round house now. From what I hear they have had about two men and one relief man to relieve the other two.

Garrizozo was a pretty good sized town about 1915. The population, as near as I can remember, was around 1500. I got married in June of 1917. Mrs. McBrayer's maiden name was Estelle Chen. They lived on a little farm up Nogal Canyon for several years. She was 11 years old when they first came here. I saw her around at different places. At the church once in a while and at Sunday School.

We bought this place in 1936. It was part of an original homestead. Twenty years we have been here. It's about a section of land. We can't run many cattle but we have always had a few. Our place goes to the big Park and John Spencer on the west side across the road on the west side. There are some good crops of wheat, corn, alfalfa, and such.

We have it out here. In the summer time it is pretty and it's a nice place. I think two cows and I have about 125 chickens. I can't get Opal to milk the cow.

Three Garbage Dump Sites Are Being Considered

The Carrizozo Town Board of Trustees and Mayor Marvin H. Roberts, looking for a suitable site for garbage disposal, reported this week that three sites have been under consideration. Two of the sites are on the Truman Spencer Jr. ranch—one of them a 12-acre state tract which Mr. Spencer has under lease. The latter is located east of the railway track near the rifle range. Mr. Spencer has offered to transfer this acreage to the town, provided arrangements can be made with the state. The other site is in a different location on the Spencer Ranch. Both would require the expense of continuous garbage backfill. The third site is in a location on the eastern fringe of the Mal Pais, accessible by a road north near the east entrance to the Mal Pais on Highway 380. Large canyons and valleys in the mal pais formation there would accommodate refuse disposal. It is pointed out, with only periodical burning of the trash required. Mayor Roberts has written the Bureau of Land Management inquiring if such a site could be acquired by the town for refuse disposal. He points out that the Mal Pais location is far enough from town and the highway to remove it as a public nuisance.

The Board of County Commissioners of Lincoln County meet March 6.

Interview with Mrs. Andrew McBrayer

I was born in Coryell County, Texas, and lived there until I was about 10 years old. My father was always just a working man and after he came to New Mexico, he rented farms and lived on rented farms around in Lincoln County here and whenever we would have a crop failure we would load up the covered wagon and go back to Texas. There were seven of us children. We would go back to Texas and pick cotton. Then after we got the cotton crop gathered we would come back to New Mexico because we were crazy about the country around here.

I met my husband when we first came to this country. I would see him every once in a while. As I got older my father always told me if I caught a beau before I was 18, he would give me a flogging. So Mr. McBrayer asked me when I would be 18 and then he started writing to me when we happened to be back in Texas. He came down there and we were married at El Paso, Texas. The next day after we were married we moved back up here in Tortillito Canyon, we have been around here ever since.

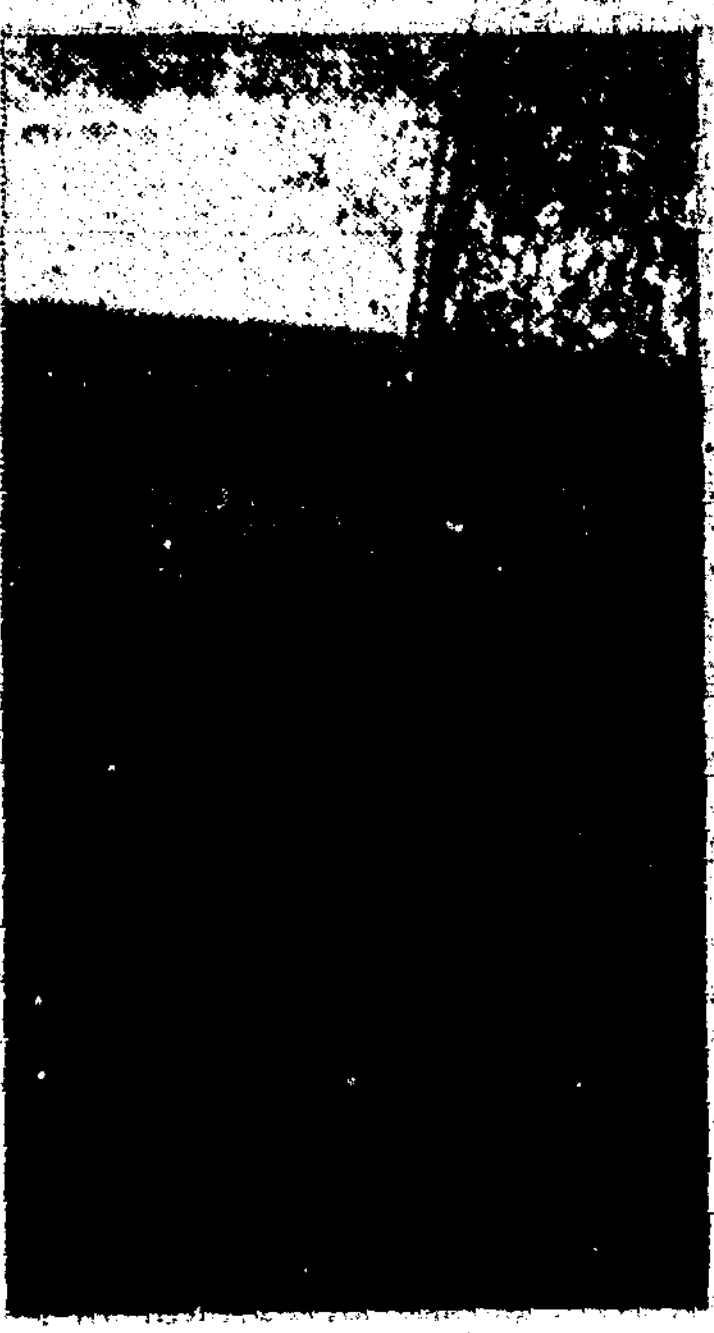

We had four children. Our oldest one is dead. We've got one girl up here, Mrs. Edna Jones at the Carrizozo Mercantile store, and a son Joseph living in Roswell. He is the manager of a variety store there. He has four children and our daughter has three.

When we have our younger girl Opal, 13, she was born when our son was 20 years old. He was in England and she was born while he was over there in the service for 2 1/2 years.

We lived in Carrizozo for several years. I was raised on a farm, so I always wanted to buy a place. When I found out we could get this place reasonably, I begged Mr. McBrayer to buy it because I wanted to be where I could raise a garden, chickens, and have a milk cow.

We leave it out here. In the summer time it is pretty and it's a nice place. I think two cows and I have about 125 chickens. I can't get Opal to milk the cow.

WHERE THE SEWAGE GENTLY FLOWS

The pond pictured above looks like it might be a watering place for stock. A likely spot for the youngsters to go swimming, or even fish in. But it's no such thing. It's a small place, where Carrizozo's sewage gently flows.

Since the recent cold snap when the pipe froze going into the concrete septic tank, raw sewage has been running into this pond, which is only a stone's throw from Highway 380 and not much farther from the Carrizozo Cemetery.

The town's sewage pipe leading to the tank is almost on the surface and in places is exposed. If the voters of Carrizozo approve bonds to finance a new sewage system the cesspool above would be eliminated. The new treatment plant would be modern and meet the requirements of the State Health Department. If the disposal plant site is such that ground water is deep, an Imhoff tank can be used.

The tank, 24 ft. x 24 ft. with a two-story compartment is placed in the ground at a depth of from 25 to 35 feet. It is said to be a very satisfactory type for primary treatment.

Should the ground water level be too high to permit the use of an Imhoff tank, the sewage would be given primary and secondary treatment in two tanks. This method of sewage disposal is also said to be efficient and sanitary.

All-School Carnival Thursday Night

The Carrizozo All-School Carnival is to be held Thursday, March 1, 1956 in the Junior high school building. All proceeds will go toward paying for the new drapes in the auditorium.

The new drapes have arrived and are now in place in the auditorium which is used by the community as well as by the schools.

Capitan to Vote on Bonds to Bring Eagle Creek Water

Trustees of the Village of Capitan voted Saturday to submit to the property-owning residents of Capitan a bond issue of $25,000 to be used for financing a pipeline from the Nogal reservoir to Capitan.

The pipeline would carry the village's share of Eagle Creek water at such time as the acquired Eagle Creek water rights are transferred by the Southern Pacific to the Eagle Creek Intercommunity Water Users Association.

The election will be held Tuesday, April 3, date of the regular election for village officials. Hours of the election will be from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. Polling place is at the city hall.

Village officials state they have exhausted every means of raising funds for the pipeline from other sources. It was found impossible to finance the pipeline by the sale of revenue bonds. Bond houses contacted were not interested, it is stated.

Capitan's present supply of hard water is deteriorating the town's mains and several thousand dollars a year are being spent to replace pipe which was installed a few years ago.

The Eagle Creek output is soft water, and the town officials believe that the saving in maintenance over a period of years will pay a good part of the interest on the bonds. Savings to householders' plumbing bills should also be considerable, it is believed.

Statement of Board of Trustees of Capitan relating to the water bond issue, follows:

A definite need for a potable water supply for the Village of Capitan has existed for a long time.

Recognizing this fact, about a year and a half ago, the trustees of the Village, together with the trustees of the Town of Ruidoso, organized "The Eagle Creek Inter-Community Water Supply Association," an association authorized under a New Mexico statute which permits municipalities to organize for the purpose of developing and distributing water for domestic use.

Immediately upon organization of the association, negotiations were started with the Southern Pacific Railroad for the purchase of land and water rights on Eagle Creek. These negotiations resulted in the purchase by the associations of more than 1000 acres of land and the right to six second feet of water from Eagle Creek.

The Trustees of the Village of Capitan, feeling that it is now time to start negotiations for the financing of a pipe line to the Village have passed a resolution to submit to the voters at the election on April 3, 1956, a proposition for the issuance of General Obligation Bonds, in the amount of $25,000 for the purpose of constructing such pipe line.

We feel that this proposition is of vital interest to the community and should have the wholehearted support and cooperation of every citizen. A supply of good water will be an important factor in the future growth and development of Capitan.

Arriving early in the morning, the party was taken on a tour of the camp's facilities, including both the camp and the down range area. After the firing, the party returned to Ft. Bliss. They planned to return to Canada, shortly after.

Many members of the party expressed a desire to return to the Southwest at some later date so that they might have time to see the entire area more thoroughly.

MONEY AND BANKING
In Everyday Living

HERE'S A HELPFUL HINT. If you're rearranging the kitchen. Group the three most-used units of equipment—range, refrigerator, and sink, about a corner (ideally, with one unit actually in the corner), to save steps.

THE $73,250,000,000 QUESTION! Why have savvies accumulated this tremendous sum in BANKS? "For bank safety," say typical depositors, "a combination of sound management, conservative investment policies, and proper physical safeguards, plus deposit insurance." Say others, "For convenience—services to meet other banking needs are available right on the spot." Still others say: "To have ready cash at hand, for use in meeting emergencies or opportunities." . . . "For profit—savings on deposit bring earnings, in the form of compound interest, without investment!" . . . "For credit buildup—it's not hard to get a loan where you have a savings balance." All are good reasons; all "winning answers"—and if they help persuade you to open a bank account with us, YOU will be the winner.

PARDONED

(This true story of a New Mexico cowboy was contributed by Mrs. Katherine C. Veden of Duncan, Ariz. Her father, the late Kos. B. Cureton, member of a pioneer New Mexico family, lived at Round Mountain in 1906, the time of this incident. Mrs. Veden believes her father was at the dance in Silver City the night of Howard Chenoweth's delivery from jail.)

Christmas Eve, 1906. Outside the old courthouse snow was swirling down upon the little frontier town of Silver City. Here and there a few lights gleamed dimly over the fallen snow. Howard Chenoweth looked out of his barred cell into the darkness of the howling storm. No happy Christmas for him. He was accused of killing two men in a drunken fight months ago. And now here he was in Grant County Jail instead of riding the range and leading the life of a carefree cowboy. Soon his trial would come. He was resigned to his fate. He could do nothing.

There was a dance in town tonight, and everybody except the jailer was going to it. All Chenoweth could do was sit in his barred cell and watch the snow as it drifted against the windows of the jail. Dully, far off, in the town, he heard a clock strike. Seven times it rang out over the snow-covered town. Time for the dance to start. He hoped everybody had a good time. He knew he wouldn't.

Suddenly through the corridors of the silent jail echoed the sounds of a struggle. A fight was going on somewhere. It sounded like a fracas in the jailer's office. Was there a possibility of a jailbreak? Then a key jangled in the lock. Two masked men entered Chenoweth's cell.

"Here's a gun, Howard, and here's a coat."

"Thanks."

"Beat it. There's a horse tied outside. Climb him and ride. Mexico's your best chance. We got a horse at Oak Grove. Baldy is at Round Mountain. There's another horse at Red Peak and a fourth waiting at Animas Wells. Ride for the Chiricahuas. We'll throw off the posse. Ride, cowboy."

"All right. Adios."

With that Howard was up the stairs and out into the stormy night. He found the horse and on a dead run left the little town behind him in the snowstorm. Into the face of the biting wind he rode, while the snow whirled about him. He was bent on one thing. He must get to Mexico. Onward he rode, urging his pony to its topmost speed.

Fifteen miles from the jail he found the second horse, tied and waiting. Changing his mount kept him for just a moment, and he was away again. Away into the teeth of the worst snowstorm ever seen in Southwestern New Mexico. Down the trail amid the wooded Burro Mountains he galloped. He knew the trail from long hours of cattle driving over it. The storm increased in fury. Trees broke before the gale. Snow drifted deeper and deeper in the passes of the mountains.

Just beyond the mountains on the edge of the plains Howard found the horse that was waiting for him at Round Mountain. Baldy was his favorite horse. On him he could do the 20 miles of wind-swept plain. The wind drove the snow about him and his flying mount as they crossed the plain. Like a thousand demons it whistled in his ears. Such a storm he had never been in before.

Beyond Lordsburg in the protection of Red Peak he found a third horse. His rescuers were taking no chances. He had plenty of good horses to make his escape with. While the blizzard still hid the country he rode across the hills to find the other horse. All the time the storm beat about him. Snow lashed his face, for he rode into the full blast of the storm. Finally he reached Animas Wells, changed mounts and headed for the vastness of the Chiricahua Mountains.

Once in them he would disappear in the forests just over the boundary. He reached the forested mountains. A stone marker, white like the snow, loomed before him. Over it was safety. No American posse could get him. Safe in the snow-hidden mountains. No more jails for him. He had ridden through the storm and escaped. And as he crossed the boundary he disappeared into the darkness of the swirling storm. No one saw him for many years.

ALTO BRIEFS

By AILEEN LINDAMOOD

Former Residents Write from Alaska

Former Lincoln County residents keep in touch.

The L. J. Paymans, who now live at Mt. Edgecomb, Alaska, correspond with the Charlie Peebles at Alto. Mrs. Payman writes that they can keep up with their old friends by reading the Lincoln County News.

The family will be remembered by many as they resided at Fort Stanton for years when the Marine Hospital was there.

Their daughter, Nancy, is going to business college there and Mr. and Mrs. Payman are employed in the government work.

It might be interesting to know the prices on grocery items there. Lettuce is 29c a pound, apples 23c a pound and cabbage 27c a pound. We might all keep this in mind next time we do our shopping.

The Walter Schneiders, of the Ruidoso Chinchilla Farm, were in Wichita Falls, Texas, last week attending a chinchilla show. Immediately upon their return they left for a business trip to San Bernardino, Calif.

Tuesday the Alan Johnsons and Edith Crawford of Carrizozo visited with the George Dingwalls.

Garland Alvis and J. B. Hightower were putting the remainder of the foundation under the L. J. Adams house last week.

The CYO had the Mon Jeu road opened up as far as their camp after the second snow storm. Otherwise the James Maddens could not live up there for many months.

Mr. Eldridge, the new owner of the Copper Kettle Cafe at Hollywood, was in the community last week looking over the countryside.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Pearce and daughter, Lillian of El Paso were expected to week end in their summer home near Alto.

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Adams, El Paso, came up to their home atop Peters Hill for the week end. Due to the severe windstorm, they didn't leave until late, arriving about 3 a.m. Saturday. Their late arrival gave them an opportunity to see the Northern Lights for about ten minutes.

The Wayne Hamiltons, El Paso, week ended with the Lindamoods.

Wilbur Wimberly of El Paso visited the Leo Wimberlys at Hollywood the past week end. All three came over to see the Lindamoods at Alto on Sunday.

When you're shopping for bread, select the loaves that have the word "enriched" on the labels. Then you'll be getting the most food value for your money.

Around The County

... Agriculturally

Stub Lewis reported shearing 80 head of sheep before the recent snow storms and putting jackets on them. They did not seem to suffer from the cold any more than sheep with wool still on. Incidentally, Mrs. Lewis took on quite a job when she started making these jackets—at last reports, she had made over 1500.

Several Lincoln County cattle raisers were at the Breeders School held at State College this week. Robert Corn and J. R. Callahan attended the Feeder Day, also. A. T. Pflingsten and Wait Wilson attended the breeders school. They all learned that you cannot judge the productive ability of a cow by looks alone.

The wool market study group met again Sunday and made more definite plans for marketing their wool this year. Several of the growers plan to visit the Coats ranch on March 1 to observe shearing, grading and packing operations there.

John Thomas reports an excellent number of fruit spurs on his trees and was encouraged by the recent cold weather. The fruit trees in the Hondo Valley have good possibilities at present for a full apple crop.

Core Testing of Wools Is More Popular

Core testing of wools to determine clean wool fibers present in a clip is rapidly becoming more popular in the Southwest, says J. Richard Stauder, extension wool marketing specialist at New Mexico A&M College.

Some wool warehouses already have core testing service, others are preparing to install equipment. Latest among these are the Roswell warehouses which recently purchased core testing equipment.

The information obtained from core tests can be used by the grower to determine the shrinkage of his wool clip and calculate the grease price he should receive when bids are opened, Stauder explains. Buyers frequently purchase clips on the clean basis and then the official core test is used to determine the average shrinkage.

Reports from the Boston Wool Trade indicate that most mill buying of wool is done on the clean basis, Stauder says. Several western states also report that a high percentage of their annual clips are being sold on the clean basis. These reports indicate the importance of accurate shrinkage determinations.

Core testing of wool was developed in 1911 as a method of sampling by Wollner and Tanner for the Treasury Department when the Department was charged with the task of collecting tariff duties on imported apparel wools. The tariff rate applied to clean content of imported wool and not the grease weight. So clean yield had to be determined for tax collection purposes before the wool was sold and mill scoured.

After the core test method proved to be accurate within 1% of actual shrinkage of western bag wools, the government applied the same principle in determining basic loan values for wool.

The cost of coring and analyzing samples ranges from $20 to $35 per lot of wool, the wool marketing specialist says. For an information test the grower may sample and have analyzed only one lot or two or more graded lines of wool and then he may estimate the shrinkage of the unsampled lots by comparison with results of the sampled lot. Later if the wool is sold on the clean basis, an official core test is made on all lots or graded lines of wool.

Program Announced For Donation of Surplus Feed Grains

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson has announced a feed grain donation program that will be made available in specifically designated major disaster areas to assist farm families that need such help. This program is designed to give relief to farm families whose means have been wiped out by major natural disasters, such as hurricanes and floods. The feed donation program will be handled through state agencies in much the same manner as the donation of surplus food products for welfare purposes.

Commodity Credit Corporation-owned barley, corn, grain sorghums, and oats will be furnished free to state agencies for distribution to established farm families who are without cash or credit to purchase sufficient feed for their livestock, including hogs, poultry and workstock. The feed will be used solely for maintaining livestock, and except for workstock, the livestock and its products will be used for food by the recipient families and will not be marketed.

The feed grains will be delivered by CCC to central points in each state and cooperating state agencies will be responsible for determining the eligibility of applicants and the amount of feed grains each applicant is to receive. There will be uniform basic standards for determining the eligibility of individual farmers in any area in which this surplus feed grain program is in effect.

The new program is a distinct and separate operation from the emergency feed program which provides for the use of CCC-owned feed grains in making feed available to farmers and ranchers at reduced prices in disaster areas.

The new feed program is authorized by the amended Section 40 of the Agricultural Act of 1949, which permits the use of farm commodities owned or controlled by the Commodity Credit Corporation for relieving distress in connection with any major disaster area determined by the President under P. L. 875, 81st Congress, to warrant assistance by the Federal Government.

Ranch People Asked To Take More Interest in Politics

Calling upon rural people and those in profession and business "familiar with New Mexico agriculture and economic conditions" to take a more active interest in membership of both the State Senate and House of Representatives, Sherwood Culberson, Lordburg, President of the New Mexico Cattle Growers' Association said today: "The economic and government ills of our state will never be solved until reliable and conscientious citizens who have lived here long enough to really know our basic problems take time away from their business to assist in the State Legislature." Declaring the legislature serves as a board of directors for both the Governor and all other state officers, Culberson declared: "We cannot afford to idly stand by and watch incapable or undesirable people run and be elected to the highly important of membership in the State Senate and House, and then later complain that the legislature is doing a poor job."

"When honest and respected businessmen, professional people, ranchers and farmers decide that the business of state is important enough to devote a small amount of their personal time to improving our state government, they will find little difficulty in being elected to membership in the legislature," Culberson said.

Stating that there were many fine men in the last legislature, the Lordburg ranchman said there is vast room for improvement by defeating those who have demonstrated their inability to fairly represent the people. "We need men and women who are above petty politics and who are known to hold the welfare of New Mexico above their personal desires."

"While our association does not endorse either political party, we do endorse the principles of good government, and this can only be attained in New Mexico through nomination and election of honest, reliable and respected citizens to the next state legislature," Culberson concluded.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Zumwalt returned home from Colorado Wednesday.

The Carrizozo Hardware put in our new gas system at the old schoolhouse last week. We were able to use it for the first time Sunday, and we certainly enjoyed it. Also we were able to use two new Sunday School rooms in the back.

Louise Zumwalt attended the birthday party for Toby English Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Snow were Sunday callers at the A. B. Zumwalt home.

Miss Martha Smith of Columbus, N. M., was a week end guest at the Mert Zumwalt home.

Glyn Zumwalt was home from Torrance over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Nagy and daughter Susie of El Paso were Saturday visitors at the home of Mrs. Nagy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. R. LaMay.

We are sorry to have to report that Mrs. LaMay is back in the hospital at Ruidoso. They took her over Sunday. She is expected to be there about a week. She is feeling better.

Carrizozo Grade Schol News

By SELMA TEAGUE

The grade school is still looking forward to the carnival on Thursday.

Mrs. Teague's candidates for King and Queen are Raymer Shaw and Minette Smoot. Instead of Dianne Barrington, Cherry Miller is the candidate in Mrs. Harris's second grade. The King and Queen contest will close at 8 p.m. The votes will be counted and coronation will be at 9 in the auditorium.

Again we wish to thank the parents for their cooperation. We also want to invite you to come and enjoy the fun.

Frosh vs. Weed In Season's Final

The Carrizozo Freshmen will wind up their 1955-56 cage season this Friday evening when they meet the Weed "B" team on the Grizzly hardwood at 7 p.m.

The Grizzly frosh will be looking for win number thirteen of the season Friday evening, having notched number twelve last Thursday at Tularosa at the expense of the Tularosa frosh, 44-40.

Earlier last week, Tularosa had gained a 58-56 overtime win over the Grizzlies. Playing their last time in freshman uniform for Carrizozo will be Sunny Shrum, Maxie Saucedo, the co-captains of the Grizzlies; Joe Petty, Jack Hecker, Lewis Greer, Buddy Duncan, Emilio Beltran, Harry Rickerson and Pat Aguilar.

Against the Wildcats, Emilio Beltran played one of his finest games of the season, scoring 16 points, while Buddy Duncan ably filled in for the injured Lewis Greer with 11 tallies.

The Grizzly frosh have lost to three clubs this year, Alamogordo (three times), Hondo by a five point margin and Tularosa in an overtime affair.

While the Grizzlies were losing five, they annexed the 1956 Bean Valley Conference Championship and were the runner-up in the 1956 Carrizozo Freshman tourney, losing to Alamogordo in the finals. Alamogordo enjoyed an undefeated freshman season.

ENDED ON HIGH NOTE

Connie Mack, the grand old man of baseball who died a few days ago, started and ended his 56 managerial years the same way. The Sporting News says that in his first game as manager of the Pittsburgh Nationals in 1891, his team beat Washington, 22 to 1. On his last day as manager, with the Athletics in 1950, he also won over Washington, 5 to 3.

Corona to Enter Regional Playoffs

The Corona Cardinals took the District 3B championship Saturday night, Feb. 25, by downing Our Lady of Sorrows 45 to 39.

Coach S. J. Earle's Cardinals lived up to their number 1 seed by sweeping through the 14-team district play on Thursday, Friday and Saturday at Moriarty. The Cardinals met the Albuquerque Indian School Friday and won 55-27 for their first win. Pat Huey and Billy Bryan had 17 and 14 points to lead Corona. Their second game was against the host Moriarty team. Corona led by 10 points most of the game, but the Pintos got hot and tied the game 50-50.

In the overtime Pat Huey hit 8, Eddie Knight 2 and Norris Proctor 3 to score 13 points to the Pintos' 4 and won, 63-54. Pat Huey had 24, Jack Allrez 14, Billy Bryan 10 in the semi-final game.

In the championship game Saturday night with Our Lady of Sorrows of Bernalillo the Cardinals were tied 21-21 at the half, but a big third quarter of 17 points put the Cardinals ahead to stay and bring back their second district 3B Championship in two years by a score of 54-39. Pat Huey has 19 and Eddie Knight had 14 points in the final game.

The Cardinals now have racked up a season record of 22 wins against 3 defeats. Corona goes to the regional this week at Gallup. Their first game is with Fort Wingate at 7:30 Friday night, March 2. A win over Fort Wingate would take the Cardinals to the State Championship games again this year.

The Cardinals won their first game of the tournament in the quarter finals, stopping the Albuquerque Indians easily, 55 to 27. The score by quarters was: Corona ... 21 10 16 8—55
AIS 4 6 7 10—27

Corona proved its strength when the pressure was on in forging ahead of Moriarty in overtime play in a semi-final contest. Score by quarters: Corona - 12 15 15 8—53
Moriarty 6 11 17 16—51

Half time in the championship game saw the Cardinals and OLS tied 21-21, but a strong third quarter built up a lead for Corona that carried them to a final victory, and the 3B crown. Score by quarters: Corona ... 10 11 17 7—45
OLS 11 10 9 9—39

Estancla defeated Moriarty 60 to 51, to take third place in the tournament.

Capitan

by MARGARET BENCH

Julian Herrera plans to go to work near Las Cruces very soon. Blondie will operate the El Centro Bar by himself.

Macie Edmondson went to Roswell for a few days on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Bell moved from the Barrett Ranch to their home in Valentine due to his ill health. He is in the hospital there. We are sorry they had to leave us but express our best wishes for his speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Gadyos and Jimmy visited her parents, the Leo Fowells this past week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Bingham of Grants went to Carlsbad Caverns, visited their relatives there, then came to Capitan for two nights with Mr. and Mrs. Leo Powell and Bobby. Then out to visit the Leo Robinsons.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Christof of Roswell are visiting the Dub Wright family for several days.

John Soderback is back on the job after a week's illness. We missed you and are glad to see you back.

Hollis Cummins attended the basketball game in Roswell last Saturday. Capitan won the game that afternoon.

M. M. Read and son (Mr. and Mrs. Claude Read) and Mr. and Mrs. Fredrick of Cloudcroft, visited Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Cummins.

Mr. and Mrs. Dee Hickman met in Roswell last Sunday when they all went to Ray's home for a pleasant day at Hope, New Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Cummins had their 34th wedding anniversary on February 24. Her mother, Mrs. Adda Sellers, spent the day with them.

Hollis Cummins drove to El Paso for the day Sunday.

Speaking of terrific winds, we have had them since Friday noon until about 5 p.m. Monday. It was very cold all day. It was a relief to see and feel it calm outside. March winds arrived a little early it seems. Thursday brings March for another year. We have enjoyed the past months also the winter as well. We do hope the grasshoppers are no more and that the range will be beautiful to give our ranchers a good year.

The sawmill is in operation now. They trimmed lumber Sunday. The planer was to start Tuesday. The logging crew is busy too. They are a week ahead of the mill with their logs. I do know all of them are very happy to be back to work.

The Mountain Valley Motel surely does look beautiful at night when their green and red neon lights on their roof are lighted. That is a grand improvement. We are mighty proud to see each advancement.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Young and baby son returned last Saturday from Forman, Ark., where they were called to the bedside of her mother who passed away a few days after they arrived there. They were there two weeks. We do extend our sincere sympathy.

YES, ADVERTISING PAYS

A retail grocers' association reports that of every 100 customers put on the books of any store in any one year, only 19 remain 10 years. Citing this the Sandersonville, Georgia, Progress, says: "Merchants who believe everyone knows where my store is might ponder these figures and seek more new customers through planned newspaper advertising in the home town newspaper."

Competition is mighty keen in retailing these days, and the successful merchant must vigorously go after business. The home town newspaper is still the best place to advertise any store's wares and attractions.

The East Texas oil field produced more than 75 million barrels, last year, three times as much as any other field in the United States.

Capitan Couple Entertains on 50th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Hunt Hobbs entertained with open house at their home in Capitan on Sunday afternoon, February 26, honored their 50th wedding anniversary. Approximately a hundred friends called during the afternoon.

The couple were married in Capitan and have lived there most of the time since.

Two highlights of the day were telephone calls, one from their daughter, Mrs. James Huckabay of San Jose, Calif., and one from Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Knudsen of Oakland, Calif. The Knudsens are long time friends, Mrs. Knudsen having taught in the Capitan schools several years ago.

The table was beautifully decorated with a crocheted tablecloth made by Mrs. Hobbs' niece, Mrs. Gene Woodward. A three-tier wedding cake was the centerpiece. Golden gilded candles bedecked the sideboard.

Mrs. Hobbs wore a corsage and Mr. Hobbs a boutonniere of ranunculus.

The Hobbs were the recipients of many gifts and beautiful flowers. Mrs. G. A. Titworth presided at the guest book.

Guests other than from Capitan came from Carrizozo, Tinnie, Roswell, El Paso, Alamogordo, Los Alamos and Glencoe.

The open house was preceded by a lunch given by Mrs. Hobbs for 19 relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Hobbs wish their many friends to know how much they enjoyed and appreciated their calling.

Services in Texas For R. E. Fleming

We are deeply grieved to learn of the death of R. E. Fleming who recently moved to Picoacho. He was a retired paymaster for the Santa Fe Railway. He was laid to rest in Slaton, Texas. His wife is Macie Edmondson's niece. She will continue to live in their apartment in a wing of the Louise Massey Home. We do express our sincere sympathy.

Lydia Carabajal, who has been so ill in El Paso, is improving very nicely under treatment. The report is that she is now able to write. She was unable to use her arms so this is a great accomplishment. If she continues to improve she will be home this next week. If not she will be taken to Truth of Consequences for further treatment. We pray she will be able to come home soon and become active again.

Teddy Cummins, who is in the Service in Anchorage, Alaska, writes his parents that they had the worst blizzard in years with three feet of snow in one storm that blew and drifted. He said he is certainly enjoying being out in the snow. He also stated that he is receiving his paper regularly now and that he does enjoy it. We are glad.

Mrs. Dub Wright is baking and selling pies. They are delicious. Remember her when you are interested. She lives in the Wilson home across from the Cummins' Grocery & Market.

Wood Storm Sash Act as Insulators, Give Fuel Savings

A house without tight-fitting storm sash is poorly equipped for the rigors of winter.

Studies by the University of Illinois Small Homes Council show that tight-fitting storm windows can bring fuel savings of 20 percent or more.

What does a storm window do?
1. It provides approximately 3½ inches of good insulation between the outdoors and the room.
2. It reduces drafts.
3. It reduces infiltration of cold air.

Combination ponderosa pine storm windows are particularly convenient for home-owners. They are light in weight and strong. In addition, wood, a poor conductor of heat, is a good insulator. Water does not condense on it and so there is no "sweating" problem.

Boy's Room Brightened

Open up those walls and let the sun shine in. Twin double-hung windows turn Junior's dark little bedroom into a sunny, cheerful place to sleep, study and play. The large glass areas make the room seem larger, too. Both windows and built-in desk are made of ponderosa pine, a smooth, light wood which is easy to decorate in any color, stain, or varnish. Knocking out a section of the wall and installing windows may not be a job for the home handyman, but it usually can be done with comparatively little trouble and expense.

Flowers Sent Hospital Greatly Appreciated

The church at Fort Stanton gave flowers to the Hospital in Carrizozo. Some were placed in Mrs. Dee Hickman's room while she was there. She wishes to express the beauty of them though they were not for her personally. She wants to say thanks for just being able to view and enjoy them. She states, "Oh, but they were beautiful and so lovely."

Another Victim of Dog Poisoners

Susie, a Boxer dog, was poisoned and died February 23. Her parents were A. K. C. champions. She was two years old the 17th. She was a good friend of all the children and kept them happy by playing with them. How sorry we are. I know just how you feel about it. Mrs. Lucy will pay $50 reward for the guilty person who was responsible for the great loss of that dog. The Lacey's are very deeply grieved.

Out-of-town Guests Attend Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Hunt Hobbs and Irene of Los Alamos, N. M., spent this week end visiting his mother, Mrs. Rose Hobbs, and to attend the 50th wedding anniversary of his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Hunt Hobbs.

Miss Lillian Tuttle of Alamogordo, Mr. and Mrs. Abbey, Mrs. Roy Morgan, and her daughter Mrs. Chapman, also of Alamogordo, were here to attend the golden anniversary celebration.

Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Pool and daughter Cathy are visiting her sister and family Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Lacy.

Welcome, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Lacy, to our list of subscribers to our Lincoln County News. We do hope that you will enjoy it. We will do our best to keep you interested.

Lewis Cummins drove to Roswell last Saturday to the game. Capitan and Dexter played and Dexter won by a few points. They were all exciting games. People here were very excited just listening to them over their radio.

FRIENDLY MUSICIAN OF THE AIR

(Contributed by a Subscriber)

Who is the Mocking Bird? He lights on a limb of a grand old Juniper And says to the other birds Who are in a cedar tree near "Hill there you birds over there again."

Come on, let's be friends. And please don't be sore At me for swiping your tunes Cause I love music so much Please let's be friends and neighbors."

Okay, they say that suits us to a tee. Fine, I like good sports. I sure am one, so let's take off Where there are plenty of worms and bugs.

With our God-made wings; We'll go sailing, sailing thru the air

And remember we don't crash, It's the man-made wings that Kill so many folks.

Flying through the air at such terrific speed At six-hundred miles per hour In only six hours from New York to London

And four hours from Los Angeles to New York! We go sailing, sailing thru the air

Like sensible folks, in our skyward flight— Sailing, sailing thru the air With our leader, the Mocking Bird."

He says to us while gliding thru the air

Let's go over to the Capitans And see the Gap Between the east and west Mountains.

They are so nice So many stately pines and enormous junipers.

Why yes, we'd be glad to. Oh, isn't this so nice to be sailing, sailing, sailing thru the air

Say these many tuned feathered Knights of the air. Who in their own hearts know That it's truly Springtime in the Rockies

And with their visit there, They go sailing, sailing thru the air

To the Carrizo Mountains Needing no man-made runways. The King of the Universe Had that already planned for them.

One of them says to this feathered Clown of the air Let's journey thru Bano Gap And see what's up on the summit

Of Baxter Mountain. Then when we get through looking around We'll go sailing, sailing thru the air

Over what once was the thriving town of White Oaks To Church Mountain and the Whitties.

And after their stay there This Prince of the air, on their arrival home

At the foot of the Capitans Says, "Gee, didn't we have a nice trip."

Bussey-Lovelace Nuptials in Clauch

Wedding vows were repeated by Miss Neida Lovelace and Mrs. Lonnie Bussey in a double ring ceremony at 12 o'clock noon Sunday, February 19, in the Assembly of God Church at Clauch. Rev. J. L. Wells officiated. Miss Sherrill Perkins of Corona played Indian Love Call, Whither Thou Goest, and the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Lovelace of Clauch. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Montey Bussey of Clauch.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a street length dress of light blue taffeta, and a Juliet cap of small feathers and rhinestones. Her bouquet was of white carnations with long streamers of white satin ribbon.

Mrs. Byron Yancey of Corona attended as matron of honor. She chose a rose taffeta street length dress and wore an orchid corsage. Jimmie Bussey, brother of the groom, served as best man.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Lovelace chose a street length dress in dark red, flecked with blue, white, orange and green and an orchid corsage. The groom's mother chose a grey linen street length dress trimmed in black. Her corsage was pink rosebuds.

Following the ceremony a basket dinner and reception at the school house was enjoyed by out of town guests and community folk. The bride and groom cut a beautiful pink and white wedding cake with the traditional bride and groom on top.

The young couple received many lovely and useful gifts.

Out of town guests were Mrs. Dora Bussey, Mrs. Al. O. Colker, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Ony, John Fowler, Don Easley, Mrs. Bettie Hunton and children, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Montgomery of Albuquerque; Mrs. Barney Lindsey

Eyebrow Adds Drama

Wide roof overhang makes house larger, adds architectural drama.

"A house without distinctive room overhangs is about as complete as a face without eyebrows," says John Abbate, New York decorator and color stylist.

Abbate recommends that roof overhangs be extended from the customary 2 or 4 inches to 18 or even 24 inches, whether the roof pitch is steep or low.

This "eyebrow line" gives a house "architectural drama," he feels, and "the smaller the house the more important is a wide, handsome overhang. It's the least expensive way to make the house larger and more important in appearance."

Dramatic architectural features are necessary to do justice to modern building materials, Abbate says. "If you choose one of today's striking new color-blends in asphalt roof shingles, such as an icy blue-green or russet-brown, you want people to be sure to see it. Prominent overhangs bring the roof down to where it invites the observer's attention, and offers a pleasing contrast to the sidewalls.

Among other advantages of wide overhangs, Abbate mentions the "deep shadow line, which keeps exterior walls and window areas cooler in mid-summer. The shadow itself is an ornament, an ever-changing band of darker hue against sun-lit sidewalls. An overhang also offers protection from rain, as well as from sun, preventing windows from becoming splattered and interiors from getting soaked when open windows are forgotten during a sudden storm."

FARM ACCOUNTING CAN PAY DIVIDENDS

For every $100 of forgotten and unrecorded farm expenses, you overpay your income taxes by about $25. The best way to avoid such overpayment, as well as a mad scramble at income-tax time, and a tax-reporting headache is to keep a set of farm records.

Help at income-tax time is only one reason why the modern farmer needs good farm records. With farming rapidly becoming more complex each year, it is necessary for farmers to know the facts rather than to guess about their business affairs. It is next to impossible to manage a farm business efficiently and profitably without adequate records.

Adequate farm records can be kept in simple form without a great deal of time being spent on them. Establish a regular routine so that you get into the habit of doing your bookkeeping at the same time every day. Often, a farmer's wife can find time to pay the bills and make the entries, and her figures may be neater and easier to read.

A complete record of the farm receipts and farm expenses, together with inventory changes, furnishes the necessary figures for calculating labor income. Labor income is what a farmer gets for his year's work above interest on his investment and all farm expenses, in addition to having a house to live in and farm products to use in the home.

Engraved Invitations Sent for a Hanging

How engraved invitations to a hanging were sent out in early-day Albuquerque is told by Roy A. Stamm in an article entitled "Boardwalk Town" in the March issue of New Mexico Magazine.

Miff Yarberry had killed a man, and his was to be the new community's first hanging. There was considerable controversy over the case. Citizens took sides. But the event came off without incident at the Old Town court house.

Mr. Stamm also recounts the method by which Albuquerque remained comparatively "clean" while other western frontier towns were stamping grounds for assorted bad men. He says that in Albuquerque the tough guys were quietly disarmed on arrival. "We'll keep the guns till you're ready to leave," the marshall would tell them. "It's the law here." All customers at local saloons were required to check their shooting irons.

In the same issue, L. C. Bolten, conservationist, pleads for greater efforts to restore the native grasses in New Mexico, of which he says there are 135 having "livestock adaptability." He says it would save a lot of water, and that quite a few people are having success with lawns of grama and buffalo grass where other types of lawn have failed. His title: "Nature's Flower Garden." County's Red Cross Quota Is $1,495

In addition to the advance gifts division there will be workers from every community helping with the drive. Every resident of Lincoln County is urged to contribute and help reach the goal.

Koance, describes what the Holoman guided missile project has done for Alamogordo. Margaret Page Hood, in "A for Agriculture," outlines New Mexico farmers' accomplishments in producing $91 million worth of products annually.

In addition to eight pages with color illustrations, the issue contains an article and pencil sketches by Frank H. Young, director of the American Academy of Art, Chicago, who cites the abundant opportunities for sketching in this State.

Boy of 10 Creates Tale of Abduction

Glenn Snow, who is attending A&M College at Fort Collins, Colo., had an unusual experience recently, as reported in a Fort Collins newspaper. The abandoned auto plate picked up by the youth and around which he wove his fantastic tale of abduction, were from Mr. Snow's 1955 Pontiac. The account follows:

BOY OF 10 IMAGINES HIS OWN KIDNAPPING

Police investigation revealed Tuesday that a child's imagination can be a wondrous thing. Ten-year-old Bernard Huiton admitted to officers here that he had made up a story of being abducted by two masked men in a pickup truck Monday night.

He had reported that the men had struck him on the head with a rubber hose and pulled him into the truck. They had driven downtown and stopped and the boy said he escaped from the vehicle then.

Checking a 1955 New Mexico license plate which the boy said he took from the truck as he escaped, police found the plate had been discarded at a local gasoline station by a former New Mexico resident now living in Fort Collins. He apparently obtained the plate while playing around the station.

The nation's trucks move more petroleum than any other single commodity.

Letter Describes Europe's Big Freeze

(Service) people stationed in Europe have had trying experiences, along with the civilian population during this, the coldest winter in Europe in half a century. Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Snow of Carrizozo received a letter last week from their daughter-in-law, wife of Capt. Charles A. Snow, stationed somewhere in France. It follows:

Received your nice letter today. Charles has been gone these past two and a half weeks though and it's been pretty bad. The well went dry on the base so we had no water and I managed that. I hauled it but then our electricity went out too and we nearly froze. These trailers were never made for cold weather. I hung blankets over the doors and windows and that helped out, but the wind blew in around the blankets. Our windows had ice a half inch thick on the inside. I hope we never have to live through that again.

For several days I couldn't get out to get water and that was bad. Small babies take a lot of water. We have had very little school. It's been too cold and the heating system was off in the schools. They ran 220 volts on my electric wire and blew everything up. No problem there though. I just put the baby's milk outside.

But the baby's formula froze in the bottles and they burst, so now I have two left. I put it out in plastic containers now. Live and learn, I guess. The French people in this small town hear us have had a time. Most of them heat with gas and their gas plant blew up so they are plenty cold too.

Charles was in Baghdad, Iran, last night so he should be home tomorrow. I certainly hope so because our furnace froze last night before last and I've been getting what heat I can from the oven so I've been pretty chilly. The baby doesn't notice the cold so much because she stays covered up all the time but Tawn and Jody really do though I keep them warmly dressed with fur-lined boots on all the time.

The children have told everyone you are coming and are they the envy of all the children. They tell their friends they can come and look at you and when

Social Security Checks May Be Recomputed

Your social security retirement checks may be raised, if your average earnings have been increased since you first became entitled to benefits by applying for a recomputation," J. Hassler Strickland, Manager of the Roswell Social Security Administration Office said this week.

Many workers and self-employed persons retire, begin receiving social security checks, and then return to work. Their benefit rates are based on the average earnings covered by the law up to the time they first retire. The increase in annual amounts the government can use in figuring retirement payments from $3600 to $4200 in 1955 and later years as well as general increases in earnings level of many social security beneficiaries.

For the above reason, a person who plans to retire again, or who has reached the age of 72 and can get payments without retiring, or one who is earning not more than $2080 per year should contact his social security office and inquire about recomputations.

They are angry they tell them they won't let them look at you at all.

Motorists Find Haven in Carrizozo During Blizzard

Many out-of-state motorists were traveling through New Mexico during the recent blizzard and found haven in motels and tourist camps in the State until the storm subsided and highways again became passable.

Among them were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Guyer of West York, Ill. Following their return home, the Robinson (Ill.) Daily News, reported their eventful trip as follows:

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Guyer of West York, Ill. had the unusual experience of outlasting torrential rains only to run into a sand filled snow blizzard that same evening which kept them snowed in for a full day during a recent Western trip.

They were returning home from California to Illinois by way of Coolidge Dam, Ariz., and Las Cruces and Tucuman, New Mexico, on February 1. The weather was foggy and there was frequent heavy rainfall as they drew close to the Continental Divide. "The rain engulfed the travelers and then just as suddenly they would drive out of it."

Mr. Guyer described the sky as filled with "ominous clouds which threatened to obscure the higher mountain peaks, while forward and to the right the sun and clouds spread fleeing patterns over the country side."

RAINBOW AT WHITE SANDS
"Skirting the east rim of White Sands National Monument about 1 p.m. was a brilliant rainbow arched over the northern horizon in contrast to the snow white sand dunes to the west."

By nightfall the travelers had reached the valley between the Sacramento and San Andres mountain ranges, when suddenly the wind broke loose over the foothills of the Sierra Blanco Peak, bringing with it dense clouds of dust and snow. They felt a great deal relieved when they saw the lights of Carrizozo and the motel behind the protection of a stone wall.

Mr. Guyer stated that "all night long the storm raged, dirty snow sifted through every crack and cranny and the mercury plunged to near zero by morning. Travelers attempting to proceed on their journey east, west, north or south were greeted with the news that drifts were forming in the cuts and mountain passes.

"Several cars had to be towed to garages or filling stations." By noon the sun attempted to shine, but soon disappeared when gray clouds enveloped the valley again.

Mr. and Mrs. Guyer took the advice of the old timers of the area and stayed over till the next day. When they finally decided to continue their trip northward they found snow flurries and the highway very slippery. After traveling under these conditions for about 100 miles they emerged onto dry, solid highway.

Mr. and Mrs. Guyer mentioned a few people who had shown them some of the western hospitality during the storm. They were, Jim Cooper, a pioneer ranchman; the Lincoln County Motors Inc.; and the Bell motel management.

• JEST IN FUN

A local citizen, known as a hard bargainer, asked a new clerk in a hardware store: "How long will this fire extinguisher last?" The clerk didn't know, but he took a shot in the dark: "Fifty years."

"Can't use it," retorted the would-be customer. "Don't expect to live that long."

"Well," suggested the clerk, "why don't you plan to take it with you?"

Young Husband: "This pie is burnt. Send it back to the store."
Young Wife: "I didn't buy it. It's my own creation."

Illegibility has been described as a doctor's prescription written with a post office pen in the back seat of a 1956 station wagon.

Postmasters Thanked By Heart Association

Albuquerque. (Special) — A message of thanks, addressed to the postmasters of Lincoln County, has been issued by the New Mexico Heart Association.

"These community leaders play a quiet but very important part in many worthy campaigns," Mrs. Emory A. Nielsen, association president, pointed out. "They helped make our February Heart Fund campaign a success, and they assist us—and other community service groups—all through the year."

She explained that donations for heart research and community work can be sent to the Heart Association at any time simply by addressing an envelope to "H-E-A-R-T" in care of any postmaster in New Mexico. Postal employees forward these envelopes to Postmaster Hugh Cooper in Albuquerque and his staff routes them to the office of the New Mexico Heart Association in Santa Fe.

"This is a very important service to us," said Mrs. Nielsen. "Many people do not know our address, but they can reach us through their postmasters." Such gifts are used for research into the causes and treatment of heart disease and are also used in community programs throughout New Mexico to help people take advantage of research knowledge already gained.

Mrs. Nielsen has asked that the thanks of the New Mexico Heart Association go to the postmasters of Carrizozo, Ruidoso, Capitlan, Corona, Fort Stanton, Green Tree, Hollywood, Alto, Ancho, Glencoe, Hondo, Lincoln, Nogal, Picocho, San Patricio and Tinnie.

Publication Describes Alfalfa Pest

Latest recommendations for the control of the spotted alfalfa aphid were released this week in a five-page mimeographed publication by New Mexico A&M College's Agricultural Extension Service. The recommendations were compiled by John A. Durkin, extension entomologist.

In the publication, Durkin tells how to control the aphid in alfalfa hay crops, alfalfa seed crops, alfalfa seedling stands and dormant stands, and dormant stands used for pasture. Copies of the publication are available at the county Extension office in Carrizozo.

STATE GAME DEPARTMENT

FISHING PROSPECTS GOOD

"Fishing conditions appear to be excellent for Chama-Brazos area, El Vado Lake, and Chama River below El Vado dam for 1956 season," according to a letter from Bill Faris of Tierra Amarilla. Faris describes a record snowfall on Cumbres Pass—124 inches on the ground on February 16, and over 180 inches fallen since November 1. "Trout season will open May 1."

SURPLUS ANTELOPE TRADED

Tentative plans were under way as the Newsletter went to press, for the trapping of antelope on the King and Faver ranches of the Capulin area. These surplus animals are to go to Oklahoma in a reciprocal arrangement that involves 100 antelope. About half of them have already been delivered. Conservation Officer Elmo Traylor and Crew Foreman Virgil Jones, and personnel from Oklahoma with their pickups, were scheduled to be on hand for the trapping operation.

Some of the animals are going only a short distance east of New Mexico, and it would be no surprise to the game management men to find that a few had wandered back into the home state.

BAIT APLENTY

Any fish, from carp to trout, will happily sample macaroni, spaghetti, cheese, corn, bread, blueberries, shrimp, liver and bacon, according to Don Shifner in the current issue of The Fisherman Magazine. He has fished successfully with all of these.

TROUT PLANTINGS

So far in February, 407,000 brown trout have been planted. They have gone into the Rio Grande from Hondo bridge to Velarde; Chama river from below El Vado to town of Chama; the San Antonio, Jemez and Los Pinos Rivers; and Cow Creek. Rainbows over six inches, planted in the same period, came to 11,100. They were planted in the Rio Grande, and in the Atrisco, San Antonio, Albuquerque-Riverside and Peralta drains. Tentative plans of the Department of Game and Fish for the current week are for trout plantings in the Animas River, in the Atrisco and the Albuquerque-Riverside drains, the gilling pool below Alamogordo dam, middle Rio Grande, and Riverside pond.

WHERE ANGELS FEAR TO TREAD

A dramatic portrayal of a boy's love for his dog come from the New Hampshire Fish and Game Department. The boy, a 15-year-old, was returning home from a walk in the woods about sundown, with his pet collie running ahead. The dog disappeared behind a fallen tree and suddenly barked and yelped. Dick ran to a fallen tree and climbed on it, and saw his dog in furious battle with a bear. "Laddie!" he yelled. The bear turned and looked directly at him. With another yell, the boy leaped from the tree and charged the bear with his hunting knife. The bear turned and fled up the hill.

Dick helped the mauled dog home, where Laddie collapsed. When the boy realized the enormity of his challenge to the bear, he was somewhat shaken, too.

Tax Allowances for Joint Operators of Mineral Properties

S. P. Vidal, District Director of Internal Revenue, this week clarified the new provision of the Federal income tax which, upon proper election, allows the members of an unincorporated organization "availed of for the joint production, extraction, or use of property, but not for the purpose of selling services or property produced or extracted" to be excluded from the application of all or part of Subchapter K, relating to partners and partnerships.

The absence of final regulations under Sec. 761 of the Code has made it impossible for joint operators of mineral properties to determine whether an election should be made when filing their returns for 1955. In view of this situation, if the participants in any joint operating agreement entered into prior to January 1, 1956 where (or in the absence of the 1954 Code, would have been) required under I. T. 3930 to file only a qualified partnership return, they will be allowed 90 days after the promulgation of final regulations under Sec. 761 of the 1954 Code (but no more than six months after the due date for such return under Sec. 6072 (b)) to file any partnership returns or other information required under such regulations.

Mining Engineer Wins Gold Medal Award

New York—Louis Buchman, Salt Lake City, has received the William Lawrence Saunders Gold Medal of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers for "distinguished achievement as a mining engineer."

The medal was presented at the annual banquet of the AIME here last week.

Mr. Buchman was vice president and general manager of the Western Mining Divisions of Kennecott Copper Corporation until his retirement in 1953.

The citation stated that the award was especially for Buchman's work in the development of open pit methods for mining copper ores, particularly in the fields of mechanization, electrification and standardization.

Along the Way.

By PAUL BAKER

The decision of President Eisenhower to re-enlist for another campaign seemed to have been expected by a good many. Those of us who had thought he would choose to take life a little easier on his farm at Gettysburg underestimated the president's courage and determination to carry on with his program of peace and prosperity. The president will stay at the helm of government if it is the people's wish. It should be an inspiration to all of us to keep pitching as long as we can get the ball over the plate.

One of the last requests of the late Dr. E. E. Blaney was that his dental instruments be turned over to Carrizozo's new dentist. The request was made to his close friend, J. H. Fulmer. Dr. Blaney died on January 14, 1947. Almost ten years passed before Mr. Fulmer was able to comply with Dr. Blaney's request. Last week with the opening of a dental office in Carrizozo, Mr. Fulmer presented Dr. A. L. Sadowski with a kit containing many dental instruments — most of them in excellent condition. Dr. Blaney practiced his profession in Carrizozo for many years up until a year before his death. He had an office on the second floor of the Masonic Building and later on the second floor of the Carrizozo Hardware Company building. He was civic-minded, an ardent booster for good roads, and in his passing the community lost one of its finest citizens.

We spent several pleasant hours Sunday afternoon at the home of D. L. Jackson in White Oaks. His tape recorded interview will be published in a forthcoming issue of the News. Among the keepers he showed us were 1884 and 1885 files of The Golden Era, published by M. S. and Jones Talliferro. Jno W. Poe was sheriff at the time. Mr. Jackson also has a well preserved copy of the Old Abe Eagle, published by Frank G. Raible. Two items in the Eagle, issue of December 21, 1933, follow:

"At the last regular communication of the Masonic Lodge the following officers were elected: W. M., George Keith; S. W., A. L. Parker; J. W., Dr. Carl Hagen; Treas., B. F. Gunn; Sec'y, Albert Collier; Tyler, Geo. Keister."

"A dense smoke overhung the horizon in the direction of the White Mountains, yesterday and it is feared that a forest fire is raging over there. Later — it has since developed that Dr. Parker is hunting turkeys in the vicinity of Three Rivers. P.S. — That accounts for the smoke."

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Alexander of Mockingbird Gap are new subscribers to the News. Mr. Alexander is a civil service employe connected with the Oscura Range Camp. He pumps water at the Gap water center, which is then hauled by trucks to the camp. The soft water well produces 35 gallons per minute.

Bob Koonce, who operates the White Sands Concession Company, has had a pamphlet printed which describes various ore samples which are sold at the concession stand. He says thousands of these pamphlets will go to tourists everywhere. One of the specimens for sale is gold ore from White Oaks, which is 70 miles northeast of the Sands.

The last significant mining operation in White Oaks was by Herman Kelt, the Carrizozo postmaster, but sporadic mining and panning helped some people weather the depression. D. L. Jackson is the only early-day miner left in residence there.

Norman Crider has a supporting role in a forthcoming play at A&M College, entitled "The Imaginary Invalid." It is being produced by the Coronado Playmakers at the College.

A hike in the license fees of some classes of trucks has caused some protests locally. The increase resulted from the passage by the last legislature of Senate Bill 275, introduced by Charles Royal of Silver City. A former millage tax was eliminated and license fees on trucks increased. The measure passed the house and senate by a considerable majority. One of eight votes registered against the bill in the senate was cast by Sen. J. G. Moore. U. S. Senator Clinton D. Anderson, writes from Washington that the Socorro General Hospital has been approved for a loan of $150,000 from the Health, Education and Welfare Dept. to construct a 22-bed structure at a total cost of $308,000. Sen. Anderson will discuss the loan situation on CBS TV at 8:30 p.m., March 1.

School tax division collections by the State Bureau of Revenue for the month of January, 1958, are reported at $2,861,500, an increase of 16% up from the same month last year. In a speech in the House of Representatives Tuesday, Congressman John J. Dingeman attacked the power interests of Southern California for their opposition to the Colorado River Bill. "These power interests," he said, "are opposed to the bill because they want to keep the power in their own hands."

SIMMS TROUBLES ARE MOUNTING
SANTA FE, March 1 — Gov. John Simms is confronted with a serious get-right chore among his own political associates in his go for a second term.

Two important party meetings last week-end heard long lists of speakers who carried on for hours without mentioning the name of every trick, fair or foul, to defeat this bill. For many years they have waxed fat from electrical energy developed by this Upper Basin water — over the 7,500,000 acre feet annually allotted to the Lower Basin States under the Colorado River Compact. Worst of all, fully half of this water, which rightfully belongs to the Upper Basin states is flowing eventually into the Pacific Ocean after it has turned the turbines at Hoover dam. This waste of our water resources has been going on for three decades. To the water-starved and drought stricken states in the Upper Colorado Basin, now helpless to protect themselves, this can be regarded as nothing less than an outrage.

Southern California vested power interests are reaching into the pocket of every taxpayer in the nation when they seek to further deprive the Colorado Plateau of the water which it must have to continue its development. The American people are being defrauded. Only the proper conservation and utilization of the Colorado River waters in the Upper Basin can properly protect their interests. It is manifestly the obligation of the Congress to enact this legislation in furtherance of the public interest.

GM MOTORAMA HERALDS FUTURE

NEW YORK — The possible pattern of highway travel of the future is dramatized in the National Motorama exhibition of 1958, shown here at a New York address where the Motorama stage construction of the "Wahwah-Wahwah Drive" is shown. The stage construction is a three mile long "Wahwah Drive" which will travel at 100 m.p.h. and later in Los Angeles, San Francisco, San Diego.

By PAUL MAKER

The decision of President Eisenhower to re-enlist for another campaign seemed to have been expected by a good many. Those of us who had thought he would choose to take life a little easier on his farm at Gettysburg underestimated the president's courage and determination to carry on with his program of peace and prosperity. The president will stay at the helm of government if it is the peoples' wish. It should be an inspiration to all of us to keep pitching as long as we can get the ball over the plate.

One of the last requests of the late Dr. R. E. Blaney was that his dental instruments be turned over to Carrizozo's new dentist. The request was made to his close friend, J. H. Fulmer. Dr. Blaney died on January 14, 1947. Almost ten years passed before Mr. Fulmer was able to comply with Dr. Blaney's request. Last week, with the opening of a dental office in Carrizozo, Mr. Fulmer presented Dr. A. I. Sadovskid with a kit containing many dental instruments - most of them in excellent condition. Dr. Blaney practiced his profession in Carrizozo for many years up until a year before his death. He had an office on the second floor of the Masonic Building and later on the second floor of the Carrizozo Hardware Company building. He was civic minded, an ardent booster for good roads, and in his passing the community lost one of its finest citizens.

We spent several pleasant hours Sunday afternoon at the home of D. L. Jackson in White Oaks. His tape recorded interview will be published in a forthcoming issue of the News. Among the keepsakes he showed us were 1884 and 1885 files of The Golden Era, published by M. S. and Jones Tallaferrero. In W. Poe was sheriff at the time. Mr. Jackson also has a well preserved copy of the Old Abe Eagle, published by Frank G. Raible. Two items in the Eagle, issue of December 21, 1893, follow:

"At the last regular communication of the Masonic Lodge the following officers were elected: W. M., George Keith; S. W., A. L. Parker; J. W., Dr. Carl Hagen; Treas., B. F. Gumm; Sec'y, Elbert Collier; Tyler, Geo. Keeter." "A dense smoke overhung the horizon in the direction of the White Mountains, yesterday and it is feared that a forest fire is raging over there. Later it has since developed that Dr. Faden is hunting turkeys in the vicinity of Three Rivers, P.S.—That accounts for the smoke"

Mr and Mrs Dave Alexander of Mockingbird Gap are new subscribers to the News. Mr. Alexander is a civil service employe connected with the Occuro Rancho Camp. He pumps water at the Gap water ceator, which is then hauled by trucks to the camp. The soft water well produces 35 gallons per minute. Bob Koonec, who operates the White Sands Concession Company, has had a pamphlet printed which describes various ore samples which are sold at the concession stand. He says thousands of these pamphlets will go to tourists everywhere. One of the specimens for sale is gold ore from White Oaks, which is 70 miles northeast of the Sands. The last significant mining operation in White Oaks was by Herman Kelt, the Carrizozo postmaster, but sporadic mining and panning helped some people weather the depression. D. L. Jackson is the only early-day miner left in residence there.

Norman Crider has a supporting role in a forthcoming play at A&M College, entitled "The Imaginary Invalid." It is being produced by the Coronado Playmakers at the College.

A hike in the license fees of some classes of trucks has caused some protests locally. The increase resulted from the passage by the last legislature of Senate Bill 276, introduced by Charles Royal of Silver City. A former mileage tax was eliminated and license fees on trucks increased. The measure passed the house and senate by a considerable majority. One of eight votes registered against the bill in the senate was cast by Sen. J. G. Moore. U. S. Senator Clinton D. Anderson, writes from Washington that the Socorro General Hospital has been approved for a loan of $150,000 from the Health, Education and Welfare Dept. to construct a 22-bed structure at a total cost of $302,000. Sen. Anderson will discuss the farm situation on CBS TV at 8:30 p.m., March 1. School tax division collections by the State Bureau of Revenue for the month of January, 1955, are reported at $2,964,585.39, an increase of 18% up from the same month last year. In a speech in the House of Representatives Tuesday, Congressman John J. Dempsey attacked the power interests of Southern California for their opposition to the Colorado River Bill. "These power interests," he said, "are opposing governor's name. Albuquerque Democrats were shaken by an exchange of insults between Simms and a couple of prominent Democratic public officials: City Commission Chairman Maurice Sanchez and State Sen. California. That came a few days after a similar exchange between Simms and former Democratic State Treasurer Victor Salazar.

The recent friction in the party added to that which has been accumulating for more than a year could be serious for the governor if he should draw opposition in the primary filing next Tuesday. As this was written there was still a possibility of Corporation Commissioner Ingram Pickett taking on Simms in the May voting. Without a primary fight the governor would seem to have plenty of time to patch up the difficulties.

Tuesday, from 9 to 5, is filing time and the only filing time for the primary elections. People running for county offices and the state legislature file with county clerks, for state, district, and federal offices with the secretary of state in Santa Fe. The fee for state offices is 5% of one year's salary for the office sought, 3% for county offices. There is no fee for county surveyor, legislator and lieutenant governor who have no fixed compensation.

Interpretation of the new primary law has produced some freakish rulings. County school superintendents, although they may be paid as much as $7200 a year and no less than $3325, will pay fees based on a salary range of $2200 to $3000 according to the number of teachers in the system.
