With People Who Helped Build Lincoln County

DAVID L. JACKSON

When we were operating the North and South Homestake we sold our first tungsten. We didn't know until then that tungsten had any value. It had been thrown away and the only name they had for it was black-jack. That is what all the miners called it. We found out in 1911 that it was valuable and at that time, Boulder, Colo., had mined four-fifths of all the tungsten produced in the United States.

Tungsten yet is still a good paying proposition. As I understand it, the Little Mack mine is going to start up in a few days and work tungsten on a big scale. I don't know the source of the supply but I suppose they have it. That's why they are putting in caterpillars. As I understand, they have got the mill ready to go into operation in the next few days.

The old North Homestake was discovered, some say, by a fellow who was on escape and he couldn't stay anywhere for long. He found it one day and traded it off to some miners for a six-shooter and a couple of bottles of whiskey or something like that—little of nothing. The gold was in the grass roots, then the miners came and it was very rich down a little way. Finally the mining settled down where a man could make a living and it is on that level until this day.

In separating gold from the rock of the mine, it is thrown into a mill, run through a crusher, and it goes down in a bin through the feeders and into the mortars of a stamp mill. The stamp pounds out the gold and water washes the sand out of it. Then you feed in mercury in the mortars. You have to know by the evaluation of the ore just how much mercury to feed to catch the gold. If you get too much, it will make the gold too soft and it will get away from you. If you don't add enough mercury, the gold gets away from you because you don't have enough mercury to catch it.

Gold clings to mercury the same as iron to a magnet. After you get ready to clean up you take this dirt out of the mortars and put it into a barrel. Then the sand is washed out until you get on to the rich and then it is panned out.

You put that into a retort and the heat drives the mercury off and leaves the gold inside and then you have got the gold back to its natural state again. Then after you get that you put it into a graphite crucible and melt it. That takes the impurities out and then you pour it into a mold to make a gold brick ready for the market.

All you have to do is send it to a United States mint, which is in Denver, Colo., for this area. You know what the weight of the gold is and what the price is and not like any other commodity, you know how much you are going to receive from the shipment in advance. You might miss it a few dollars but you can get close enough so that you can be satisfied that you have not been skinned.

Then the United States will send you a check from the United States Treasurer for the amount of the shipment.

During the years we operated the mines, we had our trials and tribulations. We had the misfortune of having three brothers, the Kelt boys, fall in stopes in the mines. These incidents of course were at different times.

One night when I was getting ready to go to bed somebody knocked on the door and I opened it. My wife had just gone to bed. It was Lane, my partner. He said "Get your hat and come on!" It was cold and I put my shoes back on and we went out. He said Jules Kelt, who was working in the mine, had fallen down a stope where he was working. I said, "Did it kill him?" and he said "I don't know." I knew that before he got to a landing place in that stope it was 135 feet.

Well, we got a horse and buggy out of the livery stable about 8:30 at night and pulled up to the mine on a dead run. They had already got Jules out. He was the oldest brother of Herman Kelt. They had him wrapped up in towels and things from the washroom where the boys change their clothes. He was just as bloody as any human I ever saw. He was cut all over but no bones were broken.

The boys running the machine below heard the fall and thought that it was rocks falling down in the chute. They started the machine up again and the machine makes so much noise that they couldn't hear anything. But the still stuck again and they heard someone groan. Some of them

4-H Clubs Raising Funds for Camp

Members of County 4-H Clubs are selling light globes to raise money to send club members to summer camp. The camp, near Cloudercroft will be from June 11 to 14.

The light globes, of good quality, are in a package of six assorted sizes, selling for $1.15. The clubs keep 25 cents commission on each package sold.

climbed up in the chute and he was walking around in the chute. A chute is a place that is walled up and fixed so that they can run a car under it and catch the rocks. That is where he landed.

We brought him home and got to the gate. He knew his mother would be just wild so he tried to whistle but his mouth was cut so bad that he made a blow instead of a whistle. So we met his mother and she said "Oh, you're dead, you're dead!" All he said was "I couldn't whistle if I was dead."

He came on in the house and we got Dr. Paden from Carrizozo. He sewed up all the cuts and in a few days Jules was up and around again.

A second Kelt boy, the late Bill Kelt, was working up in the North Homestake one night and he fell 65 feet and never broke a bone and was back on the job in four days.

Before that the third Kelt boy, Herman, our present postmaster, fell 25 feet and it didn't hurt him much.

JULES FELL THE FARTHEST
The first thing that Jules said to me when I got up there the night he fell was: "I've got my brothers skint all to hell in falling."

Our last major catastrophe came in 1920 when the North Homestake mine shaft caved in. We continued operating until about 1930. We sold out finally to A. H. Hudspeth.

Mr. Lane was first to get in bad health requiring him to slow down. Ed Queen sold out to Paul Mayer and went to Arizona. Mr. Lane was first to pass away in October 20, 1931. Both Ed and George Queen have passed on, are sleeping in California. Ed is buried in White Oaks. George is in San Bernardino, California.

In our efforts to economize wherever possible, we felt electrical power would be cheaper and a more convenient method under which to operate than steam. This inspired us to build and place in operation the first electrical power plant for public use in Lincoln County. We bought this plant which had originally been built by a mining company at Vera Cruz, N. M., that later failed and closed down. We disassembled it and moved it to White Oaks in 1912. We built it on the slopes of Carrizo Mountain—two miles east of White Oaks. In order to operate this plant, we found it necessary to buy a coal mine located in the same mountain slope and operate it in connection with the power plant. This business venture was operated under the name of Alto Light and Power Company.

White Oaks used to have lots of houses, and quite a few business places. They had an ice plant here at one time. Carrizozo purchased the ice plant. Lane and I both had stock in the plant. They also started a telephone system in Carrizozo and we both had stock in it. They moved the ice plant to Santa Rosa and we sold the telephone stock. That was the end of that adventure.

In 1914 my partners Lane, Queen and myself put the first electric lights in Carrizozo. It was an extension of the Alto Light & Power Co. from White Oaks. I can say I found Carrizozo in darkness and left it in light.

The first light globe turned on in Carrizozo was in a location known as Syl Anderson's barber shop. A number of citizens were present when the switch was thrown at White Oaks sending the current to Carrizozo. Several of the onlookers were skeptical that the current could be carried that far. The globe was a large one and the light came on when the current passed through the filament. The globe was still burning when it was taken down six years later.

In line with our varied operations, we also found it necessary to pipe water from the White Oaks Springs through White Oaks to our mill, operated in conjunction with the mine. This pipe line was approximately two and one-half miles long. Water then, as now, was scarce in White Oaks.

Fort Stanton Has Permanent Status, Says Gov. Simms

In a letter to the Lincoln County News this week, Gov. John F. Simms gave assurance of the permanency of the hospital at both Fort Stanton and Socorro. His letter follows: "I have been advised that there is a current rumor in Lincoln County to the effect that the Department of Public Welfare contemplates closing the Fort Stanton Tuberculosis Sanatorium. I wish to advise you that the Department of Public Welfare Board at no time has ever discussed the question of closing this institution.

For over a year I have been most interested in acquiring this facility on a 100% discount basis for the State of New Mexico and have discussed the matter at several Welfare Board meetings with the Board and authorized the Director of the Public Welfare to take the necessary steps for its acquisition.

"I have before me at the present moment a Deed of Warranty and Agreement of Sale whereby the Fort Stanton facility will be transferred to the New Mexico Department of Public Welfare on a 100% discount basis. These documents have been signed by the Chairman of the Welfare Board and the Secretary of the Board and it will be a pleasure for me to attach my signature to these documents.

"You will be interested to know that the fair value of the land, buildings, improvements and utility system have an estimated value of $351,915.73 and that the fair value of the equipment in the institution amounts to $145,735.91. In other words the State of New Mexico will receive approximately one million dollars in the acquisition of this institution at no cost to the State.

"At the present time there are approximately 195 patients at Fort Stanton, over 100 of which are Navajo Indians, whom we are taking care of in accordance with the Welfare Department's contract with the U. S. Public Health Service. We have every reason to believe that this contract will continue indefinitely.

"You may assure anyone that there is absolutely no intention on my part or the Department of Public Welfare Board to close or even curtail the operations at the Fort Stanton Tuberculosis Sanatorium or the State Tuberculosis Sanatorium at Socorro, New Mexico.

Sincerely, John F. Simms, Governor.

Predict Light Vote in Primary Election

Voters over New Mexico will go to the polls next Tuesday to nominate County, State and Congressional candidates. The success or failure of the primary method of selecting candidates may depend on the vote turnout. It has been forecast that only a third of those registered will take the trouble to vote.

There is enough competition for offices to warrant a heavy vote. Three are competing for the two Congressional offices on the Democratic side; three for governor, two for lieutenant governor, two for State auditor, two for land commissioner, two for district judge, two for district attorney, and seven for State Corporation commissioner, one to be nominated.

In the county contests on the Democratic ticket there is competition for the office of sheriff, and three seeking the nomination for county commissioner, District 2.

On the State Republican ticket contests are limited to the county, with two entered in the race for nomination for state senator and three for county commissioner of District 1.

The polls will open at 8 a.m. and close at 7 p.m.

Lincoln County has 4772 registered voters—2252 Democratic and 1520 Republican.

The office of the County Clerk will be open all night Tuesday to receive ballot boxes.

Predict Full Crop of Apples in Hondo Valley

At last report, there was an excellent chance for a full crop of apples in the Hondo and Ruidoso Valleys. Most of the orchards had at least three good blooms where one would be enough. If all the present crop remains, apple growers would profit by thinning the apples in June. On heavy bearing trees, props are likely to be needed.

Peaches are likely to be the only tree without a full crop. A fruitgrowers meeting will be May 7 at the Hondo High School, starting at 7:30 p.m. Mr. Perry of Frib Frozen Foods at Anthony has been invited to the meeting to give information on the use of Hondo apples in freezing.

Everyone is urged to be present at this meeting.

Mayor Proclaims Mental Health Week

Whereas mental illness is the most serious single health problem confronting the nation, and

Whereas many mental patients are unable to get the treatment they need because mental hospitals are overcrowded, understaffed, and short of medical supplies and equipment, and

Whereas these conditions can be remedied by concerted action of the citizens of our city, our state and our nation.

Therefore, I, Marvin Roberts, Mayor of Carrizozo, do hereby proclaim the week of April 29 to May 5 as Mental Health Week, and furthermore call upon the citizens of Carrizozo to help the mentally ill by working in behalf of the improved and expanded facilities; and in behalf of increased research to improve the methods for treatment and prevention of mental illness.

MONEY AND BANKING

In Everyday Living

A SAFE & SOUND CELLAR is the aim of a bulletin recently sent by our community to all its residents. The notice states, in brief: The entire cellar ceiling should be fully covered with fireproof material — many home fires start in the cellar — the cellar should be damp proofed — dampness is very harmful to equipment — cellar stairways should be kept in good condition — they are potential emergency exits — wood area above cellar walls should be checked for termite damage and repaired promptly — termite build tunnels over masonry and undermine houses. In the interest of a safe, sound cellar in your house, you might consider acting on these pointers yourself. If you haven't enough ready cash, remember that we make Home Repair Loans at moderate cost; spread repayment over a period of months.

THE GOYOTE THAT WAS A MULE

Aaron L. Inman of Truth or Consequences, former rancher and government hunter in the Black Range, had often wondered why deer hunters mistake a human being or most any animal for a deer. After the incident that happened to him about 25 years ago, he says he is still wondering.

He was looking for horses on his ranch along the Gila River. There was a foot of snow on the ground. Inman saw what appeared to be a coyote standing with part of its body behind a live oak bush 60 or 75 yards away. His two young daughters and their governess, who were riding with him, also were sure it was a coyote.

Inman dismounted and shot at the animal with a 30-30 rifle. The animal jumped and ran off, swinging one leg. Blood poured from the animal on to the snow.

It was a gray mule. Inman didn't follow the mule because he couldn't understand how the animal could live long.

"Well, there's a mule I'll have to pay for," Inman said to his daughters and the governess. He was pasturing the mule for its owner.

Two or three weeks later he saw the gray mule at a spring. The wound had healed since there were no flies to bother it. The scars were visible where the soft-cased bullet had entered nearly in the center of the breast and come out on the left side. The bullet had traveled behind the ribs and shoulder blade and had not touched a bone.

That mule lived for more than 15 years and was used in pack outfits.

TRAPPED BY GLUE

Over 30 years ago money sent to mail order houses by persons who lived along the Penasco Creek and Hope began disappearing from letters. The mother of Mrs. Rachel Floyd sent a $20 bill to a mail order house but the order never came back so after due time letters were exchanged with the sender and the company, said Mrs. Floyd who told this story. Later the money was refunded—that is, after they caught the man. First, the government issued heavy canvas mail bags with leather tops and bottoms and the names of each individual on their mail bag, and a padlock to see that they were not opened by anyone but the postmaster and the owner.

Still, money disappeared. So the government sent glue to each postmaster and asked them to use it on all of their packages and when needed.

And so it came to pass that one postmaster got caught in the glue trap. When this glue was held over fire each postmaster's glue would be a different color. The government men picked up all orders that were minus money and held the resealed envelopes over a flame. The postmaster who got the pink glue was the guilty one. His glue was the tip-off for the other postmasters had different colors when the glue was heated. The pink was the only color to show up on the envelopes minus money.

ALTO BRIEFS

George Creel and family were in Roswell a week ago Saturday to see Mrs. Creel's father who has been quite ill.

Lawrence Peebles had the misfortune to have a piece of steel pierce his left forearm. While his arm is sore and not too useful, the wound is healing slowly but satisfactorily.

Garland Alvis had his share of the miseries last week. For three or four days he was confined to bed with a severe cold but had to get up and about whether or not he felt like doing so. He has been employed by the Forest Service for duty at Bonito Dam and had to be on the job Saturday.

Barbara Ann Creel was in the Ruidoso hospital for a few days because of a nervous breakdown. She was able to be taken home Friday.

George Dingwall returned home Wednesday from El Paso where he went to have a periodic checkup.

Hattie Coffee and Margaret Randal of El Paso were here Saturday and Sunday checking on the condition of their cabin at Eagle Creek Lodge.

Lancel White sheared his sheep last week and had over 2200 pounds of wool to take to Roswell.

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Adams of El Paso were here for the week end at their local home at the top of Piers Hill. They had as their house guest Mrs. Orville Crews of Midland, Texas.

None of the men from this area who usually fight forest fires were sent to the fire in the Sacramento east of Alamogordo. It was felt unwise to leave this section unprotected should a fire break out during the recent high winds that prevailed here.

Mr. and Mrs. Neal Chapman and children came up from Carlsbad to spend Saturday and in their cabin in Gavilan Canyon. Mr. Chapman is a licensed land surveyor and has been engaged to spend his spare time doing some work for several individuals near Alto.

"Why Small Businesses Need Sound Wills"

A sound will may avoid forced liquidation of a small concern, help obviate many management problems, and also help to perpetuate a business, according to a new leaflet announced this week by Harold R. Smethills, regional director, of the Small Business Administration.

"Why Small Business Owners Need Sound Wills," is number 7 in the Small Business Administration's series and may be obtained upon request from the Agency's local office at 229 New Customhouse, Denver, Colo.

In announcing publication of the leaflet, Mr. Smethills said: "Many successful small business concerns have been forced into liquidation because the principal owner died without having a proper will. These situations are wasteful, unfortunate, and unnecessary. Weighed against the known risks, the cost of having a good will is not high."

Episcopal Churches To Observe Soil Conservation Week

Recognition of Soil Conservation Week will be included in Rogationtide observances Sunday, May 6, by Lincoln County Episcopal Churches.

Rogation Sunday services at 10 a.m. at Fort Stanton and 11 a.m. at Ruidoso will be followed at 4 p.m. by a Solemn Rogationtide Procession and the Blessing of Crops at Bart Pavey's place on Highway 70, eight-tenths of one mile east of Tinnie Post Office.

A cordial invitation to take part in this event is extended to agriculturists and all who love rural life.

Rogationtide originated in the year A. D. 470 when Mamertus, Bishop of Vienne, France, following crop failures due to earthquake and bad weather, led the people in penitential procession through the fields.

From France, the custom spread and by the 8th Century was formally accepted by the Church, and it has become the practice to hold each Sunday before Ascension Day a Rogation service.

"Rogation" is from the Latin "rogare," "to ask." The three days before Ascension Day are called Rogation Days. Ascension Day is on Thursday, May 10, and will be observed by celebrations of Holy Communion at Fort Stanton at 10 a.m. and at Ruidoso at 7:30 p.m.

Those attending should bring a sack lunch. Coffee will be provided. The Quiet Day is open to all people. There will be a series of addresses interspersed by periods of silence, and silence will be kept throughout, to enable quiet meditation.

Conservation Loans Available Thru FHA
 The Farmers Home Administration whose office is located in Roswell, servicing both Chaves and Lincoln Counties, has available to farmers and ranchers several types of loans. The types of loans available include production and subsistence, or the regular operating loan; emergency loans—special—livestock loans, soil and water loans and farm ownership loans.

Anyone interested in any of the above mentioned loans in Lincoln County may obtain application forms from the Lincoln County A.S.C. Office which is located in the County Court-house in Carrizozo or they may contact the County Supervisor of the Farmers Home Administration, Carrol J. Shafer, who may be seen on any Monday at his office located in the basement of the City Hall in Roswell.

USE INSECTICIDES TO FIGHT CUTWORMS

Cutworms attack a wide variety of flowers and may cause extensive damage in flower beds. They feed upon the young plants and may either rag the leaves or completely cut the stems or roots. Some cutworms feed above the ground, retreating to the soil in the daytime, while others feed underground almost entirely.

Examine the young plants to find if the stems are cut or the leaves ragged, even though there may be no insects present. Then, if you search around the base of the plant in the loose soil, you may find dark-colored, greasy-looking worms. These cutworms assume a curled position when disturbed. They may attain a length of 1 1/2 inches when full-grown.

Getting rid of these pests is simple. Applications of 5% DDT, 2% dieldrin, aldrin, or chlordane dusts to the soil around affected plants give good control. The material may be dusted on and raked or watered into the soil.

Total United States population is expected to increase from 161,461,000 in 1955 to 221,500,000 in 1975. Farm population decreased from 25,033,000 in 1950 to 22,153,000 in 1955.

With an estimated 4.1 million vehicles scrapped, two of every three passenger cars and three of every four trucks produced in 1954 went for replacements.

It's Best to Drain Tractor's Anti-Freeze During Hot Weather

Operating tractors and trucks in broiling weather puts great demands on the engine cooling system. Unless it is properly serviced for hot weather duty, the result may be an overheated engine or more serious damage during the first warm days in the field.

Here are some tips on spring tractor and truck care from cooling system experts of the Du Pont Company, which manufactures "Zerone" and "Zerex" anti-freezes. These suggestions should help avoid expensive repair bills and the breakdown of a vital piece of equipment, just when it's needed most.

(1) Drain out and discard last winter's anti-freeze—including the so-called "permanent" types, since the entire solution can turn acid after a season's use. Corrosive solutions attack the vital parts of the cooling system, producing rust, which can clog up the radiator and the narrow water passages of the engine block. When the flow of coolant is cut down, the engine quickly overheats. Overheating can also cause more serious engine damage: scored cylinders, warped cylinder heads, "seized" valves, etc.

(2) The word, "permanent," in anti-freeze means "winter long" or "seasonal"—not year after year. In all permanent anti-freezes, air and exhaust gases seeping into the cooling system oxidize the glycol, forming harmful acids. As these acids are formed, they are neutralized by the inhibitors. In time, however, the rust inhibitors are depleted and the solution becomes dangerously corrosive.

(3) Since only an expensive laboratory test can tell if the solution is corrosive, it is more economical in the long run to drain out and discard the worn solution and install fresh anti-freeze in the fall.

(4) Don't be misled by hydrometer readings saying the worn solution affords adequate protection against freezing. There is no way the hydrometer can simultaneously indicate that the anti-freeze solution has turned acid and is corrosive.

(5) The corrosive process cannot be stopped by adding a fresh "dose" of rust inhibitor to old solutions. New inhibitor will only temporarily ward off corrosive action. It cannot eliminate the damaging acid salts already formed by the chemical breakdown in the worn-out anti-freeze.

About time for your first tractor trip out into the field, isn't it? It may be a while since you've handled the tractor. Remember how to do it safely? The National Safety Council and the U. S. Department of Agriculture report about 1,100 farm people lose their lives in tractor accidents every year. Don't cut those corners too sharply, watch for ditches, and gulleys, and don't hurry.

Well-known Texan

Dies at Gorman

Word was received in Ancho on Saturday of the passing of Luther Grove, an uncle of Orris Smith, at his home in Gorman, Texas.

Mr. Grove was well known and admired by many friends in the White Oaks and Ancho communities where he had visited the Smith family.

He was one of the world's largest buyers and operators in the peanut business. He was a prominent and well loved figure in Gorman and will be laid to rest there.

Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Wilson left Saturday morning for Phoenix where Mr. Wilson will undergo extensive medical consultations. They will be gone for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. E. I. Harkey and Marilyn were in El Paso Friday and Saturday of last week. They attended the beautiful wedding of Sparkey's niece, Donnie Bowlin, daughter of Mrs. Lois Lowrey. On Sunday they went to Las Cruces for a visit with Sport before returning home.

Mr. L. L. Roby accompanied by Mrs. Stearns, both of Las Cruces, spent last Thursday with the Tom Knights.

Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Gesquibe and baby son Mark of Los Angeles, Calif., are visiting this week in the home of Mrs. June Straley. Mrs. Gesquibe will be remembered as the former Betty Caldwell who attended high school in Carrizozo for a term four or five years ago. Tuesday the Gesquibes accompanied by June made a trip through the Carlsbad Caverns.

Pat Driskell and his fiancée, Miss Mary Lee Lindsay, were week end guests of the Tom Knights.

Mr. Sorrels of the Sorrels ranch was in Ancho on business Monday.

Albert Carter and his daughter, Betty Lou Ward, were guests of Jimmie Kile and Jackie last week. Albert's friends will be very happy to know he is making a very fine recovery from his recent operation. He will return to Denver soon for his last check up.

Pete Straley spent a very busy week end with his family, the Geo. Straleys and C. S. He was helping round up and brand calves.

Nat Palomarez was on the sick list over the week end. He suffered a bad case of flu. He was unable to attend the track meet at Roswell. Cope Straley was there, though.

On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Walton Wilson, little son Alton, J. A. Eason and W. A. Rice attended revival services at the Corona Presbyterian church.

Joe Palomarez, Ralph Aragon and Delfine Zamora were business visitors in Carrizozo Saturday.

Mrs. L. L. Pelzer, an old time resident of the Ancho commu-

Agollnar Palomarez left Saturday for San Francisco on his vacation. He will visit his daughters Beatrice, Phyllis and Vivian and his grandson Tito Lanzarini.

Ernest Otero was an Ancho business visitor Tuesday.

Kennecott Pays Huge Tax Bill
 Hurley, N. M.—Kennecott Copper Corporation's Chino Mines Division has paid the final installment of its 1955 state and county taxes—a bill which amounts to more than 60% of the taxes levied in Grant County and one of the largest paid by any single taxpayer in New Mexico.

The check for $321,972.88 covered the last half of 1955, completing payment of a total of $643,945.76 for the year. Total county tax levies amount to $1,032,804.21. Chino's part of that is 62.35% of the total.

A Letter To My Friends:

Dear Voters:
 Because my financial circumstances do not permit me to contact each one of you personally as I would like to, I am using this means of speaking to you on behalf of my candidacy for the nomination for Sheriff of Lincoln County.

I believe that a law enforcement officer such as the sheriff, should first of all be a servant of the people, and not their master, and be a man of clear thinking and good judgment, with the welfare and safety of all the citizens of the county as his primary interest.

I am asking each one of you for your vote and support in this primary election and in turn pledge to you my sincere and honest desire to fulfill the office of the sheriff to the best of my ability.

During the last primary election I was unopposed. No one wanted to run against a Republican who was out for re-election. I took it upon myself to be a candidate for sheriff, not because the field looked victorious, but in an effort to fill our party's ticket at the polls. In this contest I am confident the Democrats in Lincoln County will reward my defeat of the last election, and nominate and elect me to the office of sheriff of Lincoln County.

For your vote and confidence I am grateful, and again, I offer my sincere desire to serve the people of my county.

Yours truly,

Man Being Held in Capitan Cafe Robbery

Charged with breaking and entering Pearl's Cafe in Capitan with the intent to commit larceny, Thomas Alton Taylor of Roswell is being held in the county jail pending arraignment in district court Monday.

The charge was filed by Sheriff W. G. Bradley after he and State Patrolman James Clayton followed Taylor to Artesia and arrested him. He was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Clarence E. Shaw and bond was set at $1500.

Taylor is charged with breaking into Pearl's through the back door and taking approximately $50 from the record player, cigarette machine and cash register.

According to Sheriff Bradley, Taylor ran out of gas en route to Roswell and was given a ride back into Capitan by Bud Payne, rancher. Taylor is said to have bought five gallons of gas at a service station, paying for it with eight quarters. He then continued on to Artesia.

Recco, Green Tree, and Ronnie Chastain, Ruidoso; Virginia Thomas, San Patricio, and Edward Silva, Glencoe; Virginia Torrez, Hondo, and Fernando Salsedo, Hondo.

The decorations of apple blossoms were particularly beautiful, thanks to the Boylans and Phil de Eoster and to the apple grower who furnished them. We anticipate a very good crop of apples in the valleys this year and look forward to the Festival next year when the blossoms return to our valleys, Tres Valles.

Along the Way..

By PAUL BAKER

Two neighbors from Alamogordo are asking approval of Lincoln County Democratic voters in their campaign for high office. They are Judge Allan D. Walker for Third District judge and Murray Morgan for State land commissioner. Judge Walker was strongly endorsed for the position in both Lincoln and Otero counties after the new judgeship was created by the last legislature. Governor Simms recognized the need for a judge in the northern counties of the district when he appointed Mr. Walker to the bench. He has made an able magistrate and it seems just and reasonable that Judge Walker should receive the nomination. Murray Morgan, with a background of legislative and business experience, is also well qualified for the nomination he seeks. For several years he and his brother Ralph published the Alamogordo News. As a fellow publisher he made a good neighbor and he has the respect and confidence of newspapermen all over the State.

John Wright tells us that the first electric light bulb turned on in Carrizo will be given to the Old Lincoln County Court House Museum. The bulb which saw six years steady service, was still burning when it was taken down in 1920. Mr. Wright is also going to give the Museum a telephone instrument that was used in the early days.

A friend submits the following, saying it could well apply to any organization:

WHICH ARE YOU?

Are you an active member? Or are you just contented? Or are you just contented? That your name is on the list. Do you attend the meetings? And mingle with the flock? Or do you stay at home? And criticize and knock? Do you take an active part? To help the work along? Or are you just satisfied? To be the kind that just belongs? Do you help the cause with something new? And make things really tick? Or leave the work to just a few? And talk about the clique? There will be a program scheduled.

That you will hear about? And we will appreciate it if you will come and help us out. Think this over and remember You know right from wrong Be an ACTIVE MEMBER And not a "JUST BELONG." (Anonymous)

Hospitals Eligible for Surplus Commodities

Sen. J. G. Moore informed the News this week that both of Lincoln County's hospitals are eligible for an allotment of surplus commodities.

At a sub-committee hearing on welfare in Alamogordo last Saturday, Mr. Moore was informed by Earl Butler, supervisor of the State surplus commodities department, that the county hospitals could receive an issuance of commodities, upon application by the hospital authorities.

It is estimated this assistance might total several thousand dollars yearly for each hospital.

Richardson and Mr. Snyder, Ruidoso; Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Hooker and daughter Phyllis and J. L. Clark of Albuquerque; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Slaughter of Roswell.

WILL HARRISON'S Inside the Capital

SIMMS AND PICKETT SANTA FE, May 2—The voting is Tuesday, just a few days ahead.

The big question of the election is how close Seven-Foot Pickett will come to unseating Gov. John Simms.

Few observers give the six-foot-ton corporation commissioner a chance to beat Simms but all agree that a close run would be seriously embarrassing to the young governor.

In more than 39 years the parties have never denied a governor renomination if he wanted it. In the 10-year history of the primary elections there has been only one serious challenge of a governor going for a second term nomination.

That was in 1940, the first primary, when Clyde Tingley who had been governor 1935-39 went after John Miles and got 34,000 votes to Miles' 63,000. No other second term challenge has been as close.

The Democratic vote has ranged between 70,000 and 100,000 in the primaries. Tuesday's turnout is expected to be low with a vote for governor of around 80,000 to 90,000 because of the lack of spirited contests.

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Bell had dinner last Sunday and an enjoyable day's visit with Joy Dawn in Roswell.

Make it With Wool

Lincoln County is, by far the largest wool growing county in the State, so please let's have a big Lincoln County contest. We showed the State how to grow wool and now let's show them how to use wool and win more honors and prizes.

Any girl who officially enters this contest is eligible for a 10% discount on the purchase of her 100% wool material for her garment. If such girl will contact Mrs. Wilbur McKnight, Hondo, Director of District 8 (Lincoln, Dona Ana, Sierra and Socorro Counties), sample books will be furnished.

The District Style Revue will be held in September. State Finals will be held at the State Fair in Albuquerque, October 2, 1956. Lincoln County girls will compete with girls from Sierra, Socorro and Dona Ana Counties in the district finals in September. One Junior girl and one Senior girl from each County in the State will be eligible for the State contest in Albuquerque with all expenses paid.

A special contest for 13 to 15 year old girls is being held this year. They will make a wool skirt only and will compete only in the District 8 contest. They are eligible for a 10% discount on their 100% wool material, should they prefer to order it.

Get entry blanks today. Fill out and mail the District entry blank to Mrs. Wilbur McKnight, Hondo. Mail the State entry blank to Mrs. Earl Powell, Route E, Puerta de Luna, N. M. Mail the National registration blank to Mrs. Earl S. Wright, Dubols, Idaho.

What the Record Shows
In 1950 when I started my term of office on the Board of Commissioners, Lincoln County had one blader. At the end of the next four years the County had three bladers, a loader and a dump truck to work the County roads. The Arabela Road was built, the Alamo Bridge, and Highway 54 completed. This was done by your County Board with the assistance of our Honorable Governor Ed McCham.
