

Ramblin' Around Lincoln County

Interviews With People Who Helped Build Lincoln County

GRACE E. COMREY

My name is Grace E. Comrey. I was born May 22, 1872, in Rutland county, Vermont. My parents were Steven L. and Thirza Buxton. My great-grandparents came to America from England. My mother was a descendant of a Church of England missionary by the name of Hoadley. He was a missionary sent to Christianize the Indians.

My parents moved from Vermont to Iowa when I was under five years of age. My father was a farmer and also did some freighting. He passed away in 1906 and is buried in Iowa. Three years later my mother and I moved to New Mexico. We homesteaded on the Carrizozo flat, what is now the Walter Snell ranch. I was 36 years of age at the time. I had completed my education at the Atheneum Business School in Chicago and taught school a few years in Iowa.

In New Mexico in the early days whenever the people of a school district had enough money they'd hire a teacher and have a few months of school. Sometimes the money would run out and the teacher had to have some resources in order to live. It was not uncommon to have to wait eight months to get paid and I've known teachers to have to wait two years.

My first school was down at Tinsie. It was a one-room adobe. The building had been used for a goat corral and the centipedes used to crawl out of the walls. There were about fifty pupils in that one room. I taught out of any kind of book they brought. Some of them, 18 or 19 years old, had just learned to count. One girl, who herded sheep, could count to ten, that was all. Before that term of six months was over she could add and subtract. From that time on I did not have to make application for a school.

When I taught at a school in the Tucuman there were usually fourteen saddles in the school room. The horses were staked out around the schoolhouse. One boy who wanted to show, off came to school with a six-gun strapped on. He took it off and laid it on his desk. I walked up to him and took hold of his collar from the back and applied the pressure. I was pretty strong in those days. I got the gun.

My first marriage was to Alfred C. DeHanson in 1892. My second marriage was to Harry Comrey in 1920. We met under strange circumstances. My name had been submitted for nomination for county superintendent of public schools on the Republican ticket, subject to the county convention. Harry Comrey, who was then living in White Oaks, controlled the White Oaks delegation to the convention. That was in 1916. Two of us were running for the office and after five ballots the vote was deadlocked.

Harry Comrey, whom I had never seen before, said: "This has gone on long enough. I'm supporting Mrs. DeHanson." I received the nomination but lost the election. I was told that the night Mr. Comrey supported me at the convention he said to a friend: "Here's a hundred dollar bill I'll marry that woman!" At every precinct meeting Harry Comrey was there. He proposed at a precinct meeting in the Jicarillas. We were married in 1920. I had two daughters, Mrs. Wm. B. Wagner who now lives in Albuquerque and Mrs. Judy E. Hale, widow of Bob Hale, who was raised in Lincoln County. Mrs. Hale lives in California.

Ed Comrey came to White Oaks in 1878. He was a stamp man at the Old Abe. Harry came to Las Vegas in 1890 from Pennsylvania. A pump company that Harry had been working for in the oilfields in Pennsylvania sent him to Las Vegas to find out why their water pump wouldn't work. He experimented with the pump for several days and then one day he got mad, jumped on the pump, and it started.

At that time there were freight trains, hauled by oxen, going from White Oaks to Las Vegas. Harry found out from the freighters that his brother Ed was in White Oaks so he went there. The two brothers went into the freighting business. Then they got into mining. They leased the Vera Cruz mine in Nogal one year and dropped $3,000. They turned to the Jicarillas, had lots of prospects and hired many men, but they went broke in the early eighties. Millions of dollars were lost in the Jicarillas and the Comrey boys probably lost $20,000. They said goodbyes to mining and walked out with fifty cents in their pockets.

The boys always said this would be a good country if it had water. Because of their previous experience they decided to go into water well drilling. They mortgaged everything they had left—horses, wagons, tanks and equipment—for $2500 and bought a well drilling outfit in St. Louis. When it arrived they took it to the Ancho country. They knew it was deep water country and that you couldn't reach water with a dug well. Ancho wasn't even surveyed in those days. The law was that when you put down a well and struck water the government decided you 40 acres of land.

God was with them. They struck water. It was a good well and later on supplied water for 600 head of cattle and horses. Over a period of years the Comrey boys put down over 300 wells around Ancho. Well drillers then put down wells on their own money. They took a chance of finding water or not finding it. They'd say: "I'll take a gamble on that. If I get water I can name my own price." They never sold a well for less than $4,000. A cowman would buy the well and fence the land surrounding it.

Great herds of cattle used to be driven over the open range through and around Ancho. The herds would be driven from watering place to watering place. Maybe they would make it in two days, but not always. When a big herd was passing by, Harry would send out one of the help to look it over. There were nearly always some cows that looked like they were near exhaustion. The parley went like this: "This cow won't go two miles further and it's 40 miles to the next water at Pinos Wells. I'll give you $2 for that cow." No mention was made about water at the Comrey place. Harry picked up a good many cows that way. (Concluded Next Week)

GOP State Candidates Visit Lincoln County

Republican candidates visiting Carrizozo Tuesday were Ed Mechem, candidate for governor; Phil Hubbell, candidate for Lt. Governor; Forrest Atchley, candidate for U. S. Congress and Ben Chavez, candidate for State Auditor. Their itinerary was as follows: July 22 and 23, Otero County; July 24, Lincoln County; July 25 and 26, Curry County; July 27, Quay County; July 28, Union County; July 30 and 31, Colfax County. Before leaving Carrizozo, the candidates stated that they would have liked to visit all of the business houses, but lack of time prevented. They will go to Amarillo Friday to meet the press and TV personnel.

Contract Let To Spray 'Hoppers

A contract was let Monday night to the Hi-Plane Aero Service of Amarillo to spray 66,760 acres for grasshopper control on four east Lincoln County ranches. The spraying is to be done on the ranches of Frank Peters, Charles Fuller, A. S. Patterson and Curtis Hill. Operations are expected to start Friday. Cost of the spraying has been set at 56 to 58 cents an acre, of which the ranchers will pay one-third. Cost to the rancher is expected to run under 20 cents an acre, which is slightly less than first expected. Rainfall of around a half inch fell generally Monday from Fort Stanton east to Picacho Hill. This moisture is expected to hatch the remaining grasshopper eggs.

Services for Socorro Youth

Funeral services for Marvin Smith, 13, of Socorro, who was drowned here last Sunday, was held in San Angelo, Texas, with burial in Christoval. The youth was a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Parra.

County Fruitgrowers To Make Survey

Survey blanks were mailed Monday to apple growers in Lincoln County last week so that an accurate estimate of the county production of apples can be given. According to County Agent Ralph Dunlap, the survey will indicate the production of commercial varieties along with the date picking starts. By getting this data, more buyers can be informed of the available apple crop and better prices can be had for the fruit.

In nation-wide surveys, the production estimate for the United States is 17% under last year, but New Mexico estimated production is up about 40% from 1955.

County Fair Livestock Show to Be Different

The beef cattle and the sheep show at the County Fair to be held in Capitan will be different as no animal fitted for the showing will be allowed. The livestock classes are only open to range livestock raised in Lincoln County and surrounding area. The beef cattle will be judged on weight for age along with type or quality. By this means the classes of beef cattle in the show can be compared on economic factors affecting monetary return. Ranchers are encouraged to have their livestock at the fair on September 15, 1956.

Camp Meeting Closes on Nogal Mesa; Throngs Discover Varied Inspirations

By DOROTHY GUCK Many tired but satisfied people packed their camping gear and left Nogal Mesa Sunday night and Monday morning after attending four days of the Ranchmen's Camp Meeting. A twenty-five pound sack of flour had to be borrowed from a rancher to cook enough pancakes for the Monday morning breakfast. Sunday supplies were purchased at the last minute because unprecedented crowds had consumed more food than ever before. The first two days of Camp Meeting were chilly at times as seasonal showers fell, but the last two were warm and sunny. However, weather had very little effect on the enjoyment of the people who attended. Rev. Bob Goodrich and Rev. Glynn Harris alternated in speaking at the three daily services in the tabernacle. One visitor remarked, "When we have the infrequent opportunity to hear a speaker as fine as these men, it's a great personal loss not to take advantage of it." The speakers took some of the simplest stories of the Bible and presented them in a new, thought-provoking way, untinted by shadings of creed or sect.

TABERNACLE OVERFLOWS

Sunday morning services were attended by more than 900 persons, far more than the large tabernacle could accommodate. The noon meal was served to about 1500. The comfort of the spacious new coffee lounge was enjoyed at every hour. A big stove held the ever-brewing pots of coffee and benches along the walls invited everyone to rest and renew acquaintances. Rev. Ralph Hall, manager of the camp meetings in the Southwest, suggested that all the ranchers bring their branding irons next year and burn their brands in the walls of the coffee lounge. When the voices of the huge congregation were blended as one under the direction of Rev. Bill Lytle, the glory of beautiful music almost outshone the awe-inspiring vista of mountains and

Find Woman's Body South of Ruidoso

The disappearance of Rose Martini of the Mesquero Apache Reservation was solved late Sunday evening with the finding of the remains of her body. She had been missing from her home since December 7, 1954. Three boys who were working for the Salles Riding Stable near Ruidoso, made the discovery. They notified Deputy Sheriff Severo Gallegos in Carrizozo Sunday night about 9 o'clock. He in turn notified Sheriff Bradley. Monday morning Sheriff Bradley, Deputy Gallegos, Ruidoso Justice of Peace Herbert Smith, and a coroner's jury of six men led a search party to the site in the woods, three miles south of the Salles Riding Stable. Mrs. Martini was identified from the dress she wore which she made, and by the fact that her four upper front teeth were missing.

The remains were removed to the Ruidoso City Hall. Sheriff Bradley called Dr. Snyder to perform an autopsy. No indication of cause of her death was found. It was thought possible she froze to death. The night she disappeared five inches of snow fell. Her husband, Ringlin Martini, was questioned and released. The jury recessed until Friday, July 27, when District Attorney C. C. Chaso of Las Cruces will be there. She is survived by her husband, a stepfather and numerous half brothers and sisters. Her body was turned over to relatives for burial at the Mesquero Apache Reservation.

School Superintendents In Santa Fe This Week

R. G. Fisman, Kenneth Knight and Bill Hill, superintendents of schools in Carrizozo, Corona and Capitan, respectively, left Wednesday morning for Santa Fe to attend a statewide conference dealing with problems of educational administration. Supt. Fermín Montes and J. H. Morris of Lordsburg and Ruidoso schools will also attend. The superintendents will also attend a meeting called by Mrs. Georgia Lusk to discuss relations of the state department to the public schools. Bus drivers from the county will attend the annual institute at Silver City, starting Monday.

County Fruitgrowers To Make Survey

Survey blanks were mailed Monday to apple growers in Lincoln County last week so that an accurate estimate of the county production of apples can be given.

RUIDOSO RECEPTION FOR GOV. SIMMS

Gov. John F. Simms is to be in Ruidoso Sunday July 29. The public is cordially invited to attend a coffee and reception for the governor at Navajo Lodge from 9 until 11 in the morning. The reception has been arranged by members of the Democratic party in Ruidoso.

C. of C. Directors To Meet Friday

A meeting of the directors of the Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce has been called for Friday evening, July 27, 7:30 p.m., at the Lincoln County Motors. There is to be further discussion on installing a 54 Highway sign at Santa Rosa.

Carrizozo Board Accepts Fuel Bids

At its regular monthly meeting, the Carrizozo Municipal Board of Education opened bids on fuel. It received bids of 9 1/2¢ per gallon on liquid petroleum from the Tularosa Basin Gas Co. and 10¢ per gallon from the Carrizozo Hardware Company and awarded the bid for 1956-57 to the former as low bidder. Bids on fuel oil were received from J. B. Ritter (12 1/2¢ per gal.), Ortiz Brothers (.115 per gallon), and Clifton B. Zumwalt (.114 per gallon) and the bid was awarded to Mr. Zumwalt as low bidder. No bids were received on coal. No bids having been received for the Ancho School, and inasmuch as no representatives of the Ancho community were present at the meeting, the board decided to defer action until it could decide what steps to take next.

Bible Class Concluded at Angus Community Church

Bernard Watson of Princeton, Ky., and Pam Daffey of Birmingham, Ala., conducted a Bible Class at the Angus Community Building from July 13 to July 20. The enrollment was around 20 and from all reports it was a highly successful project in the community. Mrs. Pauline Phetigo was elected as an elementary teacher for 1956-57 and Jim Cooper was placed as janitor in the junior high school.

Fruitgrowers Meet August 6 At Packing Shed

The White Mountain Fruitgrowers will meet at the packing shed on August 6th starting at 7:30 p.m. business at the meeting will include discussion on finances, when fruit packing will start, and other orchard problems. More Americans died on the highway in 1955 alone than on the battlefield during the entire Korean War!

Eulicia Chavez

Services were held July 21 at the Catholic Church for Eulicia Chavez who passed away July 19. Father George Lechel officiated a requiem mass. Interment was at the Evergreen Cemetery, the Shaw Mortuary in charge. Mrs. Chavez was born October 12, 1875 in Tularosa. She lived in Carrizozo for 20 years. Among her survivors are a son Lupe Gabaldon of Claunch and many grandchildren.

High Voltage Burns Civilian Worker

John Gehress, 62, of Albuquerque, a civil service construction worker, was severely burned Tuesday when he came in contact with high voltage current in Socorro Canyon, 8 miles south of Highway 890. A helicopter from Holloman AFB flew the critically injured man to the Carrizozo airstrip Tuesday afternoon, from where he was taken to Carrizozo hospital. He sustained severe burns on the leg, right arm and abdomen. Emergency treatment was given, including blood fluid, dressings and antibiotics. Dr. Randolph Lovelace of the Lovelace Clinic flew to Carrizozo and after examination decided to take the patient to Albuquerque. Extensive damage to his liver and gall bladder required an operation at Bataan Hospital. Mr. Gehress was said to have come in contact with the high voltage while operating a crane. The boom of the crane lodged in a high tension wire and while trying to free the boom the voltage struck him.

Four Cars Tangle in Highway 54 Accident

A four car accident occurred early Tuesday afternoon 10 mile south of Carrizozo on Highway 54. Four people were involved, all driving separate cars. Three of them were driving south on Highway 54, the other one coming north into Carrizozo. The front car, a 1951 Chevrolet pickup, driven by Joe D. Rodgers, going south at an estimated speed of 10 miles an hour, attempted a right hand turn. Two vehicles behind crashed into his pickup. They were a 1949 Chevrolet pickup stake body driven by Antonio Beltran of the Big Jo Lumber Co. (going at an estimated speed of 40 m.p.h.) and a 1952 Mercury owned by Barbara Jean Woodford (estimated speed of 35 m.p.h.). An approaching Studebaker, driven by Ruth Marie Anthony of Phoenix was struck by a loose car. The Mercury, belonging to Barbara Jean Woodford, was demolished and two cars were damaged considerably. The Big Jo Lumber truck was not damaged. No one was injured.

Water Rates to Go Up

The trustees discussed the matter of water rates at some length. It was brought out that the town's water department was operating in the red. A ten months' audit, from July 1, 1955 to May 1, 1956, showed a cash loss in the water department of $720.59 before depreciation. To put the water department on a pay-as-you-go basis and to pay for the more expensive Bonito water, it was stated that the water charge to consumers will be increased "considerably." Utilities Manager Welk is completing a rate structure study, based on the cost to the town of supplying water to consumers. The new rates will go into effect in the August billing. It was pointed out that the income from the new rates will be studied each month and that the rates are temporary, subject to revision. Mr. Welk informed the trustees that the output of the town well is down considerably from the original flow and that the draw-down has increased to around 100 feet. The trustees discussed the advisability of acquiring sites for one or more future wells. Mayor Withers stated that Almagordo has purchased water rights along their new pipeline right of way as far north as Oscura.

WILL HARRISON'S Inside The Capital

SANTA FE, July 25—The 1956 election run is shaping up into a three-way affair. There will be the Republicans, Democratic Gov. John Simms and the other Democrats. The so-called Republican threat is really confined to governor-running Ed Mechem and President Eisenhower. The others so far haven't shown much muscle and the Democrats are deploying accordingly. A rift between the imperilled governor and the other Demos in the statehouse which has been apparent for more than a year has widened in recent weeks and there is already concrete evidence of the candidates for the secondary offices trying to avoid association with the troubled governor. DEMO CANDIDATES GOING ALONE Lt. Gov. Joe Montoya has already shown his independent course, having differed with the governor on the same platforms in the primary election on basic issues. Corporation Commissioner John Block thinks he was opposed by the administration in the primary and burned by what he considered a final slap when his telegram explaining his absence from the state convention was not read to the convention. Murray Morgan, running for land commissioner is a protégé of retiring Commissioner Johnny Walker, constant critic of the governor, and has conspicuously avoided contact with the governor. State Treasurer Joe Grant and Auditor Jim Hannah have been outspoken critics of the governor's political policies and have told intimates of plans to go it alone in the campaign. State School Superintendent Georgia Lusk has had a running dispute with the governor's office. (Continued on Back Page)

The killing of Sheriff William Brady, for which Billy the Kid was sentenced to die, is one of the highlights of the program "The Last Escape of Billy the Kid." The annual program will be presented in Old Lincoln Town, Aug. 3 and 4. Some changes in last year's script have been made by John Meigs, director.

Along the Way..

By PAUL BAKER
Another accident on Death Curve on Highway 380 of Captain last week again calls attention to the need of rebuilding the highway at this point. The curve is not properly banked for safe driving. The only warning the motorist has of this dangerous curve is a 40 mile an hour speed sign at the approach to the curve. Those familiar with the stretch know that 40 miles an hour is fast enough to make this unbanked curve in safety. This is no ten mile margin of safety as there should be in a curve no sharper than this one. If the curve was properly banked cars would not slide off onto the shoulder at 50 m.p.h. This should be done at once to prevent further accidents. Until that time the Highway Department should put up another sign "Dangerous Curve Ahead" far enough ahead of the curve to warn the unwary motorist.

A note from C. W. Jones in Batesville, Ark., says segregation is a big issue in the coming governor's race. Comments Mr. Jones: "I heard Jim Johnson, candidate for governor on the Segregation ticket, speak last night. He doesn't believe in shipping whites and Negroes in the same car without putting up partitions and I sort of agree with him."

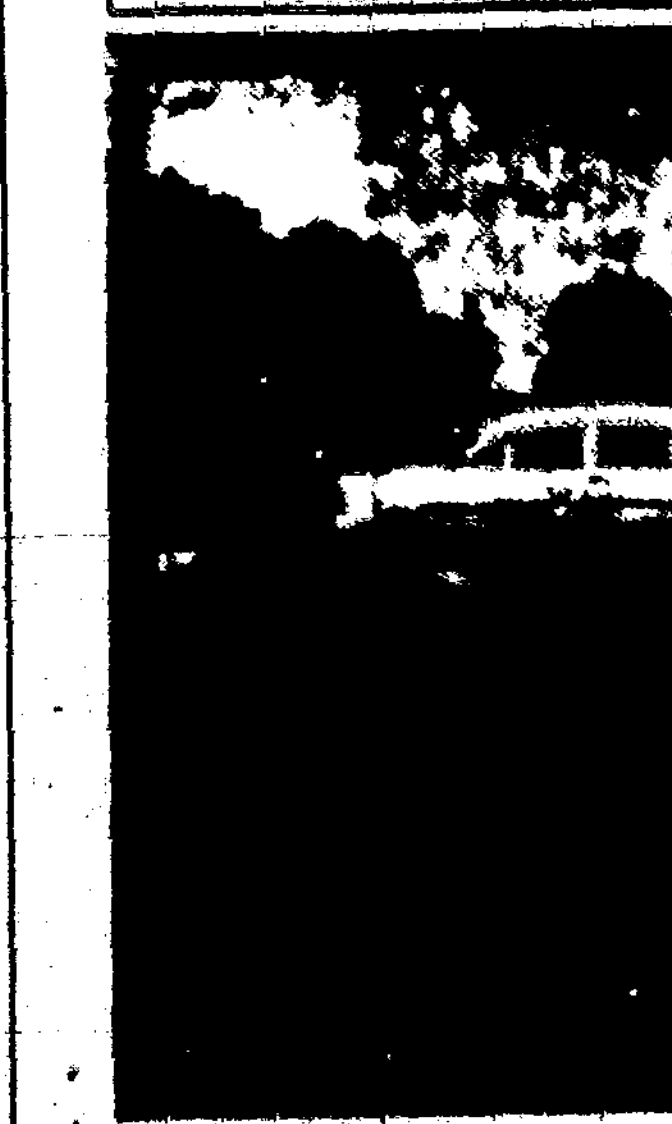

According to the Alamogordo News, G. V. Clayton, Tularosa businessman, has urged the Tularosa city officials to take steps to secure an adequate supply of water before the completion of the Bonito pipeline. Mr. Clayton was quoted as saying: "Alamogordo is going to have a nice pipeline running by Tularosa but there isn't going to be much water in it. There isn't as much water available at Bonito as they thought there would be. When that time comes, they'll be looking around for places to tap water into the pipe line." He is further quoted as saying that the military could step in and demand water rights in the Tularosa area.

A couple who have been raised on a ranch write that they would like to work on a ranch in Lincoln County. They are Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Thompson, care Houston McCarty Ranch, Nara Vista, N. M. The opening two days of the Ruidoso Thrift Shop are reported to have been very successful and that business promises to get even better as time goes on. A card from William R. Sullivan, 720 W. Tenth Pl., Los Angeles, states that: "Unless something is done soon to stop the rising Chinese birth rate, in a few years we are going to be engaged in a war trying to stop them from overrunning all of Europe."

Children, Texas, "Reporter:" "An American and a Dutchman were talking. 'What does your flag look like?' asked the American. 'It has three stripes,' replied the Dutchman, 'red, white and blue. We say they have a connection with our taxes: we get red when we talk about them, white when we get our tax bills, and pay 'em blue in the face.' That's just how it is here," commented the American, 'only we see stars too.'

Going on a vacation? Notify the town authorities if you are going to be away a few days or longer. It will be added protection for your home and property. Also leave your address where you can be reached in an emergency. Some other tips that will help you enjoy a carefree vacation are pointed out by the National Safety Council: Stop milk, newspaper and other deliveries. Ask a neighbor to keep advertising circulars off your porch. Don't lower window shades. Arrange to have your lawn mowed. Prowlers watch for such tips.

Car Vision Equals Picture Window

Visibility in today's auto design can be compared to picture windows of modern homes. In above view, Chevrolet's 24 1/2 sq. ft. of glass approximates area in the window in which it is framed. Car visibility has been upped two-thirds in the last few years.

THOMAS BRAGG
I used to go on lots of bear hunts. I have killed several around 500 pounds, and some were bigger. There used to be lots of mountain lions. They were bad to catch colts. The last lions we killed were on South Fork about 1912. I was gathering some cows to take to town. I had an old hound pup following me. I came to the lion's track and finally tired it and shot it. The next day my son Lee found the lion's mate at the same spot and killed it. I was married in 1898 to Mollie Greacher by John Skinner, Methodist preacher. We had three children, Lee, Bertha and Evert. Bertha, now Mrs. Lester Greer, lives in San Ysidro, Calif., where her husband is in the immigration service. Evert's son, Earl, lives here with me now. I used to know everybody in Lincoln County and for miles around. One of my friends was "Captain Jack Crawford, the Poet Scout," who had a ranch the other side of Dripping Springs. Captain Jack was a scout during the Indian troubles. Here's a piece of his poetry that he gave me:
When a bit of sunshine hits ye
After a passin' of a cloud,
An' a fit of laughter gits ye
An' yer spine is feelin' proud,
Don't fergit to up an' sling it
At a soul that's feelin' blue,
For the minit that ye sling it
It's a boomerang to you.

23 Kennecott Employees Reach Retirement Age

Hurley, N. M. — Twenty-three employees who have accumulated a combined total of 536 years service with Kennecott Copper Corp.'s Chino Mines division at Hurley and Santa Rita, will retire August 1. W. H. Goodrich, Chino general manager, said, "The company is losing over 500 years of experience that have contributed greatly in the development of Kennecott's operations in New Mexico. Men such as George A. Anderson, electrical shovel engineer who has been with the company 41 years and 11 months and many others who have been employees since the start of mining operations — these will be very difficult men to replace."

Best Retirement Plan is One Made Yourself

Washington—The best kind of retirement plan is the one you make yourself, according to the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. If you are in your 40's or 50's, or even younger, it is not too soon to start thinking about what you want to do with the years that remain after your regular job ends.

4. Understand Social Security. — Few persons do, although the program is 20 years old. You should be aware of the so-called "work clause" that may cause your benefits to be withheld in case you continue to work after age 65. Social security is intended to provide only a minimum protection against the needs of old age. It should be supplemented by other financial provisions.

A good many factors enter into a sound retirement plan—health, hobbies, companionship. But, says the Chamber, the key stone to a happy retirement is financial planning. Several steps toward the right kind of financial planning are suggested in a new Chamber publication "Look Forward to Your Retirement." Here are a few: 1. Maintain a Savings Account—At least a few hundred dollars in the savings bank is one of the best investments you can make. As the account grows, you may want to invest in common stocks or corporation bonds and so increase your returns. 2. Buy Your Own Home — Monthly payments often are no greater than rent. Frequently, there are income tax advantages to home ownership. By the time you retire, you probably will own your home free of mortgage. If you sell it then, the money can go far toward providing the retirement you have planned. If you continue to live in your home, the cost will be far less than rent. 3. Have a Life Insurance Program—Investment in life insurance can provide a lifetime monthly income after you retire as well as protecting your dependents before your retirement. Your life insurance program should be worked out with the help of a qualified life under-

Ramblin' Around Lincoln County

Interviews With People Who Helped Build Lincoln County

GRACE E. COMREY

My name is Grace E. Comrey. I was born May 22, 1872, in Rutland county, Vermont...

In New Mexico in the early days whenever the people of a school district had enough money they'd hire a teacher...

My first school was down at Tinsie. It was a one-room adobe. The building had been used for a goat corral...

When I taught at a school in the Tucsons there were usually fourteen saddles in the school room. The horses were staked out around the schoolhouse...

My first marriage was to Alfred G. DeNison in 1892. My second marriage was to Harry Comrey in 1920...

I was told that the night Mr. Comrey supported me at the convention he said to a friend: "Here's a hundred dollar bill I'll marry that woman!"

Ed Comrey came to White Oaks in 1873. He was a stamp man at the Old Abe. Harry came to Las Vegas in 1890 from Pennsylvania...

At that time there were freight trains, hauled by oxen, going from White Oaks to Las Vegas. Harry found out from the freighters that his brother Ed was in White Oaks...

The boys always said this would be a good country if it had water. Because of their previous experiences they decided to go into water well drilling.

mortgaged everything they had left—horses, wagons, tanks and equipment—for $2500 and bought a well drilling outfit in St. Louis.

When it arrived they took it to the Ancho country. They knew it was deep water country and that you couldn't reach water with a dug well.

God was with them. They struck water. It was a good well and later on supplied water for 500 head of cattle and horses.

Great herds of cattle used to be driven over the open range through and around Ancho. The herds would be driven from watering place to watering place.

My first marriage was to Alfred G. DeNison in 1892. My second marriage was to Harry Comrey in 1920.

Ed Comrey came to White Oaks in 1873. He was a stamp man at the Old Abe. Harry came to Las Vegas in 1890 from Pennsylvania.

Contract Let To Spray 'Hoppers'

A contract was let Monday night to the Hi-Plane Aero Service of Amarillo to spray 60,760 acres for grasshopper control on four east Lincoln County ranches.

The spraying is to be done on the ranches of Frank Peters, Charles Fuller, A. S. Patterson and Curtis Hill. Operations are expected to start Friday.

Cost of the spraying has been set at 56 to 58 cents an acre, of which the ranchers will pay one-third. Cost to the rancher is expected to run under 20 cents an acre, which is slightly less than first expected.

County Fruitgrowers To Make Survey

Survey blanks were mailed to Lincoln County last week so that an accurate estimate of the county production of apples can be given.

According to County Agent Ralph Duhan, the survey will indicate the production of commercial varieties along with the date picking starts.

In nation-wide surveys, the production estimate for the United States is 17% under last year, but New Mexico estimated production is up about 40% from 1955.

County Fair Livestock Show To Be Different

The beef cattle and the sheep show at the County Fair to be held in Capitan will be different as no animal fitted for the show-ring will be allowed.

The livestock classes are only open to range livestock raised in Lincoln County and surrounding areas. The beef cattle will be judged on weight for age along with type or quality.

By this means the classes of beef cattle in the show can be compared on economic factors affecting monetary return. Ranchers are encouraged to have their livestock at the fair on September 15, 1956.

Camp Meeting Closes on Nogal Mesa; Throngs Discover Varied Inspirations

Many tired but satisfied people packed their camping gear and left Nogal Mesa Sunday night and Monday morning after attending four days of the Ranchmen's Camp Meeting.

The cost of the new coffee lounge, $1500, was met, and all expenses of the current camp through the free-will donations of those attending. Orders were placed for seventy new chairs which will be inscribed with the name of the donor or in memory of someone dear to him.

As Claude Branham was checking kitchen supplies Sunday night he said, "We used 29 quarters of beef, 12 sacks of spuds, 175 pounds of dry beans, 40 quarts of syrup, and many cases of food, and Jimmy Valdez and his kitchen crew made every item mighty appetizing."

One visitor remarked, "When we have the infrequent opportunity to hear a speaker as fine as these men, it's a great personal loss not to take advantage of it." The speakers took some of the simplest stories of the Bible and presented them in a new, thought-provoking way, untinged by shadings of creed or sect.

Sunday morning services were attended by more than 800 persons, far more than the large tabernacle could accommodate. The noon meal was served to about 1500. The comfort of the spacious new coffee lounge was enjoyed at every hour.

Rev. Ralph Hall, manager of the camp meetings in the Southwest, suggested that all the ranchers bring their branding irons next year and burn their brands in the walls of the coffee lounge.

When the voices of the huge congregation were blended as one under the direction of Rev. Bill Lytle, the glory of beautiful music almost outshone the awe-inspiring views of mountains and

Find Woman's Body South of Ruidoso

The disappearance of Rose Martin of the Mescalero Apache Reservation was solved late Sunday evening with the finding of the remains of her body. She had been missing from her home since December 7, 1954.

Three boys who were working for the Salles Riding Stable near Ruidoso, made the discovery. They notified Deputy Sheriff Severo Gallegos in Carrizozo Sunday night about 9 o'clock. He in turn notified Sheriff Bradley.

Monday morning Sheriff Bradley, Deputy Gallegos, Ruidoso Justice of Peace Herbert Smith, and a cotoner's jury of six men led a search party to the site in the woods, three miles south of the Salles Riding Stable.

Mrs. Martin was identified from the dress she wore which she made, and by the fact that her four upper front teeth were missing.

The remains were removed to the Ruidoso City Hall. Sheriff Bradley called Dr. Snyder to perform an autopsy. No indication of cause of her death was found. It was thought possible she froze to death. The night she disappeared five inches of snow fell.

Her husband, Ringlin Martin, was questioned and released. The jury recessed until Friday, July 27, when District Attorney C. C. Chase of Las Cruces will be there.

She is survived by her husband, a stepfather and numerous half brothers and sisters. Her body was turned over to relatives for burial at the Mescalero Apache Reservation.

School Superintendents in Santa Fe This Week

K. G. Fisman, Kenneth Knight and Bill Hill, superintendents of schools in Carrizozo, Corona and Capitan, respectively, left Wednesday morning for Santa Fe to attend a statewide conference dealing with problems of educational administration.

The superintendents will also attend a meeting called by Mrs. Georgia Lusk to discuss relations of the state department to the public schools. Bus drivers from the county will attend the annual institute at Silver City, starting Monday.

RUIDOSO RECEPTION FOR GOV. SIMMS

Gov. John F. Simms is to be in Ruidoso Sunday July 29.

The public is cordially invited to attend a coffee and reception for the governor at Navajo Lodge from 9 until 11 in the morning.

The reception has been arranged by members of the Democratic party in Ruidoso.

C. of C. Directors To Meet Friday

A meeting of the directors of the Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce has been called for Friday evening, July 27, 7:30 p.m., at the Lincoln County Motors.

There is to be further discussion on installing a 54 Highway sign at Santa Rosa.

Carrizozo Board Accepts Fuel Bids

At its regular monthly meeting, the Carrizozo Municipal Board of Education opened bids on fuel. It received bids of 9 1/2¢ per gallon on liquid petroleum from the Tularosa Basin Gas Co. and 10¢ per gallon from the Carrizozo Hardware Company and awarded the bid for 1956-57 to the former as low bidder.

Bids on fuel oil were received from J. B. Ritter (12 1/2¢ per gal.), Ortiz Brothers (.115 per gallon), and Clifton B. Zumwalt (.114 per gallon) and the bid was awarded to Mr. Zumwalt as low bidder.

No bids were received on coal. No bids having been received for the Ancho School, and inasmuch as no representatives of the Ancho community were present at the meeting, the board decided to defer action until it could decide what steps to take next.

Mrs. Pauline Pherigo was elected as an elementary teacher for 1956-57 and Jim Cooper was placed as janitor in the junior high school.

Bible Class Concluded at Angus Community Church

Bernard Watson of Princeton, Ky., and Patn Dalley of Birmingham, Ala., conducted a Bible Class at the Angus Community Building from July 13 to July 20. The enrollment was around 20 and from all reports it was a highly successful project in the community.

High Voltage Burns Civilian Worker

John Gehress, 62, of Albuquerque, a civil service construction worker, was severely burned Tuesday when he came in contact with high voltage current in Socorro Canyon, 8 miles south of Highway 380.

A helicopter from Holloman AFB flew the critically injured man to the Carrizozo airstrip Tuesday afternoon, from where he was taken to Carrizozo hospital.

He sustained severe burns on the leg, right arm and abdomen. Emergency treatment was given, including blood fluid, dressings and antibiotics. Dr. Randolph Lovelace of the Lovelace Clinic flew to Carrizozo and after examination decided to take the patient to Albuquerque.

Extensive damage to his liver and gall bladder required an operation at Bataan Hospital. Mr. Gehress was said to have come in contact with the high voltage while operating a crane. The boom of the crane lodged in a high tension wire and while trying to free the boom the voltage struck him.

Four Cars Tangle in Highway 54 Accident

A four car accident occurred early Tuesday afternoon 10 mile south of Carrizozo on Highway 54.

Four people were involved, all driving separate cars. Three of them were driving south on Highway 54, the other one coming north into Carrizozo.

The front car, a 1951 Chevrolet pickup, driven by Joe D. Rodger, going south at an estimated speed of 10 miles an hour, attempted a right hand turn. Two vehicles behind crashed into his pickup. They were a 1948 Chevrolet pickup stake body driven by Antonio Beltran of the Big Jo Lumber Co. (going at an estimated speed of 40 m.p.h.) and a 1952 Mercury owned by Barbara Jean Woodford (estimated speed of 35 m.p.h.). An approaching Studebaker, driven by Ruth Marie Anthony of Phoenix was struck by a loose car.

The Mercury, belonging to Barbara Jean Woodford, was demolished and two cars were damaged considerably. The Big Jo Lumber truck was not damaged. No one was injured.

Elueticia Chavez

Services were held July 21 at the Catholic Church for Elueticia Chavez who passed away July 10.

Father George Lechel officiated a requiem mass. Interment was at the Evergreen Cemetery, the Shaw Mortuary in charge.

Mrs. Chavez was born October 12, 1875 in Tularosa. She lived in Carrizozo for 20 years. Among her survivors are a son Lupe Gabaldon of Claunch and many grandchildren.

Bonito Water to Be Returned to Mains Starting in August

Bonito water will be turned into the Carrizozo mains during the early part of August.

This news was the result of a meeting of the town trustees Wednesday evening, at which the water situation was the main topic of discussion.

It was announced that a 100 g.p.m. pump loaned to the town by the Southern Pacific Company, had arrived and was being connected to the railroad company's Bonito water supply line. The company is furnishing the labor and material to install the pump. Carrizozo's only obligation is to maintain the pump during the time it is used by the town.

The water will come directly from the Bonito line, bypassing the railroad's reservoir.

Carrizozo's summer time rate of consumption was reported by Utilities Manager Welk to be approximately 200,000 gals. per day. This will necessitate using some well water as the pump, running at full capacity, will not transfer enough water from the Bonito line to meet the peak summer needs. A larger pump was not recommended by the Southern Pacific Company, because of the pressure it would put on the line.

WATER RATES TO GO UP

The trustees discussed the matter of water rates at some length. It was brought out that the town's water department was operating in the red. A ten months' audit, from July 1, 1955 to May 1, 1956, showed a cash loss in the water department of $720.59 before depreciation.

To put the water department on a pay-as-you-go basis and to pay for the more expensive Bonito water, it was stated that the water charge to consumers will be increased "considerably." Utilities Manager Welk is completing a rate structure study, based on the cost to the town of supplying water to consumers. The new rates will go into effect in the August billing. It was pointed out that the income from the new rates will be studied each month and that the rates are temporary, subject to revision.

Mr. Welk informed the trustees that the output of the town well is down considerably from the original flow and that the draw-down has increased to around 100 feet. The trustees discussed the advisability of acquiring sites for one or more future wells. Mayor Withers stated that Alamogordo has purchased water rights along their new pipeline right of way as far north as Ocuca.

WILL HARRISON'S Inside the Capital

1956 CAMPAIGN THREE-WAY AFFAIR SANTA FE, July 25—The 1956 election-run is shaping up into a three-way affair. There will be the Republicans, Democratic Gov. John Simms and the other Democrats.

The so-called Republican threat is really confined to governor-running Ed Mechem and President Eisenhower. The others so far haven't shown much muscle and the Democrats are deploying accordingly.

A rift between the imperilled governor and the other Demos in the statehouse which has been apparent for more than a year has widened in recent weeks and there is already concrete evidence of the candidates for the secondary offices trying to avoid association with the troubled governor.

DEMO CANDIDATES GOING ALONE

Lt. Gov. Joe Montoya has already shown his independent course, having differed with the governor on the same platform in the primary election on basic issues.

Corporation Commissioner John Block thinks he was opposed by the administration in the primary and burned by what he considered a final slap when his telegram explaining his absence from the state convention was not read to the convention.

Murray Morgan, running for land commissioner is a protégé of retiring Commissioner Johnny Walker, constant critic of the governor, and has conspicuously avoided contact with the governor.

State Treasurer Joe Grant and Auditor Jim Hannah have been outspoken critics of the governor's political policies and have held intimates of plans to go it alone in the campaign.

State School Superintendent Georgia Lusk has had a running dispute with the governor's office. (Continued on Back Page)

The killing of Sheriff William Brady, for which Billy the Kid was sentenced to die, is one of the highlights of the program "The Last Escape of Billy the Kid." The annual program will be presented in Old Lincoln Town, Aug. 2 and 4. Some changes in last year's script have been made by John Stope, director.

Entered as second class matter July 30, 1926, at the Post Office at Carrizozo, New Mexico, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

A dry summer like this one makes it easy to understand why the homesteaders had to give it up. It's plenty tough on the cattlemen and sheepmen.

Hope we ain't driftin' towards the Sahara Desert. See where a scientist says the British Isles is movin' towards the North Pole at the rate of two inches a year. Makes some Britishers unhappy. Say they're already too close.

76 Attend Meeting Of Corona Local County Farm Bureau

The July meeting of the Corona Local of the Lincoln County Farm and Livestock Bureau was held in the Recreation Room Tuesday, July 17, with 76 members and guests present.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. R. J. Bagley and Mrs. A. C. Hester. Mrs. Clint Sultemeler arranged a short program which featured Charlie and Sally Strickland and their guitars with Charlie singing "My Front Door Is Open" and "Poor Me."

Beverly Bagley played a piano solo. "Catch Me If You Can," and Betty Ann Bond gave a reading, "The Cowboy's Prayer." Helen Kay Atkinson, Glenda Sue James, Susan Penix, Sherrill Perkins, and Charlene Porter with Joanne Atkinson on the piano sang "Dear Hearts and Gentle People," "Sentimental Journey," and in appropriate attire "How're You Gonna Keep 'Em Down on the Farm."

Immediately following dinner and the entertainment hour, the meeting was called to order by President Clint Sultemeler.

G. W. Shanks and R. A. Perkins gave a report and answered questions on the present status of roads in the vicinity. The local went on record as opposing any major change in the location of State Road 42.

Clint Sultemeler reported on the availability of Bracero labor and led a discussion on the reasons for the increased fire hazard in the National Forests. He announced that dates would be set for volunteer labor to put pens and grounds in shape for the Lincoln County Fair to be held in Capitan September 15.

Plans were laid for a dance to be given soon, proceeds to go toward the construction of stables at State College.

It was announced that the State Game Department would like to trade certain lands owned by them elsewhere for a 54-section area in the Gallinas Mountains and the Secretary was instructed to forward the Department a copy of the resolution opposing any such proposed trade.

The meeting was adjourned at 10 p.m.

Keeps Busses Running
Hank Means returned to Carrizozo Sunday after three months' work in El Paso and Denver. He has been keeping the busses running taking Mexican farm workers to and from the sugar beet fields in Colorado. The best of these workers, he says, make as much as $500 in six weeks' work thinning and weeding beet fields. Mr. Means plans to take a fishing trip before reopening his auto repair shop August 1.

Ask Workers to Check Social Security Record
J. Hassler Strickland, Manager of the Roswell Social Security Administration Office, urges all workers to check their social security record to see that all their 1935 wages have been reported and credited to their account.

He especially urges all farm workers who were paid cash wages of as much as $100.00 from one employer in 1935 to check to see that each of their employers reported their wages. Because valuable retirement and insurance protection is based on covered earnings, he says, every worker should know the status of his account and what he and his family can expect from this protection.

Strickland further advises that a special printed postcard, used to request the earnings statement, may be obtained from the Roswell office of the Social Security Administration.

LINCOLN COUNTY IN BYGONE YEARS

20 Years Ago

(From the files of the Lincoln County News, July 24, 1916)

Jack Davidson announced his candidacy for commissioner on the Democratic ticket. Other candidates for this county office were Dewey Stokes and Gordon Wells, both Democrats.

The El Axteca was a new cash grocery opened up on the East side in Carrizozo.

Mrs. J. H. Crawford and two sons of Bethany, Okla., were guests at the Brack Sloan ranch.

Gunther Kroggel of Carrizozo spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dean at Bingham.

The Assembly of God was to have a tent and camp meeting at Corona, starting August 5.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Sears left on a two weeks' trip, to include Yellowstone park.

John B. Hellman passed away July 16 at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Pearl Stearns. Had he lived eight more days he would have attained his 100th birthday. He voted for statehood in three different territories: Iowa, Colorado and New Mexico.

Mrs. Pinkie Skinner was visiting her brother, Cleve Bourne, in Duran.

Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Collier returned from Pasadena, Calif., where they had been visiting Mrs. Collier's sisters.

The Bingham correspondent reported that Red Hayes "will soon have the largest goat ranch in this country as he has added five more head to the ten he already owns."

40 Years Ago

(From the files of the Carrizozo News, July 23, 1916)

Seaborn T. Gray passed away at his home in Capitan on July 23. He was born in Corra County, Ala., October 31, 1851. He came to New Mexico in 1885 and founded the town of Capitan.

Lincoln county lost another prominent citizen in the death of Charles Spence of White Oaks. He was interested in mining and was a director of the Exchange Bank.

The people of Ruidoso were trying to secure better mail facilities.

U. S. Senator Thomas B. Cañon paid a visit to Lincoln county communities.

A large crowd attended "Trades Day" in Capitan.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Pfingston and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Ferguson were down from the Mesa.

Carrizozo was having an ice famine as a result of the ice plant being shut down for a short time.

Ed F. Comrey brought in C. C. Hedges from the Jicarillas to undergo treatment at the Temple.

Billie Brown stated he had opened up a good lead of mineral in a claim of his near the American mine.

Lee Bragg was recovering from serious burns received last week when he was struck by lightning.

Rev. E. D. Lewis announced he would begin revival services in Capitan July 31.

Highway Act Calls for New Floor Stocks Tax

Albuquerque—Business firms subject to the new floor stocks tax on products included in the recently passed Highway Act may now obtain copies of Form 2285 from the District Office of Internal Revenue at Albuquerque, District Director S. P. Vidal said this week.

Increased taxes are levied on floor stocks of the following items on hand as of July 1: gasoline; tires of the type used on highway vehicles; truck, bus and trailer chassis and bodies; and tractors. A new tax was imposed on tread rubber of three cents a pound.

Returns and payments should be sent to the District Office, and checks or money orders should be made payable to the Internal Revenue Service, Mr. Vidal reminded business firms.

Manning, in the northern part of Canada's province of Alberta, advertises itself as the "northernmost midwestern farm town in North America." Its first crop of wheat was grown in 1929.

The town is 535 miles north of the United States border.

Expect Many Entries In Small Stock Shows

Entries in the Small Stock Shows at the 1935 New Mexico State Fair, September 29 thru October 7, are expected to be the largest in the 19-year history of the show. W. W. Price, Superintendent of the Rabbit Department predicted this week.

The large entry lists in the Spring and Fall would indicate that we will need an increase in hutches of about 20%, Mr. Price said. "We expect to ask Leon Harms, fair manager, for that much additional space to meet requests."

Many entries are expected from throughout the country, with a great number coming from the Southwest area. Entries close September 17.

The 1935 Fair Premium Book is being mailed to past exhibitors and other interested persons are urged to write Leon Harms, P. O. Box 1693, New Mexico State Fair, Albuquerque, New Mexico, for premium lists and other information, Price said.

HE KNEW LEW WALLACE

"I can see Gen. Lew Wallace standing right there," said the Lincoln County old-timer. He had a long white beard and his hair was white as snow. He was one of the grandest fellows old fellows you ever knew."

The old-timer knew General Wallace, one-time territorial governor of New Mexico, when he was a pupil in Wilson School on Wabash Avenue in Crawfordsville, Ind. The general's home and study were right across the street from the school and along the Monon Railroad. The Lincoln Countian started school in 1891 or 1892, and attended Wilson School for two years until his family moved to another part of town.

Wallace had an apple orchard at his home and he would let the school kids pick apples if they asked for them. The general believed in kids behaving themselves.

The general had retired from the Army at that time, and he spent much time writing in his study, a brick building separate from his residence. The Lincoln Countian says Wallace completed his famous novel, "Ben Hur," in Crawfordsville, although people say that Wallace wrote the book in the Palace of Governors in Santa Fe. Back in Indiana, people thought more of Wallace's book, "The Boyhood of Christ," than they did of "Ben Hur."

Years later, when the Wilson School kid, who had so admired Lew Wallace, came to New Mexico to live, there are two places in which he had a special interest. One was Lincoln, where Wallace met Billy the Kid in the house of John B. Wilson on the night of March 17, 1879, and made a deal with the kid to testify at a forthcoming trial. The other was the Palace of Governors in Santa Fe, where the general had lived as territorial governor.

THE BLOODY HAND

In the Wagon Mound area there is a story about a stolen child. The story goes something like this. Many years ago there was a very poor family that lived way back in the Turkey Mountains. The night that the youngest child was born, an old man came to the house asking for a place to stay but the father being busy trying to act as a midwife turned the old man out into the cold and when he persisted turned his dogs loose on the old one. The vengeful swine vengeance.

Several days later the father had to make a trip to Wagon Mound for supplies and he left the mother and the newly-born infant alone. When the mother woke up from a brief nap the infant was gone. She was almost insane with fear and so when the father returned, he took his dogs and tried to pick up a trail. The dogs found a trail which they followed for several miles and led to a rather small cave along the bank of an arroyo. Here the trail ended and the dogs could find no traces of the child, or anyone else except that on the rock wall of the cave there was what seemed to be seven bloody handprints about the size of the infant's hand.

As time has passed persons have tried to chip off the rock that contained the handprints, but the prints return within a period of time and still can be found on the cave walls today (if you can find the cave.) There are many versions of this story concerning the bloody handprints, but the above is the one that I have heard frequently. (This item from the Folklore Archives of Highlands University, Las Vegas, was told to John Makinovy by Vernon Welch.)

TWO TALL TALES

The Southern Pacific Railroad passenger train was passing by the Malpais west of Carrizozo. A woman traveler asked the brakeman what the formation was.

"The Malpais," the brakeman said.

"What does Malpais mean?" the woman asked.

"Bad lands," replied the rail-roader. "They're lava from a volcano eruption."

"How long ago was that?" the woman asked.

"It was a pretty good-sized boy," the brakeman replied. "I helped carry water in a bucket brigade to put it out."

Tourists used to ask an Alamogordo garage man what the White Sands were.

"I told them," he said, "that the White Sands were ashes that drifted off the Malpais at Carrizozo."

NAME PLACES

Triple D Mountain, now known as Black Mountain, was named for D. D. Davis, a prospector who disappeared years ago. The mountain was in a range that ran from the Gila River to the old Carlisle mining camp in Grant County.

Davis would go into the mountains and come out with a bag of gold nuggets, go to Clifton, Ariz., spend his gold and then return. The source of his gold was supposed to have been Triple D Mountain.

Late in the 1870s or early 1880s Davis went back to his secret mine and never was seen again. Many persons searched for the mine but never found it, says Claude Fuller of Lordsburg, who heard this story when he was a boy living on the Gila.

The following item is from "The Mogollon Mines," published in Mogollon in 1915. R. S. Allen was editor and publisher.

There comes to the editor of "The Mogollon Mines" a ceaseless flow of questions regarding the derivation and pronunciation of the word Mogollon. The word is derived from the Spanish and is both a proper and a common noun. As a proper noun it was the surname of a governor of that immense territory embraced within the limits of the states of Texas, Utah, New Mexico, Arizona, Nevada and California, in 1712, by the name of Juan Ignacio Flores Mogollon. As a common noun the word was doubtless applied to parasitical growth of the mistletoe, noticeable throughout the forests of the Mogollon system of mountains by the Jesuit fathers in their explorations in New Mexico during the latter half of the 17th century. The pronunciation of the word is Mo-go-yon, the accent on the first and third syllables.

Anthony is named after a saint. Early in the 1500s there was only one house on the New Mexico side of the present community of Anthony. Its occupant was known as Sabina, who was a devout Catholic and a staunch Republican. Feather said. She had a chapel in her house, which was named in honor of St. Anthony of Padua, Italy, a Franciscan monk.

When building of houses started at Anthony, Sabina donated money for a church which was called St. Anthony's. Later the community became known as Anthony, and its name extended to the bordering Texas commu-

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Monthie and Carolyn came up from Carlsbad last week to show the new member of their family, Robert Lynn, to his great grandmother, Mrs. W. N. Hightower.

Wednesday the Earl Kings of Roswell visited with the Jim McEuen.

The P. O. Pittillos of Carrizozo visited the George Creels on Tuesday. They had with them their daughter and family, the Donald Homesteads, and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Nunes of Lodi, Calif. They went on to Carlsbad Caverns and came back this way on Saturday before returning to Carrizozo.

Tuesday we had a severe rain and hail storm. The hail was so big and there was so much of it the hillsides looked like they were snow covered for a while.

Buzzle and Lee Fleming were in Roswell last week visiting their grandparents.

Mrs. C. P. Harrington came up from Alamogordo and took her mother Mrs. W. N. Hightower, to the Nogal Camp Meeting.

The Frank Herrings spent last week in Roswell. He is with Armstrong & Armstrong and has been working on Highway 37 near Alto. However, he was in Roswell at the home office of the company for some special work.

Mrs. Jane Tides of Memphis, Tenn., is the house guest of the Jack Stewart family at Eagle Creek. She is the school nurse at Wheaton Academy, Wheaton, Ill., where Chester and Judith are enrolled.

While Daille Young was here with Mrs. Charlie Nabours she was taken on a "Cook's Tour" of the community. They went the following places: Lincoln, Carrizozo, Mal Pais, Capitan, White Oaks, Tularosa, Alamogordo, Three Rivers, Fort Stanton, Cloudcroft, Mayhill, Weed and to the Nogal camp meeting. She returned to Cameron, Tex., after assuring all of us she really loved the Land of Enchantment and promised she would return next summer.

Last week the forest road crew from Capitan, consisting of Donald Harrow, Pete Freeland and E. W. Poindexter, were busy working on the Eagle Creek and Mont Jesus roads. We are very pleased to have them as we are happy to have our roads maintained in the community.

While the Finis Kipers were at Nazarene Camp they came up to visit the George Creels as they were all friends when they lived in Roswell.

Judy Baylor left Saturday for Roswell where she will visit Sally Roberts. Judy and Sally are roommates at T.S.C.W. Denton, Texas.

Kathleen Elland of El Paso enjoyed a short visit with Hattie Coffee and Margaret Randal at Eagle Creek last week.

Martin Yanez and Johnny Saldivar made a trip to the CYO camp and back to El Paso on Saturday.

Ray Wilson is set up to drill a water well at the Adkison place on Little Creek.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Reid and daughters Rita and Helen and Nita Nabours arrived Saturday from Cameron, Texas, for a stay with Mrs. Charlie Nabours who has been at Eagle Creek for several weeks. When the Reids return home Nita will stay with her mother for the remainder of the summer.

The C. A. Stigalls of Snyder, Texas, stopped by the store on Sunday and will be remembered as being here last year when Mr. Stigall worked for the J. W. Jones Construction Co. on Highway 37.

The Sam Ors of Carlsbad were in the community the past week and looking over some property.

The Wayne Hamiltons of El Paso are vacationing at Alto and Ruidoso.

Johnny Jones, Gary Crawford and Pat Suggs were week end visitors from their jobs in Tularosa with the J. W. Jones Construction Company.

The L. H. Cooks made a business trip to Alamogordo over the past week end.

nity on the south, which had been called La Tuna.

Separ (Grant County). Randall V. Mills, in a letter dated Dec. 27, 1949, writes to the editor of the New Mexico Place-Name Dictionary as follows: "Separ is a station on the Southern Pacific about 20 miles east of Lordsburg and in the southern extension of Grant County. The story of its name is in Wister's 'Red Men and White.' According to it, the name was originally Camp Separation, the point where eastern building railroad crews met west building crews. Didn't the Southern Pacific race the Santa Fe down there? Or did the Santa Fe build its line from Blyden to Deming and then west to meet its western division running south from Deming?" (New Mexico Place-Name Dictionary.)

Twirling Contest at Socorro Gymnasium

The first twirling contest in Socorro on July 8 at the High School gym was a success. There were 50 contestants from California, Arizona, Texas, Colorado and New Mexico. Several Socorro residents enjoyed the expert twirling displayed by these contestants. Anna Marie Porter and Mary Ann Garrett were the only ones entered from the Socorro area.

They were pupils of Norman Crider, director of the contest. Other students of Norman's were entered from Las Cruces, Albuquerque, Clovis and Lubbock and Brownfield, Texas. The winners are as follows:

Two-baton, Griff O'Neill, Alamo, Texas. Boys, Griff O'Neill, Alamo. Flag, Griff O'Neill, Alamo. Sweepstakes, Griff O'Neill, Alamo.

Girl's Division, Patty Corle, Lemon Grove, Calif.; Barbara Logan, Scottsdale, Calif.; Twilla McCoy, Fort Worth, Texas; Judy Lawrence, San Diego, Calif.; Carolyn Tucker, Phoenix; Jo Ann Calcuterra, Fort Worth; Susan Smith, Corpus Christi; Lila Bridges, Ft. Worth; Aretta Toops, Phoenix; Patsy Sword, El Paso and Sylvia Johnson, El Paso.

Mary Ann Garrett placed fourth in her division and Anna Marie Porter won third place in solo and fourth place in flag, competing with boys and girls of all ages.

Lions Elect International President

John L. Stickley

John L. Stickley of Charlotte, North Carolina has been elected International President of Lions International at the association's 89th annual convention in Miami, Florida. Lions International, with 142,828 members in 12,334 Lions Clubs in 75 countries or regions, is the world's largest service club organization.

The traffic death rate in urban areas is less than half that of rural areas, according to the 1956 edition of the National Safety Council's statistical yearbook, "Accident Facts."

Crider left Socorro Wednesday, July 11, for Fort Worth, Texas where he will put on some performances and then go to Iowa, Wisconsin and Chicago for the rest of the summer, competing in the National contests.

State Lost Friend in Death of J. E. Owens

The people of New Mexico lost a good friend when J. E. Owens, 73, one-time State official and long-time tax agent for the Santa Fe Railroad, died in Albuquerque recently.

The salutary influence of Mr. Owens will long be felt in New Mexico and appreciated by his many friends who knew of his work.

An editorial in the Tucuman Daily News at the time of his retirement in 1933 is a tribute to his career in New Mexico and is appropriate now:

"The favorite lobbyist of the New Mexico Legislature has retired. He is J. E. Owens, tax officer for the Santa Fe Railroad for the past 20 years and before that a State Tax Commissioner.

"Owens, commonly referred to as 'the railroad lobbyist' is all that the popular conception of a lobbyist is not. Legislators, governors, tax officials over two decades sought and used his expert advice on tax matters, and there is no record of his ever misusing the confidence.

"Owens' activity in supporting schools in poor districts and helping towns and counties along the railroad right-of-way, often at the expense of his company, changed the thinking about the Santa Fe railroad from that of a cold corporation to that of a big helpful outfit interested in education and community betterment.

"We hope the retirement of J. E. Owens does not mark the end of his kind in the legislative lobbies."—N. M. Tax Bulletin

Neighbor: How did your potato crop turn out?
 Amateur Gardener: Splendid. Some were as big as marbles, some as big as peas, and, of course, quite a lot of little ones.

Tittle: My husband has been wonderful to me lately.
 Millie: Whom do you suspect.

The children were discussing their camping trip. "What would you do if a bear came after you while you were out in the woods?"
 "I'd climb a tree."
 "But bears climb trees, too."
 "Not this tree. It would be shaking too much."

When little Susie came home after a visit at her grandmother's she found that triplets had been added to the family. "How silly of you, Mommy," she said. "You should have done the ordering — you know how Daddy stutters."

"Son," said a Texan to his offspring, "I heard you asking a man what state he was from. Now, my boy, I want you to remember this. If a man comes from Texas, he'll tell you; and if he isn't from Texas, there's no need to embarrass him."

Two explorers met in the virgin forest. In the course of their conversation, one said: "I came in order to become acquainted with new horizons, to experience an unviolated solitude, to appreciate the grandiose charms of savage nature. And you?"
 "I," replied the second explorer, "came because my little girl has just started taking violin lessons."

"The finest salesman we ever heard about sold milking machines. He sold two of them to a farmer who owned one cow—then took the cow as down payment."

Survivor of Comanche Chief Recalls Frontier-Taming Era

Washington, July 25 — Americans are closer to their Wild West past than is often remembered in these days of transcontinental airliners and atomic energy.

Just 81 years have passed since Comanche Chief Quanah Parker led the last of his people to the surrender that marked the end of Indian Wars in the southern plains. Quanah's aged widow still survives. A recent flower-scattering ceremony at the grave of her warrior-husband (he died in 1911) recalls the turbulent, frontier-taming era that saw the passing of a wild, free way of life.

Famous for their fierce independence and courage, the Comanches were called "Lords of the South Plains," and "Spartans of the Prairies," says the National Geographic Society. They were a terror to enemy tribes, and for decades delayed America's westward expansion.

RELATED TO SHOOSHONES

The Comanches were originally linked with Shooshonean tribes of the Rocky Mountains' arid Central Basin. Separating from the others, they drifted in the early 1700's into the southern plains, where they eventually ranged from Kansas and Oklahoma to New Mexico and Texas.

Among the first Indians to acquire horses from the Spaniards, the Comanches took naturally to the nomadic life of open rolling country. Tribal traits are hinted in such band names as "Those Who Move Often," "Raiders," "Antelopes," and "Raider-cats." There's a note of community disapproval in the "Wanderers Who Make Bad Camps."

The Comanches' prime interest was war, hunting and horsemanship. In all of which they excelled. They accumulated wealth in large collections of horses that they prized highly and tended carefully.

The average brave was short and stocky, and on the ground gave the impression of awkwardness. But once astride his mount, the Comanche was a model of grace. The headlong rush of war-painted tribesmen, their long black hair streaming in the wind as they charged across the plains on high-splitted horses, was a sight that lingered in many a pioneer's memory.

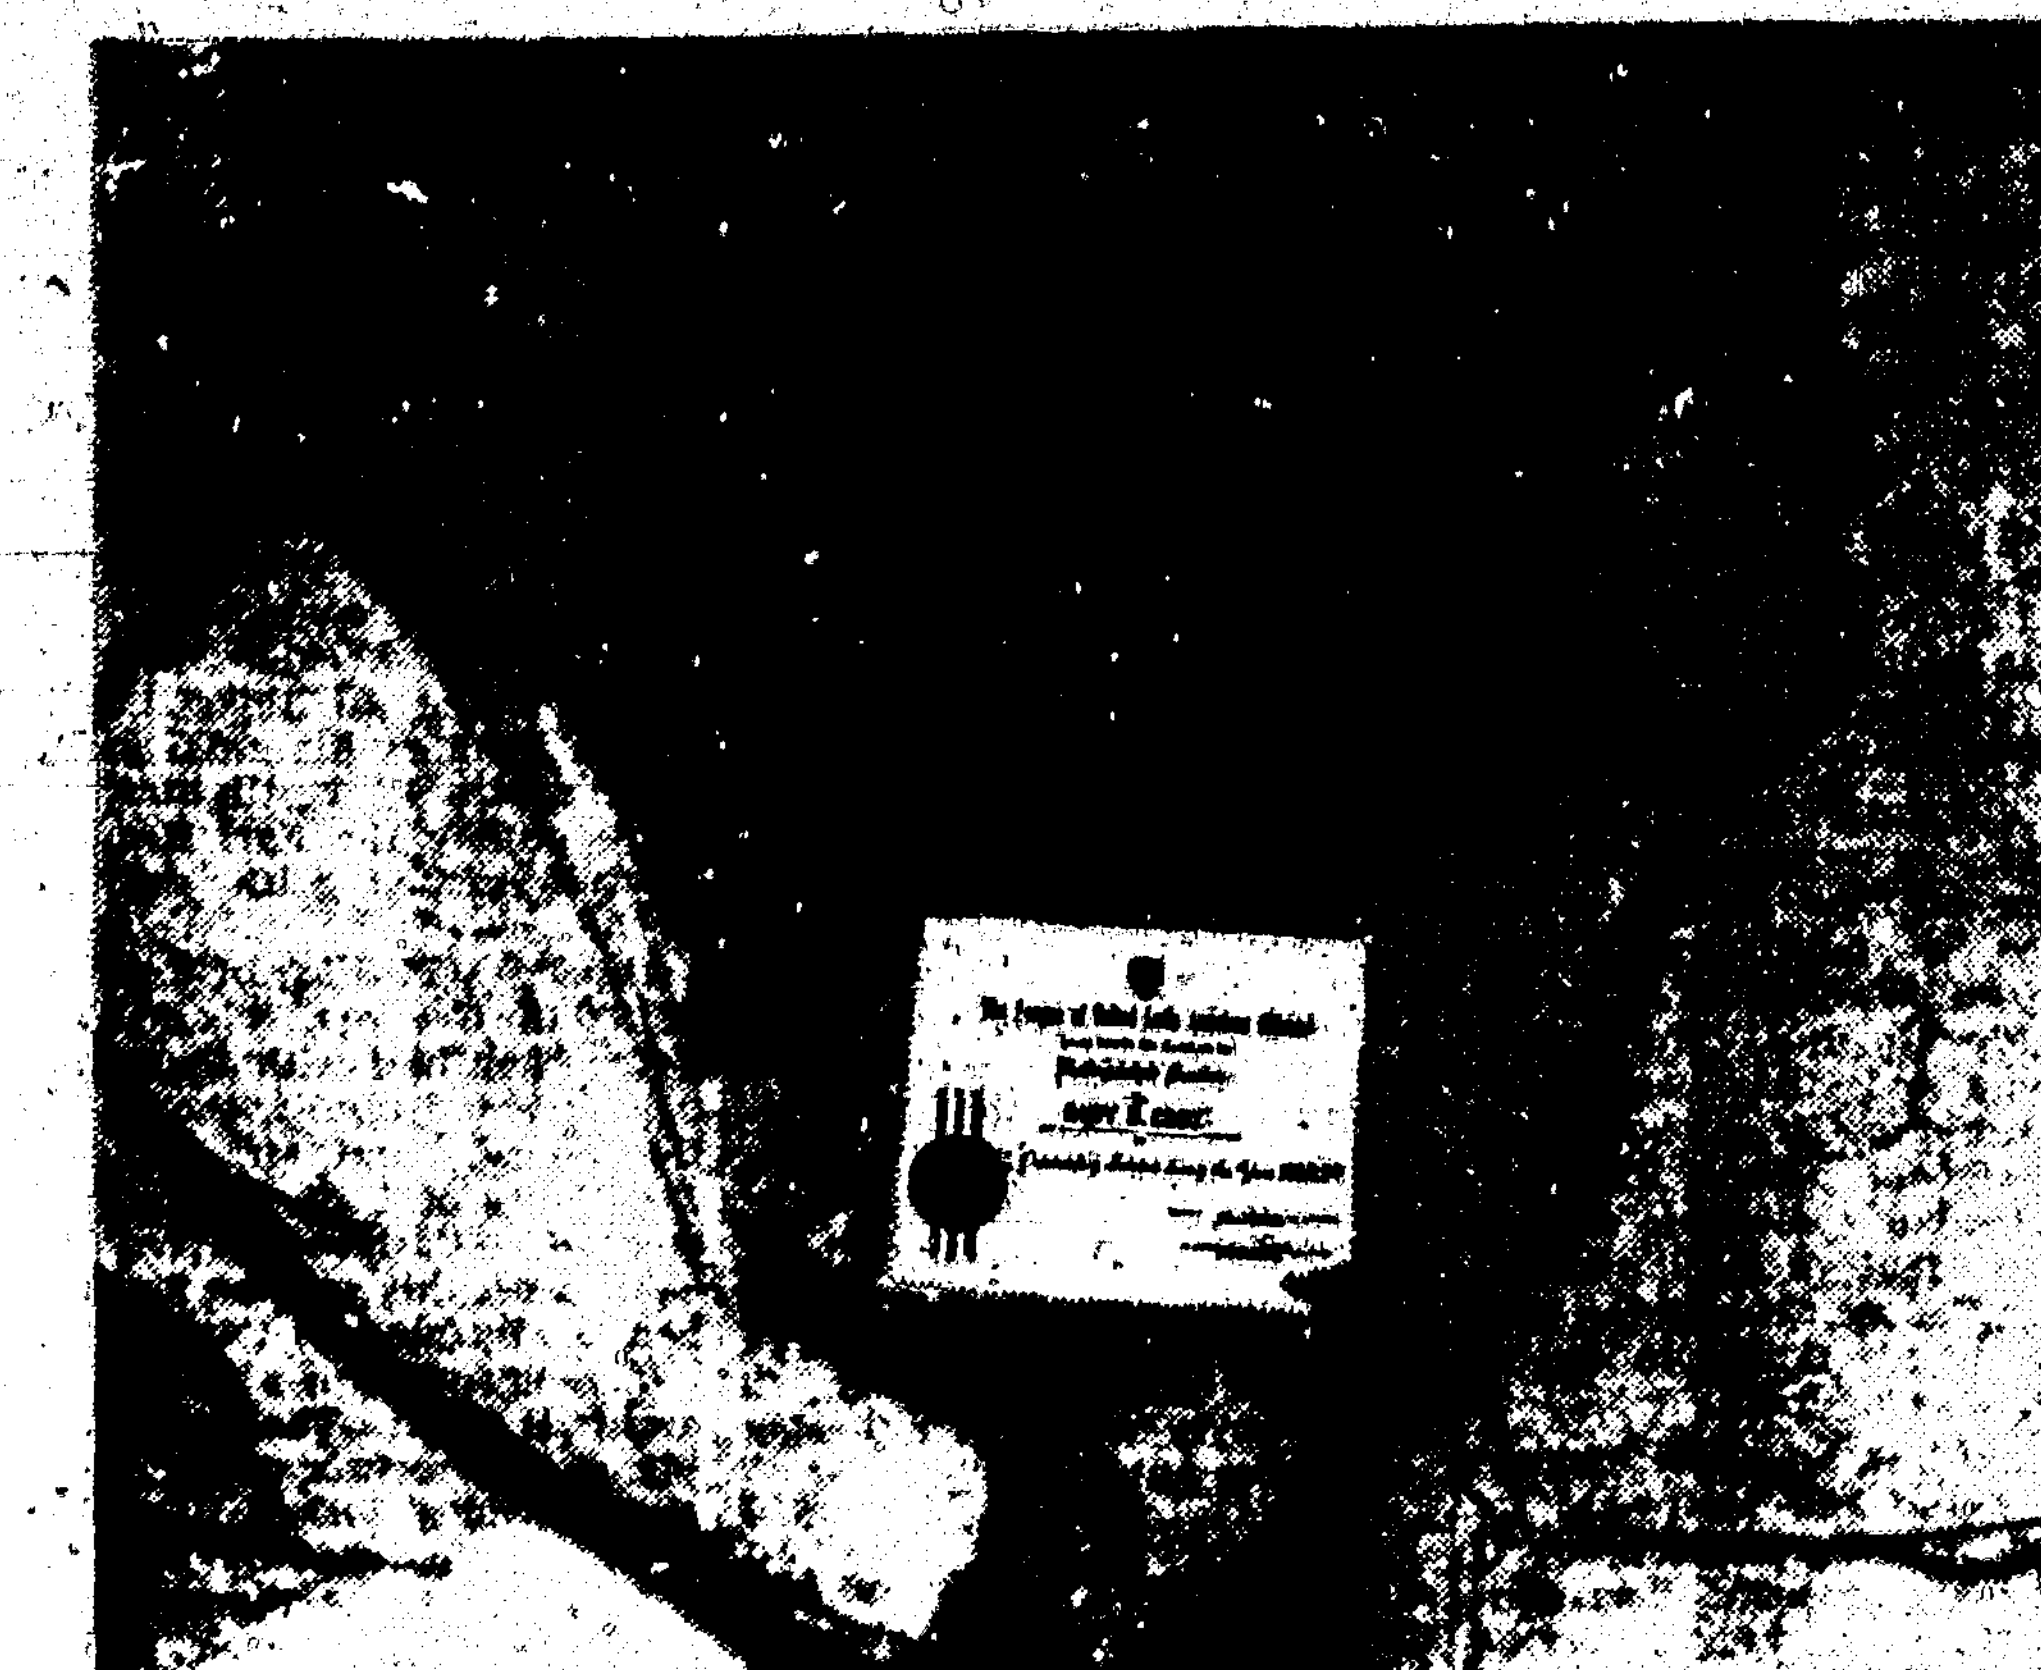

LIFE WAS GOOD

Comanche camps, quickly pitched and dismantled; held well-bull-tipped tepees that were snug in winter and cool in summer. The scattered bands sheltered in thickets along stream beds, in canyons and arroyos. When rains came, even the desert bloomed. Wild fruits, berries, nuts and root plants were plentiful. The horses grazed on succulent prairie grasses.

The Comanches hunted elk, deer and antelope, as well as smaller game. But their main source of food, shelter and clothing was the buffalo, a challenge alike to bravery and love of sport. Racing their highly trained horses beside the pounding, dust-enveloped herds, they skillfully picked off their quarry with arrows and lances. Afterward, the women did the drudgery of butchering.

Massacre of the buffalo herds and ever-increasing pioneer pressure brought want and wars that spelled the end of plains life as the Comanches knew it. In June, 1875, Quanah Parker, half-white son of a Comanche chief, and his hungry hold-out band of Antelopes gave themselves up to the military authorities at Fort Sill in southwest Oklahoma.

Although formidable, the Comanche tribe was never numerous. By conservative estimate there were probably 20,000 in 1800. A few years after their surrender to reservation limitations there were less than 1,400. Today the Comanches, who live mostly in Oklahoma, number about 2,700.

Oscar M. Laurel, (left) National President of the Lulac, presents Rudy B. Cruz, salesman with the Pearl Brewing Company of San Antonio, with a distinguished plaque from the League of United Latin American Citizens who in national convention awarded Rudy B. Cruz the certificate for distinguished service for the Lulacs during the year 1955-1956.

In making the presentation, Lulac President Oscar M. Laurel said:

"As President of the Lulacs, I want to express my gratitude for the great contribution which Rudy B. Cruz has made to the League of United Latin American Citizens for the past 20 years. He has attended the district and area meetings as well as all of the Supreme Lulac Council meetings held during the past 12 months.

"It has been Rudy's constant devotion to the aims and principles of Lulac, his wonderful personal qualities and his general amiability to please and to serve the League, which has caused me to award Rudy a special citation during the Lulac National Convention, for his great contribution toward the success of this organization.

"As President of the Lulac, I want to express my sincere personal appreciation and that of my organization, to the Pearl Brewing Company of San Antonio who employs Rudy B. Cruz, for their generosity in making Rudy's invaluable services available to our organization for all meetings during the past year."

"Irrigation Siphon Tubes" is the title of a new circular just released by New Mexico A&M's Agricultural Extension Service. The circular tells how to use siphon tubes to control irrigation water for row crops and close-growing crops.

Copies of the circular, No. 266, are available at county Extension Service offices or may be ordered from the Department of Information, New Mexico A&M College, P. O. Box 757, State College.

Care Must Be Used in Handling Insecticides

Safe handling of insecticides is your responsibility. Don't let someone's sickness or death be the result of your carelessness with insecticides.

Insecticides help the farmer, the gardener and the housewife only when they are used properly. Improper handling of insecticides can result in serious illness or sometimes death.

Here are some rules for the safe handling of insecticides:

ALWAYS read the label before using a spray or dust. Don't buy a poison unless it is properly labeled. Follow the label exactly.

ALWAYS store insecticides in their original containers and keep them tightly closed.

ALWAYS store insecticides out of the reach of children, pets, and irresponsible people. They should be stored outside the home.

ALWAYS dispose of empty containers so that they pose no hazard to humans or valuable plants as well as animals.

PETTY'S GENERAL MERCHANDISE

Carrizozo

A Biblical Town

SITE OF TREASURE HOARD: Nablus, once believed to be the ancient Shechem of Genesis, was founded by the Roman conqueror Vespasian after his destruction of Jerusalem in what is now Jordan, one of the Bible Lands. Its chief claim to fame is that it is the home of the last remaining member of the Samaritan sect of Jews and it is still visited by tourists for that reason. It is shown here nestled at the foot of Mt. Gerizim, the holy mountain of the Samaritans, where they congregate three times a year for religious ceremonies. A Mosque with minaret appears in the foreground.

Planned for Air-Cooling

Important hidden savings distinguish this well-planned ranch home. To make future installations of air-conditioning practical and economical for the owner, the plan calls for heating ducts suitable for carrying sufficient conditioned air. Also specified are wall and ceiling insulation, and a wide roof overhang to block the warm rays of the sun. The plan is No. A1500N, American Builder magazine, 79 W. Monroe St., Chicago.

For the roof the architect specifies asphalt shingles. Durable materials used both outside and inside favor an integrated color scheme. The rustic flavor of the red-brown asphalt roof is carried out in the vertical redwood boards used on the front of the house, and on one living room wall. Brick extends across the front at various heights. The wood windows and trim are painted white, in contrast to the subdued roof and siding.

Heat for the basementless house is provided in a heater room located next to the living room fireplace but opening on the kitchen. Furnace and fireplace flues are built in one chimney.

The overall floor area is 1,521 feet, a figure useful in estimating construction cost.

Detailed building plans are available from American Builder Home Plan Service, 79 West Monroe St., Chicago 3. Refer to Plan No. A1500N.

CAPITAN

BY MARGARET RENCK

We had a heavy rain about 2 p.m. Monday. Lincoln had a harder one. Fort Stanton also had a very nice rain. It gives such joy to have this moisture. We pray that we keep getting it.

C. M. Francis has a very nice lawn started. It looks nice. We are glad for you.

Mrs. Mattie McBride of Portales, visited her son, George, and family for a week. She enjoyed her family and the cool atmosphere, but said she does not like the mountains.

Miss Ida Labadie, her fiancé Luke Shakin, both of Los Angeles, Calif.; also her mother, Mrs. Edith Labadie of Roswell, whom she has been visiting, came to Capitán to visit her uncle, John Philpott and family this past week end.

A report on Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Philpott's twin girls born the 4th are that they are identical. One weighing two ounces more than the other is the only difference.

Mr. and Mrs. John Philpott and family were called to the bedside of her mother, Mrs. Lottie Howerton in Fampa, Texas, Thursday, July 19. They returned Friday night. Mrs. Howerton had a heart attack on Wednesday. At this time she is resting better and will be in the hospital for a while.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Howard left Wednesday, July 18 for a week's vacation in Taos, to visit friends and relatives. They will also visit Mrs. Howard's brother in Questa, N. M.

Mr. and Mrs. Holden from Texas Tech were in Capitán for five days on business this past week. They stayed at the Mountain Valley Motel.

E. F. Luvault made a flying motor trip this past week to Socorro; then to Globe, Ariz., and back to Las Cruces, N. M. in 48 hours. He was glad to get back to good old cool Capitán.

Jim Hackleby, who was here with his wife and children visiting the Hunt Hobbs for a week, died four days ago after his return to their home in California. Mrs. Hackleby is Mr. and Mrs. Hunt Hobbs' daughter. His death occurred Wednesday, July 18. He was laid to rest at San Jose, Calif., the following Sunday. We extend our deepest sympathy.

Mr. and Mrs. Pool and daughter of Hobbs, visited her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Lacy, over this last week end.

Mrs. Adrian Hill returned to El Paso Wednesday for a check-up on Scout's eyes. At this time he seems to be doing very nicely.

Fred Pfingsten motored to Silver City to spend the week end with his wife Leota who is going to school. She has three more weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Coor and daughter Marilyn of Aztec, came last week end. They left Marilyn with her grandmother, Mrs. Maude Clark. They took his mother, Mrs. Mayme Greisen with them to attend his sister's funeral in Houston. They expect to return Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Burns and daughter of Pasadena, Texas, visited her aunt and family, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Powell and Bobby, Sunday. They went on to the Lee Robinson Ranch for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Hall motored to Lubbock this past week end, returning Sunday night bringing with them their three children who had been visiting their grandmother, Mrs. Ed Tomm, for a few weeks.

Mrs. Maude Clark and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Cheney left last Friday for Lubbock, where they will attend the Jehovah Witnesses assembly for a few days. The Ranchers' Camp Meeting was a big success. 1500 people attended Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Britton spent last Monday in Roswell on business.

Mrs. Renck was a Ruidoso business visitor last Saturday.

Mrs. Bill Randle entered the Ruidoso hospital last Sunday night, July 22, to be ready for major surgery Monday morning.

Mrs. Kerr went to the Ruidoso hospital Monday night to go into surgery Wednesday morning, July 24.

Mrs. LaMoine Peters was home from the Portales College this past week end and attended the Ranchers' Camp Meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wigley and children of Alamogordo also attended the Camp Meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Cummins are expected home Saturday. They are bringing their granddaughter Janice with them.

Joe Renck made a business trip to Roswell Tuesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Renck may be on a business trip to Corona this Sunday. Some of that country between Capote and Corona about a 20-mile strip running north and southeast is positive and beautiful with lovely green in many shades of green and the trees are full of water. The entire look good. On our return we came through a heavy rain in the same section. It is a joy to see E. A. R. taken in welcome to make our return a paradise.

New Officers Named For Round Table Club

The Round Table Club held their July meeting at the home of Mrs. D. O. Murphy. Seven members were present and three guests—Mrs. Shaw, Mrs. Agnes Clark and Mrs. Ann Earling.

After a lovely steak dinner the meeting was called to order by the president, Corrine Province. The following were elected to fill the offices for the following year:

President, Mrs. Grace Murphy; vice president, Mrs. Angelina Province; Secretary, Mrs. Geraldine Randle; Treasurer, Mrs. Ethel Howard; minute chairman, Mrs. Corrine Province.

Mrs. Bill Hall and Mrs. Charlie Francis were asked to join the club as new members. After the business meeting the afternoon was spent sewing and visiting.

BENEFIT BINGO GAME JULY 28 AT CITY HALL

The Sacred Heart Church is giving a benefit bingo game Saturday, July 28, at 7:30 p.m. at the City Hall in Capitán. There will be prizes.

PINE LODGE RESIDENCE DESTROYED BY FIRE

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Hatch at Pine Lodge was destroyed by fire Saturday, caused by a butane explosion. The furnishings were lost. Only their personal possessions were saved as they were at the lodge. No one was injured.

Rev. Kerr's Brother Dies

Rev. Kerr's brother, John N. Kerr of Sulphur Springs, Texas, passed away July 23. Burial was in Emory, Texas, by the First Baptist Church July 24. He had been seriously ill for a month.

Good Fishing in Wisconsin

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Luck returned last Thursday evening from their six weeks' vacation in Eau Claire, Wis.; St. Paul, Minn., and other points of interest. Mr. Luck fished and had the time of his life. He caught lots of big ones. He said that they had a most wonderful time. They both look as if the vacation agreed with them. They visited their children.

Return From Vacation

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Anderson have returned from their vacation two weeks sooner, due to the intense heat. They visited in Arkansas, Texas, Oklahoma and Colorado. They said in Arkansas it was 107 degrees. They were warned that it was much hotter near the Great Lakes where they had intended to go. In Colorado it was so cold they had to light the fire, so they were glad to get home again.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Coleman are moving to Las Vegas, N. M., Sunday. We will miss you Jane but we do know just how much you will enjoy a home of your own. Good luck and do come to see us again.

Zoe Glassmire and Kathleen Doering of Kansas had lunch at Pearl's Cafe on Monday. Zoe was formerly of Carrizozo. They

Pink and Blue Shower

Honors Mrs. T. Barnett
Mrs. Lee Straley and Miss Margo Duncan honored Mrs. Tom Barnett with a pink and blue shower Monday, July 23, at the home of Mrs. Lee Straley. After two games were played refreshments of punch and cup cakes were served.

Roof Line Adds Appeal

A welcome departure from long, unbroken roof lines is the key to the exterior charm of this efficient, six-room home designed by Randolph A. Hester, Jamaica, N.Y., architect.

The gabled front, set off by a broad stone chimney, combined with a roof break between the house and cupola-topped garage to create the look of individuality so desirable in today's homes.

Inside, an open, 22-foot living-dining room boasts a wood-burning fireplace and a 12-foot-wide picture window. The three bedrooms are well-separated from the working and entertaining areas of the house, and the kitchen has table space plus a step-up U-shaped work area.

The effect of the unusual roof is enhanced by the choice of brick-clad exterior walls. The stone chimney is both decorative and functional, with a stone planter extending from the chimney under the wide picture window.

Facilities for outdoor living are provided by a roofed patio overlooking the back lawn. The patio is accessible from both the kitchen and dining room. The garage has a garden tool storage room. Adjoining it is a closet for work clothes.

The architect suggests that with year-round air conditioning becoming so popular the exterior walls and the ceiling should be fully insulated with mineral wool. He says insulation will cut down heating and cooling costs as well as reduce the initial cost of equipment.

The house has 1,302 square feet of floor space, including garage, basement and outdoor living.

A blueprint package with instructions for building with and without a basement is available from Randolph A. Hester, 24-25 28th St., Jamaica, N.Y. Ask for Form No. 100.

Start Training 4-H Steers Early

Winning a showmanship contest with a well-fitted 4-H club steer doesn't happen by accident. It's the result of much training and preparation at home prior to the show. Early summer is the time to start working every day with club steers to be ready for the shows coming up in the near future.

A long, well-groomed haircoat adds much to the appearance of any steer. Start grooming the haircoat two months before the first show. Use a stiff brush and brush the steer very well every day. Then wet the haircoat and brush it up. About once a week, wash him with cool water. This daily brushing and weekly washing will do much to insure a longer, well-groomed haircoat.

Training the steer to lead and stand correctly is another job many club members forget. Get the halter on the steer every day. Use a show stick and teach him to stand correctly. When visitors and friends call, lead the steer out and show him off. This will help him become accustomed to strangers.

If his feet have not yet been trimmed, get the job done as soon as possible. Do not put off this job until just before show time.

Club members feeding a steer have considerable money and time invested in their project. The training and grooming he receives before the show or sale will mean much regarding final success of the project. The judge or buyer may look at the steer only a few moments; so make sure that he looks his very best when the chips are down.

Morse Determines Need for Grazing

Because of severe drought conditions, Acting Secretary of Agriculture True D. Morse this week determined that there is need for emergency grazing on Soil Bank Acreage Reserve land in certain areas of New Mexico, Colorado, Kansas, Texas and Utah.

The action was in accordance with the Soil Bank law, and followed certification by governors of states involved that such action was necessary. Permission to graze on the Acreage Reserve lands extends until September 30, 1956, in those sections of the four states which already have been declared "disaster areas" under Public Law 875.

The authorizations to the governors emphasize the fact that grazing on Acreage Reserve lands is "expressly prohibited" outside the designated disaster areas of the states. Areas of New Mexico where Acreage Reserve grazing will be permitted are:

Bernalillo County, except that area therein known as the Rio Grande Conservancy District, Catron, Chaves, Colfax, Curry, DeBaca, Dona Ana, Eddy, Grant, Guadalupe, Harding, Hidalgo, Lea, Lincoln, Luna, Mora, Otero, Quay, Roosevelt, Sandoval, Santa Fe, San Miguel, Sierra, Socorro, Torrance and Union counties and the part of McKinley County east of the Continental Divide, and the part of Valencia County east of the Continental Divide.

Acreage Reserve grazing will be permitted in 10 counties in Colorado, 13 in Kansas, 65 in Texas, and one in Utah.

Conservation Program for 1957 Agriculture

The 1957 Agricultural Conservation Program for sharing with farmers and ranchers the cost of carrying out certain approved public-interest conservation practices was announced this week by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. In connection with the announcement, Paul M. Koger, administrator of USDA's Agricultural Conservation Program Service, emphasized that "ACP is a continuing long-range program of conservation cost-sharing and should not be confused with the conservation programs enacted into legislation this year. The Soil Bank Program and the ACP are complementary, not competing programs," he said.

While the ACP for each successive year is called a "new" program, actually it is a continuing program which has been in operation for 20 years. However, it carries a "new" authorization for funds each year—the 1957 Congressional authorization is $250 million—and revisions and adaptations are made annually to meet current conservation problems.

Range Cattle Prices

Agricultural Experiment Station New Mexico College of A&M
The New Mexico range cattle market report, July 14, 1956, states that sales of range cattle are still slow and scattered. Dry weather still prevails for the state as a whole with only scattered local showers reported the past week. Buyers are not very active in any area of the state.

There was not enough activity to establish a general price for the various grades and classes of cattle. However the following sales were noted for the week of July 14th.

Immediate Delivery—A string of good quality yearling heifers from the Roy Area in northeastern New Mexico, going to an Illinois feeder, weighed at the ranch with a 3% shrink—sold for $16.

About 450 good quality yearlings from the northeastern part of the state, moving to Nebraska, sold at $15.

Contracts for Fall Delivery—About 100 top quality steer yearlings from the northeastern part of the state, to go to Kansas October 1-15, will weigh 625-650 lbs. to be weighed at the ranch with an overnight stand, contracted for $18.

About 250 good quality yearling steers from the northeastern part of the state to go to a Missouri feeder in October at about 650 lbs. at delivery time, contracted for $17.

About 125 top quality steer calves from the Roy Area, to go to Illinois, in October at about 425 pounds at delivery time, weighed at the ranch with 3% shrink, contracted for $29.75.

Along the Way..

By PAUL BAKER

Ralph and Vernon Petty at Petty's General Merchandise are repeating again this summer a store-wide sale. This sale does not have the 'contest' features of last year's sale, but the bargains offered speak for themselves. An old timer remarked this week that the current rains are different from those of former years in that they are so spotty. How true Carrizozo got about a third of an inch of rain Wednesday and Lewis Farris, who lives on the northwest edge of town said they didn't get enough rain to dip off the roof. A comment made from out of town this week was: "You people in Carrizozo must not live right or you'd get some of the rain, that's falling all around you." We were beginning to wonder if the thunder clouds had us on the blacklist.

Mrs. Jack Garrett and granddaughter Carol Ann Barlow of Anchorage, Alaska, who have been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Farris for six weeks, left Friday for San Antonio, Texas. They will return to Carrizozo next week.

Hiram Brimberry says that because of an item that appeared in the News some people are confused about whom to see regarding buying cattle and the like. Mr. Brimberry is manager of the R-Bar Ranch. The new employees were hired to assist him in work on the ranch.

The ladies of St. Eleanor's Parish wish to take this opportunity of thanking the community for its support of the enchilada supper they had at the American Legion Hall in Ruidoso the 21st. Without such cooperation it could not have been the success it was and we are grateful to all of you.

I have made a couple of factual changes in the Low Wallace item. Wallace's book was "The Boyhood of Christ," not "The Christ Child," according to the American Dictionary of Biography. I checked a documented book, "Ben Hur Wallace," by Irwin McKee, and the meeting between Governor Wallace and Billy the Kid was in the house of John B. Wilson, which is far more likely since the courthouse would have been too public for a meeting of the Kid and Wallace to discuss a deal to testify at a forthcoming trial. — Ted Raynor.

Chicago—Tractor accidents kill about 1,000 farmers every year, according to the 1956 edition of "Accident Facts," the statistical yearbook of the National Safety Council, which is just off the press. One-third of the tractor deaths occur in highway accidents while the tractor is being moved from one place to another.

Robert Diaz Hinojosa of El Paso is being held in the county jail under $1,000 bond, charged with unlawfully taking a motor vehicle. He was picked up in Ruidoso last Sunday and was taken before Justice of the Peace Herbert Smith. He pleaded guilty and is awaiting District Court disposition.

Frank B. Trujillo was picked up in Carrizozo July 19 by State Police James Clayton and charged with reckless driving. He was fined $100 by Police Magistrate John Mackey.

INSIDE CAPITAL

Simms and has gathered about her an independent political crew. Latest to join up is Gail Barber of Carlsbad in a newly created job at $9000 a year.

BUCK, STANDLEY CLOSE TO SIMMS

State Secretary Natalie Buck and Fred Standley, running for attorney general are perhaps the closest to the governor of all the secondary candidates but both are apparently planning campaigns with minimum association with the governor. Supreme Court Justice Cleve Compton hasn't been dragged into the political scene and it isn't known how Reps. Tony Fernandez and John J. Dempsey will conduct their campaigns.

None of the secondary candidates is against Simms for reelection, they will probably do all they can for him, but they fear that some of the opposition he is suffering may rub off on them if they get too thick with him in the campaign.

Some would like to join campaign parties headed by Fernandez and Dempsey. Others plan to foot it alone around the state.

REPUBLICANS FAVOR FOUR

Meanwhile Republicans are striving to broaden their attack. Instead of Mechem alone they are trying to organize a push for Mary Foraker of Albuquerque for school superintendent, Phil Hubbell, Albuquerque, for lieutenant governor and Frank Wortman, Chaves county, land commissioner. They think they have the best chances with those candidates.

Unless Tom Bolack of Farmington is drawn into the congressional run the indications are that all except the favored quartet will be left to flounder alone.

The danger of the independent campaigns planned by most of the secondary Democratic candidates is that they will forsake Simms rather than risk trouble for themselves. That kind of thing occurred all over the state in the primary, even to the point of using Simms' organization money to promote local candidates and telling voters to take their choice in the governor run. In one voting division in Albuquerque $650 was allocated for primary election day by the Simms organization and the governor got 21 votes.

TELEPHONE FIRM'S EARNINGS MOUNT

The Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph Co. which serves most of New Mexico has been showing signs of demanding another rate increase. The firm recently reported on its business for the three months ending June 1. It showed money take in during the period was $51 million compared with $45.3 million in the period last year; income after taxes $6.1 million compared with $5.1 million last year.

Land Commissioner Johnny Walker has bought a $1500 typewriter. It's an automatic thing that runs on paper like an old player piano roll and makes form letters look like personal ones. It is rigged to stop at places to permit the insertion of personal names or other special matter. It's ideal for a candidate but Johnny's not running.

TOURIST BUSINESS SHOULD IMPROVE

There should be considerable more tourist business now since Director Joe Bursay has been given an assistant, Bob Zimmerman of Espanola, at $350 a month and had his own pay raised to $6000 a year. Rich
