Along the Way..

By PAUL BAKER

Slightly weary and glad to be back to a lower elevation, George Wandell returned last Thursday to his home in Nogal after six days of elk hunting in the upper Pecos country. He was accompanied on the trip by R. O. Wood of San Antonio. Mr. Wandell was fortunate to have his name drawn for a permit to hunt elk, but his luck ended there. Though about 50 elk were killed on the Pecos side of the hunting area, none had his name on it. "It is beautiful country up there," he says, "but the air gets pretty thin at 11,000 feet. I came across three bucks at close range. They were almost as large as an elk and I'd like to go back up there and look them up when the deer season opens. But if I do, I'll carry an oxygen tank on one shoulder and a bottle of vitamin pills on the other."

In a note to Superintendent Fernin S. Montes the other day we asked what became of the old school bell that was sold last spring by the Hondo School District, along with some surplus building material. Mr. Fernin writes:

"The old school bell of the Bluewater School north of Tinnie was sold to a Catholic priest in Tularosa, and the bell is now in use in the Catholic Church at Clouderoff. I am sorry that I do not have more detailed information about this."

"The bell of the Hondo School will be kept by the school district and placed on the school grounds at the new building."

Elsewhere in the News is a classified ad offering a reward for the recovery of a motorcycle that was stolen in Albuquerque recently. Noble L. MacVey writes that his son who owns the bike was in the hospital with a foot infection right after the machine was stolen.

John Wischart, manager of Big Jo Lumber Co. in Carrizozo says there has been little interest to date in the biggest buck contest. If there is sufficient interest shown, he will go ahead with his plans to give away a Remington 30.06 rifle to the hunter bringing in the biggest buck. If there is not more interest shown in the contest, the New registration fees that have been paid will be returned. Hunters may register any time for $1 at Big Jo.

Dolores Gardner, former Carrizozo school teacher, in a letter to the Lane Sisters, sends greetings from Miho, Japan. Miho, she writes, is located on the western coast of southern Honshu, the main island of Japan. Her letter continues:

To the south is the city of Yonago, with its population of 90,000. To the north is Sakai, one of the best harbors in southern Japan.

During World War II Sakai was completely demolished when an ammunition ship exploded.

Miho is surrounded by water on three sides across the strait, northeast of town, with a mile-long breaker in the Sea of Japan. From my bedroom window I have a lovely view of Miho Bay and the chain of mountains and islands which serve as a protection against Fall typhoons.

Across Miho Bay is Matsue, the City of Water, with its many canals. Lafcadio Hearn, an American, came to Japan in the 1890's as a professor of English literature. He liked Japan so much that he became a naturalized citizen. Matsue houses Hearn's old residence and is a museum.

Also in Matsue is an ancient castle, inside of which is a deep well. Visitors must, of course, remove their shoes before entering the castle.

All three cities—Yonago, Sakai and Matsue—are close enough for after school shopping. The stores remain open until 8:30 or 9 o'clock.

Mount Daisen, highest peak in this area, is about an hour's bus ride from Yonago and is the largest ski resort in western Japan.

Pusan, Korea, is an hour away by air. I hope to see that area, too, before I leave Japan.

NEW MEXICANS INSPECT ARMY'S AIR FIRE POWER

State Sen. J. G. Moore returned to Carrizozo Tuesday evening from a trip by plane to Eglin Field in Florida. As a guest of the Air Force he witnessed a demonstration of the air arm's fire power.

Seven others from around the state were guests of Brig. Gen. Davis of Holloman AFB. They were flown to Eglin Field Sunday and made their stay at Army without incident.

Two Schools Plan For Homecoming

Friday, Oct. 12, will be Homecoming Day at Corona High School. The feature attraction of the afternoon will be a renewal of football rivalry between Carrizozo's Grizzlies and the Corona Cardinals. Game time is 1:30.

The Queen of the Homecoming will be Jo Ann Robinson, a Senior.

Her attendants will be Princess Cardith Shaw, a Junior; Princess Vivian Menken, a Sophomore and Princess Wanda Blanche Reeves, a Freshman.

The Captain Tigers, looking for their third conference win, meet the Carrizozo Grizzlies to highlight their Homecoming festivities October 19, on the Captain gridiron.

The Tigers, welcoming their alumni, will serve tea from 4 to 6 p.m., at the Home Economics room in the high school, with Mrs. F. H. Hall the hostess.

Miss Judy LaMay, Homecoming Queen, will be crowned during half time of the game. She and her attending court—Helen Sedillo and Ellen Fay Taylor—will be escorted on the field by the following center boys: Ernie Francis, Dale LaMay and Joe Aldaz.

Mick Guck, president of the Student Council, will place the crown on the Queen. She and her court were elected by the football squad.

Following the game the Freshman class will give a party in honor of the alumni, in the music room of the high school. All alumni are cordially invited to attend all events.

'No Place to Go' for Highway Motorist

Five cars were involved in a "freak" accident two miles west of Carrizozo on 890 last on Monday. Two of the cars met head-on.

According to State Patrolman James Clayton, who investigated, the driver of car No. 1 stopped on the highway to see what was wrong with two other cars that were in a ditch. Car No. 2 came along and stopped beside car No. 1 to see what the trouble was. Car No. 3, coming from the opposite direction, had no pavement left and tried to go between the two cars parked on the highway.

There wasn't room enough and he crashed head-on into one of them.

The driver of car No. 1 was Gayle E. Garvey of Red Canyon Range Camp. Car No. 2 which pulled up was driven by Santiago Otero. Car No. 3 that had no place to go but through the middle was driven by Henry B. Kirbo of Holloman AFB. There was extensive damage to his car and that of Otero's, but the military vehicle escaped.

Sgt. Sylvest, riding in Kirbo's car, received facial lacerations and was taken to Carrizozo hospital.

County Officers Aid in Hunt for Escapees

Cooperating with State officers in their manhunt for two escapees from the old state prison in Santa Fe, Sheriff W. G. Bradley and State Patrolman James Clayton set up a roadblock in Carrizozo Tuesday night at the junction of Highways 54 and 380.

The vigil was maintained from 3 o'clock until 8.

The two men sought were James C. Williams, 39, and Willy Carpenter, 55, both Negroes and sentenced to long terms.

A prison guard's car in which the convicts made their escape, was found abandoned in a field north of Roswell.

Committees Named For Red Hat Days

Willis Lovelace of Corona and Ralph Brown of Ruidoso have been named co-chairmen for Lincoln County for the promotion of Red Hat Days. Their appointment has been announced by Director Homer C. Fickens of the Department of Game and Fish.

Red Hat Days, proclaimed by Governor Simms as October 12, 13 and 14, will publicize hunter safety, forest-fire prevention, game-law compliance and good relations between sportsmen and farmers and ranchers.

Co-chairmen have been named for all counties in the state. Those serving in neighboring counties are: Socorro, Earl Scott of Magdalena and Jim Moon of Socorro; Otero, Dean Cutler and Billie Holder of Alamogordo; Torrance, Joe Holland of Mountainair and Theodore Burt Sr. of Estancia; Chavez, Fred Moxey and Delbert Boggs of Roswell.

The co-chairmen are asked to promote the wearing of red hats or caps on the designated three days, to make New Mexico aware of the Red Hat days. They are requested to contact the news media, service clubs, sportsmen's organizations and schools, and otherwise generally promote the wearing of red hats or caps on October 12, 13 and 14.

The Red Hat Days pledge is as follows:

I give my pledge to be law-abiding, to respect the rights and property of others, to be careful with fire and firearms.

Vandals Wreck Summer Home

An unexplained act of vandalism last Saturday practically wrecked the interior of a summer home on Carrizo creek near Ruidoso.

According to Sheriff W. G. Bradley who investigated, entrance to the home was through the back window some time Saturday between 3 and 8 p.m.

The home is owned by John Allen of Roswell. Approximately $1,000 damage was done to the furnishings. Chairs, mattresses and lounges were slashed and lamps and pictures broken.

Sheriff Bradley says he has been unable to find a motive for the act. Mr. Allen has offered $100 reward for the arrest and conviction of the person or persons responsible.

RADAR SCREEN PICKS UP 17 SPEEDING MOTORISTS

Captain Izzy Funk and State Patrolman James Clayton working radar south of Oscura last Friday, issued citations to 17 motorists.

For driving at speeds from 70 to 87 miles per hour the drivers were issued citations to appear before Justice of the Peace, Clarence E. Shaw.

Above, an 118-lb. mountain lion is loaded aboard "Dunnie," for the trip down from Jacks Peak. Mrs. A. W. Gnatkowski is in the saddle, while Tom James, holds the bridle. Upper right, Mr. James, who is a Federal trapper, with the Fish and Wildlife Service, Department of the Interior, stands beside the mountain lion he trapped September 24 on top of Jacks Peak on the Jim Hall ranch in the Jicarilla mountains. The lion killed several lambs on the ranch about a month ago.

Below, A. W. Gnatkowski and trapper James stand beside the animal to show its measurement which was 8 feet, 11 inches, from head to tip of tail.

The lion had been in the trap two days. It was still alive, being caught by two traps on its right front paw. A rifle bullet ended its days of marauding. The lion is suspected of killing two horses on the Pat Dunning ranch and had killed a big doe just before being caught in the trap.

These big cats are known to travel circuit routes of 80 or 70 miles in a period of two weeks. The experienced trapper knows about when they will be back. The hide of this one was in prime condition and is tacked on the wall of the Corona Trading Co. Mr. James lives in Corona. Mr. and Mrs. Gnatkowski checked the trap with Mr. James the day the big cat was caught.

Pfc. James Lucero Wins in Marksmanship

Led by Pfc. Lucero the Kaiserlautern rifleman scored 8405 points to capture both rifle and pistol honors in the Western Area Command small arms firing matches.

Permacens finished second, Baumholder third and Krouznach fourth. Lucero fired 232 of a possible 250. He will represent the rifle team at matches to be held in May.

C. of C. Men Attend Duke City Luncheon

Three members of the Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce board of directors attended an Albuquerque C. of C. luncheon Monday at the Alvarado Hotel. They were J. E. Thornton, president; Marvin H. Roberts, secretary-treasurer and Fred English, director.

Chamber of Commerce representatives were present from many towns and cities, including Santa Fe, Socorro, Belen, Mountainair, Estancia, Portales and Grants.

Jim Roberts, Southwest regional manager of the United States Chamber of Commerce, gave the principal address.

His talk was mainly about building better communities. A good town, he said, requires not only a good business district, but it must have many other advantages, such as good living conditions, churches, schools, and recreation facilities.

It was announced that a work shop on community betterment will be held at the University of New Mexico campus November 15. Officers and members of all chambers of commerce in the state are invited. There will be round table discussion of worthwhile objectives in building better towns and means to attain them.

CHANGES COMING WHOEVER WINS

Santa Fe, Oct. 10—Come Republicans or Democrats Jan. 1 there are going to be some changes made.

Ed Mechem, the governor-running Republican who looks like he has a fair chance of winning the Nov. 6 run, has been thunderously silent about keeping any Democrats if he gets elected. He is expected to go all Republican if he gets back in that big chair in the second floor office at the northwest corner of the statehouse.

It was Mechem's public statement that he would retain Democrats who were doing their jobs well that helped him so much in the 1950 run when he broke the 20-year Democratic skein of victories.

MECHEM RETAINED DEMO OFFICERS

It was the continued employment of Democrats that was blamed for Mechem's failure to develop a Republican organization in his four years on the job. He tried to correct it later in his administration but without much effect.

This time with such politically powerful mentors as Phil Hubbell of Albuquerque and Maurice Miera who came up from Socorro, Mechem is expected to go all out Republican if he makes it in the November run.

The Republican used Democrats in most all the big jobs in the 1951-54 period—pen warden, game warden, highway engineer, water engineer, adjutant general, health director, education budget auditor, state police chief, oil commission director, labor commissioner, bureau of revenue finance officer, state magazine editor, director of the income tax office, alcoholism commission director, mine inspector.

SIMMS EXPECTED TO MAKE CHANGES

Gov. John Simms is expected to make a few changes in his lineup if he stays in. Top on the list is State Police Chief Joe Roach. Some members of the state police board are admittedly after Roach and have been holding off because of the possible effect on the election. They are expected to make their try after Nov. 6.

Meanwhile Governor Simms has been saying some things that may make it difficult to fire Joe.

In spite of the higher traffic fatality this year over 1955 the governor has been telling that the state police have actually accomplished a reduction in consideration of the greater traffic volume on the roads.

Another change is expected in the public service commission where Democrat Don Casados has been enjoying a $3400 job without the approval of Democrats from his Mora county area. Some are guessing that the place is being held for Manuel Ortiz, sheriff of San Miguel who switched to Simms' side after carrying on as a rebel.

Meanwhile Governor Simms has been saying some things that may make it difficult to fire Joe.

HIGHWAY JANITOR ENJOYS COMEBACK

Walter Lewis who late last year suffered bankruptcy proceedings in his glass enterprise in Santa Fe, a development that was probably no fault of his, has been enjoying a remarkable comeback in the state highway department.

Lewis was employed Jan. 19, 1950, as building and ground superintendent for the new highway building which was still three months short of completion. His pay was $440.

On April 1, he was upped to $460 because a plumber had been employed to work under him at $440, and the department couldn't have a boss working for the same rate as the help.

July 16 his pay was advanced to $480. That was after he completed his six months probationary period. Oct. 1, the salary was jumped to $525 in the department's program for better pay to keep key employees from leaving to take better paying jobs elsewhere.

In that same program two office girls in the reception room of Highway Engineer Larry Wilson enjoyed nice advances. Mrs. Louis Smith, whose husband works for the highway department at $690 a month, was upped from $325 to $375 a month.

Mrs. Katherine Sargent, a second administrative secretary in the Wilson office, was raised from $440 to $480 a month.

Mrs. Sargent's husband also works for the department. Mr. Lewis' wife does not work for the department. She is employed by the bureau of revenue.

So. Central Teachers Meet at Hondo

On September 28 there was a meeting of the district teacher association presidents called by Superintendent Fermin S. Montes, president of the South Central District Teachers Association, to discuss the various aspects of work handled by the presidents of the local teacher associations.

John Roush and John Aragon, field secretaries of the N.M.E.A., stressed the value of communicating to the teachers information concerning work that is being done by the N.M.E.A. Each of the associations presented a single aspect of matters vitally important to the teachers and their association. The following presidents attended, each presenting the subject listed: Marcos T. Hill of Magdalena, New Centennial Celebration and Insurance and Investments; Leota Pflingston, Captain, Constitutions and Organization, Coordination; Ramon Sarracino, Socorro, Future Teachers of America; Marcella Cunningham, Ruidoso Program; Everett Dano, Corona, Committee; Minnie L. Neal, Carrizozo, Proposed Legislation for N.M.E.A.; Ernest Booky, Hondo, Place of the N.E.A. in the Teacher's Work.

Hondo Freshmen Given Initiation

On September 21, the freshmen of the Hondo High School underwent the traditional initiation given them by the seniors. Each appeared in a costume originated by the seniors, and at the assembly during the morning they put on original songs, dances, or stunts. Andrea Romero was awarded the first prize for the costume of an Elephant Spider; Evangeline Montes took the second prize as a hobo cowboy; and the Joiner twins, Pat and Patsy, received the third award as a buxom Negro woman and a Negro man. The grand finale to the initiation was a party given at the gymnasium that night in honor of the freshmen who passed their tests of sportsmanship with flying colors.

Hondo Teachers Elect Officers

At the first regular faculty meeting of the year, the teachers of the Hondo Valley Public Schools elected the following officers for their association: Ernest Booky, president; Albert Gomez, vice-president; Mollie Threest, secretary; Earl Simmons, treasurer. The delegates to the NMEA Convention in late October are Supt. Fermin S. Montes, Ernest Booky, and Earl Simmons, with Richard Cole and John Torres chosen as alternates for the latter. Of interest to the next regular faculty meeting on October 18 will be a tape recording of the principal talks that highlighted the NEA Convention held in Portland, Oregon, during the summer.

The Marine Corps Band was organized in 1789 and has played for every President except George Washington.

Band Instruments Given To Cobre Schools

Bayard, N. M.—The music department of the Cobre Consolidated school system has added more than 30 band instruments to its store of equipment as the result of a gift to the schools by Kennecott-Copper Corporation.

The instruments were presented to school officials by the company's China Mines Division for use in the school music program.

Purchased by the company several years ago, the instruments were used during a company-sponsored recreation program for its employees. The band program was discontinued recently, so company officers decided to donate the instruments to the school.

Making the presentation for Kennecott was J. K. Richardson, assistant general manager. Harold Smith, Superintendent; N. L. Haggerson, high school principal; Daryl Mooney, band instructor, and Miss Barbara Gilliland, president of the Music Masters student organization, represented the school.

Excavate New Area At Gran Quivira

The Campo Santo Area of the first Spanish mission, San Isidro, at Gran Quivira National monument is being excavated. San Isidro Mission was constructed by Father Letrado in 1629.

The excavation work is being done by a specialized crew, under the direction of Gordon Vivian, noted national park service archeologist.

When the excavation work is completed, the walls of the Campo Santo will be stabilized to preserve them. Any cultural findings will later be displayed at the monument's exhibit room. The national monument is located on state highway 10, south, 25 miles from Mountainair, and 56 miles north of Carrizozo, and is open to the public all year.

Increased Travel

Visitors to Gran Quivira National Monument during September totaled 863 persons, representing an increase of 4% over the same month last year. Visitation for the year shows an increase of 20%, according to Superintendent Channing Howell. During the month the campgrounds were used by 347 picnickers and campers.

There is no admission charge to view the historic Spanish Mission and the adjacent prehistoric Indian Pueblo. The National Monument can be reached by traveling north on highways 54 and 10 from Carrizozo, or south on highway 10 from Mountainair.

Physically handicapped persons are being employed successfully in almost every type of job in business and industry today, according to John S. Coleman, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

THE CEMETERY AT WHITE OAKS

Names famous in New Mexico history are engraved on tombstones in Cedarvale Cemetery in Lincoln County's ghost mining town of White Oaks.

The inscription on one of the larger tombstones says only: "William G. McDonald April 11, 1918."

That is the grave of the first governor of New Mexico after statehood. Wild asparagus has taken root on his grave and a bunch of it had reached sturdy growth in late spring. David L. Jackson, 96, who has lived in White Oaks 59 years, said he has been told that asparagus was McDonald's favorite vegetable.

Wild asparagus also grew on several other graves.

Another simple inscription on a small stone says: "Susan MacSween Barber 1845-1931."

She was the wife of Alexander MacSween, killed in Lincoln in the final battle between the MacSween and Murphy-Dolan factions in the Lincoln County War. She became known as "the cattle queen of New Mexico." Her second husband was George Barber, and they ranched at Three Rivers. Mrs. Barber lived in White Oaks during her last years.

"I knew her well," Jackson said. "All of a sudden she got sick, and I went to Carrizozo for a doctor. I always looked after old folks."

"So many of my friends are here that I took it on myself to maintain the cemetery," Jackson said.

Unlike some pioneer cemeteries in New Mexico, Cedarvale is neat and respectful appearing because of Jackson's loving care. Beds of iris bloom in season, and nowhere among the graves have weeds taken over.

A. A. Lane, a former mining partner of Jackson, is among those buried in Cedarvale, whose graves far outnumber the living in the famous ghost mining town.

Jackson remarked that after some of these people died, "I have said life is too short to make another friend like that." Veterans of the Civil, War, World Wars I and II and the Korean War are buried in Cedarvale.

"Sgt. J. A. Allen, Co. H, 111th N. Y. Inf.," a Union Veteran, lies next to "Corp'l W. H. Dearmore, 2nd Ark. Inf."

Few of the tombstones bear more than the name and the dates of birth and death, but on one, that of an infant is inscribed: "Budded on earth to bloom in heaven." The child was "Virginia, daughter of Dr. M. G. & Belle Paden, Jan. 1, 1895—Mar. 14, 1895." Dr. Paden and other members of his family also are buried in Cedarvale.

Eight weatherbeaten boards, on which no names are carved, mark the graves of miners killed on March 9, 1895, in a fire in the Old Abe Mine, Jackson said.

Near the edge of the cemetery, close to the hillside dotted with cedars, the name Jackson is inscribed in the center of a tombstone. At the left is his wife, Mary J. 1869-1954. At the right is the incomplete inscription for himself, "David L. 1870-19—."

Jackson is a deeply religious man. "Let your biggest concern be of eternity," Jackson said with the sincerity of one who believes.

THE BEST OF RIDES—FOR FOLKS OR FREIGHT

Tigers Nose Out Corona, 7 to 6

By RONEY ZAMORA JR.

The Captain Tigers generated a scoring punch by marching 80 yards for their score Friday night on the Tiger grid. The extra point was also netted. This brought to an end Corona's winning skunk for the season, and also it was the second in a row of District play for Captain giving them command of 3-3 football race.

The Corona Cardinals hit pay dirt six minutes deep in the first period when a pass from Knight to Huey, good for 15 yards, put them over the goal line. Tiger Mick Guck crashed the Cardinal line and the attempted conversion was blocked.

The Tigers received the kickoff on their 20 yard line and commenced their 80 yard march. Carroll Jones, E. Francis and Ralph Vance alternated McKnight's handoffs for yardage, mostly through the center, guard, and tackle holes.

VANCE SETS UP SCORE

Ralph Vance set up the Tiger score as he struggled 12 yards and was downed on the Corona 4. The Cardinals woke up and stiffened their defense but to no avail. Shorty Jones completed the touchdown parade, with a 4 yard scamper through the middle. Shorty repeated his performance and added the point.

The Cardinals received and drove a few yards only to lose the ball on downs. The Tigers took over and did the same. Another complete exchange left the Tigers in possession as the second period ended.

The third period gave the wild spectators thrills galore as the teams marched up and down the field missing scoring opportunities by narrow margins. Late in the final period, Corona connected an aerial to Huey and they were on the move. The Cardinals climbed steadily to the Tiger 22 where a hard tackle forced Huey to fumble.

From there Billy Lujan of the Captain Tigers furnished the thrills by gathering the fumble and fleeing downhill 42 yards with the Cardinals breathing down his neck. Pat Huey steadily gained on him, finally catching him in open field and prevented his scoring. From there the Tigers ran the clock out through ground plays.

Georgia Lusk Pledges Support for "Practical Dep't. Reorganization"

Santa Fe.—State Superintendent of Public Instruction Georgia Lusk said this week that she plans, if re-elected, to carry out the Democratic party platform pledge "to support any practical reorganization plan" for the State Department of Education.

"I believe that the details of departmental reorganization should show the combined effort of lay citizens, legislators and educators, rather than be a cut-and-dried proposal advocated by any single individual," Mrs. Lusk said.

"The vital consideration in any move to reorganize the department must be to make certain that the State Department of Education continue to be administered by a superintendent of public instruction who not only knows our particular school problems but also has the experience and know-how to solve these problems."

"A superintendent of public instruction must know a great deal more than simply what goes on in a classroom," Mrs. Lusk said. "The superintendent must have a wide knowledge of conditions in the state, including area economics, area cultures, and even road conditions."

"The superintendent must also have an intimate knowledge of budgets and money, as well as a clear understanding of state and federal legislatures and the ability to work with them for the best interests of our schools," Mrs. Lusk said.

naturally proud of my boys and if I can get them to play all over the field as they do in their own twenty, we'll go places. The breaks were bucking, we worked for our part and most of Corona's were breaks. Of course, they are a fine team and deserve recognition."

Rate and Economy of Gain for Cattle Lambs and Hogs in the Feedlot

By IVAN WATSON

Extension Animal Husbandman
New Mexico A&M College

The rate and economy of gain are two major factors for a successful livestock feeding operation. A high average daily gain, along with a low cost per pound of gain, would certainly be equivalent to a profitable enterprise. Low rates of daily gain for the slaughter classes in the feedlot are usually associated with average-to-high cost per pound of gain. Then too, there are feeders who obtain high daily gain at a high cost of per pound of gain.

The effect of body weight in relation to feedlot gain is usually reflected in the feeder's price. The yearling steer feeder market is usually two or four cents per pound under steer calves. Oftentimes, feeders will object to heavy calves, say over 550 pounds. Creep-fed or warmed-up calves may not bring the same price per pound as 400 to 450-pound calves off the range. The explanation is quite simple. For example, a 500-pound steer may need 500 pounds of grain plus 200 pounds each of hay and silage to produce 100 pounds of gain. An 800-pound steer may need 650 pounds of grain and 250 pounds each of hay and silage to produce 100 pounds of gain. The increase in body weight of 60 per cent has placed an increased feed requirement of 25 per cent per 100 pound gain.

There are published data for feedlot lambs that correspond with the cattle data. The feed requirement per 100 pound gain for 85-pound lambs is 20 to 25 per cent greater than for 70-pound lambs.

A growth gain for cattle varying in weight from 500 to 800 pounds is roughly a pound a day. The growth gain for lambs averaging in body weight from 60 to 80 pounds is roughly 15/100 pound per day and for hogs ranging in weight from 100 to 200 pounds, around 5/100 pound per day.

Daily gains above the regular gain may be referred to as fattening gains. Certainly a calf gaining three pounds daily will be ready for slaughter, at a constant grade, before a calf making only two pounds daily gain is ready for slaughter. The same would be true for lambs and hogs making a high rate of daily gain.

The use of hormones and antibiotics in livestock feeding is lowering the difference in rate and economy of gain as influenced by body weight. Body weight at weaning is often an explanation of doing ability and heritability. The feeder should not be too complacent in placing emphasis on the lighter-weight feeders, otherwise he may lose the important factor of gaining ability in the feedlot.

We may conclude from the foregoing discussion that there are two approaches for the feeder to realize a profit in his operation. In the case of the lighter-weight feeder animals, the profit must be made on the economy of gain during the first half of the feeding period. The other conclusion on heavy-weight feeder animals is that the feeder realize his profit on the difference between purchase and selling price of the purchased weight, which is referred to as the spread.

Make Extra Space to Store Fall Vegetables

Need extra storage space for your fall vegetables?

An old barrel, laid on its side and covered with earth, works well. Provide the open end with a lid and cover this end with straw after the barrel is filled.

Or you can just stack your vegetables on the ground, cover them with straw and then shovel a layer of soil, several inches thick, over them. An old piece of perforated stovepipe, placed in the center of the stack and extending above the layer of soil, will give ventilation for the stored products. Remove fruits and vegetables as needed, by shoveling soil away from side of mound.

Storage pits also work very well. They can be merely a hole in the ground, lined with straw and covered with a lid after filling. Or the pit can be lined with a wooden box, a barrel, or a section of concrete culvert before filling. A ventilation pipe is used in each storage pit.

The 10 Commandments of Safety

- 1 Treat every gun with the respect due a loaded gun. This is the first rule of safety.
- 2 Guns carried into camp or other places where they are not in use, must always be taken down or have actions open; guns should never be pointed in cases to the shooting area.
- 3 Always be sure barrel is clear of obstructions, and that you have proper identification of the proper size for the gun you are carrying. Clean the oil and grease from chamber before firing.
- 4 Always carry your gun so the muzzle is pointed in the direction of the muzzle, even if you are in a crowd. Keep the safety on until you are ready to shoot.
- 5 Be sure of your target before you pull the trigger. Know the identifying features of the animal you intend to hunt.
- 6 Never point a gun at anything you do not want to shoot; avoid all horseplay while holding a gun.
- 7 Unattended guns should be stored separately from ammunition and should be stored separately from children and careless adults.
- 8 Never climb a tree or fence or up a ditch with a loaded gun; never pull a gun toward you by the barrel.
- 9 Never shoot a bullet at a flat surface of water; when at target in a boat, the boat's backstop is adequate.
- 10 Avoid alcoholic drinks.

Hunter Safety and the Red Hat Days that publicize safe hunting are the themes of this year's exhibit of the Department of Game and Fish at the State Fair. Governor Simms has proclaimed October 12, 13 and 14 as Red Hat Days. With him in the colorful booth are Paul Wright, Chairman of the State Game Commission, and Homer C. Plekens, Director of the Department of Game and Fish.

Should You Buy a House Now, or Wait?

Rising prices of new houses and tight mortgage money have dampened many a hopeful home buyer's dream. But if you're waiting for a cheaper house, you'll be disappointed, say the editors of Changing Times, The Kiplinger Magazine.

Rising land, labor and building materials costs have forced builders to raise prices. As a result, the average home buyer now pays about $1,500 more for a new house than he would have paid last year. You do get more for your money though, since houses are larger and better equipped.

You'll pay more, too, to finance a house. Mortgage money has rarely been so hard to find as it has in the past six months. And, when money begins to get scarce, interest rates rise. The total interest paid on a mortgage may run into several thousand dollars, and it must be added to the contract price of a house.

There is no indication that prices will decline. This same spiralling of new-house costs will continue. No improvement in the present tight-money situation is predicted in the foreseeable future either.

So if you want a house, and are fixed to swing a deal and can get the money, you had better go ahead. When you buy, keep these facts in mind: Many builders are in a forced-to-sell spot and are eager to deal. It may pay to choose an older home, even if you have to fix it up. Today's best buys, everything considered, are houses built before 1940. Mortgage-money costs, though high, still vary greatly, so shop around. Remember that shaving 1/4 or 1/2 of 1% off the interest rate will net you hundreds of dollars over the life of your mortgage.

OIL PROGRESS WEEK in New Mexico is proclaimed by Governor John E. Simms on October 14-20 to coincide with the big national celebration State Oil Industry Information Committee Chairman Paul S. Johnston of Hobbs, left, and OIIG Vice Chairman John P. Wiedemer of Albuquerque, right, watch as it becomes official.

JEST IN FUN

Boss: "I want to get this message to every married woman in the country."

Advertising Manager: "There's only one sure way to do it. We'll address our letters to the husbands and mark them 'Personal and Private.'"

On his return from a business trip to Texas, Brown gave his wife four milk coats, two Cadillac and seeds of money.

"Honey," she gasped, "where in the world did you get all these things?"

"Nothing to it," said Brown, beaming. "We were in Houston on Halloween and, just to kill time, we went out and played 'trick or treat.'"

Boss: "What are you doing here? Didn't you read the letter I sent you?"

Office Boy: "Yes, sir, I read it inside and outside. On the inside it said, 'You are fired,' and on the outside it said, 'Return in five days.' So here I am."

The little boy dashed in and breathlessly informed his father that he had just sold his mongrel dog for $50,000.

"For cash?" inquired his dad. "Well, practically," was the reply. I swapped him for two $25,000 kittens."

A man who had imbibed too freely and was late getting home was berated by his wife for keeping her up. His alibi was that he'd taken the wrong bus.

"Well, I kind of thought it was," replied the confused man, "when it stood at one corner for

Yes, Those Income Tax Returns Are Checked

Chances that your tax form— one of 60,000,000—would be picked for checking might seem low, yet the government does a surprisingly extensive job of scrutinizing, say the editors of Changing Times, The Kiplinger Magazine.

Not all returns get the same attention although every one is checked for arithmetic. Some 40,000,000 small wage and salary earners' returns have little more on them than notations of total income, tax withheld and dependents. These are subject to only cursory examination.

But about 20,000,000 returns receive greater attention. If you earn between $5,000 and $50,000 or have a business that doesn't gross over $30,000, it's likely your form will be reviewed. The probability is increased if you list unusually large medical deductions, interest payments or contributions. And, if you request a large refund, you can be sure that your return will be audited. Even in the case of smaller refunds, increasingly greater care is being exercised in making payments.

While Lee and Laura Bonnell were here we went 'politicking' up the Bonnix with my favorite cousin, Louise Coe Bonnell. The next day we drove around the point of the Capitan Mountains, visited with most of the Chuck and Chet Club members, found Gladys Hale plumb stove-up from a horseback ride to the top of El Capitan Peak. She said she didn't leave anything up there, so she won't ever have to go back.

We had lunch with Mrs. Hatch at Pine Lodge. Lee tucked my poster on a lot of trees that Heavy Drobe missed.

I thought the country was dry and dusty, but Ned Crisshaw says he's seen five or three dried folk that this one.

Hope to see you at the Democratic Rally and Banquet, Sunday, Oct. 14, at the Carlsbad crossing of the Hudson at 11:30 P. M.

AWARD OF HONOR

Kennecott Copper Corporation
CHINO MINES DIVISION
SANTA RITA - HUNLEY, NEW MEXICO

for
AN OUTSTANDING SAFETY PERFORMANCE
1955

Ned H. Dearborn
President
National Safety Council

For SAFETY in ACTION

THE Chino Mines Division of Kennecott Copper Corporation has received the National Safety Council's highest industrial safety award for 1955—the "Award of Honor."

Less than five percent of the nation's industrial organizations rated by the council received such an award. It reflects the safety-conscious attitude of all the Chino Mines Division family... the typical man-on-the-job... members of plant safety committees... foremen who conduct weekly safety meetings... company officials who stress safety at all times.

Based on the 1955 safety record at Kennecott's properties here in New Mexico, the average Kennecott employee could work here 40 hours a week for almost 40 years without a lost-time accident!

The safety council's award was made in recognition of the Division's improvement over its own record for the three previous years and for bettering the metal mining industry average for the same period. The Chino Mines Division was 44 per cent safer than the National Safety Council's "par" for accident frequency, and a whopping 84 per cent safer in accident severity for 1955.

The Award of Honor is a tribute to every employee of the Chino Mines Division. It is a tribute also to Kennecott, reflecting the company's desire to provide safe working conditions for all employees, thus making their "careers in copper" more secure.

This Award of Honor is not an end in itself. It is but another milestone toward the goal of accident-free jobs in modern mining for every member of the Chino Mines Division family.

Colors Improve Any House

Used correctly, exterior colors can improve the appearance of any house, old or new, in order to achieve the most effective results with exterior colors and avoid a "patchwork" effect that can ruin architectural lines, color stylist recommends concentrating on four general areas of color. They suggest starting with the roof (1) to obtain a "key" color. Another harmonizing color is recommended for siding (2). Trim, wood windows and garage doors (3) should blend with the siding or be painted white. An accent color (4) on doors, flower boxes and shutters adds bright points of interest. One of the newest home decorating trends is to make use of the exterior color scheme in decorating the interior of the house.

WE REMEMBER...

THE 11th AIRBORNE DIVISION—"THE ANGELS"

February 16, 1945—
Philippines
Paratroopers of the 11th Airborne Division dropped on the island fortress of Corregidor. Within three hours of their landing they had cleared the enemy from the island's main plateau. By early the following morning, after taking up with ground troops, they had split the island in two. The fall of Corregidor opened up Manila Bay to ships of the American fleet in the campaign to liberate the Philippines.

Landmark Disappears

One by one the old landmarks in White Oaks disappear. The last one to go is the old "McDonald Castle." In the early days, when everything was booming, and the dust on the street was gold, it was occupied for a long time by Judge Le Compte of Kansas and by W. C. McDonald, before he became manager of the Carrizozo Ranch. Of late years it fell into "innocuous desuetude" or was used only as a shelter by bats, owls and rats, who had no respect for the old-time historic edifice.

This week former Sheriff R. D. Armstrong and Grandpa Turbell are carrying it over to another part of town where the material of which it was built can be put to further use.

(From the Sept. 14, 1935, issue of the Outlook, White Oaks weekly newspaper.)

Fernando Salcido Heads Student Body At Hondo High School

By a majority of four votes over Roman Pacheco, Fernando Salcido of the junior class was elected president of the Student Body on September 23. Freda Kimbrell also ran for the same office. The classes elected the following members for the council: Senior—Virginia Torres, Olinda Herrera Junior—Ylario Salcido, Patsy Nunez. Sophomore—Beatrice Sanchez, Josephine Salcido. Freshman—Martha McKnight, Juanita Torres. The 8th grade elected Olivia Palacio and Della Jean Fresquez to sit in on the council with a non-voting status.

SERVICES FOR MOTHER OF MRS. RUBY R. DOUGLASS

Mrs. Ruby R. Douglass, of the Hondo High School faculty, has returned from Lebanon, Indiana, where she attended the funeral services of her mother, Mrs. W. J. Robinson, who was making her home with Mrs. Douglass and her sister, Mrs. Roartha R. Pilon, at the Cottonwoods in Hondo.

During the next 13 years, more money will be spent for highway construction on the federal-aid system alone than has been spent during the last 26 years on all federal, state, local and city streets, according to the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

Changes in State Budget Procedures Are Recommended

Santa Fe—(Special)—The New Mexico Taxpayers Association recommends the next Legislature make certain changes in the state's auditing procedures to make it impossible for one official to audit his own books. "In order to provide for effective fiscal control," the Association's monthly Bulletin says, "the next Legislature should switch the duties of the Comptroller and the State Auditor, as to the pre-audit and post-audit functions, and provide a legislative budget analyst, responsible to the Legislature."

The Association describes in this manner the three main types of audits necessary for effective control of public expenditures:

1. The pre-audit. It is a control intended to be used by the executive to supervise departments and agencies under his direction. It ascertains the legality and authority of expenditures. It checks whether the money is available before it is spent. It provides information on receipts and expenditures which is necessary for administration purposes.

2. The post-audit. It is a control after the money is spent, to give the appropriating body and the public an independent check on the executive's handling of the money. It should be made by a person not under the executive's control in any manner.

3. The performance audit, or operation-audit. It determines whether the money was spent efficiently for the correct purposes and in accord with policies laid down by law. It gives the Legislature an independent appraisal of the state administrative machinery and actions of operating officials. It lets the Legislature know whether its wishes, as the appropriating

STATE GAME DEPARTMENT

ELK HUNT A GREAT SUCCESS

The first of the two elk seasons came to a close on October 7. Of the 255 eligible licensees, those who showed up took 91 elk. Among the kill were some of the finest bulls ever taken in New Mexico, according to the Department of Game and Fish.

In the Mora-Pecos area, 53 elk were taken on the Pecos side and 7 on the Mora side. Hunters in the Tres Piedras area took 24, and in the Red River country 5 elk came down.

From casual observation of some elk taken, it appears that there may be a number of trophy animals among them. Hunters are reminded of the Boone and Crockett Club Big Game Competition. Charts for recording measurements are available from the Game's secretary, Mrs. Grancel Eitz, 5 Tudor City Place, New York 17, N. Y.

"The most gratifying aspect of this fine hunt," says Director Pickens of the Department of Game and Fish, "is that no firearms accident occurred in the whole week." One or two hunters were temporarily lost, but that's about the worst that happened.

In the southern part of the State, elk will be hunted from November 24 through November 30. The 22 licensees picked at public drawing on August 27 will be eligible to participate.

SPECIAL WATER SEASONS CLOSING

Fishing season closes October 15 on Bitter Lakes Federal Refuge, Bosque del Apache Federal Refuge and Washington Ranch.

Fishermen are reminded that the season closed October 1 on Jackson Lake, La Junta Creek and tributaries, and Wagon Mound Salt Lake.

SPECIAL DEER HUNTS OPENING

October 15 opens deer season in the Blanco area. Season runs through October 21. Deer of either sex may be taken. Deer tags at $2 are required in advance. They are obtainable from license vendors and from the Department of Game and Fish offices in Santa Fe and in Albuquerque.

CURIOSITY KILLS THE CAT

Jewel Butler and Fred Weir unexpectedly bagged a female mountain lion last week in the Pinos Altos Range, ten miles out of Silver City. Butler, a conservation officer of the Department of Game and Fish, was calling on his coyote call, when a 70-pound female lion answered the call. Fred Weir, who was with Butler, promptly killed the lion.

agency, are being carried out. The Taxpayers' Bulletin said that in New Mexico the pre-audit, which should be in the hands of the governor, is actually made by the elected state audit and the post-audit, which should be completely independent of the executive branch, is carried on by the comptroller—who is appointed by the governor.

"Thus, in New Mexico, the comptroller is given the responsibility of checking what the comptroller has already done," says the Association. It quoted a maxim of public policy on the subject: "That no man should be empowered to audit his own books."

New Mexico does not have a legislative budget analyst to carry out the functions of the performance budget. An attempt to create such a post was made by the 1955 Legislature but was vetoed. The effort is expected to be renewed in 1957.

Demo state Committeeman Tom Brown of Artesia has relieved John Miles in the Demo state headquarters while Miles takes a swing through the counties in behalf of the Demos. Chairman Ernie Tucker is so busy that he never can tell when he will be at the Santa Fe office. ... Demo Land Commissioner Johnnie Walker and his crew of politicians are still single-shooting for Murray Morgan of Alamogordo for land commissioner. If anything they are unfriendly to the Simms crowd. ... Republicans continue their push for Mechern for governor, Phil Hubbell for lieutenant governor and Frank Wortman for land commissioner. The others are swimming on their own. ... Political observers are wondering about the fate of former newspaperman Dick Everett if Simms survives the election. Everett was a controversial assistant governor until demoted to a campaign job in the early part of the campaign at the insistence of party leaders. Whether he would return or stay out of sight is the subject of current discussion. It probably depends on what Simms plans for 1958.

Wives Get Home They Wanted

When America's housewives told the nation what they want in their homes of the future during the recent Women's Congress on Housing in Washington, D.C., it was a challenge to architects and builders.

Architect Rudolph A. Matern, of Jamaica, N.Y., took up the challenge and designed this home for Town Journal magazine, incorporating practically everything the women asked for into a spacious split-level home.

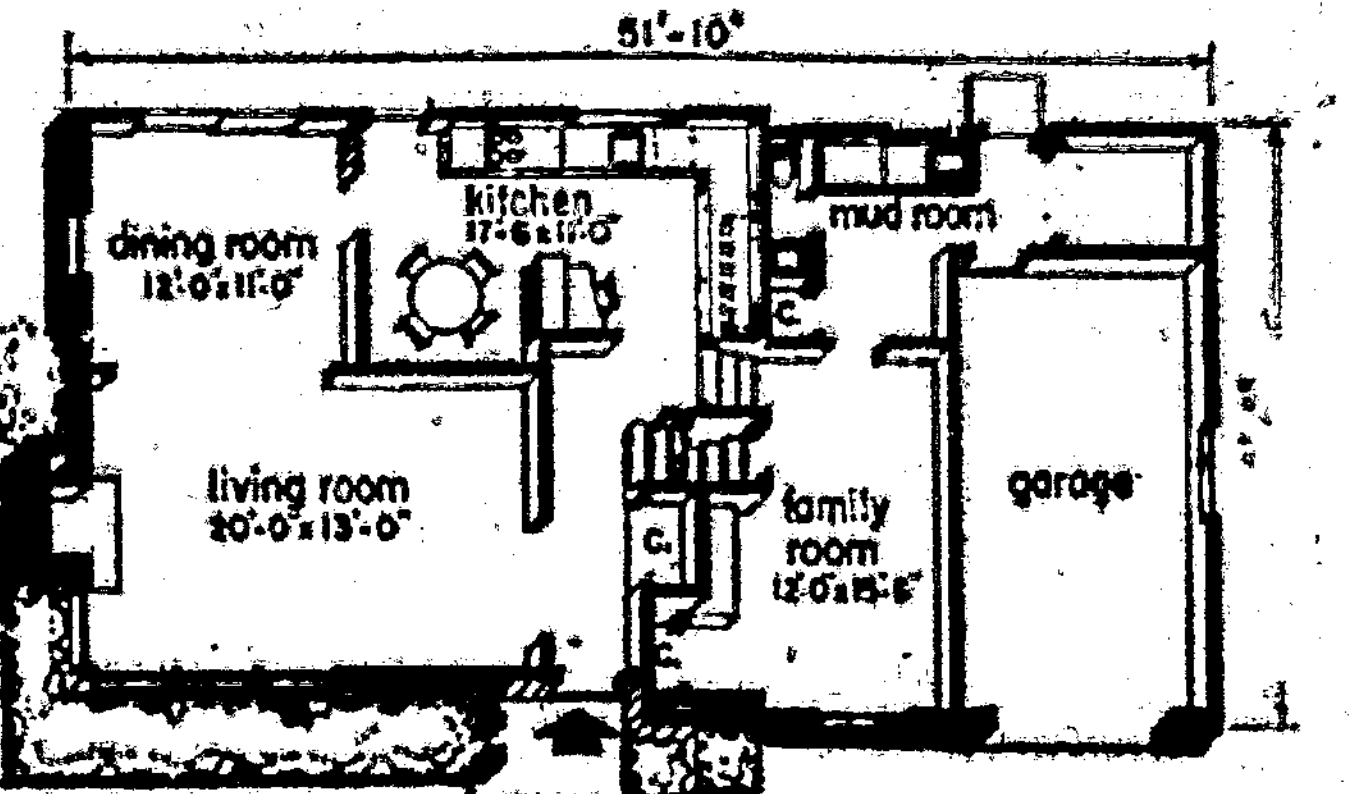

The kitchen with breakfast nook has windows overlooking the play yard, as the housewives suggested, and is near the family or recreation room and a separate laundry room.

There's a large living room with fireplace, separate dining room opening onto a paved patio, three bedrooms, each with double-sized closets, one-and-a-half baths, a garage with storage space and a basement. The main bathroom has both a tub and stall shower, plus twin lavatories.

One of the housewives' most persistent demands was for a kitchen island to give their homes distinction and color, plus an attic space.

The architect complied by designing an unusually distinctive pitched roof covered with asphalt shingles for color and long-lasting protection. Asphalt shingles come in a wide range of colors, including soft pastels and deep shades, making them adaptable to decorative schemes of all kinds.

Another important construction detail specified by the architect is thick mineral wool insulation throughout. The mineral wool, properly installed in all exterior walls, as well as in attic floors and the garage ceiling, insulates "cold" spots which have troubled some owners of split levels. A well-insulated house is more economical to heat in winter, stays cooler in summer, and is less costly to air condition.

Among the more unique features of the house is a "mud room" requested by the housewives. It has a lavatory and is located off the play area so children and pets can be cleaned up when they come in.
