

THOMAS ALBERT BRAGG

My name is Thomas Albert Bragg. I was born December 27, 1874 in Hill county, Texas, the son of Ben and Annie Bragg. Her maiden name was Stanfield. My grandfather, Calvin A. Bragg, was a colonel in the Confederate army. He came to Texas after the war and later he and his wife moved to Texas Park around 1885 and took up a homestead. They spent the rest of their lives on this homestead. Both are buried in the White Oaks cemetery.

In 1884, my parents and four children came to Lincoln County. I was ten years old at the time. Our first stop was at the sawmill operated by the Skinners and Bourne. My father worked in the sawmill for quite a while. He was a teamster and hauled logs with a bull team.

Later he bought the Cooper place on Kraut Gulch. We lived there several years. It was homesteaded by Herbert Reddy, who now lives in Green Tree.

When I was 12 years old I went to Ruidoso and worked with two men, Copeland and another, hauling logs with a bull team to the Blazer mill. It was a grist mill and sawmill combined. I worked there about a year. My father worked in a sawmill owned by a man named Spencer in the Jicarillos at the time I was in Ruidoso.

After I came home from Ruidoso, I farmed for a year or two in Kraut Gulch. We raised potatoes, cabbage, oats and barley. There was enough rain and snow then to provide the moisture for crops.

I went to school in Bonita part of one three-month term. A school teacher by the name of Phelps gave me three hard whippings one day before dinner, without any reason, I thought. Anyway I quit school for good and started in the goat business. I got my first goats from a fellow named Raliff, who lived where Nellie Gallegos lives now. I ran this herd around 2000 head and pastured them winter times at the head of the Mal Pais and in Bernal Gap this side of Texas Park. Duck Lake had water in it those days the year around. I was 16 or 17 years old at the time. I sold the goats to Boston Wright and got some cattle in exchange.

Some time after that I sold the cattle and in 1893 I went to Texas to go in the well business. I had a partner part of the time, my father-in-law, Emzy Goads. We drilled water wells around Hereford.

A short time before I sold my cattle and went to Texas I got into a dispute with a neighbor over a yearling. We had an arbitrator and I thought the dispute was all settled before I went to Texas. To my surprise one day I got a letter from John Owens, a deputy sheriff, saying I had been billed in Lincoln County court for "larceny of neat cattle."

I wrote back to Owens telling him where he could find me any time he came. It wasn't very long after that when he showed up. We took the train to Portales to pick up another prisoner who had been chained to a telephone pole because they didn't have a calaboose in those days. We came on into Roswell and started out in Owens' buggy for Lincoln. We intended to stop in Picacho one night, but there was a whiskey drummer there and he put on a party that lasted another night.

Arriving in Lincoln I was put in jail with two other men, one named Moore and the other, a cripple, named Ferguson. Ferguson had been jailed on a trumped up charge. He was traveling through this country with a fine herd of horses. A couple of hombres killed a beef near his wagon and Ferguson was arrested for stealing cattle. Court was set but by the time he got out of jail some time later, his horses were gone. The grand jury did not bill him. He got paid for a few of his horses but the rest of his outfit disappeared out of the country.

For some reason or another I was not able to get my bond set for six weeks. The three of us got restless and three times we tore up the jail and broke out.

Governor Simms Likes Old Timers' Recordings

Editor, News:
It is always a pleasure to see the Lincoln County News, which you so kindly send to my office. However, for quite a while one particular feature has attracted my attention, and I want to tell you how fine I think it is.

That feature is your column, "Ramblin' Around Lincoln County," which sets forth tape-recorded interviews with the pioneer citizens of Lincoln County. Here in New Mexico our history is rich and colorful, and you are doing a great service in publishing this series of articles. The way you work from tape recordings is assurance that the reminiscences will be natural and easy, and I am sure that your readers enjoy them very much.

I know of no better way to preserve the personal details of early Lincoln County history, and I hope you keep up the good work. It will be even more valuable as time goes on.

JOHN F. SIMMS,
Governor.

Ferguson and I just wanted to see the town, but on one of the breaks Moore made a getaway. He was later picked up and tried at Socorro.

One of the times that Ferguson and I got out of the jail we walked into a saloon and told the bartender that we were going to put on a party in a back room. "Bring everybody in," we told him, "the party's on us!" We had quite a time that night.

It made the jailer pretty sore and he put us on bread and water. Some of the ladies in Lincoln heard about it and they went to the sheriff and asked him if they could bring us something to eat. It wasn't long until we had more food than we could put away.

As quick as my bond was set in court I came back up on the Bonita. My case was later thrown out of court. Ferguson was on his way to a little ranch in Arizona. I never heard from him again.

In 1907 I was a hard rock miner for the railroad company when they were laying the pipeline. Later I went to work for the Parsons Mining Company as foreman in the mine, putting the ore in the mill. By good luck I was able to do the job in about half the time it had taken before. I worked there 18 months.

When we first came here in 1894, Mr. Parsons and his son had been operating for a number of years. Parsons City was a town of around 1500 people. Many mines were being worked and rock in sacks was brought on burros to small crude mills. The rocks were crushed to dust by horsepower and the gold was then washed out. Parsons had a stamp mill, rather a small outfit.

Strange as it may seem, three towns went on the decline after three killings. One was Bonita City after the Mayberry murders just before we came to Lincoln County. Another was Parsons City which started to fade after Jim Everts, a deputy sheriff, was killed.

Another place that folded after a killing was New Bonita, half a mile below what is now Bonita Dam. Along about '97 or '98 a promoter by the name of Wiggins started New Bonita. There was a saloon and two or three stores. Wiggins was taking options on claims and selling stock to eastern people. One night a bartender was shot. It was supposed to have been an accident, but it seems like that shot also killed the town.

The house I live in here in Parsons was built in 1893. It is near the site of the old Parsons Hotel, which was built many years before. We had some good parties in that hotel.

Town Board Hears Utility Representatives

The Carrizozo town board was told at a special meeting Tuesday night that the Community Public Service Company is interested in adding Carrizozo to the list of towns served by that utility.

Two representatives of the company, L. P. Raley and W. F. Bond, from the Fort Worth general office, appeared before the board. The company distributes power in a number of New Mexico communities, including Ruidoso, Tularosa and Alamogordo.

Mr. Raley told the board that his company was prepared to give Carrizozo a 10% reduction across the board in utility rates and also pay off the indebtedness on the power plant at the rate of approximately $25,000 per year. They would maintain the plant here on a standby basis, he said, but a highline would be brought into town from Tularosa or Ruidoso.

Eventually, he said, Carrizozo's utility rates would be brought in line with those in adjoining communities.

After the representatives left the meeting, informal comment among members of the board was that the offer would have to be considerably more attractive before it would be considered.

Parts to be Salvaged From Damaged Plane

Jim Webb, civilian pilot from National City, Calif., is expected back in Carrizozo around July 20 to salvage parts from a plane which was damaged recently when attempting to take off from Carrizozo airport.

Mr. Webb at that time was 155 miles off his course and landed here to replenish gasoline. In taking off, the landing gear was washed out and one engine pushed under the fuselage.

The plane is described as an old twin-engine trainer. The only salvage will be the electrical gear and instruments.

Lightning Strikes Tree Near Alto Store

A tree in front of the Alto post office and store was struck by lightning early in the evening last Monday.

The bolt struck the top of the tree and followed down the tree to the ground.

Mrs. Aileen Lindamood, who was in the store at the time, rushed out to be met with a spray of pine needles, bark and dust. Mrs. Traylor and three children live in a house back of the store.

Mrs. A. E. Mulkey's mother, Mrs. Ada Harris, 73 years old, passed away Sunday morning following a long illness.

Mrs. Harris is survived by three daughters, Effie Mulkey of Corona; Pearl Lundy of Estancia; Edna Smith of Marcola, Ore.; and two sons, Carl E. Harris and Sam R. Harris of Albuquerque.

The Harris family have been in Albuquerque 23 years, moving there from Estancia in 1933. A. E. Mulkey and family of Corona attended funeral services for Mrs. Harris in Albuquerque on Monday.

Name George Sisneros Convention Alternate

George Sisneros, Republican of Tinsle has been named an alternate to the national Republican convention in San Francisco.

Mr. Sisneros was one of seven Lincoln County Republicans who attended the State convention in Albuquerque last Saturday. The others were Sheriff W. G. Bradley, H. Elfred Jones, J. G. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Vigil and John E. Wright.

Returning delegates reported satisfaction with their party's platform, including repeal of the lien and relative responsibility laws, repeal of the 1935 truck weights law and repeal of the loss leader law.

1500 At Trinity Bomb Site Services

George Wandell and Mr. and Mrs. Floy Skinner of Nogal attended the religious services Sunday at Trinity Bomb site. Both Protestant and Catholic services were held. The site is the approximate area where Spanish explorers trekked four centuries ago, accompanied by Franciscan missionaries.

The bomb site is enclosed within a square fence, about 2400 sq. ft. in area. The depression caused by the blast is now only about three feet deep at the center. The bomb was set off on a tower.

Three concrete pillars remain. Many particles of glass, fused from sand by the intense heat, are scattered around the site. There is no vegetation for a quarter of a mile within the explosion area, according to Mr. Wandell.

Approximately 1500 people attended. Motorists were directed on the 70-mile trip in from Ocala by military police.

County Visited by Scattered Showers

Scattered showers fell over Lincoln county early this week. Ruidoso had a shower of sleet and hail Tuesday and most of the higher elevations received moisture that day.

Capitan had a good shower Tuesday and on Wednesday an area between Capitan and Fort Stanton was drenched, as well as a strip east of Indian divide.

A half inch of rain was reported around Nogal on Wednesday. Up to Thursday morning, Carrizozo has received only traces of rain.

Attends LP Gas School

Doll Ray was in Albuquerque from Monday until Wednesday attending an LP gas school conducted by the American Gas Association. Improved techniques in methods of installing, venting and "trouble-shooting" were taken up.

Board Discusses County Fair Plans

Plans for the Lincoln County Fair on September 15 were discussed at the Fair Board meeting held in Capitan July 12.

Fletcher Hall, chairman of the board, appointed several men and women to be in charge of the different phases of the fair.

Grady Eldridge was appointed to see about the grounds; Charles A. Jones, finance; Tom Knight, afternoon events; and Eleanor Jones, concessions.

The fair book was reviewed so that it could be out by the first of August. Events planned for the afternoon are goat roping, fair queen contest, stake race, barrel race, turtle races, cutting horse contest and reining contest.

It was suggested that the different organizations start getting their candidate ready for the queen contest as the county winner is eligible to compete for State Fair Queen at Albuquerque. An entry fee of $10 will be charged to help with the county winner's expenses at the state fair.

Mrs. C. A. Snow Back From European Trip

Mrs. C. A. Snow of Carrizozo returned late Tuesday from two months' trip to Europe. She took a plane from Paris to New York City, with one stop at Shannon, Ireland where, she said, she above all enjoyed speaking English again.

Accompanied by her son, Capt. Charles A. Snow Jr., and family, Mrs. Snow visited eight countries in Europe. Her impression of the people, generally, was that they are living much the same as we did fifty years ago. A very religious people, work is stopped one to three times a week so they can attend religious celebrations.

Of the countries visited she thought Spain was the most courteous, Belgium and Holland the most prosperous and France the most beautiful. The latter country seemed like a flower garden and it was so clean—no litter or trash of any kind along the highways.

Captain Snow and his family are expected to return to the States around October 1.

Artillery Commanders Witness Nike Firings

Two hundred dependents of military personnel of the First Guided Missile Group were guests of the Red Canyon Range Camp this week. The wives of service personnel witnessed Nike firings and were guests at luncheon. They also inspected the camp's facilities.

Other guests at the camp were Major General Robert Murphy, chief artillery commander of the Continental Army of the United States; Brigadier General Rander, acting brigadier commander of the First Guided Missile Brigade; and Brigadier General Smith, divisional artillery commander of the Eighth Field Artillery, of Fort Carson, Nev.

Appeal J. P. Sentence To District Court

Roscoe Daniel Miller of Roswell, who was fined $150 and given a 30 day jail sentence in Justice of the Peace W. S. Campbell's court Monday, has appealed his case to the full term of District Court.

Miller was arrested by Don Schultz, State Patrolman out of Roswell, and charged with driving while intoxicated. He has posted an appearance bond of $200. He is represented by Attorney Geo. L. Zimmerman.

Returned on Check Charge

Deputy Sheriff Severo Gallegos on Tuesday returned Edward Torrez from Alamogordo to Carrizozo. He is being held on a charge of passing a check in Capitan written on a bank in which he had no account. Torrez, who gave his address as Roswell, is to appear before Justice of the Peace Clarence E. Shaw. His bond has been set at $1,000.

MORE THAN ONE WAY TO SHOE A GOOD HORSE

Ted Raynor showed News readers pictorially a few weeks ago how a character named Jon Carberry shod his horse while said horse was lying on its back nibbling a bale of hay. Such practice, it seems is not uncommon. Photographs show Steve Hernandez applying horseshoeing tools to a two-year-old on the Limacher & Sons ranch at San Patricio.

BIG ROAD TOWNS IN FOR TROUBLE

SANTA FE, July 18—Two towns presently complaining most of all about the big spending in the super-road program going to the three interstate routes through the state are likely to be the favored ones when the program is complete.

Every place on the three routes—U. S. 66, 85 and 80—will be by-passed or divided as if a main line railroad were built through town.

The only consolation for the towns doomed to by-passing or dividing is that the work is probably eight or ten years distant.

Soles Miller, highway department operations engineer, said the first years of the program would be devoted to rural mileage, with the by-passes, underpasses and over-passes coming at the end of the 13-year program.

LAS CRUCES FIRST FOR BY-PASSING

Miller said that in most cases suitable construction for traffic would be laid on existing routes through the towns on the interstate highways and that "circumferential" routes or by-passes would be undertaken later.

An exception, Miller said, is Las Cruces where by-passes are planned within the next "two or three years." U. S. 85, north and south, will swing east of Cruces, he said, and U. S. 80, east and west, will go north of town.

He guessed that it would be "eight or ten years" before by-passes are built west of Springer, west of Elen, east of Socorro, west of (ugh) Truth or Consequences, south of Grants. The by-pass of Deming, Miller said, is expected to be the last on the list.

Meanwhile all access, or business entries to U. S. 66, 85 and 80 will be eliminated. Motorists needing anything will be required to take turn-offs into communities or side roads for their needs.

MORE ROAD MONEY BUT SAME WORK

And what happens to such places as Roy, Carrizozo, Silver City and scores of other places not on the inter-state system?

As it stands they are going to have more money than previously for the so-called primary and secondary road systems but are not likely to get any increase in road construction.

The secondary system, that's the local roads, are getting $7 million for the year now getting under way and had $5.5 million last year. The primary system, major roads with the exception of U. S. 66, 80 and 85, are getting $11.6 million against $8 million last year.

Miller guesses that increased costs of road construction will about even up the road building this year and last on the two systems. He figures that the big jump in spending on the inter-state system—from $3 million to more than $25 million—will lessen competition among the contractors and bring higher prices all around.

MORA DEMOCRAT PUSES PROBLEM

Col. William (King) Salmon who is at the center of the big Mora county school fight in serving on the county school board on an expired term. His appointment ran out July 15, and state School Superintendent Georella Lusk is on the spot to keep him or ditch him.

The appointment power lies with the district judge, Luis Armijo, who is against Salmon, the county commission chairman, Carlos Trujillo, who is for Salmon, and the state school superintendent.

Mrs. Lusk has written at least one letter and told at least a dozen people that Salmon double crossed her on the handling of the appointments of some 15 Mora school teachers. She contends that he promised to restate the teachers in their former positions but did not. The result was a supreme court law suit which upheld the teachers but did not get them their old places, and an investigation by the New Mexico Education Association which didn't produce anything of consequence.

The circumstances indicate that Mrs. Lusk would vote for replacement of Salmon but there is more to consider.

Salmon is a state vice chairman of the Democratic party, member of the governor's powerful board of finance, and a buddy of the governor. His replacement could be considered a concession to his Republican foes and a breach of loyalty to the governor. Mrs. Lusk is in Washington and no action is expected soon. Salmon continues on the job until his successor comes in.

PARTIES LABOR WITH TRUCK LAW

Democrats, in town a month ago, said nothing about the truck law. Republicans, here last week, made a big talk of the act and then wavered. The Republicans called for repeal of the act but qualified it with a recommendation that truck loads of natural products be given some consideration.

That is precisely what led to the present heavy truck law. A 1954 law granted natural products an overload of 20%. It didn't make sense that a New Mexico bridge would sustain a load of 50,000 pounds of New Mexico pigs and would not stand a similar load of Colorado milk. Thus the 1955 law raising all weight limits to those allowed for local products.

The truck plank in the Republican platform is there largely because Gov. John Simms owned part of a trucking outfit when it was passed and because it was cycloned through the legislature as if the safety of the nation were at stake.

Auto Overtakes On Death Curve

Mrs. Eleanor McSpadden, 70, of Dallas, Texas, was taken to Carrizozo hospital at 2:30 Thursday afternoon, following an accident on Death Curve, west of Capitan. It was the third accident on this stretch of road within a year.
 Mrs. McSpadden was treated for shock, cut head and chest and back injuries. Other passengers in the car were R. K. Porter, driver, of Sherman, Tex., his wife, and Mrs. Lorena Moses of Dallas and the Porter's son, William L. Porter. They were en route to attend funeral services for Mrs. S. W. Joplin at Truth or Consequences.
 Mr. Porter stated that when he saw the 40-mile sign a short distance above the curve he began to slow down from his 55-m.p.h. speed. His car swerved into the gravel at the curve, left the pavement and rolled completely over, changed ends and rolled back onto the pavement on its side. All the passengers were bruised.
 Mrs. Porter, in a statement to the News said she was writing the State Highway Commission that the road at this point should be rebuilt and properly banked; also that the warning sign should be placed farther back along the road to give the motorist time to slow up his car.
 Mrs. Porter praised Sheriff Bradley and Deputy Severo Gallegos in assisting the family with transportation. She also praised the hospital staff for their consideration. The flowers brought to Mrs. McSpadden's room were especially appreciated.
 O. B. Shook of Truth or Consequences drove to Carrizozo following the accident and took the passengers, with the exception of Mrs. McSpadden, to Truth or Consequences. Mrs. McSpadden was released from the hospital Monday.

N. M. Unemployment Continues to Decline

The number of people employed in agriculture in New Mexico dropped from 38,377 in 1950 to 34,290 in 1955, according to figures released last week by the Bureau of Business Research for the New Mexico Economic Development Commission. However, agriculture still ranked second in the state in the number of people employed. The trades were first with 48,300.
 Among the counties, Dona Ana ranked first in agricultural employment with 3,400 people engaged in farming, ranching, or some other phase of agriculture. Roosevelt County was second with 2,200, and Rio Arriba

County was third with 2,130. Population-wise, New Mexico had 18.1 per cent more people in 1955 than in 1950, the Commission figures show (681,187 in 1950 compared with 804,200 in 1955).

THE SEVEN CITIES OF GOLD

Friar Marcos de Niza came from Mexico on an exploration tour in 1539. While in New Mexico, his group happened upon the Pueblo of Hsawaikuh and viewing it from a distant hilltop, with its adobe walls glittering in the brilliant desert sun, thought they had discovered the fabled Seven Cities of Cibola, also known as the Seven Cities of Gold.

Time changes many things, but beer and the way the beverages of good fellowship in 1539, just as they are today. Enjoy them in moderation.

FOLKLORE CORNER

By TED RAYNOR

FATAL CROSSING ON THE RIO GRANDE

Early in June of 1865 a great flood descended the Rio Grande, which then ran between Mesilla and Las Cruces. A few days later — on June 15 — the river changed its course and has since flowed west of the two places.

At that time there were ferry crossings on the river. One crossing from Fort Fillmore shifted up and down the river for three miles. There was another crossing site, probably west of Las Cruces, but its exact location cannot be determined.

This story concerns the drowning of Guadalupe Ochoa and the crossing at Las Cruces.

Ochoa was a member of the firm of Tully and Ochoa. They were the biggest merchants in southern New Mexico and had a high reputation for honesty. They ran wagon trains from Tucson, Ariz., to Le Vaca, Texas, and had their head office in Mesilla. Their Mesilla store was in a former stagecoach station just back of the present Fountain store. They also operated a large store in Las Cruces.

Ochoa apparently had urgent business across the flooded river. The water was too high for the ferry, and Ochoa and a boatman set out in a small boat. Ochoa had $4000 worth of gold in his pockets. They never reached the other side of the river.

There were witnesses to the drownings. Although the river had changed its course and the flood had subsided, water remained in the Rio's old course. People built a willow coffer dam to keep out the water and permit them to search for the bodies at the point where they had seen the boat sink, according to G. A. Feather of Mesilla Park.

A coffer dam was made by weaving willow branches in sections, and then sinking them in sand or mud or holding them down by rocks. Willow coffer dams were commonly used at that time.

Ochoa's body was found in the boat which had been covered by sand. Apparently the weight of the gold in his pockets had helped to hold his body in the boat. News stories of the time did not mention the name of the boatman or whether his body was recovered.

The coffer dam was left in the river's old course. Wind-driven sand drifted in on that left by the rushing river, and a large sandhill formed and remained after the willow dam had fallen away.

Feather says the only clue to the ferry site where the drownings occurred, would be the location of the brickyard operated by Augustin Maurin, a Frenchman. Bricks were burned there. Maurin, who became quite wealthy, also had a store on the southwest corner of Mesilla Plaza.

Maurin was murdered in 1867. The slayers first poisoned his dog, then entered his house, killed him, and dug around the fireplace until they found the hidden money. Anyone who could locate the site of the vanished brickyard would know the site where Guadalupe Ochoa was drowned.

NAILS AND SILVER DOLLARS

The vanished settlement of Manchester at the entrance of White Oaks in Lincoln County left one frontier promotion story to be remembered by—the keg of nails and silver dollars.

Herman Kelt, Carrizozo postmaster, and D. L. Jackson, White Oaks pioneer resident, believe the short-lived town started in opposition to White Oaks. The person or persons who started the settlement hoped to promote the sale of land, Kelt believes. However, Manchester had no mines for support and the settlement didn't last long.

As Kelt and Jackson remember the story, one or more of the Manchester promoters decided to open a bank. Citizens were invited to attend the arrival of the capital on the stage. The capital came in a keg, and it was opened before those present. It was impressive enough until the onlookers noticed a nail had worked up through the silver dollars. Enthusiasm for the bank cooled to the zero point when it was found there was only a layer of dollars on top of the nails.

Manchester may have been a settlement which began with a post office. Roy Harman, Carrizozo assistant postmaster, says that records in Washington show that William L. Cornwell became postmaster on June 10, 1851. Why he held the job only until July 13 is not known. On that date Iris W. Blood became postmaster and stayed there until October 18 of that year.

Manchester apparently was started in 1851, some 16 years before Jackson came to White Oaks. Jackson thinks a house or two may have been built there.

The temperature has only got above 60 degrees one time. We stay cold most of the time." Yes, I agree with everyone, Ted is a fine young man and we of Capitan are as proud of him as we can be.

WAR ORPHAN FINDS HAPPINESS WITH OREGON COUPLE

Mrs. R. E. Berry of Carrizozo is the proud grandmother of Ida Marlene Berry, adopted American-Korean war orphan, of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Berry of Cottage Grove, Ore. Mrs. Berry received this week a clipping from the Cottage Grove newspaper, telling all about Ida Marlene Berry and her new-found parents. It follows:

On Saturday, July 14, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Berry's newest family addition, Ida Marlene, will be five years old. It will be her first United States birthday celebration.

Little Miss Berry arrived in the U. S. on a Western Airlines plane July 1 from an orphanage in Seoul, Korea. Her new parents picked her up in Seattle and she arrived at her new home out on Mosby, Creek Monday evening, July 2.

But Ida Marlene, although unaware of it now, has more to celebrate than her birthday. She has been more fortunate than most American-Korean children who have been placed in orphanages because their own race won't recognize them, they have no fathers, and their mothers haven't the means to keep them. Her stay in the orphanage was only about two months. Her adoption was one of the fastest.

Ida is also fortunate to have been placed with the Berrys. The parents of a seven-year-old boy, the Berrys have been trying for six years to adopt a girl, but never made it through the American "red tape." They lost their own little girl when she was three years old.

Mr. Berry is a diesel mechanic at Pitchford Motor Co. in Eugene. His wife works in the office of doctors Oberg and Robertson here. A young couple, Berry is 31 and Mrs. Berry is 29.

Mrs. Berry first decided she would try to adopt a Korean girl when she met Harry Holt's children when they were brought into the doctor's office where she works. It was in February when they first inquired about adopting a child. Now six months later, a child is theirs.

Getting accustomed to a new way of life was at first terrifying for a while confusing, and now enjoyable for the attractive, curly-headed little miss.

At first she was suspicious of every new person. But now she has grown to trust her family, is especially fond of "daddy" and her new little brother, "Shorty." She has had to meet many strangers in the past few weeks

Injured Man Taken to Texas in Ambulance

P. H. Reaves, who has been hospitalized in Carrizozo since an automobile accident on 380 last week, was returned to his home in Fort Worth Tuesday in the Shaw ambulance.

Mr. Reaves was put in a cast for the trip. His principal injury was his back which had previously been injured in an accident in 1936.

District Court convenes July 26 with Judge W. T. Scoggin presiding.

and still is shy at first.

Ida Marlene and her mother were surprised last week, July 5, when some 35 persons invaded the Berry home with dozens of gifts for Ida. The "shower" was planned by the wives of Dr. Oberg and Dr. Robertson. By the time all the gifts had been opened, Miss Berry had been completely outfitted. She received a whole wardrobe, including a coat, dresses, shoes, underclothes and even a purse.

After overcoming a bit of shyness and puzzlement, little Ida stood on a table modeling her new clothes, talking and laughing completely delighted. A whole day later, Mrs. Berry had not been able to coax Ida into taking off the new shoes, shiny black patent leather which have won the little girl's heart.

Ida didn't know any English when she first came to the United States, but she is learning fast. She has said a few sentences and come words on her own and will repeat perfectly after one in English.

A bright child, Ida sings constantly, in her own language, of course. She has been fascinated most of all by the Berry's car and by the radio.

So far, there have been few food problems. Ida dislikes potatoes, would have nothing to do with rice, but loves eggs, milk and fruit, especially strawberries.

On their one acre, the Berrys have a small strawberry patch which is Ida's favorite play-ground. At first when she was crying for her own mother and now whenever she becomes unhappy, Mrs. Berry lets her little girl go into the patch and before long she has forgotten her unhappiness and goes smilingly into the arms of her new and wonderful mother.

Farm and Ranch

By RALPH DUNLAP
County Extension Agent

Now is the Time Plant Fall Garden

July is planting time for many vegetables in your fall garden. You can plant all root crops—beets, carrots, turnips, etc.—until August 1. Fall root crops can be harvested over a period of at least a month or two, as they remain sound and fresh in the ground after fall frost.

Bush varieties of green beans, broccoli and early-maturing varieties of cabbage, if planted now, will mature in the cool fall weather and be of highest quality then.

Grano onions planted in July or August will furnish a continuous supply throughout the fall and winter.

Greens—spinach, leaf lettuce, mustard, chard, etc.—are very hardy and can be planted later than most crops for the fall garden.

Greens and root crops do especially well in a frame garden, and a fall-planted frame garden will provide fresh vegetables after your outdoor garden has completed its season.

The county extension office has free copies of "Home Vegetable Gardening" and "Try a Frame Garden for More and Better Vegetables."

Crop Improvement Ass'n To Meet in September

The New Mexico Crop Improvement Association will hold its annual meeting at the Plains Experimental Substation, Plains, September 12, according to John T. Stovall, administrative officer at State College. The theme of the meeting will be hybrid sorghums.

Camp for 4-H Senior Clubbers New Mexico senior 4-H club boys and girls will hold their annual encampment at New Mexico A & M College, August 6-10. About 500 members are expected to attend.

Lightning Kills FFA Advisor

Lightning has killed a prominent New Mexico educator. N. W. Ammon, Farmington FFA advisor, was struck recently by a bolt while working in his yard.

Do You Prefer New Mexican Food?

You've never had it so good—New Mexican food, that is—until you have tried some of the recipes of real New Mexican dishes in "Historic Cookery," "Historic Cookery" has been the most popular booklet of the hundreds distributed by New Mexico A & M College's Agricultural Extension Service.

Written in 1939 by Mrs. Fabiola C. deBaca Gilbert, home demonstration agent-at-large in Alamo, Guadalupe, and Los Alamos counties, the booklet was recently revised and reprinted for the eighth time. About 70,000 copies have been distributed to people throughout the United States and in several foreign countries.

Homemakers who wish to get acquainted with real New Mexican food should ask their county extension agent for a free copy of Extension Circular 250.

New Booklet Describes Irrigation Siphon Tubes

"Irrigation Siphon Tubes" is the title of a new circular just released by New Mexico A & M's Agricultural Extension Service. The circular tells how to use siphon tubes to control irrigation water for row crops and close-growing crops.

J. Leo Dirnberger, extension agricultural engineer at A & M, is author of the publication.

Copies of the circular, No. 266, are available at county Extension Service offices or may be ordered from the Department of Information, New Mexico A & M College, P. O. Box 757, State College.

Along the Way..

By PAUL BAKER

Another accident on Death Curve on Highway 380 of Captain last week again calls attention to the need of rebuilding the highway at this point. The curve is not properly banked for safe driving. The only warning the motorist has of this dangerous curve is a 40 mile an hour speed sign at the approach to the curve. Those familiar with the stretch know that 40 miles an hour is fast enough to make this unbanked curve in safety. This is no ten mile margin of safety as there should be in a curve no sharper than this one. If the curve was properly banked cars would not slide off onto the shoulder at 50 m.p.h. This should be done at once to prevent further accidents. Until that time the Highway Department should put up another sign "Dangerous Curve Ahead" far enough ahead of the curve to warn the unwary motorist.

A note from C. W. Jones in Batesville, Ark., says segregation is a big issue in the coming governor's race. Comments Mr. Jones: "I heard Jim Johnson, candidate for governor on the Segregation ticket, speak last night. He doesn't believe in shipping whites and Negroes in the same car without putting up partitions and 1 sort of agree with him."

According to the Alamogordo News, G. V. Clayton, Tularosa businessman, has urged the Tularosa city officials to take steps to secure an adequate supply of water before the completion of the Bonito pipeline. Mr. Clayton was quoted as saying: "Alamogordo is going to have a nice pipeline running by Tularosa but there isn't going to be much water in it. There isn't as much water available at Bonito as they thought there would be. When that time comes, they'll be looking around for places to tap water into the pipe line." He is further quoted as saying that the military could step in and demand water rights in the Tularosa area.

A couple who have been raised on a ranch write that they would like to work on a ranch in Lincoln County. They are Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Thompson, care Houston McCarv Ranch, Nara Vista, N. M. The opening two days of the Ruidoso Thrift Shop are reported to have been very successful and that business promises to get even better as time goes on. A card from William R. Sullivan, 720 W. Tenth Pl., Los Angeles, states that: "Unless something is done soon to stop the rising Chinese birth rate, in a few years we are going to be engaged in a war trying to stop them from overrunning all of Europe."

Children, Texas, "Reporter": "An American and a Dutchman were talking. 'What does your flag look like?' asked the American. 'It has three stripes,' replied the Dutchman, 'red, white and blue. We say they have a connection with our taxes: we get red when we talk about them, white when we get our tax bills, and pay 'til we're blue in the face.' That's just how it is here," commented the American, "only we see stars too."

Going on a vacation? Notify the town authorities if you are going to be away a few days or longer. It will be added protection for your home and property. Also leave your address where you can be reached in an emergency. Some other tips that will help you enjoy a carefree vacation are pointed out by the National Safety Council:

Stop milk, newspaper and other deliveries. Ask a neighbor to keep advertising circulars off your porch.
Don't lower window shades. Arrange to have your lawn mowed. Providers watch for such tips.

Notify postoffice to hold mail or arrange delivery to neighbor.
Lock windows and doors. Remember bareness windows and coal chute.

Shut off gas and water at main valves. Shut off electricity at master switch unless refrigerator or food freezer is to be left on. If current must be left on, disconnect lamps and appliances at wall outlets. If refrigerator is disconnected, leave door open to prevent mold.

Service car thoroughly with close attention to safety features such as lights, brakes, tires, steering, windshield wipers.

Car Vision Equals Picture Window

Visibility in today's auto doesn't get compared to picture windows of modern homes. In above view, Chevrolet's 241 sq. ft. of glass approximates area in the window in which it is framed. Car visibility has been upped two-thirds in the last few years.

THOMAS BRAGG

I used to go on lots of bear hunts. I have killed several around 500 pounds, and some were bigger. There used to be lots of mountain lions. They were bad to catch colts. The last lions we killed were on South Fork about 1912. I was gathering some cows to take to town. I had an old hound pup following me. I came to the lion's track and finally treed it and shot it. The next day my son Lee found the lion's mate at the same spot and killed it.

I was married in 1898 to Mollie Goats by John Skinner, Methodist preacher. We had three children, Lee, Bertha and Evert. Bertha, now Mrs. Lester Greer, lives in San Ysidro, Calif., where her husband is in the immigration service. Evert's son, Earl, lives here with me now.

I used to know everybody in Lincoln County and for miles around. One of my friends was "Captain Jack Crawford, the Poet Scout," who had a ranch the other side of Dripping Springs. Captain Jack was a scout during the Indian troubles. Here's a piece of his poetry that he gave me:

When a bit of sunshine hits ye
After a passin' of a cloud,
An' a fit of laughter gits ye
An' yer spine is feelin' proud,
Don't forget to up an' fling it
At a soul that's feelin' blue,
For the mint that ye sling it
It's a boomerang to you.

23 Kennecott Employees Reach Retirement Age

Hurley, N. M. — Twenty-three employees who have accumulated a combined total of 536 years service with Kennecott Copper Corp.'s Chino Mines division at Hurley and Santa Rita, will retire August 1.

W. H. Goodrich, Chino general manager, said, "The company is losing over 500 years of experience that have contributed greatly in the development of Kennecott's operations in New Mexico. Men such as George A. Anderson, electrical shovel engineer who has been with the company 41 years and 11 months and many others who have been employees since the start of mining operations — these will be very difficult men to replace."

his termination announced, has been put back to work on a permanent status at the insistence of officers of the department. He's apparently quite an expert on small loan subjects. . . . Congressman John J. Dempsey, joint-owner with the city of Santa Fe of the residential development tract on which the governor's mansion is located, is still threatening a lawsuit against Gov. John J. Simms for maintaining seven horses on the mansion lot. Simms said he would move if he could find a grass pasture. . . . Some law enforcement officials are concerned by the current state police operation in which the entire force is going out on traffic control giving no time to gather law enforcement work. . . . Ed Mechem, the governor-running Republican, has been campaigning full-time mostly in rural areas without benefit of a press agent or drumbeaters. It is the same method he used in 1950 when he upset the Democrats for the first time in 20 years.

Best Retirement Plan is One Made Yourself

Washington—The best kind of retirement plan is the one you make yourself, according to the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

If you are in your 40's or 50's or even younger, it is not too soon to start thinking about what you want to do with the years that remain after your regular job ends.

A good many factors enter into a sound retirement plan—health, hobbies, companionship. But, says the Chamber, the key-stone to a happy retirement is financial planning. Several steps toward the right kind of financial planning are suggested in a new Chamber publication "Look Forward to Your Retirement." Here are a few:

1. Maintain a Savings Account—At least a few hundred dollars in the savings bank is one of the best investments you can make. As the account grows, you may want to invest in common stocks or corporation bonds and so increase your returns.
2. Buy Your Own Home—Monthly payments often are no greater than rent. Frequently, there are income tax advantages to home ownership. By the time you retire, you probably will own your home free of mortgage. If you sell it then, the money can go far toward providing the retirement you have planned. If you continue to live in your home, the cost will be far less than rent.
3. Have a Life Insurance Program—Investment in life insurance can provide a lifetime monthly income after you retire as well as protecting your dependents before your retirement. Your life insurance program should be worked out with the help of a qualified life under-writer.

4. Understand Social Security—Few persons do, although the program is 20 years old. You should be aware of the so-called "work clause" that may cause your benefits to be withheld in case you continue to work after age 65. Social security is intended to provide only a minimum protection against the needs of old age. It should be supplemented by other financial provisions.

Skinner Harkey and Guy Warden are expected back the last part of July. They have been in Blythe, Calif., working for the Boyles Bros. Drilling Co., where daytime temperature sometimes exceeds 120 degrees. Both are undecided about college this fall.
