Build Lincoln County

ELBERT BROWN

My name is Elbert Brown. I was born at Nogal July 2, 1890. We moved to the Bonita when I was five years old. I just barely remember moving in the wagon over there. We lived in a rented place on the Bonita, known as the old Long place. I grew up in that vicinity and below Angus until I was about 17 when I started getting odd jobs around different parts of the country.

I might tell you why and how the Bonita watershed was acquired. The El Paso and Southwestern Railroad Company obtained water for its locomotives at Carrizozo, but the water in the wells there was so hard that it scaled the engine boilers so bad they couldn't operate efficiently.

I think it was 1907 or 1908 that the railroad officials contacted a Dr. Cobb who was commanding officer at Fort Stanton which was at that time a Marine hospital. The railroad company got him to buy up the homesteaders' water rights. In order to move the water from one watershed to another they had to obtain the water rights and to do this they found they had to buy the land outright.

Dr. Cobb started out from Fort Stanton one morning with a briefcase full of money and contracts. He drove all the way up Bonita creek that one day and contacted every man who was at home. He pretended that he intended to buy a place of his own for a summer home or a little ranch—made excuses for each one. They signed contracts and he paid them in cash.

That one day he bought practically two-thirds of the homesteads along the creek before the settlers in the valley knew what he was up to. That is how the railroad got the Bonita water in the first place. I think the places at that time ran in the neighborhood of three to eight thousand dollars each, with the exception of a few that had better places.

At that time between Fort Stanton and the head of the Bonita there were better than 25 families and they all made a living on their little places. They ran a few cattle, farmed a little, had their gardens, and raised their own meat. Some homesteads were of 40 acres, some 80 acres and some 160. After selling, some of the people rented the places and lived on them some time afterwards but they weren't allowed to use the water. They had to farm it dry land.

While I am it, I will tell about a little incident that happened when we lived at the Long place when I was about 16 years old. There was a young man who came from Texas up into this country. His name was Gideon Thorp and he was working for my father at the time. His sister lived at Angus about three miles below us. One Saturday evening he wanted to go home to his sister. We let him take an old one-eyed horse that we called Anger Eye. He left the house and I went upstairs to go to bed. In ten or fifteen minutes I heard the horse come running back at a gallop. I went to the window and looked out. The boy had run up to the yard fence. I asked him what was the matter. He said a lion was chasing him. Well, I didn't hardly believe it, but I went out to look around. It was in the spring of the year and there was dust in the road. The moon was shining and I could see this animal's tracks where it was following him in the road.

He said he saw something in the road that looked like a chunk of wood that had fallen off a wagon. The old horse began to stomp and snort and when he got to within about 20 feet of the object, the horse wheeled around and started back up the road. The boy said he looked around and that chunk of wood was chasing him. After he came up and got me we went down to Perry's about a mile and a half below where we lived. They had two good hunting dogs and we got a couple of the boys, but one of the dogs wasn't home. We took the other dog and he got on the trail of the lion, but he was afraid and would get only a certain distance ahead of us. If we'd had the other dog I'm sure we would have caught that lion.

About three years later Gid married Millie Copeland. One Sunday they were up on the Bonita at what is known as Handy Canyon. He had bought a new .303 rifle and they were sitting in the shade of a tree at the bottom of the canyon. He happened to look up on a bird two or three hundred feet over them and he thought he could see someone's head hanging over the bluff. He called it to his wife's attention and they both took a look at it and he finally

GUARDSMAN FINED FOR RECKLESS DRIVING

Bobby Lee Stevens of Albuquerque was fined $25 and $5 court costs before Justice of the Peace Clarence E. Shaw. He was charged with reckless driving by Deputy Sheriff Severo Gallegos, who investigated the wreck of a 1956 National Guard pickup six miles west of Carrizozo on 330.

Stevens was en route to his home from Fort Bliss. According to Officer Gallegos, his pickup left the highway, struck a large boulder and turned on its side. It was described a total wreck.

An appearance bond of $2000 has been posted for Emilio Zamora Jr., of Alamogordo to appear in district court to answer a charge of grand larceny. The charge grew out of the alleged theft of two tires from a stalled car at Double Crossing.

Two patients from Ft. Bayard Hospital were picked up in Carrizozo last Thursday by Deputy Sheriff Severo Gallegos and Town Marshal Emeterio Gutierrez. They were Okal Gloy Jackson and E. H. Porter. Porter was later fined $25 for being intoxicated and Jackson was fined $100 for reckless driving.

Lincoln County people were invited this week to visit the new bottling plant of the Coca-Cola Company in Alamogordo.

The invitation was issued by Thomas C. Lucky, manager of the bottling plant, who was a Carrizozo business visitor Wednesday. He states that full production has been under way for a year, turning out 150 bottles of Coca-Cola per minute.

The price of this popular soft drink was advanced last week from 80 cents to $1 per case wholesale. In spite of constantly rising prices, this has been the first price increase in the 50-year history of the company.

Will Ed Harris and Ralph Petty were talking last week about the value of Ruidoso Downs to Lincoln County. They agreed that the track was a valuable asset not only to Ruidoso and vicinity, but also was of real benefit to the rest of the county. Will Ed produced some figures showing the total handle to date for the 1956 racing meet was $5,467,864; total purses of the meet $449,433.20; 85% of the total wagered returned to the bettors and 15% remaining in the state. It was pointed out that the average person attending the races spends a minimum of probably $15 a day. Approximately 700 race horses have been brought to the track this summer, according to Mr. Harris. He was a track official last year, but this year has had the pleasure of attending most of the races as a spectator.

Jimmie Caldwell, salesman for the Dorsey Company, book publishers, paid a visit to the courthouse Monday and mixed business with pleasure by chatting with courthouse personages, including Ernest Key and S. E. Grolsen. Ernest recalled that he (Jimmie) was a chauffeur for Pancho Villa almost forty years ago. Jimmy agreed those were rugged days when he managed Villa's ranch in the state of Durango. That was around 1920 after the renegade general had signed a peace treaty with the Mexican government. One would not suspect that the mild-mannered, well-dressed Jimmie Caldwell of today was on the trail of adventure in his youth. He met many characters, including the old prospector who hitch-hiked a 100-mile ride and then sold him a bottle filled with gold for $13. The yellow stuff in the bottle turned out to be fool's gold.

Every now and then the ugly act of the dog poisoner crops up. Recently it was in Capitan that many people lost their pets through the viciousness of some unknown person, or persons. Now ten or twelve dogs have been poisoned in Lincoln and others have become alarmed for fear their pets will be the next victims. Deputy Sheriff Ray Taylor is personally offering a $50 reward for the arrest and conviction of any person poisoning dogs in Lincoln. The last pet poisoned belonged to Maurilla McGrew.

The News regrets that several photographs sent for publication were received too late for the current issue and could not be used until the following week. We have no facilities for making printing plates from pictures and it is necessary to have this done out of town. It normally takes three days for plates to be made from pictures and for this reason we must receive photographs several days in advance of our publication date. Photographs should be in our hands not later than Saturday for use the following week. While the News makes every effort to return photographs to the sender, we cannot guarantee that they will not be lost or damaged in the mail.

A driver's license, once revoked, is not easy to get back, as some are learning who have had theirs suspended. Joe Carrillo of Las Cruces of the Driver's License Branch of the Bureau of Revenue, is in Carrizozo this week to interview ten cases where the driver's license has been called for re-examination. They must pass a written test and an eye test. The latter is made by an Ortho-rater machine that tests the applicant's eyes for vision, color blindness, perception and side vision. After the applicant completes these tests, Mr. Carrillo submits a written report to the License Bureau for their study. The applicant may or may not get his driver's license renewed.

Editor, News:

Please send me the News with the article about Mr. Jackson of White Oaks and the Jackson Day celebration. Am sorry we were on our vacation and missed this day. Had the pleasure of spending one day with Mr. Jackson.—Mrs. Robert V. (Inez) Saunders, Alamogordo.

Grizzlies Bow to Tularosa 28-7

The Tularosa Wildcats had too much versatility for the less experienced Carrizozo Grizzlies last Friday night, emerging the winner, 28 to 7.

The Carrizozo eleven gave a good account of itself, battling Tularosa on even terms during the first half. Lack of depth in the line is a Grizzly handicap as the season opens.

The outstanding defensive play of the night was when the Grizzlies held Tularosa for downs inside the 10-yd. line. A blocked kick soon after gave the Wildcats a safety and two points.

Tularosa came back to score a touchdown, Juarez scoring on a pitchout from Booker. The end run following a pitchout was the Wildcats' best offensive weapon.

The Grizzlies scored through yardage gained by passes engaged by ends Hicks and Pope, a 15-yard penalty against Tularosa, and a 5-yard run by Scott Lewis for the touchdown. Hicks converted and the half time score was Tularosa 9, Carrizozo 7.

Following half-time kickoff, the Grizzlies recovered a Wildcat fumble and put together two first downs with Nowell and Hite logging the ball to the Tularosa 9-yard line. There an Tularosa moved down field to the Grizzly 8-yard line, where they lost the ball on a fumble. They recovered it when Carrizozo was unable to move, and lost the ball on 4th down. From that point Tularosa pushed over a quick touchdown, again converting.

Two more Tule touchdowns were scored in the fourth quarter, one by Aguilar and one by Juarez.

REPAINTING CEILINGS of plaster, especially in an older house, may be costlier than the amateur painter bargains for — unless he is aware of one hazard. If fresh paint is applied over several old coats, say experts, the combined weight of all the paint may soon cause it to separate from the plaster; thus to peel. It's safer to remove all old paint before you start.

The MOGOLLON ORE WAGON TEAMS

No one will see again the 18 teams hauling five ore wagons from Mogollon down Broadway in Silver City, see the lead mule team—the pointers—step on the board sidewalk as the 36 mules and two horses began the slow right turn on to Bullard at the old Silver City National Bank.

No one will again see the teamster, riding the right wheel horse next to the wagon, expertly guide the teams around the corner with the jerk line that extended the entire length of the teams, see the mules carefully step over the center chain to keep the wagons in line.

Nor will anyone see again the 300-pound gold and silver bars from the Mogollon mines unloaded from the wagons and stacked in front of the bank.

Tenney's 18-team outfits are a memory with New Mexico's old-timers. Among the long-time New Mexicans who have seen the teams come into Silver City is Roy Tiley of Hillsboro.

It was 90 miles from Mogollon to Silver City. If an ore team pulled into the town in bad winter weather, it was likely it had been on the road 10 days. Fifteen miles a day was the most that any team could make in the best of weather.

The ore loads coming out were light; those going back were heavy because crude oil for diesel engines at Mogollon and other supplies were hauled. Tiley said. The teams had to stop often for rests.

Tenney used mules in his teams, except for the two horses, one of which the teamster rode. Tenney had several hundred head and his corral was on Yankee street, another street that the ore teams sometimes came by on the way to the railroad station.

Ordinary harnesses were not used on the 18-team outfits. A center chain ran the entire length of the teams. Each team was harnessed with hames and collars, bellybands, back bands, and chain tugs, with the exception of the wheel horses. Metal doubletrees were hooked to each section so that the teams could pull. The teamster, riding the right wheel horse with a saddle, guided the teams with a jerk line which extended their entire length and was snapped to each team by a short strap.

On the curves—and there were sharp ones on the road to Mogollon—the mules stepped right or left over the chain as it rubbed against their legs, to keep the wagons in line.

To or from Mogollon the road was hazardous in places. Sometimes entire teams went over a drop-off and took the wagons with them. Sometimes a teamster was fast enough to leap to safety, and sometimes he went over with the teams and was killed, Tiley said.

Ordinary brakes were not used on the wagons. The brakes, known as rough locks, were heavy timbers dropped by a lever in front of the rear wheel of the train wagons. The wheels would roll against but not over the timbers.

A teamster camped at night along the way. He was his own cook and had to care for the teams. There were blacksmith shops and feed stores on the road. Blacksmith shops were located at Red Barn on the Gila River, at Glenwood and Mogollon. Feed could be bought at Pleasanton on the Frisco River, at stations along the Gila and in Silver City.

The last hill down from Mogollon was Slaughterhouse Hill, so named because a slaughterhouse had been there. The final hill into Mogollon was Last Chance, named after a mine there. There was no passing on either hill.

On the last eight miles into Mogollon two or three of the trail wagons would be unhooked and pulled in later so hard was the haul.

Other teamster outfits operated four, six, eight, 10 and 12-horse teams, but Tenney, whose first name Tiley could not recall, topped them all with his 18-team outfit. He was a big, heavy-set fellow with a sandy mustache. He rode horseback, and he was likely to turn, up anywhere along the road from Mogollon to Silver City, for he kept a sharp eye on his teams.

Tenney's outfit began operating in 1910 or thereabouts, as Tiley recalled, and continued until about World War I when trucks replaced teams.

At the time of the 18-team outfit Mogollon had more than 2500 population. During World War I the town had a flu epidemic and there were not enough well people to bury the dead. The town never recovered from the blow of the epidemic, Tiley said.

CAPITAN

By MARGARET RENCH

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Binyon and four sons have moved from Tularosa to Capitán and are living in the Methodist parsonage, arriving August 28. Their oldest son started to school here. Mrs. Binyon is the former Annie Lou Stewart. Welcome, we are glad to have you and your lovely family with us.

Ollie Ackerman is still in the Veterans Hospital in Albuquerque. His wife went last Tuesday to visit him.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Leslie came to town from their ranch home last Wednesday and visited their daughters Flora and Dorothy and their families until Sunday evening. Mr. Leslie is much improved and is enjoying getting out among his family and friends. We are glad to see you doing so much better.

C. A. Morris returned from El Paso where he has been for two weeks having his back checked. We regret to learn that he is not doing so well at this time. Chin up, Clarence, soon you will be well again.

There are many colds, due to the sudden changes in temperature as fall approaches. It was 28 degrees last Monday night. It is hard to realize that it is that time of year again.

Do not forget the Junior-Kids Rodeo at the Capitán Judo Grounds September 22 and 23, starting at 1:30 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Burns, Lionel and Ginger, of Lovington, visited her sister, Mrs. Leo Powell, Mr. Powell and Bobby and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Robinson.

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Kingston received a telegram from Portales to the effect that his cousin, Ollie Kingston, was slowly growing worse. They left Monday for Portales by car about 1 in the afternoon.

R. W. Floyd's Return From Trip to Canada

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Floyd have returned from their trip to Canada, reporting a wonderful time. Where they visited it was only a few hundred feet above sea level. Mr. Floyd and sons Jeff and Robert went fishing in the wilds where the U. S. Government and the Canadian Government have built cabins for the sportsmen. It can be reached only by plane and boat.

Mr. Floyd caught a 30-inch fish and Robert one 36 inches. Mr. Floyd brought the latter one home for his boss, Mr. Pearson, to prove he did go fishing.

In Yellowstone Park they were at an altitude of 14,000 ft. It bothered Mrs. Floyd more going down than going up. They spent some time in Salt Lake City and other points of interest. She said it was very cold there at night, in Utah.

After their return, Mrs. Floyd went home with their son Jeff and wife. They went near McAllen, where they held a revival; then on to Plainview, Texas, to go to school.

Mrs. Floyd stayed to visit her mother for two weeks. Her nephew, Melvin Warren, took her to Galveston and on a deep sea fishing trip. They they visited in Texas City, Texas. They had a grand time.

SATURDAY IS FAIR DAY

Remember our Lincoln County Fair which is being held in Capitán at the old school grounds and gymnasium next Saturday, Sept. 15. Be sure to come. It is going to be very interesting. There has been much work done by many over the county to make this a grand fair.

Tom Guck was joined by Eddie Womack of Roswell and they journeyed on to Las Cruces where they are sophomores at A&M College.

Far Off Canada Has Traffic Jam, Too

Here is a bit of news in regard to a traffic jam in Canada. Mrs. R. W. Floyd told of one that happened while they were on their vacation in Canada, though they never did have to stop as mentioned in the following article in their paper. It actually did happen and is not uncommon there:

"A MOTORIST'S NIGHTMARE ON HIGHWAY 1"

Cars stretching bumper to bumper farther than one could see. That's the traffic nightmare which faced temper-frayed motorists returning to Winnipeg from beach resorts Sunday evening.

The pileup caused by seven minor accidents was 12 miles long on No. 1 Highway, the distance between Beauséjour and Garçon. RCMP said it undoubtedly was the worst traffic tieup on the highway this summer.

Other than that, there was nothing "unusual" about it! It's quite common, a spokesman said — "Happens almost every Sunday."

This time it took a little longer to get the traffic cleared—two hours, from 8 to 10 p.m. At one time the long line of cars—there must have been more than 2500 of them—was stalled for a half hour. One motorist reported it took him nearly an hour to move an estimated half mile.

Others and their passengers were standing on the hoods of cars trying to see what was causing all the trouble on the narrow road ahead. One brave soul risked his neck to drive down the highway on the wrong side.

A few cars took to the ditch in an unsuccessful attempt to bypass the block. And all the while thousands of motorists sat and steamed mentally.

RCMP said three accidents were caused by sudden stops in the bumper to bumper traffic. One woman was treated at a physician's residence and allowed to continue home.

Gov. John F. Stames Calls in Capitán

Governor Stames arrived by plane a little after 12 noon on Monday. He was met at the airport.

The governor made personal calls on all business houses and as many people as he could during his short stay.

It is nice to know him in person. About all he had time for was a greeting and a smile, which helps, I think.

ALUMNI TRIMS VARSITY

Among the college boys home for the football game last Saturday were Dick Cox, R. G. Stewart, Charley Francis and Johnny Werner. The Alumni won, 15 to 0.

Hubert Hatch, the new owner of Pine Lodge, drives the school and mail bus from there and works for the Cummins Meat Market during the day.

Mrs. Dorothy Guck taught school at Fort Stanton from Tuesday through Friday for Mrs. Wallace who was with her mother in Texas who was ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Jake Hunter of Long Beach, Calif., visited from Friday until Monday with her mother, Mrs. Adda Sellers, and sister, Mrs. Lewis Cummins. Mr. Cummins and Hollis. Mrs. Sellers went with them as far as Alamogordo to visit for a while with relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Jones and son of Monahan, Texas, who had been attending the American Legion convention in Los Angeles, visited E. F. Luvaul for a couple of days, en route to their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Jones and Clyde, Mrs. Donald Harrow and Donald Richard have returned safely from their California trip. They brought Mrs. Joe Bert Cheney and Cathy with them. Joe Bert will arrive very soon. They enjoyed the redwood forest and many other places of interest, but are glad to be home again.

The U. S. Bureau of Mines, in a recent release, ranks New Mexico seventh in production of crude oil, with a total of $2,308,000 barrels, or an increase of 10.1 percent over 1954.

SENATOR ALL SET CAN GO EITHER WAY

Santa Fe, Sept. 14—Sen. Dennis Chavez, the unpredictable one of New Mexico Democratic politics, has himself in an ideal position for the 1956 campaign.

He can go in either direction—for Gov. John Simms or against him—and point to the record and say he is keeping his word.

In August Senator Chavez said in Chicago that he would spend two months campaigning for the Democratic ticket in New Mexico.

In early September he said in Albuquerque that he would have no time to campaign here because of commitments to help senatorial colleagues in other states.

A few days later he told a group of eight Democratic chairmen and leaders from northern New Mexico counties that he would come to their counties in behalf of the state ticket.

The next day he said he would not support any candidate who did not advocate repeal of the Simms welfare laws.

That was at this writing and what turns the veteran senator may make later are yet to be seen.

All the Chavez positions are quoted from newspaper accounts.

On the go? Have a Coke

DRINK Coca-Cola

When you're going at a fast clip, a little minute's all you've got to spare. Pause for an Ito-cold Coke... and go refreshed.

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY COCA-COLA BOTTLING CO. OF ALAMOGORDO

and it may be that he has been grossly misquoted and misunderstood. However, he did make a speech at a party dinner in Albuquerque last week in which he praised other candidates but made no reference to the governor. There were too many present for the possibility of a misquotation on that one.

All eight of the northern county representatives visiting Chavez to plead for his support of the state ticket agreed that he had promised to campaign for the full slate.

That group, incidentally, was made up of about half state employees and all were Simms friends.

Statehouse reaction to the Chavez position is one of threatening the senator with opposition in his 1958 run for re-election. We doubt if they will get far with that.

It would be more effective if they could come up with a signed, sworn, notarized and witnessed vow from Governor Simms that if re-elected he would not ever, ever run against Chavez for the Senate.

It is 1958 that is apparently troubling Chavez. He seems to be weighing the danger of creating a strong opponent in Simms by giving him two years more at the head of the state and the state Democratic organization, or trying to beat Simms and risking the opposition of an important segment of the party in his next run.

And it should be said that Chavez no doubt has some sincere feelings against the welfare laws and the puny minimum wage deal of the last legislature. He has a long record to substantiate his position on those subjects.
