Types Recorded Interviews With People Who Helped Build Lincoln County

MRS. J. A. SIMPSON

The water the railroad used in the engines was hard and soon ate the pipes out of the engines. Sometimes the crews would be stranded several hours without food. If they were near enough so we could hear them, the engineers would whistle one long and several shorts in sort of a code so we would know what they wanted to eat.

The first winter after the lake went dry we melted snow, as long as there were snowdrifts, to get water for the teams and for ourselves. We used a large wash pot to melt the snow.

Games were plentiful. My husband would go out early in the morning, call a few times, and bring back a nice wild turkey to roast. Also, jobs wolves and panthers killed colts and cattle up to two years of age. My husband and his brother liked to hunt and had brought a pack of long-eared hound dogs with them. They chased the varmints down to the last one. It took them three days to catch up with that one.

When we moved back to our ranch we bought lumber from the railroad and built a house. There people gathered for church and singing and for dances. The Trapp family lived in a tent for I don't know how long. The Spences and the Davidsons had small log houses. Our house had three rooms, with a lean-to on the back.

We had both sheep and cattle on the ranch. We brought the cattle, but we bought the sheep after we came. There was herd after herd of sheep in the country, from Roswell all the way over. They depended on lake water during the summer and the snow to furnish water in the winter time. The winter of 1904 we failed to have that snow. Ordinarily the snow was so deep the sheep couldn't get any distance and they'd get trampled for them to eat and get by in the winter that way. By the winter of 1904 we could get a gasoline engine and gas and we watered sheep at our place, sometimes almost day and night.

There were no other cattle in this country when we first came. When we saw a cow track we knew it was ours. The Black ranch was established but it was a long ways off. What surplus livestock my husband had he sold to the butcher shop to supply meat for the railroad crew.

When the road was building smallpox broke out in the camp. One man died and was buried not too far from Turrence. One day the water superintendent brought a sick man down to the lake where we had our cabin and tent. The water in the lake had dried up part of the way and it was wet and muddy around the edge. The young man fell down on the muddy ground and when the wagon went off he still laid there. My husband, or some of the hired people, went to investigate and he was pretty sick. We brought him up to the tent and fixed him a bed. He was just a young person and very timid and he didn't tell us very much. He broke out real good in just a few days.

This young boy would go on the hillside and lay down on the damp ground. We couldn't talk him out of it. When we went into the tent there was such an odor we could hardly stand it and we knew he had smallpox. Fortunately, none of us took it.

When this boy got able he just walked off and we never heard about one thing about him, who he was or where he went. From the best we could find out he got well, all right. Living out the way we did, at times more than a hundred miles from a doctor, you had to know something about medicine to take care of your family. I had read medicine and I kept a liver medicine and a fever medicine and other things.

Mr. Simpson passed on in May of 1920. He had been in bad health for six or seven years. At that time our ranch in Socorro county was dry and I realized I couldn't go through the winter there, so I bought a ranch 17 miles northeast of here and moved the cattle from Socorro county. I went on with the ranch for twenty years. Of course I had some hard help. I used to ride when I was younger, but I had to quit that.

Carrizozo Board Revises Rule on Married Students

The Carrizozo Municipal Board of Education at its regular December meeting voted unanimously to rescind its prohibition of married students attending high school.

Married students will be allowed to continue their education but they will be prohibited from taking part in social and extracurricular activities, including athletics.

The board decided to take this step as a result of the discussion of the District Youth meeting in Carrizozo in October and also to place itself in accord with the policies recommended by leaders in the field of education and youth problems.

According to Supt. R. G. Firman, the board has considered revising this policy for some time but elected to wait until fuller information could be collected and studied.

Plans were also made for the municipal school board election to be held February 5, 1937. Two members will be elected, as the terms presently held by Mrs. Marvin Roberts and James C. Duncan expire at that time.

Candidates seeking to fill these offices are requested to register in the superintendent's office so that their names may be placed on the ballots.

The board named the fire hall as the place of election and chose the following officials to conduct the election, subject to their acceptance.

Judges: Mrs. June Straley, Mrs. F. O. Brown, Alternates: Mrs. Rachel West, Miss Frances Degner, Mrs. Orena Crenshaw.

Clerks: Mrs. Joyce May, Mrs. Johnson Stearna, Alternates: Juan Martinez, Eugene Dow.

Dismiss Charges Against Bar in Carrizozo

Following a hearing early in December, the El Centro bar in Carrizozo was given a 30-day suspension for selling liquor to a minor.

A similar charge against Jeanie's bar in Carrizozo was dismissed and the proprietors were relieved of any responsibility by Director Hilton Dickson after hearing all evidence.

The director stated that the evidence showed no guilt on the part of the proprietors of Jeanie's bar.

COURTHOUSE PARTY

The annual Courthouse Christmas party was held last Friday evening in the courtroom.

Besides county and state officers attending were Judge W. T. Scoggin and Mrs. Scoggin and Mrs. Ester Smith, court reporter, and Ramon Bernal, court interpreter, from Las Cruces.

He had a cattle and sheep ranch near Ramon in Lincoln county, and died there in 1946 following a heart attack. Our daughter Ha (Mrs. Sultemeler) was born at Floydada, Texas. She lives with her husband on a cattle ranch near Stanley, N. M.

Our son Dan Simpson was born here at Corona. He was given a commission after his graduation at A&M College, and was among the first to be called in World War II. He served at Fort Lee, Virginia and also in Europe until the end of the war, when he was a lieutenant colonel. He lives at Hobbs.

Social Security Representative to Be in Carrizozo

Ruth Penfield, claims examiner of the Bagwell Social Security Administration office, will be in Carrizozo Friday morning, December 28, to assist local residents in making application for old-age or survivors insurance benefits and to give general information concerning the Social Security Act.

She will be at the office of the New Mexico Department of Public Welfare in the court house between the hours of 10 a. m. and 12 noon.

Payments of two types to farmers under the "soil bank" crop reduction plan are counted as net earnings in computing earnings for social security insurance benefit payments, and payments of a third type may be counted under certain conditions, according to Miss Penfield. Many inquiries, she says, have been received on this subject.

"A large number of elderly southeastern New Mexico farmers are retiring each week under the old-age and survivors insurance program provided by the Social Security Act," Miss Penfield pointed out. "The amount of the monthly payment is based on the farmer's average monthly earnings."

The minimum monthly payment is $32 for the farmer and $15 for his wife, if they are both 65. Maximum for which the self-employed farmer can qualify is $106.50 a month for himself and $54.25 for his wife.

TO TAKE POSITION WITH STATE COMMISSION

S. H. Glanville of Las Alamos stopped at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Roselle Sunday for lunch. The three then made a trip to the Jicarilla to view the mining prospects. Mr. Glanville, an engineer and geologist, is giving up his position in Las Alamos and moving to Santa Fe where he will have an office as consultant to the State Economic Development Commission.

Pleasant Christmas Surprise for W. A. Rice

W. A. Rice of Jicarilla was pleasantly surprised Christmas day when Henry Lambert, wife and son, from Haxton, Colo., drove up and announced they would have dinner with him. Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Roselle took part in the surprise, bringing food and helping prepare the meal.

Messrs. Rice and Lambert are old-time friends and the latter led the band in which Mr. Rice played the cornet.

The Lamberts reported the wheat crop in Colorado never looked better, having been benefited by a 16-inch snow.

Red Canyon Bright Spot on Hiway 380

Red Canyon Range Camp became a "diamond in the desert" during the Christmas holidays—a bright spot between Carrizozo and San Antonio.

Five-foot red candles replaced the mistletoe at the entrance to the camp and trees and Christmas lights adorn the front porch of the camp.

On the guard house there are greetings of Merry Christmas and Happy New Year, all decorated in evergreen.

All the mess halls are decorated with Christmas trees and the enlisted men's mess hall with greenery and Christmas trees and a large painting of the Nativity, furnished by the chaplains at Fort Bliss.

The service club also has a large decorated 20-foot tree. A 33-foot tree, trimmed and lighted, has been placed at the highest point on the base camp. It can be seen for miles along Highway 54.

Along the Way

The novel Christmas lighting effect which outlined the entire roofline of the Carrizozo Hospital had the effect of candles, and in fact that's what it was. Candles were placed in coffee cans which were partly filled with sand and covered with paper bags. When the candles burned down to the sand, they were safely extinguished. It was a clever idea. . . . The News was pleased to hear from two former employees. Sol Cohen, Linotype operator, writes that he has a position as typesetter on a newspaper at Leighton, Penn. Pat Neal is employed as a news and feature writer on a daily paper at Clearwater, Florida. . . . Mary E. Anderson, niece of the late Louis Leo (Pop) Anderson, writes: "Please extend to all of my Uncle Leo's friends my very best wishes for the holidays. I won't ever forget how wonderful they were to me." . . . Again this Christmastime the Girl Scouts of Carrizozo gladdened the hearts of many homo folk with their sweet caroling.

It's the most interesting job I ever had," says Johnny Soderback, referring to his work with the Humble Oil Company in offshore oil development. Johnny is an able seaman, one of four on the converted LST ship which is the base of operations in drilling for oil in the Gulf, 30 miles offshore from Galveston. Anchored in 60 feet of water, the ship carries all equipment needed in oil drilling operations. The ship's crew and the drillers are supplied daily by a boat from shore. Once a week they are relieved. "We have time to do a little fishing every day," he says. "The ship had to be abandoned one time when we heard a hurricane was approaching. Only the fringe of the storm hit the ship but it took on quite a bit of water." After a vacation with his wife, Pearl, and friends in Captain, Johnny will return to his work with the Humble Oil Company.

New Financing Plan Proposed by State Health Department

Santa Fe (Special)—Donna Ana, Lincoln, Otero, and Sierra counties will save more than $47,000 in county funds if the new plan proposed for financing activities of the State Health Department during the next two years is adopted by the 1937 Legislature. Dr. Stanley J. Leland, state health director, said this week that a financing plan has been proposed which eliminates the need for securing financial assistance from individual counties.

"Since all citizens of the state should be equally served by the Health Department," Dr. Leland noted, "it is felt that financing should be accomplished on a state level."

Dr. Leland explained that the practice of obtaining county funds to help support the department has proved a severe hardship on a majority of the counties and has been an uncertain source of revenue.

During the current year counties are contributing more than $405,000 to support the Health Department. The amounts being given by the counties in District 4 are: Dona Ana, $32,448; Lincoln, $4,678; Otero, $3,401; and Sierra, $2,110. Adoption of the new financing plan would mean that these counties would be able to direct this money to needed local projects.

The Health Department, in its program to expand its activities and functions, will request an appropriation from the State's General Fund of $1,861,000 for 1937-38 and $1,910,561 for 1938-39. In addition, federal funds totaling more than $1,043,374 are expected.

Dr. Leland stated that the State's General Fund would in no way be impaired if the budget request is granted. He explained that the appropriation could be made from a portion of the surplus which accumulates each year in the general fund. This year a surplus of more than $4,000,000 is anticipated.

Would Increase Health Activities
"We feel that the best possible use for some of this surplus is to increase the various activities of the health department in its attempt to keep pace with the needs of a fast-growing population," Dr. Leland noted.

The proposed budget provides for increased activities in all phases of the state-wide health program in addition to the establishment of a mental retardation program and public health branch laboratories at Clovis and Farmington.

Additional staff requirements are a major factor in the budget increase. In the Public Health Nursing Division, a request has been made for 10 public health nurses during 1937-38 and a total of 30 nurses during 1938-39. (Actually, on a minimum of one nurse per 5,000 persons in the state, 114 are required.)

Other staff additions include: a director of communicable disease control, two additional veterinary field representatives, an assistant director of environmental sanitation, a supervisor of school sanitation, an assistant supervisor of occupational health, three additional state food sanitarians, a public health laboratory consultant, and two sanitarian supervisors.

Painting Deer Pellets Is Strictly Business

A group of hunters on Horseback last month came upon a biologist of the Department of Game and Fish, down on his hands and knees, busily spraying white paint on a scattering of deer pellets or droppings. Their look of blank astonishment gradually turned to apprehension, they rode away with frequent backward glances.

The biologist was not a candidate for a mental hospital, as they evidently supposed. He was performing the routine duty of estimating the deer population in a given area. This is how it's done.

A transect 1000 feet long and a foot wide is marked off in the area under study, and the pellets are counted along that transect. The pellets are then sprayed with white paint, so that they will not be confused with pellets found on the next day's count. It's as simple as that.

N. M. Lags Behind in Per Capita Income

Santa Fe (Special)—A Commerce Department study showing New Mexico keeps a fairly constant position in per capita income seems "to emphasize the need for economic expansion," the Taxpayers Association reports.

The study showed New Mexico's per capita income for 1935 was $1,430, compared with an average of $1,847 for the nation. The state's total personal income increases from $1,077,000,000 in 1934 to 1,134,000,000 last year, or 5.2 percent. But the average for the nation was 6.5 percent, and New Mexico's gain on a per capita basis was less than 2 percent, while the nation's average was 4.5 percent.

The Taxpayers Association noted that New Mexico stood 38th among the states in per capita income in 1934; 40th in 1935; 38th again in 1936; while remaining fairly "constant" down to the present.

"These per capita income figures," it says, "seem to emphasize the need for economy expansion since, to a large degree, per capita income reflects the ability of the people to buy goods and services and to pay taxes. In this respect, New Mexico is below the national average. Our purchasing power has not kept pace with that of the United States as a whole."

The Association noted that personal income figures supply one of the best means of comparing one state with another economically. Such a study shows which areas experienced the most rapid economic expansion, as well as those where the economy has declined.

Personal income represents more than dollar income. It includes all forms of income; not only salaries, wages, net business incomes, but income in kind, such as net rental value of owner-occupied homes; value of food or clothing furnished members of the armed forces; food raised and consumed; and perquisites such as rent or medical services.

The Commerce Department survey showed the average per capita income of the 48 states increased by $79 last year. The New Mexico increase was $29. Alabama, Maine, Mississippi and North Dakota scored increases of more than 10 percent, while the greatest drops were recorded in South Dakota, Nebraska, and Iowa.

Subscription: In Lincoln County, Yearly, $2.75; Six Months, $1.50; Outside Lincoln County, $3.25 Yearly; six months, $1.75.

The figures show the difference in economic levels between South and North is becoming less pronounced, the Association said. Mississippi and Arkansas rank lowest, while Delaware is first with a per capita income above $2,500, followed closely by Connecticut and Nevada.

The chaparral, or road-runner, is New Mexico's state bird.

Agricultural Events for January and February

Interested in fruits and vegetables—sheep and wool—dairying—livestock feeding or breeding? Conferences, workshops, and shows of these and many other topics of interest to farm and ranch people dot the New Mexico calendar of agriculture events for January and February of the new year, says A. E. Triviz, associate director of New Mexico A&M College's Agricultural Extension Service.

First event on the January calendar is the conference of workers of the New Mexico State Department of Agriculture. This will be held January 8 and 9 on the New Mexico A&M campus.

Then on January 10-12, the New Mexico Association of Soil Conservation Districts will hold its 10th Annual Convention on the A&M campus. Farmer and rancher cooperators and officials of 61 Soil Conservation Districts in the state are invited to attend.

The Annual Dairy Short Course at New Mexico A&M College, February 12 and 13, will headline information on herd management, breeding troubles and diseases, problems in the use of frozen semen, and human nutrition preceding the Short Course, on February 11, will be a field day sponsored by the New Mexico Holstein-Friesian Breeders.

The 13th Annual Tri-State Hereford Association's Show and Sale is scheduled to be held in Clayton, February 12 and 13.

New on the farm calendar this year is an Irrigation Exposition, which will feature educational and commercial exhibits, demonstrations, and lectures on about every phase of irrigation agriculture from the source of

The Incorporation Of Guadalupe

(Editor's note: The information on the incorporation of Guadalupe was obtained from the historical files of Mrs. Katherine D. Stoes, pioneer Las Cruces. Guadalupe is a part of the Indian Pueblo, south of Las Cruces, which is commonly called Tortugas. The other part of the village, in which San Juan Mission is located, is known as San Juan.)

On April 12, 1914, the members of the Pueblo of Guadalupe voted to incorporate for the purpose of improving their village. Duration of the incorporation was to be 50 years from the date of the meeting. The articles of incorporation were filed May 14, 1914.

They adopted a resolution forming an association. They resolved that it should be an Industrial and Benevolent Association and a community organized for mutual benefit and assistance, "and not for pecuniary profit."

The resolution stated further Guadalupe would be formed as a corporation under the laws of New Mexico with the corporate name of "Los Indigenas de Nuestra Señora de Guadalupe."

Among the persons who were then members of the pueblo and of the new association was Major Eugene Van Patten, a descendant of Dutch aristocracy in New York who had married a Tewa Indian woman. Van Patten fought on the Confederate side in the Civil War. A street in Las Cruces bears his name today.

The objectives of the incorporation were for the benefit of all the people throughout the community. The association was concerned with the moral, physical and intellectual development of the pueblo members, improvements in the vicinity of the pueblo, assistance and encouragement in the building of homes.

Other objectives of the association were to cooperate in constructing buildings for public use, owning and maintaining of a Roman Catholic Church in the village, building of a clubhouse for "business and pleasure," and establishing of a cemetery.

The minutes of the meeting were signed by Henry Victor Jackson, secretary; four captains and two witnesses. They were notarized by Van Patten.

The minutes stated that the other members of the pueblo and association, in addition to Van Patten, were:

Santiago Gonzalez, Candelario Robal, Francisco Gonzales, Francisco Avalos de Robal, Jose Gonzales, Victoriano Avalos, Francisco Lopez, Harry Victor Jackson, Adrian Marquez, Mino O. Jackson, Lorenzo Oguin, Zenobio Avalos, Faustino Pedraza, Cirilo Avalos, Longino Pedraza, Ignacio Herrera, Diego Paz, Jose Angel Enriquez, Hijo; Miguel Paz, Hijo; Merced Parra, Victor Roybal, Vivian Herrera, Julio Rivero, Domingo Herrera, Jesus Rivero, Emilia Van Patten de Ascato;

Santiago Olago, Estanislado Avalos, Juan Olaga, Juan Avalos, Luciano Avalos, Jacinto Jemente, Dolores Alejo, Francisco Dominguez, Pedro Benavides, Emilio Andra, Mercedes Cuaron, Alvirna Alvarez de Trujillo, Jose Maria Carabajal, Baltazar Madrid, Cornelio Duran, Mariano Madrid, Eddifonso Duran, Eugenio Duran, Jose Angelo Enriquez (Major); Ignacio Grijalba, Pantelcon Enriquez, Clocis Gijarra, Carlos Grijalba, Catarina Grijalba, Clolla Gijarra.

The two settlements of Guadalupe and San Juan are familiarly known as Tortugas. The older part, east of the placita, is called Guadalupe in honor of the Mexican Virgin, and the western settlement, which is grouped around San Juan Catholic Mission, is correctly called San Juan. The inclusive name of Tortuga apparently was given to the settlements because of nearby Tortugas Mountain.

Mrs. Stoes said that in 1933 Don Jacobo Chavez told her that the early natives called Tortugas Mountain "La Sierra ro la Cal," the Mountain of the Lime, because it was a source of lime for them.

Don Jacobo once found an old bar of 21 ounces of silver bullion about 700 yards from the mountain on the old road. He believed that it was from the Lost Padre Mine.

During the annual Feast of Our Lady of Guadalupe a pilgrimage is made up Tortugas Mountain. The pueblo has become famous in southern New Mexico for the December celebration honoring the Mexican Virgin, which is a mingling of Christian and Indian religious customs. The latter are Mexican Indian customs brought by the Indians from the El Paso area when they migrated to New Mexico in the early 1850's. Most of the migrants were descended from northern New Mexico Pueblos who had been converted to Christianity and had come southward after the Pueblo Revolt against the Spaniards in 1680.

Many Holiday Events At Wayland College

Plainview, Texas, Dec. 24 — With Christmas holidays here, Wayland Baptist College students, including Jeff Floyd, of Capitan, have joined in many pre-Christmas celebrations.

Wayland College traditionally has an all-college Christmas dinner, followed by a party on the night before holidays begin.

All college favorites are announced and Santa Claus checks on how good the Wayland students have been during 1956.

Wayland students have also participated in producing the community-wide presentation of Handel's "Messiah" and viewed the fine arts department's production of the Menotti Christmas opera, "Amahl and the Night Visitors."

Senior Jeff Floyd, a ministerial student, is majoring in music and mining in Bible on the B.A. degree. Before coming to Wayland, he was graduated from Arctico High School and attended Eastern New Mexico University. He sings with the International Choir. Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Floyd, his parents, live in Capitan.

Kennecott Reverts to Five-day Schedule for Supervisory Personnel

Hurley, N. M.—Announcement of a five-day work schedule for all supervisory personnel, at the Chino Mines division of Kennecott Copper Corp. was made last week by W. H. Goodrich, Chino general manager.

All supervisory personnel at the mine, mill, smelter and general offices were informed by personal letter that their present six-day week schedule would be reduced effective January 1. This new schedule would indicate that most offices will be curtailed, if not completely closed on week ends.

This curtailment of the work week for supervisory personnel will not reduce the production schedule at the operations.

"There are some areas in which replacements are not immediately available or operations will not permit working the 40-hour week schedule at the beginning of the year," Mr. Goodrich said, "but it is our hope that in all such cases these difficulties can be worked out during the month of January."

INSIDE CAPITAL

A few days back the EDC employed Barbara Nulist who was secretary to the Republican purchasing agent when Ed Mechem was in last time.

C. L. Mears, the incoming purchasing agent drives a Cadillac but his favorite cars are 1923 and 1926 Model T Ford sedans which he has restored.

Outgoing Gov. John Simms, understandable, is not going to see much of the festivities around the inauguration of his successor. He will stand by for the swearing in at noon Tuesday and then return for Arizona.

There has been no announcement of his appointment but Jack Craig of Los Cruces has moved to Santa Fe in preparation for returning to his old job at the head of the ports of entry division.

Some of the cut-rate places are $10,000 on tax commissioner and $3,400 for a couple of associate commissioners; $10,000 as assistant EDC director; $10,000 as budget director; $3,600 tourist director.

The teachers union (NMEA) has whopped a proposal for the legislature which would take approximately $103,000 for Guadalupe, Harding, Mora, Sandoval, Socorro and Torrance which are presently operating with emergency grants from the state and would increase by some $475,000 a year money allocated to Albuquerque, Santa Fe, Colfax, Curry, Quay, Rio Arriba, Roosevelt, Union, Valencia, Taos and San Miguel.

State Education Budget Auditor Homer Heathman said the proposed change in the distribution would result in extreme hardship and possibly the closing of some schools if it is adopted. In addition to the counties listed as taking cuts he predicted that Lincoln and possibly some other counties would come

'Bare Minimum' Plan from Small Homes Guide

This tiny structure, featured—and enthusiastically so—by SMALL HOMES GUIDE magazine, might be considered the bare minimum in a two-bedroom home. Designed by Architect Clarence Thomas and built by the modern-looking house is just the thing for the beginning family. In spite of the small size of the plan, the rooms are well planned, open spaces in the living room, dining room and kitchen, and a separate sleeping porch. Total
