

Ramblin' Around Lincoln County

(The following interview was with an old-timer who asks that his name be withheld. He tells about this country as he saw it first over forty years ago.)

I came to Amarillo in June 1906 and started to work for the Santa Fe Railroad. Amarillo claimed 2500 inhabitants, including all the burros and saddle horses. The Santa Fe at that time didn't have its own lines, just the yards.

To get into Amarillo from the Panhandle on the north the railway traveler went to Washburn, Texas, and came in on the Fort Worth and Denver. Going south, the traveler took the P.V. & N.E., owned by the Hagerman interests. There was no Clovis at that time. In 1908 the Santa Fe finished the line from Vaughn through Fort Sumner and into Clovis. Clovis sprang up overnight when the shops were moved there from Ft. Sumner.

I made my first trip to Roswell in December, 1906. Roswell also claimed 2500 people at that time, but it was a lot better town than Amarillo. They had three or four blocks of solid business, while Amarillo had one block on Polk street. The old brick courthouse was there and the New Mexico Military Institute. As I remember there were only two residences between the institute and the Spring River bridge. South there were only two or three houses after crossing the Hondo out towards the hospital.

Stockmen and farmers had plenty of money in the bank in those days. There were fields of alfalfa all around. All they had to do to get water was turn a valve on the artesian wells and the water would flow. The town was well supplied with four livery stables, and once in a while you would see an automobile.

Some of the big cattle ranches were the Block Ranch, the Flying H, and LFD ranch. There was fine grass all over the country.

I first saw the Carrizozo flat country around 1913. The grass was belly high to a horse most everywhere and no fences, except around the squatters' houses. We used to go out north of town and head straight for the old crater in the Mal Pais. All that country as far up as Ancho and west to Claunch was the same kind of country. Stock never went hungry in those days. Gran Quivira was one of the prettiest places you'd ever want to see. Before the main building was cleared by excavation you had to go up over the roof to get into it. There was lots of grass and everybody had good wells, with plenty of water for gardens and anything they wanted around the house.

Later the land was surveyed and farmers came in and started planting beans. They did fine until the drought hit in the late thirties. The town of Claunch was started on the old DuBois ranch. The Claunch family bought a well from the Spence family and moved in a large herd of cattle.

When I first came to Carrizozo Henry Lutz had a store across from the railroad on Railroad street, which was the main street then. The postoffice was in a building which is now Thornton's Grocery. John Haley was running his paper in the same building as the present News office. Zelger's store is now Gambles and across the street was T. E. Kelley's hardware store (now Prehm's). The hospital of Dr. Lucas was where Lane Sisters are now. Dr. Padon's hospital and drug store still is the same location. Art Bolland's drug store was in a building back of Prehm's store.

Carrizozo had two bars—one where Tommie's is now and another in a two-story tin building across from the railroad, run by Major Campbell. Dutch Reil was running his garage and Mrs. Leggett had a hotel alongside it. Mother Gurney had the Carrizozo Eating House, known as the "Beanery."

I knew Susan McSweeney Barber well. She was a wonderful woman. After the Lincoln County War and her husband was killed she moved to Three Rivers and became a successful cattle woman. Her holdings later became part of the A. B. Fall Ranch.

I was very acquainted with Gov. Law Wallace, territorial governor. He offered Billy the KSA full immunity if he would stop the Lincoln County War, but Billy wanted the same immunity given all members of his gang, which Governor Wallace would not agree to. They met at Lincoln. It would have been easy to have killed Billy the Kid that day, but the governor would not have any part of that. He let Billy leave the same as though there was nothing against him. Governor Wallace returned to Crawfordville, Ind. his original home and it was there that he finished his great book "Ten Years."

Governor Wallace's brother-in-law, Henry E. Lane, was governor of Indiana about the same

Along the Way..

By PAUL BAKER

State Patrolman James Clayton and Capt. Izzy Funk of Roswell worked the radar south of Highway 54 this week, with results described as "fair." One driver was arrested for doing 85 in a 60-mile zone.

Operating speeds on New Mexico highways are now 70 mph days and 60 mph nights. Officer Clayton says the increased operating speed limit is working out fairly well, however it has resulted in the habitual speeder going faster accordingly.

A visitor from El Paso asked this week how the Bonito pipeline was progressing. When told that it would soon be completed and ready for a test, he wanted to know how it would be started to flow. I suggested that somebody draw on it at the lower end. "You know what we could do?" he said. "We could send somebody up from Texas. If a Texan can suck as hard as he can blow, it would start things in no time."

Why the New Mexico range grasses withstand prolonged periods of drought is well illustrated in a brochure printed by the Phillips Petroleum Company. An illustrated chart shows how range grasses have extensive root systems reaching as deep as 11 feet into the soil. The roots of blue grama grass reach a maximum of five feet. Others probe deeper, such as little bluestem, 7 feet; big bluestem and Indiangrass, 8 feet; sideoats grama 9 feet and switchgrass 12 feet.

"It is almost impossible," the brochure states, "to imagine the enormous tonnage of root material hidden away in the soil of a bluestem range. Detail weight checks show 6,000 to 7,000 pounds per acre of plant material in the first six inches of soil under excellent bluestem grassland. Sound management encourages root development by permitting adequate top growth at all times." This brochure is one of several on range grasses, range weeds and management on file at the Carrizozo Soil Conservation office.

Ann and Les Elmhart, former New Mexico publishers, who live at Van Nuys, Calif., send a clipping about a traveling New Mexico hen.

The story, with pictures of the hen and the train engineer, was printed in the Los Angeles Times February 15:

A golden-bantam hen "rode the rails" of the Golden State Limited into Los Angeles yesterday, and set Southern Pacific men back-tracking all the way to Tucuman, N. M., in search of its home.

Inspector Ted Sanders found the stowaway when the Golden State's three-unit diesel was shunted over a service pit in the San Fernando road yards.

"She was roosting on top of a tractor motor under the first unit," he reported. "Covered with oil and water, and mad as a wet hen."

Engineer D. D. Beatty scratched his head and recalled:

"I picked up that engine in Tucuman at 9:35 a.m. Wednesday, but we stopped at Carrizozo, Alamogordo, Tucson, Phoenix, Yuma, Indian, Palm Springs, Colton, Fernona and Alhambra—500 miles—since then."

The hen drank thirstily, but spurned bits of bread in favor of a treat offered by a round-house man.

"I guess she's from Tucuman," surmised Beatty. "Great town for hens."

Engineer Matt Connolly, who said he and his daughter, Aileen, 6, will board the hen at their 205 North avenue 65 home, guessed that "she must be someone's pet, because her wings are clipped."

Road Planners Meet Monday

The Lincoln County Road Planning Committee will meet in the courtroom at Carrizozo March 4, starting at 10 a.m.

B. L. Smith of the State Highway Department will attend the meeting.

WOMAN ARRESTED FOR GIVING WORTHLESS CHECKS

Ella May Beebe, about 35, of Houston waived preliminary hearing in Carrizozo Monday when she was charged with passing worthless checks. State Patrolman James Clayton was asked to investigate after a merchant cashed her checks in the amount of $25.

Mrs. Beebe, who said she was on a vacation, was picked up and then tried to return the merchandise. She was held in jail in lieu of bond.

90-day driver's license revocation.

Edward Vasquez of North Oscura Peak was fined $100 for reckless driving.

Luther Cain of Ft. Bliss was fined $100 for reckless driving. His car struck a telephone pole on Highway 54 at Oscura.

Carrizozo Trustees Further Consider REA Power Offer

Twenty Carrizozo citizens were present Tuesday night at the town hall at a special meeting of the board of trustees, called to further discuss the REA offer to supply Carrizozo with electric power.

Mayor Wayne C. Withers stated that the REA had made two offers—one to deliver power to the town and the other to buy outright the town's power plant and distribution system.

The town board conferred last week with officials of the Otero County Electric Cooperative, Inc. and Mayor Withers said their last offer was to: Take over the electric system's bonded indebtedness, pay the town a 2% franchise tax based on sale of electric power, allow the town to retain its electric power reserve fund and build two separate power lines into Carrizozo.

Mayor Withers stated that the town board presented a counter offer requesting an additional cash payment, but that this was rejected.

The citizens meeting with the trustees were practically unanimous in agreement that one of the two offers presented by the REA should be accepted.

Opinion was divided on two questions:

Should the town sell its power plant and distribution system outright and go out of the power business; or

Should the town buy power only from the REA and keep its power plant as a standby and continue to distribute electricity.

Mayor Withers asked for a show of hands. Nine were in favor of the first proposition; eight in favor of the second.

The board of trustees took no action on the matter Tuesday night as two members of the council were unable to attend the meeting. Present were Mayor Withers and Trustees Sherrill and Manlio.

Steak House Cafe Changes Ownership

Mr. and Mrs. John L. Moisan of Roswell are the new proprietors of the Steak House in Carrizozo.

The couple also own the Union Plaza Cafe in Roswell, which Mrs. Moisan is operating.

Mrs. Frankie Lebow, their daughter, is assisting her father at the Steak House.

The Moisans, have among other children, two daughters attending school in Roswell.

time that Wallace was territorial governor of New Mexico.

I also knew A. B. Fall well and I consider him one of the most honorable men I ever met. He was always ready to help anybody in the world who was up against it.

Along in the twenties, a mail and stage line ran from Roswell, through Pecos, Glendon, Mesquero, Bent, Tularosa to Alamogordo, where it connected with No. 3 and 4 going to and from El Paso. The stage was run by Carl McNally of Roswell. The day Sheriff Bill Rutherford was shot in Alamogordo McNally's car was used to chase the killer who was captured at the McNew ranch north of Oro Grande. The man who killed Sheriff Rutherford had stolen a Model T Ford from Sheriff Eck McCammant in Lincoln County.

Ruidoso was just a turn in the road in the early twenties. I give credit to Vic Moore of El Paso in doing more than anyone else in building Ruidoso. He gave up his law practice in El Paso to take over the full management of the Southwest Orphanage.

Every summer they would take these children to Ruidoso and they would spend the summer there. People from El Paso began going up there because of the way he boosted its scenery and so forth. There was lots of water in the Ruidoso River then and people started to build summer homes there.

The railway up to Cloudcroft was a going operation until along in the forties. Excursions were run every week end. From two to four cars would be crowded with people. There was a switch-back at the steepest place. The EPASW built the road mainly to develop Cloudcroft as a resort. The railroad company owned the lodge. Train after train of logs were hauled during the thirties.

I've seen lots of changes in this country from the old days. It will come back and be beautiful as it used to be, if it isn't overstocked. The danger is that everybody will want fifteen cows instead of five. Rain is the one thing we need.

Funds Provided for Museum at Lincoln

Word was received in Lincoln County on Wednesday morning from Rep. W. G. Bradley of the enactment of Senate Bill 80, providing funds to purchase the old Turnstall Store in Lincoln.

The bill, which passed both senate and house unanimously, also carried an appropriation of $10,000 toward the restoration of the old Wortley Hotel in Lincoln.

The state owns the site of the hotel, which was burned down around 1930. The original hotel was a one-story building with a high-pitched roof. It had 13 rooms, including bedrooms, parlor, dining room and kitchen.

SD 80 now awaits the signature of Governor Mechem.

Services in Hondo for Juan Warner Salcido

Services were held at the Catholic church in Hondo Tuesday for Juan Warner Salcido, 21, of Hondo who lost his life in a car wreck early Sunday morning on Highway 530, about two miles west of Hondo.

He was the son of Faustino Salcido of Hondo. Burial was in the Hondo cemetery.

According to State Patrolman Bob Jurney, who investigated, Salcido's new Chevrolet car, traveling at a high rate of speed, went off the left side of the highway after passing the Spring ranch. The car came to rest 640 feet distant after cutting through the air at one point for a distance of 90 feet. It overturned several times.

Passengers in the car with Salcido were Faustino Salcido, 20, and Fernin Salcido, 19. All were thrown from the car. Juan's neck was broken and he received head injuries. He was pronounced dead on arrival at the Buldaco Hospital. Faustino sustained a broken pelvis and head lacerations. Fernin escaped with lacerations and bruises. Big Time Wrestling Coming to Town

Big time wrestling comes to Carrizozo Sunday, March 3, at 7:30 p.m., sponsored by the Carrizozo High School, for the recreation fund.

Matchmaker Mike London of Albuquerque is working with the high school to bring an outstanding card of wrestling to the Carrizozo area, highlighted by three top events.

In the main event of the evening, the Sumo champion of the Orient, The Great Kato, assisted by his manager and second, Professor M. Sugl, will meet the popular Rocky Mountain heavyweight champion, Juan Garcia, formerly of Monterey, Mexico, and now a resident of Albuquerque, in a two out of three fall, one hour time limit match.

Garcia is one of the most capable and well liked grapplers in the Southwest for his skill and clean-cut style of wrestling.

His opponent, the wily Japanese ace Kato, who hails from Shuri Castle in Okinawa, relies solely on roughhouse tactics and illegal holds to win his matches.

JUAN GARCIA

In the semi-final event of the evening, the little dynamo from the Union of South Africa, Doctor Ben Sherman, whose ring methods and extensive vocabulary have made him known the state over, will tangle with the flashy Nova Scotia star, Danno McDonald, in a two out of three fall, 45 minute time limit match, that should keep the fans on their feet from start to finish.

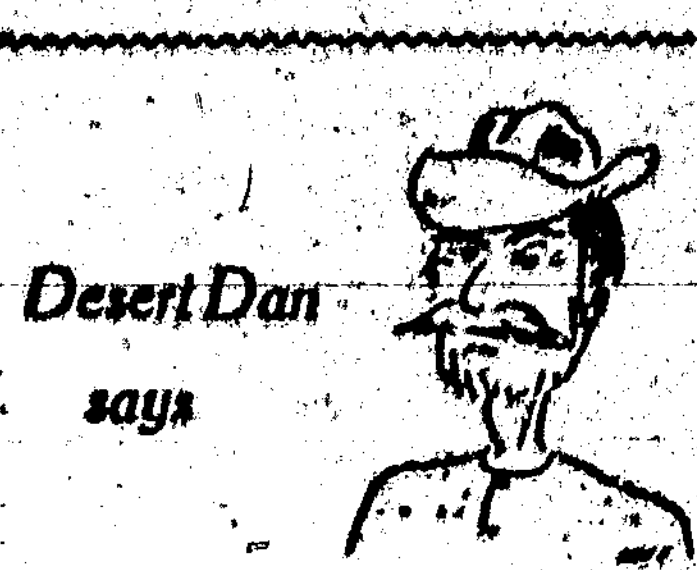

In the special event on the card, Elias Garcia, stocky brother of Juan Garcia, faces the Austrian mayhem artist, Jack O'Beilly, in a one fall, 30 minute time limit battle to open the evenings card.

They witnessed the launching of an Arcat drone from its circular launching ramp.

I don't get to bed as early as I used to on account of the TV programs. Tother night I went to sleep durin' one of those English pitchers and woke up in time for the commercial. At times they're funnier than the film. An announcer was braggin' about a washin' machine. He got mixed up an' sed it had a five-yr warranty with a sealed-in transmission.

Navajo Tribal Council Members Visit Ft. Stanton

By DAN KUSIANOVIC

Mrs. Annie D. Wauneka, daughter of the famous Chis Dodge; Howard McKinley and S. Biceante, all members of the Navajo Tribal Council, spent Thursday, Friday and Saturday morning visiting patients and conferring with the Hospital staff and Murray A. Hintz, welfare director. They expressed their satisfaction with the treatment of Indian patients, whom they found to be happy and satisfied at Fort Stanton.

They also stated that Fort Stanton with its excellent climate and location, Federal ownership of the land, and a good supply of water, would make an ideal place for a boarding school for Navajo children, now scattered in several states.

They stated that they would present the matter to the Tribal Council with recommendation that Fort Stanton be further developed for an extensive educational program that would eventually include over one thousand pupils.

This would be a tremendous asset to Lincoln County and could come to mean more than gold mines ever did. Like the legendary Phoenix, the old Fort may still rise from its ashes and become greater than it ever was.

Nogal Forgets Boom, Likes The Quiet Life

Nogal, small, old-time community on the slopes of the Sierra Blanca, on State Road 37 that turns off of U. S. 380 eight miles east of Carrizozo, appreciates the quiet way of life in contrast to its rip-roaring early days.

"Where dynamite blasting and gunfire once reverberated through the town," writes Dorothy Guck in New Mexico Magazine for March, "now the chimelms of a small church enchain the visitor with melodious spiritual messages."

Under the title, "Church in the Valley," Mrs. Guck tells about the Nogal community, in a valley of small homes and bountiful orchards. During the 1870's and the Lincoln County War it was a wild place. Hard-rock miners, roving bad men and soldiers made human life uncertain.

Today, as one old-timer told Mrs. Guck, "Nogal is friendly, quiet and homey and we want to keep it that way."

Other articles in the issue include: "New Mexico Was Our Fate," by Conrad Richter, Pulitzer prize winner, author of "Sea of Grass"; and "My Friend Will," by Charles F. Lummis, author of "Poco Tiempo" and other books that made him an authority on the Southwest.

Or that number 8,104 rate the "Approved List" according to Edward L. Wilson, managing director of the Mobile Homes Manufacturers Association. Only approved and "Gold Star" top rated parks are listed in this book.

MONEY AND BANKING
In Everyday Living

"SMALLER HOLES IN DOUGHNUTS betoken better times." You've probably heard the line, amusing because it's meaningless. When we heard it, the thought struck us that substitution of a single word—budgets in place of doughnuts—would transform the phrase into a serious one, fraught with meaning for everybody. By curbing heedless spending, and regularly adding the money thus salvaged to a bank savings account balance, anyone can help assure increasingly better times for himself and his family. Try it, with us.

SOME BUSY HANDS, perhaps yours among them, will be making sets of decorative slipcovers during these Spring months. A lot of work goes into such a project—not to mention cash. To get full value from both, heed the counsel of professional decorators: Be sure to select pre-shrunk fabrics that will not shrink when laundered. A simple test is to suds and rinse a sample before purchase.

SIMPLE ARITHMETIC: To eliminate the risk involved in carrying a lot of cash, add a saving in time and energy... plus ease and accuracy in keeping records of expenditures... plus the assurance of receipts for funds paid out. One need not be a mathematical genius to figure that these advantages add up to the all-around most satisfactory way of paying bills. It's the check way; and banks provide the service that enables folks such as you to enjoy its benefits.

Expanding Roswell Artesian Basin Runs into Road Block

Alamogordo — Over 100 Lincoln County water users have sunk legislative apikes into the expanding Roswell Artesian Water Basin boundaries and nailed the border line firmly in place 2 miles east of Hope in Eddy County.

Wording of a controversial House bill which could have opened the door to a basin control grab of land west of the Sacramento mountains was amended to deal off any possible threat to the Tulare basin.

The action came in a Senate conservancy committee hearing on HB33, already approved by the lower house. On hand to lodge protests were delegations from Alamogordo, Tulare and the Penasco area.

Following the hearing the Senate committee agreed to insert necessary wording in the bill to allow the artesian district to absorb only such lands as lay within the boundaries of the basin.

New Mexico 12th in 'Dimes' Contributions

Albuquerque (special)—New Mexico maintained its 12th position in the nation in the amount of money raised per capita during the 1957 March of Dimes, a position established in 1956. Brad Prince, state MOD publicity, said last week.

An estimated total of $247,275 was raised throughout the state this year compared with $258,529.95 in 1956. However, money is still coming in to the state headquarters for MOD projects held after the usual January 31 final date.

This is approximately 36 cents per capita, slightly lower than last year's percentage. Prince said, but it is enough to maintain 12th place in the nation.

When complete reports are received, Lincoln County will exceed last year's March of Dimes contributions. Following are totals at the state office to date for Lincoln county and adjacent counties:

FOLKLORE CORNER
By TED RAYNOR

THE HERMIT OF SEVEN BROTHERS, MOUNTAIN

Tom Casey lived on Seven Brothers Mountain, west and north of Lake Valley, from 1880 until the 1920's. He came to Lake Valley to work in the mines. His part probably was lost before he arrived in that mining town.

He did not work at the mines long. One day he took a wheelbarrow of earth up to the edge of a dump, shoved the loaded wheelbarrow over the edge, watched it fall to the bottom of the dump, and walked off the job.

Casey went to Seven Brothers Mountain, built a cabin, and began life anew as a hermit-pro prospector. He prospected all over Seven Brothers for the remainder of his life. Like many prospectors, he had a burro. He called the burro Tom Casey.

About every six months Casey went to Albuquerque. One reason for the trip apparently was for confession, the other to look after property he was reported to own there.

D. M. Miller of Lake Valley recalls one meeting he had with Casey while the latter was on his way home. Casey gave Miller some of the apples he was packing in on his burro, and started to explain the operation of the steam shovels of the Santa Rita copper pit which he had been to see.

The wonder of the open-pit mining was too much for the old prospector. He cut it short by saying:

"Oh, damn it, Dan, all I can do is to pay your way there so you can see it for yourself!"

PAT MCGANN JAMS HIMSELF

Pat McGann couldn't keep from hollering in the street in Magdalena when he got drunk. Otherwise he didn't bother anyone.

One day he came out of a

Magdalena saloon and started hollering as usual. Bob Lewis, who had recently been named town marshal, walked up to McGann and said:

"Pat, I'll have to put you in jail if you keep on hollering."

McGann went back in the saloon. After while he came out and started hollering again. Lewis walked up to McGann, and this time he said:

"Pat, I'm taking you to jail." They started walking towards a boxcar, which was the only jail at Magdalena. As Lewis stepped up to unlock the door, Pat said:

"No, Bob, let me go ahead. I told them in the saloon you couldn't put me in jail."

McGann opened the door, climbed into the boxcar, and closed the door after him.

THE WITCH

This item, from the Folklore Archives of Highland University, Las Vegas, was told to C. Do Baca by an aunt.

A woman suspected of being a witch was invited to the house of a local woman and while inside the house of the woman, the women of the village put crossed needles on the door of the house that witch was in.

When the witch got up to leave she could only go so far as the door and then went to the other door but still she could not go out. After some time the other women removed the needles, and the witch left. The women of the village now knew she was the witch and forced her to leave the village.

Capitan Boy Scouts To Renew Charter

The Committee of Capitan Boy Scout Troop 55 met Thursday, Feb. 21, at the Warren Gaston home in Capitan to organize for renewal of the Troop charter expiring in April.

Attending were Jack Shaw, Dan Kuslanovich, Warren Gaston, Stanley Good and Charles L. Conder. Following a review of troop activities, it was decided to ask the Capitan PTA to continue its sponsorship of the troop and to apply for a charter renewal.

Stanley Good of Fort Stanton and Ted Cummins of Capitan were chosen as Scoutmaster and Assistant Scoutmaster, succeeding Adrian Hill, Fletcher Hill and Bill Randle.

Thanks were expressed for the work of the retiring leaders. Elected to the troop committee were Charles L. Conder, chairman; Warren Gaston, secretary and treasurer; Jack Shaw and Dan Kuslanovich of Fort Stanton and H. C. Otero and Mr. Calhoun of Capitan.

It was agreed that the patrols would in the future meet weekly on Mondays from 7 to 8:30 p.m., with both Ft. Stanton and Capitan patrols meeting together with their new scoutmaster and assistant on Monday, Feb. 25, at Ft. Stanton Scoutmen's Club.

A regular meeting night for the committee was set for the third Thursday of each month at 7:30 p.m., with boards of review to be held monthly on the last Monday of each month, and Courts of Honor as needed.

Mr. Floyd's eye is doing better at this time, but all is not smiles around the Floyd household as Mrs. Floyd has lost her wrist watch. She was so concerned about her husband that she did not notice it at once. There is much sentiment attached to the watch, as it was given to her by her con who is in foreign service.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Leslie and Mr. and Mrs. Zano Leclio and sons visited Mr. and Mrs. Bud Payne and family in Tularosa last week end. They said Dad and Dorothy surely do like their new home.

Moynio Peters is in bed with the flu at this time.

Mrs. Louise Ferguson and son Willie were overnight guests of Mr. and Mrs. Champ Ferguson last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bradley and baby daughter were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bert Cheney. They have been stationed in the Philippines. The Bradleys and Cheneys met while both were in the Service in the Philippines. The Bradleys left Sunday for Dallas to visit her relatives. They will return to San Diego, Calif., to their new home.

Hollis Cummins returned last Friday night from two weeks vacation in California. Sunday he left for Santa Fe to attend the Democratic nominating convention.

Mr. Hatfield spent two days in the Carrizozo Hospital. He is feeling better now and to back home.

Dobby Powell was ill two days last week.

John Robinson was in Capitan last Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Lewis Cummins and Mrs. Adda Sellars took Mrs. Ben Green to Rob Hill for her birthday dinner last Tuesday. It was a happy birthday for her and we wish you many more.

Cub Scouts Thrilled By Arcat Launchings

Capitan Cub Scout Pack 7, sponsored by Capitan Woman's Club, made a trip to the Oscura Range as guests of the U. S. Army on Washington's Birthday to watch the launching of targets in connection with the guided missile training at Red Canyon.

The boys saw several targets launched and enjoyed the excitement of seeing one crash when the radio control failed to take over, and other Arcats were put through their paces under radio control.

They were thrilled to see the targets floating to earth when parachutes opened at the end of the course to permit safe descent and retrieving by the truck crew.

FIFTEEN FROM COUNTY AT DIOCESAN CONVENTION

Fifteen delegates returning from the 5th Annual Convention of the Diocese of New Mexico and Southwest Texas at St. Clement's Episcopal Church in El Paso, reported and inspiring and progressive convention.

Wardens Charles A. Culver of Hildoco and Truman Spencer Jr. of Carrizozo; Delegates Lynn W. Storm Sr. of Glencoe, Edward Penfield of Lincoln, Henry H. Shier of Hollywood and Robert Gerber of Green Tree; Youth delegates Judi Miranda of Fort Stanton and Susan Spencer of Carrizozo; Woman's Auxiliary Delegates Mimca, Paul Turner of Carrizozo and J. L. Black of Capitan, Mimca, Fred LaMay and Ora Tully of Glencoe, and Mrs. Carl Longabaugh of Hildoco; Woman's Auxiliary Presidents Mimca, Truman A. Spencer Jr. of Carrizozo and George Brooks of Hildoco, gave Lincoln County's three Episcopal churches large representation in the convention.

Delegates heard the Bishop of Texas, Rt. Rev. John E. Hines make a plea for more family prayer, increased study of the Bible, and family attendance at church services, at the annual Diocesan banquet when 500 people attended.

The highest number of confirmations on record were noted by Bishop Charles J. Kinsolving in his annual address, together with establishment of new congregations in El Paso and Albuquerque and Grants.

Offerings amounting to several hundred dollars received during the convention were allotted to the new Mission at Grants.

Most significant action was the authorization of a capital fund of $500,000, to enable existing churches to expand and new ones to be established. The campaign to raise this fund will be undertaken by all congregations in the Diocese before the next convention. It is expected that local leaders will meet with Bishop Kinsolving, March 17, to discuss this.

LAME DUCKS FIND NESTS

Santa Fe, Feb. 27.—Gov. Ed Mechem has taken care of five of his less fortunate Republican running mates and has set up the brother of a sixth in a rich appointment.

Ben Chavez, the defeated candidate for auditor, is running the Albuquerque bureau of revenue office at $505 a month. Blanche Quintana who lost in her run for secretary of state is personnel director at $480. Horace Moses, defeated candidate for treasurer, is director of the gasoline tax office at $650. Bill Abell, who ran for corporation commissioner, is a public service commissioner at $700, and Norman Wintermeyer, who lost the $6,000 a year job for Santa Fe district attorney, is running the bureau of revenue finance office at a rate of $3400.

Harold Hubbell, brother of the defeated candidate for lieutenant governor, Phillip H., has the Albuquerque auto license agency which is worth maybe $25,000 a year and commonly considered the richest plum in the state government.

SENATE DEMOS DON'T LIKE IT

Senate Democrats seized the lame duck appointments as part of their argument for rejecting the nomination of Forrest Atchley of Union county, an unsuccessful candidate for Congress last November, to the state highway commission.

The turn-down of Atchley and Ted Comman of Albuquerque, leaves the Republican governor with a Democratic highway board. It is the first time since there has been a governor and a highway commission that such a difference has existed.

The main effect of the senate action: Republicans will be kept out of maybe a couple of hundred low-salaried maintenance jobs which they could have expected from a Republican commission. (The highway department is supposed to be non-political but political hiring is practiced in non-technical fields.)

The present administration under Chief Engineer Larry Wilson and Operations Engineer Soles Miller will be maintained. One or the other would have been retained had the governor's nominees been accepted.

TWO DEMOCRATS FAVOR NOMINEES

Only two Democrats, Sen. Bill Wheatley of Union whose Rules committee considered the nominees, and Sen. Elva Carr of Doña Ana voted with the eight Republican members for confirmation of Comman. He needed 20.

Six more, Sens. Jack Dangle, Gordon Melody, Ike Morgan, Earl Parker, Jels Richardson, Ike Smalley, crossed the party line to support Atchley but he was still four short.

The rejection of the nominees is expected to backfire politically. Atchley is highly respected in ranch and farm groups and is a prominent churchman. Comman has a popular following in Albuquerque.

LEGISLATORS AND CANDIDATES

Republican Rep. Juan F. Romero of Taos has been voting with Democrats on critical issues. That, of course, wouldn't have anything to do with his being employed by Demo Highway Commissioner George Lavendar.

Eveline Robinson of Los Alamos, the former state chairman of the Young Democrats and a 1956 primary candidate for corporation commissioner, is now running for secretary of state. So is Beatrice Roach Gattlieb who had the job 1951-54.

Rep. Jack Morgan of Lordsburg made a hurried flight back to Santa Fe last Saturday when it appeared that Democrats were going to make a stab at overriding the governor's veto of the retrofitted license plate measure. The trip was in vain—the override wasn't attempted.

There hasn't been a veto overridden that I can find any record of since 1919. It requires two thirds in each house.

Rep. Bill Overton, long and lean cowboy from DeBaca, plays the guitar in true cowboy style.

WELFARE LAWS ARE DEAD DUCKS

There doesn't seem to be a chance to retain the two restrictive welfare laws of the special session of 1955—the property lien and relative responsibility statutes.

The legislature is divided into two groups on the issue: One would repeal the laws outright, the other would modify them to the point that they would be meaningless.

repeal of a third welfare act of the special session, that which opened for public inspection the lists of persons receiving public assistance.

EMBARRASSMENT IN THE HOUSE

Democratic love and harmony was strained in the house the other day when Rep. Anderson Carter was trying to beat a measure sponsored by Demo Floor Leader Mat Chacon. Carter had been pestering Chacon with questions and proposed amendments. Finally he asked if the gentlemen from Rio Arriba would yield to a question. Chacon said he would not, and Anderson flared back: "What's the matter Mat? Have you lost your guts?"

On the same day that Rep. Tom Bolack of Farmington announced that he was a candidate for Republican nomination for Congress no floundered on trying to explain a simple measure and had to be rescued by Demo. Rep. Jack Campbell of Roswell.
