THE LADY GODIVA MINE

The Lady Godiva mine was located by B. H. Dye, the present superintendent, in 1883, and is a group of five claims now owned by John W. Harrison, a steel manufacturer of St. Louis. There is a 725 foot shaft and 3,000 feet of drifting on the Lady Godiva. $100,000 has been spent in development work, and the mine is now getting in shape to be worked for profit. The vein in this mine is continuous, from 2 inches to 4 feet in width, and the average of ore milled has been $23.50 to the ton—about 60% being free gold and 40% refractory.

There is found in bunches in the vein remarkably rich ore which is entirely refractory, and carrying values from 10 to 100 ounces in gold and 500 to 1,000 ounces silver. These bunches occur every 50 to 100 feet. The mine has also produced exceedingly rich wire and nugget gold. Great quantities of ore are piled upon the dump, and when the owner puts in a new mill, which he contemplates doing this fall, it will have an abundance of good ore to work on.

TRIBUTARY DISTRICTS

The Jicarilla district, which is 10 to 11 miles north of White Oaks, is at present strictly a placer mining country, although there are doubtless rich leads there which will yet be opened, disclosing the source of the placer gold. For several years many miners have been making a livelihood by "dry washing" the Jicarilla sands. The fact that even living wages may be made by the "dry washing" process, is ample evidence of the richness of the district.

The American Placer Co., a company with large capital, are now engaged in sinking a deep well and will immediately put in a large placer machine of demonstrated utility in saving gold. There has been some prospecting for leads here and several claims showing good gold bearing ore has been located.

THE GALLINAS

Forty miles north of White Oaks, is a copper galena camp, the ore occurring in contact veins between lime and porphyry. Mr. Jones Talliferro of White Oaks, has a group of eight claims in this district and is shipping ore from two to the El Paso smelter, hauling 50 miles by wagon to the railroad at Carrizozo. The ore from these mines runs from 12 to 63% copper, 12 to 25% lead, and from 8 to 200 ounces silver. The veins are from 3 to 5 feet in width. The Gallinas is a rich district, and the building of the extension of the "White Oaks Route," tapping as it will that country, will create a rapid development of the camp.

THE OSMUNA

Nogal, Dry Gulch and Bonito are other districts tributary to White Oaks and in which citizens of this town are interested. For want of space mention alone will be made of the Osmuna district, which is rich in lead, copper, and iron. The Cyclone, Effie, Copper King, and Copper King are among the most promising prospects. The ore occurs in blanket veins and carries from 18 to 40% copper, 10 to 30% iron and some silver. Trial shipments of ore have been made to El Paso with encouraging returns.

CATTLE AND THE SHEEP

The cattle and sheep interests of the country tributary to White Oaks are very extensive. The Carrizozo Land and Cattle Company has its headquarters near Carrizozo station, where W. C. McDonald, the manager, has a beautiful home. This company has many thousands of cattle on the range, being mostly graded Herefords.

THE WHITE OAKS ROUTE

The El Paso and Northeastern or as it is more popularly known, "The White Oaks Route," is now completed to Carrizozo station, twelve miles west of White Oaks, and the probability is that it will be extended to this place on its way to its proposed connection with the Rock Island at Liberal, Kansas, within the next year.

The extension of this road will prove a great stimulus to the growth of White Oaks, and

Changes Suggested For ASC Handbook

A meeting to select practices for the national ASC handbook was held last week at the courthouse in Carrizozo.

The purpose of the meeting was to adopt recommendations for farm and range conservation practices to be included in the national bulletin. New recommendations were made for changes in deferred grazing, steel storage tanks and stock trails.

The meeting was attended by Archie Perkins, chairman, and Committeemen Ernest McDaniel and Fred LaMay of the ASC; Dan Giles of the Carrizozo SCS; Clem Weindorf of the Upper Hondo SCS; Elmer Kuhn of the Macho SCS; Alton Corn, SCS supervisor; Adrian Hill, Forest Service supervisor and Herman McKibben, ASC office manager.

will greatly facilitate the development of its resources. A telephone line connecting White Oaks and Carrizozo Station is now being built.

No phenomenal boom was responsible for the building of White Oaks. No railroad has as yet given an impetus to its growth, and no town lot speculators have lured its attraction to lure thither the restless tide of humanity.

The fact that it is today a thriving town of about 1,000 contented people, a town of beautiful homes, numerous churches and excellent schools, is the result of the development of natural resources of the place, and by virtue of its diverse and rich resources it is destined in the not distant future to become a city of several thousand people.

Immediately surrounding the town in connection with the gold mines, employing large numbers of men and regularly producing rich returns to the owners as well as to the community, there are great beds of fine coal; iron in unlimited quantities; fine timber; different varieties of the most beautiful building stone, and abundant and nutritious grass on which thousands of cattle and sheep feed the year around.

Add to these an inexhaustible supply of pure mountain water from living springs which may easily be piped down to the town; a climate unsurpassed, and an enterprising people, and there seems no condition lacking which contributes to the building of a popular and prosperous community. THE END

TOM BOLACK

Fish and Game Case Continued to April

A Department of Fish and Game case has been continued to April 10 at the request of the attorneys for the defense, Asst. Atty General Santiago E. Campos and Theo. E. Jones of Albuquerque.

The case is a resumption of court action which commenced with the arrest of three men in 1934 for alleged violation of the State game laws.

The plaintiffs, Malcolm L. Simpson, Mike Anaya and Earl H. Briley, in separate actions, ask $25,550 in damages from each of three defendants, Jas. T. Clayton, J. S. Shaul and Willis Lovelock.

One complaint alleges that "said defendants, while acting in their respective official capacities did unlawfully, forcibly and against the will of the plaintiff, arrest and imprison the plaintiff in the county jail for a period of time."

G. T. Watts is attorney for the plaintiffs. Presiding in District Court on Wednesday, March 27, was Judge Allan D. Walker in the case Smith and Carroll vs. Walker, in re adoption.

Range Cow Causes Highway Accidents

A range cow that strayed onto Highway 350, eight miles west of Carrizozo, was the cause of two separate car accidents last week. The highway is unfenced at that point.

None of the car occupants were seriously injured, but one car was a total wreck, another was damaged in the amount of $150 and the cow was killed.

Virgil A. Sellers of Red Canyon Range Camp driving west, first struck the cow at the crest of a hill. He lost control of his car, which overturned and spilled its four occupants.

The cow, dazed and confused, got up and strayed back into the lane of traffic.

Another oncoming car, driven by Maj. Clarence Fisher of Elizabethtown, N. C., attempted to miss the cow, but failed and after striking the animal, skidded off the side of the pavement. This time the cow did not get up.

Boy Scout Troop 55 May Join Legion in Memorial Services

Advisory Committee of troop 55, Boy Scouts of America, met Thursday evening at the residence of Rev. Charles Conder. Present were Rev. Conder, Jack Shaw, Ted Cummins, R. Calhoun, Warren Gaston, Stanley Good and Dan Kuslanovich.

Mr. Gaston suggested, and all unanimously agreed, to have the Boy Scouts participate with the American Legion in a brief ceremony in the Memorial Day services in Captain city square.

Mr. Kuslanovich suggested that the Legion and Boy Scouts also hold a brief ceremony at the 1,500 graves of seamen (and one woman) of the U. S. Merchant Marine, the Coast Guard, Army and Navy Transport Service who rest eternally in the Fort Stanton cemetery.

Many hundreds of these men were veterans of the Spanish-American and the First and Second World Wars who should never be forgotten. Mr. Gaston will take the matter up at the next Legion meeting.

Their vehicle, a '49 Mercury convertible backed into a car owned by Emmett "Cap" Anderson. Upon examining the men's driver's license, Officer Clayton found they were overdue at the naval base.

Officer Clayton issued six citations last week for speeding and passing on yellow lines. He states that traffic enforcement officers have been given orders to give motorists "very little tolerance" should they exceed the new daytime speed limit of 70 miles per hour.

Carrizozo Street Divided for Traffic

A special concrete crew from the State Highway Department was in Carrizozo the first part of this week, installing traffic dividers on Highway 54 at the intersection of E Avenue.

Nick Palermo, foreman of the curb laying and finishing machine, informed the News that the purpose of the work is to separate traffic at this intersection.

Two traffic islands were also placed on E Avenue at the Phillips station to separate southbound and eastbound traffic.

The new Kohler cement machine lays and finishes four feet of curbing a minute. The crew consists of John Salas, Bob Thompson and C. T. Good.

Mayor Wayne C. Withers stated that the town council had requested the State Highway Department come time ago to install a caution light at this intersection, but that he had no knowledge of the traffic separation project.

Nat'l Magazine Tells Camp Meeting Story

"Religion Hits the Road" is the title of an article in the March 28 issue of the Saturday Evening Post. The author is Paul Schubert, who attended camp meetings in several states of New Mexico he writes:

"In 1940, the Rev. Ralph Hall and the Rev. Roger Sherman, Presbyterian missionaries, decided to try a camp meeting for New Mexico ranchers and their families.

"With the help of lay sympathizers Forrest Sherman and Joe Evans they picked a spot on New Mexico's remote Nogal Mesa and invited people to come.

"Expecting fifty or sixty, they drew 125 the first night and 500 before the meeting was over.

"This New Mexico movement, sponsored by the Board of National Missions of the Presbyterian Church, USA, has since spread to six other Western states. Seventeen summers old, the ranchers' camp meetings draw a total of 15,000 men, women and children."

Golden State trains were held at Tucumcari and El Paso and at Liberal and Hutchinson, Kansas.

Service east for one day was routed through Amarillo.

Cub Scouts Report Game Violation

How a group of Capitán Cub Scouts detected and reported a game violation was reported this week by M. F. Embrey, district conservation officer.

On the evening of March 28 a group of Cub Scouts playing "catch" in an alley, while en route home from a Scout meeting, chased their ball near a garage door behind a Capitán bar.

As one of the boys picked up the ball, he looked through the open door of the garage and saw a deer carcass hanging from a rafter.

He called to the rest of the group, two of whom were sons of Mr. Embrey.

He states that the boys immediately reported to him the violation of the game laws, which led to the arrest and conviction of the operator of the bar; also that as a reward for their "good deed for the day," a $25 witness fee was collected from the defendant by Justice of the Peace John Mackey of Carrizozo.

The $25 will go into the fund for Don L. Pack 7, of the Cub Scouts of Capitán.

several nights of low temperatures. The apples and cherries were not believed to have been damaged as they are still in the bud.

Old Timer Recalls When Bonita City Was Up 'n Comin'

Arvel and Louise Runnels, who live at New Bonita City, a few weeks ago offered a $10 prize for the best account of the history of Old Bonita City. This week they received the following from an anonymous source. While it may not win the prize because the author is unknown, the Runnels agreed that it is a mighty fancy piece of writin'!

Not bein as young as I useter, I hev asked my old partner, E. V. Drawers, to be kind enuf to typewrite this story fer me, and you kin rede what I hev to say with less speculatin.

It wuz, as I recollect, about 1863 that Paw and Maw hitched of Jack and Maud to th wagon, piled in us kids and Tige, the chickens, the thunderbug, two bottles of surestopper for summer complaint, a half barrel of kraut, sum beans and sum salt-side, tied old Sookie on behind and hailed for the Bonita country. Maw's cuzin hed cum out the year afore and hed writ about the crops and purty country. Old Cuz sed that year he hed raised unuf corn so that even after hed put up his year's supply of squeezins they wuz still corn to feed the hawg and make commeal. Now this recly had the appeal fer Paw; he wuz hevvin to abner up occasionally on account of his corn shbrtage.

We hit in their around Angus about the first day of July and that ol crick looked purty cool and invitin. Tige jumped in right off and drowned about 200 of them genuvino Texas fleec. I forgot to menshun comin from Texas; but then there ain't no tother place to cum from. After a good supper of salt-side, bistits and hick, the world looked mighty rosy.

The next mornin we pulled on up the crick toward Bonita City, passed old Granpa Arvel Runnel's place, they called him the Game Warden's friend and protector, and into that roaring Bonita City. Putnear everybody lived rite close as they wuz a nation there. The Mayberry family, the Horacebocks family, they wuz wuz down there; Cowi Tripes outfit, a good son of a gun; the widder Jones, Granpa Dragg's family, and Skinnars, and Skinnars and Zumawals and Zungawals. A purty fair bunch to ride the river with.

Of course Paw looked up ol Cuz, he lived on up the crick, and after a snort of squeezins, Paw and Cuz felt rich enuf to stak a claim or two. It took putnear a jug fer each claim though, but then each one got 'a lookin more like the mother lode and after about the third jug, Paw and Cuz hed to give up stakin fer the day. And th next mornin upon a closer inspection they discovered they had jumped two claims of Tom Bridlewie, who wuz a kettle touchy. Not wantin to offend Tom, they pulled stakes and decided to locate there claims over on Kraut Gulch; the gold was kinder scarce in Kraut but th claims wuz a lot closer to th still.

Maw got a job talkin in washin 'rom the miners and it warnt 'ong til us kids quit hitchin our belts, gettin the wrinkles out of our bellies. We even got sum shoes; of course we hed to put gravel inside them fer awhile until we got uster to wearin th jurned things. It shore wuz a real place to live, we all growed fast and time flied by. Sis got big enuf to hev a beau and one day he turned into her husband. Me and brother never gived a hang fer gurls, so we took turns holdin the new pefferer at school. But them days to gone forewer and the old Bonita is turned into a refuge fer Texans. They cum all the way up here to brag about Texas. I bigger they ought to be a immigration law passed on em, and say we set a quota of one texan fer ever light year and if they gets to be too burdensome cut the one out. And in they get up here and say sech a nasty word as Foart Worth or Houston, cancel ther visa. Jest give me the old natives, I luv every one of them.

AND when the wind whistles down thru them old pines late at nite it whispurs a story of a young valley filled with people lookin fer the yaller gold, these faces filled with happiness; it never tells about forgotten claims and broken dreams, and pocketbooks—its a heap better that way.

MARRIAGE LICENSE

Later Than You Think For Polio Vaccination

There are 50 million people under 40 who still are unarmcd against the polio epidemic season this year.

They have not begun the series of Salk vaccine shots. It is later than they think.

The polio season gets under way in April and May. In field studies the vaccine has been known to prevent at least three-fourths of the paralytic polio cases. Dr. Salk's latest findings indicate that when three doses of potent vaccine are properly spaced, they may be well beyond 90% effective. Three shots are always better than one or two.

Parents who want the protection of Salk vaccine this summer should waste no time in building up immunity. They still cannot get all three shots for their children, or themselves, before the peak of the epidemic season, but they can get two, enough to set up the fighting forces against this feared and crippling disease before it begins to take its annual toll.

Who gives, the shots does not matter so long as it is a reputable physician.

But the parents should know. And they do not have much time to think it over. — Albuquerque Tribune

The Humor of Bill Nye

The humor of Bill Nye (1850-1896) was recalled in a recent issue of the Powell (Wyo.) Tribune, which reprinted a discourse on the hazards of agriculture in Wyoming in the early days. The writer was Bill Nye, whose humor enlivened the newspaper Laramie Boomerang in the early 1880's. It follows:

It has snowed a good deal during the week, and it is discouraging to the planters of cotton and tobacco very much. I am positive that a much smaller area of both these staples will be planted in Wyoming this year than ever before. Unless the yield this fall of moss agates and prickly pears should be unusually large, the agricultural export will be very far below preceding years, and there may be actual suffering.

I do not wish to discourage those who might wish to come to this place for the purpose of engaging in agriculture, but frankly I will state that it has its drawbacks.

In the first place, the soil is quite coarse, and the farmer, before he can even begin with any prospect of success, must run his farm through a stamp-mill in order to make it sufficiently mellow. This, as the reader will see, involves a large expense at the very outset. Hauling the farm to a custom mill would require a large outlay for teams, and would delay the farmer two or three hundred years in getting in his crops, thus giving the farmer who had a pulverized farm in Nebraska, Colorado or Utah, a great advantage over his own, which had not yet been to the reduction works.

We have, it is true, a large area of farming lands now lying on the mining dumps, but they must first be crushed and then treated for alkali, in which mineral our Wyoming farms are very rich.

Then, again, the climate is erratic, eccentric and peculiar. The altitude is between 7,000 and 8,000 feet above the water mark, so that during the winter it does not snow much, we being above snow line, but in the summer the snow clouds rise above us, and thus the surprised and indignant farmer is caught in the middle of a July day with a terrific fall of snow, so that he is virtually compelled to wear his snow shoes all through his haying season.

Again the early frosts make close connections with the late spring blizzards, so that there is only time for a hurried lunch between.

The Indians of eastern New Mexico developed an efficient but dangerous method of buffalo hunting before the introduction of the rifle. Dressed in wolf skins, a hunter would creep into the center of a herd and kill two or three buffalo with a lance before the rest stampeded.

Desert Dan

See where th' ladies kin go right on pastin' green stamps in their little books. I'm in favor o' anythin' that'll entertain th' ladies an' maybe help th' store man, too. He's sure got his problems nowadays, tryin' t' stock an' sell all th' merchandise that's put out, includin' fancy frozen foods. Time wuz when th' main items in a grocery store wuz beans, flour, sugar, cut plug, molasses an' gingersnaps.

Carrizozo School Board Receives Four Resignations

The Carrizozo School Board held its regular monthly meeting last Thursday night, March 21. R. A. Crider, elementary principal; Spence Devitt, Junior High School principal, and J. Wendell Watson, High School principal, met with the board to report on their respective school and to advise the board on future action.

Resignations were submitted by Mr. Watson, Clyde Shultz, John Volgt, and Mrs. Anna Bohn Thomas.

Mr. Watson explained that he wished to return to Texas and to be more advantageously located for the higher education of his children.

Mr. Shultz, high school mathematics teacher for the past twelve years, is eligible for retirement and wishes to devote his full time to the Methodist ministry.

Mr. Volgt, high school English and Journalism teacher and varsity basketball coach, wishes to secure a teaching position in a larger school.

Mrs. Thomas simply wishes to join her husband in Texas. The board expressed regret for each and every resignation but acceded to their wishes.

Dr. Robert Sherman, head of the Carrizozo music department, met with the board to discuss a plan developed by him for teaching music in the elementary schools. This plan is to be presented and explained to the elementary teachers at the New Mexico Education Association meeting at Hondo on April 2.

Mr. Firman reported on the changes in the distribution of the equalization fund effected during the recent session of the legislature. The schools of Lincoln County appear to have gained substantially by this measure.

The board plans to meet again on April 4.

EXECUTIVE DOUBLE TAKE!

We took a "double exposure" of our subject to illustrate a noteworthy fact: The number of women who reach executive status in banks is almost double the number who do so in the general labor force. Banks are in the forefront of those that recognize the importance of women as key employees — and as customers. Americans, male and female alike, in the banking business are ready and eager to serve the financial needs of American women in all businesses, including that of homemaking.

OUR BANK IS EVERYBODY'S BANK. WHY NOT MAKE IT YOUR "FINANCIAL HEADQUARTERS"?

Chevy is America's "hot" car —officially!

Chevrolet Wins coveted Manufacturers' Trophy at Daytona Beach as "best performing U. S. automobile"!

Want facts about performance? Then look at the official figures from NASCAR's* internationally famous Daytona Beach competition for stock cars. Here's what you'll find: Chevrolet, in two weeks of blistering competition, proved itself as America's Number One performance car. Nothing in the low-price field could touch it.

No other car, regardless of price, scored such a sweep. And Chevy walked away with the famous Manufacturers' Trophy, hands down!

The 1937 Chevrolet is, by all odds, the most astonishing performer ever produced in the low-price field. Best of all, this superiority isn't limited to just a few extra-cost high-performance models. Every type of Chevy — from the six-cylinder models right up to the 283-horsepower "Super Turbo-Fire" V8's, from the single-carburetor V8's with Powerglide to the stick-shift "270's" — is a championship car.

THE ARBUCKLE COFFEE SIGNATURES

Late in the 1890's families in southwestern New Mexico were saving Arbuckle Brothers' signatures on coffee packages as eagerly as women today are filling books with trading stamps. With a certain number of signatures a person could, for example, get as a premium a watch, a belt, belt buckle, handkerchiefs or a pocketknife.

Claude C. Fuller of Lordsburg told this story of the theft of signatures from his parents' home and how suspicion fastened on a neighborhood boy, 12 or 13 years old.

One day about 1898, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Fuller and their children returned to their ranch home on the Gila River below Red Rock and found that in their absence someone had walked into the house — doors were customarily left unlocked — poured several pounds of coffee into a dishpan and clipped the signatures from the sacks.

Other farmers and ranchers along the Gila in that area also had misused tobacco and signatures occasionally.

H. A. Fuller had a hired man, Joe Smith of Brooklyn. Some time after the theft of the signatures while the Fuller family was away and Smith was alone in the house, he saw the boy approaching. Joe locked the doors and sat down in a dim corner of the room to see what would happen.

The boy tried the doors and to his surprise found them locked. Then Joe saw a window slowly rising in the room in which he was sitting. The lad was halfway through the opened window before he saw Smith. Instead of beating it, the boy said casually:

"Hello, Joe, I thought I'd just stop and see how you folks were."

"Fine," Joe replied, "but that's a hell of a way to come in."

The boy crawled through the window, and he and Smith sat there and talked for a while. The subject of signatures wasn't mentioned.

Joe Smith became a hired hand on the Fuller ranch under odd circumstances. Smith had been employed by the New York World. He and his sister had saved their money and gone on a western tour. They went broke in San Francisco. Fuller could not recall how Smith's sister returned to New York, but Joe started "tubing" his way back. He stopped in Lordsburg and there, by chance, met H. A. Fuller. He told Fuller his hard luck, and greenhorn though Smith was, the rancher hired him.

Joe had always lived in the big city. The first time he tried to harness a horse he put the collar on upside down and it had a sort of bow-tie effect. But Smith learned fast and he became a good hand on the ranch. He worked for Fuller two years, and after accumulating enough money to go home, he left in 1899.

Smith was especially fond of Claude Fuller's oldest brother, Henry. Fifteen years after Smith left the Fuller ranch, he wrote a letter to Henry, which was forwarded to the latter. Henry answered the letter but he never heard from Smith again. What became of the Brooklyn man who made a good ranch hand, no one ever knew.

BURIAL ON THE SANTA FE TRAIL

It was midsummer of 1853, and the New Mexico-bound wagon train of Don Trinidad Romero of Las Vegas, grandfather of Paul Taylor of Mesilla, had reached the halfway point between Kansas City and Las Vegas on the Santa Fe Trail. Also with the wagon train was Don Trinidad's brother, Don Eugenio Romero of Las Vegas, grandfather of Mrs. Tom Raploch of Las Cruces.

The Romero brothers operated wagon trains over the trail, hauling merchandise to sell to colonists in the territory. They also had a store in Las Vegas and extensive sheep ranching interests.

Traveling with the train was Don Manuel Delgado, 62 years old, of Santa Fe, the Romero brothers' grandfather, and the great-great-grandfather of Mrs. Napkoeh and Taylor. Relatives sometimes went with the wagon trains as an excursion. The story of Don Miguel's death and burial on the trail, how his body was preserved, and the thousand-mile journey to return the body to New Mexico has been told in the family for a hundred years.

Midway on the trail Don Manuel contracted cholera and died. It was impossible to bring back the body because of the summer heat. He was carefully wrapped in burlap. Then, as an innovation of the moment, the burlap was saturated with brandy in the hope it would preserve the body, for the brothers planned a journey back in the winter to return their grandfather to Santa Fe for burial.

Don Manuel was buried near the trail in plains country, and all signs of the grave were obliterated so that Indians would not discover the body.

Among those in the wagon train was Don Manuel's bonded Indian servant, whose family name was Leyba. With the Indian gift for establishing a location, Leyba fixed in his mind Don Manuel's burial site in the plains country, where no tree grew or rock stood to guide him back to the grave. After the

The Walter Schneiders were in Denver this week on business.

The L. J. Adams of El Paso were here last week end and enjoyed the snowstorm very much.

Thursday the Alvis family were in Roswell for the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Davis of Lubbock were recent visitors at the Walter Schneiders.

Lineal White was in Las Cruces Tuesday of last week.

Mrs. Leslie Bennett of Carlsbad spent last week end with the J. D. Hightowers.

While Mr. and Mrs. Donald Beeman and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Freeman of Lovington were in Lordsburg last week they drove over to Alto and went up to Montjeu.

Mrs. A. N. Runnels, Mrs. Tommy LaMay and Mrs. Arvel Runnels of Bonito City were by on Tuesday.

The Donald Andersons of Roswell were up the past week end enjoying a stay in their home on the High Mesa.

The wagon train continued toward Las Vegas.

When winter set in, Don Trinidad, with Leyba and others, began the thousand-mile journey to find the grave. Uncerilingly, Leyba guided the party to the unmarked site. The body was removed from the undisturbed grave and was found to be in a remarkable good state of preservation due to the brandy-saturated burlap. Don Manuel was brought back to Santa Fe and buried there.

THE SHIVAREE FOR JOHN WESLEY HARDIN

D. T. Corder of Las Cruces recalls the time that he and about a dozen other boys shivareed John Wesley Hardin, Texas outlaw, on his wedding night in Junction City, Texas. Corder's account follows:

About 1876, Hardin married a girl by the name of Lewis in London, Texas, some 23 miles from Junction City. Her father, Bill Lewis, ran the livery stable in London.

After the wedding, Hardin and his bride came to Junction City to spend the night in the Nordan Hotel. The hotel had a second-story porch across the front.

The other boys and myself collected a lot of tin pans and cowbells, and proceeded to form a little circle around the corner of the building under Hardin's window. We had been making as much racket as we could for five or ten minutes when Hardin stepped out the door of his room on to the porch. I well remember how he looked. He was wearing a long white nightgown, and he had a six-shooter in one hand and a bottle of whisky in the other.

He roared at us to get out and stay out, and at the same time threw his gun on us as if he were going to shoot. We believed he meant what he said and we dispersed in a hurry.

Burial Jars Designed for Spirit

At the Cameron Creek ruins, in southwestern New Mexico, archaeologists found a series of "burial jars" used by the Timbrenes Indians. These prehistoric people placed a large jar in the grave of the deceased and then drilled a hole through the base, so that the spirit of the jar would escape with the soul of the dead.

The trouble is that most of us know hundreds of ways to spend money and only one way to make it.—Changing Times.

NOthing CHEAP AT THE CAPITOL

Santa Fe, March 27—An item in the press the other day shocked Mr. John G. Gitzler with the news that the state is spending $15,000 a day for operation of automobiles and paying the expenses of those who ride in them.

Here are some other shockers: The state has $1,000 a day telephone costs.

Small town printers don't know it, but printing and reproduction costs $2000 a day.

The state is paying $9000 a day for the new and increased retirement programs for state workers and public school teachers.

DEMOS SIT ON HANDS IN MONTOYA CAMPAIGN

The lack of activity by state Democratic figures in Lt. Gov. Joe Montoya's run for Congress has become so conspicuous that sideline observers are wondering if they want one of their party in the job, or if they are so confident that they think there is no cause for activity.

If any of the statehouse Democratic officers or the Washington group has turned a hand for Joe it hasn't been apparent.

Murray Morgan's state land office crew, the strongest Democratic campaign group in the statehouse which was so active in behalf of Melvin Tays for the nomination before the February convention, is attending strictly to land office business. Johnny Walker, the retired land commissioner, and still a strong leader in the party, is working at half a dozen business enterprises with no time for politics.

The big Democratic corporation commission staff which has recently been an effective political force in behalf of Commissioners Ingram Pickett and Johnny Block, is staying out of this one, with Pickett a forthright critic of the Montoya campaign.

It's the same way in the office of Treasurer Joe Grant, an old political pro from Rio Arriba; Secretary of State Natalie Buck has been swamped with the legislature clean-up and School Superintendent Georgia Lusk, boss of the big education department staff, has shown no taste for 1957 politics. Attorney Gen. Fred Standley has been trying to help out but hasn't had much time.

DPMS LEGISLATORS SHOW LITTLE INTEREST

The indolence extends to cast-aside legislative leaders, the same bunch that campaigned so energetically in 1955 in behalf of some constitutional amendments.

In Washington Sen. Dennis Chavez is in his familiar role of not being quite in favor of the candidate. Sen. Clint Anderson and Rep. John J. Dempsey have limited themselves to a few remarks about loyalty to the party candidate and criticism of his opponent, Tom Eckel.

The major work being done for Joe is that of State Demo Chairman Ernie Tubker and a group of organized labor leaders.

The situation puts a heavy load on the candidate himself, but not necessarily a fatal one. Little Joe has carried heavy handicaps before and came in way ahead.

POLITICAL BACKFIRE

Springer Republicans who were so bitterly critical of the recent administration of the state boys' corrective school because it would not hire local people for many of the better paying jobs, have received an answer of a kind. The new management recently engaged a long-time, widely-known resident of Springer for one of the better posts—Joe Galloway, prominent figure in Democratic state politics. . . . Statehouse Republicans, expressing regret and thanks for past services, dismissed Arthur Hubbard, popular member of the Navajo tribe who has been serving as state liquor inspector in Gallup, to make room for Republican Joe Merrill who had been promised the place during the campaign. Now it develops that Merrill can't take the place because of his health. . . . A group of State University journalism students are going to throw the harpoons at the state press convention in Santa Fe in June. They're working up a skit kidding their elders that promises to be something special.

Lincoln County News

News Notes From Along the Bonito

By LOUISE RUNNELS

Many Young People Enjoy Teenage Party

Mr. and Mrs. John LaMay, Dale and Kenneth gave a teenage party Saturday night, Mar. 17, at Bonito. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. O'Rear, Belle and Tommy, Donny Rickerson and Opal McBrayer from Carrizozo; Leo Robinson, Barbara Robinson, Julie Robinson, Lewis Holland and Judy Stearns from Nogal; Mr. and Mrs. Jih Bonnell, Steve and Carol from the Capitan Mountains; Mrs. Collins Walker, Jeanie and friend from Hobbs; Sheran and Kent Hayes, and Billy and Ruth Payne from Angus; Vic Keeth, Anson, Laura Lee, and Ruby, George and Beulah Runkle from Roswell, and the Arvel Runnels.

Tommy LaMay and brother are doing bull dozing work at Belen for a couple of weeks or more building tanks. They say the dust and wind are awful up there.

Willie Morris and Jessie Morgan from Capitan were on the Bonito Thursday and had lunch with Lula Runnels. Jessie renewed her subscription to the Lincoln County News with me.

Frank English is having a well drilled on his place on the Bonito. Work has been delayed on account of bad weather.

Hugh and Mina Truett will spend the summer with Mr. English here in his summer home. Nina and Hugh have lived in T or C for several years. It will be fine to have the Truetts back in the neighborhood again for awhile.

Fred V. Sweet Sr. has been around the country lately getting advertisements for the Disabled American Veterans paper.

The young folks from our community who went to the Southwest District Music Festival in Las Cruces on March 23 were Laura Lee and Ruth Keeth; Judy, Kenneth and Dale LaMay; Wilma June Young and Wilson Purcella. Mr. and Mrs. LaMoyné Peters drove their daughter Glenda to the music festival.

Ira and Jill Young are completing this week a glassed-in sun porch for Grace Jones and Elena Sales. Now these girls can really enjoy painting pictures.

The Youngs in their spare time are adding a porch to their attractive home on the Bonito.

The Barney Hayes were happy to have their daughter, her husband and baby, Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Millsap and Mr. Hayes' brother, Johnnie, his wife and son for the week end—all from Lovington.

Charles and Eula Corder are busy putting a fence around their place. They are going to try dwarf fruit trees.

Over the week end the Paul Luttrells from Hobbs visited the Corders.

Jake Harris and Arvel Runnels are in Arizona on business. Moisture on the Bonito was about an inch this last spell.

PLEASANT VISITING; RENEWING FRIENDSHIPS

This searching for subscriptions and renewals to the Lincoln County News is just like I thought it would be; lots of pleasant visiting and friendship renewals.

One visit I've wanted to make for a long time was in Mrs. Herbert Lee Traylor's kindergarten room—and home in Ruidoso. Alice has sixteen little fellows a few hours each day. Her class room has a cozy atmosphere and she has plenty of space outside for the children to play. Their youngest child, "Hub", age 4, is a lucky little boy. He has playmates everyday and is learning right along with the five year olds.

Joe D. Rogers, employed with the Fish and Wild Life Service, will be a Capitan resident next week. He will live in Bert Cheney's apartment. We'll miss Joe being around occasionally. He makes friends wherever he's stationed.

If Arvel ever finds uranium and Wynnema Tully has the time I'd sure like to have her do some planning and interior decorating for me. She and Gerald (her strong arm helper) have made Mrs. Tully's home at Glencoe over in colors and changes that will please Mrs. Tully when she comes home from her visit in El Paso and Alamogordo with relatives.

Buddy Morris and Wilson Purcella were at Peacho last week end helping shear sheep. Les Greer writes from El Paso that the doctors told him when he went in for a check-up recently to do light work and less exercise, but said that wasn't bad 'cause he'd been doing that for 15 years. He thinks they are trying to make a house pet out of him.

I visited in Ruidoso Grade School a few minutes the other day. I found Mrs. Creel busy fixing attractive trays to serve hamburgers to the children that day. The lunchroom is wonderful. I spent a few minutes in Lindy Samelton's room. She's a jolly teacher. Was glad to see Fronie Ramey too; her reputation as a good teacher dates several years back. At Green Tree I found some generous subscribers to the Lincoln County News. Some said, "I couldn't do without that paper!" Louise Ferguson was busy with her teaching at Hondo in a pretty room full of boys and girls. Hondo's superintendent, Fernin Montes, had time for a little chat about the days when we went to school together at the old Hondo High School. We agreed the place held sentimental memories for many of us old timers.

On down the highway, my mother-in-law, Mrs. Lula Runnels, Ann Mae LaMay, and her two little girls, and our Marylou and I stopped to see Mora Titzworth at Tinnie. Looking at her pitcher collection and visiting with her was a real pleasure. Mora told us Billy Berguson, her father, was in Roswell with Joe and Bessie Evans.

UNCLE BILL COPELAND DROVE THE SCHOOL BUS

Aunt Molly and Uncle Bill Copeland of Green Tree could tell a mighty interesting story of their lives in Lincoln County. The way I remember them they aren't old either. Some 25 years ago they lived at Alto, and Uncle Bill drove the high school bus to Capitan. There was a grade school at Alto then.

My brother Joe Coe, stayed with Uncle Bill and Aunt Molly one year and went to school at Capitan. The next year I stayed with them and rode the bus with the two Luck girls, Hazel and Gracie, Elmo and Earl Traylor, Nellie Hightower, June and Budge Hagee, also Jinnell Shook, Alice Hubbard, Lee Robinson Jr., "Jake" Harris, Arvel Runnels, and Opal and Virgil Jones. Uncle Bill was always pleasant, and of course, during the winter months when snow was belly deep to a big horse on three mile hill out of Capitan or on Angus hill on Highway 37. When Uncle Bill could make the ole bus go no further we'd all pile out and push on two or three well known curves. I don't remember Hazel Luck pushin' much as she liked to fling snowballs. Sometimes when we'd get stuck we'd "storm" Mr. and Mrs. Lee Robinson for shelter where we were given something to eat and a big welcome to stay all night, if we couldn't get home. Always in rain or shine, tho, Aunt Molly would be home, with good victuals cooked.

Aunt Molly and Uncle Bill taught us kids how to polka, twostep, schottisch and put your little foot to, a winder-up phonograph.

It was fun to go to Barney Luck's house at night and telephone Hightowers so we could listen to their radio. Ben Shook had the first radio I ever heard; you had to listen with ear receivers.

TWO CAN'T LIVE AS CHEAPLY AS ONE

Even though it ruins a good story, the fact remains — "Two can't live as cheaply as one." It costs at least twice as much, says the United States Department of Agriculture.

The single person living alone uses $13.17 worth of food in a week, while two people use an average of $23.56 worth. These figures are for people living in cities and towns. The family of three spends an average of $31.73 on food each week. For four persons the bill goes up to $37.49. And for families of seven or more, the weekly food bill runs at an average of $45.14.

There is no better exercise for the heart than reaching down and lifting somebody up.

Farm and Ranch

By RALPH DUNLAP County Extension Agent

New Land Acquired For A&M Substation

Middle Rio Grande Valley farmers are working closely with New Mexico A&M College to expand service in that area by research on 210 newly acquired acres south of Los Lunas, Dr. Roger B. Corbett, A&M president, said today.

members, A&M's board of regents, who approved acceptance of the land grant, is comprised of Jesse U. Richardson, president, Las Cruces; Delmar Roberts, Berino; Mrs. Earl Corn, Dexter, George Ellis, Bell Ranch; and Horace Hubert, Carlsbad.

Dry Edible Beans Supports Announced

The U. S. Department of Agriculture announces that the national average support price for 1957-crop dry edible beans will be $6.31 per hundred pounds.

Price support for 1956-crop dry edible beans also was at a national average price of $6.31 per hundred pounds, which was 70% of the February 15, 1956 parity price for beans.

Seedling Tree Orders Coming in Rapidly

Orders for farm forest tree seedlings from New Mexico and Colorado are getting a fast pace. The Colorado A&M College at Fort Collins serves as the distribution point for both Colorado and New Mexico.

Orders received to date total 82,000 seedlings, and supplies of some species are getting short. Fastest sellers are Rocky Mountain red cedar and Colorado Blue Spruce.

Once the supply of certain species is exhausted, there is no assurance that an additional supply can be obtained. Tree planting provisions of the Soil Bank created a sharp demand for trees. As a result, there is a nation-wide scarcity of many species.

Some farmers and ranchers will not be able to plant their trees this year because their seedbeds haven't been prepared. In these cases, summer following the land and preparing the seedbed for a planting next year is suggested. However, the land can still be placed in the Soil Bank's conservation reserve.

MOVEMENT OF CATTLE FROM IMMEDIATE SLAUGHTER and MOVEMENT OF CATTLE TO PUBLIC STOCKYARDS. Includes official certificates and conditions for movement.

A&M Offers List of Free Publications

New Mexico A&M College has available more than 360 free publications on farming, ranching, and homemaking. The list of publications includes technical bulletins, and research reports of the Agricultural Experiment Station as well as the popular how-to-do-it Extension circulars.

Rare Hand-made Book Given A&M Library

State College, N. M.—A rare book created by modern craftsmen to recapture the 14th and 15th century fine art of hand bookbinding has been presented to the New Mexico A&M College library.

Given by R. E. McKee, El Paso contractor, the book is written, printed, bound, and published by its co-authors. It is the first book published in the Americas to be embossed throughout.

"There was many a headache and one heartache in the work," says Cleofas Calleros, El Paso historian who suffered a heart attack in the course of work on the volume. He is co-author and co-publisher of the work together with Dr. Angel Alcazar de Velasco of Madrid, Spain.

Calleros conceived his idea for the volume in 1918 when he saw rare, handmade books in the Escorial, Madrid's unique center. When he met Alcazar de Velasco the two joined enthusiasm and creative skills to produce the book in the fine old manner common in this day of high speed presses.

Calleros and Alcazar de Velasco threw out modern book-making techniques. Then they ordered type to be cut in Monterrey, Mexico, in 17th century Gothic after a face used by the Spanish historian Torquemada.

Located a workman Chandler job press and set up a plant in Cd. Juarez, Mexico, under the name of Typografica Internacional.

Designed different borders for each of the book's 200 pages and borders to be embossed in four and five colors on chapter title pages. Had an ink compounded to workers ranging in jobs from upstairs maids to chauffeurs.

From 1950-1957 it was 2%. The IRS director explained wages include payments in cash or by check or money order. Not included for household workers is the value of food, lodging or clothing.

The tax is paid to the IRS district director on a simple form, 942, available at IRS Form 942, showing name, social security number, wages paid and tax withheld from each household employee, should be completed and returned to Revenue within one month after the end of the calendar quarter — that is, by April 30 for the January-March quarter.

Here are two typical questions and their answers most often heard at the Roswell social security district office.

An Employer says: "I have just received a copy of the Household Employer's Social Security Tax Guide. On the inside of the back cover are copies of receipts I'm instructed to give my household employee. There's a blank in which I'm asked to fill in the amount of the social security tax I withhold from my employee's cash wages. Now, I pay the entire amount of the social security tax — my share and my employee's share. What do I write in this space?"

Reply: "Write 'None.'" While household employees, like employees in other kinds of work, are required by law to have their share of the social security taxes deducted from their wages, the law doesn't specify that you must withhold it. If you wish to assume the entire amount of the tax, that's your privilege.

A mother asks, "What about a baby-sitter's wages? I pay mine $15 a month. Do I have to report her wages for social security?"

Reply: "No, the wages you pay her aren't covered by social security unless they amount to $50 a calendar quarter."

Both government representatives pointed out that there are severe penalties provided by law for persons willfully ignoring the law, "just the same as for evaders of the income tax."

General Randolph McCall Pate is the 21st officer to head the U. S. Marine Corps.

Over 20 Present at Scout Troop Meeting

Troop 55 held its regular weekly meeting in the Seaman's Social Club Monday evening. More than 20 boys were present. Several passed various achievement tests. A special treat was chocolate cake and Cokes, celebrating John Kuslanovich's 14th birthday. It is planned to have more birthday parties at troop meetings.

Capitan Band Did Well At Las Cruces Festival

Several boys and girls went to Las Cruces last Saturday to participate in the regional music festival. The Capitan band did very well and Miss Guck was judged as one of the best soloists. She is not quite as good as Lawrence Welk on her accordion but she is much more charming.

A. J. Mahla left for Arizona, California and Washington. The first stop was at Arizona's Downs in Phoenix.

Sam Cox was called to Dallas to the bedside of his mother who is seriously ill. Also called to the bedside of her ill mother was Mrs. Frank Trujillo of Espanola but now a member of Fort Stanton nursing staff.

Walter Nowalk is sporting (not a new) but a newer Chevy. Miss Ilona LaNoir of the nursing staff was married to S/Sgt. Miller of WAFB.

Robert Trujillo is still under treatment at the Veterans Hospital in Albuquerque.

Grady Wallace is the new auto-mechanic and will make his home with his wife at the Fort.

The old Occupational Therapy is humming again with activity under the direction of Mrs. Bertha Gettelson, the first graduate occupational therapist in several years. Mrs. Gettelson has had many years of service with the Veterans Administration.

Kennecott Earned $13.23 Share in 1956

New York—Kennecott Copper Corporation reported consolidated net earnings for last year of $143,154,210, equal to $13.23 a share, this compares with $125,516,291 or $11.60 a share, in 1955, according to the annual report to stockholders issued last week by Charles R. Cox, president.

The increase in net income, the annual report disclosed, was due primarily to the higher average price received for copper in 1956.

Production of copper by Kennecott during 1956 amounted to 582,205 tons and sales amounted to 495,219 tons. In the first two months of 1957 sales were in excess of production.

Other production in 1956 included 16,269 tons of molybdenite, 403,381 ounces of gold, 3,213,559 ounces of silver and 148,455 pounds of selenium.

Newer metals, such as titanium, columbium and zirconium, are going to be in important demand, the report stated, and Kennecott is increasing its interest in their production.

Fiesta Visitors to See Ralph Edwards Show

Truth or Consequences—Visitors to the 1957 Fiesta, April 20-28 will get to see how Ralph Edwards stages "This is Your Life" (NBC, 8 p.m. Wednesday) when he produces a 30-minute show. A prominent New Mexico figure will appear on the program.

As on the regular TV program, the person whose life will be given will not know of it until he is on the stage. The person's complete life will be given on the show.

This event is scheduled for Saturday night, April 27. Other major phases of the Fiesta include an RCA-approved rodeo, produced by Albert Harris, a Saturday morning parade, a national beauty contest with the winner receiving an expense paid trip to Paris, France, which also includes her escort, national old fiddlers contest, radio broadcast over the combined facilities of a national (NBC) network, plus many other attractions. Prizes have been arranged for all contests.

Additional information may be obtained from Fiesta Committee, Truth or Consequences.

The Lush's wife trailed him to his favorite tavern. Standing at the bar next to him, she ordered a slug of bourbon. Tasting it, she made a wry face. Contempt covered her every feature. ## REPORT FROM WASHINGTON . . .

By Repr. J. J. Dempsey

Waste Charged in Military Land Use

"Incalculable wastefulness" in the use of public lands for military purposes is the charge made by the House Interior Committee, reporting favorably a bill that would require Congressional approval of any withdrawal of more than 5,000 acres for armed services use. This legislation which is greatly needed by New Mexico and other public lands states, where excessive public lands withdrawals have worked an economic hardship on the state and the people.

The Committee shows that the Air Force alone reported that it has 5,700,000 acres of lands it does not need. Investigation is being made of the unneeded excess held by the Army, which has recently taken over about 700,000 additional acres in southern New Mexico. The report showed also that defense agencies hold more than 300 million acres of land in the United States and Alaska and are seeking 8 million additional. In New Mexico alone the defense withdrawn acreage is more than 3 1/2 million acres. I believe that some of that land is in excess of the actual needs and that the Committee's subsequent investigations will show that to be true.

The Committee commends the Defense Department for its decision to acquire the use of air space over the Navajo reservation in Arizona for a "super range" for ballistic testing, in lieu of the original plan to acquire a 100-mile square area south of Albuquerque. The original plan would have resulted in a considerable economic setback for our state.

The report also takes cognizance of controversies between the states and the military authorities over control of hunting and fishing on withdrawn lands, like that which took place in Otero county last year. An improvement in the relationships is noted, but the report adds, "There remains some validity for the assertion that exclusive military hunting preserves still exist."

My bill H.R. 3365 to require conformances by the military authorities with State game and fish laws is before the House Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee and I am seeking early consideration. Its enactment would put an end to such controversies by giving control to the States, where it properly belongs, because all game and fish are the sole property of the people of the State.

SIMMS WAS PUSHED FOR SECOND TERM RUN

Close associates of John Simms have revealed that he was twice at the point of deciding against going for a second term for governor during his 1955-56 service.

The first, it was reported, was in February 1956, when he struggled with the decision on the execution of James Larry Upton. There had been strong presentations that the man was insane. The second instance, Simms friends said, was after the 1956 primary which he almost lost to Corporation Commissioner Seven-Foot Plekett. On both occasions, the informants said, Simms urged consideration of Rep. Jack Campbell of Roswell as his successor. His decisions to go for another term were urged upon him by friends and political advisors.

TOURING EDITOR

Ed Guthmann, the lucky publisher of the Springer Tribune and wife Louella, have been making the rest of us envious with cards telling about their long-leaving tour through Mexico. By this time they should be in the Pacific sun at Acapulco. One of their greatest finds so far was a town with narrow streets than those of Santa Fe—they think. It's Guanajuato. He said come were only eight or ten feet wide. Guess Ed hasn't seen all of Santa Fe's streets.

I find the great thing in this world is not so much where we stand, as in what direction we are moving.—Goethe

Search Is On for 'All-American' Family

Miami Beach, Fla., March 22—According to its population, New Mexico today had less entries in the first annual All-American Family Search than anticipated. Search committee directors here issued this statement on the search continued to attract thousands of families in the nation.

The Boys' Clubs of America and the Book of Knowledge are seeking the most representative family in America—a family to be chosen during the grand finale the week of May 23-June 3 in Miami Beach.

Some family in America—perhaps in this very community—may have overlooked the fact that it can easily qualify to become the All-American Family. And there's no reason why the ultimate choice couldn't be a family from this state. If this is to be accomplished, more entries from this state are essential now.

Entry-blanks are free and may be obtained by writing: National Headquarters, All-American Family Search, 337 Lincoln Road, Miami Beach, Florida.

Accent on the Traditional

Traditional design, as shown in this house from the pages of SMALL HOMES GUIDE magazine, is still much in demand. Architect Paul T. Haagen has planned an adequate two-bedroom home, then has given a high pitch to the gable roof, making possible two more bedrooms and a bath upstairs. A front porch can be added (shown on floor plan but not on elevation) to give extra light to the smaller upstairs bedroom if desired. The attached garage forms a sheltered play yard.

First floor area of this home is 1,200 sq. ft. Information on blueprints and their cost can be obtained by writing to the magazine, SMALL HOMES GUIDE, Dept. 1002, 611 N. Dearborn Street, Chicago 24, Ill.
