

Ramblin' Around Lincoln County

THE LAST ESCAPE OF BILLY THE KID

(The following story about Billy the Kid was related by G. Gauss. It was printed in the Lincoln County Leader March 1, 1890, and was submitted as Federal Writers Project historical material to the Museum of Santa Fe by Mrs. Edith L. Crawford. Permission to reprint the article has kindly been granted by the Museum.)

By G. GAUSS

Once upon a time, it was, if I mistake not, in the month of April 1880, or perhaps 1881, whilst Mr. Sam Wortley, the now possessor of a rich coal mine at Salcido, and myself, were raising a vegetable garden behind the court house at Lincoln, that Billy the Kid was brought back from Dona Ana County, where he was tried for murder and sentenced to be hanged in Lincoln.

About a week after the date I am writing about, he killed his two keepers and escaped. As the county had no jail then he was kept under guard in the upper story of the courthouse. Sam and myself lived in a house together, behind the court house.

That memorable day I came out of my room, whence I had gone to light my pipe, and was crossing the yard behind the court house when I heard a shot fired, a tussle upstairs in the court house, somebody hurrying downstairs, and Deputy Sheriff Bell emerging from the door running toward me. He ran right into my arms, expired the same moment, and I laid him down dead. That I was in a hurry to secure assistance, or perhaps to save myself, everybody will believe.

When I arrived at the garden gate leading to the street, in front of the court house, I saw the other deputy sheriff, Olinger, coming out of the hotel opposite, with four or five county prisoners where they had taken their dinner. I called to him to come quick. He did so, leaving his prisoners in front of the hotel. When he had come close up to me, and while standing not more than a yard apart, I told him that I was just after laying Bell dead on the ground in the yard behind, and before he could reply, he was struck by a well directed shot fired from a window above us, and fell dead at my feet.

I ran for my life to reach my room and safety, when Billy the Kid called to me: "Don't run. I wouldn't hurt you. I am alone, and master not only of the court house, but also of the town, for I will allow nobody to come near us."

"You go," he said, "and saddle one of Judge Leonard's horses and I will clear out as soon as I can have the shackles loosened from my legs."

With a little prospecting pick I had thrown to him through the window he was working for at least an hour, and could not accomplish more than to free one leg, and he came to the conclusion to await a better chance; the one shackle to his waist belt, and start.

Meanwhile I had saddled a small, skittish pony belonging to Billy Burt, as there was no other horse available, and had also, at Billy's command, tied a pair of red blankets behind the saddle.

I came near forgetting to say, that whilst I was busy saddling and Mr. Billy the Kid was trying hard to get his shackles off, my partner, Mr. Sam Wortley appeared in the door leading from the garden where he had been at work, into the yard, and that when he saw the two sheriffs lying dead he did not know whether to go in or retreat, but on the assurance of Billy the Kid that he would not hurt him he went in and made himself generally useful.

When Billy the Kid went downstairs at last, on passing the body of Bell, he said: "I'm sorry I had to kill him but I couldn't help it." On passing the body of Olinger he gave him a tip with his boot, saying: "You are not going to round me up again."

We went out together where I had tied up the pony, and he told me to tell the owner of same, Billy Burt, that he would send it back next day. For my part, didn't much believe in this promise, but sure enough, the pony arrived safe and sound, trailing a long lariat, at the court house in Lincoln.

In regard to the guilt or innocence of Billy the Kid, I will here state that Billy himself, in many conversations I had with him during the two or three years I was acquainted with him prior to his death, never denied that he was in the habit of stealing cattle from John Chisum, of Roswell, against whom he professed to have a claim for wages I believe which Chisum refused to pay, and hence he was determined to secure himself. He always said to me that he had never killed anybody, and would never do so except in self defense.

I do not recollect for what murder Billy the Kid was tried and sentenced to death, but let me tell your readers that the late Judge Leonard, who defended him at his trial in Dona Ana county, often told me that he was condemned by a prejudiced jury, solely because his name was Billy the Kid, under which many heinous crimes had been committed by Mexicans and outlaws from Texas and other states imported to this county, not by Billy the Kid, but by the principals of the then fighting two parties, which contest was called the Lincoln County War, and left innumerable graves all over the county.

Who will blame Billy the Kid for killing his two guards at the time of his escape from Lincoln, whilst he himself was to be hanged the week following? This is the only murder I know of Billy ever committing. I did not blame him then -- I don't blame him now. Life is sweet.

And Carrizozo Outlook

(Volume 42, Number 44, Carrizozo News, Volume 48)

CARRIZOZO, NEW MEXICO, FRIDAY, JUNE 28, 1957

(Outlook, Volume 50, No. 8)

Most Lines Are Laid For Sewer System

Carrizozo's new sewer system this week is within 5 1/2% of completion of the original planned construction, Sam Sampson, project engineer, announced this week.

The contractor anticipates at least three weeks of general cleanup of private properties and alleys and streets.

Sewer lines totaling 2900 feet remain to be laid out of approximately 10 miles, including lines at the sewage treatment plant.

Excavation for the main structure of the disposal plant is approximately 90% completed. Water was encountered at 20 feet below the surface, a small flow, at about 10 p.m. The foundation of the structure is 37 feet underground.

Materials for the plant are on hand and work will be speeded up as men and equipment are transferred from work on the sewer lines to the plant. Contract date for completion of the entire system is August 24.

There is no provision in the sewer construction contract for elimination of the old sewer pond. The town board will probably discuss at its next meeting measures for taking care of this unsanitary situation.

Requests for sewer outlets for future use have to date totaled 370 and will probably amount to 400 at completion of the project, Mr. Sampson states. A complete record and location of these sewer outlets will be available at the town hall upon completion of the as-built plans on file for the system.

The contractor encountered no unusual problems in construction, except for narrow alleys in places. A trencher had to be re-modeled, making it three feet narrower, in order to get past obstructions in some alleys.

There was close cooperation throughout between the contractor and the Tularosa Basin Gas Company, whose lines were replaced where bad pipe was encountered.

A special paving crew is at work repairing streets damaged by sewer construction. A gravel base course is being laid over the trenches, extending six inches beyond the excavated area. Hot mix will be placed at highway intersections and elsewhere a mixture of asphalt and gravel. All damaged areas in these streets will be repaired.

According to Sheriff S. M. Ortiz, who investigated the accident, involving only the Serviceman, occurred around 1:30 o'clock in the morning. Approximately 3 1/2 hours later a tourist reported the accident to the sheriff's office.

The badly injured man was found beside his wrecked car. One eye had been torn from its socket, another eye severely injured and he had received a possible concussion. He was brought to Carrizozo hospital in the Shaw ambulance and was moved to Beaumont hospital on Wednesday.

The accident was attributed to excessive speed around a curve on the highway 9 miles west of Carrizozo, the scene of other recent accidents.

$550 SPREAD IN 'EQUALIZATION'

Santa Fe, June 24—The state school "equalization" program has set up for the next year starting salaries for teachers in a range of $3500 a year in 10 counties to $4,050 in Albuquerque and $4000 in Lea, Grant and DeBaca.

The rates are for beginning teachers with four years college work. All the counties but three posted increases. Eddy was stalled at $3700, Otero at $3800 and Rio Arriba at $3500.

The biggest increase was in DeBaca which went to $4000 from $3700.

Advancing from $3300 to $3500 were financially troubled counties of Harding, Mora, Sandoval, San Miguel, Torrance, Taos, Socorro and from $3400 to $3500 Roosevelt and Guadalupe. They made it mostly by the benefit of a new fund for distressed counties set up by the last legislature.

ALAMOS, SANTA FE ADVANCE TO $3900

Los Alamos and Santa Fe went from $3900 to $3900; Dona Ana from $3700 to $3850; Colfax, San Juan $3600 to $3800; McKinley $3700 to $3800 and Union and Luna to the same $3800 base; Sierra from $3500 to $3700 and Hidalgo and Chavez from $3500 to $3700; up from $3500 to $3600 were Catron, Curry, Valencia, Lincoln; Quay went from $3400 to $3600.

The basic starting rates are considerably less than the actual pay of teachers. They get extra for time on the job, academic attainment and special assignments. The average classroom teacher's salary will be in the neighborhood of $5000 next year. It isn't bad considering their short day, short week, and the shortest year enjoyed by any outside of sheep shearers and cotton pickers.

SCOGGIN CASE IN LIGHT AGAIN

The case of the district judge, W. T. Scoggin of Las Cruces, who illegally sent a 15-year-old girl to the insane asylum, is getting another go-round in the capital since the attorney general held that the judge may draw on the court fund to pay the expenses of defending a civil suit that grew out of the incident.

A couple of years ago Judge Scoggin ordered a 15-year-old Las Cruces girl arrested and held for delivery to the insane asylum. The child, whose offense was that of wanting to stay with her dad rather than her mother, as had been ordered by the judge, was held in the "common jail" at Las Cruces overnight, according to her father, Horton E. Ryan. The judge said she was held in a room adjacent to the jail.

She was delivered to the asylum in Las Vegas the next day by the Dona Ana sheriff. Scoggin said it was only for the purpose of a psychiatric examination, contending that she was mentally disturbed and was incorrigible.

SUPREME COURT REVERSES JUDGE

The father went to the supreme court where it was held that the girl had been illegally detained and her release ordered. The court subsequently had a case seeking to bar Scoggin from further participation in a suit involving the separation of the girl's parents which was voluntarily withdrew.

The father brought a $50,000 suit against Scoggin for violating the child's civil rights. He lost in federal district court and the circuit court of appeals and is reportedly considering the possibility of going into the U. S. supreme court.

It is the expenses of this suit that the attorney general has said may be paid from the Third.

Lloyd Rose of Roswell reported he was attacked and robbed by two men while driving on Highway 70 early in June. Two suspects first arrested were released after questioning.

Finding the hidden car led to the arrest of Juan Salas and Ralph Montoya. According to the sheriff's office, the former was arrested in El Paso where he was attempting to enlist in the Army.

Both men waived preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace John Mackey and have been bound over to district court under $500 bond each.

"When in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another..." is the introduction, familiar to all Americans, of the Declaration of Independence, adopted July 4, 1776.

We Americans, on this 4th of July, 181 years later, should reread this great document that declared the cause of freedom of the 13 colonies to people everywhere.

All of the great patriots who signed the Declaration of Independence must have known they were signing their own death warrants should the revolution fail. Several of them were men of means and gave their personal fortunes to the cause of the colonies.

Copies of the original Declaration and its signers are available free of charge at the Shafter Motor Co., and are suitable for framing.

2 Radio Operators '47 Captain Grads Test Sets Near Alto Have Class Reunion

By AILEEN LINDAMOOD
 Dave Miller and sons D. D. and Jerry of El Paso set up their amateur radio station atop Bailey hill north of Alto on Saturday, June 22.
 They were competing in the annual test for emergency powered stations. They worked on a field day time table for 24 consecutive hours out of 27. They chose this site because of the high altitude and lack of interference from high power lines.
 By 1 p.m. on Sunday, after starting at 6 p.m. Saturday, they had contacted 300 stations in the United States and three foreign countries. The foreign stations were in the Bahamas, Canada and Vancouver, British Columbia. The only four states not contacted at that time were Rhode Island, Vermont, North Dakota and South Dakota.
 This field day is an annual event and a careful log is taken and sent to the American Radio Relay League. The competition is keen and many regulations determine the winner, as well as a point system used in the final award.
 Dave Miller and D. D. were the two operators and Jerry was making the log of the stations they received. They could operate on five bands but had only utilized two, due to the clear reception they were getting.
 The classification of their station was termed a portable power one as they were using their own power plant. This is a more difficult operation than plugging into a regular power system and will give them more points in the final contest.
 Another interesting point concerning their operation was that their equipment had to be set up within a 1000-foot area. This requirement would enable the operators to keep well under cover in case of an emergency of some sort and that is the main reason for this annual contest.
 Each valid contact they make counts for one point and it must be a clear contact before it is entered on the log. Receptions do not count and with the clear reception the men were getting they frequently contacted the same stations twice.

The Captain High School graduating class of '47 held their ten year reunion in the vicinity of Capitan and Ruidoso June 7, 8, and 9 with 14 out of the 20 members attending all or some part of the reunion.
 The reunion started off with a "bang" in the Frontier room of the Navajo Lodge in Ruidoso, Friday evening with the greeting of old friends and meeting of new ones.
 Saturday morning the class gathered at the Capitan High School and toured the grounds and buildings, reviving many memories. Mrs. Angellina Kvetina Provine, a former faculty member, was able to visit with the class while at the high school.
 Saturday afternoon some members of the class attended the horse races at Ruidoso Downs, Saturday evening at 7:30 a delicious dinner was served to class members and their guests at Carrizo Lodge in Ruidoso. Afterwards there was dancing to western music which was also attended by some of the Capitan alumni.
 Sunday there was a picnic in Ruidoso for class members and families, before everyone returned home. It was decided that a twenty year reunion will be held, so in parting "see you in ten years" was heard.
 Class members attending the reunion were: Leo Cooper, wife and son, L. T. Womack and wife Ruth (formerly of Capitan), Dora Gomez Sandoval, son and husband Floyd (formerly of Capitan), Dora Parnell Perry, two sons, one daughter and husband Lloyd (formerly of Capitan), Irene Bonnell Nosker and husband Kenneth (formerly of Capitan), Beverly Richner Baker, Johnny Phillips, Hollis Cummins, Bill Wilson and wife Peggy (formerly of Capitan), Paul Jones, Marie Murray McFarland, two sons, one daughter and husband David (formerly of Capitan), Jeanette—Purcella Smoot, two daughters and husband, Eva Howard Sutherland and daughter, Mary McClendon Halladay, two sons and husband Carl (formerly of Capitan).

Some building materials are noted for their functional properties—strength, adaptability, fire safety. Others are regarded as contributing beauty to the building. Not often do you find these two sets of properties combined, as you do in good concrete. Here, in "the stone you can mold," you have all the properties you need for all kinds of building—long life and water resistance for a highway culvert, and adaptability to ornamental design that adds so much to a beautiful building. During the fifty years that we have been making El Toro Cement, we have taken pride in the many and varied uses that Southwestern builders have found for it.

JULY FOURTH PICNICS ON THE BONITO

W. R. (Sally) White would holler to the kids at the July Fourth picnic on the Bonito. "Free ride for five cents," and there would be a wild scramble among the youngsters to get on the horsepowered merry-go-round, a frontier marvel that White had invented for the amusement of children at the annual celebrations. Nickels were scarce and those who lacked them rode free.

Floy Skinner of Nogal, who was born on the Bonito in Lincoln County, rode on his uncle's merry-go-round at the picnics about the turn of the century, climbed the greased aspen poles with the lure of a dime on top, rode bucking mules and burros, and with the other kids had a general good time.

The July Fourth picnics, the big celebration of the year, were held at a site a half mile east of Bonito City, long covered by the waters of Bonito Dam. People came from 50 miles around. For the grownups the picnics were not only a chance to celebrate the holidays but to get caught up on their visiting. People were "more genial and hospitable then," Skinner said, and "they really enjoyed visiting."

Maybe there was never another merry-go-round in New Mexico like the one that Sally White made. It was built on the principle of a wagon wheel.

A heavy pole was set firmly in the ground. From the projecting wooden arms in the hub, or top of the pole, seats were swung by double chains. There were about a dozen seats, each carrying two persons. The seats cleared the ground sufficiently so that the riders' feet wouldn't drag.

A horse was hitched to the pole inside the circle of seats and White sat directly behind the horse. It was a smart animal and he learned that the easiest way to pull was by throwing his body in one direction. Sometimes the horse broke into a trot. And the merry-go-round revolved pretty fast.

The greased pole climb was a mighty hard contest for a boy to win. Men cut two aspen poles as tall and slim as they could find. They peeled the poles, which made them slippery, and then applied grease to make the poles even more slippery. A dime—a lot of money for a boy in those days—was placed in a hollowed-out spot atop a pole. A boy could not get his hands completely around a pole nor wrap his legs around it to help him climb. Skinner won the dime once. He saw that he would need more than his own strength to climb the pole. He rubbed rosin and fine dirt on his hands and reached the top—and the prized dime.

Most every boy owned a burro in those days, and the burrow or slow race was held besides the contests in riding bucking burros and little mules. The winner of the burro race was awarded a glass of lemonade. The burro and mule races were run on a 300-yard stretch where the wagon road wasn't crooked. Along this straight distance the men also raced their cronies.

A few firecrackers passed out to every child made the holiday complete. Among the first picnics that Skinner recalled was the one at which the cook fell into the barbecue pit. A big oak fire was built in the pit and let burn down to coals before the slow, all-night cooking of the meat began. A fire also was built outside the pit to provide more coals.

The cook was given a bottle of whisky to keep him awake through the night. On this Fourth, the old fellow who barbecued had drunk too much whisky by dawn and tumbled into the pit. Luckily, there were men about when he fell in. They pulled him out somewhat scorched but alive.

Meat for the barbecue, donated by families, was only part of the feast. Every family brought a basket lunch. Lots of black coffee was served along with lemonade and ice cream.

Another recollection of a picnic about 1900 was that of the old fellow who ate a glass. He stood up on a bench for the benefit of the amazed spectators and filled a glass with whisky, Skinner said. The performer drank the whisky, then bit off mouthfuls of the glass and ate it, except for the bottom.

After the feasting and contests, the people danced in the pavilion to the music of old-time fiddlers until dawn the next day. Waltzes and square dances were the most popular.

News Notes From Along the Bonito

By LOUISE RUNNELS

Nora and Ernest Blood and grandchildren Sue and Jimmie Lindsay were over from their dairy at Alto Sunday. While talking about old times, weather and roads, Nora told about a trip she and Ernest made from Ruidoso to Hightowers at Alto some 36 years ago. Nora and Ernest were just courting then. On October 23, 1920, Jess Harris, Cynthia Maryfield, Ernest Blood, Lula Hightower and Nora Hightower went to the Ruidoso schoolhouse, which was then where the original Forest Camp ground was located, to a box supper in a model T Ford. After the box supper, was over they started for home round the Alto country and had a flat. Ernest and Jess had to take the tire off and patch it (no spares in those days). The snow fell four inches during this time. As they started up Gavillon Canyon the pushing and cranking began. Nora remembers Lula and Cynthia rode the Model T and she, Ernest and Jess did all the pushing. They ended the trip by walking 'bout a mile. By the time they got to Hightowers' home on Eagle Creek the snow was 14 inches deep and ole sol was 'bout to peek over the mountain. We would think in those days Lula and Nora would have had a good 'lickin' coming, but Mother Hightower fixed up a fried venison breakfast with hot biscuits, gravy and mountain honey. Wish everyone would go visit Bloods now at Alto and see their beautiful 'Seven-gable' home. Rainfall last week amounted to one inch in the valley.

Albert Scharf of Carrizozo caught his limit of fish out the Bonito Dam this week.

Dan, Corinne, and D. D. Swearingin of Ruidoso were up in the Bonito country to do some mountain climbing in their jeep station wagon-Sunday.

Blanco Kiser, Soreta and friends are in the Kiser's summer cabin at Angus for awhile.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Rickerson and Donnie visited on the Bonito Monday; ate a chicken dinner and took some cherry elder home to Carrizozo.

Wynema Tully, daughters Toni and Pam, and Carl Craig, wife Gene and two daughters and Mrs. Berry from Chula Vista, California, were Bonito visitors lately.

Albuquerque folks we're always glad to see stopped by the other day on their way home from the State D.A.V. convention in Artesia—Helen and Ken Ferguson. Ken Ferguson is state adjutant for the D.A.V.

Another fine person who attended the State D.A.V. convention dropped in for a chat—Ernie Thompson, field representative for the Salvation Army. Eddie praised workers in Lincoln County: Hollis Cummins, Eddie Penfield, Albert Roberts, Marvin Roberts, Paul Baker, and one special person he truly admired and I want to personally meet was Mrs. Matthew Price of Lincoln. Ernie said she was a most interesting person and her gift in life seemed to be helping others each day as a social welfare worker.

Bob Hobbs and family who stay live in Capitan and Alamogordo are here from San Diego, Calif., visiting his mother. In Capitan, Billy Hunt and family from Los Alamos are visiting Mrs. Hobbs also.

Wilson Purcell and Buddy Morris are back on the Bonito. They have been working at Picacho, marking lambs on the Fuller ranch.

The Eckarts from Hollywood were visitors Sunday. They recently sold their Pit Bar-B-Que Cafe to Evan Waddell and wife. The Eckarts hadn't been on the Bonito for ten years. They were up in Bear Canyon looking at cabin sites.

They are Spence and Ruth Ely and boys; J. T. Crawford, wife, son and daughter; the Billharts from No Trees, Texas; the Gings, and Mrs. Ora Jinkens.

Bryan Cazier from Tucuman visited his Bonito farm Friday.

W. F. Walker of Roswell was in Alto Sunday. His father, Henry Walker, homesteaded where the Alto store is and helped to build the house behind the store in 1895.

Elwood Van Doren of Roswell was in the community Sunday. The Dan Swearingins of Ruidoso enjoyed a Sunday morning breakfast at the picnic tables on Mont Jean Lookout.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Stein and daughter Chris of Fabens, Texas, visited her sister, Mrs. Gayland Alvin, and family over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Brown of Springerville, Ariz., stopped by Sunday asking about old timers who lived around here in 1913. At that time he worked at the Block Ranch and also the Bar-W.

Santa Fe logo: The Big Job is under way. Santa Fe is now loading thousands of cars of grain and grain products on its lines. Santa Fe has been serving agriculture since 1874, when we sponsored the migration of the Mennonite farmers who established the Kansas wheat belt, and brought with them from Europe the ancestors of the better varieties of wheat grown in America today. During harvest time, Santa Fe has a big job to do. At the country stations and terminal elevators along the line, an agriculture's "hired man," Santa Fe loads over 121,000 boxcars of grain a year—the total production of over 9,000,000 bushels. We also load over 34,000 cars of grain products on our line annually. An important part of this job is done in advance by our own agriculture department, by collecting data on planted acreage, weather, crop damage and other factors that affect yield. These statistics provide useful information for farmers, elevator operators and others interested in grain movements, and assist us in spotting grain-tight boxcars at strategic points at harvest time. Our agriculture department works with the Federal and State agriculture departments, land grant colleges, and county agents in fighting destructive insects and plant diseases. We are also privileged to award university scholarships annually to many farm youths in our territory. We of the Santa Fe are proud of the part we have in serving the farmers of the West and Southwest in their essential task of feeding the Nation. ## Phoebe Taylor Represents Capitan At Girls' State

Capitan High School was represented at Girls State by Phoebe Taylor. Girls State, held in Albuquerque June 9 through 16, is a government training program sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary.

The girls learned how our government is run in each city, county and state. The citizens of Girls State elected city officials; then held a party caucus to select the candidates to run for county and state offices in the primary elections. There were campaign speeches before the primary and general elections, just as there are before the state elections.

The girls followed a rugged schedule each day, starting at 6:30 a.m. with the presentation of colors and callisthenics. They ended the day with vespers at 10:45 p.m.

Monday, members of the State police force attended the cities of Girls State to help set up law enforcement in the cities. The cities were Yucca, Cactus, Sage and Pinon.

Highlights Tuesday were the primary elections and the style show of clothes made by the girls.

Wednesday was a busy day. Dean Lena C. Clauve addressed the group and that night was governor's night. A birthday party was held for girls who had birthdays during the week.

General election was held and Judy Dodge was elected governor and Phoebe Kline lieutenant governor.

Thursday, Mrs. Mary M. Dunlap gave an address on "How the Laws of New Mexico Affect Women." Vance Mauney gave an address on district and state courts. That night Governor Edwin L. Mechem was guest speaker for the formal dinner and inauguration ceremonies.

Justice J. C. Compton administered the oaths of office to the newly elected officials. Friday, all the citizens of Girls State traveled to Santa Fe to tour the capitol.

The Girls State Senators held their legislative session in the senate chambers of the capitol and the Girls State representatives held their legislative session in the house of representatives. Friday night, Mrs. A. P. Gonta gave a talk on Civil Defense and Mrs. Monroe Mackey had a program on Americanism.

Saturday, the final session of the legislature was held. A skit on Civil Defense was presented. The final assembly was held on a week of unforgettable experiences for all the citizens of 1937 Girls State.

And friends of Henry Sanchez, formerly head orderly at Ft. Stanton, were also deeply saddened by the sudden death of his son, Ernest, who was killed in a one car accident east of Tularosa.

Talk of Tom Wiley, secretary of the New Mexico Education Assn., for governor hasn't turned his head. The former state school superintendent remains a prospect for the Demo nomination for the school post... Sen. Dildo Salas of Socorro has accepted a job as principal of a new school in Bernalillo of Sandoval county. His away from home job apparently makes no difference in his status as senator from Socorro... Three of the seven employees of the defunct traffic safety commission have found jobs in other state offices.

Three of the remaining force are slated for places in the highway department. Only the boss, Jesse Holmes, is unlocated. The legislature cut off the commission's money... The only victim of the legislature's cut in the money for the youth commission is the wife of one of the senators—Mrs. Horacio DeVargas a $200-a-month secretary. Betcha she finds another job... Gov. ## LETTER TO EDITOR

Editor, News: The following article was mailed to me recently regarding the mining industry.

A Chicago bank president was under criticism by other bank presidents because he was partial to speculation in mining. His reply to his critics, reprinted in "Mining Topics," an industry publication of that time, can profitably be pondered today by a large segment of our present population, who either never learned or have lost sight of the importance of the mining industry to the nation's progress and continued prosperity.

The Chicago banker, in answer to the criticism, said: "Throughout the West, ages ago, Almighty God built strong vaults in His granite banks than we have in gold. He filled His vaults with gold, silver, copper, etc. He gave the prospector knowledge and insight and guided him on his way to the door of the vaults He had built.

"The Federal government handed him a title patent to all therein. It is not a sin but a virtue to enter. With drill, blast, pick and spade the prospectors have broken the combination locks and entered.

"But for him our notes of issue would be as the stump-tailed currency of 1837. But for him this government of ours would be bankrupt. Mines will be producing millions of gold, silver and copper in that future day when national banks are unknown.

"A mine contains a crop already raised, harvested and on deposit for you to check against at your pleasure. The wealth gathered from the mines immortalized King Solomon. Mining has made the United States the richest country in the world... Show me a country without mines and I will show you a people sunk in degradation and poverty; and poverty makes cowards of nations as well as individuals.

"Mining is the second industry in the United States. It has scored less than 35% failures against 65% failures in general merchandising business in the United States. Eliminate the miner and you set civilization back to the dark ages.

"Outside the element of great personal profit which will accrue to us as bankers who are able to supply the money to open great mines, it behooves us to foster an industry upon which the prosperity of not alone our depositors, but of the entire nation depends."

—C. E. Degner.

His disappointment he can't conceal
While others drive in Swept-Wing style

Moral: Yesterday's looks and features are no bargain at any price!

No car is a bargain if it's obsolete in styling and engineering features.
