

Along the Way..

By PAUL BAKER

Police Chief Orin J. Sears went up into the hills last week and brought home a pretty Christmas tree. Someone else admired the tree and that night it disappeared from his home. Seems like the local lawman has enough to do already without providing a free tree for— he would like to know who.

Speaking of Christmas trees, the town has set out and decorated a pretty one at the E avenue intersection with Highway 54. The picture below was taken just after the town employees, with a rope and props, upended the tree from a truck and set it in the ground.

Lights for the town's Christmas decorations on the two main streets have arrived and the lights will soon be strung.

Prizes offered by the Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce are $25 for first, $15 for second and $10 third. Meritful, home owners are showing the Christmas spirit with outside lighting. Among those outstanding to date are displays of the Ken Schoenckes and Ralph Petyts. The former display will be a hard case to beat for first prize in the home lighting contest.

"Wild Streets," by members of the Western Writers of America, published by Doubleday Company, has been off the press for a month. Edited and with an introduction by Don Ward, this new book is entitled: "Tales of the Famous Frontier Towns." Lincoln, New Mexico, is the subject of one of the pieces in "Wild Streets."

James Nash of Los Angeles has been in Carrizozo for a week installing a new typesetting machine for the Lincoln County News. The machine, which has four magazines at finger tip control, is an "Intertype." The 35-year old Linotype, which it replaces, has been crated and shipped to Vista, Calif., where it will be reconditioned and placed back in service.

Mrs. Sid Goodloe of Capitan writes: "It seems that one of the chief topics of conversation these days is the rising cost of food, and in our family it receives a good bit of attention. The other day when I returned from the grocery store with the back seat of the car nearly full of what many a housewife considers essentials nowadays, my husband met me at the door and after surveying the contents of a few of those grocery sacks, he decided it was high time we reverted back to the more simple meals, such as beans and beef steak.

Of course I agreed, but it put me in mind of this poem, which goes like this:

REMINISCENCES OF AN OLD COW GAL
By Arlie M. Kennedy
Silver Bell, Marana, Ariz.

The old frijole is not what is used to be—Not what is used to be. The old frijole bean is not what it used to be—Many long years ago. Times they change and prices range, and beef steaks sour and sour; A pound of ground or good old round—costs a dollar ten or more. The old frijole, once thought so lowly, now takes its place in the rank. It's the same old bean, if you know what I mean, but to buy it, you need a bank. Prices go up and taxes sour, and you figure how cheap can you eat. The frijole is out, without any doubt, and by gar—so is the meat. The steers grow fat and bring in the dough; the cows are trim and neat. The calves they play in a care-free way, but we have to sell them to eat. The rancher ponders, as he rides the range, on the days that used to be. When steaks and frijoles he could eat, they were not a luxury. The sun still shines, the world goes 'round, the fat steers bring in the dough. The cattle boss is a reigning

Commissioners to Meet December 22

The Lincoln County Board of Commissioners held their last regular meeting of the year on December 4. They will meet in special session December 22 to open bids for a new sheriff's car and radio equipment.

In business December 4 the commissioners granted the request of Graetano Yriart of Lon to place cement dip in road, the county to furnish the material and Mr. Yriart and neighbors the labor.

Commissioner Emmett Reese recommended that a permanent record be kept on all road equipment on an individual basis; all road equipment operators to turn in a monthly log. The recommendation was adopted.

A request was made by W. W. Gallacher for grading on the road leading to his ranch.

The commissioners accepted the tax roll from County Assessor Marian Schlarb, showing taxes due in the amount of $460,854.61.

Two bids were ordered published for the purchase of a sheriff's car and two-way radio.

The bid of the Lincoln County Motors, lowest submitted, on a dump truck was accepted. The truck will be used on road work. County offices were ordered closed December 25 and 26 and for one day, January 1, 1959.

The application of Ross E. Aldrich for justice of the peace for Precinct 9 was read.

Town Holding Car For Traffic Fine

The town of Carrizozo may be compelled to sell a 1950 Dodge which has been held for nearly a month in lieu of non-payment of a traffic fine.

On November 10 Police Chief Orin J. Sears cited H. J. Jones, the driver, for driving while intoxicated. Jones was fined $150 and left the car as security for payment. The car is owned by Jim Walters of Wichita, Kans. He was a passenger in it, as was Otto Collins.

Social Security Officer To be in Carrizozo

Ralph H. Yowell, field representative of the Roswell Social Security Administration office, will be in Carrizozo, Monday morning, Dec. 15.

He will assist local residents in making application for old-age, survivors, or disability benefits and to give general information concerning the Social Security Act.

He will be at the office in the Court House between the hours of 10 a.m. and noon.

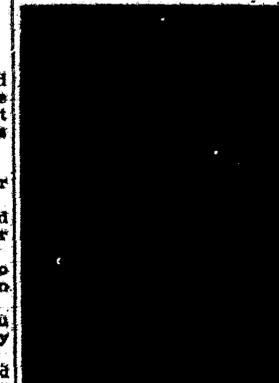

'59 Car License Plates To go on Sale Dec. 15

1959 car license plates will be on sale in Carrizozo starting December 15. It was announced this week.

The office of H. Elfred Jones, license plate distributor, states that motorists wishing their former license numbers, should secure their plates at the earliest opportunity, on or after Dec. 15.

Square Dance at Ancho

There is to be another popular square dance at the Ancho community center this Saturday, December 13. Everyone is invited.

guess; not the standby we used to know. So here's to the good old days we knew, with frijoles cheap as dirt. When steak and taters we could eat, and the price we paid didn't hurt. Gone are the days of the open range and the long horned cattle too. It's all for the best, some of them say— I'll be hanged if I know! Do you?

Lions Club Assisting In Toy-making Project

The Carrizozo Lions will meet this Thursday evening at the manual training shop school to paint Christmas toys to be given needy children. The shop class is making the toys, using materials furnished by the Lions club.

Lt.-Col. John J. McCarthy was guest speaker at last Thursday's dinner meeting of the club at the Village Inn Cafe.

Col. McCarthy spoke of the part played by military personnel in manning today's complicated defense weapons.

"Always bear in mind," he said, "that machines are made by men and that they are no better than the men who operate them."

He told how the Army tries to make every soldier a better citizen when he leaves the Army than when he entered.

Lions from the surrounding area will gather at the Desert Aire banquet room in Alamogordo Saturday night for the institution of the Mountain Park Lions Club of High Rolls.

Church Men to Sell 100 Christmas Trees

About a hundred balsam Christmas trees will be on sale in Carrizozo — at prices ranging from $2.50 to $3 for the larger ones. The trees range in size from 4 1/2 feet to 6 feet in height.

According to Ed Guck of the Forest Service, there is a shortage of Christmas trees in the Lincoln National forest this year, other than pines.

The balsam trees will be sold by the Methodist men and the profit will go to the church. The trees will be on the Shafter Motor Company used car lot and some at the Lane Sisters store.

Form Webelos Cub Scout Den

Carrizozo's Cub Scout Pack 53 will have its last meeting of 1958 at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 14, in the school cafeteria.

Plans to organize the program around the Christmas theme were formulated at a meeting of the Cub Scout executive committee on Tuesday evening, Dec. 9.

Special features of the pack meeting will include the breaking of the pinata, singing Christmas carols and refreshments.

Parents of Cub Scouts who have advanced in rank will present awards to their boys for their achievements. Parents of all Cub Scouts are expected to attend.

At the pack meeting recognition will be given to the newly organized Webelos den. Boys within six months of Boy Scout age are eligible to be members of this den. Leader of this group is First Lieutenant Bill Saunders, served.

District Court

Two criminal cases were on the docket for the day when Judge W. T. Scoggin convened district court December 9. They were:

State of New Mexico vs. Grace Long, charged with driving while license revoked. The court appointed Attorney H. Elfred Jones to represent the defendant. A plea of guilty was entered. The defendant was placed on probation for 18 months; given deferred sentence and assessed $350 costs.

In case State vs. Ramona Sanchez, charged with driving while intoxicated, the charge was dismissed and another entered of reckless driving. Defendant, represented by Attorney Albert Rivera, entered plea of guilty to the latter charge. Given 6 months' deferred sentence; 6 months' probation and $100 costs.

Court will convene December 22. One civil case was listed on the docket this week to be tried at that time, James Morris, pl. vs. Willie Anderson, a suit for damages.

The jury will not be summoned until December 29.

Judge W. T. Scoggin will be in Carrizozo on Monday, Dec. 22, and has requested that all justices of the peace be present in the court room of the Lincoln County courthouse at 10 in the morning for the purpose of approving bonds.

He requests that all justices of the peace bring their bonds for approval.

CARRIZOZO SCHOOLS

XMAS PROGRAM DEC. 17

The Carrizozo public schools will close for the holidays on December 19 at 2:30. It was announced this week by Superintendent J. T. Clegg. They will re-open January 5.

The elementary and junior high Christmas program will be in the Junior High School auditorium on December 17 at 7:30 p.m.

CARRIZOZO SUN PRINCESS—Miss Nancy Jo King has been chosen to represent Carrizozo, New Mexico, as a Sun Princess. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. King of the O-Bar-O Ranch, and is a graduate of Carrizozo High School where she was active in the Student council, pep club and dramatic societies. She attended college in Lubbock, Tex., and Albuquerque, where she majored in business administration and commercial law. Miss King is also the past worthy advisor of the Order of Rainbow for Girls, Assembly No. 7.

Joe Vigil Leases Phillips 66 Station

Joe Vigil has leased the Phillips 66 service station in Carrizozo.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Zumwalt, former operators, plan to leave on an extended fishing trip to Mexico after the first of the year. They will be at Rocky Point on the Gulf in the state of Sonora.

Mr. Vigil had been connected with the City Garage for many years.

KENNECOTT DIVIDEND

New York, N. Y.—At the meeting of the board of directors of Kennecott Copper Corporation held November 20, a cash distribution of $1 per share was declared, payable December 22, 1958, to stockholders of record at the close of business on December 2, 1958.

New Book "Yucca Land" Describes Folklore of Land of Enchantment

A book containing the folklore of New Mexico, edited by two Roswell women, Annie Laurie Snorf and Hazel Vineyard, will be off the press before Christmas. Entitled "Yucca Land" the book is described as history in its most delightful — and most impressive form.

The folklore of New Mexico centers around three basic cultures—Indian, Spanish and Anglo. The editors have organized the collection into these three basic sections, attaining a continuity that is orderly and which provides balance.

Art and illustrations are by Frances Hunt of Roswell and others. The book will be published in the near future by American Guild Press of Dallas. It features the work of some 36 of the finest authors of the Southwest—poets, historians, folklorists.

Dr. Harrison M. Tietz of the University of Pennsylvania remarked, "No state ever had its history told so beautifully."

"Yucca Land" contains over 30 major illustrations, including full page photographs as well as reproductions of art work by Frances A. Hunt, Peter Hurd, Henriette Wyeth and Sidney Redfield. Carol White, former superintendent of Chaves County schools, commented on the book: "I have finished reviewing 'Yucca Land.' It is my opinion that an excellent piece of work has been done in compiling this manuscript of New Mexico folklore, history and poetry. We in the educational field have long felt a need for more emphasis on the beauty and rich historical and cultural background of our wonderful state. I feel that 'Yucca Land' will be welcomed by all readers. Teachers will welcome it as a source book from which to draw."

Services at Glorieta For Mary M. Reid

Services were held December 7 in the Glorieta, N. M., Baptist Church for Mary Maude Reid, who died in Carrizozo December 5.

The Rev. Roy Orrick of the Baptist Assembly at Glorieta, officiated. Interment was in the family plot, a private cemetery on the Greer property at Glorieta. The Shaw Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

The Greer property is the location of what is said to be the oldest well in the United States.

Mary Maude Reid was born December 27, 1883 in Chanute, Kansas.

The casket bearers were Elbert V. Rogers, Donald L. Roberts, W. A. Reid Jr., Thomas N. Greer, N. W. (Bill) Greer and Philip W. Lapp.

She is survived by three children, Mrs. Thelma Appar of Carrizozo, Mrs. Stella Greer of Glorieta and a son W. A. Reid of Santa Fe; a sister, Josephine Donley of Lynwood, Calif.; a brother, Chas. Randel of Compton, Calif.; by 12 grandchildren and by nine great-grandchildren.

Invite State's People to Attend Inauguration

Santa Fe (Special)—All New Mexicans, no matter what their politics, are invited to attend the inauguration of John Burroughs, January 1, as the 18th governor of New Mexico.

The gala New Year's Day inaugural events in the nation's colorful, oldest capital are three:

The formal swearing in of Burroughs at noon outside the statehouse; a public reception at the State Art Museum from 3 to 5 p.m., and the traditional inaugural ball at the La Fonda hotel, starting at 9.

No invitations are sent. The only charge is $10 per couple for the ball; extra ladies, $3 each.

CABINET SHOP MOVES

The Dodson Cabinet Shop in Carrizozo has moved into a new shop building—the Will Ed Harris building on E avenue—formerly the "Pop" Anderson wood shop.

Mr. Dodson has also purchased some of the wood working tools which the late Mr. Anderson used.

TEACHERS LAST IN PAY RAISES

Santa Fe, Dec. 10—The largely justified clamor for higher pay for teachers has been met in New Mexico by jumping the pay of all school people with teachers themselves at the bottom of the list.

Here's the four-year record from the files of the Public Schools Finance Division: Superintendents' average pay 4 years ago, $7,243, this year $9,092, increase—25%.

Principals' average four years ago, $5,797, this year 7,197, increase—24%.

Supervisors' average four years ago $5,810, this year $7,122, increase—23%.

Classroom teachers' average 4 years ago $4,300, this year $5,191, increase—20%.

Superintendents make the budgets, set the raises.

ROAD BOARDERS FOUGHT BURROUGHS

John Burroughs, the soon-to-be governor, will suffer no qualms of conscience in replacing the four expiring highway commissioners. All four of them opposed his election.

Democrat Eber McKinley of Alamogordo went into the press against Burroughs in the primary campaign and led a local movement against him the general election campaign.

Tony Helmman of Harding announced publicly that he was a Democrat for Mechem.

The other two, Charlie Williams of Gallup and Gid Hatfield of Deming are Republicans.

The lone commissioner whose term runs beyond the first of the year, George Lavender of Santa Fe.

Ramblin' Around Lincoln County

LINCOLN COUNTY

By LUCIUS DILLS

Some facts and observations concerning its early settlement, historical events, organizations, and its geographic trimmings.

In the creation of a Territorial Government for New Mexico by the Federal Congress, in 1851, the Territory was divided for local self-government into nine counties—eight of which are still extant, though greatly modified in area.

As none of the domain acquired by our war with Mexico had been surveyed, the exterior boundaries of the several Territories were determined, in the main, by parallels of latitude and meridians of longitude.

The internal county subdivisions were very largely controlled by natural objects, such as mountain peaks, streams, springs, and in some instances by cardinal directions from known points. When official surveys were made, these county subdivisions were, for the greater part, changed to conform to Township, Range, and Section lines, by legislative enactments.

In the original set-up for New Mexico all that portion of the Territory lying south of the lands claimed by San Miguel and Valencia Counties were allocated to Socorro and Dona Ana Counties, each extending from Texas on the east to Arizona on the west, covering very nearly the south half of the Territory, and practically of the same area, until the Gadsden Purchase of 1854 was added to Dona Ana County.

By segregation from these two counties, Lincoln County was later created and established.

As much of the history of Lincoln County antedates its establishment, attention will first be given to a scanning of some of the principal events attending its early settlement, and development leading to and making advisable its creation as a separate governmental unit.

If it is a matter for sincere regret that we have tradition only for much of the worthwhile happenings attending the early settlements in the Bonito, Ruidoso and Hondo Valleys, as there is no known diary, if one was kept, by any of the early settlers.

Everyone conversant with the history of Southeastern New Mexico accepts the fact that the first settlers in the Bonito, Ruidoso, and Upper Hondo Valleys—invaded in the order named—were overflows from earlier settlements over and along the Rio Grande, and that these Rio Grande were descendants of the pioneers who had pushed northward from Southern Mexico, who in their turn were sons of these hardy adventurers who had come over from Spain to seek their fortunes in the new world.

The date of the initial settlement in the Bonito Valley is a matter for conjecture. An approximation might be gathered from the records in the Catholic Church at Socorro.

By accepted legend, it was an established settlement in what was later to become Socorro County before our war with Mexico, when all this Southwest was claimed by the Santa Ana Dictatorship for Mexico.

It is well to recall that all of New Mexico east of the Rio Grande was included in the Mexican Province of Texas; and that Texas won her independence in 1833; and further, that this East-of-the-Rio Grande part of our state was ceded to the United States when Texas was admitted into the Union in 1846.

The Bonito Settlement, together with those on the Ruidoso and the upper reaches of the Hondo, made slow but steady growth from their beginnings.

In the earlier periods there are no records of molestation by the Apaches, but from their after-conduct, and the protective measures instituted by the settlers, we are warranted in believing that there were molestations; for the Apache would naturally feel a contempt for any man enough like a squaw to stoop to tilling the soil. Then too, the horses, cattle, sheep and goats of the settlers were slurring, to say nothing of an occasional scalp, as an evidence of cunning or valor. An Indian scalp hunter is a short remove from a Mongoloid head hunter.

La Placita de la Bonita was the metropolis and focal point for the settlers, and therefore the most attractive for the wily Apache; and, by 1854, the settlers decided to build a Torreón or Fort as a protection for the inhabitants and their animal property.

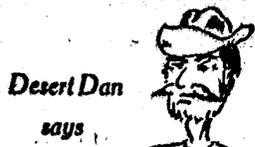

That Torreón, completed in year 1855, revived, reconstructed, dedicated, adopted, and foster-mothered in 1935, by the Chaves County Archaeological and Historical Society, may be seen on the north side of the main highway through the hamlet of Lincoln.

Viewed from the present-day development of arms and ammunition, that structure might be classed as a joke; but it was amply protective against the spears, arrows, and such guns as had fallen into the hands of the Apaches of that period.

It is also to be observed that the little Fort—three short stories high—was so placed as to cover the Valley from hills to cliffs.

One Desalination Plant to be Located In the Southwest

Santa Fe.—Efforts on the part of New Mexico to obtain a Federal water-desalination demonstration plant scheduled for early construction somewhere in the Southwest were described last week in Santa Fe by S. E. Reynolds, State Engineer.

According to the State Engineer, Public Law 85-883 enacted by the last Congress authorizes construction of five desalination plants throughout the nation, each to demonstrate a different desalting process. Three will demonstrate conversion of sea water into fresh water and two will show feasible methods of rendering brackish inland waters suitable for agricultural, industrial and municipal uses.

The law provides that the three salt-water conversion plants will be located along the nation's three seacoasts, and that one of the brackish-water plants will be established on the Northern Great Plains, the other in an arid area of the Southwest. It states that at least one of the brackish-water conversion plants shall have a capacity to produce not less than 250,000 gallons of water a day.

"One can readily imagine what a sustained daily supply of a quarter of a million gallons of good, potable water would mean to New Mexico's communities," Reynolds said.

Sponsored in the Congress by New Mexico's Senator Clinton P. Anderson, Public Law 85-883 appropriates 10 million dollars for construction of the five plants, and places the program under the direction of the Office of Saline Water, U. S. Department of the Interior.

It authorizes the secretary to accept financial or other participation from states and other local public agencies in establishing the plants, and it envisions that the Department of the Interior will operate the installations as a public service until September 1965, after which time the facilities will be sold or otherwise disposed of, with each local contributing agency receiving a proper share of the proceeds.

"Physical location of the five plants has been left to the discretion of the Secretary of the Interior, and in correspondence with the secretary, Senator Anderson and Governor Mechem have strongly urged that one of the brackish-water conversion plants be located in New Mexico," Reynolds explained.

"The Governor already has submitted to the secretary a list of 10 New Mexico communities of more than one thousand population which currently are using brackish water that are below the minimum standards recommended by the U. S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare — communities which, therefore, should receive special consideration in selecting the location of the desalting plant."

LINCOLN COUNTY IN BYGONE YEARS

20 Years Ago

(From the files of the Lincoln County News, December 9, 1938.)

The Carrizozo Business Men's Club elected officers: J. M. Carpenter president, G. A. Titaworth, vice president; E. M. Brickley, secretary, and directors R. E. Shafer and Albert Ziegler.

Louis J. Adams spent several days in Carrizozo from his run on the Dawson line.

Mrs. Griffin took Grandpa Gililand to the depot for his return to Oklahoma City. He had been visiting his daughter, Mrs. Irene Sullivan from near Bingham.

President A. E. Huntsinger of the New Mexico Bankers' Association, called a meeting of the executive committee in Albuquerque.

The Titaworth Company of Capitan was again giving three prizes at Christmastime.

Miss Jane Norman was assisting at the county clerk's office.

Jack Payne returned to the Bonito from Pampa, Texas.

The Carrizozo merchants were advertising Christmas gift items.

40 Years Ago

(From the files of the Carrizozo News, December 12, 1918.)

A compilation of war records being made in Santa Fe showed that 300 New Mexicans had lost their lives in the World War, with the record still incomplete.

O. Z. Finley, E. O. Finley and Powell Bros. loaded out 19 cars of cattle—24 destined for Kansas City and five for El Paso.

All limitations on the use of sugar were removed by the Food Administration.

S. W. White of South English, Iowa, arrived to take up his duties as cashier of the First State Bank at Capitan.

Joe West and Marvin Burton returned from Charleston, S. C., having received their discharge from the Navy.

Harold P. Clarke was in Carrizozo from the Buldow.

Will H. Osborn shook the dust of Carrizozo off his feet, leaving on No. 1 for Albuquerque to take a job with the Santa Fe.

Editor Jno. A. Halsey commented that "this is the wildest country this side of the trenches."

State Senator Describes Life at School for Boys

By RICHARD H. FOUSHA, M.D., State Senator, McKinley County

Boys that are too tough for the local police to handle are sent to the New Mexico School for Boys at Springer.

Have you ever wondered what that place is like?

Springer, I learned, is a little town with a population of about fifteen hundred, located on U. S. 85, about 40 miles south of Raton. The surrounding country is just beautiful with its rolling hills and its clear streams bubbling down from distant mountains. It is antelope country, and at one point, one of these beautiful animals raced along the road as though trying to keep up with my car. A bit farther along, two deer watched me with questioning eyes.

The Boys' School is just outside of town. It is located on a 2,200 acre ranch with a small stream running through it. The original building is still standing. It is indeed a rather depressing two story affair, and will soon be remodeled or abandoned. All the other buildings have been constructed within the past five years, and look just as modern and attractive as the new school buildings recently erected in our communities.

One of these modern buildings is assigned to fresh arrivals. This is where the new boys is registered, tested and catalogued. The first thing he has to do is take a shower bath, and during the entire month he is in this building he has to take a shower twice a day. For some of the boys, this is probably the most severe punishment they get at Springer.

After he has had his bath, the new boy gets a thorough physical examination, including blood tests. He is assigned a small room, neat as a pin, with bed and table for his exclusive use.

Carrizozo Elementary Reports Honor Roll

The Carrizozo Elementary School reports the following students in grades two and three on the "E" Honor Roll.

Grade Two—Christopher Bancroft, Keith Currie, Charles Schlarb, and Christine Walter.

Grade Three—Lyn Barry, Joan Fletcher, Linda King, Donda Jo May, Debbie Shaw and Sharon Smoot.

Students in grades four to eight inclusive are listed on basis of "A" Honor Roll and "B" Honor Roll.

Fourth Grade "A" Honor Roll—Andrea Aragon, Hugh Bancroft, Clayton English, Mary Charlene Hamphill, Dean McCollum, Karen Petty, Mary Ann Schlarb.

Fourth Grade "B" Honor Roll—Rebecca Barham, Cynthia Harrison, Sally Lucias, Mary McCarthy, Mike Petty, John Sidwell, Tommy Straley, Walter Currie, and Lee Tommy Hefner.

Fifth Grade "A" Honor Roll—Joe Moore and Raymer Shaw.

Fifth Grade "B" Honor Roll—Mary Ruth Baker, Wayne Dunlap, Nora Pino, Minette Smoot, Linda Stearns, Frances Wooten.

Sixth Grade "A" Honor Roll—Danny Armstrong, Gary Hightower, Ida Louise Lucias, Gerald Posey and Baby Thompson.

Sixth Grade "B" Honor Roll—Christine Booth, Connie Barnis, Jimmy Levato, Esther Nava, Anita Sandoval, Dierdre Shaw, and Tony Manuel Torres.

Seventh Grade "A" Honor Roll—Mike Voss.

Seventh Grade "B" Honor Roll—Kenneth Crenshaw, Janet Greer, Robert Means, John Petty.

Eighth Grade "A" Honor Roll—Waverly Duggat.

Eighth Grade "B" Honor Roll—Peter Agullar, Robert Luna, Loretta Lovelace, Lillian Ortiz, and Judith Sully.

He will then join other new boys in attending class in this building. The teacher in charge is especially trained to work with these youngsters. While they are in his class, he will find out how intelligent they are, how rebellious or cooperative, what kind of home life they have had, what they are worried or bitter about, and what type of work they are best fitted for. The teacher's report is made part of the school record for that boy and helps in deciding what kind of training he will get. A full time psychologist, assisted frequently by students from Highlands University, further probes the boy's mind and heart and adds his bit of knowledge to the record.

After a month of this preparatory work, the boy is assigned to a dormitory, where he will eat and sleep with boys of his own age. These dormitories again are new buildings and superbly clean. There are no bars on the windows and no fences around the buildings. The boys can easily run away if they care to, and occasionally they do, but in almost every case they are back in a day or two.

Their real schooling now begins. A long half day is used for academic studies and their behavior in class is astonishingly good. Their I.Q.'s run from about (Continued on Page 7)

Teensters Union No. 1

By PAM REID

Dear Pam: I enjoy reading the column; especially when there is some news in it. I suggest you always put some news of the school in it or happenings of Teensters and in that way it would be much more interesting. When you stop and think; who wants to read all that tripe about boy friend troubles and "stomped feet" and what not? Give us the news and let it go at that! — "A Well-Meaning friend."

Dear Well-Meaning Friend: Thanks for your letter and suggestion. I'll try to answer it the best I can. First of all I'm no reporter—and if you want to know the truth, I'm not much of a writer but it's easy to publish letters that other people write. And that is the reason for this column. The news is pretty well covered in the rest of the paper—but if you want news in this column—just write it in a letter and I'll publish it. I will try to get some news in, though, just to see how it's received by the rest of the Union. I hope some of the rest of you will express your opinion on this so I can do what you-all want. Do you want more news and less letters or vice versa?—Pam.

Darling: I stopped in your darling little town on the way through to Denver and I think your column is just darling! Your picture is just darling. I do have a problem and thought I'd just write to you and maybe some of your darling union members could answer—or perhaps you could. I have a boy friend and he's just darling. He gives me all sorts of presents because he has a lot of money and just seems to want to spend it all on poor little me! My problem is: Should I let him spend it on me or tell him to save it for a rainy day? He has a convertible that's just darling and he's getting a new car next month and he wants me to have the convertible. What'll I do?—"Honey Pot"

Dear Honey Pot: Are you kidding? If not then I'd say take the car if (and I mean a Capital I!) you are in love; expect to marry him; it's his money he's spending and not his father's money; you are of age—which, judging from your letter you aren't! Anyway, in fun or seriously; I thought your letter was "just darling" and if you want to write and tell me recognition of an academic letter award, the student must stand in the high percentile rating of this test. Until this year, the recipients of the highest scores ever made in the school were Fred P. Bowser and his wife, Barbara McKnight Bowser, who will be graduated in the spring from the University of New Mexico.

However, this year Patsy Joiner and Juanita Torres passed the high scores made by these members of the Class of 1955, both receiving scores in writing skills that placed them in the highest percentile possible to achieve on the test.

Hondo High School and the people of the Valley may well be proud of the achievements of such students, for to receive these high ratings in a field of competition, in which over 5,000 students from all over the state take part, is a fine accomplishment.

your address I'll see that you receive the paper next week.—Pam. (How about some comments on this, gang?)

Dear Pam: I have a problem. Last year a guy liked me a lot and I liked him. I still like him but he doesn't like me. How can I let him know I like him and get him to like me? Hopfully yours — "Broken Hearted."

Dear Broken Hearted: Think back how you treated him last year. If he liked you as you were last year then that's the way to be this year! You can let him know you like him—but don't let him see the idea you are broken hearted or pining for him 'cause that will really scare him off. Just be friendly—and let him see you with other guys too.—Pam.

Now for some news. I have two more letters but I'll postpone them for next week.

Sybil Sneed moved near Santa Rosa. Thanks for telling me.

Geel Mary P. I am sure glad you didn't move. Places really would have been dead, we really would have missed you.

I got a letter from Judy Frye. Man! She doesn't like Chicago and wishes she was back here. They are real strict in the school back there. They dress out for P.E. and have to use lintless paper for math and another kind for history and still another kind for something else and it has to be done in ink. She sure missed all of us and I am sure we miss her.

If anybody wants to write to her the address is: 503 Wellington Ave., Chicago 14, Ill. I know she'd like to hear from you.

Hi Nickel! I heard you were taking the paper and thought I would say "Hi." We sure miss you. Our class received your letter Bill and we sure miss you, not just you but your whole family Drop us "teensters" a line sometime.

You've heard these "nothing sacred" jokes: One goes like this: "I don't care what your name is, Patsy! Just get your remainder off of my roof!" or, "I don't care what you're president of, Betty, just stop throwing your golf clubs on my lawn!"

Well, that's about it, gang. You can see, I'm not much of a newscaster; but I'll do what you want in this regard. Please write and let me know. This little thought by James Whitcomb Riley helped me this week:

"It doesn't pay to say too much when you are mad enough to choke. For the word that stings the deepest is the one that's never spoke. Let the other fellow wrangle till the storm has blown away. Then he'll do a lot of thinking 'bout the things you didn't say!" Happy Advent.—Pam.

Lincoln County News FRIDAY, DECEMBER 12, 1958 Carrazzco, New Mexico

The Hondo Corner

By FREDDA FERRY

This week end the Eagles won one game and lost one. Friday night they traveled to Lake Arthur where they defeated that team 64 to 50. Saturday night spectators watched an exciting game between the Eagles and the Captain Tigers. The final score was 60 to 47 in favor of Captain. Victor Pineda was high point man at Lake Arthur with 20 points. James Sanchez took top scoring honors at Captain with 13 points. The Eagle-B squad outplayed the Tiger Bees by a score of 40 to 27.

This Thursday, Friday and Saturday the Eagles, along with other teams, will take part in a Round Robin tournament at Carrazzco. Good luck, Eagles!

The high school gym floor has been repaired and it really looks neat! Mike Macz, Dan Salas, Mauro Sanchez and Mrs. Harold Farmer worked on the floor two days and did a fine job. Mrs. Farmer, from Roswell, supervised the job.

The high school students drew names for the Christmas party, which is to be given December 18. The grade schools are preparing a Christmas play which will be presented December 17. On December 18 the high school will present their program and Friday, December 19, the varsity team tangles with a basketball aggregation of well-known girls — the "Redheads." Also that night the P. E. girls will play a basketball game against their mothers.

That's about it until next week, so be careful and I'll be seeing you then!

Hondo High to Give Academic Recognition

At the front of a movement that will doubtless become more widespread in the country, Superintendent Fernin S. Montes announced at a student body meeting at the Hondo High School on December 5 that academic letter and school sweater awards will be presented to students who achieve a high standing in academic work.

For the first time in the history of the school, recognition will be given to the person or persons who achieve in subject matter, as well as to those who earn athletic and band awards in the form of the school letter.

The criteria for judging the ability of the student is the statewide test of academic aptitude which is given yearly by the University of New Mexico to the members of the junior classes all over the state, and to attain the

CAPITAN

By MARGARET RENCH

Those who already have their homes lighted for Christmas are the Rences, Kingstons, Annarones, Houses, Botsfords, Gastons and the Wilson trailer house. How about more interest for this grand season? Come and join us and give cheer to many a weary and tired traveler.

Join us for a good time at another Smokey dance Saturday, the 13th at the American Legion Hall. Music will be by the Daugherty Brothers. Remember to come.

Mary and Richard Flores each donated $5 to the Smoke Museum. Frankie Silva gave the nice logs for the rafters and delivered them. Bill Holmes oiled the logs. So we are a little farther along the road to the museum's completion, thanks to all of you.

Mrs. W. S. Martin spent Wednesday through Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Russell. She had two teeth pulled.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Cummins have returned from two weeks' vacation in sunny California, visiting Ted and Sally and other relatives and friends. On their return they visited the Oscar Cummins' (Lewis's brother) in Meza, Ariz. Lewis brought oranges, tangerines, grapefruit and lemons home, which he is showing at the store. They do look delicious. A good time in California is their report.

Mrs. Rosa Hobbs stayed with Mrs. Adda Sellars during the absence of the Cummins. Mrs. Sellars is still not able to get out of the house. She had a hard fall three weeks ago which has kept her indoors.

Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Cummins and children drove to Albuquerque last Tuesday night. Gloria and the babies will stay with Mr. and Mrs. Donald McClung while Hollis attends an executive meeting in Santa Fe Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Champ Ferguson returned last Thursday from El Paso. Champ will have to be off from work for three weeks due to the illness found while they were in El Paso.

Mrs. C. A. Morris underwent surgery in El Paso last Saturday, so I have been informed. There has been no further word come to me.

Herman Kolt of Albuquerque and Carrizozo was a business visitor in Capitán last Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Guy Hoover

Mrs. Guy (Eleanor) Hoover of Albuquerque died Wednesday, December 3 at the Methodist hospital there. According to her desires there were no services and her body was cremated and sent to Pennsylvania for burial.

Mrs. Hoover was 82 years of age. She and her husband came to Capitán and made their home for 24 years before moving to Albuquerque.

He was retired from the railroad. He preceded her in death several years ago.

Mrs. Hoover was a charming lady, was a friend to everyone and helped the sick and the needy. They had many friends here.

Sgt. and Mrs. Robert Walker are the proud parents of a daughter, born last Thursday in the Carrizozo hospital. Sgt. Walker is going overseas January 5. He was granted an extension of time for the arrival of this little lady. Now they will go together, making the trip by plane.

A/MMAS Tommy Gierhart was home on furlough for six days. He left Monday for Point Mugu, California. Tommy is specializing in jet motors.

LINCOLN

Edd Downing is improving from day to day in Lincoln.

We are sorry to lose the L. C. Hulberts. They have moved to Nogal. Mr. Hulbert has been ill in the Carrizozo hospital. We hope he has recovered now.

Mr. and Mrs. "Red" Ramey spent the week end at their home in Lincoln with A. L. Hulbert and Janet Whitlock.

Mrs. Marson entered the hospital in Roswell last Sunday for surgery. We wish her a speedy recovery.

Jim Ramey received a call from his daughter Rachel and her husband, inviting him to spend Christmas with them in Tennessee. Wish he could go.

Mr. and Mrs. Roman Maces spent Monday in Roswell on business.

Mrs. Wayne Zumwalt visited Mrs. Annie Ramey in Lincoln one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Beall of Alamogordo spent the week end up this way.

Otto Lasker was in Albuquerque one day last week for a checkup at the Veterans Hospital.

Peter Pfingsten celebrated his seventh birthday recently. He had a fine time, what with new toys and a special birthday dinner.

Dennis and Stephanie Marson are visiting the Al Grindrods in Lincoln during their mother's absence—but they're having a lot of fun.

Corn was first brought into New Mexico in pre-historic times, when New Mexican Indians traded for it with Indians from Mexico. It became an important staple of diet, and eventually took on symbolic and religious overtones. In recent centuries, the Indians have considered corn a sacred plant.

During the days of the Santa Fe Trail, a trade route from Missouri to Santa Fe, New Mexico, from 1822 to 1880, commerce took on huge proportions. One firm alone had 1,000 mules, 40,000 oxen, 3,500 wagons and 4,500 men on the trail, and hauled 10 million pounds of goods during the 1850's.

Channing Howells Are Back from Montana Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Channing Howell, and son Robert and their granddaughter Barbara, of Gran Quivira National Monument, have returned from a three-week trip to northwestern Montana, where they spent their vacation visiting relatives and old friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Howell recently became great grandparents and took the opportunity to become acquainted with their great granddaughter, Kathy Lynne, and to have a five generation photo taken. Eldest of the five generation group are Mrs. Howell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Runsvold of Kallispell, Mont., who are 85 years of age.

A pleasant trip was enjoyed, even though they experienced some wintry blizzards, with snow and 40 degrees below zero weather. The Howells are glad to be home again, to our wonderful weather and mild winters.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lane of Lake Arthur, Mr. and Mrs. John Lane Jr. and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Ferron Cummins of Roswell and Wade Lane and family of Ruidoso visited the Lane Sisters Sunday, December 7.

Mrs. Fred H. English and Mrs. Johnson Stearns entertained the Carrizozo Bridge Club at a Christmas party at the home of Mrs. English.

Mrs. Louis Huffman and Mrs. R. E. Lemon drove to Alamogordo Saturday to attend an Eastern Star bazaar and silver tea.

Lt. Paul Wespberg was in town over the past week end visiting Johnson Stearns and family and friends in Nogal and Carrizozo. The lieutenant is now stationed at Ft. Bliss. He was formerly at Red Canyon.

SIERRA COUNTY RANCHER SUCCESSFULLY GROWS CARPATHIAN WALNUTS

The success of a Sierra County rancher in the foothills of the Black Range in growing Carpathian walnuts for more than 20 years is described in an article in the December issue of the "New Mexico Extension News." The rancher, H. L. Parks, has the only walnut grove in that section of Sierra County and probably one of the few in New Mexico.

The walnuts, introduced into this country from the Carpathian mountain area of Poland, will withstand low winter temperatures that the English walnut cannot survive.

Parks' ranch is on Berenda Creek, six miles west of Lake Valley. The ranch is 5703 feet above sea level, and although the winters there are colder than in the Las Cruces area, Parks said the temperature drops to zero only about every ten years.

His walnut trees, along with apple, peach, cherry and pecan are in a relatively steep canyon which provides good air drainage and prevents the cold from "settling" and causing possible damage.

Summer weather also is a factor in successful growing of Carpathian walnuts which apparently do not thrive in extreme heat. Parks said 96 degrees is the maximum summer temperature he has recorded at his ranch. The latest heavy frost recorded was April 22.

R. E. Harper, associate horticulturist of the New Mexico A&M College Agricultural Experiment Station, and W. J. Wiltbank, A&M extension horticulturist, recently visited Parks' walnut grove.

Harper said, "It would appear that this particular type of walnut would have possibilities in other sections of the state with similar climatic conditions. Likely areas would be around Truth or Consequences, Albuquerque, in Lincoln County, the western area of the state to Glenwood, and the foothills of the Guadalupe mountains in Eddy County." The horticulturist plans to obtain budwood from Parks' trees next spring for testing on the western slope of the Guadalupe near Carlsbad.

The scoring dropped in the third period as the two teams tried to hold each other down. The basketball passed from team to team and the tension mounted. The third quarter score, 38-33.

The strain seemed to break during the last period. Each team scored high. D. Chavez and R. Montez of Hondo, scored 4 points each. For the Tigers, J. Kerr, B. Huey and C. Lockhart scored 10, 4 and 4 points respectively.

Estimate 72% as Wool Incentive Payment

By RALPH DUNLAP
Lincoln County Extension Agent

The wool incentive payment will be 72%, if the present average wool price of 39 cents a pound continues through March 31, 1959, which is the end of the 1958 wool marketing year. This is the estimate given by Mr. Rozoni at a meeting last week. To bring the wool price up to the incentive price set at 62 cents per pound the payment would be 26 cents per pound. The incentive payment will not be made until after July 1, 1959.

Although only an estimate, which can change fast between now and March 31, it is likely to remain close to this figure.

Orchard Clean-up Checks Many Pests

Get rid of places in your apple orchard where insects can spend the winter. Two of the most damaging kinds of spider mites, the McDaniel mite and the two-spotted mite, spend the winter in trash and other protective covering in orchards. Clean out around the base of the trees with a hoe and disc under all weeds, trash, and rotting apples.

Orchard clean-up also helps control the codling moth. Codling moth worms spend the winter at the bases of the trees under loose bark, trash, dropped apples and in hollow stems of broken weeds.

Remove trash and leaves that collect in large clutches near the bases of old trees. Scrape off old loose bark that gives worms shelter during the winter.

After harvest, spider mites and aphids often build up large populations. If such infestations aren't controlled, the trees go into the winter in a weakened condition. Mites build up large overwintering populations, and woolly apple aphids migrate under the ground in large numbers where they cause extensive damage to the root system.

A post-harvest spray to kill mites and aphids should be combined with the clean-up campaign. A combination of 1 1/2 pounds of 38.5% Kelthane wettable powder plus two pounds of 12% gamma BHC wettable powder will kill mites and aphids. Trithion alone or a parathion plus Ovotram combination also makes good clean-up sprays but they should be applied with caution because Trithion and parathion are very poisonous.

Peach orchards should also be given post-harvest care. Para-dichlorobenzene crystals or commercial preparations of PDB in oil should be applied in a ring around the trunks of the trees and covered with a 4 to 6 inch layer of soil to control peach tree borers. Place the crystalline PDB in a ring about 1/2 to 6 inches away from the bark. Never use more PDB crystals than is given in the following recommendations because PDB can kill the trees. For 1-3 year-old trees, use 1/4 to 1/2 ounce of dry crystals, on 4 to 5 year-old trees, use 1/2 ounce per tree, on 6-year-old and older trees use one to 1 1/2 ounces. If you use an oil preparation containing PDB, follow the directions exactly.

Announce Winners in Wool Style Review At New Mexico A&M

State College, N. M.—Pauline Baca, Helen, and Mary Lou Ritchey, Lovington, were crowned state champions in the "Make It Yourself With Wool" home sewing contest here Saturday.

Miss Baca modeled a two-piece charcoal gray dress in the senior division; Miss Ritchey won first in the junior division with a three-piece rust brown ensemble. Each was awarded expense-paid trips to the National Style Review in Portland, Ore., in January where they will compete with finalists from 19 wool-growing states. Sponsoring their transportation to the National Review will be the F. W. Woolworth Co.

Miss Baca also received $25 from C. F. McWilliams, Carlsbad, and Miss Ritchey, $25 from H. M. Corn, Roswell.

Featherweight portable sewing machines were presented to Marietta Sulzemeier, State College, second in the senior division and to Gwendolyn McCaw, Artesia, second in the junior division, by the Singer Sewing Machine Company.

Effect of Supplements On Roughage Digestion In Sheep Is Studied

Two researchers of the New Mexico A&M College Experiment Station reported after extensive tests that addition of feed supplements did not influence digestibility of the crude fiber of blue grama grass hay fed to sheep.

W. E. Watkins and W. W. Repp of the Animal Husbandry Department, reported their findings in a bulletin, "Effect of Various Feed Supplements on Roughage Digestion in Sheep."

The researchers said it appeared that the supplements supplied nutrients which the blue grama grass hay did not give in sufficient amounts. They noted that in the winter and early spring, the quality of blue grama grass is much lower than that used in the experiment.

"For this reason," they said, "it appears that supplements are needed to supply protein, energy and phosphorus during the winter and early spring."

Cottonseed meal, sorghum grain, bone meal, and alfalfa hay were fed as supplements with the native blue grama hay ration. The tests showed that apparent digestibility of all the nutrients, with exception of the crude fiber, was increased by the supplements.

Bulletin 424 may be obtained by writing to the Department of Information, New Mexico A&M College, P. O. Box 757, State College, or at county agents' offices.

Weight of Ewes at Breeding Is Guide to Size of Their Lambs

Weight of ewes as yearlings just before first breeding is a fairly accurate indication of the birth and weaning weights of the lambs they will produce, according to a U. S. Department of Agriculture study.

Heavier ewes, regardless of breed or wool type, produced heavier, faster-growing lambs than lighter ewes in trials conducted by Jack L. Ruttle, animal husbandman of USDA's Agricultural Research Service at Fort Wingate, N. M. Ruttle obtained his Master's degree at New Mexico A&M College in 1957.

The finding makes possible quicker profits for owners of breeding flocks by the earlier culling of animals not likely to improve lamb output. Flock owners tend to cull their ewes after each animal has produced a lamb.

One reason for selecting large ewes as breeders is that body size has a direct influence on lamb production. To produce a large, heavy lamb, a ewe must be large so she can carry and nourish the lamb. A second reason for selecting large ewes is that the greater skin area provides more surface for growing wool.

That selection of heavy ewes for lamb production can be done earlier than usual is supported by the 4-year study of 500 ewes at Fort Wingate.

The animals were divided into four groups according to their weight at about 13 months of age—60-63, 70-73, 80-83, and 90-100 pounds. No consideration was given to breed or wool type in the tests.

Ruttle found that birth and weaning weights of lambs increase in proportion to size of ewes at yearling age. Weaning weights used in the study were obtained from 448 lambs born when their dams were two years old.

The lightest group of ewes averaged 63.4 pounds as yearlings and the heaviest group 92.7 pounds. This 27.2-pound advantage in body weight for the heavier ewes resulted in lambs averaging 1.29 pounds heavier at birth and about 10.5 pounds heavier at weaning.

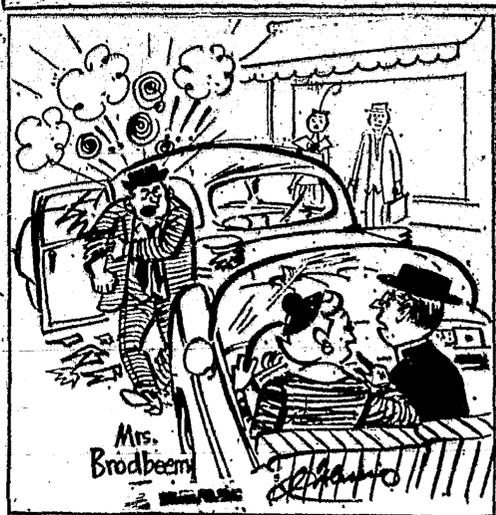

The weaning weights of lambs in the heavier groups averaged 2.15, 3.25, and 5.02 pounds more than lambs of the lightest group. Increases in birth weights for the heavier groups, however, were only 0.71, 0.35, and 0.23 pound.

The greater difference shown in weaning weights as compared with birth weights is attributed by Mr. Ruttle partly to greater milk production by the larger ewes and partly to the inherited factor for size of the lambs.

Small boy's definition of conscience: "Something that makes you tell your mother before your sister does."

Geologists and National Park Service rangers have explored more than 35 miles of trails in New Mexico's Carlsbad Caverns, and reached depths of over 1,000 feet below the surface. In spite of this, much of the immense cave remains unexplored.

Grizzlies Drop Two Week End Games

The Hagerman Bobcats used their height to good advantage and took Carrizozo in camp 57-50. Picking up a 2 point advantage in the 1st quarter, 1 in the second, 1 in the 3rd, and 3 in the 4th quarter. Although Carrizozo capped 21 buckets to Hagerman's 15, Hagerman's phenomenal 27 out of 32 free throws for a 87% won them the ball game.

It was Bemy Herrera's hard driving layups in the 2nd half that kept Zozo in the ball game.

Gregory tallied 18 points for the visitors.

Ruidoso withstood a last quarter drive by Zozo to win a 62-59 victory over the Grizzlies.

It was the 8 point advantage built up in the first quarter by Ruidoso that gave them the ball game. Zozo outscored them in the last three quarters.

Reynolds of Ruidoso connected on eight field goals and four free throws for the evening's high honors.

Fred Vega netted 16 points to lead the scoring for Zozo.

This Thursday night Zozo plays Hondo. Friday they play Ruidoso and Saturday night Capitan. The first two games are at 7 o'clock and the third at 8:30.

Institute Colts Down Tigers 37-26

By CLOUD and JONES

The New Mexico Military Institute Colts took the Capitan Tigers, 37-26, in their game Thursday, Dec. 4, 1958, at the N.M.M.I. gym.

The Colts scored the first point when Gailmuth, Colt, dumped a free shot. The Colts then went on during the first quarter to rack up a lead of 10-4.

Capitan came back in the second period, hitting five field goals, one free throw, for a total of 11 points compared to the Institute's meager six. The scoreboard favored the Colts, 16-15, as the buzzer sounded the halftime.

Starting the third quarter, C. Lockhart of Capitan, tipped the ball to C. Jones, touching off a rapid volley at the bucket by both teams. Each scored heavily during the period. The buzzer sounded with the score still favoring the Colts, 29-26, and with the loss of one player by Capitan on personal fouls.

During the fourth stanza, the Tigers seemingly lost their touch and could not hit the bucket. They finished the game without scoring another point. The Colts dunked four baskets to end the game in a victory. The final score: 37-26.

Capitan 60, Hondo 47

The Capitan gym rocked on its foundation as the Tigers took on the Hondo Eagles, Saturday, Dec. 6. Both teams showed superb style which kept the crowd in a frenzy. The final score: 60-47, in favor of the Tigers.

The Tigers took the lead from the first and held it throughout the evening. During the first quarter the Tigers were spurred on by J. Kerr and C. Lockhart, who made 8 and 6 points, respectively. The Eagles fought fiercely but their efforts netted them only 10 points. The first period score: 10 to 10.

The Hondo Eagles outscored the Tigers in the second stanza. J. Sanchez, Eagle, popped the net for a total of 16 points, ten of these being free throws. The Tigers tried to hold the Eagles back, but their defensive playing seemed to Just married...

Thunderbird Elegance with Ford Size and Savings!

The New FORD GALAXIE

When you learn how little it costs to live a Thunderbird life in this totally new... great big Ford... you'll say "I Do!"

No wonder so many people are amazed! For the six new Ford Galaxie models are as much the Thunderbird's doubles as big six-passenger cars can be. They have the Thunderbird's own distinctive roof and clean, tasteful lines. Their foam-rubber-cushioned front seats and lavishly carpeted interiors give them Thunderbird luxury. They are even married in power to the fabulous Thunderbird... with the Thunderbird's very own V-8. Yes, when you see how Ford has married the elegance of the world's most sought after car... to the world's most beautifully proportioned cars... you'll see why we call it the most beautiful wedding of the year.

GOOD OPERATIONS AND SHODDY ONES

Santa Fe, Dec. 3—The big January firing and hiring in the administration turn-over at the statehouse has a lot of people wondering about the fate of several operations that have had unusually good runs during the past couple of years.

The State Pen — Out of the headlines for the first time since anybody can remember.

The Reform School — At long last settled into efficient, scandal-free operation.

State Mental Hospital—Evolution completed from politically ridden place of confinement for sick people to a treatment center with high percentage of cures. Not even a grand jury investigation lately.

Traffic Safety — Costly and tough but the only real program the state ever had. Continued success lies in continuing the hard nosed policy of jerking the licenses of dangerous drivers.

Purchasing Office—Best yardsticks on the operation of the office are the spread of state purchasing among many vendors and the count of the equanimity of "cheated" bidders. The spread is bigger than ever, the equanimity lower.

TAX COLLECTING IS WEAK SPOT

There is equal concern about improvement in other agencies.

Tax Collection—Revelation of huge school tax delinquencies by bankrupt firms and others indicate lax practices; New Mexico Education Assn. is driving for better collection of income tax which records indicate is producing only about half of what it should.

Local Car Plate Agents—The outgrown system hampers automobile trade and burdens public with unnecessary fees.

Los Lunas Hospital and Training School—The institution with a huge responsibility in serving mentally defective children has been granted only token funds and recognition, may be forgotten again unless strong support comes forth.

JANITOR JOBS RATED HIGH

The $600-a-month boss janitor job at the statehouse which involves the control of about 80 low-pay jobs and the purchasing of janitor supplies rates as a political plum far above the responsibilities involved.

The janitors who get $100-$150 a month are considered the most effective political group of such size in the statehouse. The janitor supply business, made famous by the late Johnny Mitchell of Albuquerque, is also loaded with political considerations.

By practice the secretary of state appoints the capitol custodian and guides his work. The job has gone to Joe Baca of Albuquerque, a regular manager for Betty Florina in her run for

ALIBIS

By REV. MONER REID

The so-called scientist starts out by telling you that anything can be proven scientifically and if it can't be proven scientifically then it isn't true! Now, I'm not talking about the real scientists — only that pseudo-scientist that has a "little knowledge" which is a dangerous thing. Most of the scientists and philosophers have abandoned the group of confessed or disguised atheists because of the power of logic. True, there are still many atheists left; the true ones by conviction and the others, such as the communists, by political ties. The latter are of no interest to us because their "atheism" is a political expedient, with no logical thought behind it; but the true atheist, when trying to organize ideas about the cosmos, are like anarchists participating in constitutional government. They use the laws of the Universe that God created to prove that that very God does not exist.

But I have found that when a so-called "enlightened" scientist tells me that there is no scientific basis for God he will attempt to prove this by starting with "matter." The fact of the matter is that a scientist does not really know what matter is. He will tell you he does. He'll say, matter is actually "vibration" in other words, "motion." Then ask him to define "motion." He'll do that by saying: "Motion is the movement of protons, electrons, neutrons, etc. in definite orbits." In other words he starts his whole argument on an "unknown"—he attempts to define one unknown by another unknown; a equal b and b equal a.

Matter is motion and motion is matter—moving. No scientist can tell you what it is. He can only tell you what it does, how it acts and reacts under a given condition; but what it is completely escapes him. However, I do believe that he has come pretty close to it when he says that matter is motion—is power, is force! If he chooses to express this force in terms of the second law of thermodynamics that is his privilege.

SECRETARY

Sometimes in the past the much sought janitor jobs were handed out on three-month appointments, thus making one janitor's job serve four deserving political friends each year.

BURROUGHS PICKS CHAVEZ CRITICS

Gov. Elect John Burroughs' first two appointments indicated that the new governor is in no mood to appease the critical Sen. Dennis Chavez.

Lawyer Charlie Spann of Albuquerque who got the lawyer's plum on the Interstate Oil Conservation compact was a charter member of the Albuquerque group which in 1956 set out to "Give Chavez the Gate in '58." The oil job is not salaried but holds rich possibilities in legal business.

News Notes from Along the Bonito

By LOUISE RUNNELS

Eiva Coe

A little woman who has been in Lincoln County a long time and for most of her life was a hard worker — has gone on to her peaceful world.

Eiva Coe, age 42, passed away December 6 at the Ruidoso hospital where she had been for about two months. Eiva had not an enemy in this world. She loved nature and her animals and her many friends. She was laid to rest at Stetson Cemetery where both her father, Roscoe C. Campbell, and mother, Ethel Maud Turnbull and two small nephews were buried.

The graveside services were performed by Rev. C. E. Ditterline of the Ruidoso Methodist Church. Survivors are her husband, Fred L. Coe; a son, Richard L. Coe; two small granddaughters; two sisters, Effie Marler of Alamogordo, and Gloria Hatley of Clariston, Mich.; two brothers, Bud and Ernie Campbell of Oregon and one aunt, Mrs. Gordon Uylatt of Ruidoso, where her son and husband live.

Oh my, just 11 more days til Christmas and no shopping centers on Bonito! Ole Santa brought a new Chevy station wagon buzzin' up the creek the other night though so guess that ought to be enough Christmas for us mountain folks from now on and this new car is to have school children tho and we're gonna be real proud of it—though that we'll try to keep it clean and shiny.

Named to Attend Student Conference

State College, N. M. — Vernon Wade of Corona will represent New Mexico A&M College at the Student Conference on National Affairs to be held at Texas A&M.

Wade, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Wade of Corona, is a senior accounting major at A&M. A 1955 graduate of Corona High School, he is president of the Inter-Fraternity Council, editor of the college yearbook, the Swastika, a student commission senator, a member of the Associated Student Commission, and is treasurer of Sigma Alpha Epsilon—national social fraternity.

lege—it is also my privilege to express it as just another aspect of God!

We humans, limited by our five senses are like a person sitting in a big tank, looking out through a hole. All we can see or be aware of are the things that pass directly in front of us. Everything to the right or left or above or not exist for us because we are not aware of them. The things that have passed by are in the past, the things that haven't yet passed in front of the hole are in the future, they do not exist to us; but what if we could step-out-of-that-tank even for a moment and see that past, future, present are co-existent. That, in reality, there is the eternal NOW.

Christ was aware of the eternal verities and the eternal Now! He tried to tell us about it in words that we could understand. This knowledge of God that was His can be ours too if we will but open our minds and our hearts to the world about us—not the visible and scientific world but the spiritual world that is governed by spiritual laws.

Dimly, but with increasing clearness, there appears a "pattern" for our lives by which we are to be both judged and blessed. What is this "pattern" but the countenance of God? What is the destiny of each one of us but that we shall "live Him and walk in all His ways," and serve Him with all our heart and all our soul.

We do not yet know what all the spiritual laws are, but we know some of them. We know that honesty gives strength while dishonesty brings weakness. We know that love gives life while hate destroys it. We know that self-discipline builds, while liberalism disintegrates. We know that forgiveness releases the mind while resentment creates tension. We know that jealousy is poison, that kindness begets kindness, that faithfulness brings satisfaction and that courage triumphs either in victory or defeat.

The misery of the world flows from our failure to sense and utilize the spiritual laws. The redemption of our lives from futility and tragedy awaits our discovery of them. If your alibi is that God is no longer scientifically acceptable—then, my friend, don't become a scientist because science is the art of discovering God—God doesn't need science; but science needs God to even exist!

Next week: How do you spend your money? We'll discuss what a dollar can buy!

ZEBULON PIKE WAS FIRST!
The first American to explore New Mexico was Zebulon Pike, who entered the Spanish province in 1807 and was held captive for several months. New Mexico was forbidden to engage in commerce with the United States until 1821, when Mexico declared its independence from Spain and opened trade.

"Red" came out for a short visit. Patricia Henderson of Ft. Stanton spent the week end with Stanton Hayes, and Kent Hayes spent the week end at Ft. Stanton with "Boy" Henderson. Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Pat Henderson took the children on a picnic at Bonito Lake, then came back by the Bernice Hayes for a visit.

Lawrence Peebles was by the Corder's store the other morning on the way to the Pflingsten's ranch to haul some cattle for Peg.

BOYS SCHOOL

70 to 125. Some of the brighter boys, by applying themselves to their studies, have actually been able to advance four grades in a single year. The afternoons are devoted to vocational training—carpentry, painting, automobile mechanics, farming and general clean-up work. It was a beautiful sight to see some boys plowing with tractors. They were as neat and diligent about it as the best hired hand. I was told that Springer boys love to operate any kind of machinery.

Time is allowed for sports, and the school has football, basketball, baseball and track teams. This is good for a boy's morale. When he finds out he has possibilities as an athlete, he will return to his home community with a greater sense of confidence in his abilities. Boys who have shown themselves to be reliable are permitted to take part time jobs downtown in Springer, or on neighboring farms. At times, as during harvest, there may be as many as 35 boys doing such work. They are allowed to keep some of their pay for small luxuries, some is used for clothing, some sent to needy mothers, and some is given to the boys in cash when they leave Springer. The Springer School for Boys maintains a camp at Eagle Nest for 20 boys. Those youngsters put up the buildings they need, do all the camp work, cut and trim trees, and do many odd jobs related to forestry. The school authorities are enthusiastic about this experiment and are eager to establish similar camps elsewhere.

CORONA NEWS

Mrs. A. E. Mulkey

Correspondent

• Mrs. C. C. Torrez

Mrs. C. C. Torrez, 54, a resident of Corona since 1917 (41 years), died at the Fort Stanton Hospital Tuesday, Nov. 23.

Funeral services were at Corona with burial in the Corona cemetery on Wednesday, Nov. 26.

Mrs. Torrez is survived by her husband, Cayetano Torrez and four sons, Adolfo, Johnny, Joe and Eddie of Corona and one daughter, Mrs. Pauline Luera of Grants. Also by her mother, Mrs. Francisca Montoya of Corona; one sister, Mrs. Procopio Tafuya of Corona, and other relatives and friends.

Mrs. Bill Lytle and daughter Ruth returned the first of this week from Hazel, N. J., after a visit with her mother, Mrs. G. P. Williamson, who has been ill.

Rev. and Mrs. L. S. Markham, who are well known in this area, have retired to the Presbyterian ministers' home at Pasadena, Calif. Their address is 2889 San Pasqual, Pasadena 10, Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Green and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ward are in Truth or Consequences this week taking hot baths and other medical treatments.

The Corona Presbyterian fellowship group held a holiday banquet Thursday, Dec. 4, in Corona. There were about 45 young people present, including seven guests from Ancho. Phil Dayton was master of ceremonies.

The Corona schools will hold a Christmas program Tuesday evening, Dec. 18. School will turn out Friday, Dec. 19, for the Christmas holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Schneider announce a new son, Rodger Eugene, born October 31. The Schneiders, former residents of Corona, live at 14817 Purche ave., Gardena, Calif.

Raye Klotz, Corona Beauty Shop operator, has closed her shop and taken a job at Odessa, Texas. She left Corona Sunday for her new place of business. The shop is up for lease, and Corona needs a beauty shop.

Mrs. Bud Bagley left Monday for Odessa, Texas, to be with her mother, Mrs. W. L. Williams who expects to undergo an operation this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Weaver of Alamogordo were visiting old-time friends in Corona the past week end. The Weavers ran a service station in Corona several years ago.

Mrs. E. L. Jarnagin has returned home after a visit with relatives at Dallas, Texas.

Presbyterian Choir To Present Cantata

The Corona Presbyterian church will present a cantata entitled "Night of Miracles" with a choir of 25 on Wednesday, Dec. 17, at 7:30 p.m.

The children's choir will also sing.

The program will be followed by light refreshments. Everyone is invited.

This same cantata will be given at the Noyal Church Saturday evening, Dec. 20.

Vernon Wade to Attend Student Conference

State College, N. M. — Two New Mexico A&M College students will represent the school at the Fourth Annual Student Conference on National Affairs to be held December 10-13 at Texas A&M College.

New Mexico A&M's two delegates will be Vernon Wade and Jack Cooper. Wade is a senior from Corona, N. M. He is president of Inter-Fraternity Council, a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon social fraternity and the American Chemical Society, and is editor of the Swastika, college yearbook. He is also a senator in the A&C Student Senate.

Wade and Cooper are among 100 delegates planning to attend. Delegates will be sent from 60 colleges and universities in the Southwest U.S., Mexico, and Canada.

Extension Club to Meet December 18

The Corona Women's Extension Club will meet December 18, at the recreation room for an afternoon meeting with a Christmas party to exchange gifts and install officers.

Corona cheerleaders, the Misses Sue Sharp, Patsy James, Kathy Thomson, Terry Bussey and Betty Estes attended a State cheerleaders' meeting at Deming on Saturday, Dec. 6. Miss Dorothy Kerr accompanied the girls.

• Licenses to Wed

The County Clerk's office has issued a marriage license to Della Wilson, 54, of Roswell and Stove Cochran, 50, of Caprock. The couple were wed December 4 by Rev. Homer Reid.

To Mary M. Halladay, 29, and Edward L. Wimberly, 21, both of Ruidoso.

Thefts Reported at Two Service Stations

The Corona Service Station, managed by Pete Porter, was broken into through the back door last Thursday.

The cash register and about $160 in cash was taken.

Also three new tires were taken the same evening from the Texaco Station.

Final Deer Hunt This Week End

The last deer hunt of the season takes place December 13-14 in the San Andres-Organ area. All hunters must check in and out. The check station is at the junction of U. S. 70 and Jornada Road, and will be open on the afternoon of December 12.

This hunt is on military reservation, and both Game Department and military regulations are in effect. Proclamation maps are available and should be consulted for detailed information. No portion of Ft. Bliss Reservation will be open. Special tags at $2 are required, in addition to the regular 1958 hunting license.

DUCK AND QUAIL

Ducks are abundant in the southeast area of the state. In the Bitter Lakes vicinity last Saturday Game Department observers saw "20,000 to 25,000" of the birds. Below Ft. Sumner on the Rio Grande and on Alamogordo reservoir they were also plentiful. Success was fair in the southwest area, best near Caballo and Elephant Butte Lakes. Some ducks were taken on ranch tanks. Season remains open to January 15 on both ducks and geese. Not many geese have been reported as yet.

Quail season closes December 14, and large numbers are reported in the southeast, chiefly north of Ft. Sumner both east and west of Highway 84 and in the Milne-land area. The birds are scattered, not concentrating around tanks and water holes as they were earlier in the season. Although many ranches are posted, Conservation Officer Dan Price says most ranchers will allow hunting if asked. The southwest area reports quail hunting poor in the Alamogordo district and fair to good in the rest of the area. Birds are plentiful but hard to find in some localities.

TROUT PLANTING

Rainbow trout planted last week by the Game Department totaled 15,901 and weighed 2,745 pounds.

Storrie Lake got 4,630 (700 pounds) 7 1/2 inch, and 1,900 (4900 pounds) 7 1/2 inch. Bottomless Lakes 1,635 (350 pounds) 7-3/4 inch. Noyal Lake 3,120 (650 pounds) 8 inch. Power Dam 1,590 (300 pounds) 7-3/4 inch. Alamogordo Reservoir 1500 (250 pounds) 7 1/2 inch. Upper Rio Grande 1,400 (195 pounds) 7 1/2 inch.

COUNTY COUPLE AT STATE UNIVERSITY

FRED BOWSER

MRS. FRED BOWSER

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bowser, former Honda High School students, are making scholastic achievements at the University of New Mexico.

The couple are enrolled as juniors at the University.

Mrs. Bowser, the former Barbara McKnight, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur McKnight of Pico, is an English major.

Her husband, son of Mrs. Polly Kimbrell of Pico, is majoring in history and is active in Phi Alpha Theta, honorary history fraternity. In his sophomore year he was a member of Vigilante, honorary society for sophomore men, and this year has been selected for Chakam, junior men's honorary.

Mr. Bowser is looking forward to graduate work in his special field of southwestern history and the Latin-American colonial period. He is working at the university with Dr. Franco V. Scholes, eminent research professor in the field of Spanish-Mexican colonial period in relation to New Mexico.

Educational Grant for Miss Glenda Sue King

Miss Glenda Sue King, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn E. King, has been awarded an educational grant for the year 1959 by Chester M. Alter, chancellor of the University of Denver.

Accompanying the grant was a letter to Glenda in which Chancellor Alter said:

"May I congratulate you upon your accomplishments to date and extend my best wishes for continued success in your college career."

Glenda, a junior elementary education major at the University of Denver, is a pledge of Kappa Delta sorority and is presently employed in the Humanitarian Division as a secretary.

Rambling Around

and far enough up and down for the defenders — armed with the muzzle-loading, powder and ball, percussioned cap-rifles of the period — to make it interesting, not to say hazardous for any band of marauders attacking the hamlet.

Last you are mentally confused about those muzzle loaders, just recall that it was near the close of our Civil War, 1864, when the first fixed or cartridge ammunition was invented and used; and that the best guns of the antebellum period were cap and ball type — and for accuracy within their limit have yet to be equalled.

The names of the most active factors in the building of that Fort, coming to us through second generation tradition, were, named alphabetically, Isadore Balonado, Diego Chavez, Guadalupe Gomez, Sabino Salazar, Felipe Mirando, Teofilo Salazar, Mauricio Sanchez, Andraques Trujillo — sometimes Enriquez or Henry — and his brother Felix Trujillo.

The same second generation tradition credits Andraques or Henry Trujillo with having been the prime mover and directing spirit in the building of this Torreón; and that, in later years, when realizing his approaching end, he requested that his body be buried in the valley to the East, and that one of those huge stones, fallen from the southern cliffs, be rolled over and placed above his remains. An example of local pride and loyalty worth remembering.

INSIDE THE CAPITAL

Fe, was all out for Burroughs from the start.

MINI-MILLERS CLAIM CREDIT

The Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers which claimed credit for electing John Burroughs governor also claimed credit for the election of Sen. Dennis Chavez over Pat Hurley in the 1952 election.

The 1958 boasting has more substance than that of 1952.

The Mine-Millers were the only labor group that endorsed Burroughs and the two counties in which the union is strong came through big for the candidate — Eddy and Grant.

Eddy gave Burroughs 3,300 margin, Grant 2,300 margin, Burroughs won by 1,900. Both margins were higher than observers expected.

The union support could have made the difference.

It was another story in 1952, all elements of labor were backing Chavez and he won by 5,000.

The Mine-Millers in claiming credit for the election of Burroughs and adding that they expected treatment accordingly, put the governor-elect in an embarrassing position.

The union was expelled from CIO-AFL affiliation on charges that it was communist dominated and its officers have a long and continuing record of indictments and convictions regarding communist affiliation.

Burroughs' comment on the

ABOUT PEOPLE

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Morris were called to El Paso Tuesday due to the serious illness of their son Bill. He is an employee of Southern Pacific and is at the Hotel Dieu hospital in El Paso.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Hamilton shipped their household effects to El Paso Wednesday of this week and plan to return there in the near future to make their home. Mr. Hamilton will again be associated with the firm of Robert E. McKee, general contractors.

Mrs. Lena Laughrey, formerly a nurse in Carrizozo, has undergone major surgery at the Southwestern General Hospital in El Paso.

TUFFY TAFUYA BACKED FOR CHIEF

The Los Alamos Democratic organization has a request from Cecilia Tafuya Cleveland (ugh) Truth or Consequences, the former secretary of state, asking that county's endorsement of her brother, Capt. Tuffy Tafuya of Socorro, for chief of the state police. Tuffy is an old hand in the department and a popular one.

The Tafuya interest surprised observers who generally believed that Capt. Pen Winston of Springer would get the place if Chief Joe Roach is replaced.

The state police job, once a political prize for county sheriffs, is open only to members of the force with seven years service and two years in a supervisory capacity.

"Supervisory capacity" covers all from sergeants up.

CASE INFLUENCE DISTURBS MEAD

Ed Mead, the Albuquerque baker elected lieutenant governor and young enough to have ideas, is being quoted by some of his friends as being disturbed about the influence that is being wielded by Paul Case, Albuquerque businessman who is credited with the successful strategy of the Burroughs campaign for governor, in organizing the new state administration.

(The feeling might not be entirely idealistic, Case having backed Floyd Cross of (ugh) Truth or Consequences, for the lost gov nomination in the primary.)

Burroughs is a new one in public affairs and if he were not taking advice from Case it would be some other. It could reasonably be that the figures that Case was successful in getting him in and could be expected to be successful in helping him operate.

The National Foundation, formerly the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, supported solely by public contribution to the March of Dimes each January, is expanding its program this year to offer help to those stricken with arthritis and birth defects as well as polio." Conway said.

• Card of Thanks

To our friends who have been so kind and thoughtful during our bereavement, we will always be grateful. Words cannot express how much it has meant to us.
