Sweet Pea Seed May Be Assistance to Medicine
 The seed of a common variety of flowering sweet pea may hold many of the answers which will help to determine the cause of arthritis and other degenerative diseases, according to a report made by three Iowa scientists at a symposium sponsored by the American Medical Association. By using two specific chemical compounds derived from this seed they have been able to create in animals symptoms of degenerative diseases found in man.

LINCOLN COUNTY IN BYGONE YEARS

20 Years Ago

(From the files of the Lincoln County News, December 16, 1938)

Mrs. C. Carl and son Charles were in El Paso for two days. They were accompanied by Miss Teddy Lee Ward.

The Lincoln County Museum of Art, History and Archeology was organized at Lincoln December 8 with about fifty people present from all parts of the county. The society's trustees were: Wilbur Coe, A. T. Pflingsten, George Titworth, Geo. T. McQuillen, Larry H. Dow, Lonnie Atkinson, Mrs. Geo. McCarty, Mrs. J. M. Penfield and Dan Kuslanovich.

Mrs. Veda Rustin of Santa Maria, Calif., was visiting her daughter, Mrs. Claud Brannum.

Mrs. A. C. Lehner of White Oaks fell and sprained her hip.

Mr. Dutton was in charge of laying sidewalks by the city park in Carrizozo.

Wayne Zumwalt and Bradley Smith were Roswell visitors.

The Grizzlies lost a basketball game to Socorro, the Southwest champions, by a score of 13 to 20.

Camp Capitan for girls issued an invitation for all to attend their play, "La Pasada."

Applications were being taken in Carrizozo for National Youth Administration project work.

The United War Fund campaign in Lincoln County went handsomely over the top.

John M. Keith, who lived in Lincoln County when our mountains were little hills, has returned to spend a few weeks with friends here and in White Oaks. John has been away and has returned several times during the past half century. Wherever he goes — to the Texas oilfields, the gold fields of Nevada or the orange groves of California, upon his return he is warmly welcomed by a host of friends. He may flip a coin to determine his course when he leaves but as "The sunflower turns to God when the sun sets," just as unerringly will John steer his course to Lincoln county when the wanderlust ebbs.

The Carrizozo Trading Company advertised it was paying the "highest prices for hides and pelts."

Services in Ancho for Early Day Resident

Sunday morning, December 14, at 10 o'clock a most impressive graveside memorial service was conducted by Rev. Bill Lytle for the late Mrs. Fern E. Stewart of Albuquerque.

Mrs. Stewart died at the age of 81 in Fresno, Calif., where her son Hollis had taken her hoping the California climate would be beneficial to her failing health.

It was her wish to have her remains interred in the Straley family plot in the Ancho cemetery.

Sunday morning was peaceful and quiet with the sun shining brightly, almost symbolic of the life Mrs. Stewart had led.

She was unassuming but spreading sunshine and friendliness everywhere.

Mrs. Stewart was a New Mexico pioneer woman having lived at Alamogordo and Carrizozo when the railroad was first built.

She also lived on a homestead near Corona and made that her home for about six years. She will be remembered by some of the old timers of Lincoln County.

She told many interesting and enjoyable stories about railroad and homestead life. She was also one of Albuquerque's old timers, having made that her home since 1914.

She was the mother of four children, two passing on early in life. Her late son Verne "Spec" Stewart died in Albuquerque in 1955. He was New Mexico's golf champion for 11 consecutive years.

She is survived by two sisters of Texas, two grandchildren Clayton and Barbara Stewart of Lubbock, Texas, and one son Hollis of Albuquerque.

R. E. Rlanger, a former S. P. operator at Ancho, is recuperating in a Hereford, Texas, hospital from major surgery. Mrs. Rlanger expected to take him home to Corona, Wednesday.

B. A. and J. A. Hightower and Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Wilson attended the bull sale in Raton. Each rancher made a purchase.

Mr. and Mrs. E. I. Harkoy and Marilyn were business visitors in Alamogordo on Saturday.

Mrs. June Straley and Dixie Bond were Alamogordo shoppers last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Driskell and baby son Mark of El Paso, were guests of the Straley families last week end. They accompanied Mr. and Mrs. George Straley, who were returning home from a trip to California.

Fred Aragon and family of Morenci, Ariz., were Sunday visitors in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Salomon Aragon.

E. J. Taylor, our S. P. agent and Mrs. Taylor of Carrizozo had as their guests Mrs. Taylor's sister and family of Macon, Ga., for a short visit last week. They accompanied the Taylors to several points of interest in Lincoln County.

Hollis Stewart of Albuquerque spent Saturday and Sunday with the Straleys.

Spanish Customs Color Christmas in This State

Christmas has been fairly standardized throughout the United States, but in New Mexico the holidays are colored by old Spanish customs that were brought here 400 years ago.

The result is a happy enrichment, in the opinion of Richard Bradford, whose article, "Christmas Customs Along the Rio Grande" appears in the December issue of New Mexico Magazine.

The Spanish padres, conquistadores and settlers established their world, he points out, — the Christmas carols, farolitos, Twelfth Night celebrations, torchlight processions. These have been handed down from generation to generation. Even the humble piñon tree, though not a picture-book conifer, ideally meets the situation in low-celled New Mexico homes, he thinks.

"There's nothing missing," he says, "but certain regional touches have been added in which New Mexicans delight — exotic variations that set their holidays apart, just a bit, from the rest of the world."

The special Christmas issue carries 20 pages of color, many of them carrying out the theme of Christmas. This is the magazine's largest edition of the year, circulation-wise. A total of 38,000 copies have been printed. As a special feature of the Christmas

BY FREDDA FERRY

Hi everybody! Well, I guess by now everything has calmed down in the way of basketball games, but last week the Hondo Eagles put every nest to flight at the Round Robin Tournament at Carrizozo!

Thursday night basketball teams and fans watched the Eagles and the Carrizozo Grizzlies fight out a struggling game with two exciting overtimes. The score at the end of regular play was 49-49. At the end of the first overtime it was 53-53, and then with John Blea's final baskets of the game, the game ended with a score of 59-57, favor of Hondo.

That same night Captain and Ruidoso fought the same kind of a battle, this game ending with a close score of 43-41, in favor of Ruidoso. Friday night the first game was played by Ruidoso and Carrizozo. The Grizzlies never gave up, and won by a margin of 11 points. The Eagles then soared down on the Capitán Tigers, and outscored this squad, 66 to 61.

They then had the only team that had not been defeated, and Saturday night was the championship game for them, their opponents the Ruidoso Warriors. Ruidoso maintained a 4 to 7 point lead up until the closing three minutes of the game, and then the Eagles, led by Johnny Gomez, who sank two field goals, demonstrated their best ability by pulling ahead and winning by a breathtaking score of 55-58.

Top scoring honors for the Hondo Eagles went to James Sanchez, who was high point man against Ruidoso with 21 points, against Carrizozo with 22 points and against Capitán with 15 points. This made a total of 58 points for James in the three games. Eight of the ten Eagle players made their share of points and helped to hold the team together.

Each and every game had more than its share of excitement and the spectators were certainly far from being bored! The teams showed good sportsmanship throughout every game, besides demonstrating good basketball ability. The coaches, referees, and teams deserve a great deal of credit, and we are so proud of the champions, the Hondo Eagles, and the three other teams that participated. Congratulations, Eagles!

This Friday, Dec. 19, the Eagles will tangle with the "Redheads," a group of basketball players that travel throughout the country. This game promises to offer a great deal of entertainment for all basketball fans. Saturday, Dec. 20, Elida will meet the Eagles at Hondo. Good luck, Eagles!

Bud McCrady, a junior and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCrady, has been chosen for the first team in Class C southern state football. Bud, who played

Union No. 1

By PAM REID

Boy, Oh Boy! What a week end! I spent three happy days in Albuquerque, visiting old friends and just really having a "ball." Went down there with the McDaniels and stayed with some old friends—especially Barbara Bailey who is the daughter of the Methodist Minister at Wesley Church in Albuquerque.

That's Rev. Hugh Bailey, who was the preacher over at Ruidoso last year. I bet a lot of you folks know him. I can't thank them enough for the wonderful hospitality they showed me. I'm mentioning this because I know Rev. Bailey gets the Lincoln County News and they can read my "thank in the paper!"

I certainly found a box full of letters from the "Union" when I got back. One of them, meant especially for me, gave me a kick. The three girls who were having blonde trouble and wrote in about it, asking my advice were talking about me all the time! Gosh! I'm flattered! No less than three girls having trouble over me! I'm a success!

If you remember, my advice to them (or "her," 'cause I've got a sneaking notion it was a "her" and not a "them" — and I even think I know who; but I "ain't saying") was to tell the "blonde problem" to her face and show her the letter. Well, "she" did the next best thing and sent the clipping with my advice to me with a little note printed out so discreetly: "Can't you take a hint?"

So there I am, giving myself advice! According to the advice I gave, I need help and a real friend who will tell me the facts about myself and that I probably have an inferiority complex. Well, if I do, my Dad says I'm always "over compensating."

Seriously, though, this isn't the only "crank" letter I've received left halfback for the Eagle squad, is one of the eleven boys throughout the state so honored. Coaches and sports writers from all over the state chose the boys for these teams. Bud is also on the list of Honorable Mention for the All-State football team. Congratulations, Bud!

Hope Silva, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eustaquio Silva, was chosen as Student of the Week by the Eagle Screen staff. Hope, a senior, is a variety cheerleader, president of the pep club, and office receptionist, and participates in many school and social functions. Congratulations, Hope!

That's it for this week, so take care and I'll see you next week!

and, as a rule, I don't print them because I don't think the Union is interested in personal grudges or opinions about me. I may be a blonde menace (wish I were) and "two faced" (although my Dad says I couldn't be because I'd wear the other one if I were) and a problem but I'm sure it just doesn't make good "copy."

Your letters, with your problems and your answers do make good copy—so keep them coming! And, as far as taking a "hint": I don't need a house to fall on me! But if you are my friend you'll tell me about it personally and if you're not my friend, well, then who cares what you think!

Now I've told you the "dirt" perhaps you won't mind if I give you some of the "flowers." And this is what makes it fun to write this column; letters like this one:

Dear Pam: Of course I was kidding, darling. My boy friend hasn't got a dime and as far as giving me a convertible; he's an Airman 3/c and hasn't even got a license to drive! I still think your column is "darling" and if you can take a little kidding, more power to you.—Honey Pot.

Dear Pam: I'm certainly glad they published your picture. Now I know what you look like and you're really cute. I'm still laughing over the "stomped foot" episode and the girl who wrote the "darling" letter. (I think she was kidding, too). I know you don't have room for a long letter from me but just let me say I really enjoy your column and hope you keep writing it forever. The girl who has to stay in bed—Debbie. (Thanks Debbie, I needed that; but forever is a long time.)

Dear Pam: I am 14 years old. I have a boy friend who is moving to California during Christmas vacation. Do you think I should drop him now or write to him and continue to go with him? I would sure like some advice. Desperately yours—B. B.

Dear B.B.—I can see that you do have a problem. If you like this guy enough I think you should continue to write to him; but you should still go with other guys because you should not shut yourself out of your social life because of him. You are still young. Don't get too serious.—Pam.

(Let's have some comments on this, Union.)

Dear Pam: You asked what we think about more news. I say, the heck with the news! Let's have more letters! The thing that makes your column interesting are the letters from all those crazy teenagers (don't worry, I'm one myself) and the advice you give is tops. So keep it up, Pam, no matter what anybody says—'cause there'll always be those who would like to be doing it but can't or won't and they'll give you trouble — Sam Magee, Ruidoso Downs. (You said a mouthful, Sam. Thanks.—Pam.)

There's a lot more letters; but haven't room this week. Just leave with this parting word: Telling a person to be himself is the worst advice you can give to some people. Love—Pam

Woman's Auxiliary Meets in Carrizozo

The Nogal Woman's Auxiliary met Thursday at the home of Mrs. Greer in Carrizozo.

Fifteen ladies from Nogal and Carrizozo attended the meeting.

We are still in the midst of getting organized.

Mrs. Greer, co-hosted by Mrs. Alexander had her home decorated in the Christmas spirit with lovely candelabra on the table, sent to Mrs. Faye Wooten from her son in Germany.

After the business meeting a grab bag of Christmas gifts was held followed by lovely refreshments of sandwiches, nuts, candy, cake, punch and coffee.

Mrs. Effie Peacock of Tucuman was a visitor in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Zumbalt last week.

Carolyn, Edward and Leon May were recent visitors of Mr. and Mrs. James Olsen of Tularosa.

Mrs. Olsen is the children's mother who recently was married to James Olsen of Tularosa.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Cox returned Monday from an extended trip through Texas and Oklahoma.

Among places and persons visited were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Jones, Mineral Wells, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Cox, Fort Worth, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Jewel Marx and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Pitts of Decatur, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Cox of McKinney, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Denney of Hobart, Okla.; and Mr. and Mrs. James Cox of Panhandle, Texas.

The Coxes got caught in the snowstorm in Oklahoma but had no trouble traveling.

Ralph Dunlap returned from an Extension Agent's conference at Las Cruces Friday.

Choir Presents Fine Christmas Program

The young people and the choir gave a wonderful Christmas program Tuesday night under the direction of Ted Colecott.

Ted Colecott, leader, should be given a big hand of applause for his work with the young people.

The choir is wonderful and doing all their singing a capella and it is beautiful.

After the program approximately 28 young people from the Carrizozo Methodist Church and the Nogal choir met at the Ted Zumbalt home for a get together, where everyone had a grand time.

Rev. and Mrs. Ralph Hall of Laguna, N. M., were visitors on the Nogal Mesa and Nogal Thursday and Friday, stopping to visit Floy Skinner and an overnight guest of Mrs. Lydia Peebles.

Rev. Hall is looking good and feels wonderful.
