Apple Field Day Topic of Meeting

Plans for a 1959 apple field day, tree survey and statewide pie-baking contest were discussed by the recently organized New Mexico Apple Council at the first meeting of the board of directors Monday in Albuquerque.

The two-hour afternoon session, attended by the 10 members of the board, plus 20 visitors, was held at the 4-H Club building on Indian School Road. W. G. Shreevogost of Hondo, president of the group, officiated at the meeting.

The tree survey, expected to be completed by April 30, is to get more accurate information on the apple industry as a whole and the promotion of the industry in New Mexico, he said.

The statewide pie-baking contest, with finals to be held at the New Mexico State Fair in September, is expected to draw entries from each county in the state. The board of directors is scheduled to operate on the county level in preparing the contest. Eliminations will be held at each county fair, he said.

John Thomas who is on the board of directors in Lincoln County will be in charge of the contest in this

Recreation Program Postponed One Week

Due to the Easter vacation week end, this Saturday morning's recreation program has been dispensed with at the Carrizozo High School.

Superintendent J. T. Clegg and school board member Clarence E. Shaw attended a two-day annual conference for superintendents and school board members Monday and Tuesday in Albuquerque.

There is a new Nazarene sign now on the highway near the Nazarene camp so people can find the camp easier. The paved driveway also goes to the Angus cemetery and Angus community building.

The committee in charge of the affair includes Harry Kayost of Albuquerque; Ernest Sichter, Los Lunas, and Vincent Curtis, Corrales, with Ernest Alery, Corrales, chairman.

Plans for a 1959 apple field day were also talked for the Corrales-Pena Blanca area sometime in August, Shreevogost said.

The board is scheduled to meet again in May, he noted.

Phonorama to Visit Carrizozo April 1

A fascinating telephone exhibit on wheels will be in Carrizozo, Wednesday, April 1. It will be north of the Coffee Cup Cafe and will be opened to the public from 1 p.m. in the afternoon until 6 p.m. in the afternoon.

Sponsored by Mountain States Telephone, Phonorama is a 42-foot trailer containing colorful displays of communication equipment and services. The displays trace the development of the telephone in America, from its invention by Alexander Graham Bell in 1876 through today's miracles in communication.

Russ Eddings, manager of the local telephone office here, said that many telephone users do not know that the Telephone Company has been carrying radio network programs over telephone lines since the early 1920's and today transmits the nation's television programs from coast to coast and border to border. Many oil and pipeline firms use Telephone Company facilities to control and measure the flow of their products through underground pipelines. Animated displays on these sub-

Nike Drive-in Theatre To Open Sunday Eve.

Manager Bill Skelton announced this week that the Nike Drive-in Theatre in Carrizozo will open for the summer season Easter Sunday evening, March 29.

The show is "The Reluctant Debutante." The ticket office opens at 6:30 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Morris, Pamela and twins Jeff Jr. and Kelly Lynn of Lubbock are spending the Easter vacation in Carrizozo visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Morris, and friends.

Subjects and many others are included in Phonorama.

A television display is proving very popular, according to Eddings. It includes a television camera and screen, and everyone going through Phonorama gets to see themselves on television.

Included, also, is a demonstration of stereophonic sound, a development of the Bell Laboratories.

Eddings and other employees of the company will be on hand to greet their friends during the shows. There is no charge, and everyone is cordially invited.

Charter Granted To Rotary Club

Evanston, Ill. (Special) — The newly-organized Rotary Club of Carrizozo has been granted a charter by the board of directors of Rotary International, it was announced last week at Rotary headquarters in Evanston.

Rotary's worldwide membership today stands at an all-time high. In the last eight months, 229 new Rotary Clubs have been organized in 43 countries and there are now 10,095 Rotary clubs in more than 100 countries throughout the world.

President of the Rotary Club of Carrizozo, which has 21 charter members, is Ralph Petty, co-owner of Gambles store. Johnson Stearns, owner of the El Cibola Hotel, is club secretary.

Sponsor of the new Rotary club is the Rotary Club of Alamogordo, with Thomas C. Lucky of Alamogordo serving as special representative of the Rotary district governor.

Weekly meetings of the Rotary Club of Carrizozo will be held at 12:05 p.m. Thursdays at the Village Inn.

Carrizozo Street Paving Project Discussed at Special Council Meeting

The Carrizozo Town Board of Trustees met Monday night in a special meeting at the city hall to discuss paving plans with Ashley G. Classen, El Paso engineer. Project Engineer Sam Sampson was also present.

Steps to be taken by the town in setting up the paving project were outlined, as follows:

Arranging for financing over a 10-year period. Provisional order by the town board, calling for the paving project.

Engineer's report, which will set out description of each lot, its frontage on the paving, estimated cost of the paving and the estimated benefit of the paving to each property owner. This report is required to be published.

Calling a meeting to hear any protests of property owners whose property faces the proposed paving.

Call for bids and awarding of bid.

Combined Church Choirs to Present The "Crucifixion"

A "combined choir" of the various churches throughout the area will present John Stainer's "Crucifixion" at the Trinity Methodist Church this Friday at 7:30 p.m.

Denominations represented are Presbyterians, Seventh Day Adventists, Episcopalians and Methodists.

A "dress rehearsal" at the church last Tuesday was witnessed by many music lovers and declared a "beautiful success."

After the rehearsal refreshments were served to the singers and their guests by Mr. and Mrs. James Morris, newest members of Trinity Methodist church.

Rev. Reid requests all singers to be at the church not later than 7 p.m., Friday. Ladies will wear choir robes and the men are asked to wear dark suits.

Carrizozo "Queen" Candidate Named For Blossom Festival

The Carrizozo Woman's Club is sponsoring Miss Opal McBrayer for Queen of the Apple Blossom Festival.

A committee to select Carrizozo's representative reported to the club at its meeting last Friday. Miss McBrayer was their unanimous selection.

This year's Apple Blossom Queen to be chosen at the festival will be determined by the number of votes each secured. The girl with the most number of votes will be selected Queen.

Votes are 1 cent each. The Woman's Club has placed jars in a number of business houses in Carrizozo.

"Mrs. E. T. Fletcher, president of the Carrizozo Woman's Club urges all to be generous in their contributions." We have a fine candidate and we would like to have her win," she said this week.

No Easter Service Sunday at Hondo Community Church

Wednesday night, March 25, Rev. Bitterline conducted the Easter Communion service for the Hondo Community Church.

There will not be the usual regular worship service or Sunday School service at this church on Easter Sunday.

The "mother churches" in Ruidoso have extended an invitation to attend the Sunday morning Easter services there.

Hairdressers Have Election of Officers

Members of the Hairdressers and Cosmetologists of Otero-Lincoln County, Unit No. 12, held election of officers Wednesday evening, March 18, in Alamogordo.

The new officers are Dorothy Rau, Alamogordo, president; Elwanda Marr, Tularosa, vice president; Carmen Vidaurri, Carrizozo, secretary; Coma Jackson, Alamogordo, treasurer, and Dixie Sparks, Capitlan, public relations. Installation of officers will be in Alamogordo on Saturday evening, April 18.

Combined Church Choirs to Present The "Crucifixion"

Mr. Classen said that it would take about three weeks to prepare the Engineer's report. The preliminary survey has already been completed by Mr. Sampson. (See map below).

Bidders will be asked for bids on two types of paving: (1) triple penetration and (2) asphaltic concrete hot mix.

The street paving will be 41 feet in width. Curb and gutters are included. The estimated cost of the paving, Mr. Classen estimated, would be $5 a front foot. "We hope to get a bid that will reduce this cost somewhat," he said.

One determining factor in paving costs, he said, is the availability of good paving material. He said that gypsum and hard rock in the proper proportion make an excellent foundation for paving.

The town board would appreciate any information on such material within a hauling distance of a few miles from Carrizozo.

Paving cost may be paid over a period of 10 years, with two payments a year. Based on cost of paving at $5 a front foot, the owner of a 50-foot lot could pay the $250 over a period of ten years, or $12.50 each six months, plus interest on the unpaid balance.

It was brought out at the meeting that any additional property owners, other than those in the paving area already proposed, make such request to the town board within the next few days.

Once the provisional order is passed by the board, it is unlikely that any changes can be made in the project.

Mayer Withers said that if people in any other areas want paving they should make their request at this time. "We would like to have the assent of more than 80% of the property owners in each block when such request for paving is made by any property owner," he added.

Name Appraisers for Angus-Capitan Road

Judge W. T. Scoggin has appointed three appraisers to fix value of property in the condemnation suit entered by the Board of County Commissioners vs. Max Coll, et al, defendants.

The suit involves property on State Road 43, affected by the proposed new construction, Angus to Capitan.

The appraisers are Len Morehart, T. A. Spencer Jr. and John Harkey.

Story of Basketball Told to Lions Club

Bernard Lonbs, basketball coach at Carrizozo High School, was guest speaker at last week's dinner meeting of the Carrizozo Lions Club.

He gave an interesting account of the history of basketball from the days of its "invention" in the middle west before the turn of the century.

It was originally devised, he said, as a sport that would fill in the gap between the football and baseball seasons.

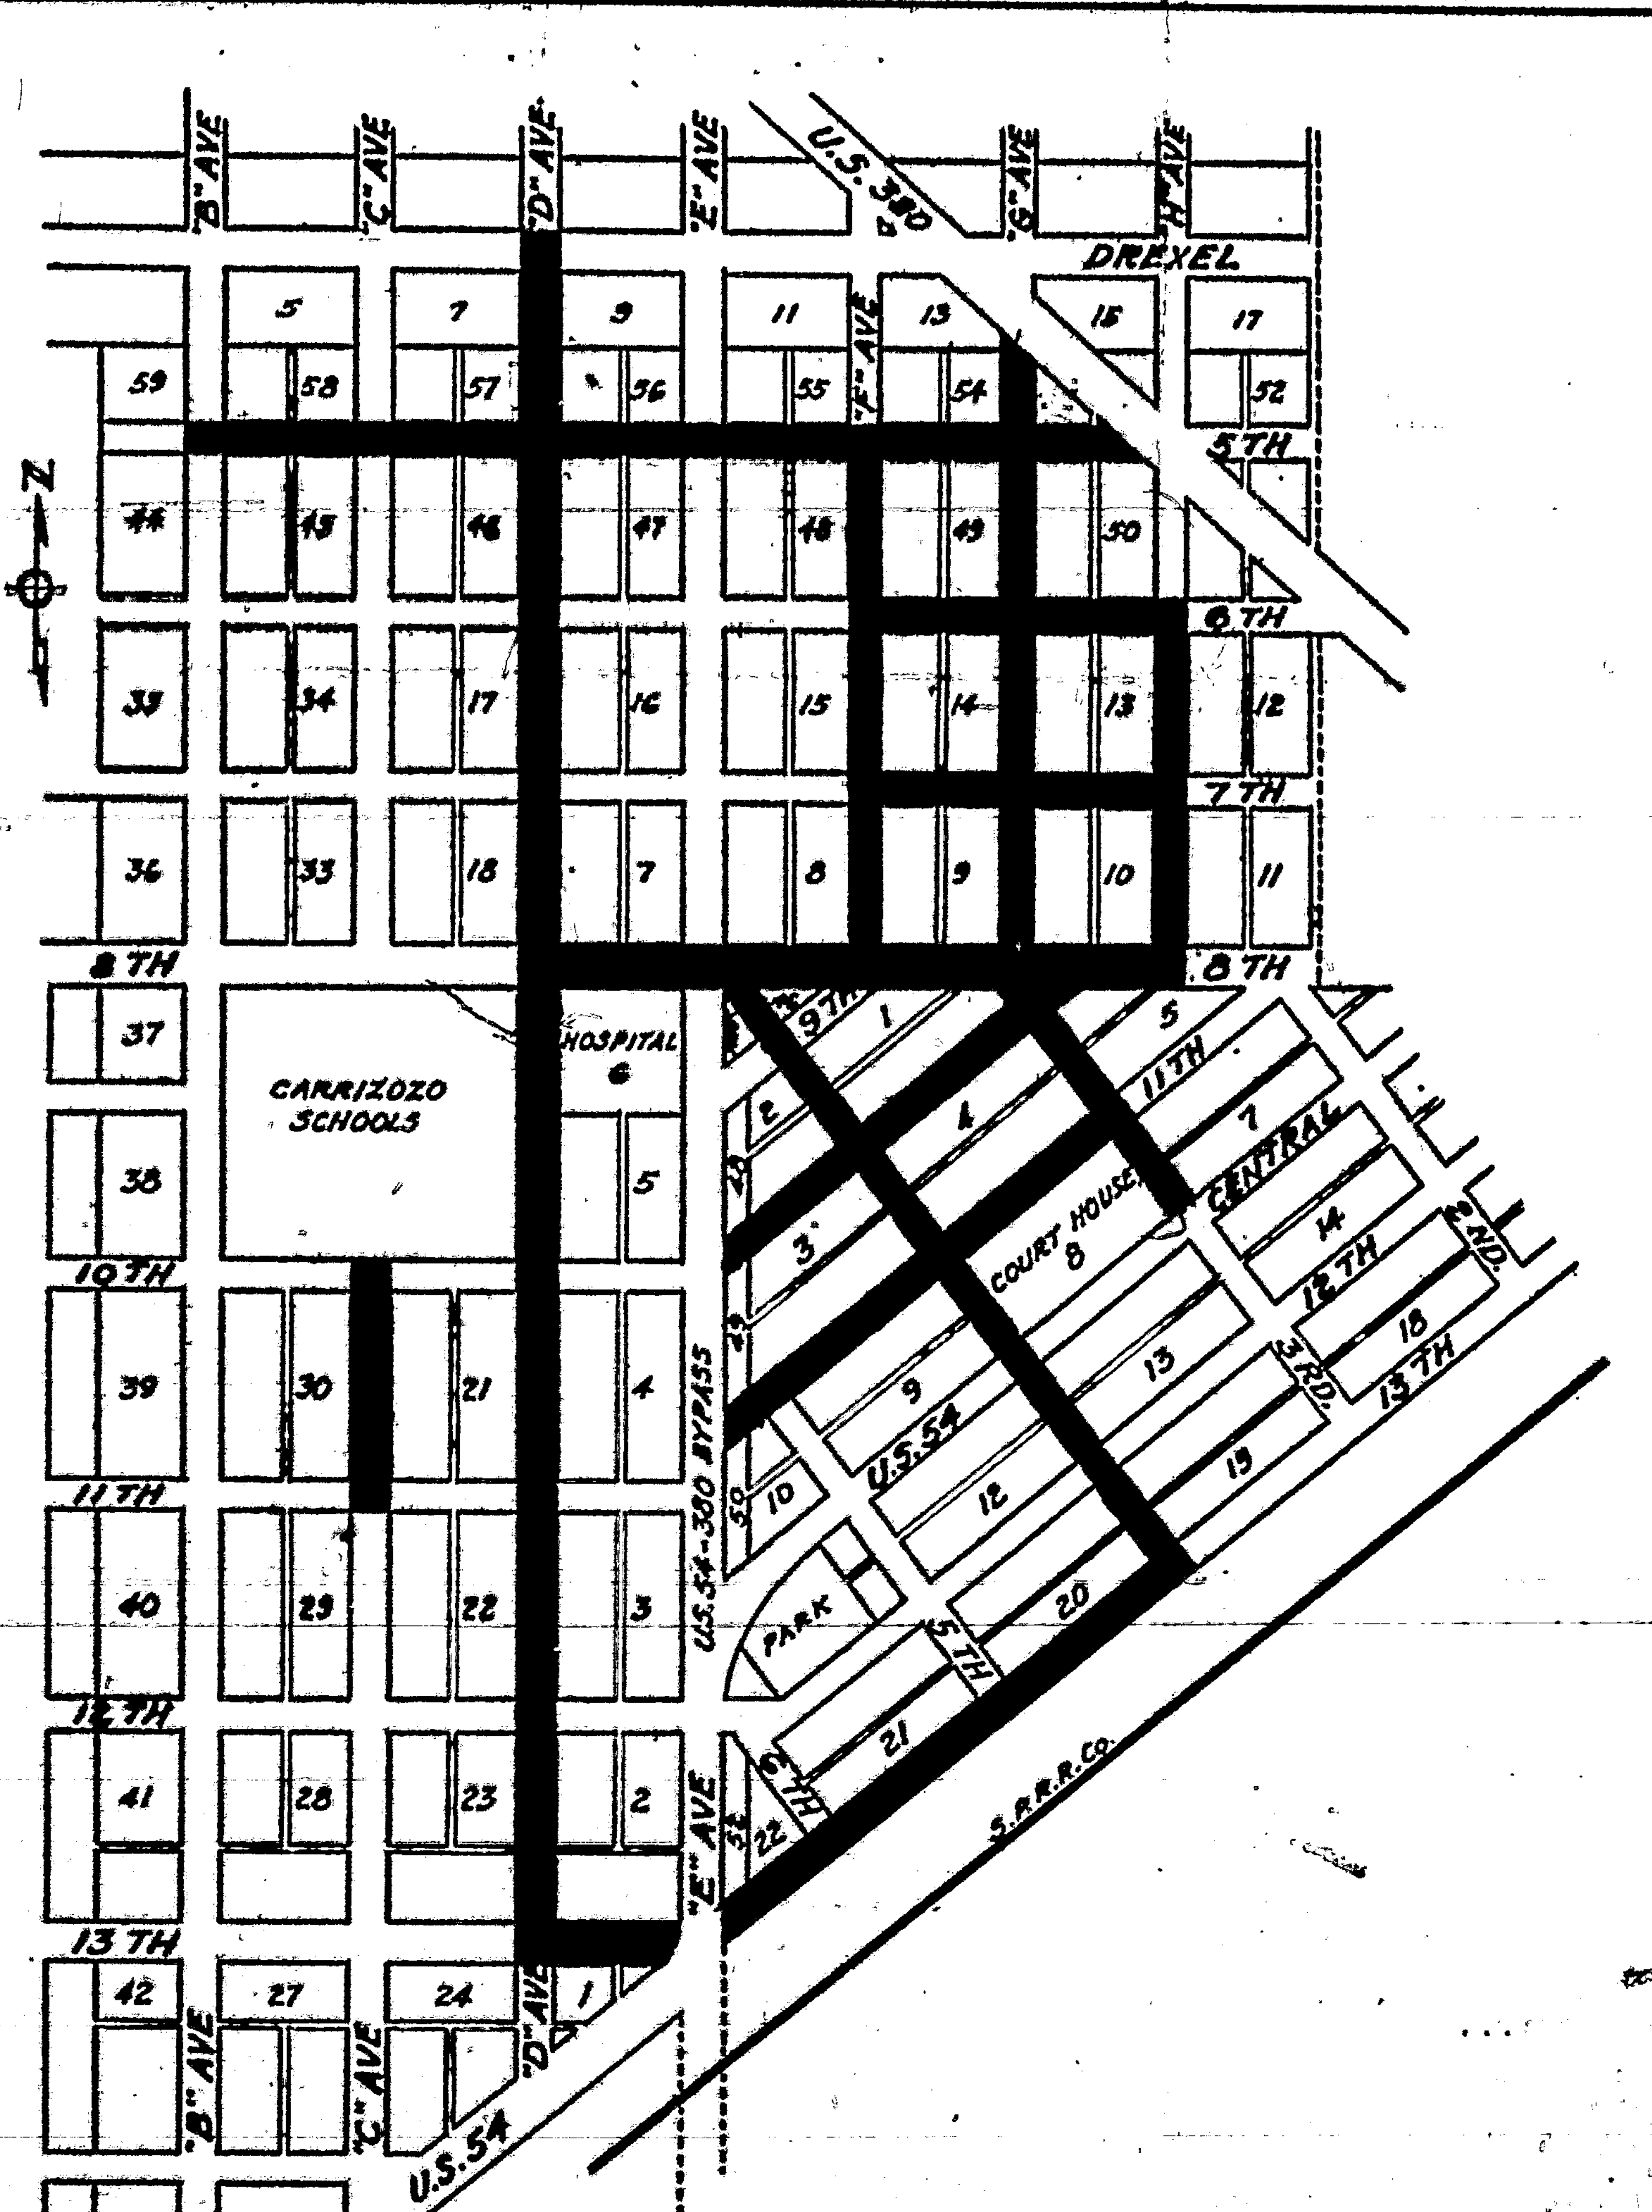

This sport, which is the only major athletic competition wholly American in origin, draws more spectators than any other. "This is because," he said "every town and hamlet, however small, can have a basketball team as it takes only five players."

At next Thursday's dinner meeting of the Club a nominating committee will be appointed to select the new slate of officers.

Fish Derby at T or C Begins April First

Anglers of the Carrizozo area are eligible to participate in the $3,120 Fish Derby beginning April 1 in Truth or Consequences. L. V. Walk, president of the Truth or Consequences group, said prize money each week will total $120.

Each week, beginning April 1, and continuing for 26 weeks, $20 each will be paid for the longest bass, catfish, crappie, trout, carp and walleyed pike. The pike group is being added for the first time this year.

The derby is sponsored by a group of businessmen. There is no entry fee and nothing to buy in Truth or Consequences to be eligi-

Elephant Butte Lake is expected to be one of the best bass fishing lakes in the Southwest this year. Last year, millions of eight and nine-inch black bass were seen in the lake, according to the New Mexico Department of Game and Fish.

Elephant Butte Lake is open the year around for fishing. Year around fishing also is available in the Rio Grande which flows thru the city. Recent catches produced rainbow trout as long as 21 inches.

Programs Available On Water Problems

Beginning April 1, programs on water problems and watershed management in New Mexico will be available without charge to interested groups throughout the state. The programs will consist of talks illustrated by the use of slides, charts and motion pictures. They will provide information, in popular form, on sources of water and the relationship of topography, climate, soil and vegetation of water yield and watershed management.

This program service is one of several educational activities to be carried out by a project recently initiated at the University of New Mexico and sponsored by the Charles Lathrop Pack Forestry Foundation. The project will eventually provide television programs, a sound and color film, exhibits and other visual education materials dealing with watershed management in the state. Encouragement of teacher-training programs, development of study and discussion guides, and other activities are also proposed.

To avoid unnecessary travel expense, programs must be scheduled well in advance. For further information write to George W. Worley, Director, Watershed Conservation Education Project, the University of New Mexico, Building T-21, Albuquerque, N. M. Please suggest the nature and size of the group concerned, as well as dates preferred and one or two alternate dates.

Oldsmobile Said Ahead In Sales of Medium Price Cars for 1959

Lansing — Oldsmobile, solidly established leader of the medium price class, sold 15% more cars in the month of February than for the same month of 1958, Jack F. Wolfgram, general manager of Oldsmobile and a vice president of General Motors reported last week.

"Oldsmobile dealers delivered 30,031 new 1959 Oldsmobiles to their customers during the comparatively short month of February," said Wolfgram. "This indicates a higher daily rate of sale than was achieved in January, strengthening my belief that with the advent of better weather across the nation Oldsmobile sales will increase substantially during the coming months."

Wolfgram noted that Oldsmobile, which moved into leadership of the medium price class over a year ago, has also retained that sales position since the beginning of the 1959 model year.

Nature blows hot as well as cold in Alaska. According to the World Book Encyclopedia, the most violent volcanic eruption ever recorded occurred on the Alaska Peninsula in 1912. Mount Katmai hurled about six cubic miles of rocky matter into the air, covering most of northwestern America with gases and volcanic ash.

Alaska has the highest birth rate and the lowest death rate of any state, according to the 1959 Annual Supplement of The World Book Encyclopedia.

New Mexico Map to Be on Giant Cake

Santa Fe — A map of New Mexico has been sent to the Air Force to be used as the pattern for a giant cake.

The State Tourist Bureau received an appeal for a large map from the food service officer of the 2500th Support Squadron at Mitchell Air Force Base, New York.

"We here at Mitchell Air Force Base are planning on baking and completely decorating a large cake in the shape of the state of New Mexico," wrote Maj. Samuel J. Martone. "The cake will be approximately four feet wide and five feet long. In order to do the job correctly we require a good map approximately the size mentioned above."

The major didn't say what the cake was for.

The Tourist Bureau obtained a map from the highway department, measuring approximately four-by-four, and sent it to Major Martone.

LINCOLN COUNTY IN BYGONE YEARS 20 Years Ago

(From the files of the Lincoln County News, March 24, 1939)

The Ladies Aid Society of White Oaks were making plans for a "Copper Ball" this Saturday, April 1.

A farewell dance was to be given at the C. C. camp as a farewell to 75 young men who had been at the camp from two to four years.

Mrs. Lucinda May, county pioneer woman, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Mattie Littleton. Mrs. May moved with her family to New Mexico in 1885.

Dr. R. E. Blaney was to leave for Santa Fe to interview Governor Miller about his "pet peeve"—Highway 54.

Pick Warden Jr. spent the week end with his cousin, John Allen Hightower, at the ranch.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Nix moved to Ancho from the Gallinas Mountains.

The Fort Stanton Legion and Auxiliary entertained in honor of the 20th anniversary of the Legion. Carrizozo visitors included Mrs. Poe Cohn of Roswell, Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Porter of Ancho, Mrs. Edith Leonard of El Paso and Charles and Fred Rolland of Michigan.

40 Years Ago

(From the files of the Carrizozo News, March 29, 1919)

E. K. Jones returned home after 18 months with Uncle Sam's fighting forces.

The Roswell Chamber of Commerce voiced vigorous opposition to any further diversion of water from the Hondo basin by the Rock Island Railroad Company.

Agricultural prospects in the county were good following good winter rains and snow.

B. R. Robinson was in Carrizozo for dental work, from his home at Parsons.

The county was to go on daylight saving time, starting Sunday. Oscar N. Rowden sold to Lois S. Rowden, 160 acres near Polly for $1,000.

Dr. R. T. Lucas sold his office and residence on Alamogordo avenue to Frank H. Miller.

From 60,000 to 70,000 German helmets were to be shipped to the U. S. to go as prizes in the forthcoming Victory Loan drive.

GRIST & GRITS

By OLIN MILLER (Copyright, 1959)

"The East German Communists charged the U. S., Britain and France with misusing supply lines to West Berlin by transporting arms over them." — News Item. It's easy to tell when Communists are planning some dirty work against the West, as they invariably first make accusations against it.

"Those who are responsible for increasing inflation are sellers and buyers—in that order."

"A California legislator introduced a bill to require hunters who shoot other hunters to file a report of the shooting with the Fish and Game department." — News Item. He probably assumes that department would wish to determine whether the shooting occurred during the closed season on hunters.

"The oldest man in town says he's almost as old as some of our 'temporary' taxes."

"A man spends only one-fourth of a second in winking his eye." — Newspaper filler. And in many cases, he spends the next 40 years wishing he hadn't winked it.

"Would you like to know where the world came from?" Catchline of book ad. Well, yes, but we'd be enormously more interested in learning where it's going.

Probably nothing is so painfully delightful than an acute case of puppy love in the spring.

It is predicted that man will succeed in going to the moon and returning long before he learns how to cure the common cold.

"What is rock-and-roll music?" someone asks. It would be a comparable question if a person should ask what chaotic order is.

Girl Scouts have been supplying those on reducing diets an excellent excuse for breaking training.

It seems we've fast learned how to have prosperity in spite of a growing number of unemployed people, but it is doubted if this trend will continue until we have prosperity without anybody working.

In some cases the negative approach gets astonishing results. For example, a certain man has a wife and four children who 10 years ago asked her, "You wouldn't want to get married, would you?"

The following is from a society page write-up in the San Francisco Call-Bulletin: "An April wedding is planned after the honeymoon." It is assumed that some months following the wedding the couple will become engaged.

"A mother of five children who thought she had passed the child-bearing age gave birth to twins yesterday." — From a news story. It is suggested that she name them Post and Script.

Although it is reported the state of Michigan is bankrupt, it hasn't filed petition in bankruptcy, nor have its creditors taken steps to foreclose on it.

"General Electric says it has produced a sound 20 octaves above high C." — Science note. That's almost as high a note as blowhard Satchmo Armstrong can blast out of a trumpet.

"At least once a day you should seclude yourself in a quiet place and relax and meditate," advises a psychologist. Yes, you should—the nap soon brought on by meditation would benefit you.

Many who climb the social ladder lick the boots of those above them and step in the faces of those below.

"It's difficult to tell what Khrushchev is up to," says Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill.). Oh, no, it isn't—he's up to no good.

It's easier to run a hundred-yard hurdle than wiggle into an over-tight girdle.

"Striking gravediggers shook a hearse and seized shovels from members of a family digging a grave in a New York metropolitan area cemetery." — News item. Now if some strikers should picket a maternity ward, just about every human activity from the cradle to the grave will have been struck against or picketed.

A lot of people are so heavily loaded down with time payments they don't know where their next installment creditor is coming from.

Local Student Appears With Duke U. Band

Durham, N. C.—Paul Turner, of Carrizozo appeared with the Duke University Concert Band on its North Carolina tour, March 23-26, under the direction of Dr. Paul R. Bryan.

The group presented a pre-premiere performance of portions of Vittorio Giannini's "Symphony for Band" written especially for the Duke University Concert Band. Turner, a freshman at Duke, is the son of Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Turner of Carrizozo.

Lots of things. Even if you don't happen to own securities, jewelry, or heirlooms, here are a few of the valuable papers that most people feel deserve protection behind the time-locked door of a steel-and-concrete vault like ours: Savings bonds; service records; insurance policies; household inventory (for fire insurance purposes); birth, marriage, and pension certificates. And such protection costs mere pennies weekly at our bank. Reserve your safe deposit box with us now; transfer your papers to it soon!

By MARGARET RENCH

Sgt. and Mrs. McCollum and family of Roswell were transferred to Clovis February 16. Her mother, Mrs. James Howard, left by bus from Hondo last Monday to visit them and bring Norma home with her. After a lovely visit and a trip to the dentist, she returned by bus on Thursday. Norma is such a sweet little lady and enjoys her grandparents. They can hardly live without her as she has been with them most of her life.

Bob Floyd purchased a beautiful new Palomino horse at the Sims sale in Roswell last Saturday.

I somehow have overlooked mentioning our new Furina feed store that had a grand opening by giving away chickens March 14. Joe Sjima is the owner.

He gave away 500 healthy rooster baby chicks. We are so pleased to have another nice business here in town. We wish you all of the success in the world and we know you will have that. Congratulations.

Mr. and Mrs. Shorty McCrory moved last week from Capitán to the LaMay place in the White Mountains. She said she can hear the hoos owls and it is so peaceful. That I know. What is more restful than the mountains?

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hopper of Mentone, Texas, and Mrs. Bart Burk of O'Donnell, Texas, visited their alster and friends, Mr. and Mrs. Mac Thorp at their ranch last Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Adda Sellars is not feeling too good of late. She cannot get out of the house.

Glen Jackson, who is in his 80's, left by bus March 10 for Albuquerque, where he will stay until April 1. His grand niece will return with him.

D. D. Britton and Mr. Baca went to Las Vegas, last Tuesday to see a demonstration on the eradication of cactus.

Mrs. Pauline Britton, sponsor of the Womens' Club Style Show on April 9 (at the Capitán school lunch room cafeteria) requests that all desiring to enter, give their names and the description of the garment they are going to wear to: Mrs. W. W. Hall, president of the Capitán Womens' Club not later than April 2.

Our new bridge built by the State Highway Department has been completed. Travel started over it Monday. Tuesday they put the banisters on and painted them. It is a wide bridge and a grand addition to our community — certainly a safe one to cross now. Thanks to our State Highway who did a grand job. We of this community do appreciate it.

Work Starts on New Mill at Capitán

Work started Monday last week on the ore concentrating mill being built near Capitán.

A mining company purchased land for the mill from Mr. Pearson. The site is on a slope next to Highway 390, just west of Capitán.

H. S. National Society To Have Initiation

By JUDY LAMAY

The Capitán Chapter of the National Society will hold its initiation of new members, 7 p.m., April 1, in the Capitán High School gym. Students who have been selected on the basis of scholarship, leadership, character and service are Seniors Rose Marie Houck, Carrol Jones and Charles Lockhart; Juniors Carol Allyn Bonnell, Barbara McGrew, Betty Walker and Joe Lee Smith.

The candlelight services are to be formal and the public is invited to attend.

Tigers Score Initial Track Season Victory

By C. JONES and LOCKHART

Capitán High School opened its track season Saturday, March 21, with a dual meet at Vaughn. The Capitán thinclads swept the meet, amassing a whopping total of 89 points, capturing first place in every event except the broad jump, mile and shotput.

Capitán was especially powerful in the dashes, taking first, second and third places in the 100 and 220, and capturing first and second in the 440.

Lockhart of Capitán was the outstanding performer in the meet amassing 33 points, followed by Jones and Smith, both of Capitán.

7th and 8th Graders Win Co-op Tournament

The Capitán 7th and 8th Grade basketball team journeyed to Cloudcroft Saturday, March 21, for the Otero County Co-Op basketball tournament.

Capitán battled Penasco in the final game and hustled to a 43-19 victory. The 7th and 8th team was never pressed as they rolled to a 17-2 first quarter score. From that point on the game was all theirs. Coach Jess Guthrie substituted freely and all the members of the team played.

David Silva of Capitán led in scoring, 19 points, to bring home first place individual honors in the tournament.

Next Smokey Dance To Be March 28

A Smokey Dance will be held at the American Legion Hall here in Capitán Saturday, March 28. The White Mountain Ramblers will furnish good music and nice surprises. Join us for a good time.

This week the Alamogordo Coca-Cola Bottling Company (Thomas C. Lucky) donated $20, and the Baker Pharmacy of Ruidoso gave $10, for the Smokey Bear Museum. We do thank both of you and assure you of our deep appreciation.

Mrs. Dyer Forbus has been spending several days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rogers in Carrizozo where Mr. Rogers is very ill. While she was there they had a pleasant surprise by her brother, Will who is in the Navy and has been in Bainbridge, Maryland. He dropped in on them with a 15-day furlough. When that ends he will be stationed at White Sands. We know just how happy those parents were.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bert Cheney and son of Las Cruces were weekend guests of his parents, the Bert Cheneys. Their daughter Kathy Gay has been here for a couple of weeks with her grandparents so they took her home with them. Their grandmother, Mrs. Maude Clark, accompanied them as far as Las Cruces then journeyed on by bus to Morenci, Ariz., where she is going to visit Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Dockray and family for a few days.

Mrs. Daisy Gehring and son Clarence made a business trip to El Paso for a few days last Tuesday.

Wally Ferguson went to Camp Chaffee, Ark., last Sunday for six months of National Guard training.

Bill Hall left last Sunday night for Albuquerque to attend a superintendent's meeting. He returned Tuesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Bart Manning have purchased the Carvajal property on West Third street and moved last Tuesday. At this date they have made such a difference in the looks of the place. Soon they will have flowers to help make Capitán beautiful.

Mr. and Mrs. Lon Merchant went to Albuquerque last Sunday to attend the Cattlemen's convention which lasted through Saturday. Then went from there to Yoder, Wyo., where they will take care of business and return by April 1.

School children were given a holiday last Friday when their teachers attended a meeting in Carlsbad. This week end school children are enjoying Easter vacation.

Round Table Club Has Easter Motif

The Round Table Club met at the ranch of Marie Edgar last Thursday the 19th with nine members present. They were Ruby Merchant, Angelina Provins, Corrine Provins, Grace Murphy, Frances Shaw, Lavone Hall, Pauline Britton, Marie Edgar and Lorene Ferguson. Special guest, Margie Eldridge.

All enjoyed a delicious dinner of roast beef and tamale pie, with good salad and all the trimmings.

The house was beautifully decorated for Easter. The centerpiece was a Ming tree with pastel egg shell baskets suspending from the limbs. Another outstanding feature was a bowl of tulips made out of colored egg shells.

Since the program chairman was absent there was no program, but all had a joyous time just the same.

Monroe Reed, George Reed and Bob Ferris of Tularosa dropped in last Monday at the Cummins store for a short visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Mac Thorp went to Socorro to visit friends last Friday. Sam Biggs entered the Carrizozo Hospital last Thursday a very sick man, though at this time he is much improved. His son Gordon arrived from Yuma, Ariz., Friday and will stay until his father is well on the road to recovery.

Bob Smith took Mr. and Mrs. Don Murphy to Santa Fe last week where Don entered the hospital. At this time he is doing fine and hopes to be home in a few days.

HONDO CORNER

By FREDDA PERRY

Hi! The community of San Patricio won first place honors in the PTA's St. Patrick's Variety show, which was put on last Tuesday, March 17. They put on a hilarious one-act play (title unknown), in which a courtroom was the setting.

The other communities, Hondo, Tinnie and Picacho were very much in evidence as they presented professional looking acts and stunts. Second place honors went to Picacho for its different variations of dances and its long-famous "girly show." Hondo was third and Tinnie fourth.

Everyone enjoyed the show very much, and I'd like to extend my congratulations to the San Patricio group for capturing first place. All the communities deserve a big "thank you" for making the show a success!

Last Friday six Hondo fiesta dancers went to Roswell where they presented entertainment for an American Legion Auxiliary banquet. The banquet was given in honor of Mrs. Charles Gunn, the national president of the auxiliary. The dancers, who performed for approximately 150 people, were Martha McNight, Nellie Sanchez, Fredda Perry, John Blea, Anthony Fresquez, and Johnny Gomez. They danced two New Mexican dances, "La Varsoliana" and "El Punto y Talon," and two Mexican dances, "Las Chlopancecas" and "El Jarabe Tapatio." Mrs. Elzy Perry, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Fermín Montes sponsored the trip, which was enjoyed by the dancers and (we hope), the members and guests of the auxiliary.

That brings to mind (once again) our fiesta, which is April 4. Don't forget that important date for I guarantee the fiesta will be a spectacular event this year. If you can't make it the 4th, there will be two more performances, one April 11, at Alamogordo, and one the 18th, at Roswell. I'll give you a more detailed report on these last two later on. Proceeds from all three fiestas will go towards financing the Nashville trip.

Ray Sanchez, a sophomore and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sofie Sanchez; and Ruth Joiner, a freshman and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs.

Leo Joiner, were selected as last week's top students. Ray played on the Eagle football squad last fall, was on the Eagle "B" basketball team, and is now a member of the track team. Ruth is an active member in 4-H, pep club, chorus, and various clubs. Both students have been on the academic honor roll.

Albert Valdez, director of Spanish in Santa Fe County School, has extended to Mr. Montes an invitation to the Pan American-Spanish Fiesta, which will be held April 18. This fiesta is a contest, and Mr. and Mrs. Fermín Montes, directors of our fiesta, will select about four dancers to compete against other schools.

This coming Friday, April 3, members of the Eagle track team will participate in a meet at the Ruidoso High School. The members of the Hondo team are James Sanchez, Johnny Gomez, John Blea, Felix Herrera, Victor Pineda, Ben Sanchez, Ray Torres, Jack Thomas, Douglas Bradley, Brazel Sanchez, Frankie Trujillo, Bud McCrady, Frutoso Herrera, Ray Sanchez, Richard Smith, Pat Joiner, Leroy Gomez, Julian Salcido, and Charlie Sanchez. Other meets are scheduled later on.

I'll sign off by wishing you all a very happy Easter. Take care and I'll see you soon.

Mrs. Louella Cole To Do Practice Teaching

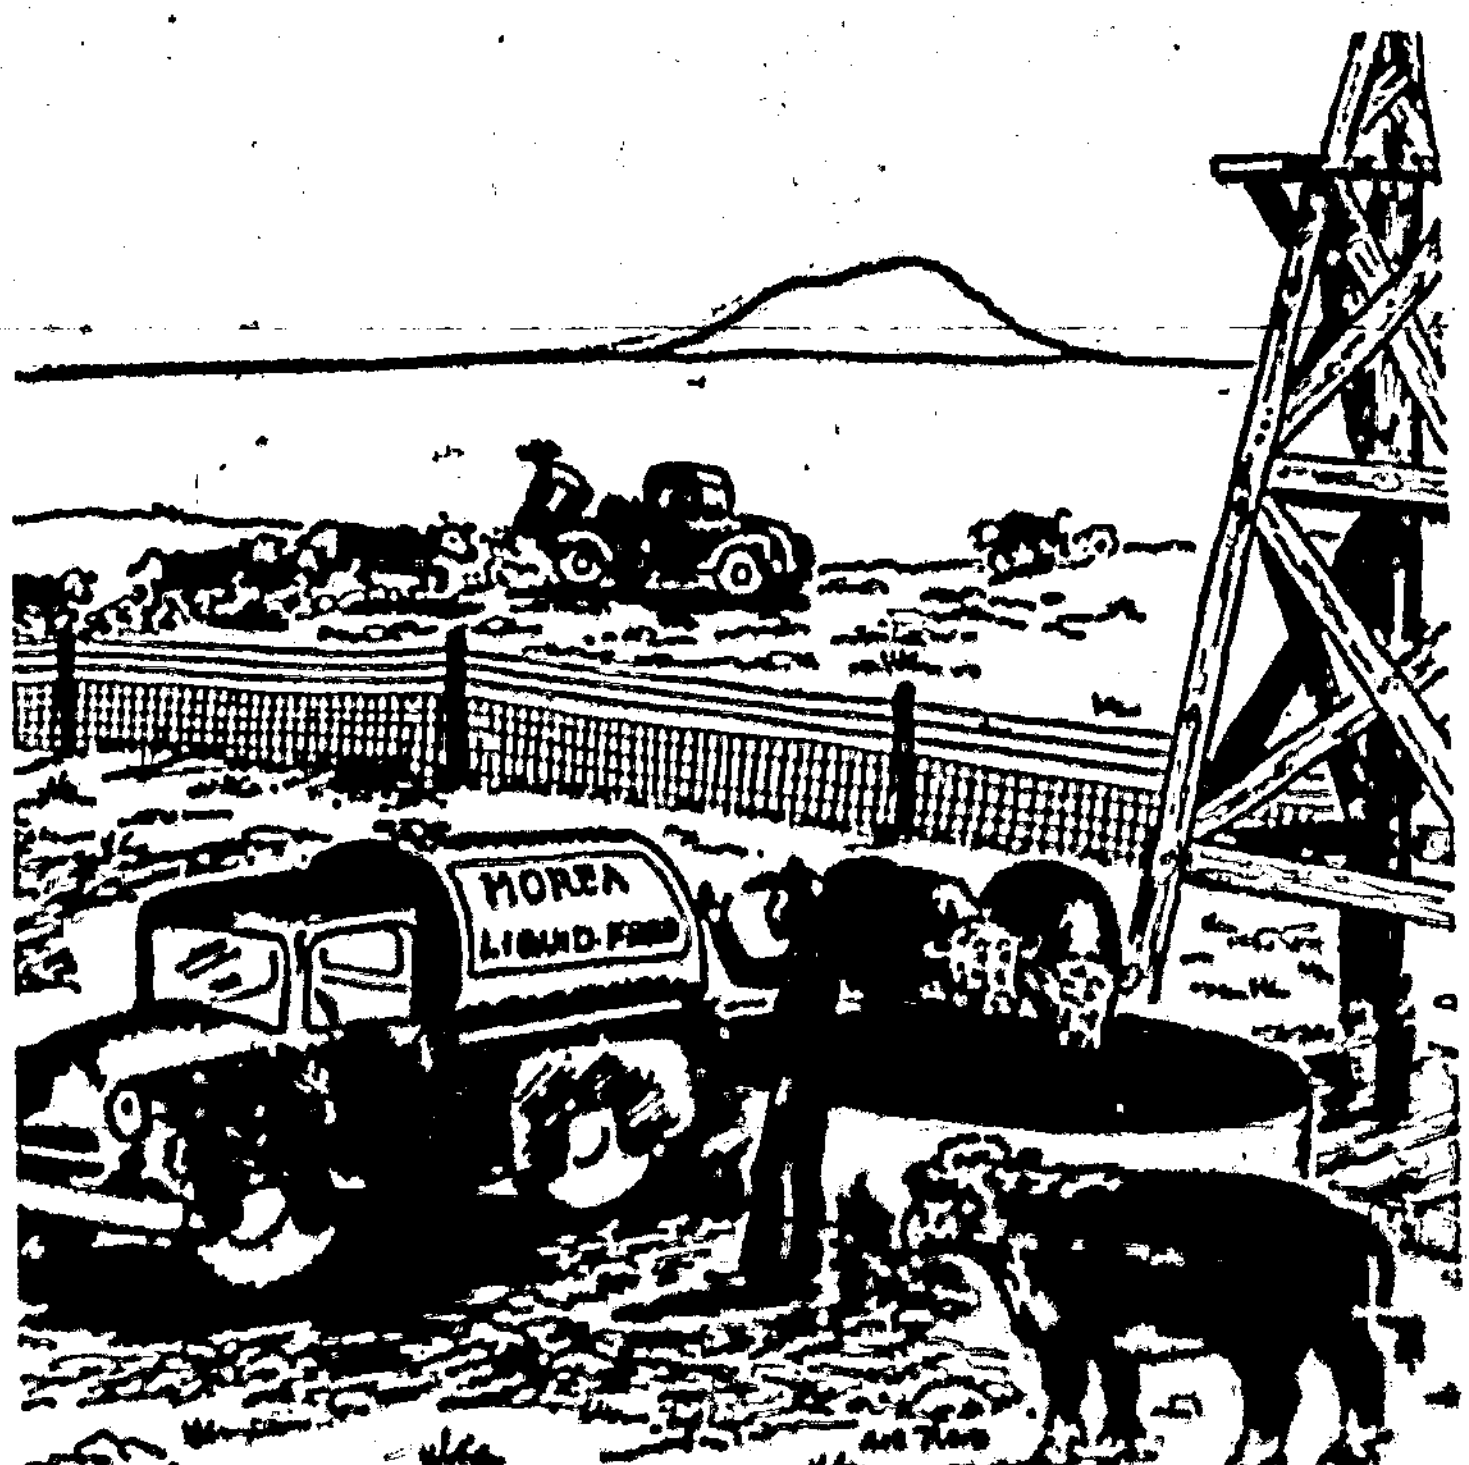

State College, N. M. — Louella Mays Cole of Corona is one of 15 senior women majoring in home economics education at New Mexico State University doing supervised teaching in a New Mexico high school for six weeks.

Mrs. Cole has been assigned to Alamogordo High School to do her student teaching. Her supervisor while in Alamogordo High School will be Mrs. Peggy Hein.

During her stay in the community she will make a study of the community, attend faculty and community meetings, assist in supervising Future Homemakers of America, and visit high school students at home.

Mrs. Opal Beatty of New Mexico State's home economics faculty will visit with Mrs. Cole several times during the six weeks. Mrs. Cole will gradually assume responsibility in her assignments until she is teaching full days for a week or more.

Mrs. Cole is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Mays of Corona. While attending New Mexico State, Mrs. Cole has been a member of Delta Zeta, Inter-Religious Council, Westminster Fellowship, and Mu Beta, honor society for senior women students.

THE MOREA STORY

Liquid Feeds

WHO: FEED SERVICE CORP., of Crete, Nebraska, manufacture and market MOREA (R) Pre-Mix to blenders, through distributors. This Pre-Mix contains feeding molasses, DL Methionine, Ethyl Alcohol, phosphoric acid, ethanol, urea nitrogen, ethyl acetate, sodium chloride, iron chloride, aluminum chloride, Cobalt chloride, manganese chloride, potassium iodide (iodine source), zinc chloride, Vitamin D2, Molybdenum chloride, and copper chloride . . . This liquid livestock feed is sold in Southern New Mexico by J. P. WHITE INDUSTRIES, Inc., of Roswell, and is also marketed by MITCHELL SEED AND GRAIN CO. N.E. in Chaves and Lincoln counties. E. W. MITCHELL AND ASSOCIATES, of Roswell, N. M., distributes the liquid Pre-Mix in all of New Mexico east of the Continental Divide but excluding the counties of Roosevelt, Curry and Quay. E. W. MITCHELL AND ASSOCIATES also distribute the Pre-Mix in the Texas counties of El Paso, Hudspeth, Culberson, Jeff Davis, Pecos, Terrell, and Brewster.

WHAT: MOREA (R) M-30 Liquid Livestock feed is the finished product ready for your livestock. It is 30% protein, at least 34% carbohydrate, contains 4% trace minerals, and not less than 4% available Phosphorus, plus one of the basic building blocks of the protein family, DL Methionine. This liquid feed contains more energy than can be packed into a pound of dry feed. The trace minerals are in solution and are available to the animal. The alcohol changes to ethanol in the rumen of the animal and provides a hydrogen donor to the rumen organisms available to them in no other way. Morea feeds the rumen flora, or bugs, and they, being well nourished, operate much more efficiently in breaking down cellulose roughage in such fashion that the cow or sheep is better fed. It's as simple as that. MOREA (R) is fed in wooden troughs or black iron feeders, or feeders manufactured especially for the purpose. The MOREA flows by gravity from the ranch pick-up to the tub or tank, and then after the tub is full a wooden float is placed on top of the liquid feed. This forces the animals to lick the MOREA, and does not allow them to drink the feed. This is very, very important, for 1/2 pound of MOREA licked by an animal will go as far nutritionally as 1/2 pound drunk. Also, with good tight floats no animal will over-eat the feed.

WHEN: We recommend that animals be started on range after a killing frost, preferably around two weeks after, in order that any prussic acid may become dissipated which has set-up in plants. Many plants become poisonous for a couple of weeks after a killing freeze. The worst offenders being Johnson Grass, Sudan grass, and some native grasses, as well as the whole family of grain sorghums. Once started in the Fall, as directed above, range animals can have access the year round to MOREA (R). When grass greens up their consumption will cease, when it begins to burn they will eat a little. We do not recommend the feeding of MOREA to any livestock if you commence it on green pasture. There are too many problems with the green pasture and some of them might rub-off on the Morea.

WHERE: MOREA (R) is useful for range animals and farm animals. It properly balances low grade roughage rations. Animals that have access to Morea gain and grow on Tabosa grass, Sacaton grass, and the like. MOREA is a ruminant feed.

WHY? MOREA (R) is the answer to the livestockman's problem in 3 ways. 1. Firstly, it gives the animal complete nutritional balance, providing the things that used to be present in our now heavily grazed ranges. In so doing it gives the mother cow an increased milk flow that is richer in fat, and calves at ages of one week will supplement their mother's milk with it and greatly increase growth, health and gains. Cows breed back enough quicker that we honestly believe calf crops will increase ten per cent where it is used. Two-year-old heifers will have less trouble calving. Your cattle will always look, and be, in top condition. We SUSPECT, BUT DO NOT KNOW, that pink eye problems will be considerably lessened where Morea is your feed. There is evidence, not yet conclusive, that such will be the case. 11. Secondly, as you operating ranchers and farmers are well aware, good ranch help is harder and harder to get. Morea will cut all labor connected with range feeding at least fifty per cent, and in feedlot feeding it takes no labor whatsoever. Now, on ranches in Nebraska where Morea is the fed supplement, and there are many, the use of Morea has cut in half the number of men required to operate the ranches, and the resulting labor savings have paid the entire year's feed bill. It is no exaggeration whatsoever to state that any person capable of driving a pickup, whether he be a man or woman, can do the range feeding with Morea. You save your back and don't lift a sack. I know a lady in her fifties who is now doing the range feeding while her husband is occupied in town. She doesn't mind doing it in the least, either. 111. The third great saving is in wear and tear on pickup trucks, which make only a fifth of the rough miles that they would make with cake feeding, and while we are talking about wear and tear, let us also mention that after being on Morea a month the cattle and sheep no longer chase your pickup or any other pickup in your pasture. We think beyond any shadow of doubt that when you weigh these advantages stated herein that you, as well as we, will estimate that your ranch will show you a minimum of 12% more net profit after your first year's operation with the Morea plan. It is the cheapest range feed available, as well as the best. The average range cow will eat 6 1/2 cents worth per day, her calf will eat from 1/2 cent to 3 cents worth per day, bulls will eat 12 cents worth per head per day, range sheep will eat 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 cents worth a day. Cattle and sheep on MOREA will bring you better calves, better lambs, last longer, give you less trouble, clip more wool and better quality wool than you are now accustomed to.

FEEDING PROBLEMS:

In the case of introduction of any new livestock feedstuff the question of death loss always arises. On every ranch, in every feedlot, death loss occurs, just as it does in a large number of people. Usually it is caused by failure of a vital organ or organs, and at certain seasons of the year, and in some years it becomes excessive in Spring and Fall due to poisonous weeds, or prussic acid, or nitrates. Overeating, bringing on engorgement, also accounts for a large portion of the trouble, but usually if a new feedstuff is present where the loss occurs the feedstuff is blamed for the trouble, usually incorrectly.

For instance, when oilseed meal cake was first introduced as a range feed much trouble was encountered since sometimes cattle or sheep would overeat and die and it was assumed that the oilseed cakes, now universally accepted, were at fault. In some areas of Nebraska which I have visited, it has only been in the last dozen years that some of the old timers have decided that oilseed cake was safe as a feedstuff. For our own information we have compiled figures on death loss occurring among cattle and sheep where MOREA (R) has been present. These figures represent total loss, even though it was known in many cases that other causes were at fault, and they are as follows:

Range sheep, 82 head out of 11,000 being fed Morea, or 4% of 1%; Lambs in feedlots, 29 head out of over 70,000 being fed Morea, or 4/100 of 1%; Cattle and calves, 23 head out of 4,500 head being fed Morea, or 1/2 of 1%. (These figures have been compiled over a period of seven months, and all cattle and sheep mentioned have been in Southeastern New Mexico.)

Since MOREA (R) has not been in use in this area for a whole year we are hopefully guessing that it will, by sound nutrition, and balanced nutrition, cause animals to avoid eating poisonous plants and weeds, and therefore cut what has been accepted as a normal death loss. Our basis for this hope lies in the fact that we believe when range animals eat poisonous plants they are seeking either Vitamin A, or Nitrogen, and with MOREA (R) present as a supplement, they will have plenty of both, and avoid eating the bad plants. We are particularly hopeful that the presence of MOREA (R) liquid supplement will stop sheep from eating Sagauista. Mind you, these are hopes; however, they are not totally without foundation. Livestock eat poisonous plants because of some dietary deficiency, since nature has made all poisonous plants unxious to livestock in one way or another, either by bitterness, hotness, or just general bad taste. We do feel pretty sure that sheepmen can vaccinate range sheep with types "D" and "C" enterotemia vaccine and cut Sagauista losses way down.

Hondo Fiesta Dancers on Way to Acquiring National Recognition

The past four weeks the word has gone up and down the Rio Grande Valley that the Hondo High School fiesta dancers may soon acquire national recognition by presenting their dances in some of the cities to the east.

Plans are practically complete for a full evening's presentation of this year's dances in Breckenridge, Texas, on May 2, followed by presentations in the states of Mississippi, Alabama and Georgia, prior to their anticipated appearance at the National Folk Festival in Nashville, Tenn., on May 6 through May 10.

Rehearsals for over 50 students continue every week in preparation for the local fiestas in Hondo on April 4; in Alamogordo on April 10 and at the Ave Maria Center in Roswell on April 18, as well as these presentations early in May away from home.

Last Friday evening, three couples presented four of their dances before a large group of people in Roswell; a banquet sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary, honoring Mrs. Charles Gunn, national president. Five dancing couples are scheduled to participate at a PTA gathering in Artesia on April 24.

The Hondo fiesta dancers are teenagers who dance and sing for the joy of it and who take pride in keeping alive the music traditions of those who have lived and presently live in New Mexico.

FIESTAS BEGAN 11 YEARS AGO

Eleven years ago in April the first fiesta was presented in Hondo before several hundred people in a colorfully decorated setting. That year the first Queen was chosen, a charming girl who brought forth all inherited traits of the senorita.

By 1951 the dancers had accepted an invitation to take part in the Festival of Arts in Tucson, Little did Superintendent Montes and Mrs. Ruby Douglas, directors of the first fiesta, dream of a day when the student body of Hondo High School would become dancers who would entertain audiences in neighboring states.

The enthusiasm has never been greater than it is now, with over fifty students rehearsing the Spanish, Mexican and New Mexican dances, taught in every detail by Mrs. Montes.

Beginning with some of the simple folk dances presented in our first fiestas, Mrs. Montes has taken them through the more intricate steps of castanet dances, heel and toe polkas, and the grace and poise of this year's tango from Argentina.

Las Jorongos, a new castanet dance, has already become a great favorite of students who are dancing for their fourth successive year.

The colorfully decorated setting of the first fiesta has led to other beautiful settings. This year's setting centers in the poppy garden (amapolas) at the foot of a balcony where a beautiful senorita is serenaded by a group of admirers. The serenade is followed by last year's beautiful and popular Las Cancunas, a dance in which the girls presented the spectators with blossom souvenirs of the fiesta.

Among the dancers will be over a dozen seniors, who will be performing these colorful dances for the last time and will be giving their most outstanding performance.

Another packed house is expected both at the Hondo celebration on April 4 and the Alamogordo celebration April 10.

ALIBIS

BY REV. HOMER REID

One of the most startling alibis about not joining the church, not accepting Christianity, was expressed to me the other day by a man who apparently has given it much thought and was sincere in his beliefs. It was in regard to Easter.

He felt that the whole idea of Easter was wrong, selfish and contemptible. He expressed it this way: "The idea of immortality is for cowards. A person who thinks he's so important that he's going to live forever! He's afraid and weak. This idea of eternal life is an opiate and causes more trouble than all the atheists in the world!"

One wonders if a person who has established such a strong "resistance" to Christianity could be convinced otherwise. He is a man who lives what one would consider a Christian life—he is ethical and fair in his business dealings. He is kindly in his dealings with his neighbors; is interested in civic improvements; social welfare and all the other things that have their roots in Christianity but he rejects the "malnourishing" of the Christian belief—eternity.

He says: "What difference does it make whether one believes in immortality?" "What difference? How can a thoughtful man face the transiency of the universe and all within it and not ask himself, is there nothing that lasts? Is it all a passing shadow leaving no wrack behind? Is this all? In this vast changeableness is there no permanence at all?"

The very thought of that makes a man hungry for something eternal. There must be something here that lasts, some strand of abiding unity upon which the changes all are strung; else, as William James said, this whole creation were no better than a silly moving picture film that might as well be run backward as forward, because it means nothing either way.

We must not believe in a senseless universe like that if we can help it. Our Easter thought is serious business. We are pleading for the presence somewhere of something that abides. But what does abide? To a man eighty years old I can say, "Since you were born over two and one half billion people have died." Life's transiency concerns not individuals alone but societies and nations and even here transience cannot stop. We call the stars eternal, but they are not eternal. Some of them in embryo are being born out of whirling nebulae; some are in their fierce and fiery youth; some, like our own, are past middle age, and some are growing old and soon will die. Everything we can see is temporal, transient, not lasting; our nations, the generations, the very stars! Then what is lasting? Is our friend right? Is there really no such thing as immortality—nothing eternal? Nothing abiding? Where can we find our answer?

Let us look into the Bible. In 2nd Corinthians Chapter 4, we have a clue; Paul in this letter to the Corinthians wrote: "The things that are seen are transient, but the things that are unseen are eternal." There's our answer! This then, is the meaning of Easter Day. We Christians do not believe in immortality because we clamorously insist upon the selfish continuance of our individual lives. How absurd! Who among us is sufficiently obsessed by his own importance to insist upon his going on forever, if that is what is involved?

What we are profoundly concerned about is the kind of creation we are living in. Is it a universe that saves its lowest—the things that are seen, clinging to dust with tenacious eagerness and with careless fingers throwing spirit away? What an irrational world! As Professor Palmer of Harvard said about his wife's death, who can fail to feel irration-ally of the universe if out of deference to a few particles of disordered matter it excludes so fair a spirit?"

The Easter message, affirms that God's world is not thus mad; that while the physical passes, the spiritual endures! Consider not only the meaning this puts into the universe but the light it throws on the nature of immortality itself. The details of life after death we cannot imagine. As Reinhold Niebuhr said, "it is unwise for Christians to claim any knowledge of either the furniture of heaven or the temperature of hell." Of course it is!

Paul, for one never indulged in such folly, but when he summed up his thoughts of the world to come, cried, "eye hath not seen nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things that God hath prepared for them that love Him! That is to say that immortality is a great adventure into the unseen and the unknown. Faith in immortality is not meant for the coward and the weak, to comfort them in feebleness, nor is it an opiate that makes death hurt less. At any rate when I, for one, am weak, I am willing to lie down, go to sleep and never wake.

In hours of weakness I understand what Swinburne felt when he thanked: "—with brief thanksgiving, whatever God may be; that no life lives forever; that dead men rise up never; that even the wisest never winds somewhere safe to sea." When we are weak we feel like that! But when we are strong, when the uses of life are mighty in us, when love powerfully insists on the deathless value of our friends, when possibilities open up within us to fine and deep for throescore and ten ever to unfold, when we are at our best, it is then we crave the chance of going on. Faith in immortality is not the child of human feebleness seeking an opiate; it springs from human strength pounding against the too narrow bars of our mortality!

Friends, I appeal to you this Easter season. You do not really believe that this is so irrational a universe that it keeps the physical forever and lets the spiritual go. Deeper than your doubts is our invincible surmise that death must somehow be an open door through which the unseen and eternal in us pass into life abiding.

Science says that all the physical in us is 98 cents worth of chemical material. Is that the last word about us? And when we lift our thoughts to Him through whom the Divine so gloriously shone, can you believe that as the last word about Him — 98 cents worth of chemical material, and when that dissolved, all gone?

No, the deeper difficulty lies not in believing in immortality but in disbelieving it, in reducing the keepable values of the spirit in us to perishable dust. This mortal must put on immortality. Let that faith this Easter dignify our lives, ground our character, on unshakable foundations, devote our service to abiding aims, and keep our hope invincible!

People Under 72 May Work and Still Draw Old Age Insurance

"People under age 72 who are drawing old-age and survivors insurance benefits may continue to work without any loss of benefit checks as long as they do not earn over $1200 during the calendar year," J. Hassler Strickland, manager, Roswell Social Security Administration office announced today.

Beneficiaries who earn over $1,200 will lose one or more monthly checks, depending upon their total earnings for the year; those who earn over $2080 may lose all their social security checks for the year, except that they are eligible for social security benefits for any month in which they do not earn over $100 in wages or have not worked in their own business.

"After age 72, there is no restriction on a person's earnings, although the $1200 limit for the year and the $100 limit for the month still apply to all months before the 72nd birthday," Strickland said.

SANTO DOMINGO

Although the dances last four days, it is not a marathon affair. The Indians are in two groups that alternate, each group doing a different dance. They usually stop around midnight and start again the following morning. Of course during dance and Fiesta time all work goes unheeded.

Easter morning the dances start after the entire pueblo has gone to Mass in the old Santo Domingo Mission which was originally built in 1605. Every one worshipping at the ancient church must kneel on the solidly packed dirt floor, for there are no benches or chairs. The lack of benches reflects the simple life of these redskin brothers. They have kept the Indian tradition. Until recently modern conveniences were non-existent. Now there are a few electrical appliances and even one of two television sets in the village.

While the Santo Domingo people finally may be slowly accepting the modern world, their dancing, one of the Easter high spots in New Mexico that no one should miss, still tells the story of centuries ago when the Red man ruled and the West was still an unbroken east.

The Santo Domingo Indians hold many other dances of religious significance and entertainment purposes throughout the year with extra special dances Christmas, New Years and their spectacular Annual Green Corn Dance.

Your Purina Mill is within FRESH-FEED distance

Here YOUR Purina mill at Lubbeck, Texas, only a few hours from your farm

One of the reasons we handle Purina Chows is the modern Purina mill pictured above. It's within "fresh feed distance" . . . something that's more important than a lot of folks realize.

Feeds are perishable. Not only are fresh feeds more palatable to birds and livestock . . . they're more nutritious. Many nutrients included at the point of manufacture lose strength in storage.

Our shipping mill is only a few hours from us . . . and from you. That means we can deliver your Purina Chows while they're fresh and good . . . to help you produce meat, milk and eggs at peak efficiency and lowest cost.

Treat your poultry and livestock to fresh feeds and they'll thank you with better production.

Whatever your feeding need . . .

WE HAVE A PURINA KNOW FOR YOU!

Poultry and livestock feeding today is a specialized business . . . Purina's business. Our complete Purina line means we can provide rations designed for YOUR specific needs!

James A. Hipp Post Celebrates Legion's 40th Anniversary

The James A. Hipp Post No. 57 of the American Legion and the American Legion Auxiliary held its regular meeting Wednesday night, March 18, 1959, at the Captain High School lunch room to commemorate the 40th anniversary of the founding of the American Legion.

Guest speakers were Mrs. Nan Genta, District President of the American Legion Auxiliary, District No. 5 from Alamogordo, who spoke on Americanism and membership. The 5th District Vice Commander, Harry Clifford of Tularosa explained the School Awards System, a program of the American Legion.

Mrs. Booker of Alamogordo made a talk on Civil Defense. She brought out that "we must all be always alert to see that another 'Pearl Harbor' doesn't happen again as it is now a danger in our living rooms anywhere in the nation."

The Department Commander, Paul Kaiser brought out the importance of a better Legion for a better town, county, state and nation. "This," the commander stated "can be accomplished in part by the different youth programs of the American Legion."

Mrs. Lucille Davidson from Ruidoso made a brief talk on the value to the organization of more members. Bart Wetzel, department vice commander discussed the District 5 programs.

District 5 Commander, Ricardo Guerra, acted as master of ceremonies and introduced the speakers.

Dr. D. H. "Tiny" Reed of Eastern New Mexico University of Portales, who is the national committeeman of the American Legion, delivered the principal address of the evening. He discussed the progress of the Legion through the past 40 years and told of the many programs which the Legion sponsors, such as Junior baseball, "Boy's State", Essay Contest, "Oratorical Contest" and many others.

"The background and backbone of the American Legion and its Auxiliary," he stated is "outlined in

Teensters Union No. 1

By PAM REID

Hi, everybody! Gee, time sure flies! It seems just like yesterday that I was writing last week's teenage news. Before time completely flies away, let's start off with a letter!

Hi, Pam: In response to Jack Adams' letter, I have this to say: I agree with him with these exceptions; there is nothing better than cool rock 'n' roll music and hep rockin' dancing. I love to dance and would just love to know how to do some of the classical dancing your Mom is trying to teach at the teenage dances. The only trouble is, I am a teenager and my husband isn't and I can't come to the dances. I think there should be some exceptions made that if a girl has an older husband or even a steady boy friend, they can go to the dances if they are orderly and behave themselves. I would very much like for this letter to be published and hear from some more teenagers that have the same problem. Also, may I have your or your father's opinion?—A Proclaimed Teenager Who Would Like Very Much to Go to the Teen Dances."

Dear PTWWLVMTGTTD: I can't agree with you that exceptions should be made because I know a couple of girls at school who go steady with boys too old for T. E., but if exceptions were made for you, they would be forced to make exceptions for others. However, since you are married, you and your husband might volunteer to come as chaperones. You would be welcome. There are usually three or four couples who chaperone the dances—and they dance too. Unfortunately, the classes in ballroom dancing are being held in the school now, in the afternoon. Good luck—Pam.

At the school I went to last year these were the Ten Commandments at John Adams Jr. High:

1. Thou shall not be tardy for class (take the whole day off.)
2. Thou shall not run in the halls (all day is more fun!)
3. Thou shall not throw crasers

a four point program consisting of rehabilitation of the Veteran, Americanism, child welfare and civil defense."

He showed where the American Legion emblem displayed these four points and was a constant reminder to each Legionnaire that his duty to God and his Country is an ever existing obligation. He said that doing his duty to the American Legion was taking care of both these obligations.

The Tularosa color-guard presented and retired the colors. They are very efficient and impressive. Everyone present marveled at the methods and perfection of this splendid team.

After the meeting coffee and doughnuts were served while everyone visited and became better acquainted.

Department Commander Paul Kaiser extended a personal invitation to all present to attend his homecoming in Hobbs, March 21.

The next regular meeting of the James A. Hipp Post No. 57 and the American Legion Auxiliary will be April 15. All veterans and their families are invited to attend.

4-H Club Members to Present Easter Basket To Hospital Patient

The Carrizozo 4-H Club will take an Easter basket to Lois Dunlap, who is in the hospital. Club members are to meet at the home of Mrs. Torrez March 28 at 2 o'clock, which is Saturday, a day before Easter. Pam Reid has been welcomed as a new member.

In class (books are harder!)

4. Thou shall not copy (have someone do it for you!)
5. Thou shall not whisper while the teacher is talking (shouting brings more attention.)
6. Thou shall not borrow your neighbor's pencil (just take it!)
7. Thou shall not drive your teachers to their graves (just furnish the gas!)
8. Thou shall not send notes (stand up and yell!)
9. Thou shall not turn in your paper late (don't do it at all!)
10. Thou shall not interrupt the teacher (just don't let him talk at all!)

Don't take these seriously, but they're sort of cute to think about. I think erasers are plenty hard in school, personally. However, I think we're living up to these commandments pretty well. Let's try breaking them for a change—it might not be as difficult as it sounds. Here's a cute little poem I thought you'd enjoy:

PUPPY LOVE
The moon was out
The room was dark
There wasn't a light,
Not even a spark;
Away in the corner
They sat all alone—
The little black pup
And his chicken bone!

Remember: Do unto others as they would do unto you, only be sure and do it first!

Take care! See you next week.
—PAM

P. S.—Thanks to all of you who wrote expressing your ideas about dancing. I hope you understand why I'm not publishing them all, since they are very much the same as all the other letters—often quoting the same scripture. I received a number of other letters this morning and again on the same subject. I published the letter today because, although it was about dancing—it brought up a different problem, the problem of a "teenager" married to an older man. We would very much like to have your opinions and comments on this. I'll write to you other letter writers personally—Thanks again!

Santo Domingo Indians in Easter Ceremonial Dances

The centuries old tradition of celebrating Easter will be continued when the Santo Domingo Indians open their ceremonial Easter dances Easter Sunday at their Pueblo. They will dance all day Easter Sunday and continue for the following three days through Wednesday.

Ceremonial dances at Easter represent a tradition handed down for centuries and the Santo Domingos of today seek to revive the colorful past, to convey their heritage spirit through their dancing. It's like one seeking to get out of this world.

These Santo Domingo dances are the most colorful and spectacular of Easter Indian dances and are widely known throughout the Southwest for their size, costuming and authenticity and bring the Indians from other tribes, native New Mexicans, tourists and the newer residents of the state back to the Pueblo again and visitors are welcome all four days without charge. These visitors all agree that the Domingos, beyond all other Indian groups, keep the faithful the legacy bequeathed them.

At present in their everyday living the Domingos still live today as did their forefathers, many still climb ladders to their upper berth apartments, observe numerous rituals in their sacred Kivas, and still raise their offspring in the culture and practice of bygone centuries. A strange and wonderful people!

The Easter dance is their great festival during this four day event. The children, some of them barely out of the toddler stage but instinctively talented, do the actual Easter day dancing. Then, their elders take over on Monday and continue the ritual through Wednesday. Approximately 500 men, women and children take part in the dances.

While the younger people dance to the rhythm of the Tom-Tom, hundreds of the older men, dressed in brightest obtainable colors chant to the beat of the rhythm. The Indian squaws wear beaded and dresses accented with many thousands of dollars worth of genuine old Indian shell-bead wampum and beautiful turquoise and silver jewelry and the younger Indian boys are covered with brightly colored feathers, skins from various animals, shells, bells and other ornaments that have been handed down from fathers to sons for centuries. They live in their own little world.

Hondo Fiesta Dancers on Way to Acquiring National Recognition

The past four weeks the word has gone up and down the Rio Grande Valley that the Hondo High School fiesta dancers may soon acquire national recognition by presenting their dances in some of the cities to the east.

Plans are practically complete for a full evening's presentation of this year's dances in Breckenridge, Texas, on May 2, followed by presentations in the states of Mississippi, Alabama and Georgia, prior to their anticipated appearance at the National Folk Festival in Nashville, Tenn., on May 6 through May 10.

Rehearsals for over 50 students continue every week in preparation for the local fiestas in Hondo on April 4; in Alamogordo on April 10 and at the Ave Maria Center in Roswell on April 18, as well as these presentations early in May away from home.

Last Friday evening, three couples presented four of their dances before a large group of people in Roswell, at a banquet sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary, honoring Mrs. Charles Gunn, national president. Five dancing couples are scheduled to participate at a PTA gathering in Artesia on April 24.

The Hondo fiesta dancers are teenagers who dance and sing for the joy of it and who take pride in keeping alive the music traditions of those who have lived and presently live in New Mexico.

FIESTAS BEGAN 11 YEARS AGO

Eleven years ago in April the first fiesta was presented in Hondo before several hundred people in a colorfully decorated setting. That year the first Queen was chosen, a charming girl who brought forth all inherited traits of the senorita.

By 1951 the dancers had accepted an invitation to take part in the Festival of Arts in Tucson, Little did Superintendent Montes and Mrs. Ruby Douglas, directors of the first fiesta, dream of a day when the student body of Hondo High School would become dancers who would entertain audiences in neighboring states.

The enthusiasm has never been greater than it is now, with over fifty students rehearsing the Spanish, Mexican and New Mexican dances, taught in every detail by Mrs. Montes.

Beginning with some of the simple folk dances presented in our first fiestas, Mrs. Montes has taken them through the more intricate steps of castanet dances, heel and toe polkas, and the grace and poise of this year's tango from Argentina.

Las Jorongos, a new castanet dance, has already become a great favorite of students who are dancing for their fourth successive year.

The colorfully decorated setting of the first fiesta has led to other beautiful settings. This year's setting centers in the poppy garden (amapolas) at the foot of a balcony where a beautiful senorita is serenaded by a group of admirers. The serenade is followed by last year's beautiful and popular Las Canacas, a dance in which the girls presented the spectators with blossom souvenirs of the fiesta.

Among the dancers will be over a dozen seniors, who will be performing these colorful dances for the last time and will be giving their most outstanding performances.

Another packed house is expected both at the Hondo celebration on April 4 and the Alamogordo celebration April 10.

ALIBIS

By REV. HOMER REID

One of the most startling alibis about not joining the church, not accepting Christianity, was expressed to me the other day by a man who apparently has given it much thought and was sincere in his beliefs. It was in regard to Easter.

He felt that the whole idea of Easter was wrong, scotch and confused. He expressed it this way: "The idea of immortality is for cowards. A person who thinks he's so important that he's going to live forever! He's afraid and weak. This idea of eternal life is an opiate and causes more trouble than all the atheists in the world!"

One wonders if a person who has established such a strong "resistance" to Christianity could be convinced otherwise. He is a man who lives what one would consider a Christian life—he is ethical and fair in his business dealings. He is kindly in his dealings with his neighbors; is interested in civic improvements; social welfare and all the other things that have their roots in Christianity but he rejects the "mainspring" of the Christian belief—eternity.

He says: "What difference does it make whether one believes in immortality? What difference? How can a thoughtful man face the transiency of the universe and all within it and not ask himself, is there nothing that lasts? Is it all a passing shadow leaving not a wrack behind? Is this all? In this vast changefulness is there no permanence at all?"

The very thought of that makes a man hungry for something eternal. There must be something here that lasts, some strand of abiding unity upon which the changes all are strung; else, as William James said, this whole creation were no better than a silly moving picture film that might as well be run backward as forward, because it means nothing either way.

We must not believe in a senseless universe like that if we can help it. Our Easter thought is serious business. We are pleading for the presence somewhere of something that abides. But what does abide? To a man eighty years old I can say, "Since you were born over two and one half billion people have died." Life's transiency concerns not individuals alone but societies and nations and even here transience cannot stop. We call the stars eternal, but they are not eternal. Some of them in embryo are being born out of whirling nebulae; some are in their fierce and fiery youth; some, like our own, are past middle age, and some are growing old and soon will die. Everything we can see is temporal, transient, not lasting; our nations, the generations, the very stars! Then what is lasting? Is our friend right? Is there really no such thing as immortality—nothing eternal? Nothing abiding? Where can we find our answer?

Let us look into the Bible. In 2nd Corinthians Chapter 4, we have a clue; Paul in this letter to the Corinthians wrote: "The things that are seen are transient, but the things that are unseen are eternal." There's our answer! This then, is the meaning of Easter Day. We Christians do not believe in immortality because we clamorously insist upon the selfish continuance of our individual lives. How absurd! Who among us is sufficiently obsessed by his own importance to insist upon his going on forever, if that is what is involved?

What we are profoundly concerned about is the kind of creature we are living in. Is it a universe that saves its lowest—the things that are seen, clinging to dust with tenacious cogerness and with careless fingers throwing spirit away? What an irrational world! As Professor Palmer of Harvard said about his wife's death, who can fail to feel irrationality of the universe if out of deference to a few particles of disordered matter it excludes so fair a spirit?"

The Easter message, affirms that God's world is not thus made; that while the physical passes, the spiritual endures! Consider not only the meaning this puts into the universe but the light it throws on the nature of immortality itself. The details of life after death we cannot imagine. As Reinhold Niebuhr said, "It is unwise for Christians to claim any knowledge of either the furniture of heaven or the temperature of hell." Of course it is!

Paul, for one never indulged in such folly, but when he summed up his thoughts of the world to come, cried, "eye hath not seen nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things that God hath prepared for them that love him." That is to say that immortality is a great adventure into the unseen and the unknown. Faith in immortality is not meant for the coward and the weak, to comfort them in feebleness, nor is it an opiate that makes death hurt less. At any rate when I, for one, am weak, I am willing to lie down, go to sleep and never wake.

In hours of weakness I understand what Swinburne felt when he thanked: "—with brief thanksgiving, whatever God may be; that no life lives forever; that dead men rise up never; that even the weariest river winds somewhere safe to sea." When we are weak we feel like that! But when we are strong, when the tides of life are mighty in us, when love powerfully insists on the deathless value of our friends, when possibilities open up within us to fine and deep for three score and ten ever to unfold, when we are at our best, it is then we crave the chance of going on. Faith in immortality is not the child of human feebleness seeking an opiate; it springs from human strength pounding against the too narrow bars of our mortality!

Friends, I appeal to you this Easter season. You do not really believe that this is so irrational a universe that it keeps the physical forever and lets the spiritual go. Deeper than your doubts is our invincible surmise that death must somehow be an open door through which the unseen and eternal in us pass into life abiding.

Science says that all the physical in us is 98 cents worth of chemical material. Is that the last word about us? And when we lift our thoughts to Him through whom the Divine so gloriously shone, can you believe that as the last word about Him — 98 cents worth of chemical material, and when that dissolved, all gone?

No, the deeper difficulty lies not in believing in immortality but in disbelieving it, in reducing the imperishable values of the spirit in us to perishable dust. This mortal must put on immortality. Let that faith this Easter dignify our lives, ground our character, on unshakable foundations, devote our service to abiding aims, and keep our hope invincible!

People Under 72 May Work and Still Draw Old Age Insurance

"People under age 72 who are drawing old-age and survivors insurance benefits may continue to work without any loss of benefit checks as long as they do not earn over $1200 during the calendar year," J. Hester Strickland, manager, Roswell Social Security Administration office announced today.

Beneficiaries who earn over $1,200 will lose one or more monthly checks, depending upon their total earnings for the year; those who earn over $2050 may lose all their social security checks for the year, except that they are eligible for social security benefits for any month in which they do not earn over $100 in wages or have not worked in their own business.

"After age 72, there is no restriction on a person's earnings, although the $1200 limit for the year and the $100 limit for the month still apply to all months before the 72nd birthday," Strickland said.

SANTO DOMINGO

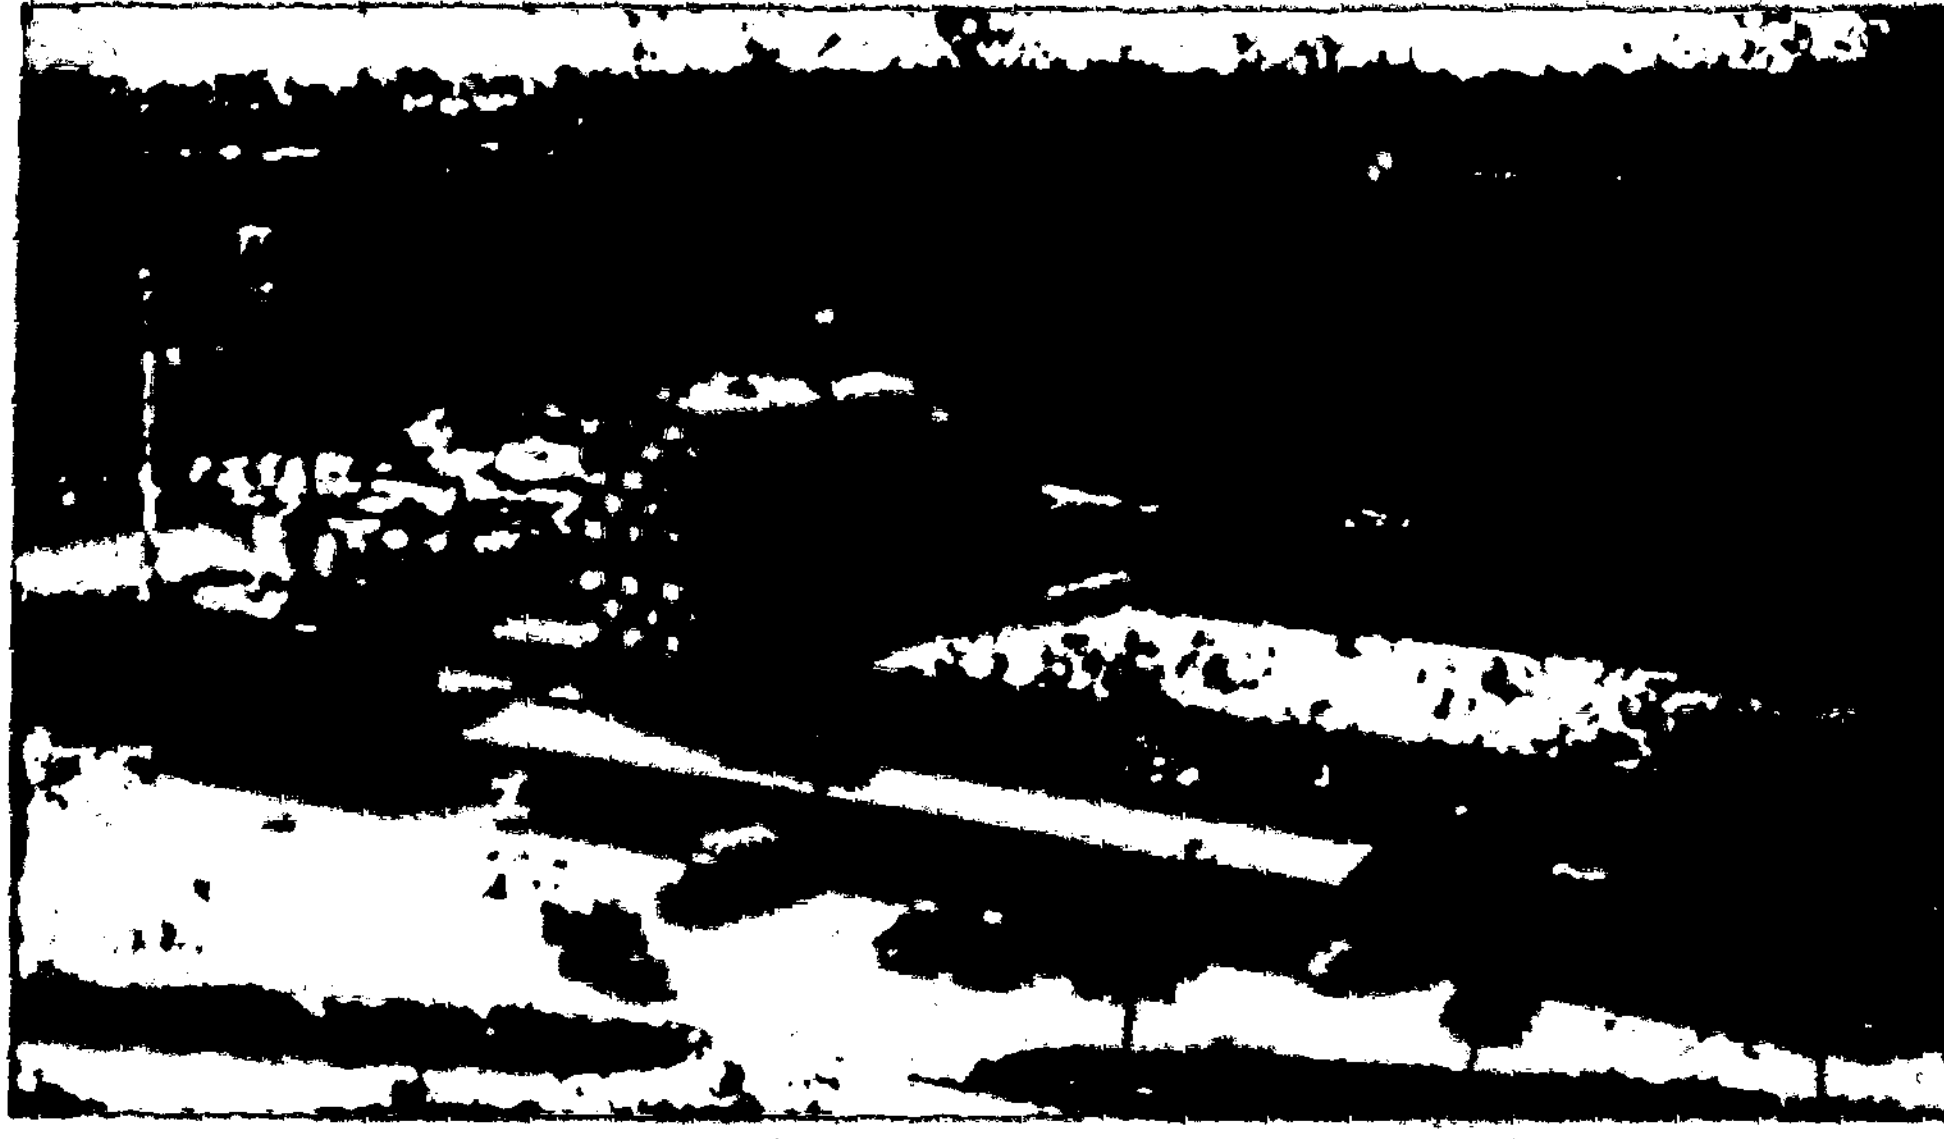

Although the dances last four days, it is not a marathon affair. The Indians are in two groups that alternate, each group doing a different dance. They usually stop around nightfall and start again the following morning. Of course during dance and Fiesta time all work goes unheeded.

Easter morning the dances start after the entire pueblo has gone to Mass in the old Santo Domingo Mission which was originally built in 1605. Every one worshipping at the ancient church must kneel on the solidly packed dirt floor, for there are no benches or chairs. The lack of benches reflects the simple life of these redskin brothers. They have kept the Indian tradition. Until recently modern conveniences were non-existent. Now there are a few electrical appliances and even one or two television sets in the village.

While the Santo Domingo people finally may be slowly accepting the modern world, their dancing, one of the Easter high spots in New Mexico that no one should miss, still tells the story of centuries ago when the Red man ruled and the West was still an unbroken soil.

The Santo Domingo Indians hold many other dances of religious significance and entertainment purposes throughout the year with extra special dances Christmas, New Years and their spectacular Annual Green Corn Dance.

James A. Hipp Post Celebrates Legion's 40th Anniversary

The James A. Hipp Post No. 57 of the American Legion and the American Legion Auxiliary held its regular meeting Wednesday night, March 18, 1959, at the Captain High School lunch room to commemorate the 40th anniversary of the founding of the American Legion.

Guest speakers were Mrs. Nan Genia, District President of the American Legion Auxiliary, District No. 5 from Alamogordo who spoke on Americanism and membership. The 5th District Vice Commander, Harry Clifford of Tularosa explained the School Awards System, a program of the American Legion.

Mrs. Booker of Alamogordo made a talk on Civil Defense. She brought out that "we must all be always alert to see that another 'Pearl Harbor' doesn't happen again as it is now a danger in our living rooms anywhere in the nation."

The Department Commander, Paul Kaiser brought out the importance of a better Legion for a better town, county, state and nation. "This," the commander stated "can be accomplished in part by the different youth programs of the American Legion."

Mrs. Lucille Davidson from Ruidoso made a brief talk on the value to the organization of more members.

Bart Wetzel, department vice commander discussed the District 5 programs.

District 5 Commander, Ricardo Guerra, acted as master of ceremonies and introduced the speakers.

Dr. D. H. "Tiny" Reed of Eastern New Mexico University of Portales, who is the national committeeman of the American Legion, delivered the principal address of the evening. He discussed the progress of the Legion through the past 40 years and told of the many programs which the Legion sponsors, such as Junior baseball, "Boys' State", Essay Contest, "Oratorical Contest" and many others.

7. Thou shall not drive your teachers to their graves (just furnish the gas!)

8. Thou shall not send notes (stand up and yell!)

9. Thou shall not turn in your paper late (don't do it at all!)

10. Thou shall not interrupt the teacher (just don't let him talk at all!)

Don't take these seriously, but they're sort of cute to think about. I think erasers are plenty hard in school, personally. However, I think we're living up to these commandments pretty well. Let's try breaking them for a change—it might not be as difficult as it sounds. Here's a cute little poem I thought you'd enjoy:

PUPPY LOVE

The moon was out
The room was dark
There wasn't a light,
Not even a spark;
Away in the corner
They sat all alone—
The little black pup
And his chicken bone!

Remember: Do unto others as they would do unto you, only be sure and do it first!

Take care! See you next week.

—PAM

P. S.—Thanks to all of you who wrote expressing your ideas about dancing. I hope you understand why I'm not publishing them all, since they are very much the same as all the other letters—often quoting the same scripture. I received a number of other letters this morning and again on the same subject. I published the letter today because, although it was about dancing—it brought up a different problem, the problem of a "teenager" married to an older man. We would very much like to have your opinions and comments on this. I'll write to you other letter writers personally—Thanks again!

Santo Domingo Indians in Easter Ceremonial Dances

The centuries old tradition of celebrating Easter will be continued when the Santo Domingo Indians open their ceremonial Easter dances Easter Sunday at their Pueblo. They will dance all day Easter Sunday and continue for the following three days through Wednesday.

Ceremonial dances at Easter represent a tradition handed down for centuries and the Santo Domingos of today seek to relive the colorful past, to convey their heritage spirit through their dancing. It's like one seeking to get out of this world.

These Santo Domingo dances are the most colorful and spectacular of Easter Indian dances and are widely known throughout the Southwest for their size, costuming and authenticity and bring the Indians from other tribes, native New Mexicans, tourists and the newer residents of the state back to the Pueblo again and visitors are welcome all four days without charge. These visitors all agree that the Domingos, beyond all other Indian groups are keeping faithful the legacy bequeathed them.

At present in their everyday living the Domingos still live today as did their forefathers, many still climb ladders to their upper berth apartments, observe numerous rituals in their sacred Kivas, and still raise their offspring in the culture and practice of bygone centuries. A strange and wonderful people!

The Easter dance is their great festival during this four day event. The children, some of them barely out of the toddler stage but instinctively talented, do the actual Easter day dancing. Then, their elders take over on Monday and continue the ritual through Wednesday. Approximately 500 men, women and children take part in the dances.

While the younger people dance to the rhythm of the Tom-Tom, hundreds of the older men, dressed in brightest obtainable colors chant to the beat of the rhythm. The Indian squaws wear buckskin and dresses accented with many thousands of dollars worth of genuine old Indian shellbead waspum and beautiful turquoise and silver jewelry and the younger Indian bucks are covered with brightly colored feathers, skins from various animals, shells, bells and other ornaments that have been handed down from fathers to sons for centuries. They live in their own little world.

Roses to be Theme Of Pre-Centennial

Roses—That is the theme of the pre-centennial celebration in Tularosa, and no more appropriate theme could be chosen.

History tells us our valley was covered by the wild rose common to this part of the state. You can still find a few of them along the Tularosa Creek in secluded spots. From that time until now we have had a succession of roses.

Look around you now. It seems every other person in Tularosa has a green thumb—especially where roses are concerned.

We have many outstanding rose gardens, but almost any kind of beautiful flower will grow in our valley and there will be many in full bloom for the Pre-Centennial.

The date, May 16, was chosen because most of the roses are at their prettiest then.

Completes Course at School Of Beauty Culture

Miss Lupe Duran, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eusebio Duran of Tularosa, has finished her course of study at the Hollywood School of Beauty Culture in Albuquerque and is working at present with a junior license until she takes her State Board examination in April.

She will be working at the House of Glamour Beauty Salon in Tularosa.

Lupe is a graduate of Tularosa High School and worked at Holloman before attending beauty school.

Richard Yearley of Tularosa in the Veterans Hospital in Albuquerque

Richard Yearley of Tularosa is in the Veterans Hospital in Albuquerque where he underwent surgery last Monday and is reported doing fine. Ginger and Al Stricker are friends, were with Richard over the week end and through Monday. Ginger returned Tuesday to her job in the county clerk's office. Richard is employed in the treasurer's office.

Mrs. Lillie Cook visited in El Paso last week with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Phillips, and her son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Will Cook. While there her son took her to Juarez, her first trip there in 55 years. They went to the La Fiesta for dinner and a floor show. Mrs. Cook says she really enjoyed it.

Mrs. J. H. McNatt returned Saturday, March 21, from a several weeks' jaunt. Her first stop was Gallup where she joined her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Fife Peters. From there they motored to Los Angeles where they visited Mr. and Mrs. Peters' daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Donaldson. The Donaldsons have a new addition to their family, a girl, and named Martha Corene. Mrs. McNatt returned via Albuquerque where she visited her niece and family, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Walker. The Walkers brought Mrs. McNatt home and stayed here a few days before returning to Albuquerque.

Bill Marr has been on the sick list this last week with an abscessed tonsil.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. McNatt received word here Wednesday that their son, Roderick McNatt, of El Paso, Ariz., was in the hospital for major surgery.

Mr. and Mrs. Julio Salcedo of Albuquerque are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Chon Orozco this week.

Tularosa F. F. A. Win Two Plaques

The Tularosa F.F.A. won two plaques in the district judging contests held at Las Cruces Saturday, March 21. Double honors went to the meats team, with a second place in team competition and a second place individual honor to Jimmy McNatt and a third place to Mike Fairbanks. The other member of the team, Maurice Hobson, was only a few points below his teammates.

Joe Duran, Emilio Randall, and Jim Randall brought a third place plaque in poultry judging. Jim was 6th place individual and Emilio eighth. The contest consisted of egg candling, dress poultry grading, selecting of breeding stock and culling for egg production.

The shop team missed getting a plaque by a very slight margin by taking fourth. Franky Flores, Jimmy McNatt, and Maurice Hobson worked as a team in finding elevation of ten stakes, welding, tool identification and finding the bill of materials for an alfalfa feed rack.

Norval Bookout, Ronald Moritzky and G. L. Tucker, members of the dairy judging team, placed sixth in the district.

The teams in the district were Animas, Anthony, Cliff, Cloudcroft, Cobre, Las Cruces, Hatch, Deming, Reserve and Tularosa.

The next contest will be the State contest to be held at State University April 3 and 4.

About Tularosans

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Moreno were Sunday guests at the Rudolph Terrazas Sr. home.

Rudolph Terrazas Sr., Joe Moreno and Chon Orozco were visitors to Juarez, Mexico, Saturday. A good time was reported by all.

Joseph M. Wallace and Miss Ronnie J. Smith, both of Alamogordo, were married in Tularosa Saturday evening at 7 p.m. by Justice of the Peace Eldred Hadin.

Lester Wilcox and Leonard May spent Saturday night on Scott's Able in a mud hole. They were on their way to Jim McBrides on the Sacramento River. That's a good story boys but—mud in New Mexico?

Mr. and Mrs. Orlando Gabaldon were over night visitors in Carrizozo Thursday night, March 19.

Mr. and Mrs. Billie Joe Brady are the proud parents of a boy, born Saturday, March 21, at the Tularosa Clinic. He weighed 7 lbs., 6 oz.

Student Council Selling High School Banners

The Student Council of Tularosa High School are selling banners and pennants. The banners are $2 and the pennants $1.

The money is to go into a fund to buy an official Tularosa school flag which is being designed by the students. These banners are very distinctive in appearance and buying one will be contributing to a very worthwhile project.

The Student Council convention and elections will be April 16 and 17. These are very authentic and are carried out with all the fervor of an exciting election.

Concert Band Earns First Division Rating

At the music festival in Alamogordo March 20 and 21, the Tularosa High School 50-piece concert band once again turned in an outstanding performance.

The band festival which turned into an all-out contest was the most competitive in 11 years.

The Tularosa band earned a first division rating from the other two.

The judges also praised the Tularosa band and its director, Raymond C. Kote, for the steady improvement and progress made over the years.

Top Honors for Vocal Music Department

The Vocal Music department carried away some top honors at the Music Festival last week. The girls ensemble received an I rating and honor certificate.

These girls are Kathy Phillips, Lavon Stewart, Corina Lopez, Rosalie Agullar, Margie Goforth, Meredith Campbell, Carol Thomas, Tenna Kay Chew, Linda Hardin, Pam McNelly and Mary Switzer.

The group was complimented highly on their appearance, as well as their singing.

The Madrigals received a II plus rating. The members of this group are Kathy Phillips, Lavon Stewart, Corina Lopez, Rosalie Agullar, Margie Goforth, Bill Silva, Felix Sandoval, Linda Hardin and David McKinley.

We're all proud of these groups. They have worked hard and surely deserve the honors received.

John Turner is director of the Vocal Department.

Stress Student's Ability In Academic Planning

The Tularosa PTA met in regular session Thursday, March 19th, with about thirty members present. After a short business meeting, Miss Ella Fanning, program chairman, presented: Rose Lockhart and a panel of teachers who gave an excellent program on recommending changes in the curriculum of the Tularosa schools.

The panel, consisting of Miss Wilson, Mr. Love, Mr. Waldhart and Mr. Reynolds, presented their material in an entertaining and informative manner.

They stressed three separate tracks—academic, vocational and terminal—with emphasis on ability grouping to give each student a chance to do as much as they are capable of. They were all in agreement that an efficient counseling and advisory service is invaluable to parent and pupil alike.

The new officers elected for the coming year were: Walter McClellin, president; Gene Kennedy, vice president; Mrs. Harry Clifford, secretary and Mrs. Doreen Davis, treasurer.

The coming State PTA convention was discussed and delegates chosen to go. This promises to be a very good convention, with some of the best speakers in the country scheduled to address the different groups.

Easter Sunrise Service Moved to New Location

An Easter sunrise service will be held in Corona March 29. The service, sponsored jointly by the Presbyterian and Baptist churches, will begin between 6 and 8:15.

A change of the place has been made so that it will be possible for everyone to drive to the site of the service.

The place is the west side of Mrs. Stella Jones' field, almost directly in front of the Catholic church.

A lane on the north side of the field leads to the gate in the northwest corner of the field.

Members of both the Baptist and Presbyterian youth groups will share in the program.

Rev. Don Baker will bring the devotional message, following the service, doughnuts and coffee and hot chocolate will be served.

Watch for the campfire almost directly west of Corona Catholic church.

Lebrado Alirez

Lebrado (Leo) Alirez was born March 17, 1906, at Pinos Wells, N. M., and passed away Saturday, March 14, 1953, at Vaughn. Mr. Alirez had been ill since last November and was most of that time in a hospital at Roswell.

Funeral services were held in Corona Tuesday at 8:30 a.m., Mar. 17. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Molly (Nancy) Alirez; three sons, Jack, Mike and Leo, and one daughter, Francis; by his father, Marcos Alirez; two sisters, Mrs. Maggie Stewart and Mrs. Pete Nunez; and by two brothers, Arthur and Lorenzo Alirez, all of Corona.

Mr. Alirez was a rancher and he and his family lived for 13 years on the Will Ed Harris ranch now owned by Howard Surratt in the foothills on the south side of the Gallinas Mountains. The family moved to Corona a few years ago.

Jack Alirez is in the Air Force and flew here by plane from Newfoundland to attend his father's funeral. Mike is in the Marines, and he came from Camp Pendleton, Calif., for the service. Both Jack and Mike are on thirty-day leaves.

Donald L. Shattuck

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Perkins were in Albuquerque Monday, March 23, to attend funeral services for Donald L. Shattuck, father of Mrs. Frank Dulle's.

Mr. Shattuck has been a frequent visitor in Corona, and he spent Wednesday last a week before his death with friends here at Corona.

Special Easter Music by Corona Presbyterians

The Corona Presbyterian church presented a special program of Easter music Monday evening, March 23, at 8 p.m.

The Senior choir sang a cantata entitled "No Greater Love."

The Children's choir sang songs: "Easter Bells" and "Crown Him King."

Following the program refreshments were served by the women in the basement of the church.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Huntsinger of Vaughn and Mrs. June Straley and family of Anchor attended the Easter program Monday evening at Corona.

Rev. and Mrs. Bill Lytle entertained the Senior choir of the Presbyterian church Sunday afternoon in their home following practice for their Easter program.

'Simultaneous Crusade'

The Corona Baptist church is one of the thousands of Baptist churches in the Simultaneous Evangelistic Crusade.

The series of services will begin April 12th and go through the 10th.

Pastor-evangelist Don E. Baker will do the preaching and an evangelistic youth choir will be led by Everett Dame.

Everyone of all church preferences is invited to attend.

Bill Turner Given Leadership Recognition At Texas Tech

Bill Turner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Champ Turner, formerly of Corona, has been reported making a name at Texas Tech where he is now a senior.

While in Corona High School he lettered in football, basketball and track. In 1954 he received an appointment to West Point.

An annual event of Texas Tech is the awarding of the "All College recognition" for leadership. This year Bill won that award.

In addition to this, Bill was voted the most handsome man at college, and he is president of the Phi Kappa Alpha fraternity; president of the Inter-Fraternity Council, and he is also on the Student Council.

Dr. J. P. Turner Speaks To Woman's Club On Health Problems

By CLARA BAKER

Dr. J. P. Turner, guest speaker at the Carrizozo Women's Club last Friday, told club members how the medical profession is advancing in producing preventive medicines.

"Development of potent vaccines to be used in combating diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus have been proven successful," said Dr. Turner. "Three shots at 30 day intervals, then booster shots two to four years later will give immunity from these dreaded diseases," he said.

"It is a deplorable fact that one-half of the children in the United States six years old and younger, have not had their polio shots," he pointed out. The doctor stated that two injections of flu vaccine will last for 12 months. Also, a vaccine to combat the common cold is being tested in the east. How successful this vaccine is will be known in about three years.

Officers of New Mexico Federation of Women's Clubs present at the meeting were: Mrs. E. N. Crosssett of Anthony, State president; Mrs. M. R. Baumgartner, Alamogordo, district president; Mrs. Elmer Hole, Anthony, district vice-president; Mrs. H. H. Callaway, Alamogordo, district secretary and Mrs. Dale Dodds of Ruidoso, district treasurer.

Presided over by Mrs. Baumgartner, Mrs. Hole spoke briefly on membership. Mrs. Callaway's subject was "What Makes a Good Club Woman" and Mrs. Dodds topic was "Why Be Federated?"

Federation of Women's Clubs are 11 million strong in the United States and 50 foreign countries.

Mrs. Crosssett reported that New Mexico clubs so far this year have sent $800 in CARE packages to the Philippines. A scholarship for one year in college has been awarded to an Indian girl so she may teach nursing to other Indian girls on the reservations in New Mexico.

Mrs. E. T. Fletcher, president of the Carrizozo club and Mrs. Kelley Stephenson were delegates to attend the State convention in Alamogordo in April, with Mrs. C. A. Snow and Mrs. Bernice Pemberton as alternates. The district convention will be held in Carrizozo next fall.

Mrs. C. A. Brannum, program chairman, introduced her guest entertainers, Mrs. J. J. McCarthy who played her own composition, a beautiful piano solo entitled "Noc-turna" and Miss Angie Grubb played a lovely flute solo entitled "Mignonette" accompanied by Mrs. T. E. Kelley at the piano.

Delicious refreshments of dainty cakes, frosted with green and white icing, sherbet, green and white candy melts, and coffee were served from a beautifully appointed table, centered with a lovely bouquet of stock, carrying out a St. Patrick's Day motif, by the hostesses, Mmes. Fred LaMay, J. D. Bunton, Ralph Curry, A. A. Young and Wesley Johnson.

The afternoon was spent visiting and taking pictures.

News Notes from Along the Bonito

By LOUISE RUNNELS

Alice Wright told of more excitement while the "Martinez Chase" was on. Folks around Capitlan were already tense while many men and officers were looking for the escape. In the little area around Cummins for awhile they "bout" held their breaths — it was after dark and the burglar alarm began screaming in Cummins grocery store. Luckily, one officer was in Pearl's Cafe but the store was locked and manager Hollis Cummins couldn't be located. When he was found and unlocked the "burglary door" he and officers found the switch on the alarm had — of all times — gotten a short!

Please accept a correction for an error about Tom Bragg's nephew who was killed in a car accident at Los Lunas recently. The man was Claud Oswell, and his mother Alice "Tex" Oswell is Tom Bragg's sister. Claud was 64 years old and lived with his mother. Tom Bragg went to Los Lunas for the funeral.

Lester Greer and helpers went up to Tom Bragg's Sunday and cut a fine lot of wood for him and Alice Wright.

Paul and Lola Schriener who have a cabin at Bonito City visited with Tom Bragg and Alice Wright Sunday. Lola hadn't seen the historic old Parson's Hotel where Tom lives and found it a real interesting place, along with Tom and his stories about his boyhood in the White Mountains. Yes, I was along with them. There's never a time that I don't like to visit Tom in his hotel and Alice in her cute mountain cabin. On our way home we stopped to ask a couple to ride. They walked as if they were "bought out." Sure enough — they had been walking since 8 that morning and it was around 5 p.m. They had driven from White Sands Proving Grounds where they work to the top of Monjeau and left their car there, planning a hiking trip to "Sierra Blanca" — their trail in the strange country led them just the opposite direction and they found themselves on the Bonito canyon road and ready to hire a taxi, if there was one available. A group of young folks from Nogal and Carrizozo were stalled near the creek — so they took the tired ones on up to Monjeau, to their car (after we got their motor the Bonito on business).

Wilma June Young was in Alamogordo last week at the employment office to take an aptitude test. Wilma is a senior in Capitlan High School and a real scholar.

Judy LaMay spoke of being in Alamogordo and had a nice visit with Fern Sweet who is working there. And by the way, Judy had a birthday party Sunday, with several teenagers to have a good dinner and music. Joe and Rachel West and Joe G. were guests at the LaMay ranch Sunday, to.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay Keith and family are expected for a short vacation in the community over the Easter holidays. They live in Tucumcari.

Mrs. Robert Devers took her children and Sharon and Kent Hayes to Roswell last week on a pleasure trip. It's good to have the Devers family in our community. Robert Devers is superintendent from Angus to Capitlan.

Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Stone from El Paso with Mrs. Stone's brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Tomlinson, also from El Paso, spent the week end in Stone's cabin at Angus.

Mrs. Harold Baldwin from the Nazrene camp at Angus held a cottage prayer meeting at the Angus community building Wednesday night.

Jim Byler, who has been waiting about six weeks now for admittance to the Veteran's Hospital in Albuquerque by doctor's orders, wrote the Veteran's Administrator there that if they'd call him, he'd be glad to take his sleeping bag and "bed down" in his basement, if they could give him some treatment.

Bob Shook from Las Cruces visited the Arvel Runnels recently. Bob said Mr. and Mrs. Shook were fine. They live in Las Cruces. Dan and Lynn Storm from Glencoe were on the Bonito to visit lately. Lynn, Dan's dad, hasn't been feeling too good. He had a bad spell with the flu but is better.

Earnest Brown, "Texas outlaw" was on the Bonito last week to look at some cabins sites at Bear Canyon. He and family live at Lovington.

TOWN TOPICS

There is to be an Open House Easter Sunday from 5 to 7 p.m. at the old Catholic Church recreation hall. Mr. and Mrs. Andrea Herrera invite all to come.

Buddy Duncan left Thursday to spend the Easter vacation with his father, Jas. C. Duncan, in Dallas.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Vaughn of Lovington were in Carrizozo Saturday on business. Mr. Vaughn is recovering nicely from a recent accident.

Mrs. Harold Covey of Carrizozo will enter Southwestern General Hospital Sunday for minor surgery.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Elam and two grandchildren spent the week end at Hobbs.

Pvt. Donald E. Marr, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Marr of Tularosa arrived home Monday for a week's leave from the Army. Donald is stationed at Fort Riley, Kansas.

Word was received in Tularosa this week of the death of Mrs. C. J. W. Smith. She was the former Berdine Waller.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Jensen and children from Ruidoso spent the evening at Bonito City last week. They enjoyed Arvel Runnels' slide pictures of his bear and elk hunts. Arvel showed them to the Ruidoso Elk's club not long ago.

Hector's wife Hannah would work, worry and stew until he bought her a washer, that dried the clothes too.

THE BARNES FAMILY AND MR. AND MRS. G. H. DORSETT AND FAMILY

RESOLUTION BY THE BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS LINCOLN COUNTY

WHEREAS, it has been brought to the attention of the Board of County Commissioners that there is no regulation or law governing the size of maps or plats filed in the County Clerk's office, and

WHEREAS, in the absence of any law, the result is that many plats are filed which are too large to file in the Plat Books provided for the filing of such plats and become badly mutilated from usage over a period of years;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that the Board of Commissioners of Lincoln County establish uniform sizes and specifications for all maps or plats filed in the County Clerk's office as follows:

1. Specific sizes that can be filed in a 10"x21" stiff backed binder. Specific overall sizes being 10"x24" or 24"x33" (twice the height) or 10"x45" (twice the length) if being necessary to fold the last two sizes one fold in order to insert in binder. Minimum size—8 1/2"x14" (two of these can be mounted on one 10"x24" page).

2. A 1/2" binding margin must be left on 12" left edge of all plats except minimum size. 1/2" margin is required on other three edges. No margin is required on minimum size plats.

3. Maximum depth of Subdivision plats shall be 1" to 109".

4. Actual scale and Graphic scale must be shown on all plats.

5. Flat or survey must be tied into some marker, such as Land Office marker or previously filed plat showing such tie.

6. Proper forms and spacings shall be placed on plat for applicable and authorized signatures.

7. All maps or plats must be filed in duplicate on Cloth Print.

All plats and maps must be in an acceptable form for filing by the County Clerk before they will be accepted by the County Commissioners.

Anyone wishing to file Subdivision or any other plat of different dimensions or specifications as set out above, must obtain special permission from the County Commissioners before filing same with the County Clerk.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the County Clerk mail a copy of this Resolution to all known Surveyors and Engineers who frequently file such maps or plats in the Lincoln County Clerk's Office. The Clerk shall also have this Resolution published one time each in the Lincoln County News and Ruidoso News.
