

Congressmen Confirm Departure of Ft. Bliss Troops from Red Canyon

Optimistic Reports to Carrizozo Chamber Of Commerce Prove to be Unfounded

Since the announced intention of Fort Bliss to withdraw personnel from the Red Canyon Range Camp near Carrizozo, disposition of the camp remains in question.

Marvin H. Roberts, president of the Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce, said this week that he has received conflicting statements regarding the status of the firing range.

Red Canyon is located inside Socorro county, at the northern tip of the 150-mile long White Sands missile range. It was established four years ago and at that time was the only range used by the Army in training troops to actually fire the Nike-Ajax anti-aircraft missile. Carrizozo is the nearest town to Red Canyon.

More recently the McGregor range, near El Paso, has come into use in firing the newer Nike-Hercules missiles and installations there have been of a permanent nature.

The Ft. Bliss policy has consistently been that the Red Canyon Range Camp was a temporary set-up and that all firings eventually would be transferred to the McGregor Range. The gradual transfer of personnel now taking place, will be completed at the end of the fiscal year, according to statements by Ft. Bliss authorities.

Several months ago the Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce made inquiries regarding the disposition of Red Canyon Range Camp, pointing out that its abandonment would cause a severe hardship on the town which has geared itself to provide housing and services for Army personnel.

Over a hundred housing units have been built or moved in and remodeled to accommodate both civilians and Service personnel at the camp, Mr. Roberts points out.

"Complete withdrawal of all personnel from Red Canyon will deal a severe blow to the economy of our town," Mr. Roberts said this week.

"Hundreds of thousands of dollars have been spent at Red Canyon to install sewers, telephones, power service, paved roads and water and sanitation facilities, not to mention the substantial buildings and down range installations. We feel that some branch of the Service, if not Ft. Bliss, can continue to make excellent use of the great expenditures at Red Canyon."

In answer to a query last fall from the Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce, Sen. Clinton Anderson wrote November 5 that "I am advised that some firing of the Nike-Hercules projects will be moved from Red Canyon Range to McGregor Range; however, the Army advised that it is not contemplated that this will lessen the use of these installations."

A statement printed last week in the home edition of the El Paso Herald Express quoted Senator Anderson as saying that the Army plans to inactivate its Red Canyon-Oscara camp, continuing: "The senator has been told by Lieut. Col. John W. B. Walters, chief of legislative liaison for the Army, that the reduction in personnel will start at once and will continue gradually through the fiscal year."

The camp, established in 1954, has been used to train personnel in handling Nike-Ajax missiles. It will be used occasionally as long as these missiles are in use, but when all are replaced by Nike-Hercules, the area will revert to use as part of the White Sands range. Nike-Hercules training is to take place on the McGregor Range, near Ft. Bliss."

An article printed January 22 in the morning edition of the El Paso Times, confirmed the above release, stating that Ft. Bliss activities would end at Red Canyon and troops would be transferred to McGregor.

(Maj.) Luther Anderson, public information officer at Ft. Bliss, was quoted as expressing regret "that about 100 families of men stationed at Red Canyon will be moved from Carrizozo," continuing: "Our relations have been excellent with the people of Carrizozo; our people have enjoyed living there."

He explained, however, that the move is being made to decrease the cost of missile training and to improve the efficiency of the operation. "Under present plans Ft. Bliss will make no further use of Red Canyon and it will revert to the control of White Sands Missile Range."

In a letter to Representative Joseph M. Montoya, dated January 20, Lt. Col. Walters stated that missile firing would be transferred to Ft. Bliss and that "under present plans no other units will do practice firing at Red Canyon-Oscara."

Enclosing a copy of Lt. Col. Walters' letter, Repr. Montoya wrote the Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce on January 29: "I agree with you that all our offices were told and what they subsequently wrote us do appear to be contradictory and before receiving your (Mr. Roberts') letter, I had already pointed this out to them with strong emphasis."

"Policies and procedures often change rapidly within the framework of some of the government agencies but that does not mean our settling for the seemingly discouraging tone of their letter and we have asked them to justify the later statements on the policy."

"We have pointed out again that the range and camp are readily available for utilization by the Department of Defense in that area and we have stressed the importance of such a project to the local economy of the area."

Mr. Roberts said this week that the Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce will continue to make every effort to keep the Red Canyon and Oscara range camps on an operational basis by the Department of Defense. In this he has been assured the full cooperation of New Mexico's congressional delegation.

RANGE CAMP OR GHOST TOWN?

(AN EDITORIAL)

Is New Mexico to acquire another ghost town? Red Canyon seems perilously near that forlorn state of affairs as Fort Bliss prepares to withdraw all personnel from the site.

No sign would then be needed: "The Army Was Here" to tell the desolate story to casual visitors. Abandoned mess-halls, barracks, bunkers, utility installations and the vacant Chapel would tell the graphic story of a camp which once was an important part of our national defense: "The Army went thataway"—meaning South.

That is the dismal story of what may happen. Ghost towns are not pleasant to look upon and New Mexico already has too many of them to suit the people who live around them.

Let's go back a few years. When the 150-mile White Sands Missile Range was acquired in New Mexico there were heartaches aplenty as ranchers moved from their homes to make way for a nation's effort to defend itself against aggression.

Towns adjacent to the newly acquired range also lost the trade of the displaced ranchers and their familiar faces were no longer seen. But the sacrifice seemed worthwhile when the first atomic bomb was exploded near Oscara and Japan's defeat followed soon afterward.

World War II won, the Communist threat appeared and an emergency program was set up to cope with possible enemy bombers. The Nike-Ajax missile was the nation's chief defense against threat from the skies.

Fort Bliss established the Red Canyon and Oscara Range Camps to train Nike-Ajax troops to handle and fire these potent aerial weapons and Carrizozo was called on for housing, services, skilled civilian workers and water for the camps, to mention a few of the important things.

Carrizozo people responded by building or moving in over a hundred units of additional housing and the merchants increased their inventories, hired more help and generously extended needed credit to Service personnel.

Now with the announced removal of all Ft. Bliss personnel we are faced with vacant housing and a severe business recession.

There can be no disagreement about the fact that a potentially distressed area should get consideration before it becomes a distressed area, and the abandonment of Red Canyon Range Camp will be a severe blow to the economy of Carrizozo.

Surely Red Canyon, with its investment running into hundreds of thousands of dollars of taxpayers' money deserves a better fate than to become an "impact area" for missiles fired from near the Texas line in our direction.

The people of Carrizozo could have told the Army: "Put up tents for your people to live in . . . we need our civilian workers here at home . . . anything your people buy in town is money on the barrelhead . . . and our law enforcement will be plenty tough on any of your Servicemen who get out of line."

But Carrizozo is a neighborly town, like all others in the West. Its people are friendly and hospitable. They don't worry about "What is there in it for us?", but on the other hand gladly share what comforts and conveniences they have with others who come this way.

All we ask is that Carrizozo not be penalized for its hospitality. We ask that the operational status and usefulness of both Red Canyon and Oscara Range Camps be continued by the Department of Defense.

Our own national security can be weakened by abandoning those who have made sacrifices to secure it. Consideration for the welfare of all, along with planning, could have prevented most of New Mexico's "historic" ghost towns.

Carrizozo already has one ghost town nearby—let's not be burdened with another ghost town at Red Canyon!

We can all help prevent this by writing our congressmen at once, giving them our ideas and suggestions.

Receives Gold Cup For Talent Find Win

Miss Mary Guck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Guck, of Capitán, was presented the gold cup which she recently won in the State Farm Bureau Talent Find contest.

Mrs. Joe Skeen made the presentation at the Lincoln County Farm Bureau meeting in Capitán January 28.

Mary is the vocal and accordion pupil of Mrs. Leota Fringsten. She purchased her accordion four years ago with funds obtained through the sale of a prize-winning 4-H lamb from the Peabody Rambouillet flock.

She won the FHA sponsored talent contest in Capitán in 1958 with her rendition of "The Shifting Whispering Sands" as a representative of the Lincoln County Farm Bureau, and with the same performance went as far as the state finals in the junior division of the Farm Bureau Talent Find contest in Raton last year.

In 1957, Mary again won the Capitán FHA talent contest, donating her winnings both years to the Farm Bureau scholarship fund. In November, Mary presented a medley of songs of New Mexico at the State Talent Find in Roswell and finished third among seventeen contestants in the junior division. She is a sophomore at Capitán High School.

Oratorio is to be Community Affair

By REV. HOMER REID

We are anxious to make the singing of Stainer's Crucifixion a community project to be presented each year on Good Friday. Good music is probably the most universal language there is.

In Denver where the Crucifixion is presented at St. John's Episcopal Cathedral each Good Friday singers from all denominations participate in the presentation of this beautiful and significant music.

What better way to show one's love and gratitude for the Saviour than through mutual adoration in song? If enough interest and cooperation can be stimulated among the churches of the area it will be a big success and could become an annual event.

All singers will be welcome to come to rehearsals each Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock. The rehearsals are being held in the sanctuary of the Trinity Methodist Church. All voices are needed.

The plan is to present the oratorio on Good Friday and again in Ruidoso on Easter Sunday afternoon.

Rev. William Lytle of Corona has expressed his interest in the oratorio and hopes to be able to sing with the group.

The music is not difficult and can be sung by untrained voices. Solo parts are available for those who are interested.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Sines and Mrs. W. D. Grubb returned to El Paso Thursday.

Lions See Polygraph Machine Make Test

The superhuman qualities of the polygraph (lie detector) were demonstrated last Thursday night to an amazed audience by Capt. Al Hathaway, the state's foremost criminologist.

Captain Hathaway was guest speaker at the tenth anniversary party of the Carrizozo Lions Club. It was also ladies' night and past presidents of the club were honored guests.

Demonstrating the sensitiveness of the machine to mental activity and body chemistry, Capt. Hathaway was able to tell the birth month and the first name of the mother of his "subject" for the experiment. The willing subject was Joe Sargent, whose good humor lasted throughout the rather lengthy experiment.

Gadgets, carrying electrical impulses to the recording machine were strapped to a finger, to his chest and to one arm.

Mr. Hathaway was introduced by Rev. Homer Reid, program chairman, who also led group singing during and after the dinner served in the Junior High School cafeteria.

Another highlight of the evening was the presentation by J. T. Clegg of "Monarch" awards to Lions L. Z. Manire, F. O. Brown, Fred English, S. M. Ortiz and B. G. Laabe. Mr. Clegg briefly described the objectives of Lionism and cited each of the five for the contribution they have made to the club during the past ten years.

Club president Paul Baker also welcomed past presidents of the club who were present: Roy Shafer, S. M. Ortiz, Joe Sargent, Fred English and F. O. Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. Reid also entertained with two dance numbers.

Unusual interest is being shown in the mid-winter convention of National Highway "54" Association in Wichita, Kans., February 14, it is indicated by correspondence at the office of A. J. (Tony) Zimmer-

One of the items of major importance is the voting on proposed amendments to the Constitution changing the organizational set-up of the Association.

Nationwide advertising of all types will be determined and budgeted for the current fiscal year.

There are problems concerning

A rock observatory was to be built at Mousau Peak, at an elevation of 10,000 feet, with an adjoining picnic grounds.

Dr. R. E. Blaney, president of the Highway 54 Association, announced that the annual meeting of the association would be held in Carrizozo February 9.

Snow, sleet, wind, rain and sunday, Saturday.

The Forest Service purchased five acres at Capitan for a house, garage and workshop.

The Carrizozo Grizzlies marked up two more wins — over Hondo
30 to 22 and Corona 55 to 23.

Sen. Carl A. Hatch wrote that the Hondo flood control project would likely be approved.

People around Ruidoso were en-

Teensters Union No. 1

By PAM REID

My gosh! Doesn't seem like another week has rolled around already. Time sure does fly, doesn't it? As they say in Latin (I'm told) "tempus fugit" means the same thing (I think). Anyway, the days are sure slipping by. Let's start off with a letter from "J. B." It goes like this:

Dear Pam: I am asking these 'cause I can't answer myself but maybe you can. I might move, and I hate to go. Because I will miss my friends, especially one. I hate to go but there's nothing else to do. So what will I do? (signed) J. B.

Dear J. B.: Moving isn't anything to really worry about. So many people move every day, there's always few friends, places and happenings. Moving is just an adventure in itself. Besides, they say, "parting is such a sweet sorrow." You'll have other good friends and you'll always have these friends to write to. So look forward to your moving. Look at the bright side of things—there's always something wonderful in everything. Good luck in the future, Pam.

Well, here's another letter.

Dear Pam: I need your help desperately. I have five boy-friends; or should I say, one of them is to be my future fiancée. They all five have proposed to me and I like all five of them very much. They come from good families; have prominent business connections and all would make wonderful husbands. What should I do—"Mantrap No. 1"

Dear Mantrap No. 1: What's the big idea, trying to take all of them? But, of course, my father says to flip a coin ('course he would think of something unromantic like that). But the more I think of it, it isn't such a bad idea. They say true love only comes once so drop all five of these and get another—that's my opinion. Or pick out their good points and try to decide which will be the "best" husband. Good luck: Pam.

P.S. I wouldn't take my advice too seriously—after all, you are going to have to live with him.

Gee, wasn't Capt. Hathaway and the "lie detector" interesting? (I can't think of the scientific name of the instrument). How did it feel, Joe? Was it exciting, scary or what? That thing is really a marvelous invention—(now I remember, it is called a polygraph, now I remember—isn't it?) Sure would be nice to get ahead of one of those things, wouldn't it? The teachers could probably use it to good advantage—they could—but maybe I just better sid that part.

Overheard in the high school halls one day: "You'll have to be more careful about lowering the shades when you visit your steady's house—I saw you kiss her through the window last night."

"How haw haw! The laugh's on you! I wasn't at my steady's house last night!"

"I wish you would stop reaching for things at the table! Haven't you a tongue?"

"Sure, but my arms are longer."

Well, see you next week, gang.

—Love, Pam

HONDO CORNER

By FREDDA
PERRY

Hello everybody! Well, things are rather quiet around here. Except for one basketball game last week end, there's not much news. The Eagles dropped a thrilling game to the Floyd Panthers last Friday night by a score of 69-67. The teams fought it out until the last, and after one overtime the officials called a "sudden death" overtime. The Panthers got the tip-off and sank a basket for the final two points of the game. James Sanchez sank 26 points for high point honors, and Victor Pineda was behind him with 17 points.

This Friday the Eagles play the Hagerman Bobcats there, and Saturday night Lake Arthur travels to Hondo. Good luck, Eagles!

Beatrice Sanchez, senior at Hondo High, was chosen as last week's outstanding student. Beatrice, as previously mentioned, was selected as the top citizen for the Daughters of American Revolution contest, and is the editor of the annual yearbook, El Agulla. Beatrice participates in F.T.A., Pep Club, and other activities.

Some of the students of American Government in the high school will be taken to Santa Fe sometime in February to see the New Mexico State Legislature at work. All juniors and seniors have completed an intensive study of American government and every student has been given an examination on the units work.

The students will travel by bus to Santa Fe on a Thursday afternoon, visit both the Senate and House of Representatives, and will come home Friday night.

The Future Teachers of America have organized and have held their first meeting. Robert McCrady, sponsor, discussed several problems that a teacher faces, and suggested means of overcoming these problems. The club is made up of Juanita Torres, Olympia Herrera, Vangie Montes, Beatrice Pacheco, Annie Nunez and Fredda Perry.

Subscriptions to the high school yearbook, El Agulla, are now available to both Hondo students and outsiders. A $1 deposit is required and the annual will arrive in May. There is a supplement which will contain pictures of late events and El Agulla promises to be bigger and better than ever. The annual staff consists of Beatrice Sanchez, editor; Fredda Perry, co-editor; Richard Sanchez, business manager; Hope Silva, Lydia Torres, Danny Chavez, Johnny Richardson, Patsy Jolner, Bud McCrady, and Beatrice Pacheco. The sponsor is Albert Gomez, commercial instructor.

That's it for now—take care and I'll see you next week.

Special Door Prize For Valentine Dance

Another Smokey dance last Saturday night was a grand success. The music was good and everyone had a delightful time. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Norwalk donated $3. Thanks to each and everyone.

A Smokey Valentine dance will be held at the American Legion hall here in Capitán on February 14. The White Mountain Ramblers will again give us good music. Let us all meet again and dance and dance. See you then. There have always been door prizes, but the prize this time will be a little more special.

The March of Dimes—for both Capitán and Fort Stanton were successful. There was a basketball game, lots of coffee and donuts sold, and the Mothers' March.

Russell (Red) Cummins, nephew of Lewis Cummins, died Tuesday, January 27, at Arivaca, Ariz., at the age of 57. His survivors are a sister Helen and her family who live in Tucson.

Our new school board members are Hollis Cummins (re-elected) and Hermilio Otero—both winning by good majorities.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald McClung and children of Albuquerque went to Carlsbad Caverns and on their return visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Cummins and brother, Hollis Cummins and family, over last week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Werner and Mary Lynn and Earrol Ferguson of Artesia spent this last week end in Capitán and Lincoln with their parents, the Travis Werners and Edgar Phillips, and other relatives.

TIGERS LOSE TO ST. PETERS AND RUIDOSO

By C. JONES and LOCKHART

The St. Peter's Crusaders swamped the Capitán Tigers in a basketball game at Capitán Friday, January 30, by a score of 57-45. The invading Crusaders got off to a 5 point lead in the first quarter as Rodrigue and Hendricks each hit five points to pull St. Peters ahead.

The Tigers caught on fire in the second quarter and came rampaging back, outscoring the Crusaders for a second quarter tally of 21-19 in favor of St. Peters.

In the third period Rodrigue poured in 11 points for St. Peters, pulling them ahead to a 41-32 score. The Crusaders kept on hitting in the fourth period outscoring the Tigers 16-13, thereby giving them a final score of 57-45.

Rodrigue was high man for the game, hitting 23 points with his drives, jump shots and free throws. Kerr led the Tigers with 19 points, followed by Lockhart with 10.

Ruidoso downed Capitán in a rough, hard-played basketball game at Ruidoso Saturday, Jan. 31. The Tigers started off with a roar as they outscored the Warriors 19 to 10 due to Lockhart's 10 points.

Ruidoso started substituting players and with the right combination they swished the basket for 20 points to Capitán's 7, leaving Capitán behind 30 to 20.

In the third period Ruidoso's Royce Lackey fouled out. The Tigers stiffened on defense and started to hit the bucket as Ruidoso clung to a 42-34 third-quarter score.

In a rough final quarter marked by fouls Ruidoso lost Jones and Boucers by fouls and Capitán put on a press to get the ball. Capitán outscored the Warriors 22 to 17, but couldn't get the ball through the basket in the last few seconds. Ruidoso earned its second district victory over the Tigers this season by a score of 53 to 50.

Lockhart of the Tigers led the game in scoring with 21 points followed by J. Reynolds of Ruidoso with 14 points.

GRIZZLIES DROP TWO WEEK END GAMES

By BILLY LOPEZ

The Carrizozo Grizzlies dropped two district games over the week end, bowing to the Ruidoso Warriors Friday night 33-35, and to the St. Peters Crusaders Saturday night 46-47.

The Grizzlies couldn't seem to find the basket Friday night as the Warriors rolled to a 20-9 half-time advantage over the Grizzlies.

The Grizzlies seemed to come alive in the third quarter, as they outscored the Warriors 15-10. In the early stages of the fourth quarter, the Grizzlies pulled to within one point of the Warriors, but the shooting of Lackey and Jones pulled the Warriors ahead for good and the game ended with the score 33-35.

Leading the Grizzlies was Fred Vega with 15 points on seven field goals and one free throw, while Lackey and Jones led the Warriors with 11 and 9 points respectively.

ST. PETERS 47, CARRIZOZO 46. Saturday night was a different story altogether, as the Grizzlies pounced on the Crusaders early in the game, and walked off at half-time leading 24-17, only to see their lead wither away on the sharp shooting of Rodrigue who paced the Crusaders with 25 points.

Vega again led the Grizzlies with 15 points, followed closely by B. Herrera with 13.

The Grizzlies take on the strong Dexter Demons Saturday night. The Demons are rated strong contenders for the district crown.

THE COUNTY AGENT REPORTING

By RALPH DUNLAP
County Extension Agent

I noticed in a recent magazine article that they have developed a new living insecticide called Thauricide. At present, it is only for experimental use. This insecticide is actually a bacteria that causes blood poison in the worm stage of leaf chewing moth type insects. Manufacturers say it will not harm any other type of animals, such as fish, bees and human beings.

A cattle breeding school is planned at the State College on February 24-25. Some of the subjects to be discussed are feeds, and feed additives for beef cattle, herd improvement and a review of this year's feeding experiments.

The apple leaf analysis recently completed by Dr. Nour brought to light some of the pressing needs of the orchards in the Hondo Valley. Out of 61 samples, only four were not deficient in phosphorus. In the Limacher Bros. orchard phosphorus was up to the minimum requirements on the fertilized plots, but lacking in the unfertilized plots. Last year they applied fertilizer to four rows and skipped four rows. These same fertilized plots showed high in nitrogen.

One of the items most discussed at the recent State Fruit Growers meeting was new apple varieties of red sports off of the present red varieties such as Golden, Red Star, Starcrimson, Red Spur, Red King, Imperial Double Red Delicious and Topred. The reason for the varieties is the growers want their apples to color earlier to hit the market first at a high price.

These new varieties could possibly replace the older varieties of red delicious apples, but they may not be as adapted in other ways, such as time of bloom, frost hardy, and other factors affected by climate. If a grower is planning to put in more trees consider the new varieties, but it might be best to try a few first. Also, the new varieties require another variety for pollination, so be sure to plant every fourth row with Golden Delicious or Jonathan for pollination. Another variety you should include in any planting is Rome Beauty. It blooms late and will set fruit more often than any other variety. It is often called the "bread-and-butter" apple as it pays the expenses of the orchard when the other varieties don't hit. In 1953, several growers told me that it was the first time in 17 years that they did not have a crop of apples on their Rome trees.

In ordering trees, it is best to order a well grown whip as it can be pruned as you want it and a better set of scaffold branches formed.

Use a lime sulfur and oil emulsion for a delayed dormant spray. This is one of the new sprays recommended in the 1959 Fruit Sprays for New Mexico, which is available at the County Agents office in Carrizozo. The mixture of 2 gallons of 84% emulsion dormant oil and 3 gallons of liquid lime sulfur has given good results in the control of powdery mildew, brown mite eggs, blister mite, and aphids. Powdery mildew was a major problem last year and fruit growers should spray to control it this year. One of the best times to spray is while the tree is dormant. Liquid lime sulfur is recommended for this spray. After blossoms open use sulfur or karathane to control powdery mildew.

Cardinals Have Easy Time With Cloudercroft

A strong Corona basketball team made shambles of the Cloudercroft Bear's defense Friday night, rolling to a 80-41 win.

Corona's case was helped by double-figured scoring on the part of four of the Cardinals. Corona guard Lee Mulkey, a five-foot seven-inch sophomore paced the Cardinals with 28 points, made on 9 buckets and 10 charity tosses.

The Bears broke fast and at the end of the first quarter led 18-14. In the second period the Cards used a full court press which stalled the Bruins. The Cardinals scored 29 points while holding the Bears to 7 markers. At the half the score read 43-25 in favor of the Redbirds.

The game was rough in the second half with a total of 63 fouls whistled during the contest, 31 against Corona and 32 against Cloudercroft. Three of the Cardinals fouled out in the second half.

The Cardinal B squad won their game 47-21.

In one of the cleanest basketball games ever witnessed in the Corona gym Corona took Mt. Air 82-57. Although a record of 68 personal fouls were called in the contest, it was a no-contact ball game. High point man for Corona was Lee Mulkey with 24 points and high point for Mt. Air was Gilliam with 17.

The first quarter was very close with Corona leading 14-11. By halftime the Cardinals had increased the lead to 35-22.

ROAD BOARD REEDED

Santa Fe, Feb. 3—The new highway-commission got off to a red-faced start that should stand for a long time as a warning against malice and personalities in that $70 million-a-year operation.

The commission in its first meeting cancelled a contract for a road in Otero county, the next day had to reverse its position amid hoots and howls that didn't do anything to improve public confidence in the important agency.

MALICE SUGGESTED IN FIRST ACTION

The first action of the new commission had elements suggestive of malice, Commissioner Eber McKinley of Otero county whose term expired the first of the year pushed through approval of a road to the site of a proposed federal installation in Otero county in December. The road was recommended by Sen. Dennis Chavez.

McKinley, a Democrat, was the

News Notes from Along the Bonito

By LOUISE RANNELS

With the cold weather and fog Sunday and Sunday night, trees everywhere were beautiful—each looked like it had been sprayed ready for Christmas decorations. The thermometer dropped to zero and maybe more and some of the water pipes are frozen.

The school bus is minus three children now that the John LaMay family has moved to Nogal. Kenny LaMay, a senior, will stay with his sister, Evelyn Petree, and family and finish school at Capitán. Saturday night, the 7th of February, friends of Mrs. LaMay (John) will give her a house warming at their home in Nogal. Everyone is invited to come. Nettie is recovering from an operation recently at the Ruidoso Hospital. Her mother, Mrs. Brown from Alamogordo, daughter Evelyn and Anna Mae LaMay got the house ready last week and by now the family should be pretty well settled. Then, what could be nicer for Nettie than for her many friends to call that evening and bring her a little remembrance to make her feel even better? We'll miss them in the Bonito community.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy LaMay have a new addition completed to their ranch home—a big living room, with a fireplace. Roy found himself doing fair with carpentry work and, for he knew it he had built himself a dog house—a two-story one! The bottom room is for Mary Helen's deep freeze and all such things she needed extra space for. George McBride built the room on lowest of all critics of John Burroughs, in his successful campaign for governor. Chavez is in a state of open warfare with Governor Burroughs. When the Burroughs highway commissioners took office they immediately moved to cancel the construction of the Otero county road sought by McKinley and Chavez.

The next day they had to turn around and rescind the order after learning that the job was well underway.

$15,000 OFFICER DIDN'T KNOW

Larry Wilson, the $15,000-a-year chief engineer looks like the goat for giving the commission a bum steer. He didn't know work had started on the Otero job.

He also told the commissioners that contractors didn't start work on state jobs without a work order from his office and a few minutes later heard a subordinate officer from the department and U. S. Bureau of Roads Engineer Spike Keller, say that they commonly started without such an order.

The bum steer may be used as grounds for firing Wilson.

the ranch house. Saturday night many of the LaMay's friends gathered to "pass on" the job and enjoy refreshments of snacks, drinks and good music by Mary Helen at the piano, Lois Morris doing the fiddlin', Bobby Witham, Robert K. Rummels, Wilson Purcella and R. G. Stewart with the guitars. Anna Mae is real good on the piano, too. Didn't know that, did you?

Mrs. Boyd Lucas has been in Rowell with her parents for some time. Her father, Mr. Young, has been real sick.

They tell me Bryan Cazier drives the pretty yellow jeep we are seeing up the canyon once in a while. Wish he'd stop by and tell us some news. We like to hear about the Forrest Correl family and Jeanette. Their cabin looks pretty with all the frozen trees around. The Correls live in Tucuman and spend their summers on Bonito—and they are there during hunting season of course.

Dan Griffith, who lives in Ruidoso Downs, stopped for a visit at Bonito City Saturday. He was on his way from Capitán to Ruidoso.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Coe and family from Ruidoso spent the week end with Tom Bragg and Fred Coe at Parsons Hotel. They helped to get wood for Tom and Alice, Tom's granddaughter, Mary Nell, her husband and children, were also visiting Tom over the week end.

Might as well give Charles Carter a "plug." He has a big stock of groceries in his store at Angus now—let's eat 'em—and keep a good neighbor and grocery in our neighborhood.
