

Mexican Fiesta Gala Event April 4, Hondo High School

Saturday, April 4, is the date set aside for the presentation of the colorful seventh annual Mexican Fiesta at Hondo by the Nashville-bound high school student dancers.

In executing about a dozen New Mexican, Mexican and Spanish dances, the students display gaiety and charm.

The lively color and gay tones of this language of Latin music is understood and appreciated by every audience in every land.

Several performances have been held outside of Hondo, including a performance at the Tucson Festival of Arts in Tucson, Ariz., in 1951, but nothing equals the distinction of participating in the National Folk Festival in Nashville, Tenn., early in May.

An unforgettable adventure in pleasure and beauty is this year's Fiesta on Saturday when another charming señorita will be crowned Queen. Following is the program which will be presented before an expected capacity crowd at Hondo on Saturday.

Singer of Folk Songs To be on Program

Folk singer, Jenny Wells Vincent, has built her technique of bilingual singing on a broad foundation of formal music education, teaching and listening with devotion to the singing of her neighbors in San Cristobal, high in the mountains of northern New Mexico.

Jenny has sung her way across the country, appearing at schools, concerts, union meetings, fiestas, town squares, and wherever people gather to sing and hear folk songs. She possesses an irresistible appeal in singing Spanish folk songs, based on talent, training, travel, as well as the essential ingredient of her love and understanding of all kinds of people.

Three of her outstanding numbers are "Las Mananitas," a birthday love song which by custom is sung in the early morning hours; "El Capulin," celebrating rain in the chorus and love in the verses, and "El Dia De Tu Santo" an unusually melodious serenade to be sung on the saint's day of the beloved.

Jenny has been invited to sing one or two of her numbers during the Hondo Fiesta, Saturday evening, April 4.

Mock Bull Fight At Hondo Saturday

Bullfighting is one of the favorite diversions of Spanish and Mexicans. The "torero" in this year's sham bullfight to be held during the 7th annual Mexican Fiesta is Borroto Montezuma, now the "guest" of Superintendent and Mrs. F. E. Montes and family in Glencoe.

He is a professional shams "bull-fighter" and will use every skill in staying clear of the vicious charges of the "big black bull" imported from Tlalabaca, Mexico, now be-

APRIL IS CANCER CRUSADE MONTH

Opening Cancer Crusade Month in Lincoln County, Carrizozo's Mayor Wayne C. Withers, presents his personal check to Mrs. A. N. Spencer, county chairman. Mrs. Allison Lindamood of Alto is publicity chairman for the crusade which lasts through April.

The search for a cure for cancer is one of the greatest challenges that has ever faced the medical profession. Last year cancer took the lives of 235,000 Americans. About 260,000 will die this year if present rates are not checked. Help fight cancer by supporting the American Cancer Society's 1959 Crusade.

Stock Well Put Back Into Production

A stock well on the Merchant Ranch near Capitan has been put back in production after being cleaned and drilled 20 feet deeper by Ray Taylor, Lincoln well driller. The well was 480 feet in depth.

A new well has been drilled on the ranch by Mr. Taylor. Water flow at the rate of 50 gallons a minute was struck at 80 feet depth. The water strata is believed to be in an old stream bed.

Phonorama Visited by 725 in Carrizozo

A total of 725 persons were conducted through Mountain States Telephone Company's mobile scientific exhibit, Phonorama, in Carrizozo Wednesday.

Russ Eddings, local manager for Mountain States said that he had received many telephone calls thanking him for the opportunity of seeing such an educational and historical display.

He only hopes that everyone who wanted to see the displays were able to visit the trailer. Unfortunately, Phonorama is scheduled for several months ahead, and it will be impossible to bring it back in the foreseeable future.

Phonorama was devised by the Telephone Company as a means of showing some of the scientific advancements in communications made during the past century. It had displays showing the first telephone invented by Bell in 1870, and the latest models which probably will be in common use in the next few years.

ing "cared for" by Mr. and Mrs. Orlando Lucero of San Patricio, N.M. The "bull" is in his prime of health and ready for action when the bugle announces his appearance in the Hondo gym on April 4.

"Torero" Borroto will be making his first appearance in this part of the country. Both the "bullfighter" and the "bull" are exceptional in their ability to execute a few steps to several tunes of this year's fiesta music.

The "slaughtering" of the bull will be eliminated from the performance in order to avoid what could be a nerve-racking spectacle for those not accustomed to bull-fighting.

The list of dancers include: Beatrice Pacheco, Lydia Torrez, Lydia Chavez, Fredda Perry, Hope Silva, Beatrice Sanchez, Nellie Sanchez, Josephine, Salcido, Patsy Joiner, Mary Lou Chandler, Juanita Torrez, Olympia Herrera, Vangie Montes, Annie Nunez, Martha McKnight, Margie Sedillo, Nadine Benavidez.

Heads Board of Regents of N. M. Military Institute

Truman A. Spencer Jr., of Carrizozo has been elected president of the board of regents of New Mexico Military Institute. He was a holdover member from the old board.

The newly appointed board, in addition to electing Mr. Spencer president named B. B. Armstrong of Roswell vice president and Homer Glover secretary-treasurer.

M. R. Freestridge of Alamogordo, also a holdover member, and Walter C. Berger of Albuquerque are the other two board members.

In other business the board of regents discussed the appropriation for NMMI by the recent legislature and its possible effect on the academic program and future of the Institute.

Special attention was given to the cut in requested appropriation for plant expansion, particularly as this affects the construction of a science building.

Approval for the construction of such a building was granted by the Board of Educational Finances at its meeting in Las Cruces last September. Subsequent preliminary approval also had been given to this project by the State Board of Finance in Santa Fe October, 1958.

The regents also discussed the recent ruling by the New Mexico High School Activities Association. By this ruling, cadets in their first year at NMMI would not be permitted to take part in inter-school contests.

The board decided that every possible avenue should be explored to have this ruling modified because they contended it discriminates against the Institute.

There was no church here at that time. The people worshipped in shelters made of tree branches. These were called ramadas. Mrs. Duran was baptized in such a ramada by Father Donato who made the trip once each year from Arizona.

Mrs. Duran has two children who are still living—Mrs. Lola Dominguez of Tularosa and Pablo Duran of Alamogordo. She has 11 grandchildren and great-grandchildren — Mrs. Duran doesn't know the exact number, there are so many.

Five generations of this family are alive today. Mrs. Duran has seen 94 of the 99 years that Tularosa is celebrating on May 16, with their Pre-Centennial.

Nat'l Guard, Reserve Favored by Changes in Selective Service

Recent amendments to the Selective Service regulations provide for greater recognition by local board of service in the Reserve and National Guard. Maj. Richard B. Laing, state director of Selective Service for New Mexico said this week.

The changes reflect a policy of not inducting men satisfactorily participating in military training programs while sufficient numbers are available who are not taking part in any such training.

The changes in regulations were made by the President in Executive Order No. 10509.

Under the amended regulations men who acquire deferments or exemptions on initial entry into the National Guard or Reserve keep those deferments or exemptions on transfer to another component so long as they continue to serve satisfactorily.

Some initial enlistments in the Reserve, provide that men can discharge their military obligation by eight years of satisfactory service including not less than 3 months of active duty for training. The amended regulations also provide for the retention of this opportunity on transfer.

The amendments to the regulations also authorize the deferment of Guardsmen or Reservists for satisfactory participation in the Standby or Retired Reserve.

Capitan's "Little Smokey" is Growing Fast; Likes People, Milk and Honey

By DOROTHY GUCK

Our little bear is growing by leaps and bounds. She is at least 8 weeks old, perhaps 9 or 10, we don't know for sure, and she weighs almost 8 pounds, and drinks 8 ounces of milk three times a day.

"Droopy," Game Warden Charley Bird's dog, is beginning to take care not to play too roughly with the bear, because now she can play just as rough. Her teeth are big enough to nip, her paws large enough to slap and her claws long enough to scratch.

"She walks with a rolling, pigeon-toed gait, except on a polished hardwood floor — then she slips, and sprawls, and rolls.

The little bear likes people. She whimpers when left alone. And she has many habits like a human baby. Lying on her back, she plays with her paws, puts them over her eyes peeking out, and in the midst of a fury of activity falls sound asleep.

When the little cub is very hungry, she sucks at your finger or arm or ear, making a chortling sound similar to the purring of a cat, but louder.

Like a puppy, she is curious, tucking her nose into everything. One night she licked the juice from a pan of scalloped potatoes as they cooled on the oven door, then whimpered at Mrs. Bird to reopen the oven when the dish was taken away. But actually, she doesn't care for many other foods than milk and honey.

The Capitan First Grade presented the cub with a piggy bank to help build her cage, because before long she will need to have a home of her own. They also gave a beautiful red leather guest book to register those who donate to the bear.

Mrs. Hilda Young is the teacher and the pupils are: Fred Beverage, Linda Beverage, Marie Chavez, Gary Darling, Katherine Davis, Richard Devara, Jean Griego, Virginia Gonzalez, Evelyn Haley, Sam Jenkins, Walter Lockhart, Kelly Leslie, Jerry McCarthy, Tom McCarty, Frankie Najer, Virginia Padilla, Jimmy Padilla, Jerry Ray Padilla, Lea Peralta, Jackie Robinson, Margaret Sanchez, Barbara Trujillo, Yolanda Zamora, and Jane Martindale.

We're lucky th' Redskins didn't raid Washington when th' great Liberator Milkoyan was here. He'd taken their case right back t' th' Kremlin and tightened th' Berlin Squeeze. Guess Commo, Emmons couldn't find th' treaty or he didn't want to fer fear there was a bunch o' skyscrapers where there used t' be trees. But at least he could have given 'em a hearin' an' told 'em he'd check th' files. I hate t' see anybody get th' brushoff, in Washington or anywhere else.

"How much should I save for emergencies?"
 A lot of people wonder how big a backlog of cash savings is "big enough" to meet unexpected expenses. It's impossible to know; but we do know this: Many prudent savers make regular deposits at our bank until they have at least the equivalent of 3 to 6 months' earnings set aside. That seems a reasonable measure of security against the unforeseen. Whatever you can manage to save each payday, start saving it — with us. It will give you a comfortable feeling to have a growing reserve fund of money in the bank!

Teensters Union No. 1

By PAM REID

Another tract sent to me deals with a different subject than the last one—I guess there's really no question about what it deals with, but this is the letter that came with it:

Dear Pam: I guess you've "covered" the dancing question pretty thoroughly—not that it has made the least bit of difference. I'll bet no one has changed his opinion concerning it one way or the other. Here is a tract called "Old Scarecrow" and I just wonder if you have the nerve to publish it. After all, it deals with something more important than dancing—namely, the well being of our livestock—"Farmer Jones."

Dear Farmer Jones: Thanks for the letter and also the tract on "Livestock." At first I couldn't figure out what you were driving at; just what interest would a bunch of teenagers have in livestock? But I read the tract and must admit it might have a lot to do with the Teensters. I'm publishing it—and hope we will get some comment. What say, gang?—Pam.

"Just suppose there were one hundred fifty million cows in America. Let's suppose there is an industry doing a great business selling a certain kind of hay. This hay, called "Old Scarecrow," is alluringly described as a blend of old straw, aged in the corn field. As a result, cows by the millions turn from their sober diet of alfalfa and begin chewing Old Scarecrow. Now let's suppose that this stuff makes the cows do silly things such as running into barbed wire fences, jumping off bridges or running into automobiles—so much so that five hundred thousand are killed or injured every year.

"Suppose milk production is cut down because the users of Old Scarecrow lose fifty million "cow days" a year. Suppose the life expectancy of the cows who chew it regularly is reduced by an average of 12%. Suppose that it makes four million of the cows so sick that much of the time they are useless, and suppose that for every one that is cured, the industry makes ten more Old Scarecrow addicts.

"Suppose that caring for the victims of Old Scarecrow requires 80% of the farmer's time. And now suppose that in spite of all this, the merchants of this fatal fodder are allowed to advertise the stuff in every pasture, so that on almost every fence there appear large pictures of contented "Cows of Distinction" munching away on Old Scarecrow. And suppose that the drilled for Mrs. Mae Gull this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Greer are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Lester Greer in El Paso. Lewis is hoping to find employment there.

Lawrence Chalk of Las Cruces visited his sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Dunlap, over the week end.

Byrl Lindsay is in the hospital with a sore throat.

Among Easter holiday visitors at the Byrl Lindsay home were Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Lindsay and son, Preston Lindsay, of Alamogordo; Jimmy Duncan of Fort Worth, Texas; Duddy Duncan and Mr. and Mrs. Tom O'Rear and family of Carrizozo; also Annabelle Duncan of Roswell.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Lindsay have moved from Las Cruces to Alamogordo. They have their trailer parked at the trailer court on the Cibola road.

The apricot trees are nearly through blossoming and the peach trees are beginning to bloom.

Mr. and Mrs. Bowen Zumwalt are nearly finished with the remodeling on their bedroom, making it larger.

manufacturers of Old Scarecrow are making a tremendous profit out of all this trouble and tragedy they cause the farmer.

"How would you expect the farmer to take to all this? Would you expect him to take it sitting down? Or would you expect him to stand up and say to the producers of Old Scarecrow. That ain't hay, and then put forth an effort to protect their cows by banning the advertising and promotion of Old Scarecrow from the range?"

What do you think? I'd really like to know. Love—Pam.

Here's a little poem I thought the Teensters might enjoy:

"1890: Grandma had a caller who had a timid heart
When they sat together, they sat this far apart.

1939: Mother had a boy friend who was bashful and shy
Do you think he ever kissed her? Why, he didn't even try.

1959: Whenever daughter's steady calls, he greets her with a kiss;
And when they sit together—
THEY SIT UP CLOSE LIKE THIS

Received a crazy letter just before "deadline." Will include it without any remarks, but maybe some of you could comment. Here 'tis:

Dear Pam: I don't dig that John Adams boy. He's so, so sad, because he was a teenager and now that he's the big college boy, everything about teenagers is wrong! What's he want us to do—act like college boys when we're in high school? Then how will we act when we're in college? And after college, what? I'd rather act like a teenager now, when I am one, than to start acting like one when I'm thirty years old! What's the scoop, Johnny, somebody give you a hard time in hi school? These guys that are so critical of teenagers usually were frustrated one way or another. It's like the dog in the manger—idea—they never had a good time and they don't want anyone else to have a good time! We're only teenagers once—so let's make the most of it—Teenager and Proud of It!"

Thought for the Week:
What did the big chimney say to the little chimney?
"You're too young to smoke!"

See ya'—PAM.

Developing Guidelines in Education Was Albuquerque School Conference Theme

The third annual conference of the New Mexico School Boards Association and the School Administrators Association was held on March 23 and 24 at Albuquerque.

Theme of the conference this year was "Developing Guidelines for New Mexico Public Education During the Next Decade."

Tom Wiley, state superintendent of public instruction, addressed the conference during a pre-planning dinner meeting at the La Placita Sunday evening.

The principal address at Monday's session was given by Dr. Roy M. Hall, assistant U. S. Commissioner of Education, Washington, D. C. He stressed the fact that we need more research in education.

"Learning is the transferring of information from one person to another," he said. "We must also emphasize understanding."

Work group assignments Tuesday afternoon discussed different problems of education. Mrs. Marr attended the group on Research in Education Administration.

New Mexico has had very little research conducted on its own unique problems of education or educational administration. It was pointed out. Planning, especially of the long-range variety, requires research findings. Planning in this state generally lacks the research foundation it should have.

Local school systems in New Mexico, it was noted, should be oriented to doing some independent research of the action type. This practice represents a trend which perhaps we should adopt.

Tularosa High School has been accredited by the North Central Association since 1933. Some of the decisions made at this meeting will definitely affect the Tularosa school.

Mr. Lockhart has been appointed to act as a member of the committee to review the reports from schools that are to be dropped from the association. He feels fortunate to have received this appointment and believes the entire school will benefit from the experience he will get at this meeting.

The program includes talks by such noted educators as Dr. James B. Conant, director, Study of the American High School; Dr. Huston Smith, Massachusetts Institute of Technology; and Dr. E. W. Ziebarth, news analyst and foreign correspondent.

true and living God. For God really helps those who remember Him and help others.

Again many take the attitude that they should get all the material things they possibly can until they have more than enough then if there is any time left in their lives they plan to give it to God. Such are certainly not depending on the Lord, but mammon would be their God.

We prove our faith only when we practice what Jesus taught, regardless of our circumstances. "Seek ye first the Kingdom of God, and His righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you." Matthew 6:33. This is the only recipe for peace, security and true happiness.

Regardless of how crowded our schedule, how important our daily activities are, unless God comes first in our lives we are on the road to failure. When we get so busy that we don't have time for God, we are too busy.

MEMORIES OF A COWBOY

By TOM BINGHAM

Here in the Tularosa basin, that is now so widely known, The Army and the Air Force—The ranchers, they have thrown. I have watched the many changes With a saddened eye, The power lines and towers That reach up in the sky, No more the cowboy rides the basin

With the jingle of the spur, But we hear the mighty airplane And it's bi-powered motors purr. Here once roamed many cattle Hatchets, 3 R's, and TMD's, But the planes have taken over Just like a swarm of bees. Ed like to see it as it was Back in the early day.

When the cowboy had possession Thirty dollars was his pay. He lived on beans and bacon But he got by just the same, He wasn't seeking riches Nor was he seeking fame. He did it 'cause he liked it And that was all he knew. He did it 'cause he liked it, There was nothing else to do. Now we sit here watching As the jets go sailing high, And wonder what will happen In the sweet by and by.

very evenly matched.

Two sophomore girls, Magdalena Sanchez and Rita Sandoval, were selected as last week's "Students of the Week." Both girls participate in pep club, chorus, and other various activities. Magdalena is the daughter of Mrs. Celia Sanchez and Rita is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julian Sandoval.

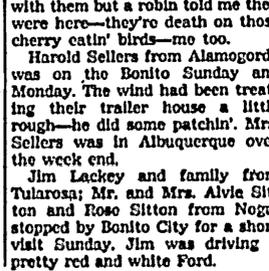

Well, the big night is just about here! I believe I've told you almost all of the details, but I'll put in a few more here. The date (of course) is April 4, the place, Hondo High gym, and the exciting event—"La Fiesta de las Amapolas."

The PTA will give an enchilada supper, which begins at 5:30 and will be served before and after the fiesta. Adult's plate are $1 and children's plate 50 cents. The menu consists of enchiladas, tamales, Spanish rice, refritos, buns, coffee, salad and dessert, all of which I guarantee will be highly delicious!

At 8 o'clock the fiesta begins with a bullfight and vendedores, and then the dancing. The 1959 queen and king will be crowned immediately following the dancing.

Six Army, Navy and Marine recruiters met with the students of Hondo High last Monday and discussed interesting factors of all three branches of the service. They represented both this area and the Albuquerque area. The most important part to military obligations that the boys must meet. The meeting was a benefit to all who were interested in joining any part of the Armed Forces.

That's it for this week—don't forget, I'll expect to see you all at the Fiesta Saturday night!

SPECIAL 3-DAY USED CAR & TRUCK SALE

Starting Saturday, April 4th, you've got three days to cash in on some of the top used-car and truck buys of the year!

Well, we made our choice and we're stuck with it. You see, the '59 Chevrolets started rolling into our showrooms not long ago, closely followed by crowds of eager buyers—and almost every one of those buyers had a car to trade in.

Well, what could we do? Tell 'em we didn't want their cars? Not us. So now we've got a lot of top quality cars. Young whippersnappers of cars... slightly-elderly fellows with plenty of spark still in 'em... oh, we've got 'em in all shapes, sizes and colors, equipped with about every option you can think of.

Same thing with trucks. We put 'em all in top shape, naturally and they're ready to go. But the boss said, "Sell 'em out—take as long as you want—Up to three days."

Three days? Help!

WELL, THANKS ANYHOW FOR BUYING ALL THOSE '59 CHEVROLETS

A Sermonette

By HAROLD C. ELY

There are many things in the world for all to enjoy, put here by the Great Creator. Enough to keep us all occupied. As we only pass through this world once, a test is put to us all. Will we devote all our time, energy and strength accumulating things in order to be wealthy and independent? Or do we remember that all things really belong to God and everything we have is only loaned to us for a short time? And do we give back to Him part of our time, talents and material as a token of appreciation of His mercies and blessings to us, and in acknowledgement of His Lordship?

Mrs. Elkins' canned foods are neatly arranged on open shelves in a well-ventilated adobe pantry. She preserves her fruits and vegetables, which not only preserves them but also improves their flavor and tenderness. Her canned foods won 109 ribbons and one trophy at the Women's Extension Club and Cliff-Gila Fairs in 1936.

Mrs. Louis J. Elkins of Buckhorn has been named state winner in the New Mexico Home Food Supply and Food Preservation contest, Miss Elsie Cunningham, state home agent with the New Mexico State University Extension Service, announced last week. The food production and preservation contest is a continuous program to promote better health and more economical living for rural and urban families of New Mexico. It is sponsored by the University's Extension Service and the Kerr Glass Manufacturing Corporation.

The Elkins live on a 1,000-acre farm and ranch 35 miles north of Silver City. Besides one son at home, they have reared four daughters. All are married. At the farm and ranch headquarters is a comfortable home large enough to accommodate all the children plus ten grandchildren during their frequent visits.

State Has Problem With Hay Surpluses

State College, N. M.—New Mexico hay surpluses are expected to become large unless feeding enterprises in the state are expanded, producers shift to other crops or cotton acreage restrictions are removed, says a bulletin just issued by the Agricultural Experiment Station of New Mexico State University.

Dust Storm Delayed Battle of Valverde

The Battle of Valverde in central New Mexico, where Union forces tried to halt a column of Texans moving up the Rio Grande from El Paso in 1862, was delayed several days while both armies stood by waiting for a dust storm to subside. This and some other unexpected facts are included in Calvin Horn's article, "Civil War Governor, Part II," in the April issue of New Mexico Magazine. When the weather was right the battle was fought. The Confederates won, and Governor Henry Connelly lost no time evacuating his government offices in Santa Fe and moving with records and personnel to Las Vegas.

Shearing Will be Almost Completed Next Week

Shearing is in full swing in Lincoln County and the two favorite questions asked by ranchers in this area are "What is wool selling for?" and "How much is my wool worth?"

The majority of the wool is even lighter shrinking than last year, therefore the price, as a rule, is slightly better per grease pound, but the last three or four windstorms have added considerable dirt to some wool and it might weigh heavier than expected.

It will always be better to figure your income on a per head basis than it will be on per grease pound basis. Some of the lighter shrinking wools have been selling very well in the last few days.

J. F. McKnight topped the wool market today (Monday) with a bid of 51 and a fraction on his medium wool clip. Fuller Ranch is reported to have contracted for 43 and a fraction.

Recently we were figuring the worth of some heavier shrinking wool from the eastern part of Lincoln County and it was worth 34 cents a grease pound in Roswell. Shearing activity will be practically completed in the next ten days in Lincoln County.

New Process Gives Permanent Creases To Wool Garments

Science has achieved an "easy care" performance feature for wool that is new to the fabric—and very important for the budget-minded housekeeper. Wool slacks can now be made with permanent creases, and wool skirts can also have permanent pleats. This is accomplished by manufacturers with a spray-and-press process. The spray solution that is used is actually related to one of the ingredients in home permanent wave kits. In fact, it was while experimenting with wool that scientists got the idea for home permanents. The wool process does not affect the normal soft hand or life of the fabric.

Men's trousers made with permanent creases are now on the market, and women's skirts and dresses with permanent pleats will be available in a short time. The process was developed by scientists working for the Australian government. Details of the process have been turned over to the Wool Bureau in this country for dissemination to the apparel industry on a royalty-free basis.

In demonstrations in New York, models wearing treated and untreated skirts and pants have their garments sprayed with water, then dried. The result: the untreated garments lost their creases and pleats; the treated garments looked new, with sharp creases and pleats. No pressing equipment was used.

Good Packaging Is Important in Marketing Newly Shorn Wool

As the shearing season moves into full swing this month, New Mexico wool growers should make every effort to see that their wool is properly packaged for marketing, says Jack L. Ruttle, sheep and wool marketing specialist at New Mexico State University.

"Wool is like any commodity, in that a pleasing appearance helps it sell. The cleaner, properly bagged wool will demand a premium price every time, and the increased return will more than offset the small amount of time and effort required at shearing time," Ruttle says.

He recommends that wool growers consider the following practices for greater returns:

- (1) Shearing—A great deal can be done to help the appearance of the wool during the shearing operations. The grower should see that shears try to reduce the number of "second cuts" made. This is a costly practice resulting in waste and the presence of second cuts decreases the value of your wool. Shearers should be encouraged to avoid tearing of the fleeces while shearing, and should try to shear it off in one piece. If any black sheep or sheep having off-colored wool are shorn, the floor should be swept clean afterwards. The best practice is to save these colored sheep until last. Certainly no colored wool should ever be bagged with the white wool. Black fleeces should be sorted separately and marked as such. Black fibers will not take dye and must be hand-picked from finished cloth, and their presence will lower the value of your wool.
- (2) Fleeces Tying—The actual packaging or tying of your wool has a large effect on its value. Fleeces should be rolled and tied with the shoulder and side wool out. The bellies and small pieces should be on the inside. Any excess tags or stained portions should be removed before tying. Fleeces should be tied with a standard paper fleecing tie and never with string or binder twine. As fleeces are rolled and tied, they should be placed on a clean surface to avoid

VACCINATION HELPS PREVENT DISEASES IN POULTRY

It's important to vaccinate for Newcastle disease, infectious bronchitis, and fowl pox in New Mexico. The use of these vaccines is a must in preventing outbreaks during the laying season.

1. A vaccine stimulates a reaction in the bird's body against a specific disease.
2. A vaccine rarely does any good after the disease strikes. In some cases harm may be done.
3. Each vaccine is specific for one disease.
4. Vaccination programs must be combined with a sound sanitation program.
5. No one vaccination program is the "best." Each poultry farm must have its own program, depending on the disease history of the flock and area.
6. Vaccinate against one disease at a time.

Poultrymen can analyze their situations and set up sound vaccination programs accordingly to avoid troubles later on, the county agent says. Consideration of the following will put them on the right road to success in a poultry vaccination program:

- * Your type of operation.
 - * Purpose of vaccinating.
 - * Brooding schedule.
 - * Age, condition, and type of bird involved.
 - * The type and kind of vaccine to be used.
- Plan ahead—avoid trouble.

4-H GARDENERS CAN ASSURE FRESH MEALS YEAR ROUND

From a back yard garden to a full-course dinner will be just a step for scores of 4-H Club members this summer. And next winter, a trip to the freezer will produce summer-fresh meals for the entire family to enjoy.

The reason for this handy conversion is that club members are learning how to grow the best vegetables and fruits and how to freeze, cook and serve them. Specifically, these boys and girls are carrying on projects in three national 4-H award programs: garden, frozen foods, and preparation. Across the nation last year more than a million members were engaged in these projects. This year many more are expected to benefit from the expert guidance provided by the county and state extension staff.

Through demonstrations, exhibits at fairs, and all-around 4-H achievement, club members will compete for awards ranging from county medals to $400 college scholarships. They are given annually by business firms which have supported the 4-H program for many years.

Donor of the garden awards is Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Co.; frozen foods, Whirlpool Corporation; food preparation, Betty Crocker of General Mills. In addition, these firms cooperate with the Extension Service in supplementing project training material.

Perhaps the most sought after reward is the trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago right after Thanksgiving. It is the top state award, and is open to 4-H club members over 14 years old who have satisfactorily completed three years old club work, according to the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work which arranges the award programs and the Club Congress.

Three Elected to Board Of Kennecott Copper

New York—Election of J. Peter Grace, Clifton W. Phalen and R. Stuart Keeler to the board of directors of Kennecott Copper Corporation has been announced by Charles R. Cox, president.

This action was taken to fill vacancies created by the retirement of Henry S. Drinker, Henry O. Havensmyer and Alfred O. Sloan, Jr. pursuant to the corporation's recently announced plan for director retirement.

Grace is president of W. R. Grace and Company, Phalen is at present executive vice president of American Telephone and Telegraph Company but will shortly assume presidency of the New York Telephone Company to which he was recently elected.

It's a moot question as to which has crippled more people—saw-mills or scatter rugs. Avert mauling by keeping your wool out of the dirt, you will reduce shrinkage and the fleeces will be brighter in color.

(3) Shearing—All wool should be sorted according to grade and marked as such. Proper bagging and marking of bags as to content, a grower can build a good reputation for his clip. Buyers will learn to look for his wool and know that they can depend on his bags containing properly prepared fleeces. The number of fleeces to be put in a sack will of course vary with fleeces size. Bags should be tied—never loose or overpacked as the seams are weakening. Over-

SENATOR LOSES JOB AS THREATENED

Santa Fe, March 28.—Sen. Dido Salas of Socorro said on the floor of the senate that he had been told that his contract as principal of the Santa Domingo school in Sandoval county would not be renewed if he voted for the governor's bill to give local communities veto authority over state horse racing licenses, and sure stuff it was not renewed.

The school board last week denied the Socorro senator another year on the job.

He also said that he had been told his wife would lose her $290-a-month job in the Bureau of Revenue if he voted for the bill. She was still on the payroll at this writing.

And finally, he said, he had been threatened with defeat for reelection if he voted wrong. The carrying out of that threat remains to be seen.

SALAS INTIMIDATION CRUEST OF SESSION

Salas was in trouble with the Sandoval school officials before the threat was made and probably he would have been fired anyway. His case, however, brought to light the crudest political sandbagging of the 1939 legislature.

That was in the administration trying to appease Dona Ana county people in their demand for killing off a horse-betting establishment approved by the former administration and then going under the table to defeat the proposition.

GOVERNOR MILES IS SICK AGAIN

Friends are concerned about John Miles, the former governor and congressman and now a state public service commissioner and a patient at St. Vincent hospital in Santa Fe.

The 74-year-old Miles who lives alone went to the hospital a fortnight back for a minor ailment and later developed pneumonia. At this writing his doctor said he was recovering. Miles has a long record of health troubles.

Once when he was governor he dropped to such a low point following an operation that the lieutenant governor was holding conferences with political buzzards on the divvy of the loot.

REPUBLICANS SEAN THEIR CANDIDATES

Republicans, encouraged by the Democratic troubles in the recent legislature, are talking candidates for governor next year:

No. 1—Ed Mechem who won three out of four elections for governor to become the only person to have three terms in the office. He is back at home in Las Cruces with his name on the tall end of the legal firm Darden, Caffey and Mechem. Mechem has been telling that he absolutely will not run again, but you can't be sure.

No. 2—Tom Bolack of Farmington, the oil field roustabout who made himself a millionaire in the San Juan boom who ran a fairly good race against Joe Montoya in the special election for Congress in 1937. He's presently hunting elephants in Africa.

No. 3—Paul Robinson, district attorney in Albuquerque. He's popular in Albuquerque which accounts for almost a third of Republican votes.

Some Republicans are backing Democrat Andy Carter of Portales for governor. He carried on a sensational battle with former Gov. John Burroughs of Portales in the legislature.

CAPITOL EXPECTS CHAVEZ OPPOSITION

The Demo administration has accepted the assumption that Democratic Sen. Dennis Chavez will oppose the re-election of Gov. John Burroughs next year.

1939 legislature . . . W. O. (Bill) Culbertson from San Miguel, the majority floor leader in the house, didn't develop the leadership expected. He was distracted by his father's illness . . . Sen. Gene Lusk of Carlsbad, majority leader in his chamber, won distinction again for his adroit handling of legislation to curb union picketing . . . James T. Martin, Jr., freshman house member from Dona Ana, and Rep. James R. Patton from that county, were among the top figures in the session . . . Beefs about the 1939 session being a failure are based mostly on the lack of a program for the legislature.

$15,000 A YEAR FOR NOTHING

The biggest plum plucked by a Democratic county chairman so far is the one held by Abe Ribble, chairman of Governor Burroughs' Roosevelt county. He got the state agency for the reflecting material formerly held by Road Commissioner Harold Leonard, which is estimated to be worth $25,000 a year without turning a hand. That is 10% commission on purchases by the Highway Department.

Bookout of Tularosa Fans 17 Cardinals in Error-married Ball Game

By VERN SMITH

The Wildcats from Tularosa jumped on Corona starter Gene Slaughter for three runs in the first inning and five runs in the sixth inning, then went on to smash the Cardinals 14-5 in an error-marred baseball game on the Corona diamond Friday.

Corona used two pitchers in trying to stem the Tularosa tide, with Junior Wayne Lindsey relieving Slaughter in the sixth inning. Most effective pitching performance of the day came from the Wildcats' Bookout. The Senior faced only 33 batters, striking out 17, giving up only two hits and walking seven.

Errors marred the proceedings for the Cardinals. While the Wildcats were only being charged with two miscues, the Cardinals were coming apart with 13 errors; of which ten were committed in the infield.

Big gun in the Wildcat attack was catcher Juarez, who hit three doubles in five times at bat and drove in four runs.

The Wildcats from Tularosa jumped on Corona starter Gene Slaughter for three runs in the first inning and five runs in the sixth inning, then went on to smash the Cardinals 14-5 in an error-marred baseball game on the Corona diamond Friday.

Corona used two pitchers in trying to stem the Tularosa tide, with Junior Wayne Lindsey relieving Slaughter in the sixth inning. Most effective pitching performance of the day came from the Wildcats' Bookout. The Senior faced only 33 batters, striking out 17, giving up only two hits and walking seven.

Errors marred the proceedings for the Cardinals. While the Wildcats were only being charged with two miscues, the Cardinals were coming apart with 13 errors; of which ten were committed in the infield.

Big gun in the Wildcat attack was catcher Juarez, who hit three doubles in five times at bat and drove in four runs.
