

PAVING DISPUTE TAKEN INTO DISTRICT COURT

A court proceeding to enjoin and restrain the Town of Carrizozo from further proceeding in its plans for paving improvements was entered in District Court Tuesday of this week.

Plaintiffs in the action are Minnie Bell, Mrs. Nettie Barry, Mrs. B. S. Burns, F. O. Brown, E. S. Eaker, Mrs. Meyer Barnett, Citizens State Bank, Episcopal Church in New Mexico, Earl B. Earp Jr., John W. Harkey, A. E. Huntsinger, L. M. Huffman, J. F. Harkey, Edna C. Littleton, Jimmie Lucero, Janie Haldeman Key, Walker L. Lenard, Edith Lenard, J. N. McDaniel, Vincent Bell, Ernest Prehm, Leo L. Robinson, Winzell Rickerson, Otto Prehm, Mrs. Minnie D. Prehm, Janie Turner and Brothers, Truman Spencer Jr., Mervin B. Smoot, Earlene Tubbs, Dr. J. P. Turner, C. A. Snow, Owen H. Simpson, Roy E. Shafey, A. N. Spencer, Eva Lea Smith, James L. Walls, Mrs. R. A. Walker, Clifton B. Zumwalt, Roley Ward, Charles F. Wilson, and Wayne Zumwalt.

Defendants in the action are listed as W. C. Withers, mayor; L. Z. Manire, L. S. Vega, C. D. May and Austin Wooten, trustees of the Town of Carrizozo, and the Town of Carrizozo, New Mexico.

The complaint alleges that, among other things, "a vast majority of the property to be so improved is, and for many years has been, vacant unimproved property of nominal value, and the cost of the proposed improvements would greatly exceed the value of such property."

"That the benefits which will accrue to such property by reason of the proposed improvements will be substantially less than the cost of such improvements, and that by reason thereof, the proposed program and improvements is confiscatory and arbitrary."

The suit to enjoin asks the court to "set a day certain at the earliest possible time as provided by Rules 65 and 66 of the Rules of the District Courts of the State of New Mexico, and that at such hearing, the court issue a temporary restraining order enjoining the defendants from proceeding further herein, until this case can be tried upon its merits."

Attorneys for the plaintiff are Harvey, Dow & Hinkle and Schauer & Stiff of Roswell.

Mayor Wayne C. Withers informed the News Wednesday that his copy of the summons had been sent to the bond attorneys in Denver and that no immediate action would be taken on the suit by the town board.

How Town in Wyoming Solved a Community Problem

BY DOROTHY GUCK

In our recent trip to the Northwest, we passed through the little town of Kemmerer, Wyoming, county seat of Lincoln County. It is a town of 2600, elevation 7000, and chief industries are coal mining, stock raising, and oil.

It is noted mostly as the site of the mother store of the J. C. Penney Co., which was opened in 1902.

In the heart of the town is a grassy plaza and a small log museum very similar to the one Capitol is constructing to commemorate Snokey. I wrote to the Kemmerer Chamber of Commerce asking for some information on their museum.

Knowing that all communities have their problems and projects, I thought you might be interested in the reply received. Certainly the

Packing of Apples Begins Next Week

County apple growers met the evening of August 20 to discuss the apple situation.

H. E. Baxter had a display of apples to show the growers the need of picking only part of the tree.

If the entire tree is picked, the excess hull damage causes the entire lot to be unsalable; whereas if only the better apples are picked, they will make a salable lot of apples.

The packing shed will start next Wednesday, with the packing shed also selling orchard run fruit. Only a small percentage of the apples will be graded and packed due to hull injury. No price on packed apples has been announced.

Jeru Boyer, fruit and vegetable marketing specialist, emphasized the need for orderly marketing, and that the grower would net more by picking only his best apples.

Otherwise, he said, it is likely to ruin his and everyone else's market if he tries to sell every apple in the orchard.

He reported that apples in other areas looked good and had very little hull damage.

The next apple growers meeting will be held at the packing shed, the evening of September 1.

Mrs. Darrell Bode, wife of Coach Bode, is teaching in the sixth grade on a temporary basis.

It is announced that the meeting of the Carrizozo Municipal Board of Education has been postponed until Tuesday, Sept. 1 at 7:30 p.m.

LITTLE CHANGE IN CAPITAN ENROLLMENT

Bill Hall, superintendent of the Capitán Municipal schools, said this week there was little change in enrollment there from last year.

High school pupils number 97, with 280 enrolled in the grades.

336 ENROLLED IN CORONA SCHOOLS

Corona's initial enrollment the first week totaled 336, with 194 in the elementary school and 136 in the high school.

Twenty-four boys are turning out for football, 14 of whom have had one or more years of experience. Corona meets Mountainair September 4 in Corona, followed by a game at Carrizozo September 14.

It is to commemorate a "National Figure," which is now the honor of "Smokeless the Bear."

"I might also mention to you at this time that annually all civic and church organizations band together and conduct a carnival to raise funds to operate our community swimming pool, and also to purchase playground equipment.

You would be surprised how little work there is to such a program, when there are a lot of willing hands. Each year we raise from $900 to over $3000.

"I trust that I have given you the information you desired, and if there is anything further that I can answer for you, please drop me another note.

"With best wishes for 'Success' in your building program, I am, Yours truly, Archie Neil, Clerk."

Mr. Neil also sent picture postcards of the museum and the first Fencing class.

Flood Waters Sweep into Town

For the second time in three years flood waters invaded the south side of Carrizozo Monday afternoon, causing considerable damage to streets and homes.

Dan Luera, city employee, was the first to sight the flood water as it swept toward town from the grasslands below Water Canyon. He was checking the town well 1/2 mile south of town when a wall of water suddenly struck his truck, moving it several feet off the road. He was able to extricate it and drive back to town.

An eye witness said it was a frightening experience to see the waves of water approaching her home from across the flats to the south.

The water struck town shortly before five p.m., poured down streets and began to pile up along Aspen street. Water entered several homes along this street, including those of Chevo Baca, Sabino San Ramon and the garage of Robert Vega.

Several men went to work increasing the height of the dike along the Vega poultry yard, but were unable to keep the water from running through the yard.

The new dike built by the Southern Pacific at the E Avenue crossing, following the flood three years ago soon filled with water and it began flowing over the dike and south down the railroad tracks. When the water subsided the crossing at the bottom of the dike looked like an arroyo and was impassable.

The heavy rain apparently fell between 3 and 4 p.m., Monday, Carrizozo had only a shower at the time.

Families Join For Fishing Trip to Taos Country

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Martin and children, Frances and Stanley, of Matador, Texas, and Mr. and Mrs. James Barnett and children, Steven and Alan, of Alamogordo, met at Vaughn and the two families went on to the Taos area for a week's fishing trip.

On their return, they stopped in Carrizozo to visit Mr. and Mrs. Harry Morris and Mrs. Patsy Barnett.

Mrs. Martin and Mrs. Barnett are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Morris and Mr. Barnett is a son of Mrs. Patsy Barnett.

District court will convene August 28 and again September 1.

Completes Libretto for "El Chivato" Opera

Alonso "Zo" Elliott returned to Lincoln County this week after an absence of three years. Since his last visit here he has attended the University of Texas, taking several courses in the Russian Language. He plans to complete the language course with one in conversation.

Composer of "There's a Long, Long Trail a-Winding," Mr. Elliott in recent years has devoted much of his time to a grand opera, "El Chivato" based on the life of Billy the Kid. He has completed the libretto to the opera. Work continues of the music.

In doing a work of this nature, Mr. Elliott says he had to take one side or the other and he has taken the side of "The Kid," because of, as he describes them, his attributes of loyalty, daring and fearlessness that arrayed him against law and order as they were known in those early days.

NEW CONFIDENCE AT STATEHOUSE

Santa Fe, Aug. 26 — There's a new air of confidence among the Gov. John Burroughs people at the statehouse.

Political maestro Bob Valdez has been installed as bureau of revenue director, political veteran Jew Mitchell has been installed as office manager at state Demo headquarters, the asphalt fire has died down and there have been reports from all over that State Rep. Jack Campbell and Joe Bursey of Santa Fe aren't making much headway in their challenge of Burroughs for renomination.

This comes only a few weeks after Burroughs was admitting privately that he might be a one-term governor.

ONLY THE PRESS AGAINST GOVERNOR

The Burroughs people have been pounding the theme that the governor is unpopular only in the press, and more specifically only in the big Albuquerque Journal.

District Judge Garnett R. Burks, speaking at a barbecue for the governor in Sierra county last week, said, according to the Hot Springs Herald, that the governor was in plenty of trouble but all is Ed Minter's column of the Albuquerque Journal. He said that Burroughs was better liked now than when he was running for governor last year.

Mitchell, the party hired man, has been telling party groups that the seeming unpopularity of the governor is a mirage existing only in the press.

HIS OPPONENTS SPINNING WHEELS

Burroughs still is not popular, most everybody you talk to is critical, or questioning of his administration, but there is substance in the claims that he looks good for renomination in the Demo primary next May.

That comes from almost the whole Democratic organization being tied in with jobs or favors or other obligations to the administration.

The statehouse crowd now seems to be concerned only with November, 1960, when the governor is likely to be up against Republican Ed Mechem, who is a tough one.

RICH GET RICHER, POOR GET POORER

The state highway commission's decision for a big lay-off of the lowest paid workers in the department just after raising the pay of 700 of the highest paid workers in the department is breeding political trouble.

A highly effective figure in north-state Democratic affairs writes: "If George Lavender (the highway commission chairman) lays off these $200-a-month people and keeps his $1,000-a-month pals, he and the whole Democratic ticket will hear about it in the next election. And that gas if the lay-off is only for a couple of months."

It should be explained that the higher pay can be kept in production work while the department is in a slow-down because of no federal money and that laborers and such can be laid off with a saving to the department, but that isn't satisfactory to the politicians.

The pay increase which was ordered by the highway commission, cancelled by the new highway engineer, Durwood Dixon, who is supposed to be in charge of such things, and then reinstated by the commission, is the deal that's hard to understand.

ERNIE BAIN FIRED AFTER PAY RAISE

The firing of Ernie Bain, state director of local government budgets, just after he had been raised from $700 to $750 a month, came as talk spread that he was going to run for Demo nomination for land commissioner.

The administration people seem to want that nomination for Johnnie Walker, that is indicated in Walker having been appointed by the governor to two of the biggest posts in the capitol, bureau of revenue commission and head of the oil and gas records department, both $1,000 a month jobs.

The Bain firing has caused some to wonder about Tom Montoya, brother of Congressman Joe Montoya and the governor's appointee as head of the ports of entry agency, who has been plaguing Guy Shepard of Farmington against Walker for land commissioner.

EARLY TROUBLE FOR BURRAVOS

New Revenue Commissioner Bob Valdez is getting off to a hard start: Jobando Vigil, Santa Fe Demo chairman, was challenged by Valdez. The chairman responded by calling a quick meeting of his Santa Fe committee and got unanimous support.

Revenue Commissioner Valdez fired Miss Patsy Richardson of Carlsbad for calling him a bad name, and right away she got a job in another state office with the help of Rinky County Chairman Lon Watkins who is also Launched from a Boeing-built B-36 this XQ-4 target drone (above) flies high over New Mexico's ranges ready for a super-sonic game of "haze and hounds" with any number of missiles such as the Hawk, Talos, Falcon, Sidewinder, Genie, etc., in tests of the latest AF air weapons system.

SUPERSONIC SPEEDS NOT FOR THE BIRDS

Air Force Missile Development Center, N. M.—The inch thick steel fast slipper (right) fitted to a general all run on AFMDC's 38,000-foot captive missile fast track at 1500 m.p.h. recently ended up with its plates forced a finger's width apart by the impact of a bird weighing less than one pound as it perched on the track.

At supersonic speeds, birds cannot hear sleek coming. One of the many unexpected problems of the new Space Age, this one is being met by rigging loudspeakers along the track wired to hawk shrieks and other sound effects amplified to scare every bird away for miles during the sled's brief fraction-of-a-minute run. —Air Force photo

Visitors to State Parks Continue to Increase

Attendance at Carlsbad Caverns National Park at Carlsbad, New Mexico, jumped 14% last month over the figure for July of 1958, and set a new record for July visitors.

The State Highway Department reports that 2,122,836 out-of-state cars entered New Mexico during the first six months of 1959, compared with 2,015,032 during the first six months of 1958.

Patronage of New Mexico state parks also showed consistent increases.

Entered as second class matter July 30, 1926, at the Post Office at Carrizozo, New Mexico, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

News Notes from Along the Bonito

By LOUISE RUNNELS

This week begins with boys and girls starting school at Capitlan, all "decked out" in their prettiest and newest clothes and looking fresh, with their happy-go-lucky smiles—and, too, Frank English and Thelma Taylor were a year older, with birthdays sneaking upon them.

Fishermen are trying to get in their last fishing before Alamogordo closes the dam to fishing September 7. From all reports, a good many fish have been caught.

Rains above Bonito dam are making more creek water to raise the water in the dam which has been low, along with Nogal lake, this summer.

The motorcycle "gypsy tour" in Bear Canyon last week end was a real success. They came roaring up the canyon from miles around. No one seemed to know how many contestants or what the trophies amounted to when they finished Sunday evening, but there was a big audience of folks who could "ford" Bonito Creek without getting in high water. There were no muddy roads or rain on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Leweke went to Albuquerque on Saturday. Mrs. Leweke and their two daughters stayed there where the children will be in school and Mrs. Leweke started to work at the Nazareth Hospital. She and the girls plan to come to Bonito City over Labor Day to see "pappy," who has two trucks working on the Angus-Bonito road.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Taylor spent Sunday after church with Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Feyton at Ruidoso Downs. They stopped by Alto to visit Lindy's Country Store and to invite them over to see the "crushers" work near Mills Canyon. At Ruidoso Downs the Taylors are adding a room to their house and about two dozen relatives and friends gathered Sunday-to-help among them were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cunningham (the former Beuel Peyton) from Fayetteville, Ark. They were both raised on the Ruidoso. Bethel is a college graduate and is now teaching in college.

Donnie Harcrow and L. W. Edwards from Artesia were on the Bonito last week.

Floy Skinner from Nogal and Donnie Richardson from Carrizozo were out Jeep touring last week and had lunch at Bonito City.

From Artesia, and a former Captain man coming to Bonito Lake to fish last week, were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Olguin and Mrs. Olguin's mother, Mrs. Aniera from Tulsa, Okla., who is visiting in Artesia.

Mr. and Mrs. Troy Lane from Angus and Kent Hayes fished at Bonito Lake Sunday. They had fair luck.

Paul Schriener from Carlsbad spent last week end at their summer home. Mrs. Schriener, who has been in California with her daughter and young baby, will be back this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Coe and children from Ruidoso Downs watched the "gypsy tour" in Bear Canyon on Sunday and plenited.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Jones and small son fished at Bonito Lake Sunday evening. Marvin is still in the bear hunting business and is getting anxious for the season to open.

Dr. Frank English and family were on the English farm over the week end. Frank Sr. and Sadie are on a little trip to TorC to visit Frank's brother and wife.

Fishing Monday at Bonito Lake from Ruidoso were Jo Van Donath, Paul Matthew and Jo Van's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Sullivan from Graham, Texas.

From Alamogordo on a pleasure trip for the children and to visit Fred Sweet Sr. and to eat at Bonito City Monday were Mrs. Fred Sweet Jr. and children, Mrs. Alister Shields and children and Miss Linda Hembree. They wanted to go to Capitlan to see the Smokey Bear Museum, but the road was too muddy.

It was nice to visit with Bob Harcrow from Roswell when he

National Forests Report Increase in Income

The National Forests of the Southwestern Region (Arizona and New Mexico) earned almost three million dollars in fiscal year 1959, Regional Forester Fred H. Kennedy announced this week.

Kennedy is the ranking field officer in this region of the Forest Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

"The actual total was $2,963,882.58 for the period July 1, 1958, to June 30, 1959," Kennedy said, "a shade higher than the National Forest income the previous year."

Increases have come in grazing fees and land use permits while slight decreases were noted in the big income producer, timber sales, as well as in power and mineral sales.

All money taken in by the Forest Service goes to the treasury of the United States, with 25% of the total being returned to the states for use on schools and roads in the counties in which the National Forests are located.

stopped by last week. Boon Zumwalt and Doodle LaMay from Nogal have had fair luck fishing at Bonito Dam lately. Boon said he and Mrs. Zumwalt would move to Carrizozo soon for the winter.

Jackie and Kenny LaMay fished at Bonito Lake on Monday. Jackie will soon be leaving again for the Service.

An old timer and family stopped at Bonito Cafe to visit this week whom lots of folks will remember some 24 years ago — Darrell Page and family and Mrs. Page's mother, Darrell once operated a cafe and filling station at the junction of Highway 70. Remember the big bear he had chained to the telephone post and named "No. 11," that stood on his hind legs and drank hundreds of bottles of pop? The Pages are staying in Ruidoso, visiting friends and taking in the races when they aren't out sight-seeing. Darrell says to say "hello" to everyone he doesn't see. They live at Stinnett, Texas, where he has a hardware store and Mrs. Page teaches school.

Mr. and Mrs. Hank Bagley and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Oxley from Oklahoma live in Mills Canyon in the Lester Greer cabin. Hank and J. R. are truck drivers on the Angus-Bonito road.

Arvel Runnels took some Houston folks up South Fork fishing on Monday. They fried fish and brought some nice ones home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Faulkner have had relatives visiting from Roswell this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Corder are closing their Angus store for a few days beginning September 10 to go to Lovington for the fair and to meet her folks. They have had a good business this summer and need a short rest.

Mr. and Mrs. Courtney Holstun from Roswell came Monday night to make a happy birthday for Mrs. Courtney's mother, Mrs. Paul Taylor in Bonito City.

Dan Williamson and son Kenneth from Lovelland spent the week working on steps for their cabin, hauling in native soil and grass clumps. Kenneth caught some fish to take home.

Attending were Mike Patty, Bill and Gary Hightower, John Clegg, Joe Moore, Wayne McDonald, Mike Voss, Toby English, Dean McCollum, Bill Kucharz and Bill Nickels from Michigan, grandson of Mrs. Gnatkowski. Several of the boys invited were unable to attend.

"An Appleton, Wis., man, sentenced to two years for beating his wife, told authorities he beat her because she refused to bake him a cake." — News item. A woman should be careful not to cross her husband concerning his first love, namely, food.

"The grocer has been married previously on two occasions. He has also been through World War II." — Willwood-by-the-Sea (N.J.) Independent Herald. It seems there are some people who can live through anything.

"COUNTRY BOY"

By Frank Alsup
(poet low-rate)

I'm just a country boy
But I reckon I enjoy
About the same kind of things that others do

Good old turnip greens
Sewelly and string beans
With cornbread and buttermilk too

I've milked the old family cow
Walked barefoot behind a plow
And smelled the moist, freshly turned dirt

I've listened to coyotes wail
Carried wash water in a pail
And felt most of life's joys, thrills and hurt

I've listened to a whip-poor-will Watched the sunset from atop a hill

Gathered the eggs and stepped the hens

I would run and romp and play
And wallow in the new mown hay
Or go rabbit huntin' with my dogs

I reckon when the Lord calls my name

That I can step up without any shame

As he judges all my many little mistakes

My life has been mighty sweet
And I reckon it was most complete
Cause I had me one of them Al-

The Ancho U. P. W. met with Mrs. Price Miller last Wednesday. The president, Vernelle Hightower, presided.

Mrs. Lillian Richards conducted the devotional and in the absence of Nancy Knight, Elva Wilson led the study in "Ever Widening Circles." A "get well card," signed by all present, was sent Mrs. Minnie Peters in Belen. She has been very ill, but is improving.

At the close of the meeting delicious refreshments of ice cream and cake, lemonade or coffee were served.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Howard-Harkey—the third Wednesday in September.

25-CENT BEEF ON HOOF BECOMES $1.50 STEAK

Until some smart character figures out how to grow a beef animal that is all steak, consumers will have to struggle along paying $1.50 per pound for choice cuts from a 25-cent-per-pound animal on the hoof.

At least that's the conclusion of the New Mexico State University Extension Service. The fact is, only 600 pounds of meat are left from a 1,000 pound animal after the packer dresses the carcass. This means that an animal costing 25 cents per pound on the hoof will cost the packer actually 42.5 cents per pound for the usable portions. The by-products bring him little in the way of revenue.

And that 600 pounds includes all types of meat — not only the choice cuts, but brisket, flank plate, kidney knob, foreshank, chuck, rib and round. All of these cuts must be sold at a lower price than the steak, because of consumer preference for the meatier, more tender portions.

From a 1,000 pound steer, the packer will get only 96 pounds of loin for which he will receive 78 cents per pound from the wholesaler. His total income from the steer will amount to only $2.46 more than he paid for it.

There is still one more person who wants to get into the act, too. The retailer must break down the loin into units which can be put into the pot by the ultimate consumer. He has expenses such as shrinkage, labor, refrigeration and advertising which must be met.

So, $1.50 per pound for steak from a steer which brought 25 cents per pound live is not out of reason.

Predicts Sales Growth In Medium Priced Cars

Detroit, Mich. — Noting that for the first time since 1935 the medium price class is experiencing an increase in sales, Jack F. Wolfram, Oldsmobile's general manager and a vice president of General Motors, forecasted numerical growth of that segment of the automobile market in 1960 and beyond.

"I think one of the most important reasons for this," Wolfram explained, "is that in a rising economy, more people will buy the more comfortable, superior, full-size automobiles."

"There's no doubt but that the overall market will continue to grow. In 1960 I expect an increase of almost ten per cent for a total industry market of 6,900,000 passenger cars," Wolfram said. "This total includes all passenger car sales in the United States — both domestic and foreign."

Letters to Editor:

Editor, News
Enclosed is subscription to the News. I enjoy the paper very much and seeing names of people I knew long ago. Still seems like home to me and lots of fond memories still remain — Mrs. Nellie Ross Hill, 460 A. W. Windsor Rd, Glendale 4, Calif.

Editor, News
Enclosed is check to cover subscription to your paper. Notice your section of this old world has been receiving some moisture this summer. North Dakota (that is, the western half of the state) has been miserably dry and hot this season. Crops and ranges have been cut unusually short.

Many ranchers are on the fence, so to speak. They must pick their choice. Reduce their range herd or buy high-priced hay. Of course, that would be nothing new to many ranchers in New Mexico, for they have just passed a similar dilemma. Might be, North Dakota winter will make up for the dryness. Who knows?

My best to my friends in New Mexico—Sincerely, Leonard Hall, Trotter, North Dakota.

Youth Conservation Bill Passes Senate

S. 812, a bill to create a Youth Conservation Corps has been passed by the Senate. The bill has received widespread support from conservation interests.

The measure would establish a 50,000-member Conservation Corps of young men 16 to 21 years of age in its first year. The program could then be expanded to provide for a maximum of 150,000 enrollees, involving an expenditure of up to $450 million annually by the Department of Labor which is designated as the administrative agency.

BONANZA IN FENTON LAKE

Fisherman are having a rare opportunity to catch big brown trout, some as heavy as six pounds. These big ones, normally very hard to take, are concentrating in small pools, as the Department of Game and Fish lowers Fenton Lake in order to clear it of trash and excessive water vegetation.

As the water level lowers and the aquatic plants die off, Department men are piling up the logs and branches away from the water's edge. This will make fishing more accessible. A valuable by-product of the cleanup is the removal of the big fish, which subsist largely on small trout.

The Department has hesitated to do extensive planting in this water because of this cannibalism. Catchables have been planted, but the planting of small fish has been avoided. In future it will be feasible to plant fingerlings.

REHABILITATION PAYS OFF AGAIN

The value of rehabilitating fishing waters was clearly demonstrated at Berrendo Creek near Roswell, when fishermen began taking nice catches of 11-inch channel catfish earlier this month.

This creek was cleared of rough fish in May by means of rotenone. A couple of weeks later it was restocked with 6-to-8-inch channel catfish by the Fish and Wildlife Service. Within three months the fish had grown spectacularly, according to Dick Navarre of the Department of Game and Fish.

Miss Carol Patricia Mallett, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Mallett, of Caldwell, Ohio, was united in marriage with Arthur E. Salas, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Salas, of Lincoln, New Mexico, on Saturday, Aug. 8, in St. Michael's Catholic Church, Carlisle, Ohio.

Fr. R. A. Wargo, pastor of the church, officiated at the 9:30 a. m. double-ring ceremony, before an altar beautifully decorated with summer flowers. Following the traditional wedding march, Marvin Dimmerling, soloist, presented "On This Day O Beautiful Mother." Mrs. Emma Dimmerling was the organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a waltz length bridal gown of white Chantilly lace and tulle over net and bridal taffeta. The fitted bodice featured a Peter Pan collar and tiny self-covered buttons down the back to the waist-line. The long sleeves tapered to a point over the hands. The gown was complimented by a bouffant skirt of lace over taffeta. The only jewelry worn by the bride was pearl earrings. Her shoulder-length veil of Spanish lace was held in place by a pearl tiara.

She carried a white pearl rosary and white carnations with pink baby roses.

Miss Janice Mallett served her sister as maid-of-honor. She wore a ballerina length gown of frosted white nylon lace over blue taffeta with fitted bodice, cap sleeves and square neckline. Narrow grosgrain streamers from a bow at the waistline accented the bouffant skirt. She carried a bouquet of carnations tinted in blue.

Little Lynne Mallett, sister of the bride, served as flower girl. Lynne wore a white sheer nylon dress and her First Communion veil. She carried a blue and white basket of flowers.

Robert Salas, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were Merle Mallett, brother of the bride and Bernard Crum a friend of the bridegroom.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents for 180 guests. The table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake, topped with wedding bells, doves and wedding rings.

A wedding trip to New Mexico was enjoyed by the new Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Salas. For her going away outfit the bride wore a pink-mercer sheath dress with white accessories.

The bride is a graduate of Sumnerfield high school. She completed a year's business course at Cambridge before entering Central Technical Airline School in Los Angeles. Showmanship, Needed In Lamb Judging

What determines whether you have a champion lamb?

A top quality animal is of course number one in importance, but grooming and showmanship are also important considerations.

The lamb should be blocked, but watch out for tell-tale shearmarks. Feet should be trimmed with pruning shears or a sharp knife so that the lambs will stand correctly.

The county agent also gives these pointers:

Carry no equipment into the show ring. Show your lamb by hand; never with the aid of a helper. Leather band or rope. Crouch or kneel in front of the lamb with your left hand under its jaw. Grip the lamb by the fold of skin under the jaw. Never hold a lamb with a grip on any part of its fleece. If the animal needs restraining, place your right hand against the back of its head.

As the judge examines your lamb, kneel or crouch on the opposite side or in front of the lamb. Place the lamb's feet by moving them to the correct position with your free hand. Keep your lamb alert by pushing on his chin just short of making him move his feet. This prompts him to brace against the push and strengthens his back.

NO RUN YET ON SNAKEBIT KIT

The State Health Department has received no requests yet for the use of its snakebite kit which was placed in the stockroom refrigerator by Dr. Milton Zies, director of the Division of Chronic Disease. Perhaps it's because the contents were identified as follows: "Antivenin (Crotalidae) Polyvalent, equine origin, North and South American Antisnakebite Serum," which bears no resemblance to the popular cure for snakebite among old-timers in the West.

TIRRED BLOOD IS TOUGH ON FISH

Here's a tip for anglers! You may always succeed in catching that big one if you simply try him out. Tests made by the Fisheries Research Board of Canada have proved that severe muscular exercise causes the death of hand-rod salmon. Mortality for hand-rod fighting game fish as a result of fatigue was calculated to range between 40 to 86 percent. Blood samples were analyzed from troll-caught salmon after periods of rest in a live boat following capture. In each case fatigue was found to cause high blood lactic acid — tired blood — which was associated with death.

Excess Soluble Salts May Harm Garden

How does your garden—or lawn—grow these days? If you're having some difficulty, it might be due to increased use of softened water for both household and yard irrigation. Or the trouble may also be traced to use of home wells that are high in either total soluble or sodium salts.

Softened water has a high percentage of sodium salts, which affect many of our common garden shrubs and lawns. Continued use of sodium salts on many New Mexico soils will cause them to become sticky when wet and form hard crusts when dry. If your soil is already high in sodium (many New Mexico soils are), transfer your water softener to a spot behind the water supply for irrigation so that the hard water is used for watering your gardens.

Many home wells contain harmful amounts of soluble salts or harmful amounts of sodium salts. If your garden is not growing satisfactorily and you observe poor soil symptoms, check your water supply by sending a sample to the state test laboratory.

Legendary Tree Soon to Bloom in Old Mexico

Toluca, Mexico — A lone legendary tree, bearing the medicinal "flower of the little hand" and revered through the centuries, will soon bloom here again, according to Aeronaes Airlines officials.

This particular Toluca tree with blood red petal-spice flowers was highly regarded by the Aztecs, had inspired poetry, caused war between two minor monarchs, was partially burned once in another ownership dispute, and attracted the attention of many Mexican chroniclers including Baron Alexander von Humboldt.

Blooming from September thru April, flowers from it are in great demand for heart ailments, eye inflammations, and sundry other ailments.

It is this single Toluca tree that has made the species famous, although the tree is a native of tropical climates in southern Mexico and Guatemala. No particular attention is given others of its kind which may exist in the highlands of Mexico.

The personal physician to Charles V. of Spain is believed the first to have reported the pharmaceutical value of the Toluca tree.

The Toluca Department of Mexico reports "that a solution of the flowers is used for eye inflammation; a solution of the flower in white wine is taken to alleviate heart ailments (some credit can undoubtedly be given the earlier liquid); and several flowers are

New Mexico Chronicle

By WM. S. WALLACE
New Mexico Highlands University

In March of 1883, a band of Chiricahuas under the leadership of the famous Indian chief, Chato, swept the Mexican border and crossed into Grant county in the vicinity of Silver City. On the stage road between Silver City and Lordsburg the Indians encountered Judge H. C. McComas, wife, and child, a six year old boy. What happened that tragic day was reported in the Silver City Enterprise as follows:

"The following dispatch was received from Lordsburg about 9 o'clock confirming the report of the killing of Judge H. C. McComas, wife, and child, near Thompson's Canon, between Paschal and Lordsburg:

"March 29, 1883. Judge H. C. McComas, wife, and child were killed near Thompson's Canon yesterday.

"Lordsburg, N. M., 2:30 p. m. — Just returned from the scene of the massacre of Judge McComas and wife. The report is positively true about them having been murdered by Apaches. It occurred yesterday about 12 o'clock about one mile the other side of Thompson's Canon, on the stage road to Lordsburg. One horse was shot and dropped dead near the wagon. Mrs. McComas was lying on her face, near the dead horse, with her skull mashed in, and perfectly nude. From her appearance she was not shot but had her head crushed by a rock or something of that character. Judge McComas was found about 400 or 500 feet from Mrs. McComas shot through both legs and in the left side and his right arm was shot above the elbow. The blood on the ground coming from McComas could be readily followed by moonlight to where the Judge was found. He was perfectly naked. No trace of the child could be found anywhere, in spite of the fact the ground was thoroughly searched for a radius of one mile from the place of the massacre. An empty box of cartridges were found near Judge McComas' left hand. He was evidently making a running fight, at the time he fell. It is supposed that the child was taken by the Indians. The Lordsburg stage passed to Lordsburg during the night and gave the alarm at that point. The first to arrive at the scene were Frank Castle, Bud Stiles, Dick Martell, and Jack Ward, and they found the bodies first. The report was received at Paschal about two o'clock in the morning and Assistant Manager Thomas S. Nickerson dispatched a courier to notify the people near Paschal and also on to Silver City. A party of fifteen persons and two wagons were sent immediately for the bodies, under command of James Foley and J. M. Dennis, who have arrived in Paschal with the bodies. They will arrive in Silver City this evening. Mr. Dennis was the first to give the alarm in Paschal. The Indians separated after the killing into two parties, one going towards Hart's ranch and the other in the direction of Stein's Peak. Signals were seen from them at that place early this morning.

"The bodies were terribly blistered coming through the hot sun, and were dressed in Paschal. Besides stripping Mrs. McComas of everything she had on, even her hair was pulled down. The Judge lost a great deal of blood running 400 feet."

Judge McComas was a native of Virginia and had moved to Silver City in 1860. For many years a rumor persisted that the McComas boy was raised by the Indians and in later years participated in raiding parties.

Crushed and applied externally as a poultice to calm heart pain.

Toluca has 40 miles west of Mexico City, a 36-cent bus trip. The tourist department recommends that to view the tree on the outskirts of Toluca, a land be taken in a car or truck in this part of the city are just being started.
