

Carrizozo to play Menaul Saturday for State C Football Championship

The Carrizozo Grizzly football squad, 35 strong, will leave here Saturday morning at 7:15 for Albuquerque in quest of No. 3 victory of the current season. It will be their biggest test to date, for the State C championship hinges on the outcome.

Menaul, the northern district C winner, as well as Carrizozo, enter the game with perfect records for the season, neither having lost a game.

Game time is 2 p.m. on Menaul field. It is located at the corner of Menaul and Edith st. The latter street is reached by going down Central.

Menaul High School's list of eligible players, received this week by Coach Laaba and Bode, shows an international flavor. One player lists his address as Mexico; Chen is from China and Solis from Bangkok, Thailand. Out-of-state students are also on the roster of players.

The Menaul team is well-balanced with speed in the backfield and an average of 180 pounds from end to end. One tackle weighs in at 220 pounds.

Carrizozo will match Menaul in line strength and has speed and deception in the backfield, along with a good passing combination. The Grizzlies also have the advantage of having met and defeated a stronger calibre of opponent throughout the season than has Menaul.

Coach Laaba says the squad is in good shape. "It will be a good ball game and we're out to win it," he said. Luciano Gallegos might get in the game for a play or two but that would be all, on doctor's orders.

Tigers and Cardinals play scoreless tie

By BARBARA McCREW

The Capitan Tigers and Corona Cardinals played to a scoreless tie in a muddy afternoon game on the Corona gridiron Friday, Oct. 30.

Heavy fog, chill winds and light rain handicapped both teams as they battled to a 0 to 0 tie.

Two footballs were rotated on the muddy field to keep the game in progress. Every three or four plays the referees exchanged a cake of mud for a clean ball.

Corona kicked off to Capitan to start the game. In the first quarter the Tigers penetrated to the Corona 10-yard line, but lost the ball on a fumble.

In the second quarter Corona moved inside the Tiger 10-yard line only to be set back 15 yards on a penalty.

No gains went down to the final gun and a 0 to 0 tie went into the record books in this the last game of the season for both teams.

District 2C records show the following standings for each of the teams:

	W.	L.	T.
Carrizozo	5	0	0
Capitan	3	2	1
Corona	2	2	2
Melrose	3	3	0
Tatum	3	3	0
Vaughn	1	4	1
Hondo	1	5	0

Grizzlies sharpen claws in Vaughn win, 37-0

The Carrizozo Grizzlies sharpened their claws in Vaughn Monday night at the expense of the Eagles, winning 37 to 0 in their last conference game of the regular season.

The win set the Grizzlies up for district C title play, and gave them the distinction of being one of the few undefeated high school teams in the state.

A large crowd of Carrizozo fans attended the game, which had been postponed from the previous Friday because of snow at Vaughn.

Grishaw returns KICKOFF FOR TOUCHDOWN

The Grizzlies got down to the business of the day in quick fashion. Receiving the initial kickoff, Bob Grishaw followed his blockage on a perfect run of 73 yards to a touchdown. The conversion by Dan Ortiz was good.

The Grizzlies struck twice again in the first quarter, scoring two more touchdowns, each on completed passes. Grishaw to Fred Vega, and entered the second quarter leading 19 to 0.

The Eagles had difficulty penetrating the Grizzly defense and punted frequently, one of which Grishaw returned for 30 yards shortly after the opening of the second quarter. A pass, Grishaw to Vega added six more points to make the half time score Carrizozo 25, Vaughn 0.

SECOND HALF

Carrizozo kicked off to open the second half. After a Vaughn punt, Wayland Hill carried for 13 yards and again for 8, but a clipping penalty called for a Grizzly punt.

The Eagles were unable to get their passing game in gear and punted to the Grizzly 23-yard line. Hill, Ortiz, Grishaw and Beltun alternated in a march down the field, ending in a TD when Grishaw ran right end for the final 9 yards. The conversion failed.

The Grizzlies field marker came to the fourth quarter when Grishaw swept around right end and ran 65 yards to the TD.

The Carrizozo Women's Club was host, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week, to 106 delegates and guests from 16 clubs which comprise the Fourth District of Federated Women's Clubs of New Mexico.

The convention opened Tuesday afternoon at 2, with registration at the club house. Due to the careful pre-convention planning and arrangements made by the hostess club president, Mrs. E. T. Fletcher, and the general convention chairman, Mrs. C. A. Snow, with the guidance of Mrs. Myron Baumgartner of Alamogordo, district president, and Mrs. Elmer Hole of Anthony, district vice-president, the convention proceeded according to schedule.

Tuesday evening a delicious turkey dinner with all the trimmings, was served in the Odd Fellows hall by members of the W. S. C. S., under the supervision of Mrs. Lewis Farris. On the serious side, however, Mr. Zimmerman pointed out there are many things women's clubs of New Mexico can do to improve the legal privileges of women, giving them rights that women in almost every other state in the Union enjoy.

Mrs. Crockett, state president, showed beautiful colored slides of her world tour and gave interesting descriptions of each slide as it

Splendid talks and panel discussions were features of Youth Conference

The home, the church and the school must all accept their share of blame for the rising tide of juvenile delinquency in America, it was brought out by several panelists in Carrizozo Tuesday evening.

An adult panel, moderated by Dr. Claude C. Dove, NMSU, was composed of Judge Leo Blessing, New Orleans, La.; Arthur Tenorio, Las Cruces, Fernin Montes, Hondo; Mrs. Jane Turner, Carrizozo, and Bill Hall, Capitan.

The round-table discussion concluded a day's conference here of the Third Judicial District of New Mexico Youth Commission.

The panel topic was "Whose Responsibility?" and was led off by Dr. Dove, who stated that "basic American culture" itself was fundamentally responsible for juvenile delinquency. Some points he made upon which considerable discussion followed were:

American culture is basically hostile to adolescents. We try to keep them children until they reach an age of 17 or 18, then tell them suddenly they have become adults. Labor is hostile to adolescents. Juvenile delinquency stops when youth finds his place in useful and creative work.

We won't let our children grow up. He wants to grow up and feel important. We want to keep him a child.

Marriage is one of our sacred institutions, and it is stupid for our schools to penalize marriages. Churches have failed to give the adolescents the action they want. Young people are not interested in platitudes.

Figures were quoted from a woman jurist's article in a magazine that 5,000 youngsters in America were branded as criminals of a type, every 24 hours.

Judge Blessing took exception to these figures. He said they were misleading, because they were taken from police records of arrests for every type of traffic offenses, which certainly do not make delinquents out of the offenders.

A child will not become a delinquent if he has a challenge and is living up to his potential.

Judge Blessing agreed that the churches have fallen down in keeping close to the problems of young people.

He pointed out that oftentimes it is the community in which they live, that gets the child into trouble, rather than neglect by his parents: "The community can get a child into trouble even though his parents have done a good job."

Panelists Bill Hall, Fernin Montes, Mrs. Turner and Arthur Tenorio commented on such subjects as responsibility of the teacher toward the wayward child, cooperation of parents and teachers and the psychology that motivated the adolescent delinquent, the latter subject by Mr. Tenorio.

All planning for youth in every community should include one or more young people, in the opinion of Judge Blessing. "In developing a program for youth, they should be consulted," he said. "Young people won't accept a 'paternalistic' program. They need to be given an opportunity to say 'This is not what I want.'"

He praised the continued effort of the Third Judicial District, under the leadership of Judge Scoggin, on behalf of the young people of the state.

Efficiency experts here last spring. Another efficiency study (the highway department had one last spring) doesn't look like a good $54,500 investment and is not likely to allay the public curiosity and suspicion about the department.

A probe into suspected monkey business in the department, however, might be blocked by law.

Although the Legislative Finance Committee in its investigation of the Adjutant General's department which ruined the career of Maj. Gordon Sago and now has him up for trial, went into such nit-picking as personal calls on public telephones, there is a legal question on how far the committee can go into personal activities of public officials and employees.

Atty. Gen. Hilton Dickson might blow the whistle on the committee if it got into such subjects as Commissioner Harold Leonard selling equipment to highway contractors, or hiring and firing on political consideration.

The investigation which should be underway sometime this month and completed maybe a year from now is not likely to answer the questions that prompted the investigation.

However, it might be worth more than $34,500 to the administration in stalling off a special session of a hostile legislature. There would probably have been such a session had the investigation not been authorized.

New Mexico's nepotism act which prohibits people from hiring their close kin in public office is a sorry thing. The law has a barn door loop hole which permits the hiring of kintoks if the employee is approved by the officer who approves the bond of the person doing the hiring.

That has resulted in nobility in all the time of the law ever being prosecuted for nepotism, and as far as the record goes, has never restrained any official from hiring his kin.

It is so easy that Apolono Duran, the county Demo chairman of San Miguel and also the county assessor, hadn't even bothered to clear with his bondmen early this week after having his wife on his payroll since early this year.

GEORGIA DRAWING $300 PENSION Mrs. Georgia Lusk, member of Congress 1947-48, and intermittently state school superintendent 1931-53, is doing all right since leaving the school post at the first of the year. She is with the Civil Defense agency at $500 a month and is drawing $300 a month from the education retirement association.

ROAD DEPARTMENT IS STILL BEHIND The highway department which hadn't let any road building contracts since last June, still wasn't ready when contracting was resumed in November.

The department appealed for extra time from the federal bureau of public roads for four of six projects set for letting to contract November 20.

The construction holiday had been considered a blessing in disguise, one which would give the department time to catch up on its planning, but it didn't work out that way.

ROAD INVESTIGATION HAS TWO COURSES

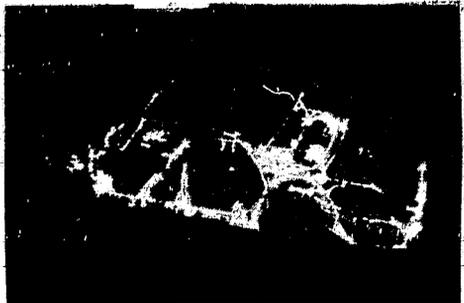

Santa Fe, Nov. 4.—Legislators after ten months' trying, have launched a highway investigation of a sort, which stands to go soft or hard on the position taken by one man, Republican State Sen. Charlie Mumma of Farmington.

The Legislative Finance Committee which has $54,500 for the probe, appears to be divided on two courses that the investigation might follow:

1. A "study" of the highway operation looking toward more efficiency and improved service, while refraining from anything suggestive of a criminal investigation.

State Sen. William Osborne of Roswell, Democrat, has espoused that course and is presumed to have the backing of Committee Chairman Gordon Meloy, San Miguel senator, and Rep. Morgan Nelson of Roswell, both Democrats.

2. A tougher course, looking into personnel juggling, contractor favoritism, asphalt and other purchasing, commission activities.</

FT. STANTON

OUR VERSION OF THE MOCK FIRE

When that old dilapidated shack was dragged to the middle of the baseball diamond, rumors ran through the grapevine that it would be used as a "kangaroo court" as a last resort for those incorrigibles who were out on appeal.

Those whose convictions were upheld by said court would then be led to the mouth of the cannon on the campsite and executed at sunrise on the day of dedication.

Never lend a close ear to gossip. It turned out that the shack had been placed there to demonstrate new fire equipment and the finesse of our fire department.

When we saw Stanley Good and Mr. Robinson of Capitan welding with torches every movable part of the cannon, our suspense ended and we could sleep without worry that night.

The shack was set ablaze on schedule by its occupant, "Grandma Josephine Escobedo." A cloud of smoke was rolling out of the door, when she panicked and came out wearing only her nightgown and gown.

Grandma hastened back in and emerged again with her dough pan and frying skillet. She next went in for a chair and her portrait of 1890.

When the fire department, under Fire Chief Thompson, arrived on the scene the smoke was so dense that it would have been suicide to have gone in after her mattress to which Grandma, now hysterical and pallid, clung to her remaining lock of hair, claiming to have hidden a hoard of gold certificates dating back 50 years to the time she disposed of her male and became a recluse and a miser.

The shack soon was a shambles and the fire boys went on record for their efficiency in snuffing the half-burned shack and saving it for next spring.

Granny Escobedo has been given asylum and assistance by the good and kind-hearted people of Fort Stanton.

Herbert Totten spent the week end with his wife in Carrizozo.

Manuel Ortiz was here from Carrizozo, delivering gasoline to the Fort Stanton Service Station which is operated by Fred A. Vigil and Perry Zamora. Perry saw a deer on the hills across the creek from the station recently.

Mountaineer Gene McCommas also saw a doe up the creek one day last week; also some fresh bear tracks. Gene has quite a collection of arrowheads.

Destitute Pat Henderson, Eva Henderson of the O. T. Dept., and family spent the week end in Lubbock, visiting Mrs. Henderson's sister and family. They also went to Fort Texas, where they enrolled their son Ronnie in high school.

Mrs. Frank Rincon, daughters Ramona and Frances, and son Alfonso were here from Las Cruces last week to visit Mr. Rincon.

Sam Padilla has returned from Santa Fe, where he visited for two weeks. He operates a store at the capital city.

Raul Nocta visited in Carrizozo for two days last week. Jim Robinson had charge of the clubhouse during his absence and was assisted by Manuel Lara.

Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Miller have been out on a month's leave from Fort Stanton and have been visiting folks and relatives in California.

Demetrio Peralta has been hired to work with the Vassar Thompson force in Fort Stanton.

We had a card from Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Chavez from Roswell, Nev., where they were visiting.

Gala Halloween party at Los Amigos Club

The Los Amigos Club was decorated in Halloween motif, with jack-o-lanterns, witches, black cats, owls, orange and yellow streamers and other spoofs, for the big party held there last Thursday evening.

After the large crowd had settled down and Photographer Zink had adjusted his tripod camera, Eva Henderson and her usher girls passed out hats, masks and merry-makers to the audience.

Seraphin Vigil introduced three gorgeous models from the Academy of Beauty Culture; Josephine Baker, and also students Arguello, Pickard, Charles, Loyato and Montoya.

After the musicians, Rincon, McCommas, Hernandez, Garcia, Esquivel and Candelaria played and sang a few pieces, two laughter-provoking skits were presented.

In the first skit, an operation was performed on Mary Louise Arguello, for the removal of her appendix. The lights were turned out, but we could hear the dialogue between the doctor and nurse and could also see the surgery through a transparent white screen. "Nurse" Dixie Sparks prepared the patient by making her inhale monoxide gas through a bagpipe. Horse Doctor Gustena Charles asked for her most delicate instruments and the "nurse" produced a hack saw, a screw driver, a pair of tin snips and a pair of pliers.

We thought those were somewhat crude tools for surgery, but when we saw what they fished out of that girl's anatomy, we would have settled for a railroad magnet and crane. They took out a coil of bedspring, countless bobby pins, a dollar watch, a string of link sausages and a counterfeit Mexican peso. We thought Mary Louise might have fared better in the old shack that burned down on the baseball diamond, but she stood the operation with intestinal fortitude.

After the incision was closed with bolting clamps and a ball pein hammer, the doctor commented that surgery had been necessary only because the patient had eaten a big supper prepared under the supervision of Delitiana Henderson.

Mrs. Henderson and the girls served punch, cookies and apples during intermission.

In the second skit, Jack Dalley and Wayne Pickard played the role of two fat, lazy Negro cotton pickers from "way down in the heart of Texas. They made good money during harvest time, but squandered it on wine, women and dice. They wound up on a park bench in the dead of winter, lamenting their pitiful situation. Their remark was tattered and they had big holes in the soles of their shoes. They had two slices of burnt toast and a cigarette butt between high heaven and salvation. The way they scratched, you'd think they were trying to imitate Gene and Rincon playing the mandolin. But it wasn't that at all. They had "cotton with feet" creeping over their bodies that caused all their anguish.

The participants in the string apples looked like struts dogs that had been eating chicken in the raw. At first, the fruit was sweet with syrup, but on their second contact, blind-folded, the apples had been feathered.

In the game of pinning the tail on the donkey's right spot, Joie Morales felt of Rev. Brown's ears and almost pinned the tail on his coat.

Everything was hilarious and all went home at 3 o'clock in a happy mood.

Special stamps will aid Sun Carnival festival

There'll be a bright new spot on letters mailed from the Southwest during the latter part of November and in December.

Gaily colored Southwestern Sun Carnival stamps have been sent to all homes in the area for promotion of the Sun Carnival.

A "first" for this year, the purpose of the stamps is two-fold, according to Sun Carnival president Marshall Willis. They are intended to spread the fame of the Sun Carnival around the world, and are also meant to aid in raising new funds for El Paso's glittering mid-winter festival.

The stamps are a festive reproduction of the queen's Sun Carnival float, with her majesty and her pretty court of attendants aboard.

Willis reported the funds raised from the stamp promotion would be used to enlarge the many Sun Carnival activities, especially the New Year's Day parade.

Some of the additional funds will be used to hold nightly fireworks displays on Mt. Franklin.

Hill That was some game our team played Monday! I really enjoyed it—especially the score of 37 to 0. I'm certainly glad I got to see it!

Well, this week the column seems to be getting the letters! So many comments on the hunter's 10 commandments—I won't try to print them all; but if you'd like a copy of them, just drop me a line.

Dear Pam: The hunter's ten commandments cover just about all the danger points and if a hunter would observe them there would be a lot less people killed. One point that was brought out was in regard to respecting the property of ranchers. This hunting season is a big headache for all ranchers and usually we lose a few head of cattle when some hair-brain deer hunter mistakes a whiteface for a 25-point buck! I think that every hunter or group of hunters should hire a guide—someone who has had experience hunting and knows where to go and what to do.

If each man of a hunting party would contribute a few bucks (dollars) to hire a real good guide, they'd all get their deer and they'd all have a better chance of getting back alive. If I had anything to add to your "ten commandments," I'd say: Hire a guide! Enjoy your column even if I'm not a teenager—but then I know a lot of people my age who read it—so keep it up.—OLD TIMER.

Dear "Old Timer"—Thanks for your very nice letter. I've never been hunting but I'd sure want a guide, plus somebody to aim the rifle for me and pull the trigger—dress the deer, cook it, and I would gladly eat it!—Guess I'm just not a hunter, or "huntress." Thanks, Pam.

Thanks to you "Teensters" for commenting on Judy Frey's letter printed recently. Here are a couple of them:

Dear Pam: As to Judy's letter, I think she is right to some extent. The teachers should make us respect them. But, for Pete's sake, no more homework! I can hardly get my chores done at home or get out for a date once in a while—OVERWORKED GUY.

Dear "Over-Worked Guy": Guess Judy forgot about the chores a fellow has to take care of on a ranch. Those city kids don't have anything like that to do. I will say, though, that Charlie and Phil (my brothers in Denver) go to school and then work at a hospital until 7 o'clock and then come home to do their studying. Thanks for your letter. Write again.—Pam.

Dear Pam: Gads! Tell Judy Frey to mind her own business! We have enough work as it is. Sometimes I think we are mistreated. The teachers load us down with homework. Kids can't even have fun anymore, cause they're threatened by the teachers to have their homework—or else! But they should make us respect them more.—"GUNL"

Dear "Gunl": Thanks for the letter. I certainly agree with you about the home work. I couldn't handle any more. As for having fun, are you kidding? Seems to me there's more ways of having fun than anything! I don't let school work keep me from having fun, believe me! Thanks and write again soon.—Pam.

Dear Pam: I hope you won't mind publishing a teacher's viewpoint. Judy Frey's letter should make us "sit up" and think! Speaking for the teachers, we are anxious to teach our pupils all we can. We are very much aware of the terrific competition in the world today! Unless you have an education you are "nothing!" This is becoming truer every day. A high-school education is hardly adequate to make a success in business, whatever it be! Times have changed and education is a "must." Oh, I know you can quote me some exceptions—men who have made a big success even without an education, of a formal nature, but they are exceptions, and they learned, mark my words! They are self-educated men and they made a success in spite of the lack of a formal education. I admit that we can teach you kids nothing if you don't want to learn or if you don't respect us as teachers.

News Notes from Along the Bonito

By LOUISE RUNNELS

The newest thing I know of in the Bonito country this week is probably not new to many (the way the telephone was ringing the night of October 31) but, in Roswell, Saturday night, a new little LaMay girl was born. Parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy LaMay. As yet I don't know the name or weight, but we are anxious to see the little "cowgirl." Rachel West and Roy LaMay went speeding down to see mother and baby Saturday night and Rachel will stay a few days until the new one, Mary Helen and Jeanette are ready to come home.

To Malcolm Petree: I'd like to apologize and make a correction about the new car. It's a Buick, not a Chevy, as I said last week.

The big rock crusher of Armstrong & Armstrong moved out the Bonito Monday and on to Tucumcari. With the help of our county commissioners, Paul Taylor crushed gravel for some of the improvements on the Ruidoso road and the road between Angus and Ruidoso (work will begin this week); also the Bonito road has new gravel added in places.

Mrs. Taylor's mother, Mrs. Holland from Roswell, spent Sunday night with them and went along with the trailer moving to Roswell.

Mr. and Mrs. Hines Shaw, who have been here since the rock crushing began, have moved to Roswell. He drove one of the gravel trucks. At Roswell they will operate Price's Truck Stop, 5 miles north of Roswell. Hines wants friends to stop, including all the sheriffs and cops.

Blanche Reynolds and Sid Lawson were married October 10 in era. If we have to spend the whole hour teaching you common courtesy, then there is certainly no time left for study!

Respect for your elders is taught at home and if you haven't learned it by the time you get to high school, it's a little late! There is so much I'd like to teach you—so many things I'd like to make you understand, so many heartaches and trouble I'd like to help you avoid; but they won't listen! Teaching to me is a "calling" even as a minister is called! I'm not doing it for the money, but for the satisfaction of seeing young people improve and learn! When you refuse to listen, you are denying me even that satisfaction. You want to respect your teachers? First learn to respect yourselves! You expect consideration from us—then give us the consideration that ordinary courtesy calls for. We want to help, but you have to help yourselves first.

I don't know if you'll print this, Pam. I'd sign my name to this but I don't trust the reaction of you "Teensters." Would you laugh at me, and thus make it even more difficult to teach you, or would you stop and think and accept me as your sincere friend who asks you to stop and think! School days are soon past—oh, so soon! What you do today will make all the difference in the world to your later life!—"YOUR TEACHER."

I won't make any comments on this letter, except to say that I want to thank this "teacher" for writing. I think if we could get more teachers and pupils to write like this, saying what they think, it would be very helpful to everyone concerned. Let's hear from more of you.

That was really a good dance the other night, held at the school band room. I really enjoyed the show before the dance, too. Thanks to the Recreation Commission and to the Rotary and the Lions Club of Carrizozo for making this possible. Especially, thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Skelton.

Drop me a line sometime. See you next week.—Pam.

Services in Carrizozo for Mrs. Apodaca

Mass was held in the Santa Rita Catholic Church, Monday, Oct. 26, for Marcelita O. Apodaca, who died October 22 in the Ruidoso-Hondo Valley Hospital, Ruidoso, after a short illness.

Interment was in the St. Rita cemetery. The Shaw Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Apodaca was born January 15, 1830, at Pajarito, N. M., but had lived in Carrizozo for 30 years.

She is survived by ten children, eight daughters and two sons. Her daughters are Effie Chavez, Matilda Navarro, Sara Herrera and Flora Chavez, of Carrizozo; Lola Contreras, Lillie Barrazo and Eugenia Coyazo of Alamogordo, and Clara Jauregui of El Paso. Her sons are Felipe Apodaca of Roswell and Ernesto Apodaca of Carrizozo. She is also survived by three brothers, Pete Ortega of Lubbock, Texas; Fidel Ortega of Amarillo, Texas; by three sisters, Rose Griffin, Esmeralda Ortega and Helen Ortega, all of Lubbock, and by 67 grandchildren and 17 great-grandchildren.

Hope every teenager who is interested in good, clean and varied recreation this winter will keep up with the Ruidoso News, where Mrs. Lanita Coe will announce the recreation program for these winter nights that are coming in a hurry. Lanita is ready to hear from anyone with ideas. Her address is Lanita Coe, Ruidoso, N. M.

Some may have missed the news item in the Ruidoso paper about the death of John Weber in Lubbock, Texas. Mrs. Lawrence Peables and another daughter from Roswell went to the funeral. Mr. and Mrs. Weber lived on the Bonito about twenty years ago.

Cora Dutton spent the week end at TorC, where she went to a Halloween masquerade party and, by the way, won first place with her costume. She wore a blue evening gown and a mask and was named "The Beautiful Lady in Blue."

Mrs. Grace Jackson, Mrs. Thelma Taylor and Louise Runnels spent some time in Capitan last week. Thelma visited her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Paul M., and Little son, and Mrs. Jackson and Louise went to see the Walters—Mary, Travis and Travis's mother.

Donnie Bailey from Capitan has been visiting his grandmother, Mrs. Alice Wright, this week and working in Bear Canyon on a hunting cabin.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Dixon and family from Elida spent one night at Bonito City this week. They were driving a 1960 Edzel car that Kenneth bought with money he made on his crops this year. His was one of the lucky farms where the hail skipped and he had a bumper crop. They will spend Thanksgiving with Kenneth's mother, Mrs. Lonnie Baker, in Fort Worth, Texas.

Mrs. Coe from Capitan was on the Bonito Sunday, showing his '60 Harley Davidson motorcycle. It's a beauty.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob McProud and Mr. and Mrs. Clark Murphy and children fished in the Bonito stream Sunday evening.

Mrs. Charles Corder's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Littleton, from McAllen, Texas, are spending a few days with the Corders.

Mrs. Collins Walker subscribed to the Lincoln County News this week. She said they enjoyed the old timer's stories very much.

By the way, copies of the Lincoln County Directory are still available for any home or ranch that does not have one. They are free. Extra copies have been left here and at other business places in the county, or you can pick one up at the News office in Carrizozo.

Another Smokey dance to be Saturday, Nov. 14

The Smokey dance held last Saturday night was a success, but we hope to see more of our local people next time, Saturday, Nov. 14. Prather and Jones play the kind of music that makes you want to dance. Our Smokey Museum is still unfinished due to lack of funds and the dances are one way of making money to complete it.

We want to get the museum finished by spring and it is going to take a lot of work. Please help us by your presence at the dance.

Those who gave sandwiches at the last dance were Mrs. Pearl Underback, Mrs. Add Holmes, Mrs. Dorothy Guck and Rensch. Mrs. Guck also gave a home-made cake, which was won by Mrs. Bonnie Brown. Mrs. Barbara Blinn donated home-made candy to sell and Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Annarone gave ice for the cold drinks. The Santa Gas Company donates the gas to heat the building for the dances. Coffee, cups, etc. were donated by Rensch. Thanks to each one of you.

Remodeling 'Smart' Investment For TV Announcer Dick Stark

"One of the smartest things I've ever done," says Dick Stark, nationally-known television announcer, "was to buy that old house and remodel it."

"That old house" was a 160-year-old tumble-down farm home on ten acres in Sag Harbor, L. I. V. Ladd purchased for $4,000 by Stark and his magazine fashion editor wife, Jane Trusel Stark, in 1943.

Today, as the photographs show, remodeling has changed the old house into a luxurious Colonial-style home which the Stark family occupy the year around. He estimates the house and land now are worth more than $60,000.

"When Jane and I first saw the house," Stark recalls, "we were dubious. The property at one time had been used as a town dump, and the house seemed to be rotting away."

"But we liked the location, and a closer examination of the house showed its beams and timbers were in sound structural condition. We bought it and went to work."

Stark, a student architect at the time, laid out all the plans and specifications himself, and was in charge of the actual labor. Basically, the remodeling consisted of adding an entire new wing (left portion of "after photo") to the old house, and rearranging partitions.

Today a new wing dining room, a new living room, a study, bedroom, and bath. Upstairs in the master bedroom and bath, with two new bedrooms in the old portion. Downstairs

Two boys injured as Halloween aftermath

Halloween youngsters were out in their costumes last Saturday night. They seemed more numerous than usual and they had a good time and their funny faces gave us grownups lots of laughter. The cats ran for shelter and the dogs barked furiously. It was a night to remember.

Some of the larger children played a few pranks, but there was nothing serious, though one might have been. They put an old car crossways on the highway between Barney's Bar and Virgil's Garage. Local people, returning from their work at Fort Stanton, almost hit it. They stopped and pushed the car out of the road. Such a thoughtless prank might have caused a serious accident.

At the school ground the swing was turned over and two little boys who thought they were strong enough were hurt when they tried to upright it. The ambulance from Fort Stanton took them to the Carrizozo hospital Monday morning. They were our paper boys. William Herrera carries the Roswell Record, had ten stitches taken in a cut back of the right ear. Larry Padilla, cashier for the El Paso Times, had a back injury which kept him in the hospital.

On the same Monday morning, Frankie Guillot backed his car into his 14-month-old grandson. The baby was in front of the car and was struck by the bumper. It was reported the tot was knocked under the car and suffered facial injuries and was taken to the Carrizozo hospital.

Mrs. Mary Trujillo and family motored to Tularosa last Sunday to visit her daughter, Elena (Mrs. and Mrs. Max Montoya) for the day. Her son, Eddie Zamora and wife, have their home in Tularosa also, and she had a splendid day with her children.

Mrs. Lewis Cummins celebrated her birthday Thursday, Oct. 29, by having her dinner at noon at the home of Mrs. Henry Peebles. Then they drove to visit Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wood at their home near Alto. We wish you many more happy birthdays, Beale.

Capitan band played for Fort Stanton dedication ceremonies

The Capitan High School band played at Fort Stanton last Sunday for the dedication of a 90-mm. anti-aircraft gun on the grounds of the main park.

The band first played "The Invader" and later "The Star Spangled Banner," followed by a 24-gun salute by the New Mexico National Guard.

After the fire drill the band went to the quadrangle to play "High School Cadets" and "The Invader" for the patients who could not leave their beds.

Mrs. Irene Estrada and daughter Tonie of Tularosa spent a week with her mother, Mrs. Mary Trujillo, and family. They have been helping at her cafe.

Mrs. R. C. Lewis

Mrs. Lewis, wife of Rev. R. C. Lewis, who was pastor of the Nazarene Church here 20 years ago, died October 27 at Garvia, Calif. She had suffered from internal cancer for several months. She was laid to rest there.

Her survivors are her husband and two daughters and their families, including two grandsons.

Masquerade party was Student Council project

The Halloween goblins were out early in Capitan this year. The Capitan High School Student Council sponsored a masquerade party which started at 7:30 p.m. in the high school music room on Friday, Oct. 30.

The council had decided in favor of a costume ball, with an admission charge of 10 cents for each high school student and parent attending. The collection was for refreshments and prizes.

Winning prizes were: Diane Shaw, most original—a beaklike; Barbara McGrew, most grotesque; 1920 flapperette, with an eagle beak; Ann Robinson, most beautiful; a gypsy in red and white; Robert Salas and Saralla Joy, cutest couple; western frontier style. Dancing continued until about 11:30.

Among adults present were Mr. and Mrs. James Dines, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Duane Darling, James Van Dyke, Mrs. Bonnie McEuen, Mrs. Geraldine Randle and Mrs. Maurilda McGrew.

Cattle and sheep trucks rolling stock to market

Many cattle and sheep trucks are hauling animals to market. It brings back memories of the days when the railroad was here and during days of shipping, in strange corrals and far from home the cattle bawled all night and the sheep bled for their young ones. Then they were driven here to meet the train for that long ride. Now, trucks go to the ranches and pick them up and we only see them as they pass through town, or the drivers stop for a meal. Time changes everything, as well as us.

OUR TOWN

By MRS. H. E. MARR

There was a rash of minor accidents at school last week, and one more serious—Jackie Bookout, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bookout, broke his collarbone and received a minor concussion, but he is recovering nicely.

"To promote the welfare of children and youth in home, school, church and community."

This sentence is listed in the PTA handbook as one of the objects of the organization. Do you parents know what the other objects are? Have you attended a PAT meeting this year?

"To bring into closer relation the home and the school, that parents and teachers may cooperate intelligently in the training of the child."

Your PTA is not a "Teachers' Association." It has to have parents to make it complete and for it to be able to do the work cut out for it.

"To develop between educators and the general public such united efforts as will secure for every child the highest advantage in physical, mental, social and spiritual education."

These objects and others are a part of your local PTA, and those people in your local organization are working hard to carry out these objects. Are you helping? If not, why not? Do you know what your child is doing at school? If so, do you approve of it? It has been said that our country will have exactly the kind of school that the parents want, so it is up to us, isn't it?

Pouring "Porron" Provokes Pleasurs

One of the most popular beverages in Texas is undoubtedly the old Spanish custom of drinking "Porron," featured at the pleasantly delightful ALCAZAR RESTAURANT BAR.

This manner of sipping with one's finger (and objectively into the mouth) is a dispersive habit involving a unique taste and provides a great deal of amusement.

Several house customers, after favorable practice, have not only improved their style but have learned new ones such as pouring the wine on the forehead and have it follow a delectably difficult route around the corner of the eye, along one side of the nose and eventually into the open mouth. Try it! It can be fun!

Applied "Porron" Sprossed, manager, who came from the Province of Galicia in Spain, is always happy to demonstrate the technique to dinner guests. Just ask him.

Under the heading of "Ability of New Mexico in 1845," the following story appeared in the pages of an 1895 issue of the paper: "Maxwell was a St. Louis boy. That part of the city where he lived was known as Vido Pocha 'Empty Pocket' when he left it for a life on the plains. Colonel Bergman, the warden of the New Mexico penitentiary, himself a splendid specimen of manhood with the manners and speech of a cultured gentleman, knew Maxwell more intimately, probably than any one living. It is 28 years since Colonel Bergman became a resident of New Mexico, and at that time Maxwell was a man of far-reaching influence in this region."

"He must have come out here," said Colonel Bergman, "as early as the twenties. For a long time he was the companion of Kit Carson. Together they hunted and trapped all through these mountains. And the information they had gathered in their years of wandering subsequently made John G. Fremont famous as the Pathfinder. The most notable period of Maxwell's career, however, came when he married the daughter of Don Carlos Beaubien and settled down."

"Don Carlos was fond of his son-in-law. He gave him a part of the great Beaubien and Miranda land grant and stocked the tract with cattle and horses. From that time, which was about '48, until after the war, Maxwell wielded great power all through this country, and 'Maxwell's Ranch' was a famous place."

Men are searched but morn'g picks pistol

Shortly after getting a stolen car report over the police car radio last Friday, State Patrolmen James Clayton and Deputy Sheriff Labe Mirabal arrested the occupants of the stolen car. The officers were at the intersection of the Nogal road, with Highway 390 when they recognized the stolen car as it sped by, at noon Friday.

Checked in at the sheriff's office were Jessie Hinojosa and his wife Yolanda, Alfred Hernandez and LUIS MONTAÑA, all of San Antonio, Texas.

The men were searched by the two officers, but according to Officer Clayton, it was not discovered. Mrs. Hinojosa was carrying a pistol until she was searched later at the jail by the matron.

The four men have been returned to Roswell authorities and are being held there for car theft. The stolen vehicle belonged to Jerry House of Roswell.

Few figures in the history of New Mexico have had more tales written about them than Luten Maxwell. At one time the land holdings of Maxwell included much of northeastern New Mexico and extended into Colorado.

At the peak of his career Maxwell lived in the grand manner. He entertained lavishly and was a free and easy spender. Such was his case that twenty years after his death in 1915 the Santa Globe-Democrat found the life of Maxwell worthy of an extensive report in the pages of the Globe-Democrat.

Under the heading of "Ability of New Mexico in 1845," the following story appeared in the pages of an 1895 issue of the paper: "Maxwell was a St. Louis boy. That part of the city where he lived was known as Vido Pocha 'Empty Pocket' when he left it for a life on the plains. Colonel Bergman, the warden of the New Mexico penitentiary, himself a splendid specimen of manhood with the manners and speech of a cultured gentleman, knew Maxwell more intimately, probably than any one living. It is 28 years since Colonel Bergman became a resident of New Mexico, and at that time Maxwell was a man of far-reaching influence in this region."

"He must have come out here," said Colonel Bergman, "as early as the twenties. For a long time he was the companion of Kit Carson. Together they hunted and trapped all through these mountains. And the information they had gathered in their years of wandering subsequently made John G. Fremont famous as the Pathfinder. The most notable period of Maxwell's career, however, came when he married the daughter of Don Carlos Beaubien and settled down."

Enclosing a Patio? 'Dishing-In' Effective Way To Insulate Floor Areas

Using a sharp knife, workman cuts a flange of vapor barrier at end of batt. This flange is stapled to inside of sill.

When a patio or terrace is being converted into a year-round room, builders often lay floor joists over a vapor barrier that has been spread over the concrete or stone surface.

Mineral wool batts or blankets then are installed between the joists, providing a warm, comfortable floor.

An effective way to install mineral wool in this type of construction is called "dishing-in." The vapor barrier flange of the batt or blanket is stapled to the inside of the joist rather than to its top.

This keeps the top of the joists exposed so that flooring can be tightly nailed to it. Floors should have at least a 3-inch thickness of mineral wool to help retain room heat and avoid the discomfort of cold floors.

Workman staples vapor barrier flange of mineral wool batt directly to side of joists in "dishing-in" method of installation.

To insure a snug insulation seal, ends of batt are fitted carefully against header joist at end of joist space.

Old House Plus Remodeling Solution to Low Cost Space

If you're looking for a house with lots of space at low cost, don't ignore the possibility of buying an older home and remodeling it.

If it is structurally sound, even a house that appears uninhabitable at first glance often can be modernized into an attractive, comfortable home at below the cost of a new house of comparable size.

One reason for this is modern building methods and techniques. A new roof of asphalt shingles, for example, provides maximum protection and good looks, yet can be applied over the old roof quickly and competently by a roofing contractor at a cash savings on labor.

Modern mineral wool insulation also helps save remodeling dollars, since it can be installed by the home owner in many areas of the home during the remodeling process. Installed in thick enough quantities, the mineral wool also can save as much as 40 percent annually on heating fuel.

Other cost-saving materials include window and door units of ponderosa pine. These cut labor costs since the units arrive from the factory assembled and ready to be nailed into the door or window opening.

Remodeling changed the crumbling old shack above into the handsome home below.

PONTIAC'S NEW APPROACH to styling is pronounced by the Bonneville convertible and the Ventura sport coupe, only two in a parade of 16 beautiful models introduced by Pontiac for 1954. Priced just above the Catalina series, the Ventura features special interior appointments, including seats trimmed entirely in dove-tone Moroccan. The Ventura is also available in a four-door hardtop Van model.
