WILL HARRISON'S Inside the Capital

FILIO SEDILLO HOLDS A HAMMER

Santa Fe, March 23—Filio Sedillo, powerful and independent figure in running for lieutenant governor with a hammer over the head of the administration.

THE TOP LEADER IN THE NORTH

Sedillo is Demo chairman of Valencia county, a former attorney general, and generally recognized as the top figure among the local Spanish-American Democratic leaders.

CAPITOL PEOPLE HELPING CROSS

Sedillo quit a $6,000-a-year job for the run for the lieutenant governor place which pays more $2,400 a year, according to time on the job. One of his opponents, Floyd Cross, quit a $9,000 post in the capitol.

TAOS TEACHERS ON THE BALLOT

Joe Otero, school superintendent at Taos who said in a public address some time back that school people should get in politics, is a man of his word.

BURSEY LEADER HINTS OF BOLT

Carlos Manzanares, the old wolf of Rio Arriba politics who is the northside chairman for Joe Bursery for Demo nomination for governor, told a Demo meeting at Chimayo Sunday that if Gov. John Burroughs is renominated he will leave to Republican Ed Mechem.

GOSSIPS LINKING PAUL WITH DEMOS

There is widespread opinion, without much substance, that Albuquerque District Attorney Paul Robinson is running against Ed Mechem for Republican nomination for governor with the backing of Democrats who want to avoid another clash with the three-time winner Mechem.

MEECH AND JUNIO LUNCH TOGETHER

Mechem, incidentally, seems to have made up with Junio Lopez, the Republican chairman of San Miguel who slashed the former governor in a statement at a Robinson luncheon in Santa Fe a few days before the primary filing date.

GRIST & GRITS
By OLIN MILLER
(Copyright, 1960)

In the world of today ignorance is bliss to a considerable extent, in that in many cases what a person doesn't know doesn't frighten him.

The Eskimos have always had peace and they will no doubt continue to have it unless they are foolish enough to discover oil or uranium in their territories.

"Florida Hen Lays Half-pound Egg"—Headline. She must have been frightened by a grapefruit.

"Whale's milk is twice as rich in vitamins as cow's milk," says a dietitian. Even so, it is much more convenient to milk a cow.

The British have a keen sense of humor; otherwise they couldn't detect the small amount of humor in a typical British joke.

You'll never secure a sheepskin in the School of Experience. Indeed, you will be lucky if you don't lose your own hide.

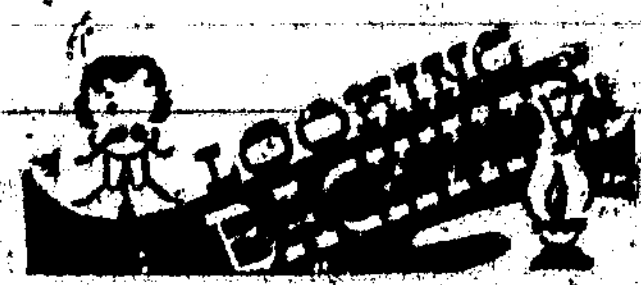

It's hard to keep your enemies from getting something on you and some of your friends from taking something off you.

"Sometimes young children's feet grow a shoe size larger in two months."—Newspaper filler. Even so, a child can easily wear gut shoes much faster than he outgrows them.

"Can We Avoid Inflation?"—Title of article in trade magazine. We can if a man up to his neck in water can avoid getting wet.

"Women could stand the rigors of outer space travel much better than men could," says a scientist. No doubt, as women frequently get up in the air over their men.

Probably several times more lives were saved than lost because of the recent severe winter weather.

Mrs. W. F. Coe's school at San Patricio won the county's attendance banner for February.

The Great Laurant, the "Miracle Man" was to display his tricks of magic at the Crystal Theatre.

High school pupils neither tardy or absent during March were Linza Branum, Hillary Cooper, Myrtle Corn, Roy Stimmel, Grace Taylor and Ella Rowland.

The News commented that "The last of the A. E. F. are home, yet it's not all over, over there."

Elmer Eaker and Pink Roberts returned from a visit to the great oil fields in Texas.

W. H. Marr and W. I. Brocken were supplying the demand for lumber from their recently purchased sawmill at Alto.

The equinoctial gales which prevailed during the past week were a benefit to neither man or beast. The winds caused cattle to shrink and took the moisture from the farmers' lands.

John B. Burch came over Wednesday from his home north of Capitan.

Lin Branum returned from a visit to oil centers in Texas.

In response to our call of March 11, Tranide Silva, Frank Barajas and Kennan Fuller were in Fort Stanton last week in the interest of registering voters for the May primaries and general election. Mr. Barajas is a candidate for sheriff and Mr. Fuller for commissioner from district 2. Aside from those who were registered here, the boys had quite a stack of new registrants from different precincts over this part of the county.

Pleased to meet you, gentlemen and glad to see you, Tranide.

Dr. R. W. Logan was seen wearing a chamrock on St. Patrick's Day.

Dixie Sparks had some very nice pictures in last week's Fort Stanton Review. She also showed us some fine caricatures, drawn by Jack Dalley. By the way, tune your radios in on the Radio station every morning at 7:30.

Fred A. Vigil kept it a secret from us that he again was a father to a baby girl, born to Mrs. Vigil at the Carrizozo hospital on March 12. We don't make cigars, Fred, so we'll settle for a sack of Bull Durham.

We gathered in Los Amigos Club last Saturday afternoon to give a farewell party to Paul C. Horta the custodian and Spanish bingo man, who served so well and was very much endeared to all the people of Fort Stanton. Being St. Joseph's Day and much revered by Spanish-speaking people, we had some music and sang and all present wished Armando many happy returns and remembrances of that holy day.

Josie Morales has gone to her home in Logan for a short visit. Take care of yourself, Josie, and don't ride elevators while you are away.

Deporrah! There are very few people of Irish descent in Fort Stanton, but several of the boys and girls were a little green in the spirit and observance of St. Patrick's Day. We didn't see any shamrocks, but if names denote anything, we have the McCrearys, Kellys, Addie Qualla, Pat and Patricia Henderson and a few employees from the old town of San Patricio named after that patron saint of old Ireland.

Senior Class play
highly appreciated

The Senior Class play of the Captain High School, "A Feudin' Over Yonder," was presented in the Fort Stanton dining room on March 15, at 5:30 p.m., to a large and appreciative audience.

The play was sponsored and brought here by the Captain Women's Club and was in charge and directed by Mrs. Emma Gene Hall.

We will not go into details, as Barbara McGrew had the cast and theme of the play in the Captain column in the Lincoln County News of March 11.

But we do wish to thank all those who had part in bringing such a nice hill-billy play to the people of Fort Stanton.

Mrs. Hall deserves a bouquet for a well-directed play and also the girls and boys who took their parts so well.

Dr. Jernigan introduced Mrs. Hall and Dietitian Pat Henderson made a few biting remarks.

The feud of long standing in the Ozarks, between the Fry and Popoff factions ended when Maw Fry was "hitched" to Pop Popoff.

The most stubborn of the Frys was Rosie Belle, who always had her double-barrel shotgun, even when she went to get "hitched" to Zeke Popoff. That girl was water shy that no one could coax her to take a bath, whether she needed it or not. It was unhealthy to bathe, she said, and she only exposed herself to water once a year, in the springtime.

The boys washed their feet only, never behind the ears.

Freddie-faced Emmy Fry was the neatest of the clan, and that isn't saying much!

and you will hear Dixie's voice. She tried to explain to us all the details, but we were busy with something else and it slipped our dumb mind.

Those having visitors from home last week were Jessie Ann Burnes, Mrs. Erminia Sandoval, Mrs. Campbell, Lloyd McDonald, Mary Lou Garcia, Virginia Sato, Mrs. Ortiz, Paula Martinez, Catalina Espino and Bertha Martinez.

School News—I am very glad to be back in school after being absent a few days. Welcome to our school, Raymond Thompson. Mrs. Lacy received a letter from Olympia Candelaria, who is doing fine in school and says "Hi" to everyone. In our craft class we are finishing our green earrings which are coming out real nice—"Little Joe." Reporter.

Technician Herbert Totten went to Carrizozo last Friday where he was joined by his wife Ruth and they left on a short vacation to Mexico.

Luis Trujillo left last Friday on an emergency call to his home in Santa Cruz, where his wife was seriously ill.

Taul O. Horta has been discharged from Fort Stanton and left the early part of this week for his home in Blanco. Armando was everybody's friend and will be greatly missed by the patients, employees and personnel alike. As much as we hated to part with him, we were glad he was well enough to go back home and join his family. Best of luck, Armando, from everyone.

Fred A. Vigil kept it a secret from us that he again was a father to a baby girl, born to Mrs. Vigil at the Carrizozo hospital on March 12. We don't make cigars, Fred, so we'll settle for a sack of Bull Durham.

is getting in that shade and the trees are beginning to bud. Elmer (Daddy Bee) Ham has already turned the water on the large lawn and shrubbery and it won't be long now for that beautiful and enchanting panorama in Ft. Stanton. Come over this summer and see for yourselves. You are always welcome!

John E. Wright left last week for two months' visit in Los Angeles and San Francisco, Calif.

"It costs the taxpayers almost three times as much per year to train an Air Force cadet as to train a Naval cadet."—Press report. It must be that teaching Air Force cadets how to write manuals is extremely expensive.

"LA PINATA" IN FORT STANTON

By J. S. C.

The girls from Fort 2 on the balcony came out with one of the ancient and traditional games of Mexico and Spanish-speaking people of Texas, New Mexico, Colorado, Arizona and California; on Saturday afternoon, March 12.

The game of "pinatas" is all towns in Mexico and the above-named states. The large patio where the pinata is struck, is beautifully decorated with streamers of crepe paper, fanillos and flowers.

The pinata is a large vase-shaped crock, dressed like a mannequin in all colors of the rainbow, and filled with goodies of every description, including a large bottle of essence for fragrance, when the pinata is broken by the lucky señorita or caballero. Then the children flock to gather the many and varied goodies scattered on the ground.

The participants, blindfolded, take their allotted swings at the pinata with a stick, while someone manipulates the cord either raising it or lowering it out of range of the blows. You must not get within range of the person with the blindfold, or you might get that stick across your neck.

Los Mariachis in charro costumes are there to furnish elegant music for the festival, which is generally followed by a big dance on the well-sprinkled patio and where the chivalrous charros, sweet in high spirits from the snow aroma of the pinata, the enchanting señoritas and the ever-present Jose Cuervo tequila, raised swirls of dust with their pointed boots, while dancing "La Jota," "La Mazurka" and "Jarabe Tapatio" ("Vengase con su negro, Chula!" "Come to daddy, beautiful!")

The older persons go there too, to serve as chaperones, enjoy the feast of hot tamales and "Frijoles" (Mexican punch) or "Heladas and Nieves" (ground ice and ice cream).

The girls had no pottery vase, but they made one out of two large paper bags, and it withstood more blows than a crock would have taken.

We all swung like most of the Fort Stanton baseball players of last summer and although the beautiful pinata of red, white and blue received many telling blows, it didn't budge and wouldn't let her cargo drop.

Joe Montana, who was a spectator from his car, was asked to come and try his prowess. Joe took a Babe Ruth like swing and we all partook of the goodies that were scattered about. We went into the club house and spent the remainder of the afternoon in a sociable manner, to the music of Demetrio Ferialta, Juan Lincoln and Manuel Esquivel.

Many pictures were taken of the event and participants. It was splendid, girls, and we thank you very much, and also Mr. Vigil and Rev. Brown for their assistance and participation.

Let's have some more nice games of this sort. We all enjoy them and pass away some very pleasant moments. Thanks also to Steve Uhart for managing the contest. He proved to be a master in the art, and if he were many years older, we might suspect he was a hangman of the past, or else a trapper in a "Punch and Judy" show—that's it! There's where Steve lost his precious voice as a ventriloquist and manipulator in the show!

TALKING BACK ALTO BRIEFS

By HOMER REID
Dear Rev. Reid: I guess it got too "hot" for you—this question of theology, didn't it? There is really no common ground on the subject of religion — and there never will be. You just "hit off" more than you could chew when you started answering questions about religion. Frankly, I thought you did a very good job of it—at least your answers made sense and that is a lot more than you can say about the "drive" that is preached in most churches today. Let's face it. There isn't any answer! Nobody knows, and your guess is as good as mine! — AN UNBELIEVER.

Dear Unbeliever: I want to thank you for your letter because it "made up my mind" for me in regard to a text for the sermon at Nogal. I'm to have the honor of preaching for Bill Lytle while he's in New York. By the time this is published I will have preached a sermon entitled "What is your life." Let me give you the salient points because I feel that it is apropos to your remarks:

You say you are an unbeliever, but I believe that you are a "reverent unbeliever"—in other words, an agnostic. One who says he doesn't know and so thinks he will reserve his opinion and not make up his mind is fooling himself. It is true that you can avoid making up your mind, but you cannot avoid making up your life!

We can hold our opinions in suspense but we cannot hold our living in suspense. We live one way or another. The decision between God and no God, between an aimless and a purposeful universe, is not forced by your opinion, but by your life. Bernard Shaw said: "What a man believes may be ascertained not from his creed, but from the assumptions on which he habitually acts. By no possibility which he habitually acts. Watch your own life. Forty years old, 50 years old, 60 years old, you will see however more clearly appear those underlying and directive assumptions on which a man habitually acts. He may never have said to himself that he had made up his mind. He may never have thought he had achieved a definite opinion; but he could not help making up his life. That was a forced issue!

We all believe something, whether we know it or not—and the longer we live the more evident it is just what we do believe—by how we live and act. If we should ask some folk whether they believe in God, the soul and immortality, they would say, "No, we do not." But they live as though they did. We all know people whose life is better than their creed. We all know folk whose life is worse than their creed. Many, in resounding creed and declaration, say that "Of course we believe in God"—in man as God's child, in immortality as man's goal, in the church as the body of Christ—but they don't act like it. What is their life?

To live as though this were a godless, purposeless universe and man's end is to be a coffin and an ash heap, that is hell on earth. To live as though God were the kind of being whom Christ revealed, as though man, God's child, had boundless possibilities worth working for, as though in the end: "All we have willed or hoped or dreamed of good shall exist. Not its semblance, but itself." That is heaven on earth. You make up your life—no way or the other—even if you never can make up your mind! — Sincerely, Homer Reid.

Dear Rev. Reid: Quite often in my reading I run across the phrase Religious Science. I never thought of religion as a science but now as an emotion. Just what is meant by this statement? I've asked a lot of different people about this and no one has a satisfactory answer. Science, to me, seems in personal and not something that could be applied to my idea of what God is. In your column last week you brought this matter of science up and so I felt I could ask—GEORGE ADAMSON.

The Robert Neals were up from El Paso and enjoyed the week end at their Eagle Creek home.

The Sidney Preston family visited his mother, Mrs. J. R. Richards in Dora, N. M., the past week end.

Mrs. Leck Cowden of Leek's Lanes came by for a chat last Friday.

Mrs. Maud Clark of Capitan and Mrs. Mervin Smoot of Carrizozo enjoyed the warm sunny day in the mountains on Sunday.

The Bell family of the El Alto courts in Ruidoso were in this vicinity on Sunday.

Mrs. Henry Peebles of Alamogordo visited around the community for a few days last week. While she was with the Charlie Peebles they went to Roswell for a couple of days to see the Bill Smiths. One night she stayed with the Gil Peters and went to Nogal for a visit on Friday before returning home. The Lindamoods also enjoyed a visit with her when she stopped in one day.

Wanda Mann of Roswell and Mrs. Ed Davidson of Ruidoso came in to see me on Tuesday of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hoyer and Mrs. T. E. Kelley of Carrizozo enjoyed a ride up to Eagle Creek Lodge on Sunday, stopping by to see the George Dingwalls and F. B. Lindamoods on their way home.

Dear George: This may help, and it may not. Science operates under law. For instance, the law of gravity is a law. It can be depended upon. If a man were to walk off a cliff and break his leg he'd demonstrate that law. It is impersonal, immutable and immediate. We wouldn't cry in regard to this man: "What a terrible law. It broke his leg!" We'd probably say: "Why didn't he watch where he was going?"

Sin is breaking the spiritual laws—it is not watching where we are going spiritually. The results are perhaps slower in manifesting themselves but they are just as inexorable as any physical law — and more far-reaching in their effect on us.

"Religious Science" is the study of spiritual laws. It is a fascinating and wonderful study. Our old concepts of God are inadequate for this modern age and so Religious Science restates these eternal truths in contemporary terms. Man has always thought of God in terms of the dominant element of the generation. In our forefathers' days the King was the dominant element in life—and therefore God was thought of as a "King" on high. Today the dominant element in our life is the atom, the nuclear power, etc. Many people think of God in terms of power and law and intelligence—not so much as a "father," but as a force.

This should not detract from the personal, loving "father" concept of Christ. Science serves to reveal the finesty and omnipresence of God but it should not detract one iota from that intimate, vital, personal religion—the total reaction of a personality to the whole meaning of life—but rather, contribute to our further realization that God is in back of all of His purpose, not ours, and it is His fulfilled and, in fact, is already fulfilled. To realize this and recognize the Christ consciousness within us is "religious science."—H. R.

Rev. Abney to remain at Church of Nazarene

Rev. Abney of the Church of the Nazarene says a guest preacher is expected before long for a revival. More information will be given as the time draws nearer. The church board is happy to announce that Rev. Abney has accepted the call to remain at Capitan. Rev. Abney has been preaching some splendid sermons, but there are a number of vacant seats in the church. "Bench warmers" will find a hearty welcome.

The N. Y. P. S. are few in numbers but they are a determined group and have been laying some plans lately for "attendance therapy."

Some improvements have been made in the appearance of the church "window-wise." Have you noticed?

News Notes from Along the Bonito

By LOUISE RUNNINS

Ladies watch shearing

Didja ever watch 'em shee sheep th' big way? Real interesting, Saturday, Lulu Rumpels, Eula Corlier, Wills Morris, Jessie Morgan, her sister Dolly and Benny, Louise and Mary Lou Runnins went to the Block Ranch to watch. About sixteen men run the shearing machine and clip the wool in a hurry. They get 17 cents a sheep and average about a hundred sheep each per day.

There are boys who tie the wool in bundles and toss it to a platform where a couple of men put it in huge wool sacks and pack it away; then sew up the sacks, ready for market.

Each bundle of wool from a sheep averages 10 or 11 pounds.

Helping with the sheep were the Montoya boys—Claudio, Jimmie, Fernando and David; the Scellio boys—Joe, Paul, Eloy, Eddie and Freddie. Carlton Britton had the sheeps and couldn't help this year. Steve Howell and Robert Runnins helped, and so did Mr. Bruton, Mr. and Mrs. Britton and Adonio Montoya.

Mrs. Britton made coffee for the ladies, which ended a perfect day, along with seeing a herd of fourteen deer just before we turned off the Capitan road to head up the Bonito Canyon and home.

The robins say Spring is here—they're getting ready for an early crop of cherries at farmer Frank English's and Bryan Casler's. (By the way, we had a two-inch snow this 17th.)

Mr. and Mrs. Bob McProud and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Arnett from Orogradu were sight-seeing at Bonito Dam and went on to Nogal lake to fish. There were around a hundred fishermen at the lake while they were there, but few were catching fish (maybe they did 'fore they left.) The McProuds and Arnetts went on to the Rul-

TV cable system outlined to C. of C.

The Capitan Chamber of Commerce met Monday, March 21, with a good attendance. Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Battles were guests.

Mr. Battles explained the TV cable system they hope to install in Capitan. It would bring good, clean entertainment and would be a fine thing for our city.

Signs of Spring

Yard improvement work has been noticed at the homes of Ara Dolinar, Richard Flores, Cab Callaway, Johnny Amarantino, Ray Provine, Virgil Wallace, Jack Shaw and at the Rensch residence. A tractor did lots of work on the Fuchs yard also. Main street has been repaved.

An old lumber house on Fourth street near the Vigils has been torn down. The roof of the Utterback house has been repaired and painted also the roof painted on the Rensch home.

All these home improvements shows that Spring is really here.

Mr. and Mrs. Dyer Forbus are the proud owners of a 1957 Oldsmobile four-door, in a light green, purchased in Roswell last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Howard came home last week and after several weeks in Tularosa during the cold winter months.

Mr. and Mrs. John Werner and two daughters of Artesia, visited their parents, Travis Werner, and the Edgar Phillips.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Cummings returned last Sunday afternoon from California where they had a happy two weeks with their children, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Cummings and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Cummings and family. They returned with a good tan and happy vacation memories.

Mrs. Margaret Anderson of California arrived last week to be with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Murphy. Mr. Murphy is in the Carrizosa hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Snow enjoyed dinner last Sunday at the ranch home of her sister, Lorena (Mr. and Mrs. Champ Ferguson.) W. O. Jenkins checked in at the Ruldoke hospital Monday at noon and surgery was performed for a hernia at 5 p.m. If all goes well, he will be home after a few days in the hospital.
