FIRST GRAD ARRIVES

First graduate to arrive in Carrizozo for the annual activities this week end was Mrs. Helen (Sterling) Stewart of Mesquite Hills. She came by bus from Bakersfield, Calif. She is a guest at the El Cibola Hotel.

More answers come from graduates in response to call for school reunion:

"I very much regret to tell you that neither Elvira or I can come to the reunion this week end. I can't tear away from the office at this particular time. Surely wish I could. Thank you for asking me to give the piano solo. Sorry won't be there to do it. Have a wonderful time. Love, Ruth (Brickley) Bishop, Lordsburg, N. M."

"I am looking forward to the reunion, too. As for me playing the piano, I don't even have my piano at home. I gave it to my son and my music is long gone. I just don't have any time to practice as I keep my two and sometimes four small granddaughters while their parents work and I'm on the run all day long. I hate to say "no," for I realize the big job you have and if I had my piano I'd make a try at it. Two done little playing since I quit playing for church here. I'm trying to get my mother to go with us to visit some of her friends. We plan to get there some time Friday, the 24th, so until then—I can hardly wait. Love, Ina Hoopengartner, 1215 North 28th place, Phoenix, Ariz."

"Your very nice letter has been received and must say I appreciate Clara's thoughtfulness and am sorry that it will be impossible for me to definitely say I could be there Saturday to give the Memorial. As you know, June is our very busiest month as the cantaloupes are moving fast. I cannot get away from the railroad and not be subject to call. I hope to be able to be there for the dinner but will have to wait and see. I am sorry I cannot do the Memorial and you will please explain to Clara and the others. I know you have a good program lined up and again say that I am sorry I have been unable to attend any of the meetings. Clara and Jack Crenshaw are two in our family. Best wishes, Louis (Alatus)—class of 1916—P. O. Box 66, Canutillo, Texas."

"I am planning on seeing all you people on June 25th. Will you make reservations for one night for me (June 25th). Also am sending $1 for registration as it is not possible for me to be there on the 24th. Looking forward to seeing you, and thanks.—Ruby (Puroella) Brown, 2310 Valley Rd. SW, Albuquerque, N. M."

"Thank you so much for your nice letter, telling me about the program for the homecoming and asking me to sing on your program Saturday afternoon. Nothing would give me more pleasure than to be there and see so many former classmates, many of whom I have not seen since school days. Unfortunately, I will not be able to take my vacation until the middle of July. Only wish I had known about the reunion the first of the year when vacations were arranged. I am hoping the reunion will become an annual affair and that next year I can be among those present. Please give my best wishes to everyone and with every good wish for success. So long as if everyone will have a grand time and I will be with you in spirit anyway.—Sincerely, Ula Edmiston, Dallas, Texas."

(Frances (Charles) Downing, former alumni of Carrizozo, graduating in the class of 1934, had planned to attend the homecoming, but she is in Southwestern General Hospital recovering from major surgery on Friday, June 17. Frances is very unhappy over the fact that she will not be able to attend the reunion. All her classmates and Carrizozo wish her a speedy recovery. Her doctors say she will (Continued on back page)

And Carrizozo Outlook

(Volume 46, Number 44, Carrizozo News, Volume 48)

CARRIZOZO, NEW MEXICO, FRIDAY, JUNE 24, 1948

(Outlook, Volume 55, No. 8)

State GOP delegates endorse Nixon

At the State Republican convention in Las Vegas last Friday, Willis Lovelace, prominent rancher of Corona, was elected as a delegate to the National GOP convention in Chicago.

Lovelace was further honored at the state convention by being chosen to serve on the committee which wrote the platform and resolutions adopted by the State Republican party for 1950, declared by the delegates to be "one of the best ever formulated and adopted by the Republican Party."

The convention was held in the auditorium on the Highlands University campus. F. P. Llewellyn, state chairman, presided at the convention.

Vice-president Richard Nixon received an overwhelming preference vote from the convention, as 90 to 95% of more than 1100 delegates stood up for Nixon.

Edwin L. Mechem, nominee for fourth term as governor, told the convention "There are many who believe that the present administration is not representative of the Democratic party and they are going to give us a great deal of assistance. The main thing that we have to stand for is a way of life and a system of government."

The Lincoln county delegates to the state convention also cast votes to elect a national committeeman and national committeewoman four presidential electors and 14 delegates and 14 alternates to the national convention in Chicago.

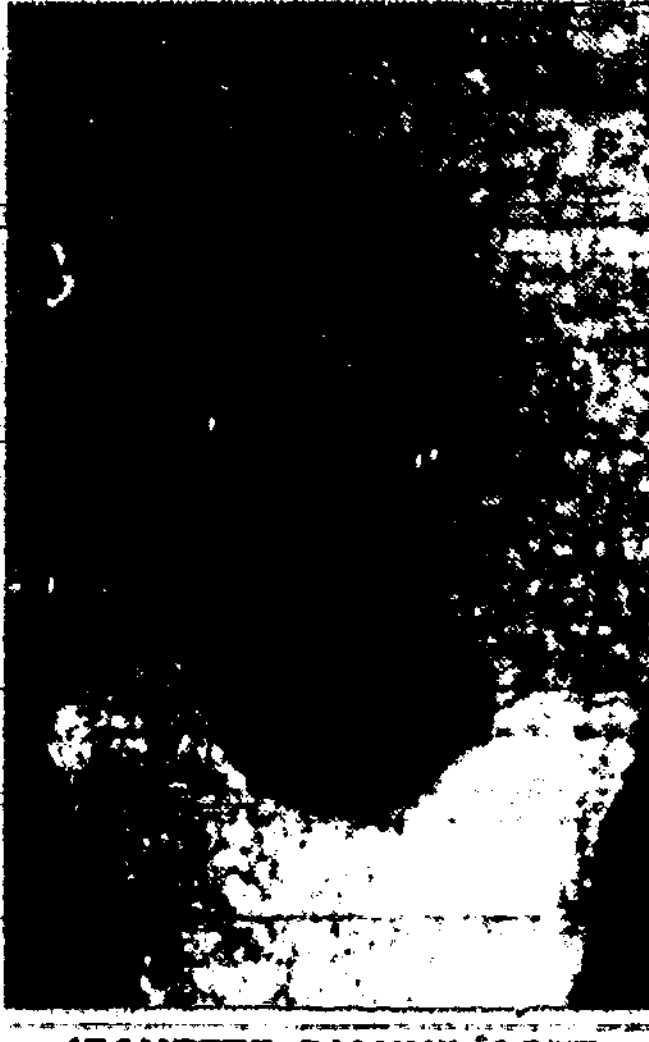

County Republicans attending the Las Vegas convention were Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Knox, Mrs. Alice Halladay, Angelina Gonzales, Albert Richardson, G. W. Bradley, Joe R. Sicec, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Shrecongost, Mrs. Zoe S. Price, Scott Campbell, George Simeros, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Vigil and Mr. and Mrs. Willis Lovelace.

Club officers installed after picnic supper

J. T. Clegg, Carrizozo superintendent of schools, was installed president of the Carrizozo Lions Club last Thursday evening.
The installation followed an outdoor picnic supper by the Lions club members, their wives and guests.

Other officers installed by Paul Baker were L. Z. Manire, secretary-treasurer and Frank C. Wagner, third vice president.
Other officers, unable to attend that night, will be installed at the next club meeting. Arrel Pacey is the out-going president.

U. S. NAVY "WAVE" ENLISTMENT

JEANETTE DIANNE GOTT
Miss Jeanette Dianne Gott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Warren Gott, Box 31, Carrizozo, has been accepted for the U. S. Navy's WAVES by the Clovis, N. M., Navy recruiting officer.

Miss Gott is now at the Navy's women's recruit training center at Bainbridge, Md. Upon completion of her training Miss Gott will spend a 14-day leave at home with her mother and father.
She will then attend one of the U. S. Navy's trade schools to prepare her for the duties she will perform while "serving with the finest"—America's first line of defense—the United States Navy.

Killer bear hunted down near Corona

CORONA—A large black bear weighing around 250 pounds was killed last week in the Gallinas Mountains west of Corona.
The bear had been in the area for the past four years, having been turned loose in the Gallinas by the Game Department.

The bear, recently killed six grown sheep on the John Books and John Erramouse ranches.
George Hanson of the Game and Fish Department received permission to kill the bear and Marvin Jones of Capitan brought his dogs over for the chase.

For four days around fifteen men hunted the bear, which was finally cornered two miles from the Erramouse ranch.
There is to be a work day Saturday June 25, at the Fairgrounds in Capitan to get ready for the three-day rodeo, July 2, 3 and 4.

At the Smokey Museum Dedication

A group of Capitan citizens and Forest Service personnel taken at the dedication of the museum, soon after start of construction.

building a log cabin?"
Most of us knew little or nothing about their construction. However, there was one person in town who knew exactly how to build such a cabin—Charlie Pepper—for he had laid the logs for many log cabins while working for the U. S. Forest Service.

Although some of the log cabins he built are still standing, this type of construction is not used much today. When Mr. Pepper was told the plans for the museum, he estimated the number of pine logs needed, and volunteered to build the cabin.

Charles Pepper came to New Mexico as a young man from Plainview, Texas. He started to work for the Department of Agriculture in 1907. His first job was as cook for R. C. Lindquist who was surveying forest boundary lines.

He was appointed a forest guard and was ranger at the Tucson Ranger Station in 1908. He built the stations at Tucson Mountain, at Baca and at Nogal Mesa.

In 1912 he married Ethel Kemp, one of the girls whose name was found in the list of students attending grade school in Capitan in 1901 when the cornerstone was laid.

The Peppers lived in Kansas and Texas from 1914 to 1919, where Charlie worked for construction companies, first building grain elevators.
When Capitan first decided to build a log cabin museum to house the story of Smokey the Bear we wondered, "How do you go about" (Continued on back page)

Hot hisses of 'Monster of Mal Pais' cause conversational heat wave

The rattlesnake episode has been the most discussed topic in the county this week since the alleged shooting recently of an 18-foot diamondback rattlesnake near the Mal Pais at Carrizozo.

The conversation even took the minds of the people off the heat wave that has settled down over New Mexico.

Reptile experts both in El Paso and Albuquerque refuse to go along with the dimensions.
A rattlesnake of the size reported, simply could not be, they say and further state that the skin alleged to have come from the diamondback was, in fact, that of a South American boa constrictor or python.

Carrizozo residents, in the main, were skeptical from the first, adopting a "show me" attitude. They wanted to see other parts of the snake, such as the head, rattles or its body.

Lewis Farris, Carrizozo realtor, who spent years hunting and trapping in Texas and New Mexico, scoffed at the idea of a rattlesnake ever attaining anywhere near the size of the one claimed killed.

Discarded python skin could be just coincidence

Editor, News:
I didn't see anything in your paper about the 18-foot plus rattlesnake killed near the Mal Pais. You must be slipping.
Most of the other papers carried the interesting story and I enjoyed it a lot and I believe it because our part of the country has always been noted for having bigger and better things than anywhere else in the world. It was good advertisement for us and besides things have been a little dull lately and we needed a live topic for conversation.

J. S.—Say, you know, though when I read about the large rattler for some reason I made me think of an Army Officer who killed a large python over in Africa ten or 12 years ago and had the snake mounted. Heard he finally got tired of having the snake around the house and threw it in the junkyard over near Rudisco.

Seems like it was about the same size and with about the same markings as this big rattler. Just a coincidence, I guess.
JUAN DOMINGO.

Of many incidents interviewed, the "large ones" they could remember having seen or killed, were around 7 feet long. One old-timer said he saw a 12-foot one ago, killed on the I-Bar-X Ranch.

There was one exception—Richard Rutherford of Clovis, who came to Carrizozo looking for the location of the reported "kill." He said he believed that it was possible for a rattlesnake to grow to 18 feet in length and he was sure that somewhere in the vicinity of the first snake there he would find its mate.

"That snake would be worth $2,500 to me alive," he said "and I'm ready to pay cash for it. If I had a snake like that I could travel around the world twice and it wouldn't cost me a cent." He asked anyone who finds the mate of the 18-footer to call him collect at Clovis—Porter 2-1317.

Others have wondered at the business capacity of the two men who said they shot the monster snake with "a head the size of a steering wheel; rattles the size of baseballs"—then failed to bring back any part of it except the skin.

Snake story made headlines last week

Ruidoso, N. M. (AP)—Two Lincoln County men said Saturday they killed a diamondback rattlesnake that was more than 18 feet long.
Mike Gonzales, 46, a handyman, and Juan Baca, 45, who does ranch work, told their story of the huge snake to Vic Lamb, Ruidoso newspaperman. They produced the dried skin—10 feet 7 inches without the head.

It happened 10 days ago in the badlands of North Lincoln County near Carrizozo. The pair said they had not much time to do it because "we still have bad dreams about that snake."

They were scouting for a place to pen up some burros when Gonzales said he saw "the ground moving" in a nearby dry lake bed.

Upon approaching, Gonzales saw the snake and said the motion was made by its breathing.
"I could feel its breath when he hissed... the tongue was as long as a yardstick and the head as big as a steering wheel," he told Lamb.

Baca fired four times with his 7 millimeter rifle but missed.

That Dragon from outer space

By J. S. C.

When I read in Sunday's El Paso Times about that monster rattlesnake killed north of Carrizozo by Mike Gonzales and Juan Baca, measuring 18 feet in length, with a head the size of a steering wheel, and with fangs as large as a man's finger and rattles like baseballs, I could not help but recall that there were moonshiners at the head of the Mal Pais during the prohibition era. When tipped off that there were moonshiners in their vicinity, they would conceal their wares in the impenetrable recesses of the lava beds.

One night they hurriedly buried two kegs of moonshine and when they went to look for them the next day they could not locate the hiding place and gave up their precious hoard for lost. Since then many have sought the treasure, but like the lost gold mine in the Superstition Mountains, none had been able to find it.

Thirty years ago a keg of that moonshine was as powerful as a ton of TNT. Today it is fully aged and no doubt full of radiation in addition. A few drags would make an earthworm look like a Monster From Outer Space.

I recall a goat herder by the name of Cieto who worked for Jim Greer in the Mal Pais years ago. He made a large trade of goat skins. He connected his own flourwater out of wild herbs and a cactus plant resembling the marijuana plant of Old Mexico.

When Cieto had filled his fill of that potion, he abandoned his flock of goats and trekked into Carrizozo, barefooted and bareheaded, with his long jet-black tresses, beard and mustache flowing in the hot breeze. He swore that he was being followed by black elephants in the Mal Pais.

"When Jim went to look for his herder, he found only the hat and sandals in a crevice of the lava beds. He brought them into the Outlook office in Carrizozo and the late editor, A. L. Burke, wrote a hair-raising story entitled "The Wild Man of the Mal Pais." After the paper came out someone suggested the print shop should be given a thorough fumigation.

The unfortunate Cieto was never the same after that and while herding sheep a few years later, with a companion, he went berserk and killed his partner with an axe while the latter slept. He was sent to prison in Santa Fe, where he died after being confined only a short time.

We have seen two huge rattlers, but not to compare with this one. One was killed by the late J. B. French on his ranch at Monte Prieto. The snake was only four feet long, but its back was flat and it looked more like a big bass than a snake. The other was shot by Mrs. Wm. Gallacher and they had it stuffed in their ranch home at Indian Tank.

But this was back before the Second World War, missile ranges, jet planes and atomic radiation. Today the face of nature has been changed, but we strongly suspect that these fellows became weary of trading along with their burros in this hot area and after shooting them down they cut strips of hide and carried them clear up to Ruidoso to narrate their story.

If their story is proven true, we don't even want to cross that Mal Pais again, let alone go near it. Maybe Cieto was right. But if we are right, that story will run a close second to the Fast Bull yarn that won first place in the Fort Stanton contest.

Spring Ranch scene of Farm Bureau picnic

Members and guests of the Hon-do local Farm Bureau gathered in a grove on the Spring Ranch Sunday afternoon for a Father's Day picnic. Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Shrecongost box elder trees provided shade and some protection from a brief light shower that fell late in the afternoon.

Games and prizes were provided for all ages. Following the picnic supper many remained to sing around the campfire until 9 o'clock.

Raymond F. Guebara

Raymond Felix Guebara died June 12 in the Providence Hospital in El Paso. Burial was at San Elizario, Texas.
He was born April 16, 1930, and is survived by his widow, Virginia Guebara, a son Daniel Guebara, his mother, Josefa B. Lopez and by four sisters and four brothers.

Plaintiffs withdraw paving injunction

By stipulation of both parties in the paving injunction suit against the town of Carrizozo has been dismissed.

The request for a permanent injunction to stop the town from proceeding to form a paving district was instituted last fall by a number of property owners.

The stipulation agreed upon by attorneys for both parties read: "It is stipulated by and between the undersigned counsel for the respective parties that the complaint in this cause may be dismissed with prejudice." Date of the stipulation was June 17. The stipulation was signed by Harvey Dowd & Hinkle and Schauer & Stiff, attorneys for the plaintiffs and by H. Elfred Jones and E. Forrest Sanders, attorneys for the town.

On June 21 an order was signed by District Judge George T. Harris ordering the cause to be dismissed with prejudice.

"Without prejudice" means, in effect that further legal action in this matter by the plaintiffs would not be valid.

The next move in the paving matter rests with the town board. The normal course would be to issue a call for bids on the paving. It would then be up to the board to accept or reject any or all bids.

CORRECTION

The estimated cost of laying a strip of 18-foot paving on Eighth st., should have been 80 cents a running foot instead of 80 cents a square foot, as was printed in the News.

Town ball team to play Torreon here Sunday

The Carrizozo town baseball team continued its winning streak Sunday by taking the measure of Torreon, 15 to 5 in a Sunday afternoon game at Torreon.

Lefty Whitaker hit a grand slam homer for the locals in the first inning.
Torreon comes to Carrizozo for a game this Sunday at 2 p.m.
Santa Rosa plays Willard this Sunday at Willard in the other game in the four-team league.

"Carrizozo has a real heads up ball team this year," Manager Tony Deltran says and he urges local fans to come out Sunday and see the team that he says is the best one Carrizozo has had in a number of years.

Little League game went extra innings

In the Carrizozo Little League play Tuesday, Team No. 1 lost to Team No. 3 by a score of 5 to 4. Team No. 2 defeated Team No. 4 in extra innings, 8 to 6.

Standings of the Teams

Team	Won	Lost
Team No. 3	2	0
Team No. 1	0	2
Team No. 4	0	2

Recreation Director Darrel Bode says he would like to see more people attending the Little League games on Tuesday nights, beginning at 7 p.m.

The new entrance road to the ball diamond has been completed and makes it much easier to get to the field.

A girls' softball team has been formed and arrangements are being made for a game with Ruidoso.

BURROUGHS FILLS ELECTIVE OFFICES

Santa Fe, June 22—Gov. John Burroughs has made more appointments to elective positions than any other governor and he named them all in his first year in office.

The sizeable group of appointees gives him a crew of supporters this year that owes him special loyalty and which undoubtedly contributed to the governor's successful primary run.

Two of the Burroughs' appointees opposed him in the primary of 1938, Tom Montoya of Santa Fe who was appointed district judge, and David Chavez of Santa Fe who was appointed to the supreme court.

MOISE AND ZINN TO COURT POSTS

Also named to the supreme court by the governor was Edwin Moise of Albuquerque, and appointed to the district court in Gallup was Frank Zinn of Santa Fe who had been elected attorney general.

Hilton Dilezon of Silver City was appointed by the governor to the AG post vacated by Zinn.

G. Y. Falls of Albuquerque was appointed to the corporation commission in a place resigned by Jim Lamb.

The governor appointed Raymond Kethley of (ugh) Truth or Consequences, as district attorney succeeding E. M. Barber, and Louis DePaull as DA in Gallup, filling a newly created position.

APPOINTED TEN TO SCHOOL BOARD

The governor named ten to the elective positions on the new state board of education.

The governor's score in four appointments to elective state offices and fourteen to elective district offices, the education board members being chosen one from each judicial district.

No other governor has named so many to elective places and the Burroughs record is made the more significant by the circumstance of making all the appointments in advance of his re-election run.

FOUR APPOINTMENTS TO HIGHWAY BOARD

The governor had more than the usual share of appointments to important state appointive places. By the circumstance of the 1937 Democratic caucus refusing to confirm the highway appointments of Republican Gov. Ed Mechem the present governor was privileged to name four of the five-member board.

For the first time in a decade the governor replaced all three public service commissioners.
And for the first time in nearly three decades the entire 5-member game commission was replaced.

An all-time first for the governor was in the removal and replacement of Joe Grant from the El Rito board of regents without complying with the 1930 constitutional provision which curbed regents for the terms of their appointments.

A STRONG FORCE FOR THE ELECTION

The governor's appointees made up an important force in his drive for re-election, a drive that is looking more serious every day.

Common opinion among political observers is that the Democratic governor has the same chance of carrying the state as does the Democratic presidential candidate.

The animal finally got up on three legs, futilely tried to climb a utility pole, then climbed through a fence and disappeared into the hills.

Robertson, star of the current television series, Wells Fargo, has always been a welcome and popular visitor at the Downs. Bad Luck kept his fine two-year-old hopeful from running in last year's All-American, but this year he seems to have one of the finest two-year-olds in the nation.

(From the files of the Carrizozo News, June 25, 1920.)

The newly-appointed U. S. Commissioner, Grace Jones, had a busy week, in connection with the following applications for final proof on their homesteads: Arthur M. Fleming, Ancho; John H. Hoffman, Carrizozo; A. J. Jenkins, Corona; Carl R. Wood, Corona; W. S. Armstrong, Carrizozo; S. P. Collier, White Oaks and Fred B. McCarty, Ancho.

Jenkins & Crabtree made their first shipment of silver ore from the Bonito to the smelter in El Paso.

The 1920 census gave Detroit the rating of the fourth largest U. S. city, with a population of 993,729.

Henry Lutz reported he had contracted for the sale of his wool clip (around 90,000 lbs.) at a figure of 50¢ per lb.

Sherrwood Corn sold his ranch west of the Gallinas Mountains to Jennie Jenkins for a reported price of around $10,000.

Ed Hoover, in from Ocoro, said he believed that community would become one of the greatest oil belts in the west.

Chas. U. Babbs, pharmacist at Fort Stanton, returned with his bride from Kansas.

W. W. McLean bought the old Huggar place on the Bonito.

Messrs Vincent and Patchen were camped at Wahlmuth Canyon getting out poles from the burned timber tract at the head of the South Fork for the Lincoln County Power & Light Company.

League World Series by beating the Pennsylvania State champions and the San Francisco, California, champions of 1937.

The Tucuman All-Stars played a big part when, after defeating every contending team in New Mexico, they went to Phoenix and beat Arizona and Utah. Next, they went to San Francisco for the finals and were eliminated from going to the Little World Series in 1937.

Their star pitcher, Little Davey Martinez, was our neighbor in Ruidoso and he liked to talk with us about baseball. He is at present a pitcher in the Babe Ruth League in Tucuman.

The Monterey age, Mackay, was offered a contract in the major leagues, but being only 15 at the time, the offer was tabled until he reached the age of 18.

When asked if he thought he could make it in the big leagues, his answer was "The distance from the pitcher's mound to home plate is the same everywhere."

A large cavalcade of Fort Stanton fans accompanied Manager John Little and his Fort Stanton Ponies to Carrizozo last Thursday evening for a night game with the Carrizozo Magpies.

THE CIVIL WAR IN NEW MEXICO
PART VII

"The commanding officer, thru the company commanders, advised them to wait a few days, that he expected to hear first from the commanding officer at Fort Union, and that thereafter their desire to march up the country should be gratified.

"Thus time passed on until the 31st of March, 1862, when the greater part of the troops, in charge of General Canby himself, with Colonel Roberts, as commander of Fort Craig left behind, commenced their march up the Rio Grande.

"On the 31st day March, 1862, after the companies who received marching orders had left all their company property and such other private property of their men as was over and above the weight allowed to each, on account of scarcity of transportation, in a store house set apart for that purpose, of which, by the way, none ever saw anything more thereafter—General Canby took command of the majority of the regular infantry and cavalry stationed at Fort Craig, and marched up the country along the Rio Grande Valley.

"Besides the U. S. Infantry and cavalry, there went along also Captain Grayton's Company of scouts, of which Johnny Longmire, late of Fort Union, and father-in-law of Theodore Rutenbeck, of Las Vegas, was one of the commissioned officers; Captain Santiago L. Hubbell's Company 5, 5th New Mexico Mounted Volunteers, of which your correspondent was a bugler at that time, and several other Volunteer Infantry companies, in charge of Captains Eaton, Senn, etc., of Santa Fe.

"The whole column together with the artillery, composed of the two 24 pounders which Captain Brotherton of Company K, 5th Infantry, had saved from the battle of Val Verde, numbered about 1,000 men. The road being quite heavy for the field pieces and transportation wagons, full to the brim, the marches through the sandy bottoms of the Rio Grande were short and many.

"Nothing of any importance happened until the column got in sight of Socorro. Doc Strochan, formerly and thereafter a resident of Albuquerque, joined the command with important dispatches from the commanding officer of the northern district. In the meadows, below Socorro, the column formed a hollow square and the dispatch was read aloud.

"It notified the General commanding that General Sibley's column had a fight with the federal

Miss Martha McKnight and Dee Proctor exchange wedding vows in Ruidoso

Miss Martha McKnight and William Dee Proctor were married in an impressive ceremony at the First Presbyterian Church in Ruidoso at 7 p.m. Friday, June 17, with the Rev. Bill Lytle officiating. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur McKnight of Hondo and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Proctor of Corona.

The altar was banked with baskets of white and pink gladioli. The bridal aisle was decorated with white and pink carnations and white satin ribbons.

Miss Kathy Holloway played traditional music at the organ and accompanied the soloist, Miss Barbara Rhodes, who sang "The Lord's Prayer and You Will Never Walk Alone."

Given away by her father, the bride wore a long gown of white organza and Chantilly lace. The circlet neckline banded with organza enhanced the short-sleeved bodice. The princess silhouette, with lace applique accenting the empire bodice, flared into a full skirt of organza encrusted with appliques of Chantilly lace adorned with self bows down the back of the chapel length train.

The bride's fingertip veil of Illutrons of the northern district, in which the Texans lost their whole train of supplies, and considered themselves routed so badly that they commenced their retreat toward Texas. The whole federal column, from the commanding officer down to the lowest private in the rear rank, gave three rousing cheers.

"The Texans in charge of the hospital at Socorro, seeing the column in line and hearing the cheers, perhaps through General Canby intended to storm the town, and quickly hoisted the hospital flag and sent a delegation to advise him that but a few Confederate troops were in town, as guard and nurses of the sick and disabled Texans.

"After hearing the details of the fight, the men of the southern district kept on advancing, taking every little while, a straggling Texan or their elders and abettors in the towns along the road as prisoners of war, and dragging their train slowly through the deep sand.

"Just before coming to the sandhills, some of the Rifleman got a little too much whiskey in their heads. One of them was ordered to be tied behind the wagon. As a rule he, of course, cursed everybody around him and after a while the sergeant of the guard, seeing that the man was too full to stand on his feet, took compassion and told him that if he would behave himself he would untie his hands and allow him to lay down in the feed trough. He consented, but no sooner did he feel his limbs free, than he jumped, jerked out the other's pistol and in return for his friendship, shot the non-commissioned officer of the guard in the breast."

alon was attached to a Juliet crown of seed pearls. She carried on her Rainbow Bells a cascade bouquet of stephanotis, pink feathery carnations styled with a white orchid and multiple ribbons tied in love-knots descending from the bouquet.

For good luck, the bride wore a three-pence coin in her shoe. The coin was given to her by her uncle, Corkey Kimbell, while he served with the First Marine Division during World War II. For something old and borrowed she wore a gold ring loaned by a dear friend, Mrs. Alle Guest. For something blue, she wore the traditional garter, given her by her roommate at New Mexico State University—Virginia Kennedy. Something new, her shoes.

The maid of honor, Miss Peggy Poling, wore a pale pink silk organza dress fashioned after the bride's dress, with pink lace hat and gloves and pink pearlized shoes. She carried a cascading bouquet of pink feathered carnations.

The best man, lifelong schoolmate and ranch neighbor of the bridegroom, was Bill Hays of Roswell.

The mother of the bride wore a beige lace sheath dress with white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

The groom's mother wore a blue voile with lace inserts, white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

The reception was held in the church annex where the bride's table was covered with sheer imported linen cutwork cloth over pink. The table was centered with a pink anniversary candle decorated with magnolia blossoms, encircled with pink tufts of tulle and orange blossoms. The wedding cake, designed by the bride, was white with pink roses and topped with a bouquet of pink roses which cascaded the three tiers.

Presiding at the refreshment table were Mrs. Terry Racher, the Misses Virginia Kennedy, Betty Sue Pendleton and Ruth Joiner, Mrs. Joe McKnight, Mrs. George Butts and Mrs. Edgar Phillips. The bride's sister, Mrs. Fred P. Bowser III, of Albuquerque, presided at the guest book.

Among out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Kimbell of Amarillo, Mr. and Mrs. Fred P. Eow-III of Albuquerque, Mrs. Allen Poling and Rudy Poling of Clayton, the Misses Virginia Kennedy and Betty Sue Pendleton of Douglas, Ariz., and many relatives and friends from Roswell and Corona.

The bride wore for her wedding trip to Colorado a peacock blue silk two-piece dress, with white accessories and pinned a white orchid from her bridal bouquet at her shoulder.

The bridegroom attended Corona High School and New Mexico State University where he majored in agriculture and was a member of G. A. R. fraternity.

The bride attended Hondo High School and New Mexico State University, where she majored in home economics.

By MRS. MARGARET RENCH

I would like to thank my friends for their cards, letters and flowers during my days in the Carrizozo hospital, which I appreciate more than I can ever express. The doctors and nurses were just wonderful. It is a grand hospital to go to when you are ill. The X-ray man too, is just as worthy.

George Dingwall has been in the Carrizozo hospital for three weeks. Mrs. Dingwall is staying with him. They are a lovely couple. When one is ill one needs their friends more than ever, so remember him with some cheerful cards.

Mrs. Maude Clark and Dub. Mrs. Mervin Smooth and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Cheney left last Wednesday to attend the Jehovah Witnesses assembly in Fort Worth, Texas. There they were joined by Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bert Cheney and two daughters of Houston.

Mr. and Mrs. Newt Robinson of Las Cruces came to visit her mother, Mrs. Dalry Gehring last Wednesday. On Friday they took her to the Carrizozo hospital for several days to recover from the effects of the flu, which had been persistent. They will return later to bring her home.

Billy White is giving away the Alamogordo News and will until July 1, then he will take subscriptions. If you want one, look him up. They are free at this time.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Earling returned Saturday evening from a 16-day vacation trip to San Francisco. They saw a ball game at the new Candlestick Park, played by the Giants and the Braves on June 10. Ann recovered a foul ball hit into the grandstand and she has given it to John Paul Annarotone for a souvenir.

Company at the Hollis Cummins home last Monday evening were her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Barney Waltrip of Corpus Christi, Texas, and her Aunt Mabel and brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Garrett Waltrip and family of Rudoso.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Luck of Charleston, S. C., are the proud parents of a daughter, Mary Katherine, weighing 4 pounds and 8 ounces, born Saturday, June 18, in the hospital there. Mrs. Luck is the former Willa Mae McClain. Her mother is Mrs. R. D. Kingdon.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wright and two children of Rudoso moved into the Kingston house east of the school house on Second street last Tuesday. He is employed at the Harris sawmill.

Mrs. Bill Rando (Geraldine) who underwent surgery at St. Mary's hospital June 1, returned home last Monday evening. She is feeling OK.

Mrs. Jo Hyer and three children of Santa Barbara, Calif., arrived last Monday night to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Eilla during her vacation of a couple of weeks.

Alteo Welco left by bus Wednesday for Fort Hood, Texas, to visit her husband who is stationed there in the Service. She will spend a week with him.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wilson and Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Wilson and daughter, Margaret Ann, of Franklin, O., spent four days with their sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Ramon Padilla. This was the first time the Tommas Wilsons had ever been here. So they did a lot of sight-seeing and had an exciting time. They hope to return for the Lincoln pageant in August.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Vorow and son of Alamogordo moved here two weeks ago to make their home in the Minters house on Fourth st. He is a plumber at Fort Stanton. # Moving furniture into Smokey Museum

The Smokey Bear Museum is nearly finished, with only the outside to be stained and oiled and the fireplace to be finished, but we can start moving the tables, etc.

The bricklayers were detained two weeks ago because of rain and last week end they had to work, so we will have to wait until the 25th. They are doing a splendid job, one that will be there for many years to come.

Bringing the museum to completion has taken a lot of hard work and there have been delays due to raising money and the bricklayers have been donating their time, which has made it some slower. But we are winning.

At this time we are having hot weather with some shower activity around.

Lincoln County News FRIDAY, JUNE 24, 1949 Carrizozo, New Mexico

By RALPH DUNLAP

NMSU Wool School Scheduled July 18-20

Sheepmen of New Mexico and nearby states are invited to attend the annual wool school at New Mexico State University on July 18 to 20.

The school, which is sponsored by the New Mexico Wool Growers, Inc., will feature training in sheep improvement, wool and lamb marketing and ranch management.

Wool-growers, warehousemen and county agents attending the school will also receive instruction in wool classification and lamb grading according to Jack Ruttle, marketing specialist at the NMSU Extension Service.

Ruttle says "The grower who can grade his own wool reduces marketing costs on his clip and is a better position to receive top prices when he sells. The practice grading at our annual wool school will provide sheepmen with the training necessary to grade their own wool."

Instructors at the wool school will be Professor P. E. Neale, animal husbandman with the NMSU Experiment Station, and a noted authority on sheep breeding; Dr. Lewis Holland, also of the NMSU animal-husbandry staff; Dr. Earl Ray, USDA geneticist from Fort Wingate; Dr. Ted Belling, Experiment Station veterinarian; Dr. F. L. Schneider, Sheep Sanitary Board of Albuquerque; Dr. W. D. McFadden, NMSU wool technologist; Van Sweeney of the Artesia Wool Cooperative, and Ruttle.

Another special feature of the school will be a lamb barbecue. The lamb will be provided by the Frosted Foods locker plant in Roswell.

Sheepmen, warehousemen or anyone interested in attending the school should make reservations by writing to J. R. Stauder, chairman of the three-day session, or Ruttle at Box P, University Park, N. M.

Weed-killers can injure trees and shrubs

Weed-killing chemicals that are not handled properly can often do more harm than good.

Vapors from such chemicals as 2, 4-D and 2, 4-T can drift through the air and attack trees, shrubs and bushes. Excessive applications to control weeds in lawns may leach through the soil and injure tree roots.

Most herbicide chemical damage can be spotted by looking at the leaves of affected plants. With mild damage, leaf margins will be slightly cupped or the entire leaf may be twisted and rolled.

More serious injury usually causes leaves to grow long and narrow, and the veins appear unusually prominent. In time severely damaged leaves will die.

The best way to protect against herbicide injury is to follow the directions on the label. It's best to spray under low pressure. Don't apply herbicides on windy days, and always keep spray nozzle close to the ground.

Some sprays cause less damage than others. Look for sprays that contain low-soluble extra or emulsion compounds. The contents will be marked on the label. You can also avoid drift injury by using granular forms of chemicals.

Gov. Burroughs proposes opening state lands to sportsmen

Santa Fe — "Our proposal to open state lands to hunting and fishing has brought an unusually enthusiastic response from all over the state," Governor John Burroughs said this week.

The governor first outlined the proposal recently at a meeting of the New Mexico Wildlife and Conservation Association in Silver City. The governor said that praise for the proposal has been expressed by letter, phone call and by delegations visiting his office.

The plan would involve some 11 to 12 million acres of state land. It calls for the State Game Department to take a lease on the hunting and fishing rights on all state lands.

Governor Burroughs said, "This would make it possible to open all our state lands to our sportsmen, and at the same time would give the department control over those lands necessary to protect the stockman's interests in their leased lands."

"We would also, by paying a lease fee for hunting and fishing rights to these state lands, be helping our schools, since land lease fees go into the common schools fund of the state," Governor Burroughs said.

The governor emphasized that in addition to helping sportsmen, the plan would have a powerful impact on the state's economy, since hunting and fishing already is a fifty million dollar a year industry in New Mexico.

The governor said this week that he has urged to Game Department to proceed as rapidly as possible to put the plan into effect. "I have the Game Commission's assurance that the program will be worked out without delay," Governor Burroughs said.

Kennecott employees to get wage boosts

Hurley, N. M. - Some 1500 hourly paid employees of Kennecott Copper Corporation's Chino Mines Division will receive wage increases July 1.

The raises were negotiated earlier by the company and the five union groups representing most of Chino's employees.

The contracts called for two increases, one of which already has gone into effect. The second, a basic increase of seven cents an hour, plus certain increases in the differential between job grades, is to become effective July 1.

In addition to the pay raises, Chino workers also will receive an extra paid holiday during the contract year, which will expire June 30, 1961. The date of the extra holiday has not yet been determined but is to be agreed upon by the company and the unions.

Company officials estimated the pay increases would increase Chino's monthly payroll around $25,000.

NEWS FROM THE NATION'S CAPITOL

By CLINTON P. ANDERSON
 U. S. Senator from New Mexico

BILL WOULD PROVIDE "NEW" SUGAR BEET AREAS

Washington, June 21 - Some of the sweetest sugar beets in the United States are grown in the Estancia valley. The trouble is that the law won't let our farmers grow more of them. This is a problem that affects Curry County too. Beets grown experimentally there are almost as sweet as Estancia valley beets. So far, these raised near Hereford, Texas. Refiners like to handle the sweeter beets because they yield more sugar per ton.

If enough beets could be produced in the three areas - it would take about 10,000 acres - volume would be sufficient to justify a sugar beet processing mill near Clovis or some other centrally located point. Present acreage for all three areas totals about 1700 acres. But to increase acreage involves more than planting beets. It involves modifying Uncle Sam's sugar purchasing program - and that involves a good-sized chunk of the budget.

U. S. buy sugar under a strict program from Cuba, Puerto Rico, the Philippines and elsewhere. We get a lot of our domestic sugar from Southern sugar-cane growers, and from sugar beets produced in Colorado, California, Wyoming and other states.

As our population grows, so does the national demand for sugar. So allowance is made for a small increase annually in domestic sugar production, and in foreign purchases. Most domestic increases go to areas with processing mills - which pretty well utilizes growth in "new" areas. The people in the Estancia valley, in Curry County, and around Hereford think they should be able to get some of this "new" acreage and eventually qualify for a processing mill. Senator Chavez and I agree.

So it was decided following meetings in Washington last week that within a few days Senator Chavez and I would introduce an amendment to the Sugar Act of 1943. The amendment provides that 5% of the total national sugar acreage will be reserved each year for allocation to "new" areas, and to areas with best making history, but without processing mills. If this amendment becomes law, it may bring a new source of income and another new industry to New Mexico.
