Lamb and wool producers, processors air problems at Wyoming conference

Six New Mexicans attended the first national Lamb and Wool Conference which concluded a two-day meeting last Tuesday at the University of Wyoming at Laramie.

From Lincoln county were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sultemier of Corona and Joe Skeen of Picoche, who represented the New Mexico Farm and Livestock Bureau and the New Mexico Wool Growers.

From Las Cruces were Bob Porter, commodity director of the New Mexico Farm and Livestock Bureau, Dr. W. D. McFadden, of the NDSU Experimental Station, and J. R. Stauder, extension animal husbandman, State University.

The purpose of the conference was for all segments of the sheep industry to discuss their problems. A representative committee was formed during the conference to report back the findings at another meeting which will be organized at a later date.

In his keynote address, Marvin L. McLean, assistant secretary of agriculture, said it was his opinion that inflation was the greatest menace to agriculture today, because it deprecates the savings of older farmers and makes it difficult for younger farmers to buy into the farming industry.

The next biggest endeavor of agriculture, he told the conference members, should be to resist governmental subsidization of the livestock industry because "subsidies mean governmental control and subsequent loss by the individual of the control of his own business."

Considerable differences of opinion were expressed by the producers of lambs and the processors of lambs over the type of lamb carcasses in demand by the consuming public. The producers felt that the processors were responsible for the high retail cost of lamb, even though there has been a considerable drop in the processors' lamb price. The processors did not agree with this feeling.

PRODUCERS VS. PROCESSORS

The processors still maintain that the consumer wants a smaller carcass and less fat. The producers say they can give the processors this, but they are not paying any premiums for the lighter lambs with less fat on them.

'54' convention in Santa Rosa Sept. 8

J. S. Stearns, secretary of the New Mexico Highway '54' Association this week was mailing out letters to Highway '54' Association members, urging their attendance at the State Highway '54' convention to be held September 8 at Santa Rosa.

The Methodist ladies will serve a noon luncheon in the basement of the Methodist Church; the cost per plate to be $1.50.

D. B. Dixon, chief engineer, State Highway Department, is to be a convention speaker, and according to Secretary Stearns, it is hoped that J. R. Kastler, secretary for the Highway Commission, will also be present.

"The convention will be an excellent opportunity," he said, "to talk about the Logan-Nara Visa area, and any other sections that need discussion.

"Our Highway '54' TV film," the secretary stated in his letter to members, "is rapidly nearing completion and will be a great advertising media for our road—one that will reach people not heretofore aware of Highway '54' advantages in traveling from Chicago westward. The film depicts a typical tourist trip from the East to Juarez, and pointing out the scenic attractions on route. We wish and hope that it may be possible to have a copy of this film for the meeting September 8th.

"Each town is urged to get in their quota as soon as possible, as we have a bank note to pay off this month for money advanced on the TV film. And we hope that each and every member will be able to attend this state convention."

Bob Coleman of East Vaughn, is president of the New Mexico Highway '54' Association and W. F. Ball of Carrizozo is vice president.

Much work and planning has been done during the summer to improve the academic and physical education programs, he said.

516 MILLION ON A BOAT

We've bought ourselves a boat, you and I and the rest of the caps. It is the $5 Defender that piers between the Persian Gulf and Japan with a $16 million New Mexico mortgage.

The state investment council it has coffee to fight, plunked down $16 million state funds to build the craft on a 5% mortgage with what it thinks is a call federal guarantee of repayment.

JOE CALLAWAY HOLDS MORTGAGE

After the money was paid the investment council learned it had invested in a bogus deal. The state itself was not eligible to make the investment.

So the contract was changed to make State Treasurer Joe Callaway the holder of the $16 million mortgage.

Statehouse lawyers who have been to Washington and New York on the deal think they have tied down to the state can't use very much, maybe only the interest on the $16 million loan. If the worst happens.

The Lincoln County Fair runs through September 9 and 10.

THREE HOPEFULS IN TRIAL RACE

Santa Fe—The November run for the legislature will test three strong prospects for the Demo nomination for governor in 1962: Rep. Jack Campbell of Roswell, who is going against Republican Langford Keith Jr. for another term in the house;

Speaker Mack Eastley of Hobbs who is contending with Republican Thomas E. Todd for another term in the house;

Lt. Gov. Ed Mead of Albuquerque who has the big assignment of beating incumbent Republican Senator John Rice.

The three are at the top of the list that is coveting the 1962 Demo nomination for governor. They must win this November to stay in consideration.

JACK AND DICK HOLD ANSWER

Democrats, as usual, seem to be in a position to sweep the state in November because of their almost three-to-one advantage in registration figures.

The candidates, however, are at the mercy of public opinion that might develop around Democrat Jack Kennedy and Republican Dick Nixon for president.

The big Democratic advantage here could be washed out, as it was in 1952 and 1956, if the people get excited about the Demo candidate's religion, his youthfulness and the Demo civil rights platform.

MECHEM FATE HINGES ON PRESIDENTIAL RUN

Ed Mechem's run against Demo Gov. John Burroughs seems to be hinged on the state vote for president.

There are many in the capital who will bet that Mechem runs ahead of Nixon in the November voting.

That would be surprising. In 1952 when Eisenhower and Mechem ran Eisenhower won by 26,000 and Mechem by 18,000.

When Eisenhower and Mechem ran in 1956 Eisenhower won by 41,000 and Mechem by 11,000.

DICK AND JACK NOT POPULAR YET

The race between Mechem and Gov. John Burroughs is commonly regarded here as one that will be determined by the popularity of the candidates for president.

The Demo Jack Kennedy isn't popular here, neither is Dick Nixon and it could be a close race which would, probably defeat the state Republican ticket.

If the state goes overboard against the Democrat ticket, and there are things afoot that could make that possible, it would probably float in Mechem for a fourth term. He already has a record of three terms.

Alamogordo nine defeats Hagerman in tournament

By J. S. C.

The 1960 regional baseball tournament was held at Mesalero on August 13-14, with Mesalero, Alamogordo, Hagerman and Ft. Stanton participating.

The first game Saturday was between Hagerman and Stanton. Up to the 7th inning it was a very close game, with Hagerman leading 6 to 2. The former outfit Stanton 15 to 5, and in the top of the 7th they let loose a barrage of extra base hits to score 11 runs and forge ahead 17 to 2.

Our boys made a desperate attempt in their time at bat, but all they could accomplish was two more runs in 3 hits and Hagerman came out on top 17 to 4. Felts went the distance for Hagerman, striking out 6 and walking 7, but he had alright support, with only one error. He was aided by the heavy hitting of Wilson, Jones and Shava, and he contributed to his own cause with a home run, a walk and a two-bagger.

Dalton and Aldaz struck out 6 and walked 4 and had four errors to add to their downfall.

The second game between Mesalero and Alamogordo was a thriller up to the 4th inning, with the Apaches leading 5 to 0. In their time at bat in the 4th, Alamogordo started hitting the ball and they tied the game at 5-5.

They tied Manuel Gutierrez, former Carrizozo boy, to the mound and he had the Apaches cutting out of his hand for the remainder of the game. He allowed only one more run.

Liko Hagerman hit the Alamo Angels really found the range in the 6th and they bombarded Milford for 11 runs to clinch the game, 16 to 6.

Gutierrez, who is 40, showed the young bucks what an "old pro" can do. Pete (Pee Wee) Reyes of Alamo and Jess of Mesalero were two other outstanding players of the tournament. Both are fine glove men and very fast. Jess bled Stanton of two runs in Sunday's game when he made a running back-hand grab of Dalton's line drive to right center.

STANTON HOSTS TWO TEAMS THIS WEEK END

Fort Stanton was eliminated, but they will be hosts to Hagerman and Mesalero, who will play in the finals in Fort Stanton on Saturday afternoon, August 20.

The winner will then play Alamogordo for the championship and trophies at Mesalero on Sunday, August 21. Come on over, folks, and enjoy the hospitality of Fort Stanton and see two good, fast teams in action.

The third game Sunday was between the Mesalero Redcaps and the Ft. Stanton Cubs. It was anybody's game up to the 6th frame, when the teams were deadlocked at 4-4. Our boys played good baseball, with Outfielders Prudenela, Griego and Herrera making six putouts without a miss. They outlived us 10 to 8, but not until the fatal 6th, when they got to Aldaz for a walk and four hits to score six times and win the game, 10 to 4.

The nightcap was between Alamogordo and Hagerman and from the first man up to the last man out, they had the crowd in suspense with many fine plays. Hagerman jumped ahead with 4 runs in the first two innings and Alamo came back with 3 in the third. In the 5th, Alamo hit consistently to add 3 more runs and take the lead 9 to 4. Hagerman scored one in the 6th and one in the 7th to tie the game at 6-6.

Fort Stanton divides honors with Mesalero

Coach Levi Acuna brought the whole Apache tribe from Mesalero on Wednesday, Aug. 10, for a baseball tournament of four games.

The first game was won by the Papooses in four innings by a score of 15 to 8.

The second game was between the Little Geronimos and the Ft. Stanton Gophers and the Geronimos also won by a score of 5 to 2 in four innings.

In the third game the Ft. Stanton Ponies tangled with the Mesalero Mustangs and after trailing 5-0 to 0, the Ponies got their artillery going and collected six hits for six runs in the third inning, to win the game 6 to 5.

The windup was a thrilling game of softball between the Mesalero Firefighters and the Fort Stanton Powderpuffs. This was a 9-inning game and the Puffs won by the identical score of 6 to 5.

Ramon Prudenela and Tony Padilla collided in going after a high fly ball and had to be revived. Ramon lost his blond curls in the encounter and Tony lost his powder puff and reputation.

The large crowd really enjoyed the many antics of the little fellows and the clowning feats by several of the oldsters.

Ladies Phil Griego, Fred Vigil, and Godfrey Herrera served many cold drinks and hot dogs at the Trading Post.

The umpires for the games were Cruz Gutierrez, Pat Henderson, George and two Apache boys.

at bat and with two men in scoring position, "Father Time" Manuel Gutierrez was sent in as a pinch hitter for Alamogordo. He came through with a sharp single to center to score both runners and win the game 8 to 6.

The distributors of Mead's Fine Bread of Roswell furnished a sound truck for the tournament and the announcers were Mr. Perry, the custodian of the recreational and school facilities in Mesalero, and Mr. Williams. They did an excellent job and the echo of their voices rang out in the Mesalero bowl, carrying a play-by-play account of the games and keeping the large crowd in a joyful mood.

We especially thank them for the fine send-off accorded to Coaches Levi Acuna, Perry Zamora, Brother Daniel, the managers and Umpires Robinson, Lozoya, Chavez and Little. Also for mentioning us as one of the official scorers and when he played baseball in Mesalero in the early '20's, both with the famous "Wrecking Crew" and Eastside teams of Carrizozo.

The Hagerman team and their families were glad to get away from the intense heat of the Pecos Valley and they camped out Saturday night in the brisk coolness under the pine trees of the Indian reservation.

On our way back, we stopped at the Apache Summit picnic area, where Misses Joe Escobedo, Perry Zamora, Tommy Altaz and their families were awaiting us with a table laden with varied delicacies. Thanks a lot, ladies.

Next we stopped at the Roswell Hospital for a check-up on Joe Escobedo's ankle which he sprained when sliding into home plate.

We hope to have you with us next Saturday, Lincoln County folks, so plan to come to Fort Stanton. You won't regret it!

News Notes from Along the Bonito

By LOUISE RUNNELS

Game Warden Charley Bird said we might have a load of fish planted in Bonito Lake this past week, but we were disappointed. Surely will have some before Alamogordo closes the dam to fishing after Labor Day. Lots 'n' lots of people have fished, with no luck since about a week after the 4th of July holidays when a load of fish were planted. I don't know who "Old Mac" is who wrote a letter to the editor in the Ruidoso News, saying fishing was good in the Blue Hole above the dam, and in the creek below the dam. Fishing was good in May when some fish were planted while the creek was high. Since May the water is too low and those planted have been caught and forgotten. Once in the Spring, Blue Hole was stocked and has also been fished. "Old Mac" must be telling another of those snake stories, if you wanna believe it.

Bryan Casler has been in the hospital in Artesia with a bad foot that he mashed some time ago, but is OK now.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Truitt left last week for a few days' stay in Truth or Consequences.

Fred Sweet Sr. writes from Center, Colo., where he's visiting his daughter and family, that he is feeling fine. He is going on to Arkansas to visit his brother and sister and will be home around the first of September.

At the Albert Thomson cabin this week end are relatives—Albert's brother and family from Truth or Consequences.

On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Duane Darling and family from Captain drove to Bonito City.

Mrs. Austin Wooten was in charge of the study program and presented a very interesting discussion on the application of the Psalm to the world problems of today.

Following the program the hostesses served de luxe dessert with coffee or tea, nuts and plums.

Mrs. Mert Zumwalt will be the hostess for the next meeting, at her home September 8 at 2 p.m. Mrs. Roselle will have charge of the program.

Present were Mrs. Dudo LaMay, Mrs. Austin Wooten, Mrs. A. F. Roselle, Mrs. Glyn Zumwalt, Mrs. Tom Zumwalt, Mrs. John LaMay, Mrs. Mollie Bosh, Mrs. Elsie Snow, Mrs. Lena Kennedy, Mrs. Ethel Britton, Mrs. Lillian Medler and the two hostesses.

OFF AND RUNNING by John I. Day

From the Horse's Mouth

Thoroughbred racing at Saratoga has a pleasantly nostalgic atmosphere, but one item from the "good old days," the passing of which no one misses, is the "ringer"—a good horse run in the identity of a poor one to inflate his odds. It was at Saratoga on August 15, 1848 that the Thoroughbred Racing Protective Bureau demonstrated a new system of horse identification which put an end to the ringer as a racing problem. A volunteer from Alfred G. Vanderbilt's stable, Yankee Dollar, became the first horse tattooed.

Today you can be sure of one thing "straight from the horse's mouth"—his identity. Any horse starting at any one of the TRAC's 50 member tracks can open his mouth and tell you who and how old he is. A letter designating the year of birth and four digits from the Jockey Club registration number are indelibly tattooed on the inside of his upper lip.

Today close to 100,000 Thoroughbreds are thus positively identified, not alone for racing but for breeding purposes. Painless and quick, done with specially designed instruments, each letter and numeral is applied in a single operation. Horses have been known to run and win on the same day they were tattooed, and the only complaint in recent years came from an owner who objected to his registration number—1812.

Dalapon controls Johnson grass on ditch banks

University Park, N. M.—Johnson grass on ditch banks can be effectively controlled by the use of Dalapon. This has been demonstrated on the Ralph Hoan farm near Anthony by the Department of Agricultural Services, New Mexico State University.

At left in the picture above, Johnson grass was sprayed with Dalapon on May 21. At that time grass was approximately 8 inches high. By June 20 some regrowth had occurred and the ditch bank was sprayed again. The picture was taken July 18 at which time it was estimated that 93% of the grass was dead. At right in the picture above the grass was not sprayed.

The spray mixture used consisted of 5 lbs. of Dalapon in 50 gals. of water plus 1/4 cup of spreader stickler. This covered approximately 1/5 mile of ditch 10 feet wide. On the basis of this coverage, it is estimated that it would cost approximately $60 for material to spray a mile of ditch 10 feet wide two times.

This ditch will not be sprayed again this year. Observations will be made before frost and again in the spring of 1961 to determine the actual percent grass that has been eradicated.

New map describes Santa Fe forest

Southwestern Regional Forester Fred H. Kennedy has announced that a new recreational folder map of the Santa Fe National Forest is available for public distribution.

This new folder includes a four-color map on one side that shows the location of the Santa Fe National Forest, roads, fishing streams and lakes, improved camp and picnic grounds, wilderness areas, mountain peaks and other geological features.

The other side of the folder tells how the U. S. Forest Service manages the Santa Fe National Forest on a multiple-use basis so as to provide water, outdoor recreation, wildlife, timber and livestock grazing.

The text is illustrated by 12 photos showing various uses of the Santa Fe National Forest. The cover picture is a shot of the Pecos Wilderness Area by the late Harold D. Walker of Santa Fe who was one of New Mexico's outstanding scenic photographers.

Other photos were furnished by the New Mexico Tourist Bureau, Buzz Bainbridge and Forest Service photographers. The folder was designed by McGinnis Advertising Art of Albuquerque.

Copies of the Santa Fe folder can be obtained from the Forest Supervisor, Santa Fe National Forest, Santa Fe, New Mexico, or from the Division of Information and Education, U. S. Forest Service, Room 6218, New Federal Building, Albuquerque.

Heating Costs Can Be Cut By Insulation

"The cost of heating an uninsulated house is as much as three times the cost of heating the fully-insulated house," says the National Electric Manufacturers in its Manual for Electric Home Heating.

"From the standpoint of economy," the manual points out, "it is just as important to insulate walls, ceilings, and floors in order to keep the heat in as it is to insulate an electric refrigerator to keep heat out."

The manual, published as a basic guide for designing electric heating installations, says that proper insulation is recommended for all electrically heated homes, regardless of their location or the electric heating method used.

In many areas across the country where electric utility rates are low, electricity is rapidly becoming a standard heating fuel for homes.

One reason for this is that experiments have shown that a house thickly insulated with mineral wool in the ceiling, walls, and entrance halls, at least 2 inches in an unheated floor.

The electric heating manual adds that when proper insulation is installed, the savings incurred are usually enough to pay for the original cost of the insulation within a few years.

Further advantage of insulating is that the recommended thicknesses of mineral wool are the same as those suggested for economical central air conditioning. Thus a house insulated for electric heating is ready for air conditioning at any time. Meanwhile, the thick mineral wool helps keep the house more comfortable in summer without artificial cooling.

N. M. Magazine features article about Tularosa

Tularosa—The rose and tule village, past which millions of tourists have sped with eyes only for the Great White Sands close by—has its own unique claim to a niche in history, according to an article by Emily Kalled Lovell in the August issue of New Mexico Magazine.

The article tells how 20 happy settlers back in 1859 rescued a military wagon train that was under attack by a band of 200 Meacalero Apaches.

What the settlers lacked in firearms they made up with axes, picks, bows and arrows and other unorthodox weapons, the article says. They prayed to Saint Francis and promised an annual pilgrimage if they should be successful.

After the victory, residents saw a vision of Saint Francis on a white horse and built a church on the spot — the Saint Francis de Paula Church. It remained the only church in Tularosa for 42 years thereafter, the article says.

'Space Age' House Plan Offers Beauty of Traditional Styling

Today's most popular home designs are traditional in appearance, yet offer floor plans that fit the demands of modern living and growing families.

This design, by Home Planners, Inc. of Detroit, meets both requirements. Its exterior is subtly Colonial, while its floor plan is rambling and roomy.

Viewed from the street, the house takes on a mansion-like appearance, thanks to its flowing lines and broad expanse of roof.

The architects specify asphalt shingles for the roof to provide the rich texture that complements traditional architecture. Colors available in asphalt shingles also were a factor. A blend of deep green, gray, or brown is recommended to provide a key for other exterior colors.

For windows, a unique type that is a combination of traditional and modern is specified. These are windows of ponderosa pine that look like traditional styles when closed, yet become modern awning windows when opened. The wood frames and sash are in keeping with Colonial design.

To insure comfort and economy throughout the year, the architects recommend that the house be thoroughly insulated with mineral wool in walls, ceilings, and floors, and suggest that enough insulation be installed to permit the economical operation of air conditioning and heat pumps, if these are desired in the future.

Among the other features of the design are a library-study that can be used as a bedroom, a 19 by 13-foot playroom on the second floor that doubles as a sleeping quarters for youngsters, and a windowed garage that makes the house appear larger.

Additional details, blueprints, and specifications may be obtained from Home Planners, Inc., 3618 Grand River Ave., Detroit 27, Mich. Refer to design SR-2765.

FARMING AROUND

By Mark Welch

There are tons and tons of nitrogen in the air over every acre of land. Each flash of lightning releases some of this nitrogen into the atmosphere. It is absorbed by the rain and falls to the earth. Each day it is probably that more nitrogen is added to the world's soil than by all of man's efforts in a year. It falls on mountains, lakes and sea and makes them more productive but rarely does enough fall on crop land to be of much value to a farmer.

Fifty years ago Cyanamid started making nitrogen in this country from the air by controlled electrical flashes, much like nature's lightning, and combining the newly formed nitrogen with chemicals that hold it fast until needed months later. This nitrogen was used also as a basis for gun powder and helped keep this country free as well as well fed.

Editors: Mark Welch is a former university instructor and state livestock sanitary service director who has spent a lifetime in agriculture. He now is agricultural consultant to American Cyanamid Company.

Most everything we know we learned from studying nature, and sometimes we can improve on nature's methods. We did, at least in the making of nitrogen.

The future of the farmers of the South looks bright. Few cattle are rapidly replacing beef crops and they are big business in Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Virginia, West Virginia, North and South Carolina, Mississippi, Florida, Louisiana, Tennessee and Kentucky. These states produce 18 per cent of the nation's beef while the "cattle factory" of the West produces only 21 per cent. The South has always had good grass and water. Now they are getting cattle, know-how—and security.

Rich Wood Moldings Mark Return to Gracious Living

Gracious background for handsome contemporary furniture is achieved with extensive use of wood moldings on fireplace and ceiling beams.

By KATH BRANWELL EVANS, Editor in Chief LIVING for Young Homemakers

Most of the houses that mushroomed all over the country right after World War II were severely modern, but more from necessity than from choice. A roof over the head — fast and inexpensive — was the first need for millions of returning GIs and their new families. The charm and beauty of good detailing would have to wait until later.

Today, there is a new appreciation and desire for the more graceful rooms, not only in new houses but in the starkly styled houses of the 1940s and early 1950s. Severe lines and bare surfaces are being softened with graceful wood moldings.

Matching the warmth and surface interest of Colonial and other types of panel doors, moldings are used extensively on walls of living and dining rooms. Inexpensive stock moldings of ponderosa pine are formed into squares and rectangles to create rich, paneled effects in dining rooms and entrance halls.

Moldings also are contributing to the major revival of exposed ceiling beams, a tradition with roots in the great historical houses. Moldings integrate the ceiling beams with similar moldings on the mantel, walls and panel doors.
