Ranchers may ask Ed Mechem-'Halt land sales'

The livestock industry should not be put out of business because the schools need money. The oil industry, now paying a large portion of school costs, will play out some day, leaving the livestock industry for school support.

Merchant concluded his talk with an interesting conjecture. What if the cold war ceased? A half-million people would join the stampede . . . out of New Mexico . . . because of no jobs.

The meeting was opened by President Sid Goodloe, and after Merchant's talk a resolution was formulated which will be presented to the state Farm Bureau board which meets October 23. The resolution: That we petition the state Farm Bureau and Livestock Bureau board to form an education committee with the purpose of informing the public as to the use of all public lands.

Rep. Bill Schreckengast commented that he agreed heartily with Merchant's talk, and people should start finding out who is the boss—the taxpayer or the government.

Mr. Merchant had wanted to read some letters but had failed to bring his glasses. About this time Pauline Britton loaned her glasses to him, they worked and Merchant said, "You must be as old as I am." Mrs. Britton is not quite of the "trail driver" age.

Sen. Joe Skeen talked at length on state land problems and told the group it had his support. One of the reasons he was in politics, said Skeen, was that he felt there must be a better way of government. He feels it really important that there be two political parties, of near equal strength. An interesting comment by Skeen, in the statehood days no one wanted New Mexico land for any purpose and ranchers were not interested in leasing. They did so after the state money was apportioned to schools, only for the benefit of the schools.

President Goodloe read the new officers elected at the last meeting: Walt Wilson, president; J. A. Hightower, vice president; Grady Eldridge, board member.

Lincoln County Farm Bureau will sponsor a "talent find" contest. Entries are asked to contact Walt Wilson.

going to exploit our public lands. (Merchant defined exploit as "overworking something for no good purpose.") Commitments by the Forest Service are not reliable, their attitude is that every man on federal land is not trustworthy, charged Merchant.

Merchant once told 20 forest rangers and superintendent that if you or any of your men disturb man's stock, I will see that a warrant is sworn out for your arrest. The superintendent replied that he would get a U. S. marshal. Merchant's answer was, that was to be expected. His comment to the Farm Bureau meeting—It's time to find out if we have any states rights. The Forest Service people backed off and have not disturbed stock in the Lincoln County area.

At the time western territories were becoming states, there was considerable "scuffle" about land commissions of that day, and this resulted in the Taylor Grazing Act, and later, the Enabling Act came into being, which bound the actions of state land commissioners, but also put this particular office out beyond control of any citizen—such is the case today. The state land commissioner is absolute in his jurisdiction, except only for setting minimum grazing fees which is done by the legislature.

The Federal Grazing Code is the only thing that has kept ranchers in the western country in business, said Merchant, and added that without this Code the Forest Service and Federal Grazing Service would have many ranchers out of business long ago.

Merchant said that through all of his years in close connection with federal lands, he has argued that we can't hold state lands. A referendum of the people could have been obtained a decade ago—not now. Can't think of any emergency outside of disaster of more importance than the land situation today. Someone must make the request for a moratorium. Inflation should be checked for the good of the state. Land prices being paid today are generally way above, double of triple, the productive value of the land.

Lon Merchant, president of the Southeastern Grazing Association, past chairman of the Forest Service advisory board, and chairman of the Federal Grazing Board, speaking to the Mid-County Farm Bureau Tuesday night in Carrizozo, asked that the Farm Bureau join with the Grazing Association in an effort to get Gov. Ed Mechem to place a moratorium on sale of state lands until the next session of the state legislature.

is the only man alive who followed this well-known cattle trail, just a small boy at the time. The trail drivers are all dead and gone.

In the trail days ranges were wide open to anyone. Only the number of head of cattle a man owned counted then, long horns, scrawny animals—all all. All of the big cattle outfits of the trail days have gone broke and the last of the big ones sold out about 12 years ago. Most of the early cattle money was "foreign money" coming from England and Scotland. It was not uncommon for a large outfit to lose as many as 20,000 head in one bad season.

When the settlers started coming through things started to change. Lon Merchant said he had seen wagon trains along the old Oregon trail—so long that if you were at the front of the train there was no telling where the last wagon would be, miles to the rear. It was not uncommon for those trail wagons to be pulled by a set of cows, calves trailing along, and when the train stopped the cows would be milked out to feed the youngsters.

The pattern for grazing control now has been set out by a group of ranchers in Wyoming who formed the first association and asked and got a little government help. Since that time the Forest Service has come into being, under the Department of Agriculture and in the 50 years Merchant has witnessed activities of the Forest Service—their actions have not been a credit to the department. They (Forest Service people) say they are not driving ranchers off public lands, but that is not so. They have continued to harass the ranchers and when they get ready to run a man off . . . He doesn't have any enemies, at least none he knows about because "he's outlived every damn one of them."

Merchant prefaced his request for a moratorium by considerable stock industry. He has an early history of grazing and the livestock industry, 73 years ago, when his father drove a little herd 1,000 miles from Texas to Wyoming, following the Goodnight and to the best of his knowledge Merchant

Will attempt to from Scouts again

The defunct Scout program in Carrizozo will get a shot in the arm next October 4 when Thomas C. Corcoran, Scout executive from Roswell, will meet with local folks to start Scouting here once again.

The program faded away about two years ago.

Corcoran will meet with the Lions Club to ask their help in organizing the Scouts here. Then at 7:30 p.m. that night he'll be at the school to meet with interested parents and PTA representative Richard Kondo.

It's hoped to have both Cubs (age 8-11) and Boy Scout groups set up.

Car stripping case solved

Three 17-year-old high schoolers have been arrested for taking parts from a disabled car left at the edge of the highway last Friday night.

Two of the boys are from Roswell, one from Ft. Stanton. Sheriff's deputy Leandro Vega, Jr., was assisted in the arrests, said the boys took a spare tire, floor mats, generator, jack, and most things not tied down and some that were from a car belonging to Carl Britton.

Britton, who attends high school in Capitlan, was returning to the Britton ranch when his clutch burned out about nine miles north of Capitlan on State Road 48. He parked his car for the night.

The three boys came along about 9:30 p.m., jimmied open the trunk (even though the ignition keys were left in the car) to make the theft.

They are out on bond now.

PTA will hear White Sands Missile Range personnel officer at meeting

White Sands, employee development officer, civilian personnel officer, White Sands Missile Range, will address the Carrizozo PTA on October 9th at 7:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium. His subject will be the Cooperative Student Training Program. Also, Mr. Clift will show a film entitled "They Major in Missiles", depicting a true story of a participating student and his career climb to a position as Project Officer at WSMR.

A missile leaving the launcher and streaking across the city-blue yonder at White Sands Missile Range, N. Mex., is a thrilling sight to anyone.

Perhaps more especially to the young men or women interested in a career in the missile and rocket field.

To become an active partner in the fast moving missile and rocket age need not be put off too long if these young people knew of a unique work-training program for college students now in full swing at WSMR. Its called the Cooperative Student Training Program.

Under the program students can combine partial on-the-job experience with academic study in periods of six months each.

As the Army's missile program continues to expand, the trained scientific and professional employees will be in ever greater demand than they are today.

The work-study program began nine years ago at WSMR and the results have been beneficial to the government. In the program now are some 250 college students.

One hundred and five students have graduated under the 5 year program and 70% have returned to WSMR in a professional capacity.

Eight graduates transferred to other federal agencies and the remaining 21 have accepted jobs with industry or go on with graduate study.

The ideal situation for the Army's missile program would be for each student to return to work at the Army's largest overland missile range at White Sands. However, each of those who choose government careers or in industry in related missile fields are not lost to the nation's defense effort.

Filling the demand then for trained personnel is the government's benefit as well as the student's.

The trainee on the job applies classroom theory to practical problems. He works side by side with the best professional and scientific employees Uncle Sam can obtain. The student has an expert to help him solve problems which would take hours of trial and error methods for the novice.

WSMR has some of the finest scientific and technical equipment in the world with which to carry out its mission as the Army's largest overland missile range in the nation. Trainees appreciate the opportunity to work in the range's atmosphere and with excellent machines and tools.

The program provides first a job for the new students. Upon meeting the requirements of the cooperative work-study program, the student-trainee goes on the WSMR payroll to draw a paycheck for six months with average between $3,000 and $4,000 annually. To many young people, the immediate earning power is often the difference between being able to attend college or not.

A work-study student who continues through the entire five-year program averages a total of earnings of approximately $9,000 which makes a sizeable contribution toward his education.

City sales tax to be voted upon Oct. 3

Carrizozo voters will go to the polls next Tuesday to decide if the city should have a one-cent sales tax.

The hotly-contested issue got a pretty good airing this week as both sides organized to carry their message to the people.

Actually, the sales tax already has been passed, by the city trustees, but protest petitions forced city officials to bring the issue to a popular vote.

Pivotal issue in the city power distribution system. Carrizozo, with some of the highest electrical rates in the state, distributes its own power, which is bought at the city limits from the Otero County Electric Cooperative.

The city now exists mostly on the income from the high electrical rates, with garbage, sewer, etc. departments operating in the red.

Those favoring the sales tax say the power distribution system could and would be sold to the Otero Co-Op and that lower rates would be put into effect—if the sales tax is passed to provide a replacement for the city's lost income.

Those opposed to the tax say the city should keep the power system and pay it off in the next 15 years (The Co-Op has offered to assume the city's $228,000 power system debt if they buy the system).

There's lots of side issues—the Co-Op wrote this week that Carrizozo homes won't have to be rewired, as one of the current rumors had it—but the basic issue appeared to be: just how does one finance the operation of a city?

One side says continue to finance it through operation of the power distribution system.

The others say pass an ad valorem one-cent city sales tax to give the city operating funds.

Eighteen New Mexico towns now have the one-cent city sales tax. Ruidoso is the closest example to Carrizozo. But in Alamogordo, voters have turned the tax down three times.

A heavier than usual turnout of voters is expected. In the last special city election, when new school bonds were rejected, about 300 good citizens went to the polls. Prognosticators figure that there'll be about 350 votes cast next Tuesday.

But there are about 800 registered voters in the city limits who are eligible.

The ballots will read like this:

Question submitted: "There shall be imposed a municipal sales tax of one per cent of the gross receipts of all retail businesses and services within the corporate limits of the Town of Carrizozo, New Mexico, except in such cases where lawful exemptions thereto are provided for."

"Instructions: If you desire to vote in favor of the imposition place an "X" in the square below after the words "For Town Sales Tax Imposition." If you desire to vote against the imposition place an "X" in the square below after the words "Against Town Sales Tax Imposition."

The ballots will be printed in both Spanish and English.

Soldiers volunteer a day's work

Soldiers from Stallion Site, about 15 in all, showed up Saturday to finish the job of clearing away the rubble from the blown-up Sargent house in Carrizozo.

The army men donated a day's work, scrounging shovels, wheelbarrows and trucks over town. The city's garbage truck and dump truck finally were called into use, and by evening the area had been cleared and foundation removed down a foot and a half.

First Sgt. Johnnie Welsh was in charge. His officer is Col. Jim Snow, who is well known around here and lives at Nogal.

Mrs. Sargent intends to rebuild on the location, friends said this week. She has been in El Paso undergoing medical examination and was expected home Thursday, with a back brace but no surgery.

LEA's note: No hospital notes this week, nobody in the office to give them. Marge Clouse, bookkeeper there, is herself in the hospital.

Pair of bears brought to bay

At least two bears were taken in this vicinity during the early (with dogs) season.

Paul Jones of Capitlan, hunting on the first day of season with Marvin Jones, his brother, and Ed Guck, tried their luck with Marvin's dogs in Philadelphia Canyon on the Bonito. The dogs treed a 250-pounder and Paul brought him down.

Ted Johnson of Alamogordo also got a bear, about 200 pounds, on the Ryan ranch near Three Rivers. He and Bill Stover chased one down on horseback, using no dogs. They brought the hide to Lewis Farris of Carrizozo to make a rug of it.

City clerk Eddie Penfield this week reminded voters of the qualifications for voting in the October 3 special election.

Voters must be registered within the corporate Carrizozo city limits.

Any registered voter may cast his ballot. Should another election be called later on the date of the city power system, then only property owners who paid a tax last year would be eligible to vote. But on the coming city sales tax proposition, all registered voters within the city are eligible.

District Court

In district court this week the two men who robbed the Ancho truck stop a few weeks ago were sentenced.

Lathia Caillouette, Jr., got 3-10 years for armed robbery, and David Eugene Waites got the same sentence for the same charge.

Pentaleon B. Provenzo, Tularosa, pleaded guilty to reckless driving and was assessed $100 costs.

Cookie McKnight, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy McKnight, holds up a large rafter found in the back yard of their ranch home near Capitlan recently.

The snake, when killed, was measured and found to be four and a half feet long, eight inches around the middle, and 12 rattles on the end.

The McKnight family was alerted by a dead dog that kept barking at the snake.

News Notes from Along the Bonito

By Louise Rannels...

Lake Bonito has risen over 20 feet since the rains of the last few weeks. The early frosts have turned the maples, aspens and oak to beautiful autumn colors and folks from all around are having fun picking apples from the old orchards above the dam that are about 60 years old but still have good apples. The elderberries were plentiful this year too, but are about gone. The acorn crop was good, so the bears are having a picnic.

The first day of bear season found Marvin Jones, brother Paul and Ed Guck out with Marvin's dogs in Philadelphia Canyon where the dogs treed a 250-pound black bear for Paul Jones.

Mr. Jack Robinson and Mr. Grady Wallace from Capitan have been moving a cabin near Bonito City. They moved it up a steep hillside and Jack has done terracing and is digging a water line. Mr. Taylor from Roswell owns the cabin and is having the dirt work done. He is taking over the Conventual Oil Co. in Capitan.

From Carlsbad this weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Schreiner also Mr. and Mrs. Herzer, women and family, Mr. and Mrs. Lousioru Jr. and family, and their parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Clarke who have been visiting them from Lake Charles, La.

The Chulbocks have had a real busy summer running their lodge there. Paul and Lois enjoyed their visit very much as they met up with lots of their friends from Lincoln County and enjoyed the fish dinners and other food and

Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Goza from Tularosa stopped by Bonito City Saturday. They were on their way to have a picnic above Tom Bragg's Parsons' hotel with her brother and family, Art Helms from Carrizozo, Mrs. Goza (Annie) was raised at Nogal and likes to visit in this country, and takes the Lincoln County News to keep up with friends here.

Another pickup has made it over the old road from Nogal up Nogal Canyon and down by the old Parsons' Hotel and out via Bonito Lake. They were one of Carrizozo's barbers, Mr. Ray Wells and family and his brother Jack and family who are here from Idaho and hope to make their home in Carrizozo. They weren't sure they could make the circle but said the road wasn't too bad and anyhow couldn't turn around so faced the adventure. They thought the trip was a real scenic drive and plan to make it again. They were disappointed there was no road to the top of Nogal Peak. Gotta' get this one over in White Mountain Park finished first, Ray!!

Rev. and Mrs. Ben Sullivan of Capitan visited Gecrudo Morris at the Carrizozo hospital Sunday. The Pres Pino family spent the weekend at their ranch, mending fences and rounding up cattle to ship. Pres had an accident while riding, the saddle cinch broke causing Pres to take a nasty fall. Glad Pres was not seriously hurt, just a little shook.

Morning bus schedules have been changed. Night schedules are the same. Southbound 10:15 a.m., northbound 10:40 a.m.

Saw Mannie Ortiz was home from college this past weekend. Mrs. Asorie left Sunday to visit her son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Alfredo Lopez in Albuquerque.

Della Dennis and small son James Allen of Alamogordo are visiting her mother, Frances Vigil at Capitan. Mike Peralta brought Demecio to Carrizozo to catch the bus to Albuquerque. Demecio will be in Albuquerque for medical treatment. If you have noticed a dozen teenagers "almost" speeding across town during these past Sunday mornings, they're not running from anyone. Neither are they dreading Sunday school. They are taking their class to someone who cannot come to the class. They are now concentrating on shut-ins, they beef up class attendance by taking the class to the home of one of the members whose attendance record is slipping.

Billy Lopez Goes Visiting
Bob Stearns, son of Mr. and Mrs. Johnson Stearns of Carrizozo, is in the Air Force stationed at Kingsley Field in Klamath Falls, Oregon. The distance from Klamath Falls to San Francisco is not quite like around the block but Billy Lopez, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vic Lopez of Carrizozo, who is in the Navy at San Francisco, made the trip and a nice sociable visit between the two home town boys took place.

Corona belts Estancia 25-6

The injury-ridden Corona Cardinals ground out a 25 to 6 victory over stubborn Estancia before 300 sun-drenched fans last week.

The hobbled Cardinals, hoping to find an easy prey before their crucial game with tough Carrizozo, found their collective backs to the wall as the fired-up Estancia eleven took a 6 to 0 half-time lead.

A sweltering shirt-sleeved crowd at the Estancia home field saw the stubborn Estancia eleven out-play and outlight the favored Cardinals the entire first half. The Cardinals, heavily penalized by long yardage, could not sustain any drives during the first half. The pesky Estancia crew hacked away relentlessly until they pushed across a score in the second quarter on a 17-yard run play.

The Cardinals were unable to move in the first half, but came back with a vengeance. Highly touted Woody Dame, Corona half back, put the Cardinals back in the game with a third period 27-yard touchdown run. Minutes later Dame scored again on a five yard buck. Clint Roper, converted half back, and filling in for an injured teammate, bucked across for the third touchdown. Woody Dame connected for a 70 yard pass touchdown play to Clint Roper for the final tally.

This week the Cardinals tackle the powerful Carrizozo Grizzlies, winners of 34-20 over a strong Tatum team. The Cardinals will enter the game a three touchdown underdog, but as is often the case in games between these two teams the odds makers take a holiday.

Coach Jerry Clark has a sneaky crew at Corona capable of nipping the proud Grizzlies if they rest too strongly on their last-year laurels.

Parade?

Reports have it that there will be an impromptu parade of Carrizozo High freshmen down Main Street about 9 a.m. Thursday. It's their initiation, and a fancy dress ball.

Local talent

As Gall Peebles, eighth grade student, was rummaging through some old keeppakes the other day she came across a poem entitled "Mother's Hands" by Eulalia F. Smith. This poem sings praises to mother for all the myriad tasks she performs for the love of her family. Gall wrote an answer to the poem which follows:

LET MOTHER'S HANDS REST

By Gall Peebles
Do mother's cooking
And her looking
Appreciate what she has done for you.
Don't do what she says not to do
Don't be blue
When she tells you
To clean your room
And use a broom
And mop the floors
And do other chores
Let mother's hands rest a while
And do her work with a smile.

Only thing California has that we don't is the Pacific Ocean

My older son Keeton recently returned from a summer session at college in California. Since that time most of our dinner "table talk" has been taken up by his telling us of his experiences in California. Especially interesting were the reports of the bull sessions they have in the dorm at night.

During one of the sessions, the California boys said that New Mexico is nothing but a desert. It turned out that only one of them had ever been in New Mexico, and he had just gone through on Highway 66. Keeton pointed out that judging New Mexico from Highway 66 was like judging California by going through the Mojave Desert. Then he pointed out that in New Mexico we had high mountains and forests in the north with lakes and streams, and rolling plains and green valleys in the south, and that some of the best deer hunting in the country was only 30 minutes from his home. One of the boys remarked that California had history, for example the missions in Monterey, and that Santa Fe was founded before the Pilgrims landed at Plymouth Rock.

Discussion continued, and they finally ended up agreeing that the only thing that California had that New Mexico didn't have was surfing, because they had an ocean.

Another night they got into a discussion between the Republicans and the Democrats of the group, and finally came up with the conclusion that there wasn't much more difference between the Republican Party and the Democratic Party than there was between California and New Mexico.

Then they got to discussing federal affairs and government in general, and the 269 billion dollar debt which was left for them to pay off. They finally came to the conclusion that the New Deal, the Fair Deal, the New Frontier, had played and were playing their generation for a bunch of "patates". They decided Congress and the politicians were throwing their money around like a "bunch of drunken sailors".

They couldn't understand how Congress, during a time of crisis with the cold war and the Berlin situation, could go on spending on a "business and usual" basis. They didn't think it made much sense to have the President call up a quarter of a million more men in the armed forces, and then have Congress propose to spend their money to put other young men into civilian camps under the new Youth Conservation Corps.

They felt that perhaps Congress could forego spending 50 million dollars of their money for the acquisition of open space for parks. They couldn't understand why the big spenders in Congress are willing to call on the American people for sacrifice but are unwilling to sacrifice their pet projects and to re-evaluate their spending in the light of the crisis that we are now facing.

Then all of a sudden it dawned on them that they would be old enough to vote in the next election, and they could change all of this. They realized that probably the balance of power in the next Presidential election would be in the hands of the students who are now in college—of the hands of the generation which has been flagrantly misused during the past twenty-five years.

These dinner table talks have been very gratifying and enlightening as to the thinking of the younger generation. If the Voice of the Taxpayer were in politics he would start worrying about the attitude of these young "patates"—Voice of the New Mexico Taxpayer.

Market Report

CATTLE PICTURE—

August brought about price improvements in all classes of cattle. Calf buyers have been busy with fall contracting. Quite a few mid-western feeders have been contracting yearlings for fall. Fat cattle prices have improved at all markets from early summer lows. Range cattle have seen about $2 cwt. raise from early bids. Good range conditions have caused ranchers to be more optimistic in their asking prices. Most people look for a continued strong tone in the fall stocker and feeder markets.

YEARLINGS—

A good many strings of yearling type cattle contracted the past month. The bulk of the good to choice yearling steers have brought 22½c to 24c. Most of these cattle will weigh 700-750 for October—the latter price on strictly choice kinds in the 650-700 pound class. Most plainer types sold early for West Coast interests. These kinds brought from 20c to 21½c mostly and bulk of these cattle will weigh from 600-650 at delivery. Heifers are pretty well sold for numbers. Early contracts were written from 20½c to 21½c. Later offerings bringing 22½c to 23c for good to choice kinds. These cattle weighing 625-675 mostly. Very few plain heifers summered in this (Kansas) territory.

CALVES—

The calf market started off slowly, but developed very rapidly in view of big rainfalls in wheat country. Early deals were started at 23c to 25c on heifers and steers in the 400 pound bracket. With increased demand, prices advanced to 26c to 28c rapidly on choice calves weighing 325-350 for October delivery are bringing 28c to 30c. Quality and weighing conditions coupled with size of calves are important factors in calf prices. Calves from 450-500 pounds still slow in demand and a good $2 cwt under lighter weights. Some people estimate that 75 to 80 per cent of the calves are sold at this time. Many of these are in speculators hands and will be resold once or more times yet. If weather conditions continue favorable, a large number of these calves will winter in the wheat belt. Mid-western buyers have been slow to meet asking prices as yet.

COWS—

A good demand for slaughter cows at the auction markets. Not too many stock cows being traded on at this time in view of favorable range conditions. Bulk of the high-cutter and utility cows bringing from 15c to 17c. Fleasly block cows from 17c to 18½c, canner and cutters from 12c to 14c. A few choice pairs have brought from $200 to $250. Some older cow and calf combinations at $175 to $200.

Will be looking forward to sending you another letter next month.

NEW IRS RULING ON SMALL BUSINESS CORPORATIONS

Many small business corporations in New Mexico have elected under the provisions of section 1372 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 not to be taxed as corporations. An important announcement affecting these corporations was released today by the U. S. Internal Revenue Service.

The Service will consider, upon request, the granting of extensions of time for the filing of consents by certain shareholders who failed to file timely consents to elections by small business corporations under section 1372 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954.

IRS said the shareholder involved are either non-shareholders of the corporation or a husband or wife who failed to file a timely consent.

Miss Glenna Stoneman is now at home with her parents in Ancho. Glenna is employed as beautician at Lina's beauty salon in Carrizozo.

Mr. and Mrs. Sammy Stoneman are the proud parents of a girl, Cassandra Lynn, born Friday, September 22 at Alamogordo. The little miss weighed slightly over five pounds. Mrs. Stoneman is the former Terry Bussey. Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Stoneman made a trip to Alamogordo this weekend to greet their first grandchild.

Mrs. J. W. Sidwell of Carrizozo was an Ancho visitor Saturday. The Wilsons put in a busy day Saturday shipping cattle.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Knight, Dan and Barbara, attended the fair in Albuquerque Tuesday. Dan won several ribbons showing sheep.

Gary Hightower also took in the fair in Albuquerque last weekend. Lyn Stoneman is hospitalized in Carrizozo from injuries received in the Carrizozo-Tatum game.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Y. Jackson, Dee Ann and Leland, of Socorro were guests of Jackie Silvers over the weekend. Saturday night they along with Cope, Blanche, and Julianne Straley, Nancy, Tom, Dan and Barbara Knight, George and Katie Straley, and Lee, Dorothy, Leanne, G. L., and Phil Straley were the guests of Mrs. June Straley in Carrizozo for a surprise housewarming.

The delightful get together was planned by June's daughter and family of Hatch, Jo Ann, Tom, Gail, and Cooper Barnett. A delicious buffet supper was enjoyed by all.

Little Gary Paul Copeland of Albuquerque, small son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Copeland, has been hospitalized during a bad siege of the measles. Latest reports indicate he is greatly improved and should be at home at this time. Mrs. Copeland is the former Esther Butley.

Rev. and Mrs. W. P. Lytle, David, Paul, and Ruthie of Corona were dinner guests of the Leo Straleys on Sunday.

Mrs. Barbara Harkey was hostess to the Ancho C.P.W. on Thursday. After a delicious covered dish luncheon, the meeting was called to order by Dorothy Straley, president. Program leader, Elva Wilson, led the group in the study of John. Business included election of officers for the 1962 term. The nominating committee submitted the following report which was accepted:

President, Mrs. W. P. Lytle; vice president, Mrs. Larry Lynch; secretary, Mrs. E. L. Harkey; treasurer, Mrs. Walton B. Wilson, follow-up, Mrs. Tarlton Bend, program chairman, Mrs. Lee Straley, S.E.A. secretary, Mrs. J. A. Hightower.

world service secretary, Mrs. Howard Harkey; Christian education secretary, Mrs. Cope Straley; sewing and supplies, Mrs. Clyde Stoneman; reporter, Mrs. Larry Lynch; nominating committee, Mrs. Roy Richard, chairman, Mrs. B. W. Wilson, Mrs. T. A. Knight, members.

Annual fellowship of the least coin was dedicated. The group enjoyed hearing of the visit of Elva Wilson with the Rev. and Mrs. L. S. Markham on Elva's recent trip to California. The Markhams sent greetings to all their friends and reported that they kept up with local events through the Lincoln County News. We, in turn, send greetings from all to the Markhams.

Sunday school teachers of Ancho met for an informal training session with Rev. and Mrs. Lytle Sunday afternoon at the community building.

Bryan Hightower was a Roswell visitor on Wednesday of last week. Doug Denny of Alamogordo and White Sands Missile Range was a guest of Jackie Silvers, the Jacksons, and the Straleys last Sunday.

Mrs. Blanche Straley and small daughter, Julianne, of Ancho and Mrs. Leroy Owen and Mrs. Frank Hodge of Corona spent Wednesday of last week in Carrizozo with June Straley.

Shorty gets a letter

(Ed's note: here's a letter, not to the editor but to Shorty Miller, originator of the famed Tail Tale Club of Carrizozo.)

Dear Shorty,

Seem' as how you are starting a contest of benevolent liars of Lincoln County, and claim yourself to be the master of the art, I'd hesitate to class you as a malicious liar, because a malicious liar will lie 'in' a horse trade and such, but never heard you lie in a way that would damage anyone.

I'd like to be classed in that category—on this subject of tall yarns, did I ever tell you how the Mal Pals got on fire, and got put out.

I've heard my dad tell it when he was a young fellow in this country, that he and Tom Bragg went over to the Rio Grande hunting work, horseback.

On the way back they came to where the whole damn world looked like it was afire. Pa (Sayers Crockett) says to Tom, "What we gonna do. We've got to cross that river to get home." Tom says, "I don't know Sayers, but it looks like water will put it out and we'll have to get near water."

Pa says, "The nearest water is the Rio Grande, how will we get it over here?" Tom says, "We can carry it in our boots and hats."

So they rode to the Rio Grande and carried water in their boots and hats, they dipped the Rio Grande dry, and it's been dry over since, carrying water back to put the Mal Pals out.

Yours faithfully,
Erv Crockett

Vera Beall won high and Eltha Merrell won low.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Holmes of Truth or Consequences, N. M. brought her parents the Monroe Howards home after several weeks visit with them. They stayed at her brother Jim Howards' home for over a week while they were talking a vacation to various points over the State. Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Howard will be home for a while.

Tranquillo Silva reports very successful fleet operation of the school buses in Capitán schools. The new system used in larger schools by assigning seats to students which make it easier and faster to load and unload. The first group getting in goes to the rear of the bus etc. to unload vice versa from the front. There is better discipline.

Mrs. Cora Dutton won the lovely world globe at the Lincoln County Fair given by the World Book encyclopedia co. She held the lucky number Alma and Ben Sullivan are the local representatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Gouchmour and three children of Roswell moved here to one of Jack Young's houses to make their home. Mr. Gouchmour works in Roswell and is home on the weekends. Their older son started to school. Welcome. The Dusty Williams family moved to the Champ Ferguson

House on west fifth street a month ago. They sold their property to Gerald Dean. The former depot building and land. Grace was very ill and still is not able to take care of her beauty shop. Therefore the change. We hope you get strong very soon and stay in good health.

During the rain storm that was so severe several weeks ago near the Tranky Silva ranch there was a lucky accident. Two rains before water had run through their house. They had a ditch open in which a gas line was to be laid. And this heavy rain came and through the house it went. The entire family of five were working to keep it out of the bedroom and a big bolt of lightning hit between them. Just a ball of fire. They are fortunate to be alive as all were in water. They are very grateful.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Cummins of Meza, Arizona recently visited his brother Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Cummins here. He should be remembered as he worked for Titworth Co. 7 years before World War I.

In El Paso for the weekend. He's majoring in mechanical engineering.

Bobby Leonard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Leonard, was home for the weekend from Eastern N. M. U. at Portales.

Col. Jim Snow is in the Carrizozo hospital with a bad case of flu, but no pneumonia.

Ward Leslie went to St. Mary's hospital in Roswell September 21 for an indefinite stay.

Mrs. J. G. Moore received word Sunday morning that her mother, Mrs. Annie Lawson of Florence, Alabama, had suffered a stroke. Mrs. Moore left that evening on the trip to Florence to be with her mother.

Mr. T. B. Smoot
 Carrizozo, New Mexico

Dear Mr. Smoot:

Referring to your letter to our Lino Superintendent, Mr. Joe Wigley, concerning the Cooperative's proposal to purchase the electric distribution plant in Carrizozo, I will attempt to answer to the best of my ability the questions you bring up.

- If the sale should be consummated, it is our intention to station a well qualified service man in Carrizozo, who will be capable of taking care of any major or minor outages, sub-station repair, maintenance and operation and hot line work. This man will also have a qualified helper to assist him.
- It is our intention to station a well qualified service man in Carrizozo, who will be capable of taking care of any major or minor outages, sub-station repair, maintenance and operation and hot line work. This man will also have a qualified helper to assist him.
- As to the re-wiring of homes in Carrizozo, the Cooperative will not require any re-wiring in the home. There may be minor changes at the service entrance and meter loop, where the consumer wants additional power, which is controlled only by the New Mexico State Electrical Board and which would be in effect, even though the Village should retain the distribution plant and now in effect in Carrizozo and have found as much as 30 per cent savings per month on the same usage. I believe this comparison is available at the town-office.

Mr. Smoot, you will find that the original move to sell was made by the town officials. We have accepted their offer and proposal and are not taking any part in the decision which must be made by the town residents. We sincerely hope that the purchase can be consummated, which will be of benefit to them.

If there are any other questions regarding this matter, please do not hesitate to call on us.

Very truly yours,

Mr. W. F. Ball, Mayor
 Town of Carrizozo
 Carrizozo, New Mexico

Dear Mr. Ball:

The following is a report from our servicemen concerning the power outage occurring on Saturday, September 9, 1961.

Recorded outage 1:03 P. M. Reported to serviceman Elon Guthrie at 1:30 P. M. Service restored to the Carrizozo Sub-Station from the Alamogordo Sub-Station by serviceman Bill Randle at 2:45 P. M. Overload on the Oscuro breakers caused outage at Carrizozo and Capitan around 7:00 P. M. A call to Line Superintendent Joe Wigley in Alamogordo by Mrs. A. N. Spencer was the first notification of this outage. Service was restored to the Carrizozo Sub-Station from the Hollywood Sub-Station at 8:10 P. M. by Mr. Wigley.

The first outage at 1:03 P. M. was caused by lightning hitting a pole on the transmission line east of Ruidoso. Cause of the second outage is explained above.

It is true that had a serviceman been located in Carrizozo, service could have been restored in both instances in a matter of 10 or 15 minutes. At present, our servicemen have to travel from either Capitan or Alamogordo. This travel time, plus the time it takes to notify them amounts to 45 minutes to 1 hour. As I have said before, a good qualified serviceman located in Carrizozo would restore service on any transmission line outage in a matter of 10 to 15 minutes.

We do not like outages any more than the consumer does, but in the case of storm damages, there is little that can be done to prevent them. You may rest assured that service will be restored in any case, just as soon as possible. Your cooperation in notifying us immediately when outages occur will be appreciated.

Jay D. Lasater, Manager
OTERO COUNTY ELECTRIC COOPERATIVE, INC.
