

Voters give big YES to city sales tax

Carrizozo voters approved a one-cent city sales tax and sale of the city power distribution system to REA by a three to one majority Tuesday.

The final tally in the upset election was 304 in favor, 103 against.

It's a rare thing when citizens vote to place an additional tax upon themselves, but observers said most voters knew what they were doing. Proponents of the sales tax say these benefits will now come to Carrizozoans:

1. Elimination of half the town's debt, $228,000, which REA will assume when they take over the power system.
2. Power rates as low as other New Mexico towns, probably up to a third lower for big users.
3. Local power system will be rebuilt.
4. The sales tax will in all likelihood bring in more revenue than the power system has been making, and will permit the city to make some much-needed improvements.

City trustees met 30 minutes after the polls closed Tuesday night. It was a calm meeting.

Dissenters Albert Roberts and Leandro Vega, who raised the protest petition to have the people vote on the sales tax after a stacked special session of the board had passed it, canvassed the poll books and declared it was a fair election.

Mayor W. F. Ball and trustee Jeto Voss, who were instrumental in passing the sales tax, had little to say in the two-hour session.

The trustees did take some regular action Tuesday night: they approved a batch of bills, mostly for maintenance of city-owned equipment and vehicles; they said election judges and clerks were to get $10 for their 10-hour day, plus meals; they ruled that city water lines would be laid only to where private property began, and if a home-owner wanted city water he could pay the cost of bringing it across private property; they ruled that the city wouldn't pay the state school tax for things it purchased (although it would continue to charge the school tax on things it sells, like water and power).

At the end of the friendly meeting the trustees agreed to have the election on sale of the city power system — promised if the sales tax passed — on October 31, a Tuesday. That would allow the sales tax to go into effect on November 1.

Most trustees considered the next election superfluous. It's obvious that at least three-fourths of the citizens favor selling the power system to REA.

The next election will be open to a limited number of people — only those who paid a tax in the last year on real estate within the city limits, and who live inside the city boundaries.

Mayor W. F. Ball said when the smoke cleared:

"This is a clear-cut indication of the Carrizozo voters that they are ready to go forward with town finances, and through this solid financial footing — the sales tax — to other improvements.

"Just what the next step is, I'm not sure. For one thing, we must hold an election to sell the electric distribution system, as required by law. It is both expensive, and in this case, unnecessary, but we'll have to do it.

"After REA takes over our distribution system you can look for two things — reduced electric rates for most of our citizens, and some trouble during the change-over from our old system to REA's new one. We've had outages in the past and we'll have some in the future — but less of them.

"Among the things Carrizozo needs and needs badly, is overall planning. I intend to continue to give full support to the city planning commission.

"In line with the planning commission, I think one of our first steps will be to start a city-wide street paving program, with a little cost to the home-owner as possible, as soon as we see how the sales tax money comes in.

"Another lesson from the Tuesday election is that Carrizozo people are taking a keen interest in town affairs — look at the heavy turnout. Credit is due those on both sides who worked to explain all of the issues.

"The election, I think, was fair, and the issue was aired rather completely — I think most citizens know a lot more about the town's financial chaps and power system than they did eight weeks ago. And that's good.

"Where do we go from here? Forward. We owe what the "necessary ingredient" that has held us back — a firm, steady, fair source of income to run the city — and there's nothing to stop Carrizozo from becoming the kind of city we want it to be. It will take the aid of everyone in town — the city's trustee's can't do it alone — and I know the citizens of Carrizozo will help."

Two soldiers charged in slashing after the football game Friday night

Two Stallion Site soldiers are charged with assault with a deadly weapon after one of them sliced a local high schooler with a razor blade knife.

The fracas happened last Friday night. The soldiers said they were taunted by a car-load of Carrizozo youths as they drove around the streets. The sheriff's office said the soldiers might have stopped another car than the one they were looking for, but anyway the soldiers did get a car full of six high school students to stop. They walked over, and as one of them tried to drag the driver out, the other reached under his arm and used the knife, according to sheriff's deputy Leandro Vega Jr.

Victim was Ernie Vega. He was taken to the hospital and 23 stitches were needed to close the wound.

The men charged are Chester E. Baugh, 21, and John T. Regan, 21. They will appear in district court.

Hours of the hunt are from noon until sunset on the 7th and from one-half hour before sunrise to sunset on the 8th.

Each hunter is required to check in for the hunt at one of the towns in the antelope area. In Carrizozo they should stop by the county courthouse, where the station will be open from Friday noon until 10 p.m. Friday night, October 6. The station will reopen at 5 a.m. on Saturday, October 7. Hunters have been assigned to a unit and must hunt in that area. The building for the thrift shop is being donated by Mrs. Era Smith. The shop will handle resale merchandise in good condition. Some items will be taken on consignment with all profits going to the building fund of the church.

Opening date will be announced soon.

JUDGE DROPS CASE

Judge McCulloch, sitting in district court Monday, dropped a case against the Ruidoso hospital charging mistreatment. It'll probably be appealed to the state supreme court. No decision was made on the Ruidoso paving lawsuit.

Square Dance At Ancho

There will be a square dance at the Ancho community hall on Saturday, October 7. The entire community is invited, no admission charge.

About People

Mrs. Parrish and Mrs. Kelly were in Albuquerque over the weekend.

Fortino Beltran went to Capitán Friday to see his grandson, Pete Carabagal play football. It is Pete's first year.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Milligan and Fortino Beltran attended the fair at Roswell Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. L. B. Fribble and son Iris of Hobbs visited the Albert Seays recently.

Surprise birthday party

On October 2 Mrs. Nell had a surprise birthday dinner at 8 p.m. honoring Vincent Bell, who was 82 years old and present to help him enjoy his birthday dinner were Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Smoot, and two daughters Minnie and Sharon and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Gallagher Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Smoot.

Mr. Bell has been with the automobile business for 50 years and an authorized General Motors dealer for 40 years, on September 15 of 1954 he received the New Mexico automotive dealers association hall of fame award. He has seen many things happen in Carrizozo, he is active and is present in his business every day.

To honor Joe Skeen

JOE SKEEN

The Carrizozo Country Club will be the setting for a testimonial reception Friday night honoring State Senator and Mrs. Joe Skeen upon his recent election as state Republican party chairman.

All friends of Sen. Skeen in Lincoln County are welcome, county party chairman H. H. Shire said Tuesday. Several Republicans over the state have been invited, he said, including Gov. Ed Mechem, who has replied he will come "if possible."

Shire said the celebration meeting would stress the "young" theme. Two prominent members of the state Young Republicans organization will be on hand, Holm Saurum III of Socorro and Robert Doer of Las Cruces, and one of them will give the main address — just which one wasn't decided at press time.

The gathering will open with a reception at the country club, and after the program a buffet will be served. The meeting is being sponsored by the Lincoln County Republican Women's organization.

Gladya Knox of Ruidoso, chairman of the women's group, said most Republican women in the county are taking a hand in preparations. She added that Mrs. Genevieve Walker of Capitán and Mrs. Wilbur McKnight of Hondo are in charge of decorations. Mildred Moore and Frances Lovelace were putting up red, white and blue bunting Wednesday afternoon.

Willis Lovelace of Corona has been active in organizing the gathering.

Shire said he had a couple of business items to bring before the county central committee, and he would present them from the floor during the business meeting.

At least 200 are expected at the country club. The reception will get underway at 8 p.m. Adults only is the rule, and members of the GOP women's group are asked to bring a salad to round out the buffet.

Two boys, age 6 and 7, break in tavern; losses range from cigars to peanuts

Two youthful burglars were apprehended by police after they went on a spree of breaking and entering that ended with Lewis Farris' calf being splattered with six dozen eggs.

Here's how police reconstruct the crime: the boys threw a metal car jack at the back door of the Nike Tavern late Sunday morning. Successfully getting through that door, they broke through two more doors to get at the goodies. Ignoring the array of bottled booze, the boys, one six years old, the other seven, contented themselves with gorging on peanuts, Hershey bars and suchlike, and as a final kick tried to smoke a cigar each. The cigar smoking was a failure, so they left, taking candy, coffee, gum and $2.20 in pennies.

Next stop was at Lewis Farris' farm, close by the Nike. Lewis was in church, but he'd left six dozen eggs in a shed. The boys gleefully plucked all of the eggs at a forlorn calf in a pen.

From there they scaled the wire fence around the swimming pool, cached the pennies in the pool pump room.

By then Farris had alerted city policeman Choncho, who quickly picked up a pair of suspicious boys, who readily confessed.

No charges will be filed against them. Their parents have guaranteed to make restitution for the damage done.

Volleyball UNDERWAY

Adult volleyball is now being played by town teams. The school gym is opened each Monday night at 7:15, and the volleyball section ends at 9:15. Anyone is welcome, and most of the players are beginners too. Last Monday about 20 enjoyed a hot four games.

Only requirement is to wear gym shoes, and leave the kids at home.

17 called for induction physicals

Seventeen Lincoln County men have been ordered to take pre-induction physical examinations for the September quota, says the local draft board.

A bus-load of them will leave for Albuquerque Thursday.

Two men were called for the October period, and they entered the army for two-year terms October 31. They are George W. Harkey and Espridon G. Farmer, Jr.

Lincoln County continues to have about a 50 per cent rejection rate, for mental, moral and physical defects. That's in line with the national average of rejects.

Halloween-trick or treat for charity

Plans are underway for school children this year to "Trick or Treat" for pennies instead of candy. And the pennies will go to the United Nations Children's Fund.

Mrs. Margaret Stearns is local UNICEF organizer. She said this week that grades three to eight of the public schools and Santa Rita school, and the local PTA, have agreed to cooperate in the venture.

Groups of Trick or Treaters are escorted and protected at all times. Identification labels and tags will make them official UNICEF collectors.

No start saving those pennies—Halloween's not far off.

Adult clothing

All those interested in participating in an evening adult class in clothing construction are invited to come to the home economics room in the junior high school building Tuesday evening, October 10, at 7 p.m. At that time the class will be organized and plans made for meeting specific needs in clothing construction for each class member. Tentative plans include work with woollens and some of the new "miracle" fibers, and help with problems in fitting garments.

Actual class work will begin the week of October 23 which allows two weeks from the time the class is organized so that members will have sufficient time to buy the materials, patterns and notions needed. There is to be no charge for the instruction.

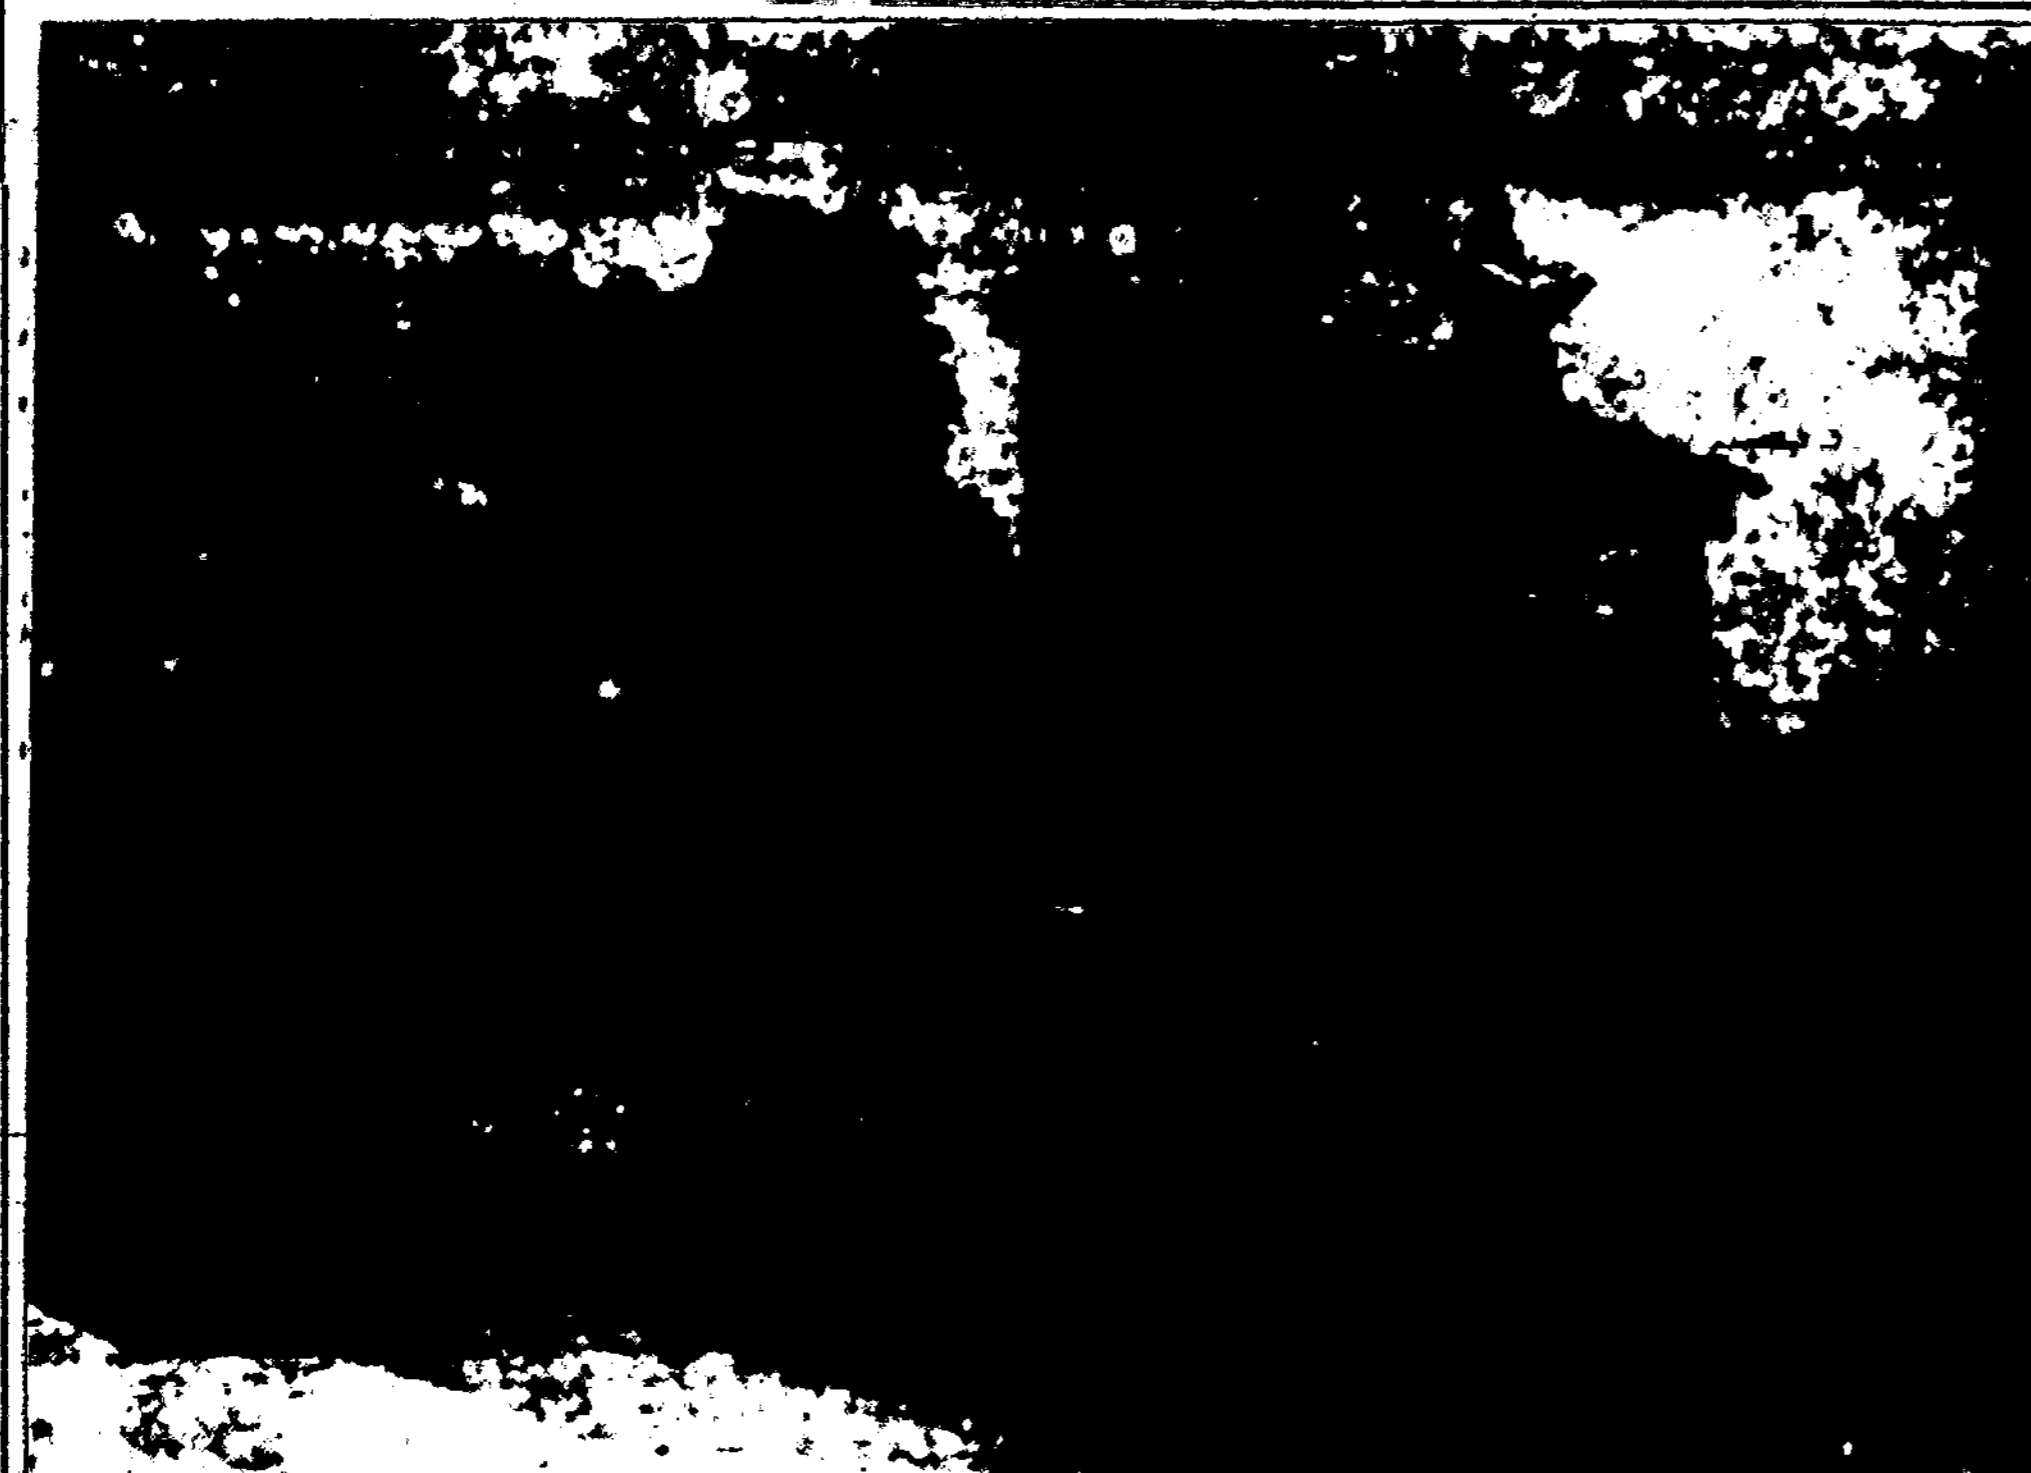

Anyone interested should contact Mrs. Emma Catherine Lawton, the instructor, after 5 p.m. by phoning 76.

Construction starts on new church

Representatives of the Banes Company, Albuquerque, arrived in Carrizozo Tuesday to begin construction on the new $30,000 Trinity Methodist church.

Mr. Vernon Jolly and Mr. Wilby Banes arrived by plane to meet the job foreman, Gordon Chitwood who will represent the Banes Co. at the site in all matters related to the project.

Concrete work will begin on Friday and should be finished within the next ten days. The next phase will be to erect the steel framework. Provided there is no delay in the arrival of the steel, the project should be complete and the new church opened late this year or early next year, according to the pastor, Rev. Thomas A. Banks.

Grizzlies stampede over Corona

There's no defense against power and speed, and this Corona's Cardinals found out Friday night at the Carrizozo stadium when the Grizzlies crushed them 49-20, for their fourth straight victory.

The contest started as Woody Dame kicked for the Cardinals from the south end of the field. Carrizozo took the ball on their own 20. Three first downs and four plays later Bobby Dan Crenshaw went around right end for 36 yards and paydirt to climax an 80-yard drive. Crenshaw threw the PAT pass to Frank Gallegos.

Two series of downs later the Cardinals were forced to punt and Carrizozo took over on their 41. In five plays the Grizzlies pushed to Corona's two-yard line. With a first down and goal to go Carrizozo was penalized 15 yards; then Crenshaw threw a pass and Dame intercepted and was tackled on his own 10.

Now, with Corona in charge of the ball, Dame threw a pass and Beltran intercepted it, returning it to the Cardinal's 10.

The Grizzlies managed to get the ball to the one-yard line but the Cardinal's wall wouldn't break — and the half ended without that touchdown. The score: Carrizozo 26, Corona 7.

The second half broke as Crenshaw kicked and Lightfoot returned it to his own 12. Two series of plays later Corona was forced to kick and Carrizozo took over on the 50.

On the first down Beltran went off tackle and broke loose for 50 yards and another score for the Grizzlies. Ortiz completed the pass to Seek for the extra point.

On the second play of the final quarter Ortiz intercepted a pass thrown by Dame and was pushed out of bounds on his own 7. Beltran carried to the 20, then Crenshaw gained two more yards. On the second down Crenshaw again carried, this time through the middle for 78 yards on a five block by Beltran — another touchdown. Ortiz went around left end to add another point to the Grizzlies' growing list.

Later in the quarter Corona went 44 yards for a tally as Dame plunged over from the 10. Dame ran for the extra point, but was not allowed to score.

Again the Grizzlies got in the drivers seat and drove down the field for 60 yards with Crenshaw pulling the throttle for the final 45 yards and another touchdown. Cosme Gallegos carried for the extra point, but didn't make it.

Beltran booted the ball for the Grizzlies and Lightfoot returned it to his own 15. On the first down Dame passed to Clint Roper, moving the ball to the Grizzly 21 yard line before being downed by Gallegos.

Again Dame passed to Roper, this time for nine yards. Then Dame went for 12 and a score for Corona. On this play Dame was carried off the field as he was hit hard by Frank Gallegos and Garvin Griffin. Lightfoot carried the ball for the extra point.

Only 29 seconds were left in the game then. Lightfoot kicked for Corona and David Ortiz got the ball on his own 47, and that was the end of the game—Carrizozo 46, Corona 20.

At halftime the crowd was entertained by the fine Carrizozo pep squad.

Carrizozo B team will play Capitán B on the home field on October 14.

The Grizzlies will tangle with Mountainair, a class B team, this Friday. It's a fill-in game since Hondo cancelled out. It will be a fine game to watch because Manual beat Mountainair recently, and Carrizozo probably will go against Manual in the state class C championship playoff.

Meanwhile, a future winning team is taking shape. The Grizzly Cubs (B team) defeated Ruidoso B team last Saturday afternoon there by a score of 10 to 12.

This is the first time Carrizozo has ever had a B team. It's composed of about four sophomores, four juniors and the rest freshmen. The scoring Saturday was by Carlos Zamora, Mike Voss and Raynell Sanchez.

The game Friday night here was highlighted by extra-curricular entertainment. At one point the overloaded power system blew a fuse, plunging the crowded stadium into darkness. A gang in the audience threw rocks and, reportedly, a pop bottle at the players, but police couldn't find the culprits.

Then a drunk, warned repeatedly to shut up his foul language, started for high school principal Guy Casey and got a punch in the teeth by our quiet-spoken principal. The tipsy fan was carried off by a deputy, and the school board filed drunk and disorderly charges against him Tuesday.

WILL HARRISON'S Inside the Capital

JIMMY LAMB COMING BACK

Jim Lamb of Las Cruces who resigned from the state corporation commission in December 1959 to take a job in Afghanistan is returning to New Mexico in December 1961, just in front of the Demo primary corporation commission run for the 1962 election.

The only place open in the three-member commission is that of Johnny Block who has made it known that he will go for re-election.

Lamb's place on the commission was filled by Gov. John Burroughs with G. Y. Falls who won an election run in 1950 for a term that goes until the end of 1964.

Lamb hasn't disclosed his intentions about trying again for the corporation commission.

MURRAY MORGAN FOR ANOTHER JOB

Murray Morgan of Alamogordo who got a taste of state jobbing in four years as land commissioner (1957-60) is shooting for state treasurer.

He can't very well go for the lands job against Commissioner Johnny Walker, his buddy and almost certain for renomination regardless of who runs against him.

Walker sponsored Morgan as his successor after Walker had served four years (1953-56) and was not eligible to run again.

The treasurer job which doesn't amount to much and pays $10,000 a year is also eyed by Joe Grant, who had the place 1953-56 and Adair Goetzoff of Carlsbad, state civil defense director under Gov. John Burroughs, 1959-60.

SECRETARY BACKS MAN FOR HER JOB

Betty Fiorina, the secretary of state who tried so hard to get over the four-term proposition in the Sept. 19 election and failed, a constitutional amendment that would have given her a shot at four years more in the $10,000 job, is now plugging her administrative assistant, John La Rouge Martinez, for the Demo nomination.

That would be a twist. There hasn't been a male secretary of state since 1920 when the ladies got the right to vote and hold office.

And there has been only one male nominee, a Republican who got beat.

There must be a dozen Democratic women eyeing the place, among them Betty Doak of Santa Fe, Jebbie Calvanti of Albuquerque and Carlsbad, Alberta Miller of Albuquerque.

TWO OTHERS SEEK ANOTHER TERM

Secretary Fiorina, Treasurer Joe Callaway and Auditor Bob Castner are the Democratic office holders hit by the defeat of the four-year term amendment and are not eligible to run again next year.

Coming up for second terms are Atty. Gen. Earl Hartley and Land Commissioner Johnny Walker, and over in the corporation commission, which is not a part of the executive department of the state government, Commissioner Johnny Block.

The corporation commissioners go for six-year terms.

In the supreme court Justice Zig Noble of Las Vegas and Irwin Moses of Santa Rosa were appointed to the court by Gov. John Burroughs.

SKEEN SETS OFF SOME EXCITEMENT

State Sen. Joe Skeen of Lincoln County, a new type chairman for the state Republicans, has generated excitement as an advocate of the deal to call off further sales of state land.

The land sales deal could be a major issue in the approaching elections.

Demo Land Commissioner Johnny Walker has been selling grazing land at prices several times above the amount that livestockmen could make a profit but the prices are applauded by school people who reap the benefits of the high bids.

While much of the state is applauding the Walker program others see it as ruining the livestock industry in New Mexico.

WALKER CLEARS

Land Commissioner Johnny Walker who stands to pick up a $54,000 commission for the sale of automatic voting machines to the state has been held by the attorney general as exempt from a 1961 law requiring public officers and employees to get prior approval for such deals.

The state board of finance approved Walker's bid of about $1,800 a machine for more than 300 of the gadgets.

Democrat Walker got the contract, Democrat Finance Board Member Bob Castner asked for the legal opinion on Walker's right to engage in state business, and Demo Atty. Gen. Earl Hartley came through with a ruling that the Demo land commissioner was not subject to the terms of the 1961 law. It remains that it was the Republican board of finance that gave Walker the contract.

PTA, meeting next Monday, will hear White Sands officer tell of career jobs

Employment Development officer Cliff of White Sands will speak to the Carrizozo PTA at 7:30 p.m. October 9. His topic will be the advantages of a career in the missile program utilizing the Cooperative Student Training Program. Some of his points:

As the trainee continues in the program, he has opportunity for advancement. Promotions are dependent upon the satisfactory completion of work assignments and with the completion of certain college courses with satisfactory grades.

The trainee is on the job for six months and then goes back to college for the same length of time. The curriculum at New Mexico State University, University Park, N. M. and Texas Western College, El Paso, Texas, are especially geared to fit in with the work-study plan.

Applicants must pass a Civil Service examination. If they qualify their names are entered on a register stating their salary level, their major beginning work phase.

The placement of trainees at WSMR has been carefully worked out. They are assigned to major organizations based upon the need and ability of the organization to provide adequate training in a specialized field.

For example, a student majoring in electrical engineering will be assigned where his work experience is directly related to that major.

Trainees are eligible for federal benefits of accruing annual leave, build credit toward retirement and participate in the government's insurance plans.

Sometimes when a young person starts out in college, the time which looms ahead seems endless. But there are many examples of highly professional employes at WSMR today who complete the are valuable assets to the government with their combined contribution of technical know-how and their military training.

Young women are encouraged to take advantage of the opportunities offered by the work-study plan. These are several scientific fields especially adaptable for women and so the distaff side may take its place in the exciting world of missiles and rockets.

The program may not be the complete answer to the demand for additional trained personnel. But it is a step forward in the right direction and a boom to enthusiastic young people working toward a degree in their chosen field.

The public is invited to attend this lecture. It will be of particular interest to parents who have children approaching graduation from high school and high school graduates.

Letter to Editor

To the Editor:

I see in the last issue where you had a letter from Ery Crockett to me about putting the fire out on the Mt. Pals several years ago, but as long as I have been in the country (50 years) I have always been told that Tex Loughry and Clark must put that fire out.

They were up there digging for gold and all at once that thing started spewing and that neither one of them had ever chewed tobacco until that day. They started chewing to get moisture to help along the fire.

Clark must get scared and started to run, but fell breaking out two front teeth and it just served his purpose as it allowed him to squirt the tobacco juice a little farther. As Clark was doing so much better job, Tex just knocked out one of his so they stayed out there several days and chewed and spit until the fire was out.

Then Clark said that was the cause of the White Sands as they were having to put so much pressure behind their spitting it caused an awful draft and it started an accumulation of the ashes on down-below. Now it is called the White Sands.

All can be a mistake and I don't want to take any of the honors of dipping the Rio Grande dry, but knowing the two mentioned last week, I can't say that in all the years I have known them I can't ever remember their having a pair of boots that would hold water. And as far as the hat was concerned, did either of them ever have a hat?

CONTROL THE KIDS

Three instances of children climbing over the wire fence around the swimming pool have been reported lately.

Water must remain in the pool to condition the concrete for some time, so parents are warned to keep their kids out of the pool area because of the danger of drowning.

Letters to Editor:

Dear Wally,
Thanks for your undated but recent letter. I was amused by the plug for your paper in the last sentence. I don't know how much historical material appears in your paper, but I'll try it for six months just to see. Check for $1.85 enclosed.
I have written a great deal on Billy the Kid and his family. You will find my research files on deposit at Lincoln. I think I have just about milked the available material dry and I am more likely to get into a controversy than to have anything original to send you. I might pull it altogether into a single article some time when the Lincoln County Days is coming up and you would like a feature article for your paper. In the meantime, please start my subscription.
Perhaps your readers could help with one point. We all know what happened to Bob Olinger, but when and where did his brother Wallace finally pass away? I have been curious about this for a long time. Can your readers enlighten me?
Yours very truly,

Graces Joines and Frances Degner.

After the luncheon the meeting was called to order by President Mrs. Carl Degner. Devotion from Acts II by Frances Degner, and the program was under the direction of Mrs. Carl Degner. During the business meeting plans were made for participation in the world wide week of prayer and self denial to be held October 25 to 30.

About People

Mrs. Marvin Roberts underwent surgery in Roswell Friday, and her condition is reported as good.
Carl Thornton left for college in Albuquerque two weeks ago after a vacation down south. He stayed at school a day, barely making the acquaintance of what he says was an "enormous" number of campus beauties, and then became ill and returned home. He was ordered to the hospital last Friday, diagnosis flu with complications. By Tuesday he had a bad cough still but expected to attend to the unfinished business at Albuquerque possibly by next week.

Mrs. Archie Old, and Mrs. Pearl Lary, both of Lubbock, were in Carrizozo from Sunday until Tuesday, staying with Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Bradley. She is a sister of the late Joe Sargent.
Mrs. Calvin Carl, Alamogordo, visited friends here Sunday. She's a former resident.
Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lednick, Alamogordo, visited Mr. and Mrs. Faye Harkey Sunday.
Miss Barbara Jean Brannan and John Bliss of Alamogordo visited Margaret Clouse going on to Albuquerque with her Saturday.

WILL HARRISON'S Inside the Capital

ROSSELL MAN LOOMS FOR SENATE POST
SANTA FE — Robert O. Anderson, wealthy and successful Roswell Republican, has become a lively prospect for appointment to the U. S. Senate if Sen. Dennis Chavez should retire.
Anderson, who had been counted out in earlier speculation because of his extensive oil lease holdings, has apparently cleared that problem and is reportedly available to Republican Gov. Ed Mechem needs him for the job.
Members of Congress may not hold federal leases.
TOP CONSIDERATION FOR FOUR PROSPECTS
The Anderson development places the Roswell oil man in a group with Governor Mechem, Lt. Gov. Tom Eolack and William Colwell of Santa Fe, state police board chairman and 1960 Republican candidate for the Senate, as the top prospects for the Senate if Senator

Chavez should retire.
Whoever got such an appointment if it came up within the next five months — before the primary filing time — would have to clear a primary election in May of next year, a general election in November, and another primary and general election two years later, 1964. The Chavez term runs until the end of 1964 but any appointee would have to be elected in the 1962 general election to hold the place.
VOTERS BOP LEGISLATURE
Legislators should stand back and examine themselves after the voting in the special election of September 19.
The voters would not authorize the legislators to fix their own salaries, continuing a type of control that prevails in 16 states.
They would not clear the legislators for service on three state finance boards.
The voters refused to give the legislators the auditing functions now held by the state auditor.
And there was firm rejection of the proposition for annual meetings of the legislature.

RETAIN BAN ON ABSENTEES
The 50,000 people who participated in the election (out of more than four times that many eligible to vote) continued the prohibition against absentee voting in New Mexico and continued the situation in which New Mexico is the only state in the country without absentee voting.

Our state has an impossible requirement for amending this part of the constitution, three fourths of the state vote and two thirds in each county.
The September 19 election was the ninth time the voters rejected the proposition, and it failed the worst ever. The vote was far short of the three fourths state total, and the proposal failed in 23 of the 32 counties for the two thirds requirement.
Ten counties cast majorities against the amendment.

ANOTHER MONTOYA IN HIGH REGARD
Samuel Z. Montoya, Santa Fe district judge and first cousin of U. S. Rep. Joe M. Montoya (Santa Fe Joe) has mounted to prime consideration for the first federal court appointment in New Mexico.
Montoya, who was appointed to the district court by Gov. J. John Burroughs and who was a whoop-it-up delegate for John Kennedy at the 1960 convention in Los Angeles, seems to have mounted above such older jurists and legislators as Rocco Malono of Roswell, the recent president of the national bar association, State Supreme Court Justice David Chavez, brother of the ailing senator, Ray Montgomery, widely respected Santa Fe lawyer.

ANOTHER MAN EYES LADIES POSITION

There's another male yearning to be secretary of state, Johnny Martinez, the top man in Betty Florina's staff.
Martinez of Albuquerque said this week that he didn't know for sure about the race but would make a final decision before the October 6 take-off of the Democratic caravan which he would join if he is a candidate.
NEVER A MAN FOR FORTY YEARS
New Mexico hasn't had a male secretary of state since women became eligible for the office in 1921, and in all that time only one male nominee for the office, a Republican lost in 1923.
In 1959 State Sen. Diamond Tooth Miller made a Democratic primary run for the place and lost to Eca Ruch.

JEBBIE CALVANI IS A CANDIDATE

Democratic ladies who have said they would like the $10,000 job in the next term are State Rep. Helen Wells of Torrance county, Betty Deal of Santa Fe, a long time statehouse officer and legislature employee, Mrs. Ralph (Jebbie) Calvani of Carlsbad and Albuquerque, Alberta Miller, assistant state purchasing agent under Gov. John Dunworth.

FORMER GOVERNOR EYES THE SENATE

John Simms of Albuquerque, governor 1953-56, is edging back into the political scene, perhaps as a candidate for United States senator if Sen. Dennis Chavez should resign.
The tip-off on Simms is likely to come in what he does about the Democratic party state tour that takes off October 6.
If he joins the two-week caravan it would seem to indicate that he is interested in something from the party. If he does not it would seem to suggest that he is willing to give the Senate nomination to U. S. Rep. Joe M. Montoya.

Lincoln County sheep win at Roswell Fair

Lincoln County exhibitors took a large part of the awards in the Rambouillet, fine wool and medium wool breeding sheep classes at the Eastern New Mexico Fair in Roswell last week.
Wayne and Lois Dunlap had the reserve champion Rambouillet ram and ewe and the champion fine wool ram.
Dan Knight had the champion fine wool ewe. Cooper Brothers had the champion medium wool ram and the Harrington Sisters had the champion medium wool ewe.
Ivan Watson had the two high selling pen of fine wool rams in the ram sale. The only rams selling were the Columbia rams bought by John A. Cooper.
Others with rams in the sale from Lincoln County were Tom Slaughter, and Wayne and Lois Dunlap. Some of the buyers from Lincoln County were Ed Reynolds, Jr., Tom Sorell, Shanks and Joe McKnight.

Russ Eddings, manager of the phone company here, took home the $15 football guessing contest prize money this week—mostly on the strength of out-guessing the experts in the Montana-New Mexico game upset.

Six others picked all of the games right, but again most didn't guess high enough on most of the scores.

Next closest to Eddings was Claude Currie. Others, in order of closest picking, were: Emil Stachmeyer, George Vega, Mrs. Victor Jaramilla, J. N. McDaniel and Marcos Barola.

Here's how the games turned out:

Cloudcroft Aspencade draws a crowd; don't forget Ruidoso's tour this week

(Ed's note: The following report is written by Kit Carson, well-known El Paso writer and attorney.)

People swarmed into the Sacramento mountains around Cloudcroft last Sunday for the annual Aspencade. Every trail and every canyon was jammed full of motorists who had come from all over the country to witness the waning season of the aspens, oaks, maple and other beautiful shrubbery of the Cloudcroft region. The flowers, too, were gorgeous.

Several tours covering various trails of the lofty mountain region were offered the hundreds of sight-seers. The event was a joint venture of the chambers of commerce of Alamogordo and Cloudcroft. It was arranged so a tour of choice could be made, but every trail was crowded.

At noon, high in the mountains at the head of Karr Canyon, in a grove of colorful aspens, the barbecue pits were loaded with delicious meats and drinks to appease the appetites of the motorists seeking the beauties of nature that only the Autumnal season can offer. The chuck wagon was prepared to feed more than 1,200 people, but it seemed they would run far short as the throngs poured by, on their way to other beautiful areas. It was delicious, too!

Autumn splendor in all its grandeur was viewed by many as they toured the gorgeous scenes of the winding canyons through the many crests of the Sacramento in the Lincoln National Forest. Photogenic spots were selected along the trail and photographers were granted their chance at capturing the wonderful scenes the colorful aspens, oaks and maples offer at this season of the year. At spots the glistening sands of the White Sands Missile Range were a wonder to view. The eager throngs seemed to enjoy the marvelous show which Nature afforded them.

Next Sunday, a tour of the same nature will be conducted from Ruidoso. It will be sponsored by the Ruidoso Chamber of Commerce and no one should miss it. Mrs. Carson and I attended the Cloudcroft Aspencade. We could not afford to miss both of them, since scheduled appointments prevented the Ruidoso tour. To an extent, we were reminded of other sections of the United States and of the North American Continent.

Virginia, in season, has an outstanding color of autumnal foliage, very beautiful. So does the wonderful drive over the well-chronicled Lookout Mountains of Tennessee. The Blue Mountains of Oregon and many other portions of the States, including that spectacular drive of the famous Alcan Highway into Alaska, all portray the wonderful works of Nature.

Yet, after making this weekend trip, a decision must be passed down that they afford nothing that New Mexico can not compete with, and, in many instances, surpass.

The boasting of the Land of Enchantment can not be overdone—the State itself will back every word spoken of its splendor.

Jack M. Campbell of Roswell, pictured above, this week announced that he is a candidate for governor subject to the 1962 Democratic primary. In so announcing, he said that New Mexico's most pressing need is the establishment of more stability in state government. The New Mexico speaker of the House outlined a 10-point initial platform which he said would be expanded as the campaign progresses.

Court. He will work from here. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Godwin, moved to Corona.

The Wallace at Smokey Bear Motel are building several new units on the east and south. Progressing nicely, too. Treats new home just west of them is going up fast also. Many residents have planted new grass, etc., making changes for the better. It is good to see the progress in our city.

Eloy Sedillo took his sister Helen, who has been home with their mother, Mrs. Beatrice Sedillo, to Albuquerque to enter her junior year in the university. She has done very well and enjoys her studies. She expects to become a teacher. Eloy will visit relatives in Albuquerque for awhile.

Mrs. Johnnie Annarato made a business trip to Roswell last Tuesday.

Any of our readers who has any kind of news, do call me for we need news from everyone. This is our column.

Shower for Ted Zamora and Christine Gallegos

A shower was held Saturday night, September 23, for Ted Zamora and Christine Gallegos. The table was decorated with red roses, more than 200 guests attended, and many useful and beautiful gifts were received by the couple.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ramon Miralbo and Mrs. Dama Leman, all of El Paso.

The couple will be married Friday, October 13, with reception at the home of the bride. The dance will be at the Nike Hall starting at 9 p.m. Everyone is welcome.

New Mexico beer consumption shows a gain, average person drank 12.3 gals.

New Mexico beer consumption continued to show gains again in 1960, a record maintained over the past more than a dozen years, according to the 1961 edition of the Brewers Almanac just released by the United States Brewers Association, Inc.

The state's barrelage total was 376,314, an increase of 3,570 barrels over 1959. Per capita consumption based on 1960 population figures was 12.3 gallons.

At the national level, almanac figures show the brewing industry broke all records for sales and production of malt beverages for the second year in a row.

Sales, as represented by tax-paid withdrawals of beer and ale, reached an all-time high of $7,912,745 barrels of 31 gallons each. This marked an 0.3 per cent increase over the 1959 total of $7,622,359 barrels which, in turn, had been the biggest sales year in United States brewing history.

Meanwhile, malt beverage production was similarly exceeding all previous levels, with a 1960 output of 93,415,363 barrels compared with 93,127,427 in 1959. Production normally outruns sales volumes—due to surplus supplies, as well as to give time for beer and ale to be properly aged and ready for market.

Per capita consumption of malt beverages in 1960 was 15.1, based upon the entire population, regardless of age. The Almanac points out that if persons under 21 were excluded, and weighing other groups to reflect their customary use of malt beverages, the 1960 per capita consumption was nearly 23.1 gallons, placing beer and ale among the most popular adult beverages.

The Brewers Almanac is an industry fact book issued annually by the Brewers Association, oldest incorporated trade group in the nation which will next year celebrate the 100th anniversary of its establishment. Its members produce nearly 83 per cent of the beer and ales brewed in this country, and the industry as a whole caucuses some five billion dollars to flow annually through American trade and governmental channels.

Among the tangential industries that benefit from brewing are manufacturers of cans, bottles, crowns and related container materials, for which brewers paid out in 1960 an estimated $16 million.

The industry used about 8.9 billion cans last year, along with some 238 billion bottles of various sizes.

HOW BANKS HELP

Local Businesses

Today, banks have some $40 billion in commercial and industrial loans outstanding, plus another $5 billion in agricultural loans. That's big money; but it's not all in big businesses. Banks, which are themselves local, help small local enterprises as well as larger ones with sound credit needs of many kinds. Whether you are a merchant, farmer, contractor, or in some other line, look to us for economical financing of fixtures, machinery, inventory—whatever your credit need may be. Come in and tell us how we may be helpful to you!

WATER
-used until worn out

The men at Kennecott Copper's reduction plant in Hurley, N. M. have a saying, "We use water until it wears out." Almost literally, this saying is a reality, and for good reason. To produce copper concentrate, the reduction plant uses nine million gallons of water daily.

That's a lot of water, and obtaining it has been a problem for many years. Today, Kennecott draws its supply from wells, some of them 600 feet deep, located 16 miles from Hurley. A complex pipe and pumping system transports the water from its source to the plants that use it.

To preserve this vital resource, Kennecott engineers have developed a carefully planned system geared to recovering every drop of water possible. The water is used and re-used, until, as the men at the reduction plant say, "it wears out."

Such conservation is an old story at Kennecott. From the very beginning, every effort has been made to conserve a great natural resource by recovering as much copper as possible from low grade ore. Conservation, as a key to the continued production of copper in New Mexico, is also a key to the continued production of economic benefits for New Mexico by Kennecott's operations.

Herman E. Schultz

passed away

This week word has reached us at Alto about the death of Herman E. Schultz on September 12. His daughter, Mrs. Wayne Burgess, of Red Wing, Minn., sent the announcement of his death in Red Wing and the funeral services and interment at Cadott, Wis.

Mr. Schultz was making his home with his daughter at the time and had been there several years. About five years ago he made his home here with the Walter Schneiders as he was a chinchilla owner and had his animals at the Ruidoso Chinchilla Farms just south of Alto.

His friends are saddened by this news as we had hoped he would return for another visit to us and he did two years ago. As a tribute to him we can say that it has brightened the lives of people in the community by having known him and by having him among us for a while.

Mica Pearl Crockett was here from El Paso on Saturday for an enjoyable trip in the mountains. Mr. and Mrs. H. Smith of Quitaque, Texas visited his uncle, Bill Van Pelt and Mrs. Van Pelt recently.

The George Hightower returned to Silver City last Wednesday. They had been here to see Mrs. W. N. Hightower and Mrs. Charles Harrington of Alamogordo was also here at the same time and took Mrs. W. N. Hightower to Alamogordo with her when she went home on Wednesday. There she will stay for a while until she fully recuperates from her recent illness.

Mr. and Mrs. George Fox of Durango, Colo., stopped in Wed-

The Kings of Carrizozo stopped in Monday in connection with the ballot boxes for the election next day. Alice King, being the clerk of Lincoln County, was getting over the county taking care of the preparations for the elections.

The Forrest Lowes of Roswell were here the past weekend.

Friday Mr. and Mrs. Frank Crawford of Roswell stopped by to see the Lindamoods.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Compton, Jr., of El Paso, are vacationing in their Gavilan Canyon home.

Travis Maples returned last week from the Veterans hospital in Albuquerque and is much improved at the present time.

Mrs. Sam Allen returned from Snyder, Texas last Wednesday after a stay there with their daughter, Mrs. Judith Ann Kitchens, and children.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Wimberly stopped in the store Sunday on their way home to Ruidoso.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Preston were in Springville, Ariz., over the past weekend.

The Clifford Keith family of Ruidoso visited the McEuen and Lindamoods on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Cox, Sr., of El Paso and their house guests Sgt. and Mrs. Wayne C. Hall also of El Paso stopped in Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Cox will remain at their Ruidoso cabin for a while longer but the Halls returned to El Paso Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sigel were over from Ruidoso on Sunday.

The Earl Kings of Roswell and their house guests Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. McCune of San Diego were here the past weekend. The McCunes went on home to California, and the Kings returned to Roswell on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Kincaid of Albuquerque and their guests Mr. and Mrs. Buckley Campbell of Albuquerque and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Schmeltz of Las Cruces were here the past weekend for the bear hunting.

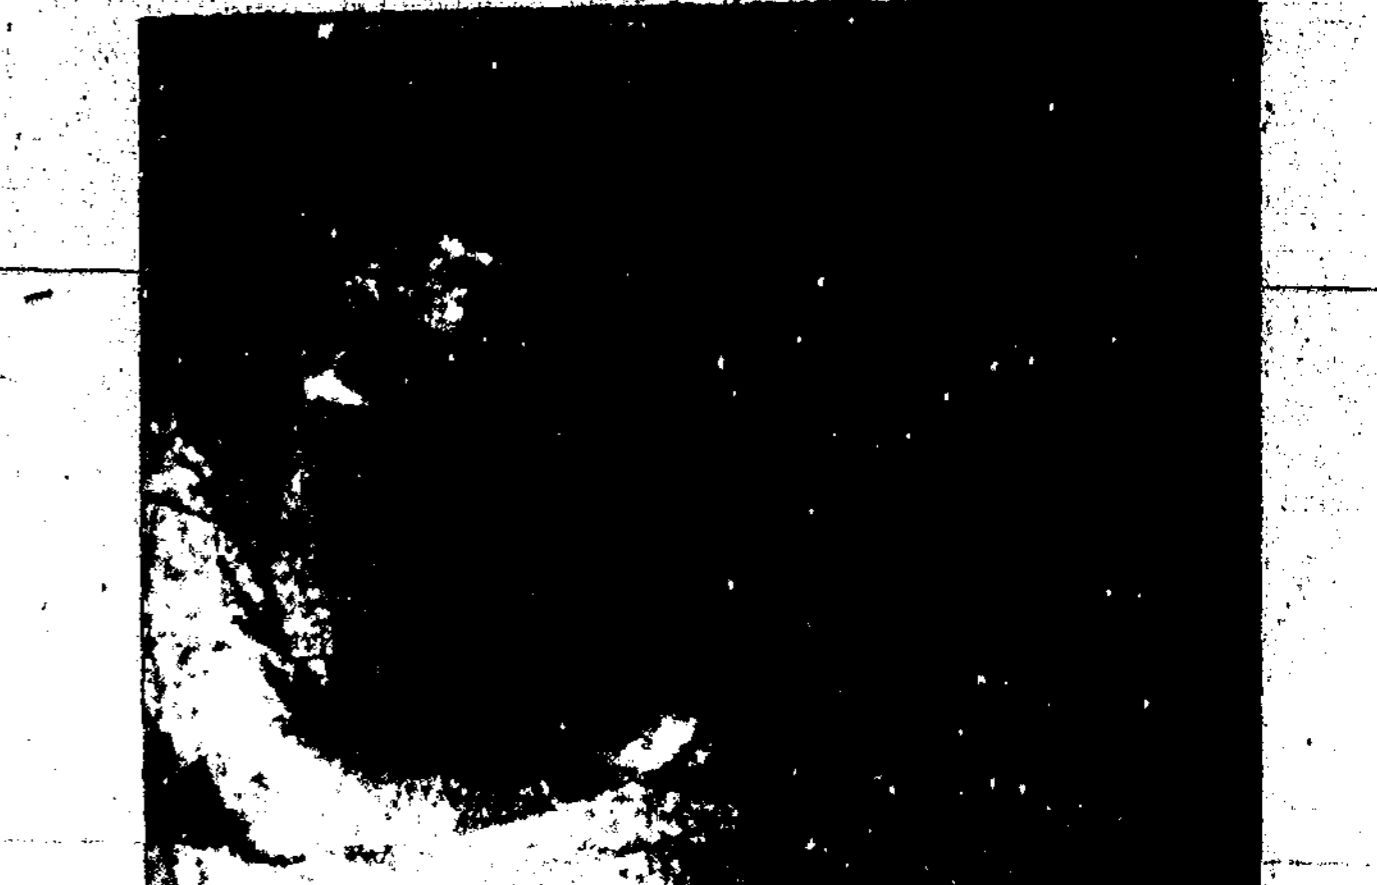

The Alan Johnsons and Mrs. George Dignall were up Sunday from Carrizozo.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Jungmanns were here from Tularosa the past weekend hunting for bear.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Adams and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hole of Canutillo, Texas spent the weekend at the Adams' home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Payman of Ruidoso and their friends Mr. and Mrs. George Nelson of Las Cruces stopped to visit the Lindamoods Sunday. The Paymans knew the Nelsons in Mont Edgecumbe, Alaska a few years ago. Mrs. Nelson was postmaster there for 12 years before returning here.

The Steve Terebenetz family of Ruidoso were here Sunday enjoying a drive in the area.

Future Homemakers of America plan for their district convention with their national emblem on the table for inspiration. Margaret Withers, chairman of the hostess committee which is responsible for arrangements for the convention, is seen planning with the local president, Rosa Torres, and vice president Martha Najer.

Committees have been organized to facilitate a smooth-functioning convention. One committee will be responsible for preparing, serving and cleaning up for the morning refreshments which will be served as the guests are arriving and registering. Other committees will decorate the auditorium, decorate and arrange for the formal service to install the new officers, decorate the school lunchroom, clean up after the lunch is served on the day of the convention, and prepare the school corridor for a nice welcome to the guests. Every FHA member is serving on at least one committee. FHA mothers and fathers and other townspeople will be most welcome to attend all or part of the district convention in Carrizozo October 14.

Top Roofing Stays on Top With Builders

More than 60 percent of the nation's home builders who subscribe to the National Home Week theme, "A Better Home—A Better Life," chose asphalt shingles for the roofs on their homes.

The reasons are clear. Asphalt shingles are low in applied cost, a driving factor in the eyes of their customers. Equally important, they are trouble free. Builders report they rarely get "call-backs"—complaints from new owners of homes roofed with asphalt shingles.

One special reason, builders choose asphalt shingles, whether for developments of hundreds of homes or for a single, custom-built house, is the wide range of color available.

Many developers use different roofing colors throughout their projects to help avoid a "sameness" from house to house. Others choose a single color to give their developments continuity. A California builder chose a soft brown asphalt shingle for all the roofs in a huge tract of homes, explaining that the "earthy tone harmonizes with the surrounding countryside."

White or pastel shades of asphalt shingles are popular with builders in areas where summer heat is a problem. These white or light shades reflect summer sun without glare or glow, adding to the efficiency of air conditioning and making even non-air-conditioned houses more comfortable.

ABOUT PEOPLE

The Roy Shafers and Linda Stearns were in Roswell Saturday. Maxine Roberts went to Roswell for surgery and is doing fine. In fact she is expected home Wednesday.

Myrtle White went to Roswell to see her father Ward Leslie who has been in the hospital there for some time. Myrtle thought Ward was better.

Mrs. Byrd Lindsay and daughter Ronda were at the fair in Roswell Friday.

Barbara Bryan of Corona was in the hospital here for a tonallectomy. Her mother, Mrs. Walter Bryan of Corona, stayed with Barbara.

Millo Huggins went to Monahan, Texas, to visit her grandparents.

Joyce and Donda May visited with the Bobby Shafers. Sunday at their ranch home.

Saw Mr. Hart enjoying the wonderful sunshine.

Viola, Claudia, Euel and Hubert Sorrells of Claunch were in town Saturday getting their car ready so they can attend Patry's wedding next week.

Well-Built House Is Well Insulated

More and more members of the National Association of Home Builders are following through on the National Home Week theme of "A Better Home—A Better Life" by installing more and better insulation in their homes.

Adequate insulation makes a house better to live in by keeping it comfortably warm in winter and cool in summer. In addition, families benefit from reduced heating costs. Studies prove annual savings on heating bills in thoroughly insulated houses are usually enough to equal the cost of the insulation in a very few years.

The National Mineral Wool Insulation Association has developed standards to guide builders and home owners alike in obtaining proper insulation.

National P.T.A. Finds Varied Ways To Meet Range of Children's Needs

Major goals are the same in some 47,000 P.T.A.'s of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, even though ways of approaching them are as diverse as the various communities.

In Alaska, where children leave for school in the dark and return home in the dark, every child carries a flashlight. To attend P.T.A. meetings the president of the Alaska Congress of Parents and Teachers frequently travels hundreds of miles per day in country where temperatures may stay around 25 below zero for weeks at a stretch. She can reach many communities only by small plane.

In Hawaii, the autumn ripening of the coffee crop makes fall the season for "summer" vacation from school. The state mid-ocean locale makes the Hawaii Congress president an accessible consultant to parents and educators who fly in from Southeast Asia to learn more about the P.T.A.

American schools in Europe take advantage of their location to offer foreign language studies in elementary grades and to hold joint classes with native children. P.T.A. in the European Congress of American Parents and Teachers are concerned, too, with problems of establishing residence for children of U.S. servicemen and government employees applying for admission to state colleges.

Here in the far-flung areas as well as in all the areas where 47,000 P.T.A.'s serve, each local unit of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers adapts its own program to fit the needs of its youngsters.

"This is the way of the P.T.A.," says Mrs. Clifford N. Jenkins, of Rocky Heights, Md., N.Y., who now heads the 15-million-member organization as National Congress president.

"We have one essential objective as an organization," she

Children of every age and heritage are the concern of the P.T.A. as the National Congress of Parents and Teachers this fall schedules a new membership effort aimed at adding more workers to the P.T.A. "team" that now includes more than 12,000,000.

"It is the welfare of children. But our individual approaches to promoting their well-being may vary as widely as do the children themselves."

This fall the National Congress is scheduling a new membership effort to reach more people—parents, teachers, other interested persons—in P.T.A. activities.

"They will find local programs challenging and vital," Mrs. Jenkins promises, "because P.T.A. activities center around the needs of each community and the children who are its future."

In Alaska, for example, the Congress of Parents and Teachers, concerned about education for children of homesteaders, is currently urging a study of road maintenance in outlying areas, so that children in isolated spots may be assured of passable roads to school.

Getting to school is a real problem, even in well-settled areas, according to Mrs. Robert C. Cole, who heads the Alaska Congress. Her home in Spenard, Alaska, is 10 miles from Anchorage, but morning and evening she sends the family dog along to protect her two children from wild moose that roam the woods in the quarter-mile area between home and bus stop.

P.T.A.'s in the nation's newest state are seeking to preserve Hawaiian culture in terms of dances, language, and music. Mrs. Teruo Yoshida of Honolulu, president of the Hawaii Congress, sees this interest as an important segment of Hawaiian P.T.A. activity. Another aspect of the state's P.T.A. program—its emphasis on adult education—is of special interest to the groups from Thailand, Pakistan, India, Cambodia, and Indonesia who have been entertained there during recent months.

Parent-teacher cooperation is something new in most of the
