WILL HARRISON'S Inside the Capital

NO WORD FOR CLINT AT DEMOCRAT DINNER
Many came away from the Democratic successful $25 dinner in Albuquerque Saturday convinced and offering to bet that John Burroughs would run for governor.

The report was heard throughout the crowd of 800 which picked up that and a lot more political gossip but did not get the eagerly sought word on who Sen. Clint Anderson and Rep. Joe Montoya would back for governor.

WOULD WIN ONE AND LOSE OTHER
The opinion is heard so frequently that Burroughs will win the primary and lose the general election that it makes one wonder who will vote for him in the primary.

The common belief that he would be a strong primary contender comes from the support of many professional politicians who had jobs in his administration and would like to return to the payroll.

MEAD ENJOYING MEAD, CHURCH
State Sen. Ed Mead had a considerable number of backers in the crowd. He's enjoying the benefits of his widely advertised bakery product and his Baptist church affiliation. Two of the other candidates, Rep. Jack Campbell of Roswell and Mayor Leo Murphy of Santa Fe, are Catholics.

Mead, however, apparently is not to have the support of another prominent Baptist layman, Dem. National Committeeman Tom Brown of Artesia. Brown seems to be off Mead because of his break with the Democratic administration when he served as lieutenant governor in the Burroughs administration.

JIM LAMB TALKS GOVERNOR RUM
Mead, Murphy and Burroughs spent the day picketing with no success Saturday night. Campbell who is making his pitch outside the political group that attends party dinners didn't show until a few hours before the casting.

Also there and talking about running for governor was Jim Lamb of Las Cruces, corporate commissioner. Lamb who is back from two years as a transportation consultant in Afghanistan.

Lamb has been telling that he isn't interested in trying for the corporation commission again. That would be against Commissioner Johnny Duck who is up for election next year.

Lamb is slated to return to the middle east if he doesn't catch on for governor and it doesn't appear that he will catch on.

ALBUQUERQUE JOE PLANS HIS REBIRTH
Albuquerque Joe Montoya, the defeated Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor last year, has told that he has arranged for a lie detector test to prove that he wasn't fibbing when he said five people had approached him with offers of $15,000 to drop the election contest against Lt. Gov. Tom Dolack.

Attorney General Earl Hartley questioned Joe about the $15,000 offers but didn't get anything out of him.

W. O. CULBERTSON VIEWED FOR PLACE
Montoya says he is going to run again for lieutenant governor next year which recalls that there is considerable talk in this end of the state about W. O. (Bum) Culbertson, the long time legislator from San Miguel, for that place.

The lieutenant governor place, ordinarily sought after by half a dozen eager candidates, hasn't attracted a first rate candidate so far. Culbertson would be first class material if he decided to make the run.

REPUBLICANS PICK BOLACK SUCCESSOR
There's a movement in Republican circles for Willie Ortiz, Santa Fe party chairman, for that party's lieutenant governor nomination. Ortiz works at Los Alamos and is not the usual northside type of chairman. No Republican thinks Bolack will run again. They think he wants to stay in the class for a run for governor in 1964. He couldn't do it if he were in an lieutenant governor for a second term.

Some confusion about sales tax

City councilmen Tuesday night put off decision on just when Carrizozo's new 1-cent city sales tax will go into effect.
Everything hinges on Otero County Electric Co-Op's taking over the local power distribution system, and getting $28,000 into the Lincoln County Agency so the city can pay off its debts.

(The Co-Op recently bought the power system for an amount, after an over-inflating public vote approval (see issue).)

In the meantime, there's come question as to whether the tax is on right now. The city says "of course not," since the power sale hasn't gone through yet. They are awaiting merchants not to collect the tax until definite date of the Co-Op's takeover.

But the state tax department has written the city saying they will have to collect the tax, since the ordinance as originally written and approved set November 1 as date for the tax to begin.
To complete the tax, if the state insists on collecting the non-collected tax from merchants, the city could insist that the state return the city's share of the collected, non-collected tax. Merchants would be left holding the bag, and since the tax is supposed to be imposed on the general public and not just merchants, payment would be protested.

Things could straighten out in a hurry if Otero County Co-Op gets their money in the bank and sets a definite date for takeover of the system. The city's contract of sale with the Co-Op calls for the deal to be completed not later than late February.

Councilmen discussed ways to get the state highway department to erect road traffic warning lights at two places on U. S. 54—near Five Points garage and on the post office corner. In general, councilmen felt the "School Slow" signs that are placed in the middle of the street near the post office corner weren't adequate, since there is a considerable stream of children crossing the highway there twice a day.

J. T. Clegg, Carrizozo superintendent of schools, and Roy Harman were at the meeting to ask the town's help in getting the crossing made more safe for children.

Clegg said the school board had made several attempts to get the state to inspect the danger, and asked the council and Chamber of Commerce coordination in a push to get the highway department on the ball.

Councilmen approved sale of five old city trucks for $50, to a railroad for Tularosa. No public notice of the proposed sale was made.

Five people each offered $15,000 would constitute one of the strangest coincidences in political annals if Albuquerque Joe could prove it came off.

License "plates" on sale Dec. 15

1962 car license stickers will go on sale December 15 at the city hall.

The square plastic plates have pressure-sensitive sticky backing and are to be attached to a corner of present plates. The metal plates are supposed to last for three years, being renewed by stickers. Metal plates were issued last year. The new stickers are reflectorized. City clerk Eddie Penfield and assistant Elizabeth MacVeigh will attend one-day licensing schools before December 15 to acquaint them with new procedures. Cost of the renewal stickers is based on age and weight of the car. Only paper that applicants need to bring with them is their registration certificate.

Do-it-yourself Christmas trees in the Capitans

The Capitans Ranger Station will be open seven days a week—from 8 to 5 p.m.—starting this week, so that local folks can get their $1 permits to cut Christmas trees in Lincoln National Forest.

Ed Guck, area Ranger, said the road to the cutting area above the Capitans Gap was in bad shape earlier this week but could be dried out by this weekend.
The cutting area where taking Christmas trees is legal is on the north side of East Capitans Mountain. After crossing the gap, any of the roads leading up the canyon will lead to legal areas. The $1 permit allows cutting of a tree up to 10 feet high. For larger trees, the permit costs 75c for the first 10 feet and 50c a foot over 10 feet. The city of Capitans has requested the largest tree—about 15 feet—which will be placed at the Miles Sundries corner in Capitans.

Most popular tree, said Guck, is the balsam fir. The Douglas fir in the East Mountain area have been hit by a disease scale which has turned the needles brown in many cases. The Colorado blue spruce makes a nice Christmas tree but doesn't keep its needles as long as the Douglas fir, which is good for up to three weeks before it starts shedding.

Best way to preserve the freshness is to put the newly-cut tree in a bucket of water. The base should be cut at a slant to expose more surface to the moisture. Guck said Christmas tree cutters should cut the trunks as close to the ground as possible.

Last year about 300 individual permits were sold at the Capitans station. Larger lots of up to 10,000 trees were offered in the Sacramento to commercial cutters, but few but were received this year. Commercial cutters can't take trees from the Capitans Gap area.

With the $1 permit a tag is given to the holder that reads: "This tree brings a Christmas message from the great outdoors. Its cutting was not destructive but was needed room for neighboring trees to grow faster and better." It was cut under the supervision of the U. S. Forest Service of the Lincoln National Forest.
"The tag doesn't necessarily have to be attached to the tree, Guck noted.

FIRE RUN
Fire trucks made a run to the Ward Leslie residence at 11:15 a.m. Tuesday. Accumulated gas caused a flare-up when the stove burners were turned on. No damage, nobody hurt.

CHS slips past Birds

The Carrizozo Grizzlies routed the Corona Cardinals 63-41 here Friday night.

Dobby Dan Crenshaw swished the net for 17 points to lead the Grizzlies. He was aided by Jerry Delfino with 8 points, Ernest Herrera with 4, Dobby Ortiz 8, Lynn Stoenman 2, Cosmo Gallegos 2, and Nick Smith with 8 points.

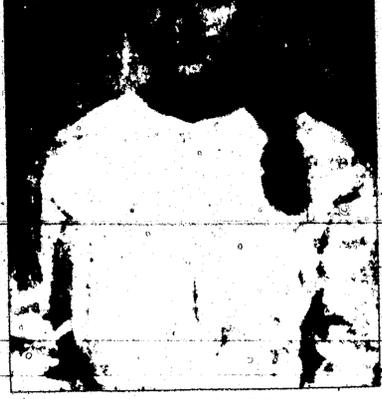

Woody Dome was high point man for the Cardinals and for the game with 23 points. His teammate J. T. Roper dropped in 10 points. The Grizzlies outscored the Cardinals in every quarter, although Corona constantly threatened and even led during times of the first half. A jam-packed gym had standing room only, and cheerleaders outdid themselves with echoing cheers for this first game of the season for Carrizozo. It was the third game for Corona, after two wins.

Score by quarters:
Carrizozo 1 2 3 4

Two local girls die in auto wreck

Two young Carrizozo girls died after a car accident last Saturday west of Socorro. Also killed was Michael J. Guggisberg, 21, Stallion Site soldier. The fourth occupant of the car, Gilbert W. Franz, 26, also of Stallion Site, was reported improving at Sandia Base hospital Wednesday.

The girls were Kitty Pacheco, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Juan Pacheco, and Lena Vega, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Vega. Both were popular students at Carrizozo High School.

"The girls had gone to Socorro to attend a wedding party. Police said the crash occurred about 5 p.m. on a curve at the foot of Sedillo Hill, the major drop between Magdalena and Socorro. The site was 7.8 miles west of Socorro on U.S. 68.

Crowd in town for the first jury trial as Ruidoso street widening case starts

There wasn't a parking place left in the courthouse block the first of this week as the first jury trial of the season got underway.

Marie Farrar, who have office buildings along the main street, lost to the village of Ruidoso and will have to accept their appraisal of what damage was done.

Miss Vega was recently crowned Football Queen for 1961 by an unanimous vote of team members. She was majoring in English, commerce, home economics and social studies at the high school. She was a member of the following clubs and organizations:

It was a contest over the value of property longside Ruidoso's newly-paved main street. Ten landowners contended that the street widening cost them parking space and caused a step-up to their pieces of business. The village of Ruidoso brought the suit.

Edith B. Johnson, cafeteria owner, was awarded damages of $3,350. That's $100 more than she was offered by the village.

F.H.A., chairman of the F.H.A. yearbook committee; also chosen as a teen-age fashion representative for McCall magazine; Commerce Club; Pep Club, vice president one year; cheerleader one year, and a chorus member for two years.

The jury was qualified at 9:30 a.m. Monday and the case got underway. Nine of the property owners were represented by attorney William Schauer of Roswell, one by H. Elfred Jones of Carrizozo. They presented their case until about 1:45 p.m. Tuesday, at which time Ruidoso city attorney John Thompson gave the city's side of the argument.

W. A. Carter and Adell Carter were awarded damages of $11,700, which is $708 more than the village appraised their damages.

Mrs. Pacheco majored in English, commercial, home economics and social studies, and belonged to these organizations: Pep Club, president of Pep Club in her junior year; F. H. A., active on the yearbook committee 1961-62; Commerce Club, Student Council and G. A. A.

The judge, George L. Neve, Jr. of Roswell, sent the jury out at 6 Tuesday evening. By 2 p.m. Wednesday they were still sitting on four of the cases.

Six of the cases were ruled on by the jury Pat K. Farrar and Nora Farrar, and Leon Farrar and

The school held a memorial assembly Monday morning. Rosary was said for Miss Pacheco on Monday evening and for Miss Vega Tuesday evening. Funeral services were held at 10 a.m. Wednesday for both girls, and burial was in Catholic Cemetery here.

New sales tax schedule listed

Carrizozo's newly-approved 1-cent city sales tax may go into effect January 1, 1962. Here's the suggested breaks in collection of the tax:

Less deer killed on special hunt

More hunters and less deer was the story of the special hunt last Saturday and Sunday in the Oscura. Some 1,600 hunters checked into the area, and 349 deer were checked out.

Game Protector Charlie Bird says that's more hunters than ever before, and the reason for a kill of only 18 per cent.

ALAMOGORDO — Saturday night the Carrizozo A team downed the Alamogordo B team 67-43.

Game Protector Charlie Bird says that's more hunters than ever before, and the reason for a kill of only 18 per cent.

Violations were higher this year than last, with most charges coming from hunters killing a deer, then not tagging it and trying for a better deer.

The B team won its game with Corona, too. Garvin Griffin led the scoring with 10 points; Cosmo Gallegos was close behind with 7. Final score was 22-14.

Two check points were operated by Game Department and military personnel, one at Oscura Range Camp and another at North Oscura Peak road.

Next special hunt is December 10 and 17 on the west side of the Sacramento.

Quarterback club to show game film

The newly-formed Carrizozo Quarterback Club met Monday evening and adopted formal rules of organization. Permanent officers will be elected at the next meeting, on January 2.

Next special hunt is December 10 and 17 on the west side of the Sacramento.

PTA meets next week; report more members

The next Carrizozo PTA meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. December 11, in the junior high auditorium. Rev. Thomas Banks will have charge of the program after the business meeting.

The PTA executive committee met last Tuesday evening in the home of Lt. Col. Jim Snow to discuss business items to be handled at this meeting. After the meeting, refreshments will be served in the school lunchroom with Mrs. Leon Lock serving as chairman of the hostess committee.

Richard Kondo, president, reports that attendance at this year's PTA meetings has been good and membership has increased with each meeting. Membership reported thus far is about 85, and it is hoped to reach at least 110 by January.

The Long and Short Of It Is . . .

By Kit Carson
603 Ortiz NE
Albuquerque

The great White Sands Missile Range fringes Lincoln County on the west. A short distance to the east, gigantic sums are being poured into the construction of Atlas Missile complexes. Both are evidences that a fierce struggle exists to maintain a universal supremacy of warheads as a protective measure for the future welfare of the Nation.

Like measures are being taken in all other sections of the United States and its territories for the same general purpose. Peace-loving countries of all the world are combined to a point of nervous tension to avert a threatening, devastating atomic war.

And as this fight goes on, every effort is being made to seek out a route and means to reach the MOON! High tempo exists to conquer and control the Space Age ahead of competitive nations. It does not take a dreamer to understand that man's intellect is being stretched more than ever before. During this turbulent age, different people seek different diversions for ease of the mind. Chronicles of the Old West is one of those favored easements.

We think we have problems—and do—but the old frontiersmen who settled New Mexico and the vast Southwest did, too—transportation problems!

Less than two centuries ago the carreta (cart), such as shown in the accompanying photo, was tops in transportation of this region.

A glimpse at one of the aged relics will create a deliberation of history and the circumstances of the era when they were the pride of the prairie. Visualization of it being drawn about over the rugged, barren, desert country by a string of oxen, treats another bewildering picture. It was a mode of travel that afforded everything except comfort. Yet, as late as 1812, the crude piece of equipment was tops for transportation throughout the New Mexican Territory.

Early-day chroniclers describe its construction as generally made without iron, being fastened together with strips of rawhide or wooden pegs. The wheels are frequently solid pieces of wood, being a section of a large cottonwood tree, with a hole through the center for the axle . . . for the peasantry of the country these primitive carts answer every purpose and on feast and holy days you will often see the whole family pleasuring in them, or driving to the nearest town to attend mass. The wheels are never greased . . . and creaked hideously when heavily laden . . . to see these rude vehicles bouncing upon their irregularly rounded wheels, like a limping bullock, making the hills and valleys around vocal with the echo of their creaking and frightful sounds.

Early-day transportation was very limited. Carriers for long distances were horses, mules, oxen and small jackasses. Maximum load for an ass was 300 pounds. Anything heavier was hauled in the carreta.

In the later days of the Spanish rule, large caravans were formed as far north as Taos to journey over the 1,800-mile trail to Chihuahua and other adjoining provinces, to attend fairs and festivals. Along with jackasses, the carreta was used for freighting supplies over the Chihuahua Trail. The first wheeled vehicles were introduced in Santa Fe in 1823, after the trail had been opened by Capt. William Becknell.

Today, very few of the old relics remain. The State Museum in Santa Fe has one. And there is one of the old carretas in the Fred Harvey collection in the museum of the Santa Fe Railroad terminal in Albuquerque.

The late Fred Harvey acquired the old relic in June of 1900 and moved it to Albuquerque. Previously, it had been perched on top of Jake Gold's business establishment on Durro Alley in Santa Fe as an advertisement for his business. It served Gold for his purpose for 20 years—unprotected from all sorts of weather. When Harvey came into ownership of the antique, it found the place in the Santa Fe depot where it remains today to attract thousands annually.

ENLIST NOW, GET LEAVE BEFORE TRAINING

Again, as in the past, a Christmas leave policy is being offered by the army. According to Sgt. Thomas Woods, army recruiter, men enlisting from December 11 through New Year's Day may request as much as 15 days leave before reporting for basic training.

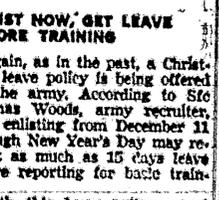

With this leave policy young men may enjoy the holiday season with their families and still draw full pay and allowances from the army.

Sgt. Woods will be in Carrizozo December 6 and may be contacted at the high school or post office.

'Rural Housing' loans available in Lincoln County; 33 years at 4 per cent

Families living in small rural communities and in rural areas, even though not engaged in farming, may now be eligible for the housing loans made by the Farmers Home Administration, according to Richard Floyd, the agency's county supervisor for Lincoln and Chavez counties.

The Housing Act of 1961 broadened the eligibility requirements for rural housing loans. As a result, owners of farm or non-farm tracts in rural areas and in small rural communities with populations of not more than 2,500 may be eligible for this type of credit.

Housing loans are made for the construction, repair, and remodeling of dwellings and essential farm buildings and to provide water for farmstead and household use.

In addition to major construction, funds are available to modernize homes—add bathrooms, central heating, modern kitchens, etc.

Rural housing loans may also be used for the construction of fall-out and storm shelters.

The interest rate is 4 per cent a year on the unpaid balance of the loan. Loans may be scheduled for repayment over periods up to 33 years.

To be eligible an applicant must own a farm or a housing site in a rural area; be without decent, safe and sanitary housing; be unable to obtain needed credit from other sources; and be without sufficient resources to provide the necessary housing on his own account. He must also have or be able to obtain sufficient income to meet payments on the proposed loan.

The local county supervisor of the Farmers Home Administration will review building plans and inspect the housing construction as it progresses in order to make certain that the borrower obtains sound and acceptable construction.

The local county or area committee of the FHA determines the eligibility of applicants.

Farmers who need to enlarge or develop their farm operations in order to obtain enough money to pay for housing loans may obtain farm enlargement and development loans and farm management help from the FHA.

Rural families who need emergency housing repairs and do not have the ability to repay a loan may be able to obtain small grants for such purposes as repairing a roof, screening windows, and providing a sanitary supply of water.

Small improvement loans made in amounts of less than $1,500 with repayment scheduled over periods up to 10 years may be secured by a promissory note. Other loans are secured by mortgages.

Under certain circumstances, building loans may be made to lessees of farms.

Further information may be obtained from the Roswell-FHA office, located in the basement of the city hall building.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

The recent article in the Lincoln County News by Commissioner of Public Lands, E. S. Walker, refuting some of the allegations of Mr. Lost Merchant of the Cattleman's Assn., deserves some thoughtful consideration. What is so greatly needed in the conflicting affairs and interests of today is constructive thinking, right-thinking. The role of selfish interests, official or private, versus public good is often subtly disguised, and it is up to the individual citizen to accept and support only that which is fair and right—or he pays the bill.

Mr. Walker could have emphasized more strongly that the sale of Public Lands, School Lands, are for the support of the public schools which are badly in need of funds to further educational facilities; also that the reservation of the oil, gas and mineral rights still belong to the schools although under the Commission's trusteeship, and this can provide a great future potential of wealth that will go to the schools if exploited, just as similar developments of Indian Lands have been a great boon to those original Americans.

Although a balance must be struck that the sales of Public Lands do not become excessively rising and future generations must be considered, it is well to remember that our school system needs funds. These funds must be raised through land sales and revenues from them, or through taxes, but education, good education, learning to think is the greatest of assets and the strongest desire of every good parent for his child. This taken as a whole develops a strong America. It is the American know-how and the ability of its people to be able to think independently and wisely, although under one Principle and its Golden Rule, that makes America invincible and steadfast to resist aggressions of every sort.

On the other hand, it is the encroachment upon such natural liberties and rights which we decry, and rightly so. Public lands are public lands until otherwise, but the matter of hunting easements over leased land, or simply leases to the Game Dept., another State agency, with that agency then stipulating that access roads must be provided in order to qualify for grazing leases is something to be explained. This situation is adverse particularly when the invasion of hunters under this so-called "multiple-use" policy, entails damage and destruction of property which has to be borne by the individual lessee, and not the Dept.

In the recent operations of rescue of snow-bound hunters, even in prohibited areas, the public pays the bill and not a penny is paid by the Game Dept. The dictionary has defined "construct" in part as "to set in order mentally." There is a difference in multiple-use under one lessee and the parasitical situation touched upon above, and it appears that we have a serious need for constructive thinking.

Corona Cardinals gave Carrizozo plenty of competition at game Friday

By Kenneth Bridgman
The Grizzlies' Den was lit up Friday night by the scrappy Corona Cardinals—the hill country cagers come loaded for bear, faced by big Woody Dame, the Redbirds gave it all they had, but finally man, Bobby Dan Crenshaw, against a smaller, but explosive Corona quintet.

Amidst a gym-rattling roar from the spectators, the teams ripped into the first quarter with this basic strategy alignment: "Zozo" defended with a tight man-to-man, while using a tandem post for their offensive pattern. Using Stoneman for the high post position, they played their ace, Crenshaw, in counterbalance underneath the basket hoping to use the big man's height and aggressiveness for quick lay-ups. Corona also countered with a bulldog type of man-to-man defense. Offensively, they placed their "Big Stick" Woody Dame at a shifting post and depended upon clever ball-handling and sharp cutting to feed the big man under the basket. The quarter ended with the Grizzlies ahead 7 to 6.

The second quarter found both head mentors changing tactics with the Grizzlies switching from a tandem post to a high post, using Crenshaw with a more liberal swing of action. Too, something had to be done about Corona's jumping jack Woody Dame, who was beginning to post "no trespassing" signs on his favorite shooting spot. Zozo clogs the middle and double teams the big man, but this only serves to infuriate young Mr. Dame who blasts away with uncanny accuracy with his devilish jump shot.

With both teams picking up accuracy with their shooting, the second-quarter tempo is fast and furious. Both teams congeal in their movement and action. Corona pulls ahead 17 to 13 at one moment only to have the fast Grizzlies come surging back to take a 24 to 20 half-time lead. After the smoke has settled from the floor, it is suddenly realized that Red Hot Woody Dame has just scored 18 of the 20 points for Corona with plenty of zeal and help from his hard-driving teammates.

The Grizzlies start out the third quarter by scorning the maple with a bruising fast-break offense. Corona begins to tire on defense and allows the fast breaking Zozo boys to slip by for several sharp lay-ups. When the fast break attack fails the Grizzlies use a rolling offense with Crenshaw blocking and rolling off fast underneath the basket. The strategy works and Carrizozo has the fading Cardinals on their collective heels. With their manstay, Woody Dame, contained with a sagging defense that allows three men to converge upon him, Corona's J. T. Roper begins to take up the slack with a fancy bit of outside shooting that keeps the Redbirds within striking distance. The quarter ends Carrizozo 33, Corona 23.

Corona and Carrizozo basketball fans will long remember this fourth quarter as all bedlam breaks out upon the court. Time is running out for the Cardinals; the ball-hawking Redbirds give out with one of their best "gun-ho" efforts. Time and time again the

Cardinals go on to victory Saturday

By Kenneth Bridgman
The cold-shooting Corona Cardinals, having lost their golden shooting edge, hacked out a 43-37 victory over the erratically-shooting Capitan Tigers Saturday night.
The boys in black and orange from down-Smokey Bear way got off to a most fright start—their first score came some five minutes into the first quarter. The usual sharp shooting of the Redbirds could not find the range for a full three minutes until Leroy McCloud slipped in for a lay-up. Both teams tried a little something of everything in their repertoire of offensive tricks, but try as they may the score was only 8 to 5 in Corona's favor at the end of the first quarter.
In the second quarter Capitan boxed in tightly Corona's big gun, Woody Dame, forcing the jump shot specialist to move out front for long shots. Kenny Cozzens, Capitan's high-scoring post man, played the high post feeding the ball to sharp cutting guards, but time after time the daring orange men would overshoot their target. Corona, having a collective bad time of connecting for the basket, resorted to a fast break with long down-the-court passes to build up a 23 to 15 half-time lead.

Capitan team had a bad weekend

Capitan school's basketball team had a rough go of it last weekend, losing three of four games.
The A team fell to Tularosa 49-54 on Friday, and the B team accumulated 30-37.
Then on Saturday the lively Corona team that gave Carrizozo a good run for their money the night before picked up another win by defeating the Tigers 45-37.
But the Capitan B team came through with a 29-13 victory over Corona's B squad.
Leading scorers for Capitan in the Friday night tilt with Tularosa, on the home court, were Richard Zamora, 15, Pete Canabal, 11, and Kenny Cozzens, 10. King was top scorer for Tularosa with 12 points.
In the Corona game, played at Corona, J. Roper was top scorer for the Cardinals with 22 and Cozzens top for Capitan with 13.

TRUTH OR CONSEQUENCES, and a restaurant, overlooking the lake.
 N. M.—The name of this town is a mouthful to pronounce. The surrounding country is just as big a mouthful to see and enjoy.
 T or C, as most people call it, is the jumping off place for almost anything a tourist would want to do—fishing and hunting, boating, prospecting, exploring ghost towns or seeing some of the most breathtaking scenery New Mexico has to offer.
 The town itself has a fascination. Not many years ago it had the name of Hot Springs, and you can see why because of the great number of mineral bath establishments in the heart of the town. Even the Indians used to come here for the "cure" so they say.
 The new name is all wrapped up in TV and radio, a promotion that has brought the community untold amounts of publicity, but you don't have to be a TV fan to enjoy this part of New Mexico.
 Just five miles outside of Hot Springs is the magnificent Elephant Butte Lake. This reservoir stretching 40 miles up the Rio Grande, with a big bump rising from its center, irrigates land miles and miles below in New Mexico, Texas and Old Mexico. It's a lot more interesting, though, to regard Elephant Butte as a playground for motorboating, water skiing, and fishing. The Game Department keeps it stocked, and there are cabins and boats for rent.

A saga of our times: how to become wealthy making buggy whips

(Editor's note: The following is a recent release from the "Voice of New Mexico Taxpayer. It's too true to be funny but worth re-printing.)
 Our article this week, "The Buggywhip Coup" by Cy Butt, a University of Wisconsin student, is reprinted from "Insight and Outlook."
 "Just the other evening I ran across a boyhood friend, Fremont Gullfoyle, Fremont, dressed to the nines, stepped from his Mercedes with a blonde on his arm who would make a man gnaw a crowbar. I wondered at this affluence, for since the time he was four, Fremont had been known to all as a misfit, a square peg in a round hole.
 "Fremont, old boy," I said, "where comes this sudden wealth? The last time I saw you, you were having difficulty holding your failing job with WPA."
 "I said Fremont, 'am in the buggywhip business, I am presently en route to California where I shall open a branch factory."
 "But aren't buggy whips a little passe?" I asked. I have seen some—two and four horses since 1925. How did you get into this racket?"
 "Well, it's like this," said Fremont. "I had about a thousand left from the dough the old man left me and what happens but I get talked into using it to buy a buggy whip factory. Everything else I had tried had blown up in my face.
 "There was quite a stock on hand when I bought the place and I kept putting out whips until the grand was gone. I had something like 9,000 whips that were selling at the rate of 12 a week. I couldn't meet the payroll or even my daily cigarette expense.
 "I was on my way to get a pistol or some poison or a rope when I happened to take a gander at a government brochure someone had thrown on the post office floor. From that moment everything changed. I am now in a position where everyone in the family, including cousins, has his own swimming pool.
 "What is your secret?" I asked.
 "It was simple enough. I wrote to Washington and explained that I couldn't even sell my whips for coat, and that unless something was done the industry would be ruined. They sent an economist down and he agreed with me wholeheartedly, even thinking of some things I hadn't. It was agreed between us that the government would buy for $1.87 each all the whips I couldn't sell. I produced them at that time for $1.33.
 "But what did they do with them?" I queried.
 "I don't know for sure, but I understand they saved the handles off short and gave them to the Arab nations for use on camels. Hands across the sea, you know. However, in a couple of months all the storage space in town was full of my buggy whips that the government had taken over.
 "By this time I was flush. I could put out the whips for 60 cents because of a new machine developed with government aid. I took the money realized from this and bought a couple buildings from the government for 10 cents on the dollar and rented them back to the government for storing

Arizona woman claims to be third cousin of Billy, indicates many other relatives

Billy the Kid is suddenly coming up with a lot of relatives.
 Latest is Mrs. Mary Scott of Parks, Ariz.
 Mrs. Scott says she is a third cousin of Billy, whose bones are now the subject of a court fight in De Baca county. She said her mother, whose maiden name was Bonney and who lived in McDowell county, was a second cousin of Billy. She said her mother had seven sisters and two brothers, several of whom had large families.
 "So there are quite a few relatives of Billy's still around," said Mrs. Scott.
 The New York woman who claims to be the only living relative of Billy is Miss Lois Telfer. Mrs. Scott, who would like to see Billy's bones remain in peace in their present location, doubts if the correct body will ever be found.
 "If I thought they would actually move Billy's body, I might take court action myself to stop it," she said. "But I don't think they ever will find the right body."
 Mrs. Scott and her husband, Andy, operate a trading post at Parks, between Flagstaff and Williams on U. S. 66. They lived in Albuquerque until several years ago.

Pat and Charmaize Aldaz and children, Mark and Patricia, visited Pat's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Aldaz for the Thanksgiving holiday and stayed until last Monday. Pat is back in San Antonio, Tex., putting what he learned in school in New York to good use, helping train boys in radar work for overseas duty. Their visit was most enjoyable for all concerned.

Joe and Debbie Aldaz are the parents of a fine baby boy born December 3. Joe is now teaching school at Vaughn. The new grandparents are very proud of the new grandchild and the others too.

Little Toyiko Gibson has been quite ill with intestinal flu, but has improved some. Mrs. Gibson is also feeling much better.

The Sam Welsh family, who lives at Logan, spent Thanksgiving with the Edgar Phillips family, who is in college at New Mexico State, near their home.

Peter Filigaten had a birthday last Saturday. He received nice presents and his mother cooked a fine turkey dinner for him.

Mrs. Jean Garcia is very proud of her new great grandson, born recently. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Baca are the parents of this new arrival.

Mrs. Eddie Womack and small daughter visited the Ray Taylors last week.

Mr. McMichael of Oklahoma City was here to spend the Thanksgiving holiday with his wife, Mrs. McMichael.

Rep. W. G. (Bill) Shreengost attended the Farm Bureau Convention in Albuquerque last week.

Mr. Bonnie Apodaca is now employed at the Roswell postoffice. He was formerly with the Albuquerque postoffice. This makes it much easier for him to spend some time on his place near Lincoln.

CAPTAN—

I thought you too would like to know about all of the children. I enjoy knowing about them as they are from Captain and vicinity. They used to attend our schools. I was informed that Dana Kuzinovich, whose name now is Henderson, lives with her husband and little daughter at Hyattsville, Md., near Washington, D. C. She writes for Aviation magazines and other publications as well.

Shirley McClain Williams and four children lived in France for a time. He is in the service, though at this time just where they live is not known to us. It is good to hear of these youngsters.

HOW BANKS HELP

Homeowners

Our bank—like others across the country—lends at low cost to help homeowners undertake desirable home repair and modernization projects. If your home, like an estimated 1/3 of all American homes, is in need of repair, now is the best time to get the work done. Delay may mean a more costly repair later. Are the nation's other homeowners going ahead with home improvement jobs? It is estimated that about half of them expect to complete at least one such project a year. Why not get contractors' estimates on the work you want done; then see us about the financing you'll need!

HOTTEST NOVEMBER IN FORD HISTORY!

And here's what started the heat wave!

Last month more Americans bought Fords than in any November in history. The blazing success of the long Ford line was end-to-end, all across the country and up and down it, too. Everywhere the people flocked into their Ford Dealers and bought smart new Falcons, and the new Falcon Squire, the glittering swift Galaxies, the famous Ford Station Wagons and the hot Thunderbirds. And they poured in to see and buy up the brand-new Fairlane just introduced. There are four magic reasons why behind the smashing success of the long Ford line for 1962. First of all is utterly modern styling, the fresh crisp lines that are now being so widely copied by other car-makers, the smart look that dominates the industry. Second is absolute power in eleven kinds of engines, giving you anything you could want in engine options. Third is total economy—every Ford model is priced directly at your pocketbook, and every Ford, large, medium or small, gives you gasoline mileage outstanding in its class. Fourth is the service-saving concept—every Ford car is built to cut down maintenance worries and problems, with service-saving features other cars may have some day. Ford leadership from Falcons to Thunderbirds is founded on trend-setting innovations... The hot ideas come from Ford. And at the heart of Ford success is an almost revolutionary new concept of quality... most serious and direct concern with the actual part-by-part quality. For the hot trends in the hot cars, for a new experience in quality, and for the best buys on the American Road, see your Ford Dealer.

NOW THERE ARE FOUR CLASSES OF CARS ... AND ONLY FORD HAS ALL FOUR!

COMPACT CLASS:
 FORD FALCON
 This class includes cars with 106- to 114-inch wheelbase. Most popular by far (a million happy owners!) is the Ford Falcon. Falcon is America's lowest-priced 4-passenger car, set a 25-year record for Sixes or Eights in last spring's Mobilgas Economy Run, gives you a choice of 13 models, including the Futura and new Falcon Squire wagon.

FAIRLANE CLASS:
 FORD FAIRLANE
 The Ford Fairlane is the first member of a new class which combines the advantages of both compact and big cars... you get big car room, ride and performance... compact savings and maneuverability. Priced below many compacts, Fairlane even rivals some in gas economy. Has twice-a-year maintenance introduced by the Galaxy.

FULL-SIZE CLASS:
 GALAXIE BY FORD
 The class for families who want big car comfort, performance and prestige. Value leader in the Ford Galaxy—which has every essential feature of the cooler size car. With the optional Thunderbird 390 V-8 engine, a Galaxy will outperform America's most expensive luxury cars. Requires servicing only twice a year, or every 6,000 miles.

LUXURY CLASS:
 FORD THUNDERBIRD
 The top class—cars for people who want the very finest. First of the three-size luxury cars, the 4-passenger Thunderbird is the most distinctive car in this class. Its styling sets the trend for an entire generation of cars and new ideas in new elegance in the Lincoln. And Thunderbird's performance is just this side of flight.
